WTU Refunds May Be Realized Next Month

West Texas Utilities Co. customers may receive refunds as well as slightly lower fuel rates as early as next month.

A tentative agreement was reached this past week in meetings with the Public Utility Commission staff in Austin, and the matter is expected to go before the Commission July 26 for a final order hearing. That would be just in time for the refunds to go on the August bills for all of WTU's retail customers.

The full amount to be refunded now stands at $17.6 million. This is an increase of $3.9 million over the amount in WTU's original request, which included only fuel costs savings achieved from August 1984 through May 1985.

The new figure includes savings made in June and an additional $2.3 million representing a lump refund of fuel costs savings balance, plus interest, realized before last August. Refund of those total savings had begun in mid-November and were scheduled to be completed in November 1985.

WTU estimates that the total refund now will result in a $41 credit to the average residential customer's bill. The refund is made possible by WTU being able to spend less for power plant boiler fuel than was anticipated when fuel cost factors were set by the PUC last fall.

Former customers will not receive refunds. The reasoning is that if the former customer had been undercharged for fuel, they could not be billed in the future to make up the difference.

Any refunds will vary with the amount of electricity a customer used during the period from August 1984 through June 1985. Interest will be included.

Local Man Is Candidate For State Sorghum Board

A Knox County grain sorghum producer, Larry Edward Smith of Munday, is a candidate for the office of director of the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board. His name will appear on the same ballot as a referendum to establish a uniform grain sorghum checkoff throughout Texas. The official election of directors is contingent upon the passage of the referendum.

The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board was established in twenty-nine counties of the Texas High Plains in 1969. Since that time, the High Plains TGSPB has financed most of the promotion and market development for Texas sorghum. If the referendum is approved by two-thirds of Texas sorghum farmers, the existing program will be incorporated into the statewide plan.

Seven directors will be elected at large from a slate of twenty-three on the statewide ballot. The seven directors-elect will join eight who are serving unexpired terms on the existing board. Directors are elected to six-year terms with five directors rotating off each two years.

Directors have the full responsibility of the TGSPB programs within limits approved by the voters. They have the authority to set the rate of the assessment but may not exceed one cent per hundredweight specified in the referendum. They also hire staff, decide projects and determine collection procedures. They are elected officers of the State of Texas. They are not paid for their services but are reimbursed for travel expenses.

The TGSPB checkoff funds are used to finance the promotion of Texas grain sorghum in markets throughout the world. In recent years, TGSPB has concentrated most of its efforts in Mexico. Due largely to those efforts, Mexico is now buying as much U.S. sorghum as half of the Texas production.

Other TGSPB projects are selling Texas sorghum in Asia and South America with demonstration projects beginning in China and the Mideast. TGSPB has conducted numerous research projects to prove the value of sorghum as a livestock feed. One such project persuaded USDA to raise the loan rate and price support of sorghum from 92% of that of corn to 95%. That project has added from 10 to 15 cents per hundredweight to sorghum's price each year since 1972.

The proposed TGSPB checkoff is a uniform way to finance the sorghum promotion for the benefit of all sorghum farmers. Participation is voluntary. Any producer who does not wish to pay the assessment simply requests and promptly receives a refund.

Anyone who has produced sorghum in Texas during at least one of the past three years is eligible to vote in the election. Ballots will be mailed to more than 60,000 Texas sorghum producers on the ASCS roll. Any producer who does not receive a ballot by August 1 may obtain one at his County Extension office or by calling toll-free 1-800-692-4169. Farmers are also advised to use the toll-free number with any questions about the referendum or checkoff program.

Burkburnett All-Stars Win Little League Tournament

The Burkburnett Little League All-Stars blasted the Graham All-Stars 9-3 Friday night, July 19, for the district Little League Championship. The Burk team advances to the regional tourney at Sheppard Air Force Base this week.

The action at Putnam Field in Munday went like this: on Monday night, the tournament began with two close games. Graham defeated Munday by a narrow margin of 2-1 with Kevin Jackson on the mound for the local boys. Then Burkburnett beat Haskell by a duplicate score.

URBANCZYK TO PLAY

Munday Represented In All-Star Contest

Greg Urbanczyk of Munday will join a host of other "cream of the crop" players in Texas for the annual All-Star football game set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 31, in Texas Stadium in Irving. He will play for the North squad coached by Louis Kelley of Lubbock Estacado.

Urbanczyk, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Urbanczyk, was a three-year starter for the Munday Moguls and was the backbone of their defensive line. He was an All-District selection two years and was named to the 1984 Class A All-State team as a defensive lineman.

