Look To The East

by Aaron Edgar

For a period of time, it appeared that Munday was operating the biggest and busiest "truck stop" in seven states, maybe more!

The influx of trucks and truckers started early in June, when it began to look like we would have a large wheat harvest. Along with these came the combines from "up north" and perhaps further.

Generally, many of these are people who have populated the Munday area briefly for several years, since this has been the starting point for their harvest trek. From here they follow the harvest as wheat ripens on into the Panhandle, into Kansas, Minnesota and other points.

Some of our harvest crews come from up into Canada to begin their harvest trail in the Munday area.

They arrived in time this year, but their activities were hampered in early June by frequent rains and showers. We feared the harvest bunch would do like a time or two in the past - have time run out on them, and then they'd head out for other commitments before completing their work here.

A visitor to our town late one evening asked what the assembly of trucks and campers, etc., meant in our town. We informed them that these were harvest crews from afar that had come to participate in our harvest.

The harvest was over without too much hindrance, with the Munday area harvesting as much, or more, wheat than last year, in spite of the reduced acreage brought about by the PIK program.

But that didn't stop the influx of trucks here. Instead of grain trucks, we had potato trucks, onion trucks and cabbage trucks.

Just a sashay from center into the the edges of our town and it would appear that almost every type of truck available from everywhere would be parked everywhere!

They parked near the eating places, near our motel, filling stations - any place they could remain motionless for a period of time, while crews were possibly checking on when and where their vehicles could be loaded.

When processing sheds got into high gear with their operations, it was almost like one gigantic traffic jam in the area. People with no business there had no business being there!

We sorta liked it that way, but we would try to drive by on occasion, and maybe through the jam, just to get an inkling of what was going on.

As the elevators became comparatively quiet again, we had processing operations going on at four potato processing sheds, with trucks and trailers bringing the spuds to the sheds. The same was true of one huge onion processing shed and one cabbage processing area that was operated without benefit of a shed, or cover.

The congested truck areas reminded us of our recent trip home from Dallas. After passing Texas Stadium (home of the Dallas Cowboys) and heading east along hwy. 114, we started meeting trucks galore, and this continued nearly all the way home. In writing a relative later, we said that it appeared we were on an international truck route, headed for everywhere!

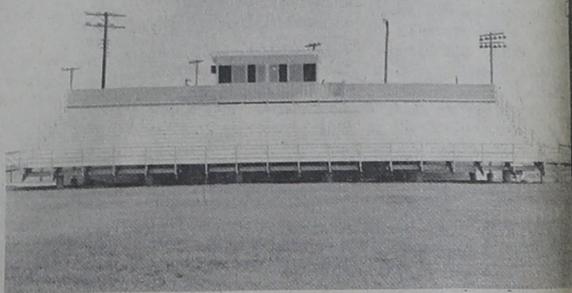

But trucks here for a purpose is good business for our vegetable farmers, for they are helping local people to feed the area, the nation, and parts of the world as they are helping the economy of the local area.

Joe Brown, farm editor for the Wichita Falls papers, paid a tribute to our Munday area farmers for what's going on right now. As he concluded his quip on TV, he said: "I'll tip my hat to Munday area farmers, who are causing things to happen in a big way."

Then he didn't tip the hat to expose his lack of foliage on the head!

Joe brought in some other activities that will be a continued help during the summer months. He cited cucumbers, bell peppers, cantaloups and other vegetable crops that contribute to the area's economy.

We're taking great strides in promoting Munday as a potential, as well as actual, vegetable growing area.

A PRETTY SIGHT: Here are the completed bleachers on the "home side" of Scruggs Field, home of the Munday Moguls. The aluminum bleachers will seat a total of 832 fans.

ON HIGH SCHOOL LEVEL . . .

Home Side Fans To Enjoy New Bleachers

It may be possible in the future for football fans to see the game the year around by means of "the tube", but interest in football for local fans reaches the high point when the Munday Moguls start their season.

