To The East

By AARON EDGAR

One can learn some things, other than nudity and sex, by watching the tube.

But the area of learning is much less during the summer months, when they keep slamming us with "repeats" from other performances. This is especially true if we were privileged to see the original performance.

Nothing much can be learned from a rerun, and there are no advantages if one remembers the first showing. We don't know why we are captive audiences to reruns, especially if the program was hardly worth watching in the first place.

However, we can always remember this: The same button that turns the flicker tube on will also turn it off!

But we're one of the old school that leaves the television or radio on when we're not paying a big heap of attention to them in the first place. It's that "deafening silence" that almost drives us nuts!

But back to the process of learning: We were sitting in a half reclining position some evenings ago, half asleep, half awake, when we were jolted back to reality by a statement made by one of the contestants on a quiz show.

"There are 2,726 languages (or dialects) in the world," he said!

This came from a world traveller whose name was Joseph Dobrick, or something like that.

During the brief interview, before shooting the quiz questions to him, the man revealed that he was once an interpreter for the White House. He confessed without bragging that he was rather proficient in 10 different languages, was average in ten others, and there were some 20 more that his brain contained a smattering of.

In answer to questions, he said that French was the "most beautiful" language he knew, and that Fidel Castro was one of the most dynamic personalities he had served interpreter for. This was back at about the time that Castro first came into power. Castro's English was very poor, the man said.

During the quiz program, the man selected every travel question he could, but he soon fell by the wayside in the quiz. While he was travelling, things happened here in the dear old U. S. that he hadn't kept up with!

With a world of about 2,726 languages, we've done a pretty poor job of conquering our own native tongue!

We do a pretty good job of butchering up the King's English; and, many times, we use words that Mr. Webster doesn't even have in his repertoire!

Back in our high school learning days at Wellington, we had a choice of learning one of two "foreign" languages--Latin and Spanish.

We selected Latin because it sounded prettier--and it was the language our "hero" Julius Caesar used.

We even took to this new language to the extent that we made good grades in the subject. In fact, we became so knowledgeable that our teacher had ideas of sending us to Austin to compete in the language on a state-wide basis!

This was a "fur piece" for an old farm boy--and among strangers, too! We received no encouragement from our Daddy, who opined there wasn't enough money in the till to finance such a venture.

That's when our Latin died, we guess! In years that followed, we found no earthly use for the language, and we've often wished we knew something about the one we passed up--Spanish. This is a language we shouldn't have been ignorant of!

Setting in an auto chatting with a friend at Eldorado, Texas, when a Mexican national walked up. Ford Oglesby started spitting out those tongue-twisting words like a real pro.

At long last, we asked: "Ford, how did you learn to speak that language?"

"I'll tell you, Edgar," he said, "I had to learn it! I was the only white person working in a sheep shearing camp miles from nowhere. Those wetbacks would look at me and start jabbering, and I didn't know whether they were going to rob me, kill me, or desert me out there. I had to learn it!"

Shucks, why didn't we take Spanish?

To Bring Water To Safe Drinking Standard

City Of Benjamin To File Full Application For Grant

The City of Benjamin recently received invitation from the director of the Community Planning and Development Division of Housing Urban Development (HUD) to submit full application for a Community Block Grant for the purpose of bringing the drinking water of that city up to the standards required by the Texas Health Department.

The Texas Department of Health Resources has ordered the City of Benjamin to comply with all terms of the Federal Safe Water Act, and to seek another supply of water. The present water supply for Benjamin comes from wells south of the Brazos river, some 15 miles from the city. The nitrate content of this water has gradually risen to an amount that is a threat to the health of the users, and exceeds limits as set by Texas Department of Health Resources and the Environmental Protection Agency for safe drinking water.

Ernest L. Andrews, professional engineer, of Wichita Falls, has represented the City of Benjamin in submitting grant applications for several years, and is instrumental in filing this application.

As noted in the legal notice elsewhere in this week's Courier, the Health Department has issued a deadline to force the City of Benjamin to comply. The approval of the grant would alleviate the necessity of borrowing water to accomplish this.

It will be possible for the City of Benjamin to purchase water from North Central Texas Water Authority. The City of Benjamin would need to construct the necessary storage tanks, pipe lines, and pump stations.

The City officials are hopeful for final approval of the application to use the funds to bring the water into safe drinking standards.

