FORT WORTH—Hogs hit the highest point since last summer at Fort Worth Monday with a top of $22.25 and the bulk of the good and choice 183-250 pound butchers selling 25 to 75 cents above last week's close and in the $21.75 to $22.25 range. Sows were steady at $16.50 to $19. Receipts all around the major market circle were far below a week ago and a year ago also, indicating the short supply of hogs this season was possibly in excess of predictions early this year.

Easter lambs shared the spotlight with breeding ewes Monday. Some pairs of ewes and small lambs sold around $25 and $26 a pair, a new high for months on this class, and this reflects directly the enhanced prospects in the sheep country since the good rains of about two weeks ago. Milk fat lambs reached $23, old crop wooled lambs topped at $22, and shorn lambs cashed at $19.50 down. Some aged wethers sold for $15. Slaughter ewes were scarce, a few from $7 to $10.

A REAL MIRACLE—T. C. Carter was sitting on a street in his automobile when the tornado struck. In a matter of seconds he and his truck were tossed in the air and blown approximately 75 yards. A passenger in the truck, Glen Bell, was taken to a hospital, the extent of his injuries unknown. Carter suffered a bruise on his forehead.

Cattle trade was fairly active and generally steady. Some sows and fat yearlings stronger.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold for $18.50 to $22, some heavy steers at $21.50. Common, plain and medium butcher cattle sold for $13 to $18.50.

Fat cows drew $14 to $16, and canners and cutters cashed at $10 to $14. Bulls sold for $13 to $18.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold for $18.50 to $22, and common and medium offerings sold for $13 to $18.50, and culls drew $10 to $13.

A few stocker calves and yearlings sold for $15 to $21, and stocker cows sold from $12 to $16.50.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox,
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Worried about your heart? If so, it doesn't help to hear that deaths from diseases of the heart and the blood vessels are the leading cause of death in Texas. Yet, if you have heart trouble today, you are better off than you would have been at any previous time in the history of the world, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Cases, which in former years were considered hopeless, are now being treated successfully. Most heart patients who follow their physician's directions can lead relatively normal lives, carrying on most of the activities they did before they became ill with heart disease.

Over-fatigue, over-exertion, worry, and prolonged emotional disturbances also make additional work for the heart. The heart slows up somewhat when you lie down and a little more when you fall asleep, but the person who is constantly on the go, and gets too little sleep, does not give his heart much of a chance to rest. Whenever you become worried or excited, your heart is the first place of the body to react. It immediately starts to beat faster. If you really become frightened or over exercise, it may start pounding.

Many people, when they realize they have heart trouble, fortunately learn a new way of living. They acquire a more wholesome and happier way of life. Their work is planned so that they do not get overtired, and are not pushed to get the job done; when they get tired, they stop and rest. Few heart patients give up all of their usual activities. They learn a different and better way of doing them that does not put such a strain on the heart, for they have found that it is the way they do things, rather than what they do that is so very important.

Early treatment for heart dis-stroyed within 10 days or two weeks. Most observers feel that of least 80 per cent have now been slaughtered.

Many cattle suffering from malnutrition have been marketed as "suspected" of having been poisoned. Old-timers are recalling the old saying that in this part of the country, a cow will live all winter and then die in the spring. We are sure this is the case with hundreds we have seen here.

GMC TRUCKS

Gasoline 4,800 GYW to 80,000 GYW
Diesel 19,500 GYW to 100,000 GYW

No other light trucks have all this

YOU don't expect polo-pony agility from a truck in traffic—but the new GMC's have it.

You'd like to have passenger-car pace and economy on the highway—and you'll get it from the 1953 GMC's.

For there are two great advances that step the new GMC's ahead of all previous truck performance:

One: Dual-Range Hydra-Matic Drive—the fully automatic shift with 3 speeds for traffic, 4 for the open road—available on 19 models through the 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton capacity range.

Two: a new line of engines of progressive design, with compression ratios of 7.5 to 1 and 8.0 to 1—the highest of any gasoline truck engine ever built. Here's pile-driver power behind every piston stroke—flashing response and better mileage are squeezed from regular fuel.

