PEAK REACHED IN GRAIN HARVEST

Rhineland Celebration Set For Monday, July 5, At Community Park

Prepared Foods Are Featured for the Celebration

Citizens of the Rhineland community, six miles north of Munday, have extended a personal invitation to the people of Knox county to attend their annual picnic and celebration, Monday, July 5th at Rhineland Park on the banks of the Brazos river.

Unlike other 4th of July celebrations and picnics, the Rhineland community sponsors every phase of their annual all-day affair, and the entire proceeds go to the Rhineland church.

To Finish Structure

It is the plans of the Rhineland community to be able to complete the outside of the new church edifice by fall, and much of the work and materials are to be paid for from the proceeds of the picnic.

John T. Hoffman, superintendent of the Rhineland school system, announced that the Lone Star Band of that community will make a concert tour advertising the affair, Saturday, July 3rd. Tentative plans are that the band will be in Munday about 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The boosters will start at Gore and swing through the county. From Gore they will move in on Munday, then to Knox City and up to Benjamin. Other points will be visited, if time permits, Supt. Hoffman stated.

To Feature Eats

Delectable eats, cooked only as home cooked food should be, will be the feature of the picnic. The Rhineland ladies will keep the various foods steaming hot and they urge that each person, eat all they can—"it costs no more"—and they frankly admit that they are good cooks.

Meats will be found in large quantities and assortments. Beef, pork, chicken, and pure country sausage and hamburgers will be served. On the long tables in the community hall, where the feed will be staged, the hungry picnickers can find all kinds of salads, fruits, pies, cakes, and everything else that makes a meal a "real feed."

There will be plenty of shade, and music will be furnished throughout the day by the Lone Star Band. Amusements on the grounds will be in the form of cat races, doll races, fat men's races, sack races, cake walk, ducking, stool, and several other features.

Dance at Night

At about 8:15 the dance floor will be opened to dancers the remainder of the evening. The dance floor will provide approximately 4,000 square feet of dancing space, and will be an open air platform. Music will be furnished by the Stamford Brown Derbies, an 8-piece orchestra that has become popular with lovers of the dance past time. A loud speaker will carry the music to all parts of the large floor.

Partridge is Improving

Emmett Partridge, manager of the Farmers' Union gin here, is showing slight improvement since his return from the plains at Lubbock. Mr. Partridge is suffering from a serious attack of asthma. The attending physician stated that Partridge was gradually improving.

Remove to Munday

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walling have recently returned from Fredricksburg, where they have resided since January. The Wallings left Munday seeking a more suitable climate for Mr. Walling, who has been in ill health.

KNOX 4-H CLUB BOYS ENGAGED IN 3 CONTESTS

KNOX COUNTY GINNERS SET UP FUND OF $100 FOR PRIZE MONEY

CRUISE OFFERED

65 COUNTY YOUTHS ENTERED IN COTTON PROJECTS; 17 FROM MUNDAY

Knox county 4-H boys this year have more to look forward to than at any time in previous years with three outstanding prizes offered in cotton projects. W. W. Rice, county agent and A. K. Pendleton, chairman of the county 4-H committee stated this week.

One of these contests that the boys are entered in is sponsored by the ginnery of Knox county, who have set up a $100 fund to be divided into five cash awards to boys who produce the most cotton on a 3-acre tract. The staple in this contest must be 15-16. The prize money is divided as follows: first, $20; second, $30; third, $10; 4th and 5th, $5 each.

Probably the outstanding of the three prizes offered for cotton projects and 4-H club work is a Caribbean Cruise sponsored by a Galveston cotton firm.

Boys selected to make the trip will be taken from twenty leading counties of the state in this work. Four boys can be sent from one county should they qualify, but not more than that number will be given the trip from any county. A. H. Pendleton, stated that county agent Rice and members of the committee are doing their best to keep 4-H work in this county up to a standard that will enable four to be sent on the cruise.

65 Boys Entered

Sixty five Knox county boys have entered the contests and each has a fine stand of cotton that is in excellent condition. Seventy-five boys entered the contest at the start of the event but ten have been forced to drop out, due to washing rains and other unfavorable weather conditions which has caused them to replant several times.

Twenty members of the Munday 4-H club have entered the contests. They are W. B. Thompson, Billie Lowrance, C. J. Howeth, W. G. Welborn, Harvey Reid, Douglas Busby, Buddie MacHen, Troy Harrell, Donald Hobert, Orville Matlock, J. O. McMahon, John Phillips, Leslie Phillips, Raymond Phillips, Marion Phillips and J. B. Pollock.

Chicago Trip Offered
Another added trip that has added much spirit to the boys work is the all-expense trip to Chicago that is being offered by the Anderson, Clayton Company. Whether or not any of the county lads win these trips remains to be seen, but at present rating of this county in 4-H work is one of the highest in the state.

Revival Meeting Attracting Large Audiences Here

A revival meeting, begun last Saturday night by the Pentecostal congregation, is progressing nicely, with Evangelist W. K. Aber, and wife of Blessing, Texas, in charge of the services.

Rev. Aber, who is considered one of the ablest evangelists of the Pentecostal church in this state, has been preaching for the past 28 years. The evangelist closed a four weeks revival at Benjamin, before opening the present meeting here.

The services, held each night, are on a vacant lot in the open air, just across the street from the Methodist church.

The evangelist and members of the local congregation invite the public to attend these meetings and hear Aber deliver his messages.

Howdy Folks . . .

We greet you today with the first issue of the Munday Times since purchasing it on June the 9th from J. A. Kennedy and sons, Jesse George, Glenn Wallace and Bill Kennedy. We sincerely hope that in the future you will learn to like it.

It is indeed a great pleasure to us to be with you as owner, publisher, and active manager of the Munday Times. We come to you not as strangers, but as old friends, for we have known many of the business men in Munday for a number of years. We have lived in this congressional district for the past fourteen years, at Chillicothe, Texas, where we have published the Chillicothe Valley News during this time, and still own this publication.

Our friendship started with the Munday business men and citizens when we lived at Haskell, Texas, and worked on the Haskell Free Press, prior to the time of moving to Chillicothe, then and there, we persuaded Miss Elsie Killingsworth to become Mrs. Roberts. Now you have a formal introduction to the family, and should you happen to meet the Mrs. on the street, I am quite sure that you will know her.

Meet Boyde Carley, who will act in the capacity of assistant editor and advertising manager, and by the way, this publisher urges every business man to meet him at once. Mr. Carley is an experienced newspaper man, and for the last few years has been connected with various newspapers in Oklahoma, more recently of the Hollis Post-Heard. When you meet Mr. Carley on the street, just say "Hello Boyde."

Another introduction, which will be of great interest to Munday and community is, Harvey Lee, who will be shop foreman and Linotype operator. We feel instead of introducing Harvey, he should introduce us. Anyway, Harvey is experienced in the newspaper business, and will be glad to meet all his old friends in Munday again.

Now you have a thorough introduction to the entire Times force at this time, and we sincerely seek your cooperation and assistance, and it is our aim and purpose to make the Munday Times just what it should be, one of the outstanding weekly newspapers in this section of Texas, realizing at the same time, it will be impossible to do this without your help.

We, too, want to meet personally all the readers, and those that are not readers at this time, because we hope some day to have you listed as one of the happy family of readers of the Munday Times.

AVERAGE YIELD FOR AREA TWENTY-FIVE BUSHELS PER ACRE

MOST OF CROP IN WEINERT IS THE LARGEST SHIPPING POINT IN COMMUNITY

Knox county, which ordinarily is not a grain producer, is now winding up one of the largest wheat crops in history, most of which is being produced in the eastern half of the county.

Monday evening, 290 cars of wheat had been shipped out to wheat milling centers from this section. The amount of wheat produced in other sections of the county cannot be determined as a great deal of it goes to outlying shipping points.

Local elevator managers estimate the average yield per acre to be near 25 with the highest yield reported as 33 bushels per acre on the Chester Bowden farm joining the northeast section of the city.

M. H. Reeves, manager of the Farmers' Elevator and Jack Mayes, manager of the Graham Mill and Elevator Company here, both estimated that 85 to 90 percent of the 1937 crop had been harvested.

Weinert Leads Section

Weinert, 8 miles south of Munday, is leading the section in car shipments with 128 out. Munday follows and Gore, north of loaded out 75 cars. H. local depot agent, estimates the seasons yield would total car shipments up to 115 cars, here and it may be that mark.

