Knox County Food Show Dates Set

4-H'ers will match foods-and-nutrition expertise against each other in the Knox County 4-H Food Show on January 13, 1979. About 30 youth will compete in senior and junior divisions, according to Sharon Book, Assistant County Extension agent.

At approximately 12:30 p.m. there will be a Tasting Tea. There will be a 75 cent charge to include food and drink. Parents, leaders, grandparents and guests are invited to attend and sample the food entries. Recipe books containing food entries will also be sold.

Senior-division entrants are ages 14-19, while junior-division youth are ages 9-13.

This year's theme is "Cooking Good-Looking Great".

For the contest, each 4-H entrant will compete in one of four classes, including main dish, side dish, breads and desserts, or snacks and beverages.

Because the foods and nutrition program focuses on nutrition, each participant will have to demonstrate what she or he knows about nutrition, meal planning, food buying and meal service, as well as preparation techniques.

Contestants in this year's Food Show are: Holly Hutchinson, Bobby Faye Toliver, Pam Welch, Traci Wallace, Cindy Berryhill. Others are: Cliff Hacker, Robert Sutton, Michael Rauch, Andy Correll, and Brian Correll. Also, Becky Griffith, Lori Griffith, Sulynn Oxford, Oscar Gideon, Sue Gideon, Debbie Bufkin, and Beverly Tolson. Twylan Pierce, Christi Ray, Misty Pierce, Stacia Ryder, Dorrie Rolston, Wendy Pollock, Toni Benson, and Sheri Parker will also be competing.

Others are: Julie Partridge, Amanda Abell, Amy Parker, Christy Morgan, Cindy Maston, Molly Grimes, Susie Esquivel and Gina Ward.

4-H Food Project leaders are Mrs. Sue Oxford, Mrs. Jan Rolston, Mrs. Jan Pollock, and Mrs. Jimmie Ryder from Benjamin.

Munday leaders are Mrs. Mary Huffman, Mrs. Frances Parker, Mrs. Joan Hutchinson, and Miss Susie Esquivel. Knox City leaders are Mrs. Sherry Hacker, Mrs. Mary Rauch and Mrs. Pearl Eaton.

Weather Conditions Still Causing Water Problems

A major leak in the water main of the City of Munday was reported to proper authorities Saturday, January 6. This break was approximately 20 to 30 yards due east of the same break reported in last weeks paper. The break occurred sometime Friday night and wasted some 70,000 to 80,000 gallons of water. Water was pouring down the ditch next to Collins Mobil as city workers shut down valves and began their duties of repairing the leak in the cold and drizzly weather.

At approximately 1 p.m. Saturday the leak was repaired by the three city employees.

When asked how the number of gallons of water lost was estimated, Walter Hertel replied, "We read the meter into our storage every day and have an idea of the daily usage. Therefore after the break was repaired we read the meter and figured the difference between daily usage and what had gone through the meter in 24 hours."

City officials urge everyone to report a leak to the City as soon as possible. If a leak occurs during the night, valves can be shut off to isolate a section and repair work can begin the next morning. The city pays for the water that comes into the storage and any leak thereafter is paid for by the City up to the residents' meters.

A second leak was reported west of the Baptist Church on Saturday. An old steel line was repaired only to see it break again Saturday night and workmen were back on the scene Sunday morning and completed the work by noon.

The council has discussed plans for repair of valves to better control the flow of water in the water supply. This would help eliminate the shutting off of water to large areas and isolate them to smaller ones. Faster and better service could then be given to the customers on the city water supply.

According to Hertel, city administrator, the loss of water and man hours for repairs cost the city approximately $600.

The city appreciates the reporting of leaks and hopes that any leaks spotted in the city will be reported as soon as possible.

FIRST GRANDCHAMPION of the show award went to Greg Walling of Munday. He won grandchampion and reserve champion honors with his two pens of broilers at the annual Knox County Junior Livestock Show held in

Icy Conditions Still Prevail In Munday Area

Icy conditions have surrounded the Munday area for two weeks now and with melting beginning Monday and Tuesday.