New Service To Be Implemented For Older Persons

The Knox County Aging Services Program plans to implement a new service for older persons who live alone.

The Postal Alert Program is devised to prevent the possible crisis of becoming seriously ill and not being discovered for a prolonged period of time.

In order for the program to be successful, cooperation between the Aging Services Program and the local postal service is vital.

The only requirements are to be 60 years of age or older and living alone. There is no cost to the participant.

Information on the registration form will be confidential and will be kept on file at the local Senior Citizens Center. It includes the participant's name, address, telephone number and age, as well as medical problems they might have. Included will be the name and number of a friend or relative to be called in the event contact becomes necessary.

Once a person is registered a method of identification is devised so that the local mail carrier is aware of their participation in the program.

At anytime the mail carrier observes the participant's mail has not been picked up, he makes contact with the Aging Services Program and calls will be made to check on the participant.

If you are interested in being a part of this program or have a friend or relative in need of this service, please contact:

Sales Tax Rebates Are Higher On Statewide Basis

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said recently payments of the optional one-percent city sales tax for 1981 to Texas cities are 17 percent higher on a statewide average, compared to last year.

Bullock's office issued payments Tuesday, July 14, to 713 Texas cities in the amount of $32,698,770 in sales tax rebates for July. Houston received $6.6 million in July rebates for the largest amount for metropolitan areas.

In some instances the rebates for towns in the Munday area were less in July than those of a month earlier.

Example:

Knox City received $3,300 in July, as compared to $5,104 for last year.

Munday received $3,190, as compared to $2,539 a year ago; Haskell's July payment was $5,720, as compared to $9,347, and Seymour was $6,720 against $9,276. July rebates were not received by Benjamin, Goree and Weinert.

Burglar Is Not Rewarded In Break-in At Post Office

Patrons going after their mail early Sunday found evidence of the local post office being burglarized.

Entrance to the post office proper was gained by breaking a glass panel just west of the doorway. The break-in was discovered by a local woman as she was making delivery of the Dallas Morning News to the container in the post office lobby.

She reportedly heard someone inside, and rushed out to notify local police. Investigating the burglary were Munday officers and a representative of the Knox County Sheriff's Department. They dusted the area for fingerprints, as well as making several photographs.

From the evidence, they stated they believed only one person was involved in the crime. Entrance was made sometime between 4:15 and 5:10 a.m. Evidence showed that one drawer containing envelopes and post cards had been forced open, and an attempt was made to open another drawer.

"We feel fortunate in that the burglar was scared away," said Dolores Lambeth, postmaster, "otherwise an attempt might have been made to open the safe."

A post office inspector from Dallas arrived during the morning Sunday, and a complete inventory of the stock was made, the postmaster said. Nothing was found missing.

Investigation into this federal offense was being continued early this week by local officers and authorities of the Post Office Department.

His team rallied to the occasion, too, by defeating the Seymour team by the one-sided score of 22 to 0. This was the first shutout of the Little League playoffs.

Scotty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson.

In the playoffs on Wednesday night, the Seymour team winner over Knox City by a score of 8 to 2 in the opening game, defeated Knox City for the second time by a score of 11 to 3.

Munday came back strong in their second playoff game on Thursday night to again defeat Seymour by a score of 17 to 4 to win the district play. Munday garnered 18 hits to three for their opponents.

WTU Looking To New Sources Of Energy For Fuel Needs

Research and Development are two of the biggest words in the energy business, Glen D. Churchill, president and chief executive officer of West Texas Utilities Company, declares.

"We're not 'just' interested in new sources of energy, we're 'vitality' interested," the WTU president said in discussing his company's R&D activities.

If it seems more intense today than ever before, that's because it is more intense. There just isn't as much time left for the world to continue without new sources for developing power and energy to meet its needs, it is generally agreed. Even if the nation hasn't reached the "crash program" point as yet, today is no time for foot-dragging in the view of energy experts.

WTU's interest in new energy sources didn't develop overnight, the Company president explained. Long before the perceived fuel crisis developed in the early 1970s, electric companies, including WTU, were seeking the most efficient and least costly methods of producing and distributing energy. WTU, for example, developed its generating system logically by using low-priced West Texas natural gas as boiler fuel for its power plants.

The Company's power plants (it has eight major stations) were located throughout the 52-county western Electric Power Company, will not participate.

Beyond coal, WTU is taking part in a number of studies and research projects aimed at developing new energy sources at feasible costs.