The 290 cars of wheat have been shipped from that point, and that figure will be increased considerably. The peak has been reached and the remainder of the fields should be threshed by the end of next week. Other crops in the Benjamin area are in excellent condition.

Benjamin Has Bumper Crop
The Benjamin community north west of Munday, is another section of Knox county that has produced a bumper wheat crop this year. The area surrounding Benjamin, like the soil in the eastern portion of the county is not ordinarily considered as a grain producing belt, however, this year is an exception.

Over 115 cars of wheat have been shipped from that point, and that figure will be increased considerably. The peak has been reached and the remainder of the fields should be threshed by the end of next week. Other crops in the Benjamin area are in excellent condition.

VERA AND LONE STAR SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION MOVE CARRIED BY LARGE MAJORITY RECENTLY

69 of the 83 Votes Cast Are 'For' The New District

The Vera and Lone Star school districts voted overwhelmingly to consolidate, creating a new and larger school district, Thursday, June 10. The final count showed 69 for the move and 14 against the proposal.

The new district will be called the Vera Common Consolidated School District No. 28.

Vera Votes Heavy
The Vera district polled a much heavier vote than Lone Star, with 52 casting votes in the special election. The plurality for the move to consolidate was also greater at Vera than at Lone Star. The votes as cast were: Vera, for the proposal, 20; against, 10.

Trustees Selected

In a special meeting Monday, June 14, at the courtroom of the county courthouse in Knox City, trustees for the newly created district were appointed to serve. The new trustees are: Sam Shipman, Rube Richard, L. M. Christian, Jim Kinnibrough, Milton Ford, Wesley Trainham, and R. N. Smith. These men were appointed by the county board.

A petition proposing a $12,000 bond issue to build new buildings for the school district has been presented to the county judge for approval.

It is the intention of the new district to get the assistance of the WPA to construct the new buildings. Material, in part will come from the two salvaged structures now used by the two districts. Vera trustees expect to have an excellent school plant by combining the bond issue money with the salvaged material and the help of the WPA.

CROUCH AWARDED $7,510 IN TRIAL

MICHELS, DEFENDANT, WILL APPEAL TO HIGHER COURTS

The case of Lige Crouch versus Henry M. Michels in the district Court of Knox County, Texas, which went to trial last week was concluded on Monday of this week, and resulted in a jury verdict of $7,510.00 for the plaintiff, Lige Crouch. The court overruled a motion for a new trial on Wednesday, and the defendant gave notice of appeal to the court of civil Appeals for the Eleventh Supreme Judicial District of Texas, at Eastland. It will likely not be reached for hearing in that court for a year.

Judge Newton adjourned Court on Wednesday of this week for the June Term. During this term there were several cases disposed of, and a considerable number continued by the parties by reason of the fact that witnesses and the parties were engaged in harvest and in their crops, making it difficult to get witnesses. The next term of District Court convenes in October.

Eilands Drug Store Changing Fixtures

Eilands Drug Store was this week making several changes in the fixtures of the firm.

The fixtures in the east side of the building are being moved back to the wall under the stairway recess. The move will net a gain of about three feet of floor space in the store.

The telephone booth for long distance calls was also taken out and a door installed into the opening in the prescription department of the firm.

NO BETTER TIME

It won't be long now until old Sol will be beaming far more forcibly than he is now and his scorching rays will become more penetrating. That is just one more good reason why those citizens who have been postponing needed repair work and improvements are unwise to do any longer.

GARDEN EXPERIMENTS

Now that it is definitely known that members of the vegetable family can have their chassis altered the same as members of the auto family, citizens of Munday should be more interested in garden work.

USE MORE LIME

After cleaning under way, there's one surety of the attention of every property owner who has his own and the health of his garden at heart. The cheapest, and one of the best disinfectants that can be used is lime.

Mysteries of Big Bend Studied By Geologists

Mysteries of the Big Bend country today, by far the greater number occur in the geological formation known as the Boquillas Flats. One may walk for twenty miles along the base of the Dead Horse mountains and frequently tread on petrified oysters.

Elephants are said by scientists to have inhabited the earth at least fifty thousand years before man, and dinosaurs lived thirty million years before the elephant. Both elephant and dinosaur bones have been found in the Big Bend country in which some of the rocks are estimated by geologists to be more than sixty million years old.

PLUGGING THE SOURCE

Judge J. M. Braude of the Chicago boys' court declares that the "three G's"—gin, gas and girls—are bringing more erring youngsters into his court these days than ever before.

No one can fail to wish him success in this campaign, or to hope that he deals out the stiffest penalties the law provides. It is impossible to think of any excuse for the man who sells liquor to a minor.

CAREERS IN WPA

Whenever the administration has made a cut in its list of WPA relief clients, a mighty howl has gone up from families and individuals who believed they were getting a raw deal.

New York's works progress administrator Licat Col. B. B. Somervell, has drawn plans for replacing WPA "career" workers with jobless men and women more eager to equip themselves for a return to private employment.

Properly handled, this is fair procedure to these WPA workers who honestly want to make their way independent of the government.

The man who strives to educate himself—and no one else can educate him—must win a certain victory over his own nature.

Some men who think they ought to be elected to public office should at least be given credit for an original thought.

The folks who are always yelling for clean results are the ones who generally want their shows a little dirty.

If all these "would-like-to-be newspaper editors" had as good insight to the "real" thing as those already "in" they would be quite a number choosing a different vocation.

When a Munday man says the answer is as clear as mud he means that it covers the ground.

question as to the basis for such a program:

1. Should the program be so planned as to give aid only to the farmers who have been exploiting their soil, or should it recognize the farmers who have been treating their soil right, and encourage them to go on doing so?

2. Should the program as a whole, either in its planning or its operation be judged on the basis of the attitude toward it of a few gentleman farmers whose principal occupation is not farming?

3. Should the Democratic System of local control and administration of the program by the farmers be continued, or should it be handled from Washington on a completely centralized and regimented basis?

OLD AGE SECURITY According to recent information from the Social Security Board, 27,704,396 Social Security Act Members have been signed under the Old Age benefit program; 45 states have enacted unemployment compensation laws; 1,747,500 needy persons in 43 states will receive national, state and local aid under the public assistance plan during June.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN Representative McGroarty, the author of the Townsend legislation of the last Congress, spoke June 14 and appraised the Congress of the present status of the Townsend plan.

"Mr. Speaker, my purpose in addressing the House this afternoon is to endeavor to clear up some confusion and misunderstanding which I am aware exists in the minds of Members of Congress regarding the so-called and once popularly styled old-age pension movement known as the 'Townsend Plan.'"

It is well known in Congress and throughout the Country that I was the first sponsor in Congress of this Townsend Plan, which, for a time justly boasted of a vast following among the people, but which is now a total and complete wreck due, I believe, wholly to the erratic and dubious methods employed by the man whose name the movement bore.

The news writers sensed that the fine Italian hand of Clements was back of it all. So, the news began to take note of Clements. His picture also began to appear in the newspapers and magazines.

There is now on the Clerk's desk of the House a petition to discharge the Ways and Means Committee from a House resolution which represents this wreck. It is called "the general welfare act" by its author, the latest of the adventurers to enter the once lush green Townsend pastures which are now a waste of withered grass. It is a strange document. I am embarrassed beyond words to learn that Members of the House think it is my bill and have signed the petition in that understanding.

Their names on the petition places them in the unenviable position of aiding and abetting an effort to raise $5,000,000 in nickels and dimes from the old folks on the promise of Dr. Townsend that he will give a huge sum to enable him to pass his $20 a month "general welfare" bill in the present Congress.

There are other bills pending before Congress that will more adequately provide for the aged and those needing Social relief than existing laws, and it is hoped that this legislation will be enacted at this session.

Why They Called Him Speedy

By IRVIN S. COBB

BERT SWOR, the minstrel man, is something more than a mere black-face comedian. He was born and reared in a Texas town and is probably known as much about the true interpretation and, what is more, the true delineation of certain negro types as any living man. He knows what most Northern-born men do not, that the essence of the Southern negro's humor usually is based on a gorgeous hyperbole, a natural instinct for exaggerated comparisons.

One of his most popular wheezes is a faithful rendition of something which a colored man at Fort Worth said years ago. Two negroes were talking together. As Swor passed he gathered that the subject under discussion was the relative fleetness of foot of the pair.