Kelley said time would be a big factor in the outcome of the All-Star game. Each squad will be allowed eight work-outs to get ready, and the coaches have stressed the importance of the players being in good condition when they get to Dallas. If he had a month to get his team ready, Kelley stated, the North could have a good running attack with the running backs and big linemen he has on hand.

The North will line up in a Pro "I" or wing "I" formation on offense and in a 4-3 pro-look defense. The coaches spent several weeks this summer looking at films of the All-Stars in action. Getting players in the right position is expected to be a big key to the game.

Urbanczyk has been working out to get in shape for the contest. He will leave for Dallas this Saturday with Mogul head coach Jim Edwards, who is a member of the Class A All-Star committee.

A number of local persons are expected to travel to Dallas to watch the All-Star game.

Weinert Couple To Write History Book

A real treasure for past and present residents of Weinert is in the making. R.S. and Betty Sanders have researched historical material concerning the Weinert area, and are compiling the information for publication. This history of Weinert will include the rural communities of Lone Star, Cliff, Dennis Chapel, Meyers, Pleasant Valley, Cottonwood, Ferris, Brushy/Ample, Pleasant View and Lake Creek.

Sanders is a lifetime resident of Weinert, and he and his wife are graduates of Hardin-Simmons University. After a three-year stint as a teacher at Weinert, Sanders became Postmaster, a position he held for 27 years. Mrs. Sanders spent 20 years teaching students in the Weinert School System. Both are now retired.

Weinert was founded in a cow pasture in 1906 and became a hub toward which each of the surrounding communities gravitated. It was a wild and rough boom town in its infancy, but within two years of its founding, the town boasted three drug stores, three doctors and a number of other businesses. By 1910 it appeared that Weinert could

Rainfall Scattered In Location And Amounts

Although the clouds have looked very promising on several different occasions, they haven't produced much in the way of moisture except in scattered areas of the county.

Brief showers fell in Munday on Sunday and Monday afternoons, but the drops didn't accumulate to much more than just enough to make all the cars a little dirtier. The same report was received from Goree, but some areas in the Rhineland community fared a little better. Gary Wilde at the Rhineland gin said about .6 of an inch fell there, and some places in the vicinity received as much as an inch or inch and a half.

The city of Benjamin reported a good shower that didn't seem to extend beyond the city limits, and a Truscott resident said they got "just a little." Sprinkles were felt around Sunset and on toward Knox City, as well.

The cloudy skies have caused temperatures to be slightly lower than normal for this time of the year, but the humidity offsets the cooler weather so it is still uncomfortable to be away from an air conditioner for very long.

Many cotton fields near Munday are showing beautiful green foliage and some delicate blooms, and producers are holding their breaths, keeping their fingers crossed and doing anything else they can think of to order up some appropriate weather for their crop. After the scattered showers, the need for water is going to be very uneven, and it is a shame that those who have more rain than they need can't spread it around to those a little less fortunate.

Donating To Bloodmobile Is A Community Responsibility

Although the American Red Cross Blood Services is a nationwide program with regional operational facilities, the real strength of the service lies in the active involvement of local citizens in communities throughout the country. Such involvement is exemplified in the "community responsibility" philosophy of blood donations.

The community responsibility concept is based on three points. First, it is the responsibility of all healthy citizens in the community to help maintain an adequate and safe blood supply for those who are in need. Second, the only criteria necessary for a patient to receive blood is a medically determined need, not eligibility, ability to replace, credits, etc. Third, patients and their family members and friends are usually undergoing enough stress at these times without the additional financial penalties for not replacing it. While the Red Cross encourages friends and family members to donate blood regularly as citizens of their community, it does not feel it is necessary to have credit systems, non-replacement fees and other mechanisms which make donating blood a formal requirement.

In short, community responsibility is based on the tradition of neighbor helping neighbor. It asks that people donate because their friends and neighbors need it now, and if a donor needs blood in the future, it will be there because their friends and neighbors are doing the same. Healthy people are asked to donate blood regularly in amounts required to meet all community blood needs year round. The appeal is altruistic, but it results in a practical approach to meeting community blood needs through shared responsibility. This approach is used by 70 percent of all voluntary, not-for-profit blood services.

Locally, Munday, Goree and Rhineland residents may join in this "people helping people" activity by donating blood at the upcoming bloodmobile scheduled for Monday, August 12 from 2:45 to 6:30 p.m. at the Munday Community Center. Latreae Lane, Blood Services chairman, and local volunteers will be recruiting donors to help reach the community goal for the day.