Since December 22 a total of 82 inches of moisture has been recorded by Goodson Sellers, U. S. Weather Observer.

Official low during this period was recorded on January 2 when the thermometer showed 5 degrees. The high for the previous week was 40 degrees on January 3. Since Christmas day the night time temperatures have been above freezing twice, December 28, 36 degrees and December 29, 48 degrees. Night time lows have been in the teens every night except one when on the 4th of January we made it to 22 degrees.

Major roads are clear in Knox County after the Highway Department personnel have worked long hours to make them passable. City streets are usually passable during the late morning and early evening hours. Early morning and late evening traffic on city streets should take extreme caution in their driving on the glazed conditions.

Cotton harvest has been at a stand still and area gins are still trying to clear their yards. Ginning is slow but conditions for farmers to return to the fields by the later part of next week looks doubtful.

Munday Schools have not lost a day due to the weather and businesses report a slower than average daily business.

Here's hoping for sunshine and fair weather to finish gathering the '78 cotton crop.

An era of loyal and dedicated service to the banking industry and to the people of Munday and surrounding area was ended on January 1, 1979, by the retirement of M. L. Wiggins and J. Weldon Smith, whose association with the First National Bank of Munday ran into a combined total of 77 years.

With the sale of the bank in April, 1978, to Gary W. Schur, Wiggins and Smith agree to remain with the local bank for the remainder of the year. Wiggins has been connected with the bank for 43 years, while Smith came in a few years later and completed 34 years of service.

Both are remaining in Munday, but are not hibernating by any means. It won't be surprising for them to take a hand in many moves for the continued progress of this area.

Moulton Lee Wiggins, who was serving as bank president at the time of its sale, was born July 25, 1911, in Peaster, Texas, the son of John Alexander and Jourdie Lee Wiggins. He graduated from Peaster High School, Weatherford Junior College, and later attended the University of Texas.

Moulton's father operated a private bank in Peaster for a number of years, and it was here that Moulton received his first banking experience.

He was approached by an uncle, Homer Lee, in July, 1935, and offered a position in the Munday bank. He started work on July 21, 1935, as a bookkeeper. He advanced to teller, then became assistant cashier and an officer in the bank in 1937.

In 1939, Moulton and his father purchased a block of stock in this bank, and John Wiggins moved to Munday and became associated with the bank in January, 1940, a position he held until his death in 1944.

Moulton obtained a "leave of absence", during World War II, and served for 52 months in the 36th Infantry Division, much of this time being spent overseas. Upon his discharge, he returned to the Munday bank as cashier and director.

"At the time I started in 1935," he said, "deposits were very low and there were very few loans. I have seen deposits grow from about $250,000 to over $12 million during my 43 years."

During the years, he was promoted to cashier, then vice president, and was elected president in January, 1969.

I have seen many changes take place, from the old Boston Ledger's method of bookkeeping, to the placing of all accounts on the computer system. He has always been interested in

Sloan Joins Local PCA Office Staff

Mike Sloan, a native of Noodle, Texas, has assumed the duties of loan representative in the local office of the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association. He is replacing Doug Roberson who was appointed manager of the local office after the resignation of Clint Norman.

Mike was raised on the family farm at Noodle where he was associated with his dad in farming interests and cattle. His education started at Noodle and his last year in high school was in the Merkel school system. After his graduation from Merkel he attended Abilene Christian University from 1974 to 1978 where he majored in Ag Business. From May until August, Mike was employed by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston where he participated in the bank training program. Joining the PCA in August, Mike was placed in the Childress office as loan representative until his transfer to Munday effective January 2, 1979.

Mike's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sloan of Noodle. His brother Tommy is a sophomore at ACU and his sister is a senior at Merkel High.

Mike and his wife, Tammy, will be residing in the apartments on south 13th. She attended ACU for 3 years majoring in nutrition. They are members of the Church of Christ.

improving the banking system and services. His interests have not been solely in banking, however. He has been active in the Munday Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, being the only person to serve two consecutive terms as president; served on the City Council for 10 years, and has been very active in the First United Methodist Church as a board member, and doing his bit toward promoting the church and parsonage building programs.