Many chassis advances, too, add to the extra-value features that make GMC's, point for point, the biggest dollar's worth in the light-truck field as well as in the heavier lines.

We confidently tell you—these great new GMC's will do your job better, easier, and at the lowest over-all cost. They have stamina beyond their size, because they're "built like the big ones"—the heavy-duty GMC's that lead the world in sales.

That's saying a lot. But just come in—and we'll prove it.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20—At this time it looks as though the House will have an opportunity to consider the tideland legislation during the week of March 30th. The Subcommittee that has been considering this matter reported out a bill this week which will go to the full Judiciary Committee for consideration. If this Committee acts on the bill this week as is expected, indications are that the Rules Committee will give it an immediate green light so that it can be brought up on the floor the last week in this month. The bill as reported out of the Subcommittee is in many respects disappointing, the principal objection being that while it quitclaims to the States the land within their historic boundaries, which in the case of Texas, would mean ten and one-half miles, it does not give the States any power or control over the so-called Continental Shelf. I am hopeful, however, that this prime objection can be cured by amendments either in the Committee or on the floor of the House.

President Eisenhower has inaugurated a policy of each week having a few members of Congress to lunch at the White House so as to enable him to become better acquainted with members of Congress and likewise to give us a better chance to know him. According to protocol, members of Congress are invited according to their seniority regardless of political party. Usually there are ten or twelve Democrats and the same number of Republicans invited to each luncheon. It is my understanding that serious business is not discussed at these meetings, and so far, they unquestionably have tended to create better relations between the Executive and Legislative branches of our government. I have been asked to the luncheon on March 24th. Naturally, I am looking forward to this occasion.

Few of us realize just how fast our population in this country is growing. According to the information that has recently come to my attention, there is one birth every nine seconds, one death every twenty-one seconds, one immigrant every two minutes, and one emigrant every seventeen minutes. This all adds up to a net gain of one individual in this country every thirteen seconds. Our population on March 20th at 10:28 A. M., E. ST., was 158,995,530. By simple arithmetic you can determine the population at the time you read this paragraph.

The Military Operations Subcommittee of which I am a member is charged with the duty of studying the operations of the military (other than combat) activities at all levels to determine how these activities can be made more efficient and more economical and to determine whether in the Armed Services there is a waste of manpower and dollars, and if so, just where this waste is occurring and to determine the best methods to bring about better results. Basically, the jurisdiction of the Subcommittee covers all of the activities of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps, other than combat. Primarily, its function will be of an investigatory nature. In the near future we will start a series of hearings designed to take a good look at how the expenditures of some of the defense appropriations are being made with the view in mind of being helpful and eliminating extravagant and wasteful spending. Of equal importance is the manner in which the manpower of the Armed Services is used. It seems to me that there is no reason why the performance of the duties of personnel of any of the services should be any less efficient or more expensive than similar civilian operations. These hearings that we will soon get into will, no doubt, be long and will involve a great deal of work, but I am hopeful that they will be fruitful and that we may be able to suggest some ways of substantial saving of both money and manpower.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barnett of Chillicothe visited friends here last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Castleman and children of Fort Worth were Sunday guests in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Lula McElya.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stodghill and children of Fritch visited relatives here and at Goree from Thursday until Monday.

Mrs. Lee Burnison visited her sister, Mrs. Emma Tyree, in Amarillo during the week end.

Winston Blacklock was a business visitor in Lubbock the first of this week.

Veterans Reserve Obligation Explained

AUSTIN—Thousands of veterans now being separated from active service of the various branches of the Armed Forces are returning to civilian life seemingly unaware of the fact that they have not completed their military duties according to officials of the Texas Military District, which is administrative headquarters for the Army reserve program in the state. For, in addition to the two years of active duty, the Universal Military and Training Act of 1948 and its later amended forms require that after the inductee returns to civilian life he will continue to be a member of the reserve forces of the branch in which he served. This term of reserve duty varies according to the law under which he was inducted and length of time he spent on active duty.