Mogul fans will have a new experience on the home field this year. That's when they'll be watching the game from entirely new bleachers, which are the latest in seating capacity.

On February 15, the school board met in called session and awarded Southern Bleachers of Graham contract for constructing new bleachers on Munday's home side. Maintenance had become too expensive to keep the old bleachers in a safe condition.

Then followed a period when the Munday school fulfilled its obligation to completely raze the old bleachers on the north side and clear the site for the erection of the new modern bleachers.

Contractors have completed their work, and all that remains is work which the local school staff had agreed to do. This work is now in final stages of completion.

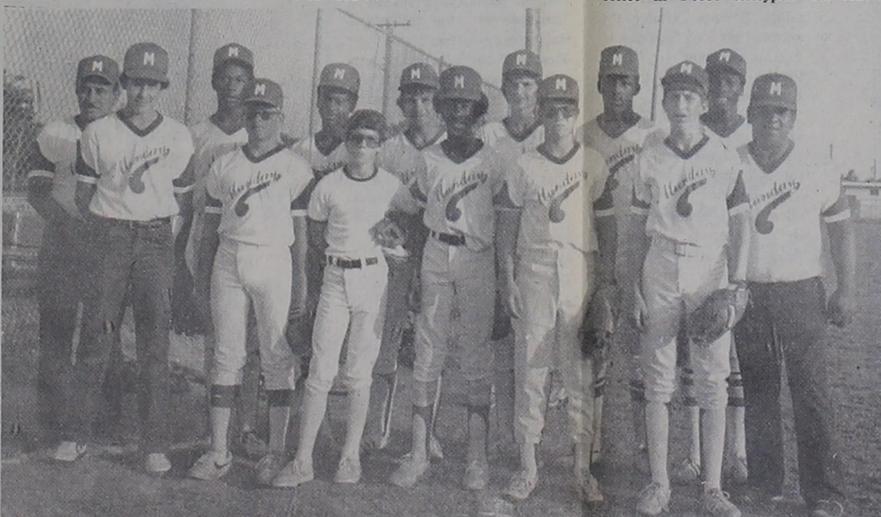

A new press box has already been erected by the staff, and the press and other officials can enjoy the same convenience as the fans. All the "staff work" that remains to be done is to complete a windbreak on the north side of the bleachers.

Vacation Time For The Courier

It happens every year, now! The Munday Courier office will be closed the week of July 4-9 in order for the personnel to have a vacation. No issue of the Courier will be printed for July 7th.

Order your job work this week, and purchase July office supplies early.

The entire force expects to be back in business on Monday, July 11th.

New Pastor Named For Local Church

Father Robert Strittmatter has been named pastor of St. Joseph Parish at Rhineland and Santa Rosa Parish of Knox City. Bishop Joseph P. Delaney of the Diocese of Fort Worth announced the appointment, which is effective July 27.

Father Bernard Schumacher is presently serving St. Joseph's, having been assigned here during the spring to replace Father Brendan McGuire. Father Schumacher explained that the latest change results from a decision by officials at New Subiaco Abbey in Subiaco, Arkansas. The Abbey had been providing St. Joseph Parish with priests, but because of its distance from this area, the decision was made to relinquish this duty to the Diocese of Fort Worth. Therefore, Father Schumacher will be returning to New Subiaco Abbey on July 26.

Father Strittmatter is now the pastor of Sacred Heart Parish in Breckenridge and its associated missions. A native of Fort Worth, he attended schools there and prepared for ordination at St. John and Assumption Seminaries in San Antonio. He was ordained May 27, 1966.

He has served Holy Family Church in Irving, St. Andrew Church in Fort Worth and St. Maria Goretti Church in Arlington as associate pastor, and has been administrator of St. Jude Parish in Mansfield. He has also pastored St. George Church in Fort Worth and St. Rita Church in Ranger.