In 1967, he was named Citizen of the Year by the Chamber of Commerce, and was instrumental in establishing the Texas A&M Research Center in Munday and the Munday Municipal Airport. He was director of the Munday Drainage District for a number of years. He has been listed in Who's Who in Texas, as well as in other categories. He has worked closely in the ground water study for this area, which has just been completed by the Texas Water Board. Other outstanding services and honors could also be listed.

He was married to Clara Bouldin in 1949, and has two stepsons, Col. Billy D. Bouldin, who is stationed in California, and Roy D. Bouldin, a resident of Denison, Texas.

J. Weldon Smith is also a native of Parker County, having been born in Springtown. His education included Springtown High School, Weatherford Junior College and the University of Texas. His first business experience was in construction, being employed by the Elgin-Butler Brick Co., in Houston and Dallas, for some five years before setting up stakes in Munday. Not long after the death of his father-in-law, John A. Wiggins, the Smith family moved to Munday and Weldon accepted the position of assistant cashier in the First National Bank.

Through the years, he was promoted to cashier, and vice president, and retired as executive vice-president of the bank. His activities, too, have gone far beyond the realm of banking.

Activities in the community include: president of the Munday Chamber of Commerce, president of the Munday Jaycees, past chairman of the Munday United Fund, campaign drive chairman for United Fund, chairman of the Munday Boy Scout organization and other responsibilities with the Scouts.

Always interested in youth of the area, Smith served as finance chairman in the local F.F.A. and 4-H livestock programs. As a member of the First United Methodist Church in Munday, he has served as chairman of the official board, charge lay leader, president of the Methodist Men's Club, Sunday School superintendent and class teacher.

He has also served as president of the Munday Lions Club, and zone chairman for Zone 4, which includes Lions Clubs of Knox and Haskell Counties.

He is married to the former Zada Wiggins, and they have two children, Mrs. William R. (Linda Kay) Edwards of El Paso, and Kenneth W. Smith of Austin. They have four grandsons.

During his connection with the bank, Smith has always devoted a great deal of time to serving and helping people, both young and old. "This has been a highlight of my life," he said, "and I intend to continue helping people in every way I can during my retirement years."

Cotton Report

Cotton prices have not fully recovered from the holiday slump, according to Sidney Ferrell in charge of the Munday Marketing Services Office. Cotton is bringing from 1100 to 1150 points above current CCC loan prices, with Staple 33 and longer being cut back to Staple 32 price. There is very little market activity at these prices.

Grade 41 was the predominant quality with 31 percent. Grade 42 accounted for 26 percent of the cotton classed, and Grade 51 was 19 percent; 11 percent was Grade 52. Thirty-six percent of the cotton classed was reduced in grade because of bark or grass. The predominant fiber length was Staple 32 with 51 percent. Staple 33 accounted for 38 percent and Staple 31 was 10 percent. Micronaire readings are lower than they have been for several years in this area. Cotton miking in the base range of 35 to 49 accounted for 79 percent of the cotton tested, while 21 percent miked below 35. Immature cotton is the basic reason for the lower mike readings.

About 14,800 samples were classed during the week ending January 5, bringing our season total to 38,300.

Andy Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hines, recently earned the distinction of making the Dean's Honor Roll at Texas Tech at Lubbock for the fall semester. To achieve this honor a student must make above a 3.0 on a 4.0 point grade system. Andy earned a 3.25.

TEXAS ARBOR DAY

Texas Arbor Day is Jan. 19, a day especially set aside to plant trees, points out a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Trees are important to preserving our environment.

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. Is it important to pay attention to any unusual sounds your car might suddenly make? What kinds of sounds should I listen for?—H.T., Austin.

A. It is definitely important to listen to the sounds your car makes, from both a safety and a money-savings (preventive maintenance) point of view. Next month, this column will begin a series which will explore this subject further. But for right now, listen for squealing when braking. It might mean your brakes need relining. Or, for disc brakes, a very unusual squealing might indicate a problem. If the car squeals as you turn the steering wheel, it might be wise to check the steering belt. Both of these reasons for "squealing" could signal dangerous repair needs. And especially during winter months, listen for an uneven rumbling in your exhaust system. A hole in your muffler or tailpipe could cause carbon monoxide poisoning.