Knox Judge Attends Education Meeting

Knox County Judge David N. Perdue participated in the 1985 Constitutional County Judges Education Meeting in Lubbock July 15-18.

The 68th Legislature passed legislation which formalized and mandated continuing judicial education for Texas judges. Each judge of an appellate court, district court, statutory county court and county court performing judicial functions is required to participate in continuing judicial education programs.

These programs are conducted under the guidance and supervision of the Supreme Court of Texas.

Three Firefighters Attend A&M School

Three volunteer firemen from Munday are attending the annual fire school at Texas A&M University this week. Participation in this school guarantees the City of Munday a 1 percent discount on fire insurance key rates for the next year.

Buford Berryhill, Ray Lynn Hardin and Freddie Caram are in College Station this week learning more about the latest firefighting techniques. Munday firemen have been especially faithful about attending such educational sessions to increase their skills for this important task.

Additional firemen will attend a fire school in Abilene next week.

The only day in recent years that a person was not killed in a traffic accident in Texas was Wednesday, January 5, 1977.

Attend Town Hall Meeting Tomorrow

Local citizens are reminded of the town hall meeting to be held at 7 p.m. Friday, July 26, at the Munday Community Center. Sponsored by State Representative Steve Carriker, the meeting is a forum for Knox County residents who want to learn more about our state government or who want to make known their viewpoints on the laws being made.

Position Is Open On Coaching Staff

Coaching and administrative personnel at Munday High School were conducting interviews early this week of applicants for the vacancy in the school's coaching staff.

Three applicants were to be interviewed Tuesday for the position left vacant by the resignation of girls' basketball and assistant football coach Randy Burks. Officials said the coach they hire will not necessarily coach the same team, as re-assignments can be made among the coaching personnel as needed.

It was hoped that the position could be filled late this week.

Low Pump Efficiency Costly To Farm Irrigation System

Most people, if they discovered that they had overpaid their taxes by a substantial amount, would immediately file an amended return and claim a refund.

Many irrigation farmers are paying an extra tax. This extra tax is an energy tax and, unfortunately, no refunds are available from the utility company. This extra cost is levied by inefficient irrigation pumps.

No pump is 100 percent efficient. A pump in good condition will usually have an efficiency in the 70-

80 percent range. Soil Conservation Service pump tests in the North Rolling Plains of Texas revealed that efficiencies ranged from 88 percent down to 8 percent, with an average efficiency of 48 percent.

Just how much does it cost to operate an inefficient pump? A pump lifting 300 g.p.m. fifty feet, and delivering 50 p.s.i., will cost approximately $5,000 for 6 months operation if the pump is 70 percent efficient, and electricity costs $0.08 per kilowatt hour. If the pump efficiency is reduced to the local average of 48 percent, this same pump will cost $7,290 to operate for the same length of time. This is an extra cost of $2,290 per year. This extra cost would allow you to spend approximately $9,000 to re-work or replace this pump and recover your investment in five years.

How can you spot an inefficient pump? Here are several things to look for:

- The discharge has noticeably decreased.
 - The pump surges or a choke valve is used to prevent the pump from breaking suction.
 - The well pumps sand.
 - The irrigation system has been changed.
 - Two or more wells are connected to one pipeline.
 - The water table has lowered.
 - The pump uses large quantities of oil.
 - The pump has not been serviced or adjusted in the past five years.
- If you suspect that your pump is not operating as efficiently as it could, SCS technicians can check the efficiency of the pumping plant. They can also provide economic information to help you decide if reworking or replacing the pump would be profitable.

Securing Empty Home Will Lessen Chances Of Burglary

Returning home to the scene of a burglary is no way to end a vacation.

Taking the time to secure your home or apartment before you leave will improve your chances of a pleasant return home, say the Texas Chapters of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters (CPCU).

Before leaving, it pays to make an inventory of personal belongings and to double check your insurance coverage to make sure it has kept up with inflation. Many tenants find out the hard way after a loss that the landlord's insurance doesn't cover personal property in an apartment. A special tenants policy is designed to provide peace of mind for renters.

Here are some tips on how to lessen the chances of a vacation burglary:

- Suspend deliveries of mail, newspapers and milk.
- Arrange to have your lawn mowed and ask a friend to pick up "throwaway" newspapers and circulars.
- Notify the police that you'll be away and ask neighbors to keep an eye on your house or apartment.
- Use automatic timers to turn lights on and off at appropriate times. Consider connecting a radio to a timer.
- Equip doors with dead-bolt or double cylinder locks, put a slide bolt on sliding glass doors and install a burglar alarm. Many insurance companies offer discounts for approved burglar and fire alarm systems.
- Don't leave extra keys around the mailbox, doormat or flower pots. Change your locks if your keys are lost or stolen.