Stolen Local Vehicle Recovered In Pecos

Two Cuban males were having "smooth sailing" while traveling to Pecos via Paducah and Clovis, N.M., during the weekend of June 18-19 until they were stopped by a sheriff's officer in Clovis, who discovered the car did not have a valid inspection sticker.

Clovis officers found no immediate cause for the arrest of the two, who spoke no English, but they notified Knox County officers that the vehicle was registered to Glenda Little of Munday. The suspects told Clovis officers they were headed for Pecos.

When contacted in Munday, Bennie Little had no knowledge of the vehicle being stolen, and it had not been missed from the Ramirez Paint and Body Shop, where it had been parked awaiting time for necessary repair work so a safety inspection sticker could be issued.

In due time, Chief of Police Gerald Saffel issued a complaint with Justice of Peace John Phillips, who issued an arrest warrant for the two suspects. By this time, the vehicle had been "flagged" by teletype as a suspected stolen vehicle.

On Thursday, June 23, the sheriff's office in Pecos teletyped the Knox

GONE, GONE: The north portion of the roof at the Andrade and Caram building shows damage from the high winds that hit here Monday evening. A portion of the south side is also missing.

BY WEATHER'S FURY . . .

Large Area Has Storm Damage

Most every town or community west of Wichita Falls for over 100 miles reported minor to severe damage last Monday night as storms lashed a wide area for the second night in a row.

Damage at Munday from the strong winds was thought to be minimal, as compared to that of other towns. Within the town of Munday, an awning in front of Munday Tire and Appliance was partially blown down, but it was quickly repaired Tuesday morning. The large sheetiron building of Andrade and Caram suffered extensive roof damage.

Hail threw a scare into Munday people, as it "peppered" briskly for a short period. This was thought to be the portion of the storm which travelled on east and did damage at Goree.

Electric poles of B-K Electric running north from the Munday cemetery were downed. It was estimated the company had 200 utility poles from Seymour west to Knox County blown down. B-K Electric estimated damage to its properties at $220,000 to poles and wire.

To the west of Munday, the rock home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson suffered roof damage to the west end. Edwin said he had just gotten home when the storm hit at 5:54 o'clock, and he sat in his pickup parked at the end of an outbuilding and watched portions of his roof disappear, the TV antenna topple and limbs from his giant pecan trees break away. Some of the limbs barely missed the roof as they fell. Damage was also heavy to his peach orchard. The Johnson home was without electricity or water Tuesday morning.

To the east of town, two golf cart sheds were blown down at the golf course, and others were damaged.

Sam Tyre reported damage to his oil office building near Goree and an antenna was toppled.

Extensive damage was done at Seymour, and at Vera two grain bins and an elevator leg at Boyd Elevator were destroyed, and a gin at Vera was damaged.

Munday had a power outage for brief periods on three occasions, but electricity was quickly restored. Knox City suffered property damage and power shortage during the storm.

Everywhere one turns, there is some storm damage from Sunday night's and Monday night's storms, and Munday people feel fortunate that damage within the town was minimal.

Damage in Wichita Falls was reported to be far in excess of $1 million.

Damage was also reported to Johnson Memorial Cemetery, where fallen limbs cluttered the area, and a number of grave stones were toppled. One stone was reportedly broken into three pieces.

Goree Citizens To Vote For School Trustees

Two school trustees for the Goree Independent School District will be elected in a special election on Saturday, August 13. These terms will expire in April, 1985.

Applications for places on the ballot can be filed in the office of Goree school superintendent Jerry Hawthorne. Deadline for filing will be Thursday, July 11. A drawing for the order of names on the ballot will be held on July 15.

Absentee voting will begin Tuesday, July 26, and will continue through Tuesday, August 9. Persons may cast absentee ballots in the superintendent's office.

THIS BABY CALF MAY have been looking for Mama when it escaped from Dan and Becky Offutt's yard and made it as far as the square downtown when WTU personnel caught it and tied it up on city hall yard, providing it with a pan of water. The little animal's mother had died and the Offutts had been bottle feeding the calf, which was a pitiful sight indeed until Shirley and Cherie Welch came to its rescue.

