

THE BACK YARD OF Mr. and Mrs. Tom Oustad at 350 N. 5th is a cool looking patch of green set off by lots of trees and lovely iris and roses. This always neat and well kept yard is the Munday Garden Club's Yard of the Week choice.

FHA Allocation Is Increased

Texas' allocation of funds for direct loans in the economic emergency farm loan program has been increased from $5,890,140 to $18,415,000, state director J. Lynn Futch of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) announced recently.

The increase will be distributed through state offices of the FmHA, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's farm credit agency. Nationally, the direct loan portion of the $600 million economic emergency program was raised to a $310 million share.

Interest rates for direct loans obtained from FmHA county offices are 10.25 percent on loans made for operating purposes and 10.75 percent on loans made for real estate purposes.

Economic emergency loans are authorized for bona fide farmers and ranchers who are directly and primarily engaged in, and expect to continue in, agricultural production, are unable to get sufficient credit from their regular lenders, and need credit to maintain viable farming operations. FmHA can loan up to $400,000 to any one borrower under the economic emergency program.

Permitted use of loan funds include financing of 1984 crop production, purchasing essential livestock, feed and equipment, and paying delinquent installments on farm and real estate debts if a lender is demanding payment.

Wedding Announced

Richard V. Freeby of Quanah and Dora Freeby of Munday were united in marriage at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 6. Rev. Edward Sifford of Hollis, Oklahoma, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Freeby is a former Weinert resident. The groom retired from the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Childress. After a short wedding trip to Quartz Mountain Resort, the couple will make their home in Munday.

May is National High Blood Pressure Month and is dedicated as a time for us to all give this dangerous disease some thought.

What do you know about high blood pressure? In the last 8 years Americans have become more aware that high blood pressure is a dangerous disease. But others still have the wrong ideas about this common illness.

Some people confuse high blood pressure "control" with a cure. There is no cure for high blood pressure.

Others hear the medical term for high blood pressure, "hypertension", and wrongly assume that only anxious or tense people have high blood pressure. High blood pressure can affect anyone. Did you know that one out of every four black Americans has high blood pressure? And did you know that high blood pressure is the biggest cause of death among black men and women?

Some people think a headache, dizziness, or feeling bad are telltale signs that blood pressure is up. These, too, are wrong. High blood pressure has no symptoms.

In addition to medicine, doctors sometimes tell their blood pressure patients to watch their weight, cut down on salt, exercise more, and stop smoking.

The Knox County Family Living Committee will be sponsoring a program on "Hypertension, The Silent Killer", May 25. It will begin at 2:00 p.m. at the Knox County Aging Services Center, 609 Avenue E., Knox City. I hope you can join us to learn more about this dangerous disease and how you can help keep it under control. We will also have someone on hand to take your blood pressure.

Next week I will be discuss-sing "Salt Savvy" and how it can help control high blood pressure.

Remember, some people don't know about high blood pressure: make sure they do!

Newly Ordained Priest Celebrates Rhineland Mass

MR. and MRS. ANDY SEARCEY

Morning Ceremony Unites Miss Esteve, Andy Searcey

Maureen Anne Esteve became the bride of Andrew Lynn Searcey in a morning ceremony held Saturday, May 5, in the home of the groom's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Searcey, in Abilene. Rev. Steve Smith officiated.

Parents of the couple are Harry Esteve and Mary Esteve of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Searcey of Munday.

The couple repeated their vows before a backdrop of greenery. Arrangements of blue and white silk carnations were placed on the piano and registry table. Mrs. Pam Searcey, sister-in-law of the groom, served as soloist and provided special wedding music on the piano.

Given in marriage by her brother, Brian Esteve, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza dotted swiss designed with a lace bodice. Fastened down the back with pearl buttons, the gown featured cap sleeves and a high stand-up lace collar. She wore baby's breath in her hair and carried a bouquet of white silk roses and blue buttercups accented with blue and white streamers and white lace.