Should there be signs of burglary when you return home, call the police from a neighbor's residence and wait until they arrive.

The Society of CPCU, founded in 1944, is a professional insurance association of more than 15,500 members and 137 chapters. The society's main activities are in the area of continuing professional education, research and publications.

LOOKING FOR FAME— IN ALL THE WRONG PLACES

So you want to be a star, but you don't know how to break into the acting profession? Maybe you should start out as an extra in a movie being made here in Texas. If you can just get that first break, maybe you can make it.

But be wary of those ads seeking extras. There are not that many movies being made in Texas—about 30 in 1984—and they do not need to advertise extensively to get extras. If you answer an ad in the employment section of the newspaper, make sure it's employment you're applying for, not a scheme to make money for someone else.

THE TALENT SCOUT SCAM

My Consumer Protection Division recently sued a company that advertised itself in the employment section of a local newspaper. However, when those would-be stars showed up at the business they were asked to pay $65 to have their photographs placed in a "casting book."

According to the company's sales pitch, Hollywood producers and casting directors would look at the company's book in order to select actors and actresses for films made in Texas. However, our investigation revealed that this is not a method used by the film industry to select extras.

Those who paid the $65 were not given the "maximum exposure" to big opportunities they had bargained for.

In other instances, consumers have paid several hundred dollars for the services of con men calling themselves "talent scouts," "talent agencies" and "modeling agencies."

For the lucky ones who can get into these fields, there is certainly money. But you won't find a reputable agency advertising in your local classifieds and then asking you for money.

ASK QUESTIONS

If you do decide to go to a talent agency, ask the agency for the names of producers and casting directors who utilize their services. Write down the names of companies they say they work with and call those companies to verify the information.

Also, ask for the names of actors or actresses who have gotten jobs through the talent scout. Then talk to those people. Of course, you may end up talking to another sales rep, so be skeptical.

Oil And Gas Well Completions Down For Half of Year

Oil and gas operators in Texas reported 8,527 oil and 2,576 gas completions in the first half of 1985, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Buddy Temple. During the same period last year, 9,226 oil and 2,622 gas completions were reported.

However, the number of oil discoveries increased from 353 in the first six months of 1984 to 390 in the first half of this year. During the same period, gas discoveries dropped from 701 to 639. A discovery is an exploratory well that is completed in a previously untapped reservoir.

In June, a total of 86 oil and 128 gas discoveries were reported in the state. In the previous month, 69 oil and 105 gas discoveries were filed.

Oil discoveries in June included two in the Refugio area, 16 in deep South Texas, one in East Central Texas, 52 in West Central Texas, seven in the San Angelo area, two in the Midland area, three in North Texas and three in the Panhandle.

Gas discoveries included six in the San Antonio area, 23 in the Refugio area, 21 in Southeast Texas, 60 in deep South Texas, six in East Central Texas, four in East Texas, four in West Central Texas, one in the San Angelo area, and three in North Texas.

The total number of completions reported in June included 1,335 oil wells, 442 gas wells, and 60 service (non-producing) wells. That compares with 1,453 oil, 410 gas, and 81 service completions in May.

A total of 499 dry holes were reported in June, compared to 518 in May.

HELP SLOW YOUR ELECTRIC METER DOWN THIS SUMMER.

Set Your Thermostat at 78° or Higher.

The recommended thermostat setting for summer cooling is 78° or higher. Portable fans or ceiling fans can help you feel comfortable at higher thermostat settings. Don't forget to turn fans off when you leave the room.

Tightly Seal
 Air Leaks in Your Home.

Make sure all cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with proper caulking and weatherstripping. Also, R-30 insulation in the ceiling, and R-16 insulation in the walls is recommended to adequately insulate your home.

Check Your Filter Regularly.

A dirty filter could keep your air conditioning system from operating as efficiently as possible. Clean permanent filters according to manufacturer's instructions, and replace non-permanent filters.

DRIP IRRIGATION FOR THE HOME

There are many different watering systems used by home gardeners. The technique of drip watering or irrigation was introduced many years ago. Drip irrigation has great potential for home gardeners, container plants, orchards, flowerbeds, and shrubs.

Drip irrigation is the controlled application of water at a very low flow rate over a prolonged period of time. It differs from conventional systems of watering in that the soil is not supersaturated with water. When the rate of drip irrigation is adjusted correctly, there is no puddling of water and no run-off. If puddling occurs, the irrigation rate should be slowed down.