"You claims you is fast! You says you's so fast folks calls you speedy! Jest how fast is you, nigger?" "I'll tell you how fast I is," said the other. "De room whar I sleeps nights is got jest one 'lectric light in it 'ch dat 'lectric light is forty feet from de baid. Wen I gets undressed I kin walk over to dat 'lectric light and turn it out and git back into baid and be all covered up befo' de room gits dark."

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

The Good Old Days.
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Taking pen in hand to write Uncle Sam's check for that next installment, I look longingly backward to what I'm sure was the golden age of our generation.

It was the decade that began soon after the turn of the century and ended with 1914.

Kings lolled securely on comfy thrones and dictatorships in strong nations were undreamed of.

Without shaking the foundations of the financial temple, Teddy Roosevelt was filled with the alligator teeth of predatory wealth.

People laughed at the mad suggestion that there could ever be another great war—let alone a world war.

With suffrage in prospect, women were going to parity politics.

Taxes were a means unto an end and not the end of our means.

Standards of living climbed faster than did the costs of living.

Automobiles were things to ride in at moderate speed, not engines to destroy human life with.

Millions actually believed that if prohibition by law ever became effective, drunkenness would end and crime decrease.

Yes, I'm sure those were indeed the happy days—the era when the Twentieth Century lilyan started running and W. J. Bryan stopped.

Synthetic Imitations.
WE STOPPED at a wayside station advertising pure orange juice; there's one every few rods. Next to autograph hunters, oranges are the commonest product of California.

The drink was the right color. But there didn't seem to be any orange in it. The best you could say for it was that probably its mother had been badly frightened by an orange.

I made inquiry, and an expert told me some roadside vendors—not many, but some—were peddling an essence compounded of chemical flavoring and artificial extracts because it kept better than the genuine article.

I thought America had reached tops in the gentle arts of substitution and adulteration when we began making pumpkin pies out of squash and maple syrup out of corn stalks and buckwheat flour out of low grade sawdust—anyhow, it tastes like that—and imported English sole out of the lowly flounder and scallops out of skate fins. But when, in a land where a strong man couldn't tote a dollar's worth of oranges on his back, there are parties selling synthetic imitations—well, just let the east equal that magnificent stroke of merchandising enterprise!

Poor Little Rich Men.
LET us take time off to pity the poor little rich man who owns a large but lonesome sea-going yacht. During the depression, the species grew rare—there were money lords then who hardly had one yacht to rub against another—but, with better days, a fresh crop lines the coasts.

No matter how rich, the owner feels he must use his floating palace. He may be content with a saucer of processed bran and two dyspepsia tablets, but no yacht crew yet ever could keep soul and body together on anything less than double sigloms. So he goes cruising—and gosh, how he does dread it!

For every yachtman who really gets joy out of being afloat, there usually is another to whom the great heart of the nation should go out in sympathy. You almost expect to find him putting ads in the paper for guests who can stand the strain; everything provided except the white duck pants.

Problems on Wheels.
AMERICA'S newest problem goes on wheels. One prophet says by 1938 there'll be a million trailers and three million people aboard them. Roger Babson raises the ante—within twenty years, half the population living in trailers and all the roads clogged.

So soon the trailer-face is recognizable. It is worn by Mommer, riding along behind, while Popper smiles pleasantly as he drives the car in solitary peace—getting away from it all. Have you noticed how many trailer widows there are already?

But as yet nobody reckons with the chief issue: think of the increasing mortality figures when the incurable speed bug discovers that not only may he continue to mow down victims with head-on assaults, but will garner in many who escaped his frontal attack by side-swipes of the hitched-on monster that is swinging and lunging at his rear like a drunken elephant on a rampage!

To catch 'em going and coming—that should be a motor maniac's dream of earthly joy.

'WAY BACK WHEN

FRED MACMURRAY WASHED CARS FOR A LIVING

NECESSITY is the mother of invention, they say; and if that is so I think someone should emphasize that "Courage is the father of opportunity." So many times, when things look blackest, it seems that only by drawing on reserve strength can we keep going. Suddenly we find ourselves face to face with opportunity. Everything looked hopeless before. We were really almost ready to give up. And, then looking back, we wonder how things could have seemed as bad as they were.

Fred MacMurray was born in Kankakee, Ill., in 1908, and spent his boyhood in Beaver Dam, Wis. He lived a normal small town life for an American youngster. In 1925, when he was seventeen, he was awarded the annual American Legion medal for the student showing the most well-rounded development in scholastic subjects and sports. His mother worked in offices to support them both, and Fred attended Carroll college in Waukesha, Wis., earning his way by playing the saxophone. A broken hip forced his mother to quit work, and Fred left college to try to blow a living out of his saxophone. They moved to Hollywood, Calif., for her health and the boy was glad to get a job washing cars in a garage, to pay her hospital bills. Before he could collect his pay, the garage went bankrupt, and Fred MacMurray faced a discouraging period without a job. He tried to obtain work in the picture studios as a saxophone player, but had no luck. Things looked very black, indeed.

Then, he was signed up with a band called the California Collegians, which worked its way to New York city and was hired for the play "Three's a Crowd." Fred had a small bit which led to a slightly better part in "Roberta." A talent scout for Paramount saw him, brought him back to Hollywood, and he was given a contract which led to his success in pictures.

Visitors In Mexico Should Know Their Signs; Mastery of Few Gestures Comes In Handy

Belaarto Quirez, manager of the Mexican Automobile Association at Laredo offers to give a little free instruction to American tourists whose Spanish is limited to "adios," headquarters of the organization at Monterrey, Mexico announces. Lessons will be in signs, not words—Mexicans being highly qualified in gestures.

"Although one may find somebody in almost every store, hotel, and gasoline station in Mexico who speaks English," Quirez said "the tourist who wishes to be able to make himself understood need only master a few standard Mexican gestures." Here are a few he suggests tourists paste in their hats:

Food: Press all the fingers of the right hand together into a point, then, holding them not far from the mouth, make a few short, sharp gestures toward the opening in the face. This means "Let's eat," or "Where do I eat?"

Drink: This should be easy for any elbow-bender. The rule requires balling the fingers of the right then straightening the thumb and little finger. Next jerk the thumb toward the mouth with an upward movement of the elbow "and anywhere in Mexico," Quirez said, "it will be immediately understood" that the jerkie wants a drink.

Money: With the palm of the right hand held upward form a circle with the index finger and thumb, the circle meaning peso or a dollar. Weigh the imaginary peso with little movements on the hand and appropriate facial expressions to indicate "too much" or "how much."

(The teacher did not reveal whether the "too much" attitude should be accompanied by a snort, but he realized, perhaps, touring Americans pay the asking price.)

To express annoyance. Shake the right hand with fingers loose as if shaking off water, suitable facial contortions.

(He did not indicate the contortion expressing "annoyance" with a garlic eater. This may require a special lesson.)

Express thanks or approval: With the palm of the right hand toward the body and fingers extended, touch the forehead three times, waving the hand straight outward after each touch, bowing slightly meanwhile. The gestures should be rapid.

("S'long, fella!" will continue popular).

Call a waiter: Clap the hands sharply once, or say "P-s-s-s-t."

("Hey, half-portion," from the peasants, and "waitah" from the classes will not lose caste, regardless.)

Early Newspapers Recorded History of Texas Republic

Newspapers recorded most of the early day history of Texas and more than a century ago several good papers were being published in the state. The Galveston News, established in 1842, the same year the Standard was instituted at Clarksville, is the oldest paper being published today and from the News' files the following interesting list of early papers is compiled. Publication, city and date of establishment are listed:

Cotton Plant, San Felipe, 1829. Texas Gazette, San Felipe, 1831. Mexican Nation, San Felipe, 1831.

Telegraph and Texas Register, Brazoria, 1836. Telegraph and Texas Register, Houston, 1837.

Bulletin, Matagorda, 1837. Texas Chronicle, Nacogdoches 1837.

Single Star, Brazoria, 1837. The People, Brazoria, 1837. National Banner, Houston, 1838. National Intelligencer, Houston 1838.

Civilian, Houston, 1838. Brazos Courier, Brazoria, 1838. Commercial Intelligencer, Galveston, 1838.

Civilian and Gazette, Galveston, 1838. Galvestonian, Galveston, 1839.

Courier, Galveston, 1840. Austin City Gazette, Austin, 1841. San Luis Advocate, San Luis, 1841. Texas Times, Galveston, 1841. Standard, Clarksville, 1841. The News, Galveston, 1842.

