Odds Bits Salvaged at Random

They invaded the town Tuesday.

A bus load of Wichita Falls people arrived at about thirty Tuesday morning. Banners lengthwise the bus read "Wichita Falls Buyer's Guide."

Some of them unloaded at Bowden's Gulf Station and started making the business houses. Others unloaded a block further down, and stops were made all the way to the Yarbrough Hotel.

They met with a group of local people and "chewed the rag" for a while. Some had coffee while here; others visited the Chamber of Commerce office.

They weren't selling anything—just passing out the Buyer's Guide to anyone who desired one.

The guide is a key to wholesalers, manufacturers, distributors and jobbers of Wichita Falls, and should be quite useful to anyone wanting to know where something is available.

It lists these firms from A to Z. It starts out with Abrasives, and ends up with Zippers.

In the beginning of the forward one finds the words: "The Wichita Falls Buyer's Guide has been designed and compiled to make it easier for retailers, contractors, and public agencies, in fact, all who buy merchandise at wholesale, to make their purchases in Wichita Falls."

After about 30 minutes, the group again loaded onto the bus and went their way—and Munday settled down to the quiet of a Tuesday morning, her people again asking the question, "When is it going to rain?"

But rain or no rain, Munday will have water for domestic and commercial use—if reports we get this week continue to run true to form.

L. W. Hobert, member of the City Council, stopped us Tuesday and said we could tell the people that Munday has plenty of water.

The two new wells which were dug on the city's new reservoir site didn't pan out too well. In fact, they didn't pan out at all.

So the problem was to find more water. It seems there was quite a bit of criticism going the rounds about spending so much money out there, and still no water.

So two more new wells were dug. These two holes apparently have ended up in a nice reservoir of water, and tests run since their completion last week indicate there's all the water the pumps can handle—and some to spare.

New pumps that were purchased and installed will bring forth some 600 gallons per minute, and that doesn't seem to phase the new wells.

So turn on your faucets, folks. You can have all the water you are able to pay for.

And the new sewer system is in operation. That Imhoff tank and other equipment out there—as we said a while back—is sufficient until the town reaches a population of 10,000.

We don't expect that to happen this year, so about all we have to worry about is the weather.

Some think it'll rain in February; others say the long-range forecast is for no rain this month.

We have a whole batch of literature, left us by County Agent Bill Palmeyer, relative to "seeding the clouds" and making it rain.

If any of you have abundant faith in that activity, we'll be glad for you to peruse through this literature—which is more than we've done.

Two New Wells Furnish Plenty Of Water For City; Sewer In Operation

Completion of two new water wells last week have assured the City of Munday plenty of water for the future, according to members of the city council.

The first wells dug on the new reservoir site in the west part of town were too weak to furnish the water necessary for the city's consumption, so the other two were dug on the same property.

Both are reported to be strong wells, capable of producing around 500 gallons per minute each. Present pumping equipment will bring forth 600 gallons per minute, it was stated, which is all the city needs in peak consumption.

With the completion of the new sewer system and Imhoff tank, Munday has adequate water and sewer facilities. Sewerage was started into the new system last Monday, city officials stated.

There yet remains some dirt work to be done at the new plant, such as completing the lagoons, etc., but in the main the sewer plant is completed and in operation.

A survey of local gins Thursday morning showed that a total of 5,374 bales have been ginned at Munday.

Lubbock Cotton Man Passes On Janury 31st

S. B. Jackson, 72, owner of the Kemgas Process Company of Lubbock and a widely known throughout the world where cotton is grown for development of a process for delinting cotton seed and origination of a method for restoring moisture in cotton gins, died at 4 a. m. Saturday at the family home in Lubbock.

He was the father of John E. Jackson, who operates the Jackson Delinting Company in Munday.

The Lubbock businessman, who was active in his company, died suddenly, although he had been in ill health about ten weeks.

Christian Science services were held at 2 p. m. Sunday at Rix Funeral Home and Masonic rites were conducted at the graveside in Tech Memorial Park.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. S. B. Jackson of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Celeste Gregory, Slaton; three other sons, Lloyd H. of Vernon, Robert L. and Sam G. Jackson, both of Lubbock.

Mr. Jackson was born May 21, 1880, at St. Louis, Missouri. His youth was spent in that sector and he worked in the Mississippi river boats and along its banks. He went into Indian Territory before it became the state of Oklahoma, and was a county agricultural agent after the territory became a state.

He entered the cattle business in El Reno, Okla., and stayed there until 1927, then lived at Iowa Park until 1936. It was there he developed the Kemgas method for delinting cotton seed moving to Lubbock in 1936 and established the Kemgas Process Company.

While in Lubbock, he originated the method for restoring moisture in cotton gins and received worldwide acclaim. The process greatly alleviates the danger from static electricity in gins—something the industry had looked for a long time. Cottonbelt areas in the United States acclaimed the method.

Texas Highway Maps For '53 Are Now Available

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 21—Texas chalked up another "first" today when the 1953 Texas Official Highway Map was released, D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, announced.