Historically, it is typical for an idea to take about 30 years to go from its initial stage to large-scale commercial reality, Churchill said. This is why most researchers hold out little hope for a real contribution from any of the exotic energy sources before the turn of the century.

But this hasn't stopped the Abilene-based company from exploring these potential sources. West Texas Utilities Co. is involved in geothermal exploration in South Texas and in the Big Bend region. Again it is a joint venture with other CSW companies. A team of professors from the University of Texas at El Paso also are participating in exploration into this unique area of energy research.

Solar experiments are being planned for the Paint Creek Power Station. A proposal has been prepared for the Department of Energy to convert one unit of the plant to solar heat through the use of mirrors, storage facilities and other technology already known. The project is being undertaken in cooperation with Rockwell International and others.

West Texas Utilities is participating in fusion nuclear research through the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. Because of the tremendous cost of building nuclear plants for the foreseeable future the WTU efforts in that direction will be joint basic research only.

National research by the industry is being done by the Electric Power Research Institute and WTU is a regular participant in the institute's program. Churchill and his West Texas Utilities team are convinced that they will continue to meet the challenge of the future in providing all of the power needed for home, business and industry in the 52 West Texas counties the company serves.

service area, near load centers and near the natural gas pipelines. Gas was extremely cheap, Churchill recalls, and for many years electric rates went down instead of up.