Shannon Esteve of Colorado Springs was maid of honor for her sister. Her dress of white gauze was printed with blue rosebuds and featured tulip sleeves. She carried a white silk rose with blue and white streamers.

Terra Searcey of Munday, niece of the groom, was ring bearer. She wore a short dress in pale blue printed with deeper blue rosebuds featuring a ruffled collar and flounced skirt. In her hair she wore a band of flowers.

Clarence Searcey of Munday served his son as best man. The groom wore a grey and blue striped suit and his attendant was attired in a dark blue suit.

The groom's parents hosted a reception following the ceremony. The serving table was accented with lace runners and centered with a silver piece holding blue carnations and white candles. Appointments were crystal. The two-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with blue bachelor buttons and topped with a bell circled by a heart design.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Mildred Sanders, Shannon Esteve and Mrs. Kim Smith.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Wasson High School in Colorado Springs and attended Hardin-Simmons University. The groom graduated from Munday High School in 1981 and attended Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech University. He is employed by Toyota Dealers of Abilene as a car salesman.

The couple will make their home in Abilene.

In a beautifully decorated St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland, Father Jeremy Myers celebrated a Mass of Thanksgiving at 4:00 p.m. Saturday, May 5. To a church filled and overflowing, the ceremony was begun with the processional "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Assisting at the ceremony were Abbot Raphael DeSalvo of New Subiaco Abbey, Subiaco, Arkansas, as well as the following clergy: Rev. Robert Strittmatter, present pastor of St. Joseph's; Rev. Brendan McGuire and Rev. Bartholomew Landwermeyer, both former pastors at Rhineland; Rev. Leo Diersing, also a former pastor who witnessed the wedding of Father Jeremy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billie Jake Myers, 30 years ago; Rev. Kevin Keith of Our Lady Queen of Peace Church and Rev. Vincent Redder of Sacred Heart Church in Wichita Falls. Homilist for the Mass was Father Bartholomew Landwermeyer, a close family friend.

Organists were Emma Fetsch and Lisa Zeissel Myers. Special selections requested by Father Jeremy and sung by St. Joseph's choir were "How Great Thou Art", "Only a Shadow", and "What A Friend We Have in Jesus". A special duet, "Ave Maria", was sung by Annette Brown and Mary Janelle Smith. The recessional hymn was "Amazing Grace."

Father Jeremy closed the ceremony with a tribute to his grandmother, the late Mrs. Carrie Kuehler. At the request of many parishioners, this tribute will be reprinted along with this article.

After the Mass, St. Joseph's Parish sponsored a delicious buffet dinner for all members of the parish, relatives and friends. Women who planned this dinner and assisted in the kitchen were Annette Brown, Betty Kuehler, Maxine Kuehler, Ruth Brown, Valera Hertel, Madeliene Speer, Arleta Decker and Janice Albus. Many men also assisted by cooking the delicious fried chicken.

At the day's conclusion, everyone agreed it had been a beautiful and memorable event for all concerned.

Tribute

By Fr. Jeremy Myers, OSB

Before closing our Eucharist this afternoon, I would like to take a moment to say a word of thanks to someone who is not here, but perhaps can hear them nonetheless. I pray she knows that these words come truly from my heart. May she forgive me if my words are smaller than the feelings in my heart - but then, words have never been equal to the tasks of the heart.

This thanks is given to a woman who was as close to a mother as one can be without being a mother. Perhaps she was that and more. You see, she was my Grandmother.

Grandma, this thanks comes years late, but then, it has been in my heart all along. The thanks for struggling with me as I tried to do arithmetic problems. The thanks for opening the refrigerator door for me, with all its cokes and apples and oranges. Thanks for spending your Saturdays cooking those special dishes for me - dishes nobody has been quite able to duplicate since - turnip green soup, hash, brown bread.

Grandma, thanks for holding me when I was afraid or lonely or just wanted to be near someone. It was you, Grandmother, who helped teach me the first and most important lessons of life, those about love, caring for another, respect - all of which is to say you taught me about God. There are many others who would not have wanted to spend their last years taking care of a little brat, but you took a small 3½-year-old boarder and saw him grow into a young man.