Q. We are always hearing about how far we should or should not follow the car in front of us? What do you say?—Worried, Houston.

A. A standard answer is at least one car length for every 10 miles per hour. Recently, a major oil company has promoted the "two second rule"—which means you should allow a two second interval between your car and the car ahead of you. Select an object on the roadside and count the time it takes you to reach it after the car ahead of you has reached it. "One thousand and one, one thousand and two." If you reach the object before "one thousand and two" you are definitely following too closely. Alright for ideal conditions. At night or in bad weather, you should obviously allow more distance.

How To Save Energy And $$$...At Home

With the cold weather that we have been having lately and the rising cost of living, each one of us should be concerned about saving energy and money at home. We can cut our energy use and living costs by making our homes energy efficient, even if we have to spend some money to do it. The money we spend now will be returned through lower utility bills month after month. And then the savings are all ours - as good as a tax-free raise in income.

Here are some tips on how to make your home more energy efficient.

Insulate. Find out if your home needs insulation. No matter how you heat or cool your home, you can reduce the load on your heating and cooling equipment by as much as 20 to 30 percent by investing a few hundred dollars in insulation. That's about as much as it would cost you to buy a television set.

Find out if your home needs insulation. For guidance, consult with a reputable insulation dealer in your community or with your local building inspector.

Test your windows and doors for airtightness. Move a lighted candle around the frames and sashes of your windows. If the flame dances around, you need caulking and/or weatherstripping.

Try slipping a quarter under the door. If it goes through easily, you need weatherstripping.

Jaycee Beard Growing Time

The Munday Jaycees are announcing the beginning of their beard growing contest. As of today all men have an excuse for not shaving. The contest is beginning earlier this year so that a few more "full faced beards" will be in evidence for the judging.

Judging dates and categories will be announced at a later date. Happy Beard growing!

Call 422-4314 to report your locals.

doors and windows. It's easy to do yourself. The cost for this for an average house would cost about $25.

Install storm windows. Combination screen and storm windows are the most convenient and energy efficient because they can be opened easily when there is no need to run heating or cooling equipment.

During both heating and cooling seasons....

Close off unoccupied rooms; use kitchen, bath, and other ventilating fans sparingly. In just one hour these fans can blow away a houseful of warmed or cooled air. Turn them off just as soon as they have done their job; keep your fireplace damper closed unless you have a fire going. An open damper in a 48 inch square fireplace can let up to 8 percent of your heat out of the chimney.

By applying some of these commonsense energy habits, we can conserve energy and money.

"SOME DEAD PEOPLE DON'T DIE!"

"...sorrow not, even as others who have no hope." (1 Thess. 4:13). The Apostle Paul wrote these words to a group of Christians who had buried Christian loved ones. In the midst of death and loss, the Christian has overwhelming confidence in Jesus Christ and the eternal life He bestows to every believer.

B. W. Woods, in his book, "Understanding Suffering," tells about a missionary who lost his wife to a terrible disease while they were serving in Formosa. Six weeks later the malady snatched from him his fifteen-year-old son. The natives to whom he had preached watched his every move. They saw him walk to the grave in a quiet and stately manner. They sensed in his grief a note of hope and victory. One was heard to say, "I do not know about his religion, or about the Christ he serves, but I do know that I like the way he buries his dead. There is a difference in his sorrow and ours. We shriek with horror and anguish. We have no hope. This man acts as if he knows where his dead ones are going."

"Jesus said...I am the resurrection, and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." (John 11:25).