Many of the early newspapers were published at the Texas Republic capitals and as the capitol was moved to its various sites it is supposed that the papers either moved to the new executive center or suspended publication.

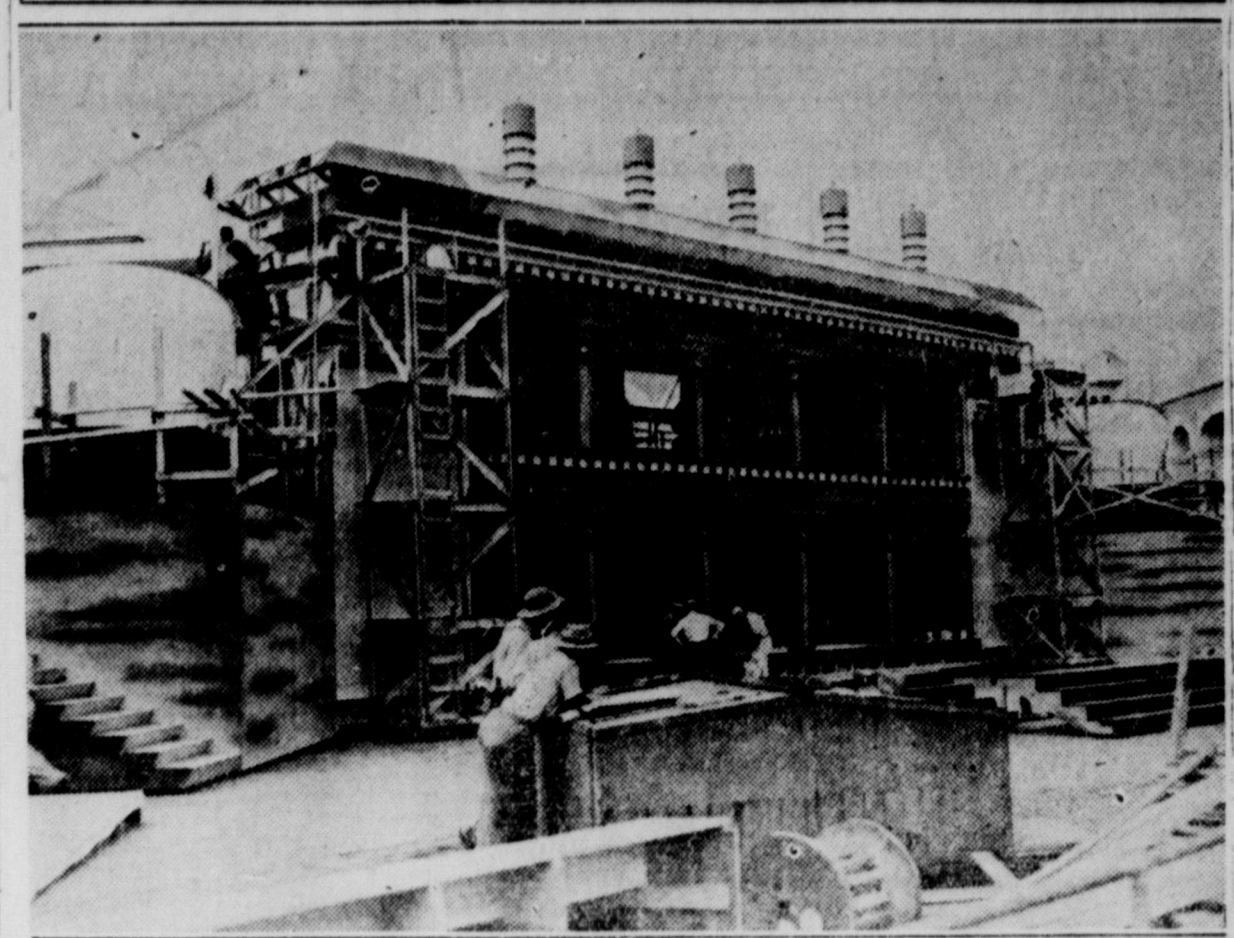

FARMERS BUYING 'HOPPER POISON'

Farm forces engaged in a war upon grasshoppers in Knox County will be provided with plenty of ammunition in the form of poison furnished by County agent W. W. Rice, at Benjamin.

Distribution of poison and bran has been carried on the last few weeks. Rice urges that farmers cooperate in the fight on the "hoppers," as they can damage cotton to a great extent if allowed to work in full force.

Huge Scenery at Fort Worth Fiesta

Approaching completion on the Casa Manana stage at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta as this picture was made was the "Last Horizon" set, 41 feet high, of exotic Oriental design and coloring. Heavy curtains, huge brass gongs and effective lighting add to the impressiveness. The "Gone With the Wind" set is even more huge—in fact, it weighs nearly 1,000,000 pounds and is the biggest stage scene ever built. The Frontier Fiesta, of which Billy Rose is director-general, runs from June 26 through October 16.

To Assign Social Security Numbers After June 30th

Dallas, June 23.—With 7 days remaining during which the social security account numbers will be assigned by postmasters throughout the country, the Social Security Board today announced the virtual completion of its plans for taking over the job on July 1. Applications for account numbers under the Federal old-age benefits program were made at the rate of approximately 41,000 a working day during the month of May, the board said. It was added that this rate probably will be lessened after June 30. The total of assigned account numbers in the Records Division of the Bureau of Federal Old-Age Benefits on June 1 was 27,787,838.

E. L. Tutt, manager of the Dallas field office of the Social Security Board, explained that workers may continue to obtain blank application forms from the post offices after June 30 except in cities where the Board has established field offices, but the actual assignment of the account numbers will be made in Texas through designated field offices in the following cities: Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston and San Antonio.

Tutt stated that the reasons for requesting all wage earners in occupations covered by the Social Security Act to apply for account numbers without delay are:

First—because it is essential to the subsequent setting up of their accounts, which are used in determining the benefits to which they may ultimately become eligible.

Second—because it will simplify the employers task when he hires new employees if these employees can give their account numbers.

Third—because it will be helpful in keeping the records maintained by State unemployment compensation administrations.

Until July 1, the Board explained, an employee may choose any one of the four different ways to file his complete application. They are: (1) by giving it to his employer, (2) by giving it to his labor union, (3) by delivering it to his local post office, (4) by mailing it in a sealed envelope addressed "Postmaster, Local."

By the last day in June every employer in industry and commerce will have to make sure that each of his employees has a social security account number in order to make a required report to the Treasury Department on wages paid for employment since January 1, 1937. If an employee has failed to obtain a number, a Treasury regulation stipulates that the employer must file an application for an account number on his behalf. The employer must file this special information returned on or before July 31.

LAYNE BRITTON, FORMER MUNDAY RESIDENT, WRITING SCENARIOS IN HOLLYWOOD; IS MAKEUP ARTIST

BRITTON WAS BORN HERE; HAD WIDE EXPERIENCE IN MOVIES

Texas for a long time has heard of their native sons and daughters, Joan Crawford, John Boles and Ted Healy. But now they are about to hear of another who calls Texas home.

This time the personage is not an actor, but a make-up artist. This make-up man has written an original scenario, about to be produced for James Cagney, and has another story which a major studio is considering for purchase. His name is Layne Britton.

Layne the son of J. R. and Georgia Britton, was born in Munday, Texas, and when two years old moved to Ft. Worth and then to Stephenville, where he graduated from Stephenville high school. He gained some fame there as the son of the only left-handed barber in Erath county.

Upon graduation from high school he entered Hardin-Simmons college and in 1928 and 1929 he was named on the all-American football team by several sports writers.

Living in the heart of the oil country, it was natural for him to turn to the oil fields during the summer vacations for employment. One summer he met and roomed with George Smart of Wichita, who likewise was earning vacation money. Years later he was to meet him again and collaborate on a scenario.

At the time Warner Brothers decided to make a football picture titled, "Maybe It's Love", with Joan Bennett and John Hill. Russ Saunders, footballer from U. S. C. asked Britton to appear in the production. Layne caught the next train for Hollywood, intending to return the next semester to complete his schooling.

But one picture led to another, and gradually the idea of returning faded.

Then he decided he would never become an actor, and joined the staff of the M-G-M errand boy. Soon after he opened a Foreign Language Layne applied for a motion picture operation machine operator at this for almost at step was the reading pent, but it proved to con- for his energies, and he became a sound man.