Grandma, you left me too soon, I don't know if you were finished with me or not. I don't know if I learned everything I should have. But I supposed God needed you more than I did.

Grandma, this day belongs to you in a very special way, even if you aren't sitting here in the front pew like I wish you were. You always wanted me to be a priest - and apparently after you got to heaven you used some of that German fight to wear away at God till you got what you wanted. Maybe you threatened to make Him chop weeds, too, if he didn't shape up. But gosh, I hope there aren't weeds in heaven. I suspect if there ever were, you have them all pulled out by now.

Grandma, I hope the St. Louis Cardinals can be heard in heaven. I'm sorry they're still not as good of a team as you wanted. I hope, too, God doesn't understand those German words you used to use on Willie Mays. I hope you and your friends still have a chance to make quilts, cluttering up heaven like you used to the front room. And I hope heaven has long roads where you can drive that blue Ford.

If I could, Grandma, I'd pin a big corsage on you, but since I can't, let these words be my corsage for you. I pray this day has brought you as much joy as it has given me. And Grandma, keep praying those rosaries for me. I need them now more than ever. Grandma, I thank you, I miss you, and I love you.

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The Middle East region may be on the other side of the world, but what happens there can have a profound impact on our lives here in the United States. Strategically situated astride three continents, the Middle East holds the largest petroleum reserves in the world making it vital to America and its allies.

Consequently, it is important that America pursue its foreign policy in this region and protect its interests. The Middle East is too vital to our nation to simply abandon U.S. policy for the region on the shores of Lebanon.

Successive U.S. administrations have identified American regional interests as: (1) Secure access to oil. (2) Survival and prosperity of Israel. (3) Containment of Soviet influence. (4) Promoting friendly relations and economic ties with moderate Arab states, particularly Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Oman.

Aside from its importance, the Middle East also is a very troubled part of the world. The oil rich region that stretches from Algeria to Oman is at present one of the most turmoil-ridden areas of the world. That is why it is even more important that America not abandon this region as a lost cause. If our oil supplies are interrupted, through war or terrorism, the effects could be devastating.

One of the most dangerous threats to U.S. energy interests is the war between Iran and Iraq. During my recent trip to the Middle East and Persian Gulf, I found great concern over the effects of this war. The four-year-old conflict has the potential to destabilize the entire Persian Gulf region.

An escalation and widening of the war could endanger oil shipments through the Strait of Hormuz. In fact, Iraq already has mounted recent attacks against ships located near the Iranian oil exporting facilities. Iran has threatened to close the Strait through which 20 percent of the West's oil supply passes.

If either combatant succeeds in carrying out threats to interfere with or halt shipping in the Persian Gulf, all oil importing nations could be seriously affected. More important from the U.S. standpoint is the fact that Western Europe and Japan currently import 20 percent and 60 percent, respectively, of their oil supply from the Gulf.

Although the United States imports only 2 percent of its oil from this region, we would be unable to isolate ourselves from the economic and political consequences of such a loss to our allies. It would be the responsibility of the United States to maintain the free flow of oil through the Persian Gulf.

Terrorism also represents a serious threat to U.S. interests in the Middle East. Since 1968, there have been more than 2,450 serious life-threatening attacks on American diplomats abroad.

Most disturbing is that state-supported terrorism has had an enormous impact on subsequent events, such as the withdrawal of U.S. Marines from Lebanon. Syria, in particular, has obtained substantial influence throughout the region through terrorist intimidation.

We must stand firm in our commitments to resolve the problems plaguing the Middle East and not be deterred by acts of terrorism. For my part, I will continue to assist the administration in its efforts to protect our interests in the Persian Gulf.

"It's Shady Under Here"

One of my favorite cartoon strips is "Frank and Ernest." A short while back, the cartoon showed Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden puzzling over two trees they had come upon. One tree had a sign nailed on it that read, "Tree of Knowledge." The other tree was labeled, "Tree of Commonly Accepted Misconceptions." Although this cartoon was not an accurate portrayal of the Biblical narrative, it was close enough to provoke some thought.