About one-sixth of all fatal traffic accidents occur on Friday or Saturday night between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m. It's a time for extra caution when driving, warns the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

TEXAS TALK

If you're looking for a way to renovate your pastures, you might consider the "Zebra" system being talked about by University of Tennessee Extension forage specialist, Joe Burns. "It can cut expenses to $40 or less per acre and add up to 100 lbs. of beef or 6 lbs. of milk per day," he says. "The system has practically no shortcomings. All that's needed is a boom sprayer with fan nozzles and a cyclone seeder." Called the "Zebra" system because it puts stripes in your field, it also helps keep pastures from washing down the steep slopes in hilly country. Burns says that no-till renovation gives quicker germination than the spray-seed method, but it's tough to beat spray-seeding on cost. And where it works, the results have been equal, usually using a 50-50 mix of fescue and clover. You can also use the Zebra method when it's too wet even to no-till or drill."

Cattle Feeding Profits To Be Slim In 1979

Despite higher prices for fed cattle, the cattle feeding business may well be in for a squeeze in 1979 due to increasing costs. These costs are in the form of high feeder cattle prices.

"While there will be good feed supplies at generally favorable costs, people in the cattle feeding business will be faced with higher prices for the cattle they will be putting into their feedlots," reports Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

According to the Texas A&M University System specialist, high feeder prices are a result of two things - massive liquidation of the cattle herd since 1975 which has brought on a dwindling supply of feeder cattle, and inspiration from spring and summer profits in cattle feeding.

Looking at feeder prices, Uvacek points out that Choice yearling steers at Amarillo will average in the upper - $50 (per hundred-weight) for 1978, about 46 percent higher than last year. Prices will likely not increase half that much in 1979. However, Choice yearling feeder steers will probably average in the mid-to upper - $60s.

As far as the feeding business is concerned, fed cattle prices should also go up next year and will likely average in the upper - $50s. This rise, however, will depend upon supplies of competing meats and consumer demand, notes Uvacek.

"All this means that profit margins for cattle feeders will be slim during 1979," points out the specialist. "In fact, there may well be losses at times."

PERFORMANCE OF FIRST-CALF HEIFERS

First-calf heifers need special attention as they often experience rebreeding problems due to stress factors, says a livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. These can be overcome by separating heifers from mature cows the last three months of gestation and through the breeding season, and breeding virgin heifers 20 to 30 days earlier than the regular cow herd to assure early calves. Early weaning and limited daily suckling also take stress off first-calf heifers.

Property Losses Due To Ice Storms Deductible

The last days of 1978 brought destructive ice storms to much of North Central Texas. Taxpayers whose property was damaged by the storms may be able to deduct some or all of their losses on their Federal income tax return this filing period.

Losses to business property are generally deductible in full. Personal property loss deductions, however, are limited to the amount of loss exceeding $100 for those taxpayers who elect to itemize deductions.

To claim a personal casualty loss for damage to ornamental trees and shrubs, taxpayers must establish that there has been a decrease in the total value of the real estate. In general, the amount of loss is the decrease in fair market value, limited to the adjusted basis, and reduced by any insurance or other reimbursement.

Decrease in the fair market value is the difference between the value of the property immediately before and immediately after the casualty. It is not necessarily the cost of replacing or repairing the property.

The difference between the fair market value of the property immediately before and immediately after the casualty should be ascertained by competent, independent appraisals. Choose an experienced and reliable appraiser. The appraiser's knowledge of sales of comparable property and conditions in the area, familiarity with your property before and after the casualty and method of determining the amount of loss are important elements in proving a casualty loss.

In addition to obtaining appraisals, you will want to consider photographing the damaged property. Photographs of your property before it was damaged will be helpful in showing the condition and value of the property prior to the casualty. Photographs taken after the casualty that show the extent of the damage will be helpful in establishing the condition and value of the property after it was damaged. Photographs showing the condition of the property after it was repaired, restored, or replaced may also be helpful.

IRS has prepared a free publication to answer your questions on how to claim a deduction for a casualty loss. Write or call IRS and ask for Publication 547 "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts."

New Agreement Aims At Improving Primary Health Facilities

Rural areas that lack primary health-care facilities will be able to apply for assistance through a new cooperative program jointly run by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), according to W. H. Pieratt, FmHA's Texas State Director.