The new map, featuring "A Look at Texas" theme, is a 100 per cent Texas product. Wood pulp for the paper was grown in East Texas. The paper was made near Houston and the plates for printing was done in Austin.

An encyclopedia of Texas information in itself, the map side provides current and accurate highway information, while the back side has pictures and information on points of interest.

Locations of roadside parks, national and state parks, national forests, mountainous areas lakes and streams, along with other information that will add to the safety, comfort, and pleasure of the traveling public are shown. There are 1,304 cities and towns listed with a cross section of altitudes given. Thirteen enlarged city insets are provided for the convenience of motorists traveling through these major metropolitan areas. Distances are indicated between all points and a special mileage index chart reflects the accumulated official mileage between principal points.

For "A Look at Texas", the back side offers in color some of the outstanding vacation spots. Fishing, horseback riding, picnicking, sailing, and cattle branding scenes suggest places to "go."

Greer announced that the new map is available to the general public for the asking. For the convenience of the public, a special addressed card is available in the County Tax Collector's office upon the registration of your automobile. These map cards will expedite the handling and mailing of the maps, Greer added. The maps are also available free of charge at any Texas Highway Department District office, Travel Information Bureau, or by writing direct to the Texas Highway Department, Austin 4, Texas, Greer concluded.

Moguls Victors In 2 Games Over Albany Lions

The Munday Moguls were victors over the Albany Lions in two cage games this week.

Monday night, the locals downed Albany 55 to 45 in a District 8-A game. Albany held a one-point advantage, 12 to 11, at the end of the first quarter but after that it was all Munday. The halftime score was 33-20 in Munday's favor and the Moguls were ahead, 44-29, at the three-fourths mark.

High point man for Munday was Tommy Powell with 19 points. W. S. Scott paced the Lions with 18.

In a B game, Munday won by a score of 36 to 32. Terry Harrison racked 15 points for the winners, and Macon had 10 for Albany.

In a return engagement Tuesday night, the Moguls trimmed the Lions at Albany, 61 to 57, in a nip and tuck district game.

W. S. Scott sank 28 points for Albany for high point scorer, while Charles Ratliff led the Moguls with 16.

Albany won the B game, 44 to 37, with Harrison scoring 16 for Munday and Joe Beal making 15 for Albany.

Theatres Raise Large Sums For Battle On Polio

An official "thank you" to Munday movie-goers was extended this week by Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, Texas treatment center for victims of poliomyelitis and other neuro-muscular ailments, as results of the 1952 Texas Crippled Children's Fund were made known in a special report folder.

P. V. Williams, owner of the Roxy Theatre which joined 648 other Texas theatres in the drive, received the mailing piece which announced the state total at the drive's end reached $262,883.23. Of this amount, the Roxy Theatre's patrons contributed $109.29 when special collections were made August 31-September 6.

Joan Crawford, famous movie actress, made the appeal for funds in a Hollywood-produced film trailer which was shown here and in the other theatres participating in the drive. David Miller, veteran of scores of movie successes, directed the film which also featured little Beverly Mills of Smiley, former Gonzales polio patient.

R. J. O'Donnell, vice president and general manager of Interstate Theatres, and Col. H. A. Cole, chairman of Allied Theatre Owners of Texas, were co-chairmen of the 1952 fund drive, sponsored by the Texas Council of Motion Picture Organizations. In a joint report they revealed the collection breakdown as follows: Interstate Circuit, $116,951.19; Jefferson Amusement, $23,784.63; Rowley United, $18,068.77; Theatre Enterprises, $11,299.63; Ezell and Associates, $8,916.64; Video Independent, $8,312.45; Phil Isley Theatres, $1,609.55; Leon Theatres, $1,148.49; Small Circuits and Independents, $44,559.71; Miscellaneous Donations, $1,232.17.

At a testimonial dinner for Miss Crawford held in Dallas in November, Karl Hohlitzelle, president of Interstate Theatres, pledged an additional $25,000.00, and David Feldman, Dallas, made his personal contribution of $2,500.

Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation is a non-profit organization built with the donations of Texans, operated for Texans and maintained by Texans. The first physical medicine and rehabilitation specialty hospital to be recognized by the American College of Surgeons, it boasts treatment second to none in the nation and avails its facilities to every Texan who can benefit, regardless of race, color or creed.

Bert Wardlaw and children of Phoenix, Ariz., spent a few days last week with his sisters, Mrs. J. A. Hill, Mrs. Cotton Smith and Mrs. F. W. Searcey, while here to look after business matters.

Turn on your porch light tonight (Thursday). It will indicate you're willing to join in the fight against polio.

Thursday night is the night when ladies of the Munday Home Demonstration Club will make calls at Munday homes for the March of Dimes. If your porch light is on, they'll know they have a welcome at your home, and that you will have a contribution.

"Please urge everyone to be courteous to the ladies and make a liberal contribution. You fill out what you want to say. Thanks."