It was there he met George Smart, with whom he had worked in the oil fields. In going over their experiences, they hit upon a story idea and wrote, in collaboration, "Hot Oil," for James Cagney.

Britton had always liked the activity of the motion picture sets and asked to be transferred to the make-up department, to be closer to the screen personalities. There, under the guidance of Jack Dawn, make-up expert in charge of the department, he learned the art, and now powders the faces of such famous actors as Lionel Barrymore, Gladys George, Franchot Tone, Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, Nelson Eddy and Louise Rainer.

At present he is the make-up artist on the "Between Two Women," set with Franchot Tone, Maureen O'Sullivan, and Virginia Bruce.

His spare time is passed in studying script construction and formulating story ideas. He and George Smart have three scenarios in preparation and one held under option.

Britton lives with his mother and father in Hollywood. He is not married.

P. V. Williams and Roy Maples of Goree left Sunday evening for Spearman, Texas, attending to business interests.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN.—When James V. Allred, then newly elected attorney general of Texas, filed penalty and ouster charges against 15 major oil companies and two associations, in 1932, charging they had violated the Texas anti-trust laws, he launched litigation that has become one of the most famous cases in Texas jurisprudence, and, incidentally attracted wide attention to himself which eventually made him governor of the state.

Allred tried the case in district court in Travis county and lost it, the court holding the NRA had voided Texas anti-trust laws. The case was appealed by the state and the court of civil appeals again decided in favor of the oil companies, but on different grounds, maintaining the state anti-trust laws were void because they excluded certain agricultural groups from the laws' operation. The state took an appeal to the supreme court of Texas.

A sweeping victory for the state came last week, when the highest court reversed the court of civil appeals, held the anti-trust laws valid, and sent the case back to district court for trial on its merits. The decision surprised oil company lawyers, including Dan Moody, ex-governor and John Black of Austin, rated as two of the state's ablest attorneys, as well as the attorney general, Bill McCraw, who prosecuted the appeal after he succeeded Allred. McCraw had so little confidence in winning that he had privately consulted legislators about enacting new antitrust statutes, anticipating the existing laws would be held void by the supreme court.

The case now goes back to the lower court for trial, and will have to drag its weary way thru the appeals courts, probably to the U. S. supreme court, for final decision, taking from three to five years additional time. Allred originally asked for imposition of $17,850,000 penalties, ouster from the state, and cancellation of the charters of the defendant companies and associations.

Tax Session in September

September is the month set by the governor for resumption of work by the legislature this week, as the anti-gambling session drew to a close with final passage of gambling laws. Another flare-up occurred in House and senate as criticism was voiced toward Allred for a message he sent up, urging the solons to legislate against organized, commercialized gambling, instead of petty personal vice. The September date will enable the governor to complete a survey of the state's tax needs, including those necessitated by the anticipated adoption of the constitutional amendments in the August special election. There is a strong probability there will be two or more additional 30-day sessions, as many major legislative problems other than taxes, hang over from the regular session as a result of failure to pass bills, or of the vetoing of bills by Allred. These included among others pardon and parole legislation, soil conservation, the Big Bend park, oil leasing of school lands and many others.

New Texas Industry

Extensive development of a neglected Texas industry was forecast here this week by W. W. Halcomb, ex-Texas editor, and more recently attached to the secretary of state's office. Halcomb has joined forces with Jack Hale, Houston industrialist, who has chartered a company to "quick freeze" Texas fish, oysters and shrimp, which preserves their fresh flavor indefinitely, and permits shipment long distances in fresh condition. The plan is to stabilize the Texas coast's fishing industry by maintaining a constant market, absorbing surplus thru the preserving process in flush seasons, which would make fresh seafood available throughout the state all year. The process on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts to preserve seafood, fruits and vegetables indefinitely.

Politics

Three rumors regarding the forthcoming gubernatorial race in Texas were laid this week. First, Gov. Allred answered with an emphatic "No" a question by pressmen as to whether he would seek a third term; second, Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt of the highway commission declared he was "not" a candidate in a public address, and third, Karl Crowley of Fort Worth, solicitor general of the postoffice department, told reporters he "had never heard of" rumors he might run for governor, as he stopped off here to lunch with Gov. Allred.

Clarence E. Farmer, radical Ft. Worth legislator, who favors pensions for all over 65, has told friends he expects to run for governor on a liberalized platform. The lieutenant governor's race is beginning to shape up, with Senators John Reddith of Lufkin, and Will Pace of Tyler, and former Speaker Coke Stevenson of Junction regarded as certain candidates. No announcement has come from any of the rumored candidates for attorney general, altho Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul continues busily indirectly campaigning with numerous speeches and other public appearances.

Pension Funds Short

Quiet trimming of the old age pension rolls thruout the state is under way, despite public announcements by pension officials that the pension fund is in good condition. There were approximately 130,000 pensioners getting checks last month; this figure was trimmed about 3,000 to 127,000 for the current month. On the basis of funds to be available for the remainder of the year as shown by the statement of state treasurer, further substantial reductions will have to be made to meet the payments. The pension administration is authorized, under the deliberalization act, to purge the rolls of all who have the possibility of support from children, relatives or other sources, if necessary to meet payments. The pension question is going to be a live political issue in Texas for many years to come, according to every indication here. In political year, the rolls will expand; in off years, they will be trimmed, no matter how many official denials may be issued.

Students working on part-time NYA campus improvement jobs at Decatur Junior College built four tennis courts, two volleyball courts, and several flower beds; hauled one and one-half million pounds of rock for construction of a stone wall around the athletic field; and supplied unskilled labor for the construction of a grandstand at the football field and for repair of the interior of the college building. H. T. Tinsley, Registrar of the college, has reported to J. C. Kellam, state NYA director.

Suggestions For Vacation Driving

Mile for mile, motor cars require less attention from their owners today than ever before. This is explained partly by the increased reliability of the product, and partly no doubt, by the fact that motorists are becoming educated in the simple routine procedure which keeps their automobiles near peak efficiency all the time.

With summer at hand, and hundreds of thousands of owners planning vacation trips in their cars, a few suggestions about preparation for such journeys will be timely. An extended trip makes more strenuous demands of an automobile than does normal use around home, and it is only sensible, when planning such a trip, to see that every detail affecting performance, safety and comfort is checked in advance.

After a winter's driving, it is always advisable to see that the cooling system is in shape for maximum warm weather efficiency. If this has been neglected up to now, it should be attended to before that summer trip. The result will be a cooler engine, longer life from lubricating oil, and generally improved performance. Water should be checked occasionally during the journey, too, of course.

Assuming that transmission and differential lubricants have been changed to the proper grade for summer driving, the levels of both should be checked before the start of a long journey. So should the oil in the crankcase, which, of course, should also be changed at the intervals recommended by the manufacturer.

The solution in an automobile battery evaporates more rapidly in warm weather than in cold, and the short time it takes to have this detail checked, and water added if necessary, is always well invested.

The average motorist thinks about tires only when he has a "flat". A little extra attention to the subject will not only reduce tire troubles to a minimum, but add considerably to the comfort of riding and the ease of driving. Cars steer more easily when the tires are inflated to the proper pressure, and it is especially important that the pressure in the left and the right be the same.

For complete comfort in motoring, tires should be checked now and then during a journey. Protracted driving on hot pavements in summer may expand the air to a point where the ride becomes bumpy because the tires are so hard.

On the other hand, tires with insufficient air wear out rapidly, because of the constant flexing of the casing near the point of contact with the ground. They are also more likely to suffer rim-cuts traversing rough roads.

Today's cars rarely develop any serious trouble, even on extended journeys. But a succession of minor annoyances, easily averted by a little advance preparation, have often marred an otherwise perfect trip. The vacationist who looks after these details as a matter of routine is taking out good insurance on the success of his trip.

Blowout Cause Of Car Wreck—None Hurt

Four youths narrowly escaped serious bodily injury Sunday evening in the south part of the city when their car, a 1936 Chevrolet, overturned after crashing into a heavy highline pole on the highway.

The left rear tire blew out causing the car to career crazily, finally getting out of control, crashing into the pole and overturning.

The youths, George Conwell, driver of the machine, T. J. Beatty, Iophie Pruitt, and Haze Thompson were occupants of the car. Beatty is a resident of Weatherford, Texas, and the others are local youths.