The program, recently agreed to by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland and Secretary of HEW Joseph Califano, concentrates on creating more primary health facilities, according to Mr. Pieratt. It will be concerned with the construction, renovation, and improvement of primary health care projects funded by HEW as community health centers or migrant health projects.

The cooperative effort calls for FmHA to provide funds for structures to house health facilities. HEW will assure that manpower is available to staff the facilities and provide financial support to ensure project success.

"Nationally, Farmers Home has set aside $25 million for this program in the fiscal year that ends September 30, 1979," Mr. Pieratt said. "Our local offices will receive special training in preparing applications for facilities that meet primary health care needs. These applications will be funded on a priority basis from loan funds held at the Washington headquarters," Mr. Pieratt added.

HEW officials estimate that nearly 300 primary health centers - both community health centers and migrant health projects - will receive assistance during the four years of the initial agreement. The FmHA/HEW agreement is part of a larger Administration drive which also includes a Department of Labor program to train disadvantaged rural residents as health support workers, such as nurses aides, clinic clerks, community health workers, and for other positions.

FmHA makes loans to local government agencies and non-profit institutions for the construction of community facilities, including health facilities, in towns with up to 10,000 population. The interest on these loans is five percent.

"Individuals or organizations interested in developing or improving primary health facilities in their communities should contact the FmHA District Director serving their area," Mr. Pieratt said.

Offices are listed in local telephone directories under U. S. Government, Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration. Anyone unable to locate the local office of FmHA can contact the FmHA State Office at 101 South Main, Temple, Texas 76501. Phone Number

Report Released On 1978 Conservation Progress

L. D. Offutt, chairman of the Wichita Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District provided the following report on conservation progress in the district during 1978. Offutt stated all schools in the district participated in the conservation education programs sponsored by the district. Participation was very good with about 360 students participating in the essay contest, 525 in the poster contest and 70 in the land and grass contest. These programs are sponsored annually and all local schools are eligible. The district nature trail has been toured by over 800 students since it was constructed by the district 5 years ago.

Offutt said participation was also good in the Great Plains Conservation Program with 5 new contracts prepared. Farmers made good use of the Agricultural Conservation Program with 45 referrals serviced during the year.

Arche Lieb, District Conservationist for the US Soil Conservation Service assisting the district reported that over 1100 services were provided to land users during the year. These services included design and lay-out of pollu-

Quality Seeds Key To Cotton Production

Although seed cost represents only a small portion of the total expenses of growing cotton, high quality planting seed and profitable cotton production go hand-in-hand.

That contention comes from Dr. Robert B. Metzger, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

What does high quality seed mean to the cotton producer?

"First, it can give producers a head start in getting their crop up," notes Metzger. Quality seed is essential for planting early in the season when unfavorable weather is more likely. Of course, if planting is delayed long enough, even poor quality seed can usually result in some stand. High quality seed can cope with a wider range of planting conditions and still come up to a uniform stand.

"Second, high quality seed is one of the best weapons against seedling disease that is responsible for much replanting over the state each year," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. Most replanting is usually done after the optimum planting date, and this can spell trouble for the rest of the season since it results in a late crop.

"Knowing the quality of your seed before planting is just as important as knowing the amount of fertilizer needed in each field," believes Metzger.

If a producer has saved his own seed, Metzger advises having it tested for germination. This will indicate whether the seed should be delinted for planting or whether it should go to the oil mill.

While a regular warm germination test indicates the percentage of viable seed, it does not always indicate seed vigor or field emergence, especially if conditions are unfavorable for germination and seedling growth. A cool test will give additional information on seed vigor and how well the seed will emerge in the field, notes the specialist. Seeds are germinated at temperatures of 65 to 68 degrees F, and counted after six to seven days. Weak, low quality seed will not develop normal seedlings under these test conditions.

"If a cotton producer is unsure about the quality of his seed, he should consider purchasing certified seed," suggests the specialist. "This will assure him of varietal purity and the germination percent as indicated on the seed label."

"Remember, high quality planting seed is basic to getting your crop off to a good start," emphasizes Metzger. "Don't go to the field without it."