It's A Holiday For Everyone!

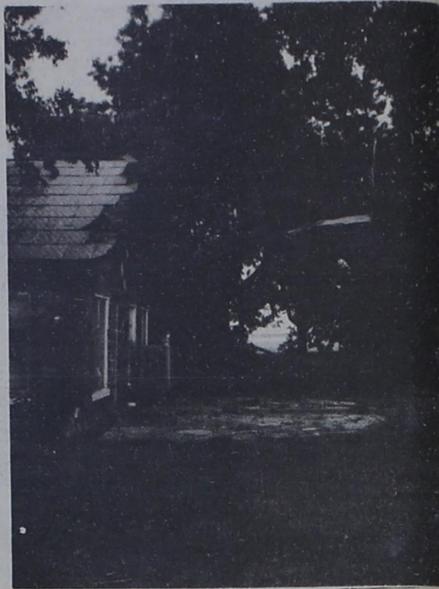

If you expect to do business with Munday merchants next Monday, better think again!

Monday is July 4th, Independence Day nationwide, and local merchants are accustomed to closing their doors on this date. The holiday, arriving on Monday, will give merchants and their employees a longer weekend to enjoy themselves or rest up from their labors.

Except for those who must remain open of necessity, the town is expected to be "closed up tight" next Monday.

Mary Herring of Breckenridge visited her mother, Elaine Gulley, recently.

Charles Kirschner of Austin visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Kirschner, during the weekend.

ROOF DAMAGE to the west end of the Edwin K. Johnson home is shown here, while much of the view is blocked by fallen limbs from huge pecan trees.

Landscape Irrigation Tips

Since Knox County homeowners can't always rely on rain to keep their yards and gardens lush and growing, they need to get the most from irrigation water.

Much of the water used on yards and gardens is often wasted because of improper methods of application and poor cultural practices.

Slow, deep watering will allow plant roots to penetrate deeper so that plants become more stress-resistant. Soaker hoses and drip irrigation systems are excellent for trees and shrubs while overhead sprinklers are more effective for lawns.

It's important that water be applied no faster than the soil can absorb it. If it is applied too rapidly, much of the water will be lost to runoff and evaporation. Excessive amounts of water can cause soil to become waterlogged in the root area, causing rotting, especially if internal drainage is poor.

Be careful not to over-water plants native to more arid regions of the state. They can be damaged by root rot. Also, since they often fail to go dormant but stay soft and succulent into the winter, such plants can be damaged by low temperatures.

Shrubs and trees near foundations, under eaves or on southern and western exposures need watering more frequently than others. These plants often receive less benefit from rainfall and have to deal with heat reflected from walls.

Areas under overhangs should usually be leached every few months to remove concentrations of salt left from water evaporation.

Plants on mounds or steep slopes suffer from drought stress more easily than those in level areas. Once sloped areas become dry, it's difficult to get good moisture penetration by surface irrigation unless water is allowed to seep for a long period of time.

and shrubs require special care. Water both the base of the plant and the surrounding soil. An organic mulch of pine bark, chopped straw, hay or similar material will greatly reduce irrigation needs of both newly established and older plants.

Water potted plants according to the type and condition of the pot and the plant and the location and conditions of the area. Clay pots dry out faster and root-bound plants require frequent watering, especially during hot, dry weather. It's also possible to overwater, leading to root disease.

Allow lawns to show some stress before watering to avoid losing too much water to runoff, but be sure to water lawns deeply and thoroughly.

Lawns and gardens can be watered any time of day, but evaporation is less at night or during the early morning. However, night watering can promote more disease problems.

By treating water as a valuable resource and irrigating wisely, your yards and gardens will flourish without rising water bills, plus you'll be helping to conserve declining water supplies.

Olney Savings To Become A Stock Association

The Board of Directors of Olney Savings Association has elected to convert from a mutual to a stock association, according to Alan D. Myers Jr., president.