This little note was left on the editor's desk by J. C. Harpham, who is local chairman of the March of Dimes drive.

The little miniature iron lungs have been out several days and are in practically every store in Munday. But they aren't filling up very fast, so the ladies thought a greater battle would be waged against polio by their "porch light visits." Be ready for them!

GRASS ROOT OPINION

YORKTOWN, TEXAS, DEWITT COUNTY VIEW: "How long can this continue? The government has gone $8,386,000,000 (billions) into the red in the past six months and is expected to wind up its fiscal year June 30 with the biggest 'peace-time' deficit in history. During the past six months spending was logged at $35,041,000,000 and income at only $26,655,000,000."

HUMBOLT, IOWA, REPUBLICAN: "Individuals buy stock in a corporation as an investment and expect to receive earnings in the form of dividends from the stock they purchase. Such dividends become a part of the stockowners income and he pays an income tax on them. But . . . and here is the injustice of the present tax laws . . . the corporation has already paid a tax on those earnings."

MOOSELAKE, MINN., STAR-GAZETTE: "Good business means good jobs, good pay, and an abundance of products we can buy at reasonable prices. Federal economy will mean a balanced budget, a sound dollar, and a stable economy for the whole nation."

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, DESERET NEWS: "It has been said again and again, almost to the point of triteness, that America's greatest strength is her love of free enterprise. It is true. We have overwhelming superiority in the sinews of war today because free men have been given opportunity to dream and to invent, and because other free men have been ready to invest their dollars in the dreams of the inventors with the hope of making an honest profit."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: ". . . A quarter of the country's output of goods and services is the result of government expenditure. If once more Americans assume individual responsibility for 'attaining' their share of domestic tranquility and welfare, their government can concentrate on what it alone can provide, the common defense . . . It is cheaper by billions to support ourselves than to support a huge government in order that it may support us."

MORE FOR OUR MONEY

On many occasions consumers without access to the facts of the case have laid a large part of the blame for high prices at the door of the retailer.

It would be far more logical and far more just to consider how much higher prices might be had it not been for the tremendous progress retailing has made over the years.

The development of the mass-distribution idea is a first-class example. This revolutionary innovation in retailing's philosophy was pioneered by the chain systems, and it is to the credit of other types of merchants that they saw its merits and efficiently adapted it to their own operations. The whole principle of mass-distribution was and is to sell more goods, to sell them at a lower unit profit than was previously considered possible, and to earn a satisfactory total profit through the increased volume. Today many food retailers keep, as profit, only one cent or a fraction more out of each dollar their customers spend with them. Retailers in other lines have a profit of but three or four cents out of that dollar. In other words, matters have reached the point where if the retailers earned no profit whatsoever the saving to the consumer would be hardly noticeable.

This is one of the fruits of open competition. In the allegedly "gold old days" the village storekeeper often had pretty much of a monopoly and, being human, his prices often were based on all-the-traffic-will-bear-theory. Today no retailer has any monopoly on anything, and if the public finds his prices or his stock or his services unacceptable he won't last long in the business world.

All things considered, we want more for our money than we ever did before.

ANOTHER BLOW TO SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

After a year of intensive study and work, the President's Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation has issued its report. And one thing is certain—it won't please the advocates of socialized medicine or any variant thereof.

The report turns thumbs down on socialized medicine, and points to the need for retaining the traditional relationship between physician and patient. It states that the big objective should be to further improve and extend voluntary, privately financed prepaid health service. The small minority of indigents who are unable to pay for this kind of service would be given public assistance.

In other words, the Commission recognizes that progress should and can be made within the present framework of private medicine. It thus substantiates, with a wealth of factual evidence and expert opinion, what other observers have been saying and writing ever since government-bossed medicine became an issue in this country. All kinds of claims and counter claims have been made concerning the workings of socialized medicine in Britain, which pretty much provided the pattern for the last Administration's compulsory federal health insurance scheme. But it isn't debatable that the cost of the British plan ran far beyond the estimates, that it became necessary to again charge for certain services which formerly had been "free", and in many important directions the standards of medical care suffered a marked decline.

In short—if we want better medicine for America, socialism would be the worst possible road to take.

"Political unionism is the first step to Socialism. And Socialism is the cocoon out of which the tiger moth of Communism emerges."—Cecil B. De Mille.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says That Football Can Abolish The Two Platoon System, But He's Sticking

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has been reading the sports pages, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:
 I don't know much about football but if a man was confined to talking on just what he knows something about most sessions of the Texas legislature and the national Congress would be over a few days after they're convened and while that might suit some people it wouldn't suit me, the purpose of a legislative session among other things is to get the people's minds off their worries at home by worryin' over what they're gonna do at Austin or Washington.

At any rate, what I started out to say was that while I don't know much about football, I did read in the papers last week where the two platoon system has been abolished and from now on the same team will have to stay on the field practically the whole game.