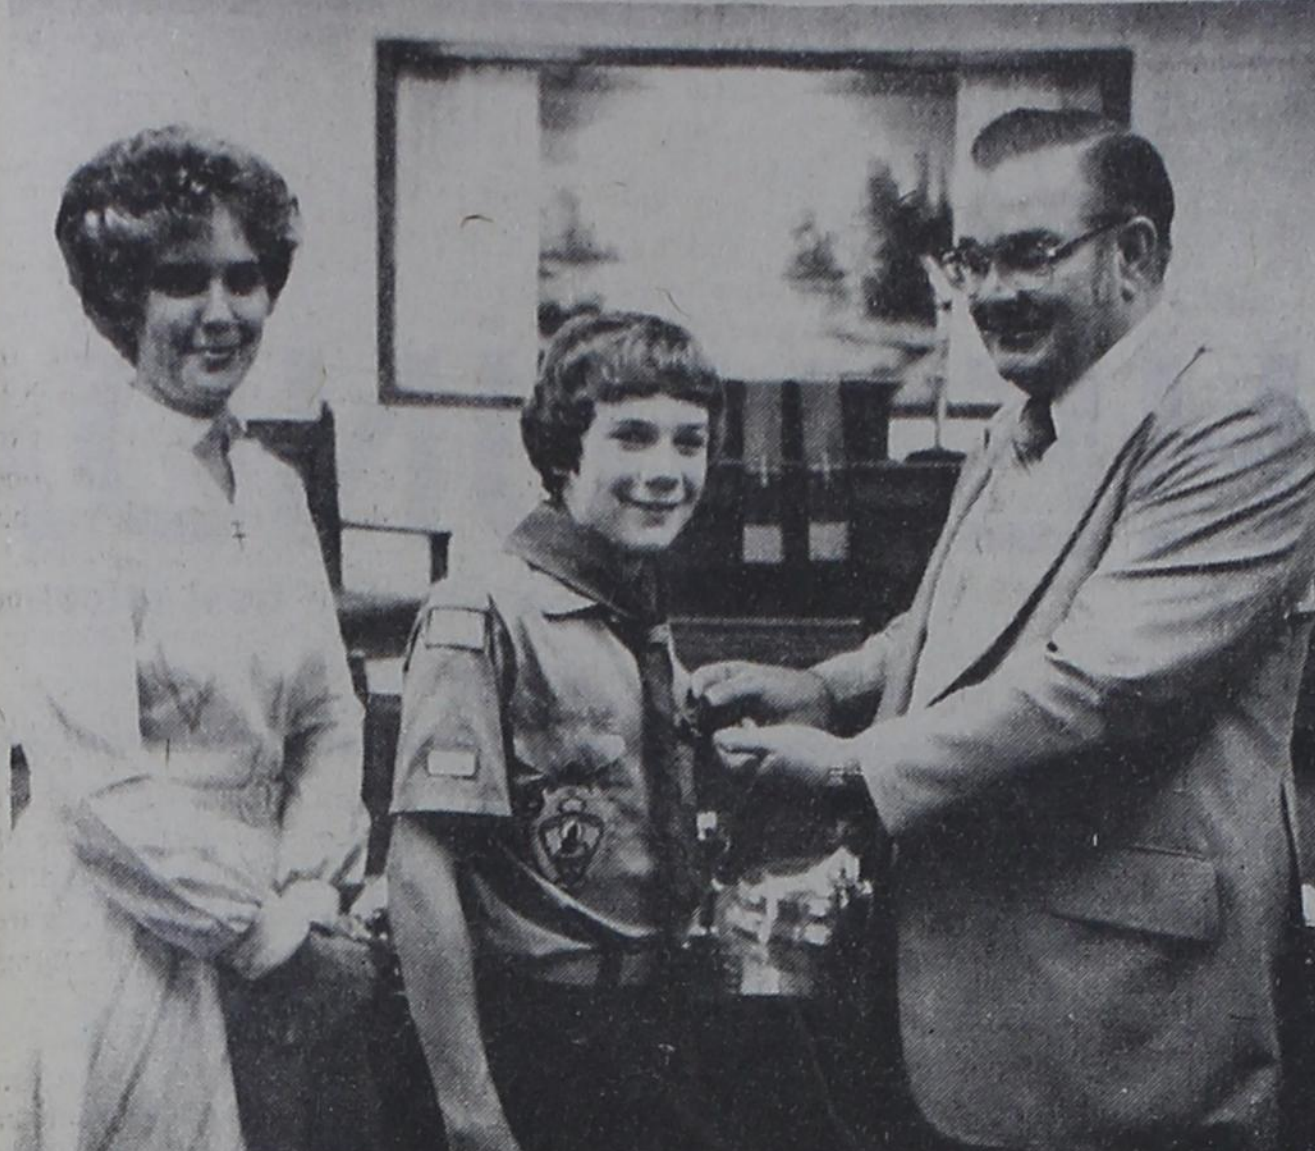

The fuel adjustment provision, though long authorized to allow the utility to pass fuel cost increases to customers, never had to be utilized. Both the customers and WTU were doing well under these conditions.

But the honeymoon ended in the mid-1970s as the fuel crisis began. With gas shortages viewed as inevitable, the Texas Railroad Commission ordered utilities to begin phasing out natural gas as a boiler fuel. The state order was lifted later, but a rule under the federal Fuel Use Act still calls for eliminating gas fired plants by 1990 unless exceptions are made. WTU's current plants apparently qualify for exemptions, but it can build no new gas-fired plants.

"So, we were forced to turn to other fuels for future generation," Churchill explained. Until something better comes along, coal and nuclear are the only options, but nuclear actually is no option for WTU for several reasons. There are no suitable sites in the area, and the cost of an optimum-size plant is out of the question for a company as small as WTU, Churchill said.

Coal, then, is the answer for WTU in the foreseeable future. Planning of the company's coal-fired Oklahoma plant near Vernon is complete, and actual construction is slated to start next year.

Fortunately for WTU and its customers, two other members of the Central and South West System will be partners in the huge Oklahoma plant, which would have been too large for WTU to build alone. Under the agreement, WTU will own 350,000 kilowatts of the first 640,000-kilowatt unit, Central Power and Light Company will own 115 and Public Service Company of Oklahoma 175. The fourth CSW company, South-

"We want you to know... when we switch over to the new lignite generating plant, utility rates have to increase."

In the early 1970's, the member cooperatives of the Brazos Electric Power Cooperative foresaw continued increasing costs and possible shortages in using natural gas as a primary energy source. In order to guarantee our member/owners the electricity they would need, we began construction of the lignite-fueled San Miguel Plant. Building a lignite-fueled plant is a great deal more expensive than building a natural gas-fueled plant. For example, approximately 30% of the total cost is expended to meet requirements of the Federal Clean Air Act. When we switch to the San Miguel plant as our primary source of electricity later this year, the effect of the high construction costs will make a noticeable increase in your monthly electric bill.

But the cost of lignite will increase more slowly than natural gas, making electricity from San Miguel more economical as time goes on. In future years, this plant will help us to slow inevitably rising costs and assure our member/owners of a reliable, available source of electricity. We believe THAT'S GOOD NEWS!

Because we saw the need early and acted on it, we will have more control of future fuel prices affecting the cost of electricity to the member/owners of the Brazos Electric Power Cooperative.