The conversion application was filed with the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington, D.C. on April 28, 1983.

"Due to the number of conversion filings from all over the nation, the Bank Board has had some delay in staying current in their approval process. However, Olney Savings feels that its conversion should be approved and completed in the fall," noted Myers. The final determination of price per share and total shares issued are subject to approval by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Conversion will allow Olney Savings' customers to become stockholders in Olney Savings. Under the adopted plan of conversion, existing customers will have the first opportunity to purchase stock.

Myers concluded, "Conversion will increase Olney Savings' capital position through the sale of stock. This additional strength will allow Olney Savings to meet the challenges of a changing financial industry and provide us with new investment capital, allowing us to serve more people in more ways."

Stamford Rodeo Is This Weekend

Dates for this year's Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford are July 1, 2 and 4.

The TCR is still considered the largest amateur rodeo in the world, judged on the basis of the number of contestants, which grows each year. Contestants are mostly working cowboys on the large and small spreads from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Many rodeo events had their origin at the TCR in Stamford, such as wild cow milking, barrel racing and cutting horse contest, these in addition to the regular events of bull riding, calf roping, saddle and bareback bronc riding.

This year's entertainers include Leon Rausch and the Texas Panthers' salute to Bob Wills, Bill Mounce, Sammi Smith and Sheb Wooley.

Forty-three of the country's top western artists will be participating in the 10th Annual Stamford Art Foundations Exhibit and Sale.

A rodeo parade will kick off the TCR Friday, July 1, on the square at 3:00 with various floats, riding clubs, marching bands and automobiles participating.

Rodeo performances begin at 8:00 p.m. July 1, 2 and 4. The world famous Hardin Simmons Cowboy Band will provide musical entertainment in the arena at each performance.

These attractions plus an art and quarter horse auction, rodeo dances, a "Golden Horseshoe Hideaway" worth $500.00, chuck wagon dinners and more are all part of the 53rd Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion.

Major Horton Receives Degree

Major Thomas A. Horton, son of Mrs. E. L. Horton of Munday, has completed the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College regular course and received the Master of Military Art and Science (MMAS) degree at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

The 10-month regular course at the Army's senior tactical school produced graduates who are competent military problem solvers. Emphasis was placed on career development for the officer's future duties as a commander or staff officer.

The MMAS degree was awarded to officers who successfully completed a program of rigorous academic study in the development, operation and support of military forces in peace and war and of the interrelationships of economic, geographic, political and psychological elements of national power.

Horton will now serve in Baumholder, West Germany, with the 8th Infantry Division.

His wife, Lanier, is the daughter of Dr. T. R. Sharp of Dallas.

The major is a 1969 graduate of Texas Christian University.

Coin collecting is the occupation not only of those who love old or rare coins but also of those who like to eat once in a while, put gas in the car or pay utility bills. Coins are not worth as much as they used to be in the sense that they will buy what they used to - where can you get a coke or ice cream cone for a nickel, a hamburger for a dime or a plate lunch for a quarter anymore - but in one way, as the times become more dangerous, they are worth more than ever because of the message and prayer they carry, "In God We Trust."

We trust in God. He is our help and our salvation. For our final preservation we do not look to armies, navies or squadrons of airplanes. We know that in the final analysis they are helpless to save us. History offers us many lessons about the impermanence of things. We are here and gone tomorrow and so are our institutions and organizations.

Nations rise and fall. Usually the reason they fall is not from the enemy without but from decay within. The fight for freedom makes us tough but the abuse of freedom after that fight makes us soft. When our one desire is to live in luxury we become pushovers for our opponents. Things come to a pass where we are our own worst enemies.

There is a way, however, to prevent things from coming to such a state of affairs. That way is to place our trust in God and back up that trust by leading lives in conformity with God's directions. These directions were given to us to make our lives easy and secure. As long as we place our trust in God as the inscription on our coins tell us, we can with good expectation look forward to the future, and confidently march onward with cheerful hearts and eager step to the stirring and prophetic strains of The Stars and Stripes Forever.