There are three categories of inductees and enlistees that are transferred to the reserve forces when they are separated from active duty. First, the young man who was inducted, enlisted or was appointed in a regular component of the Armed Forces between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951 and served on active duty less than three years must serve in one of the reserve components for five additional years. However, this five-year period may be shortened to three years if he joins and serves satisfactorily in a reserve unit for three years.

Those inducted for 21 months active service and volunteer for an additional 12-month period on active duty, thereby serving 33 months, have no further reserve obligation. This also applies to those who serve three years on active duty.

In the second category are those enlisted men who enlisted between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951 for one year. After completing this one-year enlistment these men are transferred to the reserve for a six-year term. Again, this term may be shortened to four years by performing satisfactory service in a reserve organization.

In the third category are those who enlisted, were inducted or appointed in the Armed Forces, including any of the reserve components, after June 19, 1951 and before their 26th birthday. These men are required to serve a total of eight years. This service can be in any combination so that a part of it may be served on active duty and the remainder in the reserve, however, present laws require two years in the active forces. Those who enter the active service after their 26th birthday serve only for the time for which they enlisted.

Munday Students Win Theme Prizes

Munday high school students have done a great deal of thinking recently about "Our Greatest Need in Public Education Today."

They transcribed their thoughts with paper and pen, and it soon became known that the Munday Study Club was sponsoring a theme writing contest.

First prize of $3.00 was awarded Julie Massey for having written what Study Club members considered the most outstanding theme. Second prize of $2.00 was awarded Gordon Stevens.

The Munday Study Club has entered Julie Massey's theme in the contest for high school students sponsored by the State Federation of Women's Clubs. The club winning this contest will be given a historical oil painting.

Mrs. A. L. Smith, chairman of the youth activities committee of the club, expressed the appreciation of her committee for the fine spirit shown by Mrs. Ottmeyer, high school English teacher, and the students entering the contest.

Local P-TA Unit Endorses Higher Pay For Teachers

At a recent session of the Munday P-TA, the organization went on record endorsing Texas House Bill No. 216—an act to provide a minimum salary of $3,000.00 for teachers.

Mrs. Clyde Taylor, president of the Munday organization, has received a letter from the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers informing her that this bill has been referred to the appropriations committee, in which it will have a much harder time being passed favorably to the House floor than it would have had had it been placed in the Committee on Education.

Mrs. Taylor urges all members of the PTA as well as all citizens of Munday who are interested in seeing the teaching profession keep and attract the most capable people, write to Governor Allan Shivers, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Speaker of the House Reuben Senterfitt, asking that they support the bill. These letters need only to be addressed to them at the State Capitol, Austin, Texas.

"Needless to say, it is our own children who make the future leaders of our country," said Mrs. Taylor, "and they need the best education we can give them. As long as our schools are not able to compete with industry in the matter of salaries, the teaching profession will not attract enough capable people. I do urge you to write our officials regarding this important bill immediately."

Miss Claudine Winans and Mrs. J. A. Iden of Big Spring were week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Winans.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Aghast At The Idea He Should Earn Living In The Hard Sweat Of His Own Brow

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is talking about something he probably doesn't have any personal knowledge of this week. Dear editor:

I was stretched out in the sun out here the other afternoon reading a newspaper when I ran across an item that made me sit up so fast I bumped my head on a low-hangin limb.

Accordin to this item, an official in the Agriculture Department in Washington, strugglin with the fall in cattle and farm prices, generally, said there isn't too much to worry about yet, that the country is fundamentally sound and prosperity is still around and wages are high, and I guess he's right, but what brought me up was his next statement.

He went on to say that the farmer is gonna have to forget about high prices and return to earnin a livin in the sweat of his brow, and while most farmers I know never have given up that method, I personally was hopin some other method would be found.

Earnin your livin in the sweat of your brow is an honorable pastime, but looks like he could have thrown in the suggestion it would be all right also to have more umbrellas on tractors. Looks to me like if a farmer can earn his livin in the shade of a tractor umbrella, it ought to suit Washington just as much as the sweat of the brow. At any rate, we don't have to go bare-headed, do we? And I reckon it's be all right to plow on a cloudy day, won't it?