Misconceptions Of The Bible

"Everyone is going to heaven in their own church." "We are all trying to get to the same place." "Everyone who reads the Bible gets his or her own interpretation." "No two people can read the Bible, and get the same interpretation."

The above statements have been made by many good, honest people who haven't yet come to a knowledge of the truth of God's Word. It is true that these opinions are held by many denominations today.

Yet, my Bible still says:

1. There is one Way (to go to heaven). Mt. 7 talks about two ways, the way to heaven and the way to Hell. V. 13: "enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth into life, and few there be that find it." V. 15: "Beware of false prophets."

2. There is one Faith-Eph. 4:5 - In other words, there is one doctrine, or one teaching of Christ.

3. There is one Body-Eph. 4:4-or one Church-Eph. 1:22,23 (The denominational world sure doesn't teach this).

4. One Lord-Eph. 4:5.

5. One Baptism-Eph. 4:5: Denominations are not in unity on this either. Yet the Bible teaches there is one. The religious world teaches that there are different baptisms: Sprinkling, Pouring, or some say even that it is not important. Yet the Bible teaches that it is for the remission of sins, and is a burial. Rom. 6:4 and Acts 2:38.

Next of all, Jesus prayed for unity in Jh.17-v. 17. "Sanctify them through the truth: thy word is truth. V. 21: "That they may be one as thou, Father are in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me." Also read v. 22-23 and count the number of times Jesus uses the word "One".

It is a wrong doctrine to advocate that all the churches are "just on different roads going to heaven." Jesus warned in 1 Jh. 4:1-The apostle John writes, "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world." Also in Eph. 4:14, "That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive." V. 15: "But speaking the truth..."

I believe the Bible says the same thing to you as it does to me, and no scripture is of private interpretation. (II Pet. 1:20) Thus we can all understand the Bible alike because Jesus prayed that we would, and we can - once we develop a love for the truth.

"My Home Town" Film Is Shown To Lions Club

Memories of 25 years ago, when the "My Home Town" production was staged in celebration of 50 years of progress in Munday, were brought back to many members of the Munday Lions Club in Tuesday's meeting.

What made the film more interesting was the fact that it was being shown at the time the town of Munday was "silently observing" its 75th anniversary. Mr. Phillips explained that his film should be shown at night in order to be seen more plainly.

APRIL'S ADVICE Stay In Fashion With "Update '81"

Cut clothing costs and stay in fashion with "Update '81."

For Summer, update last summer's wardrobe, and with an eye toward fall and winter '81 as you go, you'll be right in style at little cost.

Inventory still-wearable items, notice the voids, study current trends, and then begin your own "Update '81."

COLOR--Color is the most visible part of a wardrobe, and often it depends on seasonal trends. Update last season's bright colors with pastels. Fashion-right colors especially important are corals, peaches, apricots, aquas and turquoises.

PATTERNED FABRICS--Update last season's solids with fashionable patterns and prints, particularly madras-like plaids, ethnic prints, folk art and splashy florals. Also jungle prints, camouflage military looks and paislies. Border prints also have returned as a popular patterned look.

LACE--Add lace borders or edging to collars, cuffs, belts, and hemlines for feminine detail, or consider a lace applique for a pocket or other focal point.

Often lace can be recycled or reused from garments that are no longer wearable and even from other household items such as tablecloths.

RUFFLES--Some designers are calling this the year of the ruffle. Add garments with ruffled detail such as tiered skirts, flounced skirts, dresses or blouses with ruffled collars. A ruffled or lace-trimmed blouse is an excellent update for last year's more tailored, stricter-looking garments.

TUNICS--Tunics are particularly strong for fall and winter '81, and in an all-weather fabric, they can update straight-leg pants or skirts now and continue fashionable into cool-weather seasons.

DRESSES--Dropped or long-waisted designs are big news for dresses. Re-do a straight-line unwasted garment by cutting it apart along the hipline and adding a fuller, contrasting skirt.

JEWELRY--Jewelry is bolder and larger than it has been for a number of seasons. Rummage through your jewelry collection--you may find some ethnic looks or large woods, plastic or ceramic necklaces, bracelets or earrings.

Check by garage sales, too. In wearing bold jewelry, plan carefully to emphasize desirable features and draw attention away from those less desirable.

SHOES--Shorter heels are very definitely the trend. Some heel heights shorten easily without changing the arch--ask your shoe repairman about the possibilities and cost.

