Win At Haskell Fair

Doug Brown, 14, a Knox County 4-H'er from Benjamin showed the grand champion in the heifer judging. The heifer judging is the only competition at the Haskell County Fair which is not only open to seven area counties, but also the entire state. Thus, heifers from as far away as Taylor County and Abilene were entered.

Brown won the competition with a black, stylish Maine-Anjou heifer.

Metissa Zeissel, 14, also took top honors in the Angus Steer Class. Melissa took the grand champion of the Angus breed.

Other County 4-H members placing in the steer show included: Stasy Carver. Reserve Champion Angus breed: Doug Brown, third in Angus breed; Julie Partridge, Munday, third in Polled Hereford; Angie Partridge, Munday, third in Heavyweight crossbred steers and Doug Brown, second in Medium Lightweight crossbred steers. In the market Lamb Show six 4-H'ers placed. Lori Rolston placed first in the this approval.

Selzer, mayor, commented Munday Courier. on the fact that state approved water system is division chairmen have been the goal of Munday, but it busy soliciting workers, and can not be accomplished over night.

A Texas Department of Health representative, Robert C. Harrison, accompanied by Mr. Hertel, conducted a sanitary survey of the water facilities serving the City of Munday. There were the following items of noncompliance with the Health Department's regulations: It will be necessary to provide a visible air gap between the facilities prevjously used and the facilities currently in use. The facilities which need to be separated from the current system include the wells, sand trap, concrete ground storage reservoir and pump facilities for use as a standby source of water should the need arise. The map of the distribution system must be brought up to date so that valves and mains may easily be located during emergencies.

The City of Munday is experiencing problems with existing valves breaking when parts of the system are turned off to repair line breaks. A HUD grant was denied the city for the purpose and/or replacing valves in the system. Since that denial, the city has begun this work on their own. The Health Department commends the city for this action and notes that the replacement of the

The Munday Junior Varsity team stacked up a second straight win downing Crowell 14 to 6 here Thursday night, September 20. Moses Dena scored in the first quarter behind a good blocking offensive line. In the second quarter, John Mints scored on a pass play from quarterback, Chris Moore, from about the 20 yard line. Stephen Schumacher scored the extra points with a pass from Lawrence Collier.

In the second quarter, Crowell scored a touchdown but failed to make their extra point.

Coach Joe Thannert made these comments: "It was an over-all good effort on everyone's part. We are still making some mistakes that are costing us some points. We need to learn to play without some of the penalties that we are incurring. Once again the defense did an excellent job."

This week's opponents will be another tough challenge for the team, as the JV team will be going against a tough Seymour squad.

The E. W. Harrells enjoyed visitors from Humble, Texas last week. Their daughter-in-law, Becky Rodgers, brought their granddaughter-in-law, Linda Rogers, and their greatgranddaughter, Ruth Hope, for a visit. The Harrells had never seen the "greatgrand" and said she is a doll.

Professionals Carry On Projects Through Munday Research Station

A tremendous asset to Munday in general, and to area farmers, is the Texas A&M Research Station in Munday, It opened in 1969. with ownership of 40 acres. and has expanded by leasing more land to 150 acres. Ten persons are employed at the station, with four of them being professionals.

The average citizen might wonder just what goes on at . the research station research, yes, but what kind of research? Each of the four men are involved in a number of different experiments, and they were kind enough to share their experiences with a representative of The Munday Commerce and Agriculture, Courier.

Dr. Billy D. Kingston is associate professor in charge. He holds a bachelor of science degree from Texas Tech University and received his doctorate from Texas A&M University. He December, 1974.

Dr. Kingston is presently doing extensive tests on potatoes as to the phosphorus rate and placement, studying the effect on plant growth by placing phosphorus near the seed piece of the potato, as compared to broadcasting the phosphorus in the soil.

He is studying plant growth and yield when using foliar applications of nitrogen and zinc. Several chemical dissicants are being tested on potatoes to determine their effectiveness as harvest aids.

Another of Dr. Kingston's purposes is to find the most favorable levels of elements at different growth stages on potatoes. Hopefully, in the future field samples can be taken to see if a yield response is likely.

A potential transpirant is being studied for decreased water use in production of potatoes. It has been reported that decreased water use of up to 40% and yield increases are possible on the High Plains.

Evaluating cabbage varieties and plant introduction from foreign countries to select outstanding lines with characteristics desirable in cabbage hybrids in Texas is another area of interest for Dr. Kingston.