Golden Malrin Sugar Bait
It's homogenized

Golden Malrin Sugar Bait is made by a new process of combining the insecticides with the sugar, which distributes the fly killing chemical throughout the particle of bait. It is not a sugar crystal coated with insecticide.

- Long-lasting—the homogenizing process locks in the insecticide making the bait more effective.
- No caking—packed in a sealed metal can.
- Flies like it—palatable because it is sugar-blended.
- Fast—kills quickly

Can be used in and around dairy barns, livestock barns, poultry houses, animal runs and shelters, etc., and other fly resting areas.

Munday Residents Asked To Support Healthier Lives

Each year more people are finding they can swim their way to a healthier life.

Here in Munday swimmers can help support a healthier life for the 30,000 Americans who suffer from cystic fibrosis (CF), the number one genetic killer of young people in the United States.

Cystic fibrosis is an incurable lung-damaging and digestive disease, according to the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, sponsor of the CF Swim Night at the Munday Swimming Pool on Friday, July 15.

"Geneticists estimate that one in every 20 Americans is an unknowing and symptomless carrier of the gene which can cause CF in a child," says Melba Christopher,

Campaign Coordinator of the Lone Star CF Chapter. "If a child receives a CF gene from each of two unsuspecting gene carriers, the child has a 25 percent chance of being born with cystic fibrosis," says Christopher.

"Because carriers don't show any signs of CF, and because a reliable carrier test is not yet available, a person's carrier status isn't recognized until he or she becomes the parent of a child with CF," according to Christopher. "The Foundation is funding research to find an effective carrier test and to find a cure for cystic fibrosis," she explains.

Accurate early diagnosis is sometimes difficult, according to Christopher. "CF symptoms mimic other lung and digestive disorders such as chronic bronchitis, allergy and asthma," she said. Because of this, the Foundation estimates that only one of every two to three individuals with CF is accurately diagnosed in any given year.

Steinbach Funeral Held On Wednesday

Mrs. Dora Steinbach, pioneer resident of the Rhineland area, passed away at 5:15 a.m. Monday at the Munday Nursing Center, where she had been a resident for a short time.

She was born on May 15, 1887, at McDade, Texas, and died at the age of 96 years, 1 month and 12 days. She had been a resident of Rhineland since 1907. She married George Steinbach on February 4, 1908, at Rhineland, and he preceded her in death several years ago.

She was a retired housewife and a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, June 29, from St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland with the pastor, Fr. Bernard Schumacher, officiating. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery under direction of McCauley-Smith Funeral Home. Grandsons served as pallbearers.

Surviving her are two sons, Frank and Calvin Steinbach both of Munday; four daughters, Ida Blake of Munday, Mary Bellinghausen of Scotland, Hilda Kuhler of Pep and Ellen Kuhler of Munday; 17 grandchildren, 34 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Lupe Dena's Funeral Held On Thursday

A large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends paid their final tribute to Guadalupe (Lupe) Dena in services held at 10 a.m. Thursday, June 23, at the Assembly of God Church in Munday.

Mrs. Dena, 25, died on Monday evening, June 20, in Harris Hospital in Fort Worth from injuries on Sunday in a fall from a moving jeep, just north of Munday.

Rev. Armando Pinales, pastor of the church, officiated at the service, and burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery under direction of McCauley-Smith Funeral Home.

Serving as pallbearers were Jessie Dena, Moses Dena, Joe Campos, Roman Arismendez, Ernest Espinoza and Roman Arismendez, Jr.

A native of Knox County, Mrs. Dena was born April 30, 1958, and married Jaime Dena on December 23, 1975, in Benjamin. She was a resident of Munday all her life, and was serving as supervisor for the Munday Family Planning Clinic at the time of her death.