Remember, slow watering results in a deep soaking which is not always visible and apparent to the gardener. This system is slower and causes greater penetration than use of a soaker hose.

There are many types of drip systems available. Some systems use small water releasing mechanisms called emitters which drip a certain volume of water when a certain water pressure is supplied. These emitters are either already inserted or can be inserted by the purchaser at the desired plant spacings. Many of these systems are prepackaged and allow little versatility of adaptation to the varied sizes and shapes of gardens.

Several nurseries and garden centers have the materials necessary to customize a drip system to your particular garden situation. A durable and economical plastic tube for gardens is available in these local nurseries and garden centers. This drip irrigation tube has small holes which allow water to come out in small amounts. The tube is placed along the row in which plants are to be grown so that the root zone is moistened by the dripping water. Holes are pre-punched in the tubing at 12-inch intervals so that adequate water will be available for all vegetable crops, container plants, and home fruits which can be grown.

You will purchase the lengths of tubing needed to customize your garden. For example, let's assume that your garden or plant bed is 200 square feet in size. It may be 40-feet long and 5-feet wide, 20-feet long and 10-feet wide, 25-feet long and 8-feet wide, or just a flower bed which is 100 feet long and 2-feet wide. Determine the number of rows of plants in your garden or plant bed and how long they are. Assuming that planting rows in the garden are 30-inches apart, the 40x5-foot garden would have 3 rows which would be 40-feet long, the 20x10-foot garden would have 5 rows 20-feet long, and 25x8 garden would have 4 rows 25-feet long, and the 100-foot flowerbed that is 2-feet wide would have only one row 100 feet long. Purchase an adequate length of drip tubing for each row to run the length of each row. Smaller tubing will be purchased and used to connect each row to the next.

How much will this system cost? The drip tubing will cost about 15 cents per foot, a device which will enable attachment of the drip tubing to a hose will cost about $2, and small tubes 48 inches long which are used to connect drip tubing from one row to another will cost about 50 cents each. So any of the dimension possibilities described for the 200-square-foot vegetable or annual garden will cost less than $50. Savings on water bills for three months should pay for it!

Proper lengths of drip tubing are laid along each row to be irrigated. A hose attachment is connected to the tubing on the row closest to the water faucet or hose. The small 48-inch tubing can be used to connect drip tubing on each row to the adjoining row by punching a small hole in the drip tubing with a sharp 16-penny nail and inserting. Holes should be punched rather than cut to prevent leakage. Holes for this connecting tubing should be punched into the large bottom (opposite water holes) section of the drip tubing after cut ends of the drip tubing have been folded and tied with nylon string or flexible wire. Once the sharpened point of the connecting tubing has been inserted, push at least four additional inches or more, depending on row spacing desired, of this small tubing into the cavity of the main drip tubing to secure it firmly. The length of tubing which remains that connects with the adjoining row will determine row spacing. Extra connecting tubing can be buried or covered with mulch for convenience. If only half of the garden is to be irrigated, water flow can be stopped by crimping this connecting tube between the appropriate rows.

This drip tube system can be connected directly to a garden hose. Connect the hose to the hose attachment on the drip tube. Gradually turn the faucet on until adequate pressure is in the line to cause water to squirt 6 to 8 inches from the emitting holes. Several minutes should be allowed after faucet pressure has been applied for all drip lines to fill with water before measurements are taken. Once calibrated, the amount of faucet pressure (how much the faucet was opened) should be marked so that calibrations will not have to be repeated.

After calibration, drip tubing should always be placed on the planting rows with the watering holes pointing downward. The holes can be easily unclogged by merely squeezing the tube where stoppage occurs. Tubing can be held in place on rows with spikes on either side of the drip line.

Once this tubing is put on the rows of plants to be irrigated, what length of time should it be operated to provide enough water for optimum plant growth? Large plants require 2 to 3 inches of water per week. Newly established transplants and emerging seedlings require more frequent waterings. These water-sensitive plant stages should be dripped for one hour every second day until they are well-established. Transplants should receive this frequent watering for at least three weeks after establishment. A general recommendation is to operate this system 3 hours a day on alternating days of a week such as Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

When rainfall is adequate (1 to 2 inches per week), it will not be necessary to water with the drip system for several days. In many cases, sprinkling of the entire garden soil area, not the plants, may be necessary to settle the soil enough so that the drip irrigation water will move horizontally and not go straight down in the rows. This is especially true in sandy gardens.

Drip tubing should be removed from the garden area at the end of the season, neatly rolled and stored for the next season. Flushing or cleaning of the system can be accomplished by opening the end of the tubing applying full hose pressure. This will blow out any foreign debris.