G. C. Conwell, county farmer, was owner of the vehicle, which was damaged to great extent.

BARGAIN SHOW 10c to all

Rev. Carl Brown To Talk Sunday

Will Deliver Morning and Night Sermons at the Presbyterian Church

For the first time in several months there will be services held at the First Presbyterian Church. Arrangements have been made for Carl Brown of Corpus Christi to preach here both morning and night.

Brown is in his middle year at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, and has come to West Texas to preach during the summer months. A young man of outstanding scholarship and appearance, his ability has been recognized at the Seminary, and they consider him one of their most promising men.

The Presbyterians of Munday have been handicapped by not having a minister on the grounds. Now is their opportunity to go forward, and all the members and those interested in the work and message of this church are urged to attend.

After the services there will be a discussion of the prospects and the wishes of the members of this church in regard to future activities.

Be sure to be there at the First Presbyterian Church in Munday, Texas, next Sunday, June 27, at 11 a.m.

Dr. Charles L. Farrington, former Munday resident, has been appointed as medical officer on a vacation steamship that will make a nine weeks cruise of South America. The ship will leave dock, June 26. Dr. Farrington, now a resident of New Orleans, La., will probably make his home in Florida when the liner docks on the return trip. Farrington has specialized in bone surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Baker and family spent last week end in Floydada, Texas, visiting Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. E. C. Henry. Mrs. Henry accompanied the Baker's to Munday to spend a week visiting in their home. Mrs. Henry will leave for Arkansas next week.

Uncle Jim Says

Heavy losses from dust storms show the need for grasses, strip cropping, contour furrowing, shelterbelts, and other control measures.

In the Texas Panhandle, 1,738,762 acres of land were listed on the contour in the spring of 1936 to cut down losses from wind erosion. The results of this program in lessening the severity of dust storms and wind erosion damage were apparently, but the financial benefit can only be estimated.

Extension Service specialists conservatively estimated that five to eight million bushels of wheat were saved for harvest by the wind erosion control campaign, besides the saving of more than a million acres of land from severe damage.

County agricultural agents continue to send in reports of exceptional crops in the so-called "dust bowl" area as the result of saving moisture through various conservation practices. From Randall county comes the example of R. A. Adcock, who has 400 acres of wheat that was contour listed and will make 12 bushels an acre as compared with a six bushel per acre yield on 100 acres that was not listed on the contour. More than 100,000 acres of wheat land in Randall county were contour listed, and it is estimated that this acreage will yield 50 percent more wheat than the remaining area.

In Parmer county, 806 farmers have contour listed 154,449 acres of land as of May 15, 1937. These and similar figures show that many panhandle farmers are in a position to catch and hold rainfall on their farms.

Rats Account For Huge Loss In State Yearly

Texas sustained a fifteen million dollar loss last year, on account of rats, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The figure is a very low estimate based upon the probable number of rats in the State, two for each person. No doubt many suffer losses that would pay their taxes, but this does not take into consideration the losses from diseases, time and money, caused by the rat.

Typhus fever is on the increase in Texas, said Dr. Cox and the rat is the cause of its spread. Old World typhus fever has a high death rate, while the type we have in Texas, sometimes called Brill's Disease, has a low death rate. It occurs among persons who work or live in rat infested buildings. It was the observation of this fact that led to the discovery that rats are carriers of transmitters of the disease. It appears that the rat suffers attacks of this form of typhus fever and that the fleas harbored by the sick rat bite man and thus human infection results. Although the disease is not commonly fatal, it cannot be considered lightly. The intense headache, the high fever and the great mental depression are its most unpleasant features. Like in sea sickness, the patient's greatest fear is that he is not going to die. The illness lasts about two weeks.

The control of typhus is very difficult and it depends upon the extermination of rats and this is no easy matter. Trapping and poisoning help, but the best results are obtained by starving the rats. This is done by having all buildings where food is stored rat-proofed.

Museum at Fiesta Will Be Sponsored By West Texas C-C

The West Texas chamber of commerce building at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta this year will become a museum revealing the history and products of that section of the state. J. A. Rix, Lubbock, the supervisor, announced Monday. Rix explained that state colleges and universities will furnish the majority of materials to be exhibited.

Rix was busy with John Hendrix, publicity director, arranging space in the newly painted and decorated building for exhibits from six of the state's leading schools, including Texas Tech at Lubbock; Sul Ross State Teachers college at Alpine; Texas State College of Mines at El Paso; West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon; John Tarleton college Stephenville; and North Texas State Teachers college, Denton.

Employment And Pay Rolls Show Moderate Gain

Austin, Texas, June 24.—Employment and pay rolls in Texas during May gained moderately over the preceding month and substantially over the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from 1,736 representative establishments show a total of 89,053 workers during May, an increase of 1.6 per cent over the month before and 10.0 per cent over the similar month last year. Weekly pay rolls for these firms totaled $2,207,888, and increase of 2.8 per cent over the preceding month and 22.3 per cent over the corresponding month last year. Cities in which the increase in employment and pay rolls over May last year exceeded the average increase for the State were: Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Ft. Worth, Houston, Lubbock, and Waco.

Industries with increases better than the State average were: Foundries-machine shops, millwork, clothing and textiles, cotton and textile mills, cotton compresses, bakeries, flour mills, meat packing and slaughtering, petroleum refining, business and personal service.

From April 16 through May 15 twenty-seven establishments reported general wage increases averaging 9.2 per cent and affecting 4,773 workers out of a total employed of 5,454. From January 1 through May 15, 122 establishments employing 23,869 workers reported general wage rate increases averaging 8.5 per cent, affecting 22,023 workers.

Since January 1 only two establishments have reported wage rate decreases, with a total of only 11 employees affected.

Mahon Advises Independence For Philippines

Advocating complete independence for the Philippine Islands as a vital peace insurance policy for the United States, Congressman George Mahon last week asked the House of Representatives in Washington to consider legislation making independence possible in 1938 or 1939. The present law provides for complete withdrawal of the United States in 1946.

In his address to the House Mahon stated: "We are legislating for neutrality. We are bent on preserving peace for America regardless of war in Europe or Asia. We are far from Europe but as long as we maintain our sovereignty in the Philippines we are liable to be in the middle of a conflict in the Orient. This is most unfortunate and this untenable position should be terminated at the earliest possible moment. It is one of the major threats to peace of the United States."

He also pointed out that in addition to being a war hazard, the Philippines have been and still are very expensive financially to the United States. The total actual cost to the United States for all departments of Government which have made expenditures in the Islands from 1898 to the present year was estimated at approximately $900,000,000. Annual expenditures for the Army and Navy in the Philippines are $14,500,000, and under the present law this expense will recur each year until 1946. The Congressman stated that these millions could best be spent in America in the development of the institutions of this country.

Texas Ranks First In Number Old Age Pensions Now Paid

Texas ranks first in the number of persons 65 years of age or more receiving pensions and second in the ratio of those 65 or over per 1,000 who are eligible for federal-state aid, according to a state report for April received Saturday by W. S. Beard, in charge of the district old age assistance commission office, Wichita Falls. Of every 1,000 aged, 464 are receiving pensions in the state, topped by Oklahoma with 517 out of each 1,000. The number on the eligibility list for April in Texas was 127,772, 4.9 per cent above the March figure.

The pension payments for April averaged $13.69, an increase of 3.3 per cent over the average for the preceding month.

Floyd Gibbons Adventurers' Club Hello Everybody!

"Death Over Miami" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HERE'S a tale of the high seas, of "Sparks" as the seamen call the radio operator who sits day and night over his set, picking up messages that may mean life or death to some hapless souls.

In this case, thanks to Ray Hutchens of Long Island City, N. Y., it meant life to the victims of a hurricane which had just swept a path of death and destruction over Florida!

Ray tells me the Ward Line passenger ship Siboney, with him on board as chief wireless operator, and a chap named Milton Kitchen as junior, pulled out of Havana, bound for New York, on September 18, 1928. Just before they left the dock at noon, they received a hurricane warning from a station in New Orleans whose call letters were WNU.

Now Ray says such warnings were a dime a dozen, and most of them came to exactly nothing. So when they ran into a gale with moderate sea on passing Morro Castle, they thought little of it. All unsuspecting they turned toward Key West.

Somebody Called the Siboney.