Some of these "Commonly Accepted Misconceptions" that I have encountered most often have to do with God's will, His nature and purpose, and with a definition of what love is. In comparisons of values and ideas such as these and other questions, the source of one's authority is of the primary consideration . . . one may be sincere in believing one way or another, and at the same time be sincerely wrong in that belief. Sincerity is not of primary importance to accuracy; authority is.

A great number of people perceive God as a harsh judge, vengeful, ready to inflict punishment at any moment on wicked sinners. They even believe that He causes the innocent to suffer so that they can "grow", or so that some third party can see the suffering and thereby "grow". The same applies to sinners as well as to the righteous. Insurance companies list natural catastrophes such as earthquakes, hurricanes, floods, etc. as "acts of God", thereby giving God the credit (or the blame) for all such destruction and suffering. On the other hand, Christians know God as a loving, heavenly Father, more willing to show mercy than to execute judgement; not willing that any should perish; not willing to grieve nor afflict the children of men; the healer of disease, not the giver of disease; the redeemer of the fallen; the friend of the unrighteous.

The popular understanding of love is taken from Hollywood, Nashville, and dime novel portrayals . . . along with much that is shown on television. What we get from these sources is not much more than a sentimentalism that is supposed to "feel good", and when the feeling is gone, the cheaters are justified in their quest for new love. The present day crisis in family life in our society is due in large part to this "commonly accepted misconception" of what love is. On the other hand, Christians understand that love includes faithful commitment, integrity, selflessness, sacri-ifice, freedom from manipulation, acting always in the best interest of the object of love . . . always within God's perfect moral law. The Christian accepts all the elements of love on the authority of Scripture, especially as it is defined in I Corinthians 13. Which tree are you under?

FRANKIE STINNETT is shown just before he breaks the tape on the 800 meter run at the regional track meet in Lubbock last weekend. Frankie came in second in the race, less than a second behind Charles Williams of Rotan. His time was good enough to qualify Frankie for the state competition this weekend in Austin. Frankie also ran a leg on the mile relay team.

CROSSING THE HURDLES: The Moguls' Dent Offutt placed sixth in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles at the regional track meet. Dent shaved nearly half a second off his district time, but still lacked over a second to beat the event's winner. Dent is the sophomore son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Offutt.

Outstanding Weinert Students Recognized

"Hawaiian Paradise" was the theme for the 1984 awards banquet held Thursday evening at Weinert High School. Kim Stewart gave the welcome and superintendent H. L. Guess said the invocation.

A meal of ham, baked potatoes, broccoli and rice, salad, rolls, strawberry shortcake and tea was prepared by Mrs. Sarah Guess, Mrs. Kathi Hutchinson and the home economics department.

Hawaiian decorations included yellow tablecloths and accents of pineapples, palm trees, hanging baskets, a Hawaiian flower arrangement and a gazebo.

Eighth grade students Shane Stout, Mondy Mayfield, Tina Briscoe, Karen McGuire, Barry Walker, Monica Estrada, Robert Estrada, Kevin White, Laurie Hester and Kent Sanders were servers. The girls were dressed in hula skirts with flowers in their hair, while the boys wore Hawaiian shirts and sunglasses to complement the island theme.

Chet Forehand was master of ceremonies, and Tom Kent provided entertainment, singing a variety of country and western and Hawaiian songs.

Coaches Chet Forehand, Mark Coffman and Linda Stewart presented athletic awards to Ricky Perez for being named Most Consistent Football Player and to Kelly Earp as the Most Dedicated Player. Mrs. Darlene Bellinghausen presented a plaque to Kelly McGuire for her qualification in the state UIL meet, and Russ Perry presented the Star Greenhand agricultural award to Robin Raynes.