Watering is an important factor in producing a garden or orchard. Proper watering probably makes the difference between success or failure.

If you cannot afford a drip system, try to use soaker hoses and timers that attach directly to the faucet.

Representing the charming and graceful side of the Munday Mogul Band are the girls chosen each year as featured twirlers.

Chosen last spring from many competitors in the auditions were Martha Moore, Martha Pope, drum majorette Toni Leflar, LuAnn Combs and Sue Kane.

Lady Culpit Jailed After Merry Chase

She gave them a merry chase - up, down and all around - for some ten minutes before being caught and placed in the city jail by two highway patrolmen and the Chief of police.

All evidence pointed to the fact that she had spent the weekend in the City Hall. Clues obtained showed that she had wandered at will through halls, opened doors and up and down stairways as though casing the place. The lady was charged with illegal entry and vagrancy.

Before leaving for parts unknown, the lady deposited an egg as part payment on her fine. The lady was a White Leghorn Hen!

Hobby Car Racing Proves To Be Fun For Many Mundayites

If you were unable to find anyone home Sunday afternoon around 2:30 p.m., it was because the Munday people were cheering for their five hobby cars which were speeding around the track at the Haskell Speedway.

Melvin Cypert, Gene Huckabee and Bill Bumpass were back on the track along with Albert Parkam, No. 66; Jackie Morrow, No. 45; and Travis Floyd, No. 84, all coming from Munday.

Bill Blasyck of Stamford won the trophy dash with four of the fastest cars competing. Melvin Cypert came in first in the consolation race. Lee Thomas thought 20 laps would never end when he finally won the feature.

There were 21 cars ready for action and the viewing public can tell you there was plenty of it.

Bill's Blabbin

by Bill Bowley
We don't know who is the author of this but we sorter think it covers the issue:

I'M FINE

There is nothing whatever the matter with me.

I'm just as healthy as I can be.

I have arthritis in back and knees,

And when I talk, I talk with a wheeze.

My pulse is weak, my blood is thin,
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

My teeth eventually had to come out,
And my diet, I have to think about.

I'm overweight and I can't get thin-

My appetite is sure to win.

But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

The moral is this as the tale we unfold-

That for all of those who are growing old,

It's better to say "I'm fine" with a grin

Than to let folks know the shape you're in!

A Boy!

Hello Munday! My name is Bryan DeWayne Welch. I was born Wednesday, July 17, 1985 at 6:25 p.m. in Fort Worth, Texas. My parents, Billy and Shanna Welch, said they were real glad I had arrived.

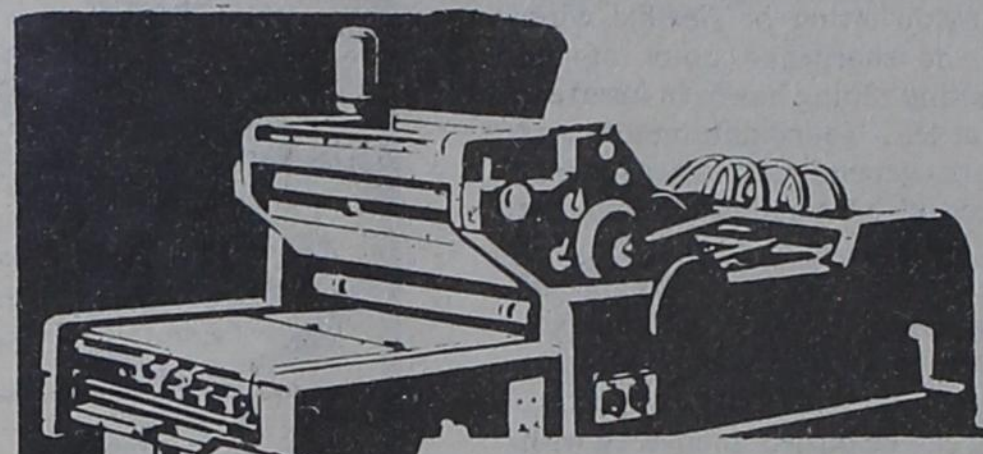

I had lots of people waiting on me at the hospital, too. My grandparents, Roy and Wanda Welch, Spike and Sue Bryan, my uncle Lenny Welch and aunt Sharla Bryan were all there. Everybody thought I could already play football but I have never heard of a 20 inch, 8 pound, 9 ounce quarterback, have you?

Great-grandparents who are waiting to see and spoil me are Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Smith of Munday, Mrs. Mary Ruth Baldwin of Seymour, Mrs. LaVerne Bryan of Archer City and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wainscott of Seymour.