Survivors include her husband; her son, Frank; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ayala; four sisters, Rebecca Gonzales of Dallas, Alisia Balwin of Waxahachie, Josephina Gomez of Vernon, and Betty Ramirez of Munday; and two brothers, Jesus Ayala Jr. and Paul Ayala, both of Austin.

Maj. and Mrs. Thomas A. Horton of Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., visited his mother, Ruth Horton, several days during the weekend. Major Horton will soon be seeing service in the 8th Infantry Division in East Germany.

Haskell Hit By Violent Weather

The City of Haskell bore the blunt of violent weather which hit shortly after 6 p.m. last Sunday. Haskell received 2.75 inches of rain in about a 30-minute period, along with hail and high winds that blew out several windows in the business section, blew down tree limbs, flipped a 10-wheeler truck and took the roof off a downtown warehouse.

Monday morning, damage to Haskell was being estimated at $1 million.

Munday received only a trace of rain and Goree received .20. Knox County remained in a severe weather alert for several hours during Sunday afternoon.

Cystic Fibrosis Drive Chairman Named For Munday

The Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation announces the appointment of Mrs. Judy Nagel as chairman of its 1983 campaign in Munday.

The campaign will be held to provide the community with information about cystic fibrosis, and to raise funds to support research, education, and care programs.

The number one genetic killer of children, CF is difficult to diagnose and impossible to cure. Each day five babies are born with the tragic disease that will clog and choke their lungs and inhibit their digestive processes and their growth, the disease that will eventually take their lives as it takes the lives of three people each and every day.

For information about cystic fibrosis and how you can help in the fight to find a cure, please contact Mrs. Nagel, Mrs. Sue Burleson or Mrs. Judy Wilde.

For your advertising needs, call The Munday Courier, 422-4314.

Refreshments were served at the close of singing. Many expressed their enjoyment of the evening.

Aid Offered Those Who Are Breathless

Practice pursed-lip breathing! Learn how to cough! Exercise your muscles! These are just a few hundreds of suggestions in "Help Yourself To Better Breathing", a new booklet offered by the American Lung Association of Texas especially for persons with emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

Chock-full of excellent "how-to" hints, this large-size, 24-page booklet is illustrated by famous artist Roy Doty. There are first-person stories about how people have learned to cope with breathlessness. And specific directions on how to clear breathing passages of mucus. Exercises for postural drainage and building stamina are illustrated.

Another section of this bright, helpful booklet identifies troubleshooters, such as air pollution, extremes of weather, infections, and smoking and how to avoid them. "Help Your Medicines Help You" describes various medicines and the importance of working closely with a physician. There are spaces within the booklet to write individual directions for taking each medicine. Breathing aids, such as nebulizers, respirators, oxygen, humidifiers, and vaporizers are described. There is even a section on eating to feel better.

The "Keep Living Your Life" chapter can help people suffering from chronic bronchitis or emphysema lead full, enjoyable lives despite their illness.

I would like to express my thanks to my friends, neighbors and relatives for the kindness shown to my family during my hospital stay and my recuperation. Your cards and gifts, visits and calls, the prayers in my behalf, the food brought to the house and the many helpful deeds were appreciated and will always be remembered.

Airplanes Are Work, Hobby For Local Man

Jim Cottingham loves to talk about airplanes. His fascination with aircraft explains not only his profession, as owner of Petty Flying Service in Munday, but also his hobby, which is flying radio-controlled model airplanes.

Cottingham is a member of the National Aeronautics Association and competes in model airplane contests around the state. He recently won the sportsman division at the 10th annual West Texas Model Airplane Championships held in Abilene. He has also competed in shows at Lubbock and Waco this year.

Cottingham's models fly precision aerobatic patterns. He explained that pattern planes are designed to fly aerobatics and should fly as well upside down as they do in the conventional position. Moving parts on these planes include retractable landing gear, and they will fly in excess of 100 miles per hour.

Pattern fliers are divided into different divisions at the contests. Beginners are in a novice class, and divisions graduate to sportsman, advanced, expert and masters. The degree of difficulty of the plane's maneuvers goes up with each class.