What they do in football is none of my business, but I want it understood I intend to continue use the two platoon system out here on my place. Farmin is different from football, you don't do it for the spectator's entertainment, and not very often for the glory of the farmer, although occasionally you do get paid, the same as a college player.

But under the two platoon system, the work is divided. For example, my cows do all the work until a calf is ready for the market, then I send myself in and haul it to town. Or you take a cotton farmer. The first platoon picks the stuff, then he steps in and takes it to the gin. Personally, I don't mind standin' around seeing a tractor is filled with gas, but then I like to call in the offensive team and let him go up one row and down another.

I understand the same system is used in lots of other places. In a bank, loanin' money is handled by one team, but collectin' it sometimes is a job for somebody else. In marriage, you make the mistake but it's up to some lawyer to get you out of it. When an oil man says he's drillin' a well, what he means is he has somebody drillin' it for him. When a town farmer says he's gonna plant so many acres of such and such a crop this year, he means he's gonna oversee it, and the view when plantin' from a position behind a windshield is different from the view you get with your head bent over from a position on a tractor seat.

Football may abolish the two platoon system, but I'm gonna

Non-Clog Screen Painting

WINTER'S a good time to paint the screens. Of course, they should be repaired first, if necessary. An easy method of painting screens (see illustration) has been described in American Builder, a leading trade magazine.

The paint applicator is simply a block of wood—a four-inch length cut from a two-by-four. Attach to it, as shown, a piece of carpeting, fastening the edges with tacks. Nap of the carpet should face out.

Use this simple device by brushing the paint on the carpeting and then rubbing the paint-soaked surface of the block across the screening. You'll find that there will be no clogging of the screen meshes.

stick to it out here, and I think my friends in town will too.

Results Of 1952 Corn Tests Are Announced

COLLEGE STATION — The four newest yellow corn hybrids, Texas 24, 26, 28 and 30, all developed and released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, made outstanding records in tests conducted during 1952 at 21 widely scattered locations in Texas. Texas 26 and 28 had the highest yields when all locations were considered. Texas 30 and 24 yielded only slightly less and were superior in resistance to lodging and stalk breakage and in freedom from damage by insects and diseases.

According to the station agronomists, these four hybrids have almost completely replaced the older Texas hybrids. Seed supplies last year were adequate but the agronomists point out that a shortage may occur this year because of reduced seed output caused by the drought.

In commenting on the 1952 tests, the agronomists, say the season was extremely variable in different areas of the state. In only one section—South Texas—were growing conditions above normal. Test stations in this area reported outstanding yields. The average of all tests at Lockhart was the highest in the state, a very respectable 88.9

bushels per acre, for the 15 hybrids and varieties grown. Texas 30 produced 99 bushels an acre at Lockhart while the average for the five test stations in the area was 56.8 bushels per acre. In the state summary, Texas 26 and 28 are leaders each with a yield of 45 bushels an acre. Texas 30 and 24 ranked second and third with yields of 43.9 and 43.1 bushels an acre, respectively. Texas 15W made the best overall record for white hybrids in the state tests.

The average yield for the four newest Texas yellow hybrids in all tests was 34.5 per cent greater than Surcropper, the highest yielding open-pollinated variety tested. The percentage increase for the same hybrids over Surcropper in the normally heavy corn producing North-Central area of the state was 41.6 per cent. The 1952 tests and those of past years show that the percentage increase in yields of adapted hybrids over open-pollinated varieties is greater when growing conditions are on the adverse side.

Corn growers are advised by the agronomists to consider both yield and other important characteristics, such as lodging, stalk breakage, unsound ears, damage from insects and diseases and shelling percentage, before selecting a hybrid for planting on their farm.

Based on all considerations, the agronomists recommend the following Texas hybrids for the five corn-producing areas of the state. In the southeast they recommend Texas 30, 24, 26 and 28 and 15W; for the Northeast, Texas 30, 24, 28 and 15W; for South-Central Texas, Texas 30, 24, 26, 28 and 15W; for North-Central Texas, 30, 28, 26 and TR-F 3 and for the Western area Texas 26 and 28.

Copies of Progress Report 1518 which gives the details of the 1952 corn performance tests are available from the Publications Office, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station.

Boy Scouts Celebrate 43rd Birthday

Official Boy Scout Week Poster

Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, marking the 43rd anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, will be observed throughout the nation by more than 3,250,000 boys and adult leaders. Since 1910, more than 20,200,000 boys and men have been members. "Forward on Liberty's Team" is the birthday theme and the emphasis is on "The Scout Family" of programs meeting the interests of boys in three age groups: Cub Scouting for boys 8, 9 and 10; Boy Scouting for those 11, 12 and 13 and Exploring for boys 14 and up. The high point of Scouting in 1953 will be the third National Jamboree. More than 50,000 Boy Scouts will camp at a 3,000-acre tent city on the Irvine Ranch in the Newport Harbor area of southern California next July 17 to 23.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Reports of a vaccine capable of preventing polio and the use of gamma globulin for minimizing the effects of the disease are heralded as major achievements in the research against this great killer and cripler of children. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns that both are still in the experimental stage. While they hold great promise, much study will yet have to be done before being available to the general public.