Cabbage evaluating inrludes production areas, insecticides, disease and good horticultural characteristics. Lines are selected to use in breeding programs to develop new hybrids better adapted for growth on the Rolling Plains.

Dr. Kingston and his wife, Sammie, have two sons, Rohn and Jay, and a daughter, Dionne, They are a very vital part of this community.

He and his family are active members of the Church of Christ.

He has served as presi-

He attends the Quarterback Club, serves as an official at both basketball and football games, is presently serving as president of Munday's Emergency Medical Service, came to the local station in which involves driving the ambulance as well as riding as an attendant. He has attended a number of training sessions, and is very capable in filling this capacity. He is also a member of the Munday Lions Club and Munday Jaycees, and has spoken to a number of civic groups since moving to Munday. He is the type of person who will get a job done whether he "has the time" or not.

> David Bordovsky is research engineer at the station. He received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Texas A&M University.

> David is presently studying water management and cultural practices to determine water use requirements of potatoes and grain sorghums.

These studies include determining the yield response according to varied water usage for Rolling Plains irrigated and dryland production. He is using drip and sprinkler systems in these studies. The tests involve evaluation of a very limited number of grain sorghum hybrid types.

Bordovsky has initiated a program to study reduced tillage in the production of grain sorghum and wheat. It is not his purpose to eliminate tillage.

He is attempting to find practices, methods and equipment which will reduce tillage operations while still maintaining current production levels.

When construction begins on a new building, one of the first concerns of the builder is that it will have a strong and an adequate foundation. If the foundation is strong the building will be useful for many years, but if the foundation cracks or gives away, the building will eventually become unsafe and fall.

In building for life we must have a foundation that is strong and secure. It must be adequate to withstand all the strain and stress placed upon it. Materials used in the foundation for life must be the very highest quality and we must not be skimpy in their use.

Jesus told of two men who built houses one day. (Matthew 7) One built his house on a rock, a solid foundation, and all the natural elements of wind. rain, and floods beat upon that house and it stood. The other man built his house on the sand, or without a foundation, and when the natural elements beat upon that house it fell. It fell because the sand eroded easily and either washed away or blew away. The Scriptures tell us the first house stood and the second fell as a direct result of the kind of foundation on which they were built.

With such a vivid account for our instruction, it would seem we would have no difficulty in learning to build life upon a rock, but we do. We are usually very careful about the foundation we use on which to build a house, but in building for life many have not learned to lay a firm foundation.

To illustrate this point, I share this story from several years ago, Mr. Tommy Bartlett was bosting a radio program "Welcome Travelers" on which he interviewed selected persons traveling through the railway station in Chicago, Illinois. On that day he interviewed the Chaplain from a state penitentiary. Tommy said to the Chaplain: "You must come in contact with several persons who do not respond readily to your work. What do you do about them?"

The Chaplain responded: "To the really unresponsive ones, I tell a true story that usually breaks through their shell." Tommy said, "Would you tell us that story?"

The Chaplain then said, There was a very promising young musician. He joined one of the top bands in the nation. Soon he was arranging music for the band and the popularity of the group skyrocketed. World War II came and this young musician spent a tour of duty in the armed services. On returning to civilian life, the young musician organized his own band and soon was one of the most sought after bands in Pressures began to build and the young man began to use drugs to help him meet the demanding schedule. Everything went well for awhile, and money was pouring in. This lasted for a while but popularity began to fade, then he discovered he had no band. Soon his money was all gone as he tried to satisfy the craving of his body for the drugs."

"One day he woke up in a jail a long way from home. He began to tear the sheets into strips planning to commit suicide. The man in the next cell knew what was happening and asked him to delay his plans until he talked with a minister whom he knew. The young musician agreed and the minister was called."

"The minister came and talked with the young man who gave his life to the Lord Jesus Christ and became a changed person."

Then Tommy Hartlett said, "You must have been the minister who was called.

The chaplain said, "No. Tommy, I was that young

How are we building today? When we begin to build a house we make a rock (foundation) on which to set it. We use cement, sand, gravel, water, and reinforcing iron in the rock. The cement is the binding agent, the sand is filler, gravel gives strength, with molds the elements, and the reinforcing iron holds all together. When these elements are combined it proper proportion, a strett rock is developed on which we are able to build

In the Christian life, I believe there are correct ponding elements which will make a strong rock upon which we can build. God's love is the binding agest (cement), Bible reading and study is the filler (sand). conversion gives strength (gravel), worship attendance is the molding agent (water). all together (reinforcing iron). If we combine these elements in the proper proportion, we will build life on the rock of our salvation Jesus Christ.