Cottingham pointed out an example of how hard the maneuvers in the masters class are. "While fliers in the other divisions do the round or figure eight loops most people are familiar with, a master will do square loops," he said.

The divisions are based on a point system. Cottingham has been in the sportsman division about three years, and said he has accumulated enough points to move up a class next year.

Besides the pattern planes, scale planes have a separate class. Scale models are built to the exact specifications of the full-size plane. The scales are getting larger - giant scale is 1/4 the size of a regular plane and some builders are working on half-size scales - and more complex. "Many scale builders will even copy the color scheme on the large aircraft they are duplicating," Cottingham said, "and everything in the cockpit works - the instruments, gas gauge, it's just a miniature aircraft."

He has been flying model planes since 1976. "I've always liked to watch airplanes," he noted. "I just walked into a hobby shop one day and decided to buy a kit, and seven or eight planes later I finally learned how to get one off the ground. I guess since I don't fly full-size planes I take my frustrations out on the models. But I'm a lot braver," he joked, "about doing loops on the ground with a model plane than I would be in a real one."

He emphasized that experience in flying full-size planes would not help someone learn to fly the models. "It doesn't mean anything. You have no reference points when you're flying by remote control, no feel or sound. I let one of my pilots handle the controls for less than a minute once before I took them over. He was fixing to crash it."

The planes are powered with small, usually 1/2 to 1/4 horsepower, engines, and hold a rechargeable battery. A similar battery is in the transmitter. When the flier sends a signal to the plane via the hand-held transmitter, the radio receiver in the plane changes the signal into an electric charge, which in turn travels to the servos, or command surfaces, which will set off the movement of the flier directed. The planes are fully operational and simulate full size movement, all of which is directed by the transmitter.

Cottingham said the radio control will fly the plane further than the pilot can see it, which makes larger planes easier to fly, since they can be seen further off.

Cottingham buys the body of the plane in a kit, which contains seemingly random pieces of wood and a package of screws, along with a plan for building. He likes to cover his planes with an iron-plastic material that heat-shrinks to fit the parts. A model plane builder experiences many of the same problems that builders of full-size planes deal with, the center of gravity, engine thrust and wing alignment. Accessories for the plane and the radio transmitter and receiver are bought separately. Cottingham's next project will be a model of his spray plane.

He is a member of a model plane club at Haskell which has 10-15 members. "We are trying to attract attention to the club," he said, "and encourage anyone who might be interested to come to one of our meetings. It isn't even necessary to own a plane, we will help them get started and teach them how to fly."

The club is in the process of finding a better place to fly the planes, so as not to interfere with regular air traffic at area airports. "We have a lot of fun with our planes," he said, "but our prime consideration is safety. If an 11-inch propeller that is turning 12,000-13,000 rpm's comes off a plane, it can do a lot of damage. One of the bigger propellers can easily go through a windshield."

Cottingham said one of the first questions a person asks him about his hobby is the cost. But he said it is like most hobbies, in that after the initial expense, an enthusiast can spend just about as much or as little as he wishes. Cottingham has turned his garage into a workshop for his aircraft and it has become a favorite spot of his three sons. They are becoming familiar with the hobby, and the oldest, 8-year-old Brandon, has done a little bit of flying himself. The boys were quick to point out their favorite of the model planes, a small one suspended from the ceiling with a miniature figure of the Peanuts comic strip's Lucy in the cockpit.

Wife Carol does ceramics and babysits while Jim is flying. She uses the garage for a workshop, too. It's just as well. Given her husband's enthusiasm for building and flying the models, it's not likely that she is going to have the use of the garage in its original purpose for a long time.

Have a happy Fourth of July holiday!

DOES IT FLY? You bet - by remote control. Eight-year-old Brandon Cottingham was eager to help his dad show off one of the model airplanes that Jim built and flies in aerobatic patterns. The patterns consist of series of intricate loops and rolls that vary in difficulty.