In the meantime, Dr. Cox advises that everyone observe the known rules of sanitation. These practices have proven their value not alone in the prevention of polio, but of other diseases such as typhoid fever, dysentery and malaria. Even when a definite preventive of polio is available to the public they should not discontinue their efforts toward maintaining sanitary surroundings.

Sanitation efforts should be carried out every month and every day in the year. Householders, business houses and industry are responsible for keeping their property in a sanitary condition. Cities must furnish an uncontaminated water supply, maintain an efficient sewage disposal system and proper garbage collection and disposal.

Dr. Cox placed the responsibility on the individual when he said, "Insanitary places do not make the person but the person makes the places." If you have been lax in maintaining cleanliness of your surroundings during the past few months, now is a good time to start an intensive clean up. Texans can help prevent disease and assure themselves of better health by maintaining a high standard of sanitation.

NATIONAL LABORATORIES — LODI, CALIFORNIA

The biggest in town!

Five cents worth of electric service... it's the biggest nickel in town... and it buys lots of service... comfort and entertainment. For example, here's what 5¢ worth of electric service can do for your family:

- A penny's worth makes toast for all your family for three meals...
- Another penny swishes clean three tubs of laundry
- A cent's worth of electric service vacuums six large rugs...
- Then there is enough left out of the nickel to furnish refrigeration for the family's food for hours

• AND
• Bring you and your family an evening's radio or recorded entertainment!

Where else could the average family get so much value for one small nickel... a nickel that's now worth only 52% of its 1939 value, but a nickel that buys 17% more electric service than it did 14 years ago?

Let your local electrical appliance dealer show you how easy it is to put electric servants to work for you.

Pat Hill and Miss Margaret Anne Waldrip were united in marriage on Sunday, February 1, at the First Baptist Church in O'Brien, with the pastor, Rev. W. D. Malone, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Matron of honor was Mrs. Jack Bartell of O'Brien. She was dressed in purple taffeta and net dress, with velvet stole. Gay Bartell was flower girl and was attired in a purple taffeta new dress with velvet stole.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jean Bonner of Littlefield and Mrs. Benny Cannon of Abilene, who were dressed in brown taffeta and net with velvet stoles.

DAVID LAWRENCE SEARCY ARRIVES ON FEBRUARY 1

If by chance you called for a 2x4 and got a cedar post of no certain dimension there is a very good reason for it, for it's a brand new boy for the L. C. Searcys, and you can't hold a man responsible for a small error when he has just become a father.

Dennis Lawrence Searcy arrived at the Haskell Hospital Sunday morning, February 1st, at 9 o'clock and he weighed 6 1/2 pounds. Mother and baby are doing fine and are staying with grandpa and grandma Lloyd Lemley at Weinert for a while. Dennis Lawrence's other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Searcy.

CHICKEN DINNER IN 20 MINUTES

GONE are the days of the limp-necked, unplucked poultry grand-mother singed, scraped, trimmed and roasted for hours! Today's tender, specially raised birds now come in neat cellophane packages—dressed and ready to cook quickly.

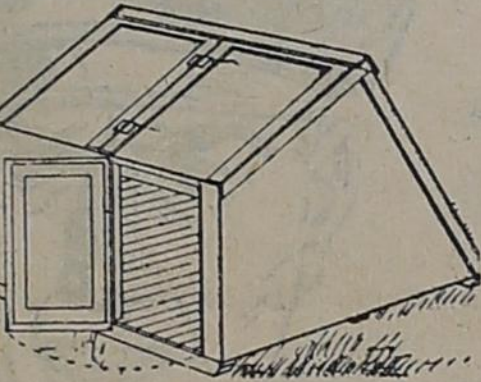

Here, for example, is a 20-minute meal suggested by the makers of Sylvania Cellophane, the film used for meat packaging. It's built around a package of broiler halves or parts (dotted with butter and broiled 15 minutes), a green vegetable, hot rolls and jellied cranberry. The chicken broth becomes a delicious gravy, when you add flour and water.

Incidentally, poultry is the only product from your self-service meat department which should be ventilated during refrigeration. Just open one end of the package. All other meats stay fresher when stored in their closed cellophane package.

Hog House on Skids

MOVABLE hog houses can be inexpensively built right in the farm workshop. One that has been popular is the individual house. For easy moving, the units are built on skids. A sturdily-constructed hog house will last a long time, despite frequent changes of location. The one pictured is of this type, as its lumber framework is covered with Masonite quarter-inch Tempered Presdwood, an all-wood panel that defies wear and weather.