Now just the mere fact that some parts of farmin require a lot of hard work never did increase the honor of the job, so as far as I'm concerned, Any man who can figure out a way to take some of the hard work out of farmin, he's the man I tip my hat to, provided I'm in the shade at the time. I guess more farmers earned their livin in the sweat of their brows when we had walkin plows and mules than they do now ridin rubber-tired tractors with hydraulic lifts, but I just don't believe the country ever would have gotten fed without the increased production those tractors brought on, regardless of the condition of the farmer's brow.

Brow-moppin no doubt is an honorable gesture brought on by an honorable expenditure of energy, but any time anybody comes out with an air-conditioned tractor on easy credit terms, you'll find me on the waitin list. I could go on, but a man can work up a sweat writin the same as he can plowin and I hope Washington takes notice while I mop my brow.

"Biff" Falls for His Own Story

Biff Morgan's four-year-old daughter Rusty is something of a night owl. Stays awake way past her bedtime.

Every night Mrs. Morgan complained about how hard it was to get Rusty to go to sleep. Finally Biff decided to handle the situation. "Anyone can get a kid to sleep — takes a little patience! Here, hand me her storybook."

He grabs the book and goes into Rusty's room. About an hour later Rusty comes padding out in pajamas and hands her mother the book. "Read it quietly," she whispers, "so we don't wake Daddy."

From where I sit, Biff won't be so quick to be a "child-care specialist" the next time. If we could just resist being such "know it alls," our neighbors would be better off. Take those who would deny me a glass of beer with my supper — well, I might not care for the buttermilk they like. We all ought to realize that we all have different abilities and different preferences, too.

Cotton Farmers Study Situation Before Planting

Cotton supplies have now reached the point where, if another large crop is produced in 1953, the carry-over could further depress markets and bring back control programs. Cotton producers are, therefore, being urged to study the present situation and plant in accordance with the expected demands for their product.

It appears now, says J. D. Prewitt, associate director for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, that the demand for raw cotton in the United States this season and next will be only slightly less than used last season, however, exports are expected to drop at least 1½ million bales below last season and maybe even lower next season. The carry-over on August 1, 1953, is expected to be, says Prewitt, about 4.3 million bales, which will be 1.5 million bales or 55 per cent more cotton than was on hand a year earlier.

Cotton advisory groups have met with Secretary of Agriculture Benson and after careful study and consideration of all factors, the Secretary has asked the nation's cotton producers to make an 18 per cent reduction in their 1953 plantings as compared with those for last year.

This reduced acreage should produce between 12 and 12.5 million bales of cotton. Such a crop would meet the estimated domestic and export demands and leave enough surplus to take care of the reserve needs, points out Prewitt.

Prewitt advises Texas cotton producers to think in terms of balancing cotton with other farm crops and pastures. He points out that under the 7-step cotton program, fitting cotton into a balanced farming program is the first recommended step in making production of the fleecy staple more profitable. The present situation, he explains, calls for this balance.

Unusually heavy demands for feed caused primarily by the drought and to some extent by increased livestock numbers, has reduced the amount of feed and forages to a very low level and the acres left out of cotton this year could be profitably used,

A young veteran, home from Korea, points out the battle area to a hostess in a USO club. Funds to make USO services available to GIs are sought by United Defense Fund in Red Feather and other united community campaigns.

says Prewitt, for producing grain and forage for rebuilding the supply of these needed feeds.

Consideration, he adds, should also be given to increased plantings of soil improving crops in the areas where spring and summer planted legumes are adapted. Temporary pastures for livestock or for the production of hay crops might also be used on the diverted acres.

It all adds up, says Prewitt, to this fact. The nation needs only 12 to 12.5 million bales of cotton this year and the shift to other crops will pay in two ways. A smaller 1953 national crop should bring in more net profit and the grain, forage or soil improving crops grown on the diverted acres will help rebuild depleted feed supplies and the soil building crops will aid in keeping future production high.

Mrs. Frank Bowley left Wednesday for Bangs to spend the remainder of this week with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Borden visited at various points in South Texas last week.