The 'Book' Report-

By SHARON BOOK

With gasoline prices on the rise, many consumers may turn to mail-order shopping as a way to save time and money.

However, past experiences with mail-order shopping have left many consumers dissatisfied.

The Attorney General's Office and other consumer complaint handling agencies report that mail-order problems are among the most frequently reported of all.

To avoid consumer problems, take these precautions:

(1) Learn to spot an exaggeration. The small type often qualifies the big, bold headline. Consider other places where you could buy the product at a lower price.

(2) When ordering, be specific. Give a written description. the correct order number and price, and indicate if you would accept a substitute, and if so, what it is.

(3) Don't send cash. Pay only by check or money order and include shipping and handling charges. (4) Write a complete description of the item, as well as the address of the company, on your check so that when the cancelled check is returned, you will have all of that information at your finger tips.

Or keep a copy of your order with the date it was mailed and a photocopy of the check or money order.

(5) When the order arrives, examine it immediately to be sure it is what you wanted and that it is in good condition. Notify the company promptly if there is any problem.

Spend a quiet evening at home without electricity ...and see just how quiet it really is.

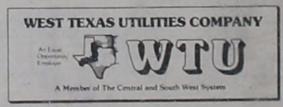

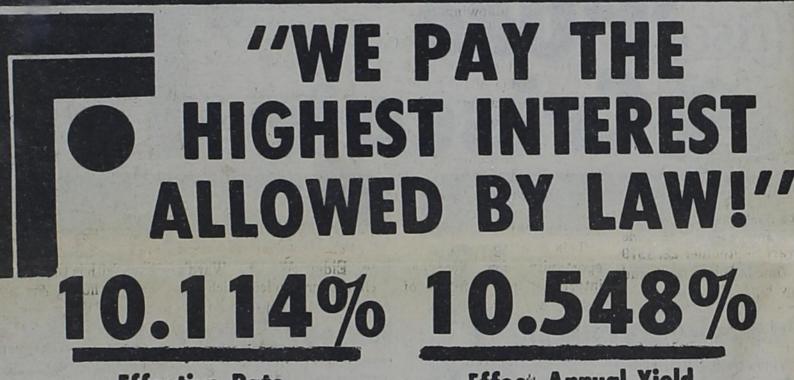

Forget about watching TV or listening to the stereo. How about reading a good book - that's a great idea if you do it before dark or if you plan on using Abe Lincoln's lighting, the fireplace.

Nobody has to tell you how important electricity is in your life. It surrounds you daily, lighting the way, entertaining you and making life more comfortable.

And that's the way it should be, but we at West Texas Utilities hope you'll use electricity wisely and efficiently. Make sure your home is properly insulated and weatherized, turn off unnecessary lights and appliances, and above all, watch that thermostat setting. These things not only conserve valuable energy, they can help to lower your monthly bills. And that's important now and in the future.

Our rice raisers have moved the U.S. to the number two position in nations exporting rice to the rest of the world. Bergland

Farmers and ranchers in Knox County are invited to take part in a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland on the "structure of agriculture." The meeting will be Dec. 6 in Wichita Falls and is one of 10 regional meetings designed to obtain comments and suggestions on the economic and social issues affecting the structure of American agriculture and rural life. Major purpose will be to determine the overall impact of all the different problems, policies and conditions that interact to influence farm structure, points out Tommy Antilley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Individuals interested in making a brief presentation at the meeting have until Oct. 9 to request to do so. More details on how to submit the request are available at the local county Extension and ASCS offices. Written comments may also be submitted to be included in a final document to be published following the series of meetings.

According to Antilley, the meeting will provide for a re-examination of the structure of American agriculture so that a comprehensive package of factual information and recommendations can be developed for use in proposing future policies, especially new farm legislation for 1981. This meeting provides an oportunity for everyone interested in the future of agriculture to make his voice heard, points out Antilley. Persons wishing to address the meeting should send the request as soon as possible and before Oct. 9 to: Project Coordinator, Structure of Agriculture, USDA. Washington, D. C., 20250.