Hog houses like this provide for effective sanitation and disease control when they are kept clean and moved periodically to clean areas or placed next to a concrete feeding platform. A working drawing for the construction of either a single unit six feet long or the double one of twice that length may be obtained by writing Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting free plan No. AFB-193. Home Starts Its Third Life

Expanded and modernized, the farm home of Clarence Ropp in McClean county, Illinois, is beginning a third cycle of service—this time in asbestos armor. In its first stage, some eighty years ago, it was merely a modest one-story cottage (seen as the "ell" to the right in the upper picture). Stage two started about the turn of the century with the two-story addition on the left. Now the original portion has given way to a new section which includes a basement playroom, a large combined living and dining room and a second floor hobby room. For modern beauty, fire safety and economy of upkeep, exterior walls have been covered with white asbestos-cement siding and the roof with red asbestos-cement shingles. A colonial type porch completes the transformation.

Interest Rate Would Be Less Under Loan Bill

AUSTIN—The small loan bill drawn up by a special committee of the State Bar of Texas and endorsed by the State Junior Bar sets ceiling on what the borrower will have to pay and this ceiling is less than now permitted by statute and the regulations of the State Insurance Commission. So declares Tom Reavley of Jasper, president of the State Junior Bar. What is called interest can not now exceed 10 per cent a year but the present statutes permit a lender to collect other charges which can run the cost up to 100 per cent or more. Reavley points borrower what the items are called "credit investigation", "drawing papers" and "credit insurance." "But," said the Junior Bar head, "it doesn't matter to the borrower what the items are called. The practical test is, How much does he have to pay besides the principal?"

"Under the bill we favor, all charges—whether called interest or anything else—can not be more than 3 per cent a month on the unpaid balance, if the loan is larger, then the rate is less. The bill applies to loans of $500 or under and it exempts lenders already licensed by law, such as banks, federal lending agencies, certain cooperatives and credit unions. Nor would this bill affect installment buying."

"Lenders will be licensed and their books inspected by the State Banking Commissioner." Reavley declared the small loan bill is based on fairness to both lender and borrower and similar laws are in effect in 30 states.

Birkenfeld-Krahula Rites Are Read On Tuesday, Jan. 27

Miss Mary Krahula and Frances Birkenfeld exchanged marriage vows Tuesday morning at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Rev. Father Theo Francis, O. M. I., officiating and offering the nuptial mass. Rev. Father Fabian, O. S. B., pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Rhineland, was also present in the sanctuary.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krahula of Seymour. She was given in marriage by her father. The bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace over oyster white slipper satin.

The dress was fashioned with a full gathered skirt with a cathedral train. The bodice was fitted with a stand up collar of pearl-sized sequins. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of knot and seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid with ribbon showers of love knots.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. F. Homer of Rhineland. Pre-nuptial organ music was played by Dolores Thoele. A muted interpretation of Schubert's "Ave Maria" was played during the recitation of the wedding vows. During the mass a choir consisting of Mrs. B. U. Pavlicek, Mrs. A. J. Fojtik, Mrs. Henry Novak and Mrs. Ben Grill.

The traditional wedding march and recessional were also played. The altars were done in beautiful deep pink gladioluses. Wrought iron stands of deep pink gladioluses and pink carnations with commodore fern flanked the pre-Dieu when the bride and groom knelt during the mass.

Miss Julia Krahula as maid of honor wore a gown of lavender net over matching taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and gathered skirt. Her headdress was of net, taffeta and pearls, matching the gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations with pink laceron and ribbon showers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Earlene Guyer of Temple, Mary Ellen Byrne, and Della Pivonka of Fort Worth. Their gowns of sky blue were designed identically to the one worn by the maid of honor and their bouquets were identical.

Miss Faye Horne, Malon Mitchell Marry January 24

Miss Faye Horne and Malon Lee Mitchell of Wichita, Kansas, were united in marriage during an impressive candlelight double ring ceremony conducted Saturday evening, January 24, in the First Baptist Church of Gilliland by Dr. J. T. McKissick, retired minister of the First Christian Church of Abilene.

Traditional musical selections were provided by pianist, Mrs. Richard Winstead, of Gilliland, who accompanied Mr. Grady Morton of Seymour while singing "The Lord's Prayer." The bride was lovely in a dior blue silk shantung dress, fashioned with a cowl neckline and a bouffant skirt. Her accessories were a flesh pink felt hat and lace mitts and navy shoes. Pearls worn by the bride were a gift from the groom. She carried a white Bible borrowed from Mrs. Jack Herrington of Odessa, matron of honor, and Mrs. L. D. Horne of Austin bridesmaid.

The groom's attendants were Roy Smith of Midland, the best man, and L. D. Horne of Austin, groomsmen.

Acting as ushers and candle lighters were Gaylon Parris of Dallas and Jack Herrington of Odessa.

The bride is the daughter of Dan E. Horne of Gilliland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mitchell of Sweetwater.

The groom, a graduate of North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, is employed as office manager of Kraft Foods Co. in Wichita, Kansas.

Immediately following the ceremony the newly wed couple was honored with a reception held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horne.

The reception table was centered with a lovely arrangement of pink carnations and orchid heather and was appointed with a crystal punch bowl and tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Jack Herrington presided at the punch service while Mrs. L. D. Horne cut the cake. Mrs. Charles Layton of Eastland secured names of the guests for the bride's book.