HEMLINES--Skirt hemlines are shorter now--worn right below the knee or mid-knee. Trends for fall show even shorter lengths--or much longer lengths, such as mid-calf.

In general, think "fun" when you start "Update '81". Updating wardrobes can be fun--and challenging. Many possibilities exist, depending on the garments and personal preference.

You can update your wardrobe with little or no expense and, at the same time, create a flattering, workable wardrobe that looks as fresh as today.

Anniversary Of Soil Conservation Program Scheduled

August 7, 1981, should be a historic day for farmers, ranchers, soil and water conservation district directors, and all of us who depend upon agricultural products for our food and clothing.

The date will be the silver anniversary of the Great Plains Conservation Program, Carl Hutcherson, district conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service at Knox City said this week.

Just 25 years ago, on August 7, 1956, President Eisenhower signed into law the bill authorizing the program. It is available to producers in the ten Great Plains states--stretching through the Nation's breadbasket from North Dakota to Texas.

GRCP helps farmers and ranchers solve problems of wind and water erosion, drought, and other resource-related problems with technical and financial aid based on conservation plans tailored to each farm or ranch.

The first Great Plains contract in the local Wichita Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District was signed by Sydney Alexander from Benjamin. The land is still owned by Alexander who continues to add conservation practices under the program. 134 contracts protecting 109,381 acres have been signed in Knox County.

"Grass seeding, terraces, grassed waterways, livestock water facilities, cross-fences, and livestock grazing programs are among GPCP practices on which a landowner can receive technical and cost-sharing assistance," Hutcherson said.

The conservation practices in a GPCP plan are scheduled to be applied over 3 to 10 years. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has assigned leadership of the program to the Soil Conservation Service.

"All problems aren't solved in the Great Plains," Hutcherson said. "But since the program has been in operation, wind erosion has not caused the tragic damage of the dust bowl days of the 1930s and the drought of the '50s."

"The terrible drought of 1980, however, threatened approximately 11 million acres with wind damage," he added. "While the disaster didn't happen in 1980, the drought and the resulting threat shows that we can never let our guard down when it comes to protecting our natural resources."

Windfall Profit Tax Returns

The Internal Revenue Service said that very few Federal excise tax returns for crude oil windfall profit tax have been filed from persons who received income from producing oil wells in 1980.

District Director Richard Voskuil said that IRS had expected to receive several thousand Forms 720 from the northern Texas district. "They were due June 1, and we received less than a thousand," he said. "We suspect that many people may not recognize the requirement for filing an annual excise tax return."

Essentially, taxpayers who did not have enough windfall profit tax withheld during 1980 should file Form 720, Quarterly Federal Excise Tax Return. He suggests that all royalty owners and oil companies, as well as estates, trusts, and others receiving income from producing wells, should review the requirements for filing the return.

To determine the under-withheld amount, subtract the total of the amounts entered on line 4, Part IV, from the total of the amounts entered on line 3, Part IV, of all Form(s) 6248. The amount should be reported on the line entitled Annual Return under Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax. Taxpayers with questions about the filing requirement may contact IRS. In Dallas call 742-2440; in Fort Worth 335-1370; elsewhere in Texas 1-800-492-4830.

It's A Boy

Farrel Selzer is proud to tell her friends about her new baby brother, Asa Brent. He was born on Tuesday, July 14, 1981 at 7:21 p.m. He weighed 8 lbs. 12 oz., and measured 20 1/2 inches in length.

The happy parents are Dr. and Mrs. A. Dale Selzer. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kinsey of Robert Lee. Paternal grandfather is Mr. Troy Selzer of Ennis.

Estate Planning For Ag Producers

Estate planning at some point becomes a concern of every farmer, says an economist with the Texas A&M University System. An "asset freeze" is one of the biggest estate planning ideas with respect to preparing for disposition of farm land. This involves fixing the taxable estate of the landowner at today's prices and letting future appreciation pass to the next generation, and retaining operating control and income from the land.

you and the LAW PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: We contracted a builder for an addition to our home. He agreed to complete the addition in 90 days or less. It is now over seven months and he has never come back. We paid him 90% of his money in advance. He left our home in an awful state. We have limited funds and don't feel we can hire an attorney. Do we have any other recourse?