Senior Citizens Discuss Outings

Thirteen members of the Munday Senior Citizens organization met Thursday, July 11, for their monthly gathering. Mrs. Virginia Cary called the meeting to order and Euris Reid gave a devotional.

Each member signed four cards to be sent to hospital patients. Discussion centered around upcoming trips planned by the group. A tour to Palo Duro Canyon to see the play "Texas" was proposed, and more plans were made for a trip to Granbury.

Also discussed was the birthday party for Munday Nursing Center residents, which is set for August 14. July 25 was designated as game night for the senior citizens.

Merle Dingus gave the blessing for the noon meal, which was followed by a period of fellowship.

There are no toll facilities on any state-maintained highway in Texas.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

These proposed rates are applicable to customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, excluding hotel/motel customers, who provide local exchange telephone service of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to their tenants or patrons on a resale or shared use basis. This resale or sharing arrangement is normally provided utilizing a customer-provided PABX or other similar stored control switch capable of common control processing or other features commonly associated with a PABX "Smart" switch.

These proposed rates are designed to recover costs on a usage basis for local exchange telephone service access and are identical to General Telephone's "Optional Measured Service" rates. The monthly access rate will be $28.95 per trunk line and the usage rates are as follows:

Over	Up To and Including	Band	Set Up	Full Rate Period Each Minute
0	7 miles	A	$.025	$.015
7	14 miles	B	.035	.021
14	21 miles	C	.050	.030
21	28 miles	D	.070	.042
28		E	.090	.054

As this is a new service offering, we are unable to determine the number of customers who may be affected. Currently, there are no known prospective customers. Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumers Affairs Division at (512)458-0223 or (512)458-0227, or (512)458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

New Microwave Cooking Bags Make Blanching Vegetables A Picnic

Preparing a bumper crop of home-grown green beans for the freezer is necessary but rarely fun.

Now, thanks to modern technology, blanching vegetables isn't the chore it used to be. According to a recent study conducted by a major northeastern land-grant university, anyone can blanch fresh green beans, peas, cauliflower, broccoli, corn-on-the-cob and kernel corn in their microwave oven and achieve 100 percent enzyme kill (catalase and peroxidase) when they follow specific guidelines and use new Ziploc® Microfreez® cooking and storage bags from Dow Consumer Products.