For traveling the bride chose a charcoal grey faille suit with gold trim. Her hat was gold and other accessories were navy.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Gressett of Comanche visited in the G. W. Dingus home last Thursday.

Agriculture
Released by
The Texas Department of Agriculture

By JOHN C. WHITE, Commissioner

NOTE: The following story which directly affects the whole picture of Texas agricultural economy is by Glenn Shelton, farm editor of the Wichita Falls Record News. His observations are especially appropriate at this time when Texas farmers are preparing for another crop year.—JOHN C. WHITE, Commissioner of Agriculture.

FUTURE OF TEXAS COTTON

The new red scourge of Texas' cotton fields is the pink bollworm. But there seems to be a dangerous tendency on the part of farmers to treat it casually. Farmers have been confronted with so many crises—drouths, other insects, floods, low market that they fail to see the forest for the trees. They quite understandably don't get excited every time some new "threat" is announced.

But, in my opinion this pink bollworm threat is something to get excited about. It is a real danger to the South's basic industry, and poses perhaps a bigger threat right here in Texas than anywhere else. It could quite conceivably put an end to our rich cotton industry. It is that bad. Entomologists readily agree the worms have multiplied many times over in the past two or three years.

What is the history of this dangerous cotton insect? Well, in 1916, a Mexican cotton grower found an odd kind of worm in his fields. He thought at first it might be the small "grub" of the boll weevil. But he wasn't sure. This particular worm had a pinkish tinge; the well-known weevil grub was distinctly white in color. So the Mexican grower gathered a handful of infested bolls and sent them to insect experts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. There the worm made startling news.

Far from being a weevil grub, it was, without doubt, the dreaded pink bollworm—the same worm that had long been ravaging cotton in other parts of the world. This was its first recorded appearance on the North American continent. How did the pink bollworm get into Mexico? No one is sure. But the best guess is that it came from Egypt where the pest has abounded for years. Egyptian planting seed had been imported into Mexico in 1911, and there's little doubt the pink bollworm moved with it.

The pest kept moving—right through Mexico and across the Rio Grande river. In 1917, one year after it was spotted in the Laguna district of Mexico, it was found in fields near Hearne, Texas. Here, again, the worm apparently was brought into a non-infested area in seed shipments. That was about 35 years ago.

ROCK-A-BYE—Tiny switches for airplane auto-pilots are tested on rocker which tilts flowing mercury back and forth to make and break electric contact. For safety, Minneapolis-Honeywell has every switch tilted some 150,000 times.

Since then—despite intensive quarantine and control measures—the pest has fanned out westward into New Mexico, and Arizona, northward into Oklahoma, and eastward into Louisiana. In all, it now occupies at least 261 counties in which farmers plant a total of about 12 million acres of cotton.

J. W. Callaway, of Corpus Christi, in 1950 had a field of late-planted cotton. Before the crop could reach maturity, the pink bollworm infestation reached 90 per cent. He had to destroy the entire crop. This story clearly points up the potential destructiveness of the insect. In 1952 the pink bollworm cost us $34.6 million. In 1942 only about 75 counties were infested. By 1952, the number had jumped to 261. Is that a threat to the cotton industry, isn't it? Last year, entomologists found the pink bollworm had doubled and tripled in the Vernon, Wichita Falls, Knox and Haskell areas. The same occurred in many other areas of the state. If I were a cotton farmer, a gin-ner or a cotton oil mill man, I would be concerned.

The cotton business has lost enough of its value the past 10 to 15 years. If the bollworm joins the boll weevil as a force of cotton destructiveness, then we might as well forget the rich crop that made the South into the great empire that it is. —Glen Shelton.

The Texas Spring Palace, to display the State's resources opened in Fort Worth in the Spring of 1889—a large, two-story edifice with eight towers and a dome. Captain Paddock was president of the association. More than 100,000 attended, so it was opened for a second season.

On the next to last night, the band concert had ended and the grand ball was about to begin. A thousand Dallas representatives were just entering the palace when there was a cry of "Fire!" Shrieks rent the air and 7,000 persons rushed for the doors. The fire, starting on the second floor, advanced with breath-taking swiftness because of the easily-consumed materials of the decorations.

There was no time to combat the flames but members of the fire department and others directed the panic-stricken to the exits. Several firemen were scorched and others were injured by the rushing thousands. One of the most active in the rescue work was Al Haynie, a civil engineer, who remained so long in the doomed building that he was badly burned and died next day.

All Fort Worth sorrowed for the young man—and the ladies raised a fund for a monument, which stands as a reminder of his heroism and of the beautiful Texas Spring Palace which was destroyed on that May night in 1890.

Sir Walter Scott wrote many novels and poems but here is something which he wrote that

I never ran across until a few days ago—it's a tribute to the Bible:

Within this awesome volume lies The mystery of mysteries: Happiest they of human race To whom their God has given grace To read, to fear, to hope, to pray, To lift the latch, to force the way; But better had they ne'er been born Who read to doubt or read to scorn.