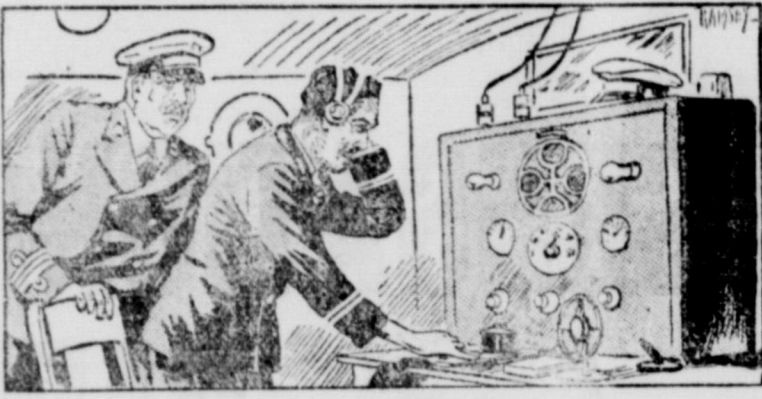

Ray tells us that at 10 p. m. that night he was on watch. Static was bad, the sea was running a bit more heavily, and the wind at gale force threw clusters of spray against the radio-room ports so forcibly it sounded like hail. The passengers, their vacations over, were asleep or preparing for bed, secure in the thought of the trained men in whose hands they had entrusted their welfare. Ray, watching with anxious eyes the rising storm, could think only of the helplessness of even these trained men when Nature goes on a rampage.

Idly running through the 600-meter band, Ray found things dull, with little traffic. At ten-thirty, against a rasping background of static, some fellow called WRN (the Siboney, Ray's vessel) slowly and repeatedly.

"Shucks," Ray thought to himself. "This'll be some two-by-four tanker about to ask for a relay."

Unable to send their messages the full distance because of lack of power, the smaller ships occasionally asked help from a ship with better equipment. Ray was certainly justified in jumping to this conclusion, for what else would be sending a signal that was not the clear, musical note of the shore stations, but a weak, straggling sputter, "like someone shaking a bucket of pebbles," as Ray puts it.

But when this tiny station signed WAX, which was the shore station at Miami, Florida, Ray was shocked into action! Miami, whose high, clear note always rang with ample volume through the thirty miles of static that separated them. Something was radically wrong, Ray was sure of that. Hurriedly he snapped back a brief "Go ahead." Ray knew the shore station must be able to hear the Siboney much better than Ray could catch the thin signal that trickled in from Miami.

"Ham" Told of Miami Hurricane.

And WAX, Miami, came back with the hottest row of dots and dashes Ray ever had directed toward him in his life! A pitiful appeal for food, clothing and medical supplies for the victims of the Miami hurricane, which had just swept a path of death and destruction across Florida!

There was not a second to be lost! Out there in those waste stretches, battered and swept clean by the fury of a Nature gone mad, were help- less men, women, yes and little children, their homes destroyed, their last link with the world this little ship's radio room, where a horrified man sat over a delicate instrument and relayed the tale of their disaster to the world.

Ray jumped to his feet, ran into their quarters, slapped his junior, Kitchen, on the stomach. For the next twelve hours, while Kitchen stood by and tended the arc and spark transmitters, Ray alternately received from Miami and sent to WSA, in East Moriches, Long Island. A pal of Ray's, Al Kahn, who was on the Orizaba, near Hatteras, helped to keep other ships' signals off the air while Ray was slowly trying to pound through the thousand miles between the Siboney and WSA.

Static Made It Almost Impossible.

You fellow-adventurers who are "hams," as the radio amateurs call themselves, will know what Ray was up against trying to pick up the faint code of WAX with static buzzing, sputtering, crackling, crashing, drowning out the almost inaudible signal that meant aid and succor to thousands of souls. Ray sat there glued to his chair for twelve hours, straining his ears to catch the pitiful appeal, receiving under almost superhuman conditions. "So bad was the static," Ray tells me, "that each dot was a drop of sweat and each dash a moon."

Captain F. L. Miller hove the ship to so as to keep the operators within range of WAX's low-power transmitter. He had been asked to bring his ship into the harbor with food and medicine, but the ship's draft would not allow it even in calm weather.

And all the time Ray was racking his brains wondering how the Miami operators, whose big station was obviously out of whack, were getting even this faint signal through. "Those boys certainly deserve credit," Ray says proudly, "all their towers were down; the roof was blown from their quarters, power and telegraph lines were all out; they were sheltering one hundred men, women and children in the control-room, and even then they rigged up an emergency transmitter, powered with batteries stolen from wrecked cars, to get the first word of the hurricane to the outside world! "So far as I know," Ray says, "it was the first time a land station ever sent an SOS to a ship!"

I guess we can sympathize with Ray when we imagine the feelings of that operator at WAX, who called the ship so slowly and hesitantly with that pathetic little sending shebang, knowing that the Siboney was due to pass and had continuous watch. Those boys ran very little credit in the papers at the time, but Ray will always remember them with pride in his profession.

War Department Spikes Hope For Pecos River Dam

Hopes for a dam across the Pecos river near Vernon faded Saturday as officials of the Peace river flood control district received word the war department was unfavorable to the project.

In a written notice to directors and other interested parties of the district group, comprising representatives from Wichita, Wilbarger, Cottle, Hardeman and Foard counties, it was stated, "The report authorized by congress has been made and is unfavorable to participation by the United States in any improvement or further survey for the flood control measures for which the war department is responsible.

"The principal grounds upon which the adverse conclusions are based are: The over-all general benefits reasonably to be expected from the desired flood control improvements would not be commensurate with the cost of the work."

Individuals May Be Given Benefits of Insured Mortgages

A bill is now before congress, introduced by Senator Arthur Harry Moore of New Jersey, is open to individuals as well as banks and similar institutions the right to seek FHA insurance for the mortgage loans they make on homes. The bills reads very simply:

"Subject to such terms and conditions as the administrator shall prescribe individuals shall be approved as mortgagors."

Nearly a fifth of the home mortgage lending of the country, according to the best available figures, is transacted by individuals who lend their own funds and who buy and sell mortgages on their own account. There is no reason why such lenders should be excluded from the benefits of mortgage insurance should they guard the servicing of the mortgages. Since only "approved mortgagors" may buy FHA insured mortgages, it is obvious that the wider the group who may become "approved mortgagors" the wider the market for insured mortgages and the greater will be the element of liquidity in mortgage holdings given us by the FHA plan.

Exclusion of individuals from use of the plan has of course tended to throw the mortgage business more and more to chartered institutions, who are now the only group that can qualify. In practice it has tending most notably to shift home mortgage making to banks.

No distortion of lending groups was intended in the idea of home mortgage insurance. Senator Moore's bill to enable individuals to hold FHA mortgages would create a provision that those most familiar with the financing of the home buyer have asked for since the national housing act was proposed. It is a measure in which home buyers and home owners, present and prospective, have a direct interest.

The bill is now before the senate committee of banking and currency.

Frank Glover, cattle Inspector of Benjamin, in company with Charley Moorehouse, cattle broker of Benjamin, were in town Tuesday looking after business.

THE HONEYMOON HOUSEWARMING

Peggy Tudor, Expert on Problems That Confront the Hostess, Tells How to Place Silverware for a Buffet Supper

THE first party in the new home! What shall it be... a luncheon, a dinner, a tea, a buffet supper? The last-named is much the most practical for the new housekeeper. It will give you a chance to show off your gleaming silverware, and the new china and sparkling glass you're so proud of. After all, what's prettier than a buffet set for a supper? And what's more satisfying, even for the experienced hostess, than knowing she is free to devote all her thoughts to giving her guests a good time while serving problems solve themselves?

How quickly people get acquainted, and what fun they have, when you turn them loose in front of platters heaped with good things to eat—salads, cold meats, tiny sausages sizzling hot, buttered rolls, tantalizing sandwiches, olives and nuts, coffee, all the good things which stand for hospitality with a big H!

I shan't attempt to plan your menu, but let it be a simple one. It's table settings I want to talk about. Naturally, the minimum amount of silverware with which a bride can start housekeeping is a simple twenty-six-piece service. This includes six knives, six forks, half-a-dozen dessert spoons, the same number of teaspoons, a butter knife and a sugar spoon. This does not mean a great expense, for silverware may be purchased in designs as charming as the most regal sterling. Many women actual-

BOLT HELPS FISHERMAN

Portland, Ore.—While practicing casting in the Willamette river, Mitchell A. Cloninger made an unusual catch. Lightning flashed as a storm suddenly broke. Cloninger heard the honking of geese overhead, and after a particularly sharp flash of lightning, saw several grey objects tumbling from the sky. He rowed to the spot where they fell and picked up twelve fat geese.

