Member Towns Receive New Water Supply

Are you ready?

By the time this edition reaches the subscribers of the member towns of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority, you should be drinking from a new water supply.

According to Pete Beecher, general manager of the Authority, the four member towns will be tied into the Miller Creek Reservoir water supply this week. Goree was first to receive the long awaited thirst quencher Monday night at 10:00 p.m. Knox City was added Tuesday morning at 9:00. Munday received the water Wednesday and Haskell will be receiving their water today.

Beecher stated, "It will take approximately one week for the people to get the true taste and value of the water. This is due to the fact that not all the lines in a town can be drained completely. After a week the lines should be carrying the new water supply with no well water left in the cities systems."

Reports received from the State Health Department show no bacteria found in samples taken by them or submitted by the Authority.

The reservoir is filled to capacity with 25,520 acre feet of water, according to Beecher. One acre foot of water contains 325,850 gallons.

Consumption of well water by the member towns shows an annual 400 million gallons used by the four cities.

Lone Star Gas has already laid the groundwork for your energy future.

The jobs of more than 100,000 Texans employed in plants served by Lone Star depend on gas for heat processing or as a product ingredient. Long-term gas supplies are needed to preserve existing jobs, create new ones, and meet the requirements of our residential

Here's your key to the energy storehouse.

We fully understand the efforts of other gas utilities and transmission companies to get new gas supplies. Their areas also want this most economical of fuels for industrial use.

Nevertheless, Lone Star's obligation is to the million-plus residential, commercial and industrial customers who depend on us to meet their energy needs in the decades ahead.

We're determined to meet our obligation in full by getting our area's fair share of new gas reserves as they enter the market in volumes large enough to be handled economically.

It can be done because of Lone Star's pipeline system.

No other gas company in Texas has the built-in opportunity to buy gas as selectively, to bargain as well for the best prices on new gas, as Lone Star.

Our pipelines can have an important effect on your energy future, because it's here where Lone Star is strongest that gas companies from

Our gathering system goes into areas where other gas companies haven't begun to build. Our far-reaching transmission network gives us excellent capabilities. Our underground storage system often lets us take deliveries when many companies cannot.

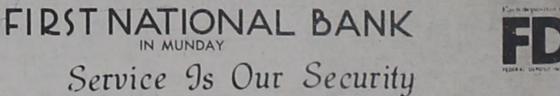

All we need to buy the gas you'll need in the decades ahead is your understanding that we must recover the actual cost of the new gas we buy.

Give us that, and we'll deliver you the best gas bargains that money can buy. But the longer we wait, the more expensive the bargains will be. And we're eager to get on with the job.

Hill, Urbanczyk Exchange Vows

Glynna Suzette Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hill, and Louis John Urbanczyk, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis John Urbanczyk, Goree, were joined in holy matrimony on September 30, 1978, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland. Performing the ceremony was Fr. Brendon McGuire, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The altar was decorated with candles on either side and a Unity candle in front. Pews were marked with white bows and silk flowers.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza with a high neckline trimmed with embroidered seed pearls. Long puffed sleeves complimented the gown. Two wide ruffles edged in lace formed the chapel train, and a band of pearl coverlace held her long chapel veil of illusion edge in lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with silk forget-me-nots of pink, blue, yellow and apricot. For something old she wore her sister's dress; something new, her shoes; something borrowed, a garter made by her grandmother for Mrs. Pansy Hines; and something blue, she carried a handkerchief belonging to her mother.

Matron of Honor was Mrs. Cheryl Urbanczyk, sister of the bride. A blue dress of silk floral organza was worn over a blue dress with a scouped neckline, puffed sleeves and deep ruffles on the bottom. Her apparel was accented with a blue ruffled hat. She carried a bouquet of silk roses in the brides chosen colors of yellow, blue, apricot, green and pink, held together with a ribbon to match her gown.

NAB has been rating Members of Congress on their votes for fiscal responsibility since 1964, Roth said. The "Watchdog of the Treasury" Award is presented each Congressional session to those members who vote at least two-thirds of the time for economy in government.

"We are a nonpartisan organization," he continued. "We believe the importance of balancing the federal budget and stopping inflation in the United States transcends party affiliation and that eliminating unnecessary federal spending is a crucial step toward achieving these goals."

If you've been wondering why we don't have hybrid soybeans as we do in corn, there are a couple of obstacles that will first have to be overcome. The single largest obstacle is the limited amount of pollen produced by the soybean plant. For economic commercial production of hybrid soybean seed, we need wind-carried pollen from parent A to parent B. The closed flower character of soybeans is the second major problem. So far, research indicates that very little yield gain can be obtained by hybrid soybeans, around 8 % 14%. That amount wouldn't provide enough of an economic advantage to justify the cost of hybrid seed. Economic hybrid seed production would require 10 to 15 bushels an acre yield at a minimum, and the current estimations are about 1 to 5 bushels an acre. Of course, as research efforts continue, new scientific and technological gains will result, making commercial soybean hy brids an ever increas ing reality.