A: For legal representation, you might qualify for assistance through Legal Aid. Also, your original contract should provide for attorney's fees in case of breach, and, if your defendant is solvent, a private attorney might take the case. In the meantime, I advise you to study your contract and then file complaints with the Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, and Home Builders Association.

Q: I live outside the city limits. In front of my home there is some property listed by the county as "owners unknown". At present, I am using some of that land for a driveway. How can I purchase the property?

A: Depending on how long you have been using part of the property for a driveway, you may have a right to the property through "adverse possession". The law in this area is somewhat complicated and there are different periods and types of possession by which you can acquire title. It would be best for you to consult a lawyer to discuss what formal steps will be necessary for you to claim the property by adverse possession.

Q: May I carry a pistol in my car or transport a pistol to the shooting range? To shoot in self-defense, must I first see a weapon? And, finally, when can I shoot a gun for protection of my own home or property?

A: With few exceptions, it is a crime in Texas to carry a pistol. One may be carried to a shooting range only for a legitimate sporting activity. It is a crime to carry a pistol in your car on a daily basis.

The law does not require you to see a weapon before shooting in self-defense. You may shoot to protect your home or property if you reasonably believe it is immediately necessary to prevent arson, burglary, robbery, theft at night, or criminal mischief at night, and if you believe that other means would not protect property or would expose you or another person to substantial risk of serious bodily injury.

Q: I signed a standard oil, gas and mineral lease with a Houston company and the lease was later sold to another company. This year I did not receive a check. I wrote asking the lease be cancelled but have received no reply. Where do I go from here?

A: In the event of a default in payment of lease obligations, a formal demand for payment should be made upon the company currently owning the lease. Your lease may provide a specified time period, say 30 or 60 days, in which the defect may be cured. After that time period, if no action is taken, your next step would be to file a suit for cancellation of the lease in the county in which the property is located.

Q: Can a person be sued for criticizing a public official without malicious intent?

A: Generally, no. Criticism of a public official which relates to his office or his qualifications is protected by the law. If supposedly factual statements about the official are false and injure his reputation, then the person making the statement could be liable. In most cases, however, in a lawsuit for damages, the official would have to prove that the speaker had malicious intent.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

April's Advice By April Stamps Water, Calorie-Free And Cheap

Water is the quiet and unappreciated nutrient—and it's calorie-free and cheap.

People take water for granted, yet it is vital for life. We tend to be more concerned about calories, protein, fat and vitamins and minerals in our diets, but without water, life would not exist. Of course, most people know that, but it's important to say it from time to time to remind ourselves that knowing is one thing, acting on the knowledge is another.

Many people do not drink enough water. Adults' and children require six to eight cups (eight ounces each) of water each day.

Water is needed by each cell in the body. It transports nutrients to the cells and waste products from them. It lubricates the joints, and during perspiration, water cools the body.

Drinking water isn't the only way to meet water needs—many foods provide much of the water needed each day. Soups, stews, fruit juices, milk, coffee and watermelon supply much of the daily water requirement.

Remember, too, that more water than usual is needed during heavy perspiration in a hot, dry climate and during illness that includes fever or diarrhea.

Check with The Courier for all your office needs.

Producers Prepare Legal Action Against Grain Dumping

If all of the corn and one-third of the sorghum produced last year in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma had been shipped to Iowa, it would have the same impact on that state's grain stocks as the importation, by Commodity Credit Corporation, of more than 45 million bushels of corn into the Texas High Plains.

The dumping of that imported corn into local markets is the concern of Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA) and Texas Corn Growers Association (TCGA).

The corn was purchased by Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska and shipped (at taxpayers' expense) an average distance of 1,000 miles to High Plains storage facilities where it now is being sold in competition with grain grown in the region.

"We have the highest production costs in the nation," said Muleshoe, Texas corn producer, Kenneth Precure. "Most of us are selling corn at prices below the cost of producing it. Now, we are having our markets taken away by grain that was bought and shipped with our own tax dollars. There is no way they (CCC) can make that look right."

TCGA and GSPA have proposed legal action against CCC to prevent further sales least $5,000.00 as a result of the CCC sales. Elevators and other grain-related businesses are also contributing to the fund.

The action of GSPA-TCGA has received formal endorsement from Texas Farmers Union, Texas Women Involved in Farm Economics and Moore County Farm Bureau, with other endorsements forthcoming.

Checks should be mailed to GSPA-TGSPB Legal Fund, Box R, Abernathy, Texas 79311.