Who wants to stay indoors when green fields, open roads, golf and tennis call to outdoor living? Busy families must be fed, a certain amount of precious time must be spent in the kitchen. But you can cut it short by utilizing fewer and simpler dishes and choosing those that may be at least partly planned in advance. Here are some menu suggestions for the cook who wants to put her kitchen hours on a budget of time saving.

Haskell's Auto Speedway Ready For Annual Race

JULY 3, 4, SET AS DATES FOR CENTRAL WEST TEXAS FAIR ASSN

With the five-eighths mile race track in Rice Springs Park at Haskell in readiness for the automobile races to be held July 3 and 4, fans of this sport are assured plenty of thrills at the two day meet, states Gene Tonn, chairman of the racing committee.

Sixteen drivers have already signed for the meet and others are contemplating signing within the next few days. This will be ample drivers to insure plenty competition.

At a board of directors meeting last week of the Central West Texas Fair Assn., sponsors of the event, last minute plans were laid for the races, according to Walter Murchison, president. Murchison said that according to committee reports all plans were moving on schedule time and that when July 3 and 4 rolls around spectators are going to witness some of the fastest driving ever staged in Texas.

Since the meet last fall on the Haskell track, many drivers have reported that they are overhauling their cars and installing double overhead valves in order to "step up" the speed of their machines. They found that this track, unlike the tracks on which they had been driving, was too fast for a single overhead job.

with plenty of double overhead jobs ready for the meet this year, there should be plenty of smashing of now-existing records. Reports received by H. T. Sullivan, secretary of the local organization, from the Southwestern Auto Racing Association reveal that the best drivers from over the Southwest are going to be present. There will be drivers from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Nebraska.

Thousands of Plymouth owners are still driving the first model Plymouths ever built. For with those first models, Plymouth introduced a new idea—that cars in the lowest price field should be just as dependable and long-lived as any cars at any price.

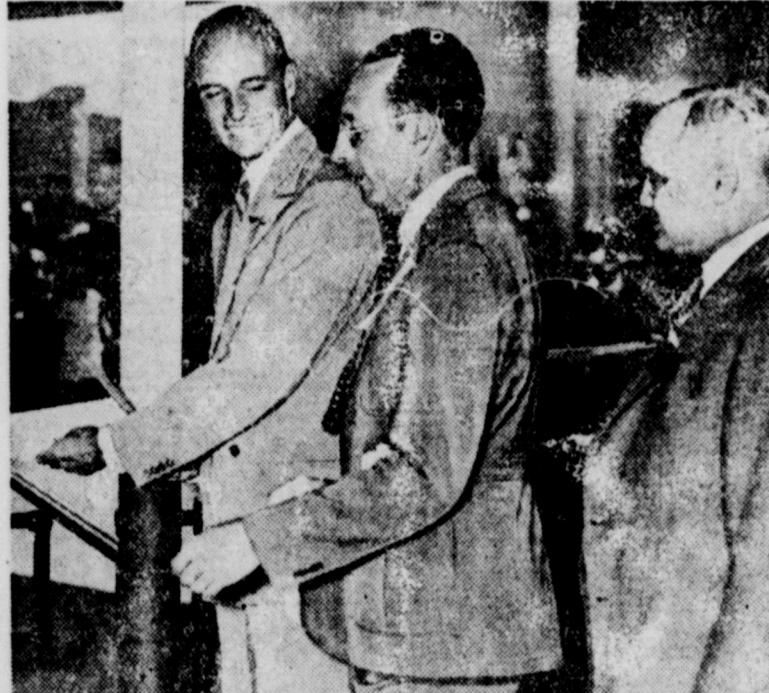

Yet amazingly long life and reliability are only part of the better value built into the 1937 Plymouth. It's the biggest of All Threes. Only Plymouth gives you the hushed ride... controlled hydraulic braking... Floating Power engine mountings.

And Plymouth is on record as America's most economical full-powered car.

Drive the car that stands up best. We will be glad to arrange a Plymouth demonstration.

Business Failures in Texas For May Reduced to Eight

Austin, Texas, June 24.—Commercial failures in Texas during May almost reached the vanishing point, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has announced. There were only eight failures during the month against seventeen in the preceding month and eighteen in May, 1926, decreases of 52.9 per cent and 50 per cent respectively.

The decline in liabilities was even greater than that in the num-

HER CLOTHES SPARKLE WITH SMARTNESS

... yet her kitchen is 12 years behind the times

From the tilt of her hat to her trim shoes and ankles, she has style. Her voice, her every gesture have a way in making a favorable first impression. One day she invited a foursome in for bridge. Through an open door they saw her kitchen. Ugly, old-fashioned and obviously inefficient, it all but ruined her reputation for smartness. It is surprising how many women, particular about every detail of costume and grooming, are careless about their kitchens! This is unforgivable, because any woman can now afford to glorify her kitchen with today's gas range—the range fashionists and designers everywhere hail as the most beautiful cooking appliance... the key to kitchen beautification, as well as cooking modernization. It takes mighty little money to put your kitchen ahead in style. See the new gas ranges today!

EIGHTH ANNUAL TEXAS COWBOY REUNION AT STAMFORD JULY 1-3

Tex. Cowboy Reunion Ass'n Members Now Number 1,400

Stamford, June 23.—Veterans of the range and trail who crowded the Indians and buffaloes from the Texas plains and established a great cattle empire are turning eager eyes toward Stamford as the time approaches for the eighth Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion on July 1, 2, and 3.

The round-up of pioneer cowboys and cattlemen to renew acquaintances, revive memories of the old west and keep alive customs and traditions of the early cattle country is the original purpose for which the Reunion was organized in 1930.

The old time cowboys have their own organization, known as the Texas Cowboy Reunion Association, which holds its meetings each year as guests of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, Inc. Membership of the association now numbering 1,400 is limited to men who were actively employed on ranches 35 years or more ago.

Walt Cousins of Dallas, former West Texas Cowhand, is president of the organization and will preside at the meeting at which new officers will be elected. Chas. E. Combes, Stamford, secretary reports that 34 new applications for membership have been received. Majority of new registrants usually do not apply until a few days before the meeting. Payment of the membership fee of $1 a year is required before the coveted oldtime cowboy's badge is issued. The badge entitles the wearer to free admission to the cowboy rodeo with grandstand seat at all performances, a chuckwagon dinner at noon each day of the Reunion, and admission to the cowboy square dance each night.

The old time cowboys have their own bankhouse, a unique stone structure, engraved with scores of cattle brands. This building on the Reunion grounds serves as their headquarters and meeting place. Funds are being raised for enlarging this building. The fund now amounts to $1,000 and two registered bulls will be sold at auction during the Reunion and the proceeds added to the bankhouse fund. One of these bulls was donated by John M. Gist of Odessa a past president of the oldtime cowboys, and the other by A. J. Swenson of Stamford, former treasurer. Other donors to the fund were T. J. Hendrick of Abilene, $500, and the Texas Cowboy Reunion, Inc. an equal amount.

Stamford merchants and boosters were in Munday Wednesday afternoon in the interest of the reunion. A string band was the feature of the visitors, playing old "cowboy" tunes and songs. "Smokey Joe" Barnes, former Munday lad, did the vocal work for the band.

The grand parade at the affair will be headed by governors of three states and Paul Whiteman, "king of jazz," who has "gone western." The three governors are Governor Clyde Tingley of New Mexico, Governor Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas and Governor James V. Allred of Texas. Gov. Allred is an annual visitor at the reunion.

The happiest business in the world is that of making friends. And no "investment" on "the street".

Pays larger dividends. For life is more than stocks and bonds.

And love, than rate per cent. And he who gives in friendship's name

Shall reap as he has sown. Life is the great investment.

And no man lives in vain Who guards a hundred friendships. As a miser guards his gain.

WHAT WILL IT COST?

You may not ask that question when your Doctor hands you a prescription. But it probably is in your mind. And that's perfectly natural.

We welcome an opportunity to answer that question for you. Here's how prescriptions are priced in this establishment: To the cost of our fresh, potent drugs we add the time of a skilled pharmacist in filling your prescription, plus overhead and a modest profit. This fair price is no more—and often less—than you pay where prescriptions are haphazardly priced. Because our volume is large, our costs are low.