Larry Brueggeman, Donna Griffith, Darlene Carroll, Amy Castillo, Shannon Forehand and Kelly McGuire gave gifts to sponsors and teachers for their involvement in youth activities.

Kelly Earp awarded the Miss Spirit honor to Dianne Carroll. Named Weinert High School Sweetheart and Hero this year were Larry Bruggeman and Amy Castillo, and they were recognized by Mrs. Kerri Urbanczyk.

The cheerleading squads led everyone in the school song, and Shannon Forehand voiced the benediction to end an exciting and happy evening.

Cheerleaders, Pep Officers Selected

Build A Terrace Or Patio

A living terrace or patio can do a lot for a home landscape.

Positive aspects of a patio include enhancing the property value, providing space for recreation and entertainment, and bringing indoor and outdoor environments together, says a landscape horticulturist.

"With the mild Texas weather, a patio can provide year-round enjoyment and affords the opportunity for more outdoor living," points out Dr. William C. Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Building a patio can be an enjoyable project for the homeowner, but it must be planned carefully," adds Welch.

As a general rule, a terrace should be no less than 8 to 10 feet wide and should repeat the lines of the adjacent building, says the horticulturist. Free-form patio designs can be attractive but are best left to landscape architects to design. Irregular forms with cutouts for trees or other plants can be successful if plenty of open space is included for activities.

"A patio surface should be firm and relatively smooth," Welch adds. "It should slope gently away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation. Smooth surfaces such as plain concrete and flagstone are usually easiest to sweep clean, but brick and pea gravel concrete can be hosed off quickly."

Most surfacing materials are easier for amateurs to install if done in sections, suggests the horticulturist. Use Redwood or other long-lasting lumber as dividers or headers in 3- to 6-foot modules and do one section at a time. This method is especially useful when installing brick over a sand base since it adds a neat and finished look to the surface which would otherwise look irregular and uneven.

Welch advises designing a patio to provide privacy, which can be provided by plants, constructed screens or orientation. Most people like the convenience of having the patio adjacent to the kitchen or family room. Many also are constructed adjacent to bedrooms, living rooms and even bathrooms.

"Wood or masonry fences, vines over structures, or plants may serve as privacy screens around a patio. However, plants require more space than structural screens, which may make them impractical for small areas," Welch points out.

One or more trees near the patio will provide shade from noon and afternoon sun, or an overhead shade structure can be constructed.

Including accessories such as landscape lighting and weatherproof receptacles make the terrace more useful, adds Welch. Flowering plants or shrubs in pots, tubs or boxes can make a terrace more attractive, and a portable barbecue grill can be useful for entertaining. A small, depressed fire circle can be used for small campfires and covered with a table or potted plant when not in use.

Controlling Grasshoppers In The Garden

Last week at the pest clinic stop in Benjamin, County Judge H. T. Melton wanted to know what could be done to stop the grasshoppers from eating his garden and peach trees. He said he has already observed a large number of grasshopper nymphs.

Grasshoppers are a tough insect to control, as most people who have had to deal with these pests know. Emory Boring, Extension entomologist, stated the best control is done before they reach their target. Some control can be achieved once the grasshoppers reach the garden or fruit tree but not before some damage has been done. This damage will be compounded because the grasshoppers must continue to come to the garden or fruit tree for this control to work. So controlling grasshoppers in the home garden is not what we are after, but before they reach the home garden.

The first step is to keep areas around the garden or fruit tree free of weeds and grasses. The next step is to treat surrounding areas with an insecticide labeled for this use such as sevin, diazinon, malathion, or Naled. Follow label instructions for your particular use. This treatment should be done before grasshoppers reach the adult stage.

If you are surrounded by a field or pasture, controlling grasshoppers before they reach your garden or fruit tree may be impossible. Control may only be achieved by treatment of the garden or fruit tree. Remember, this control method has limited effectiveness.

Sevin and malathion are two insecticides which may be used to control grasshoppers in the home garden or on fruit trees. Be sure to read labels for specific vegetables and fruits for waiting periods to harvest and other restrictions.