35 years ago farmers were burdened with high interest rates and unfavorable terms on their farm real estate loans. The nation-wide Federal Land Bank system with its local farmer-owned national farm loan associations was established to whip this problem.

Gradually, with the Federal Land Bank setting the pace, interest rates on farm mortgage loans worked lower. From as high as 6% our interest rate was dropped to 5 1/2%, then to 5% and 4 1/2% and 4 1/4%, and finally in June 1935 to 4%. For more than 17 years now, we have held to that same low interest rate.

New Secretary Of Treasury Humphrey Endorses U. S. Savings Bond Program

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey recently addressed a letter to the national and state directors of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program, advising them of his whole-hearted support of the program and his intention to continue its vigorous promotion.

The text of the secretary's letter, as received by W. E. Braly, Knox County chairman, is as follows:

"As I assume my duties as Secretary of the Treasury I want to send a special message to the public-spirited men and women who are engaged in the vitally important task of promoting the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds.

"It is our intention to review carefully all Treasury operations to consider what adjustments may be required in the interest of efficient operations, but, in advance of this review, I wish to tell all of you that President Eisenhower and I recognize fully the value of the Savings Bond Program and are prepared to give it our enthusiastic support.

"The sale of U. S. Savings Bonds promotes thrift, give the holder a buffer against misfortunes, and makes him a partner of the government. The sale of Government bonds to millions of the citizens of the country is a vital part of a sound debt management policy.

"The Savings Bond Program will be under the general supervision of W. Randolph Burgess and Andrew N. Overby, who will keep in touch with you.

"We appreciate what you have done and ask your cooperation as we go forward."

This American farmer knows how much his farm tractor means to him in keeping his farm plant in operation. The purchase of three or more $100 U. S. Defense Bonds a year will take care of the annual depreciation on most farm tractors. This means the farmer will have money on hand to buy a new tractor when he needs it. His money is not only earning interest, but is safe and accessible in case of farm or family emergencies. Start a farm machinery replacement plan. Invest in safe, dependable U. S. Defense Bonds.

State's Draft Call For March Is Highest In Years

AUSTIN—The biggest state draft call in two years—calling for the induction of 2,989 men in March was announced Tuesday by state Selective Service headquarters.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said that more than 6,800 men also would be examined in March to keep the state ready to fill future calls.

Local board quotas for the March induction call will be figured and placed in the mail on or about February 10, the state draft director said. The March quotas for physical examinations are scheduled to be sent to local boards Tuesday.

General Wakefield said that local boards will be authorized to induct men in March down to the age of 19 years and 9 months and examine men down to the age of 19 years and 4 months.

Not many men below the age of 20 will be inducted in March, according to the state Selective Service director. Local boards will be advised to fill March calls to the greatest extent possible with men 20 or older.

"I believe only a small percentage of those inducted in March will be below the age of 20," General Wakefield commented. "Latest available figures from our local boards show only 535 men below 20 who are examined and acceptable. Of course, this number will grow between now and March."

The state draft director said that present inductees for the armed forces are replacements for drafted men who are now getting out after two years of service.

Texas has inducted more than 52,000 men since beginning of hostilities in Korea and has examined more than 125,000 during the same period.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

A baby girl, Rose Ann, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Welch on Wednesday, January 28, at the Quannah hospital. Mother and daughter are reported doing nicely.

The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hendrix of Munday and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Welch of Gilliland. Mr. and Mrs. Welch have another daughter, Cynthia Jean.

Congressman Ikard Named To Military Operations Group

The Chairman of the Committee on Government Operations has today announced the assignment of Representative Frank Ikard, 13th Texas District, to the Military Operations Subcommittee.

The Military Operations Subcommittee is charged with the responsibility of studying and making our military (other than combat) activities at all levels more economical and efficient.

The work of this Subcommittee will include determining whether in the Armed Services there is waste of manpower or of dollars. If so, where, and specifically, how better results may be brought about by change in methods, procedure, and legislation.

The principal function of this Subcommittee will be of an investigative nature, with particular reference to the expenditures of defense appropriations in an effort to eliminate wasteful, extravagant, and injudicious spending, and of more importance, the manner in which the manpower of the services is used.

One of the principal objectives of these investigations should be the recommending of measures, either for administrative policy or legislative enactment, which will place military activities on a more economical, a more efficient, basis.

Since at this time about three-fourths of our government expenditures are made to the defense establishment and the military, this Committee will offer an opportunity to study these expenditures and to be helpful in effecting some economies both in money and manpower.

Charles Hardin, returned to Riverside, Calif., last Friday, after a short visit here with his mother, Mrs. Nell Campbell. Mrs. Campbell accompanied him to Amarillo where she remained for a visit with her daughter.

Mrs. Michael Sloan and daughter, Sandra, of Midland are here for a week's visit with Mrs. Sloan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mitchell.