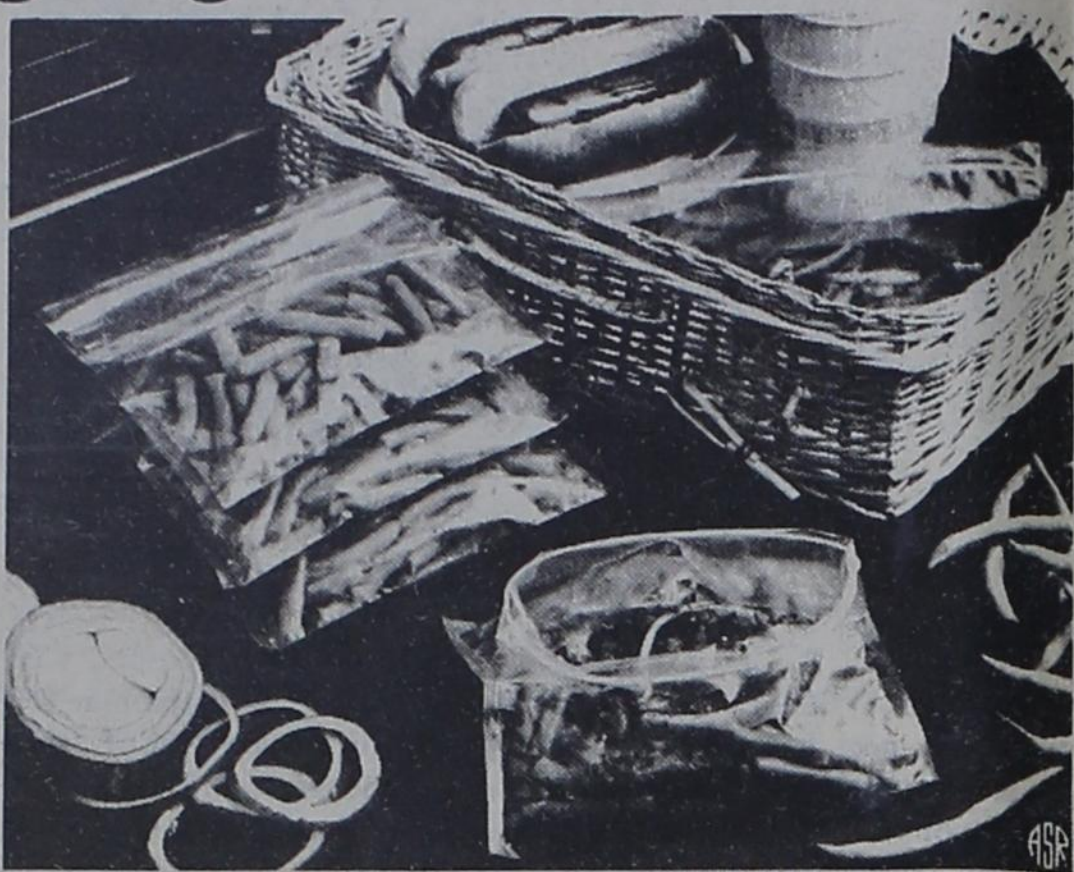

Because the bags are designed to go directly from the freezer to the microwave oven, the zipper-top microwave cooking/storage bags are a boon to busy people whose leisure time is limited. For example, when you harvest green beans, just wash and trim them, place quantities of the beans in individual bags, microwave-blanch (see chart) and freeze. Since everything is done in the bag, steps are eliminated and messes will be minimized.

When your taste turns to fresh green beans, pull bags from the freezer and add ingredients for tangy Picnic Pickled Beans. Microwave and serve hot, or refrigerate for a "planned over" snack.

Picnic Pickled Beans

- 2 cups fresh green beans frozen in 1 Ziploc Microfreez bag (pint size)
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 3 tablespoons water
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons pickle relish
- 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 1 small red onion, sliced

Open bag of frozen green beans to make 1-inch vent in center. Cook in microwave oven 3 minutes at HIGH. Combine vinegar, water, sugar, pickle relish, and dill weed; add to bag and shake to mix well. Reseal bag, leaving 1-inch vent in center. Cook 3 to 4-1/2 minutes at HIGH, or until thoroughly heated. Add red onion. Reseal bag. Cool thoroughly. Spoon into bowl and serve cold. 4 servings

For a free booklet on blanching in the microwave send a #10 self-addressed, stamped envelope to Microfreez Blanching Booklet, Dow Consumer Products, P.O. Box 68511, Indianapolis, Indiana 46268.

GREEN BEAN BLANCHING TIME CHART

Vegetable	Bag Size	Vegetable Amount	Water Amount	600-700* Watts Minutes
Green Beans (1 1/2 in. length)	Pint	2 cups	3 Tbsp.	3:00
	Quart	4 cups	5 Tbsp.	6:00

*These times will hold for most 600 and 700 watt ovens with even cooking patterns which were manufactured after 1978. For optimum results, test temperature of vegetables with a temperature probe. Effective blanching occurs when internal temperature reaches 190 F.

APPLIANCE REPAIR SERVICE

The time you call for appliance service is the time to ask for an estimated service charge and what it will cover. Don't wait until you get the repair bill and be unpleasantly surprised.

Once your appliance warranty expires, you will usually pay for any appliance repairs. Today's appliance service charges can be high. A service charge cannot be judged solely by the time the technician spends in your home. The cost of bringing a fully trained and equipped technician to your home includes, among other overhead costs, expensive tools and accurate testing equipment, an inventory of parts, truck maintenance, gasoline and insurance, salaries for capable technicians plus secretarial/clerical staff, and technical educational training to keep technicians up-to-date on the latest appliance designs and features.

You will have to pay for a service call, even if it proves unnecessary. A "trip charge", sometimes called a "diagnostic charge," is generally a fixed rate that covers the trip to your home and a minimum labor charge to cover, for example, the first half-hour of labor in the home to diagnose the problem. The technician needs time to run tests to determine the cause of the problem and the labor and parts needed.

Extra labor rates are then usually set for each additional 15 minutes the technician is in your home. Sometimes a follow-up trip is necessary because special parts have to be ordered. Some service agencies will not charge you for follow-up trips. You will have to pay only for the parts and labor necessary to repair your appliance.

Remember, before you commit to an appliance service call, be sure service is really needed. And, since service agencies are independent and their charges vary, ask what charges you can expect to pay.

If you do have service, remember to save all service receipts.

To get satisfaction from your appliance, it is recommended that you

- * know your service agency and the terms of your appliance warranty before your purchase.
- * keep an "appliance file" of use and care manuals, warranties, sales receipts and service history for all your appliances in a convenient spot for easy reference

- * study the use and care manual and refer to it often

- * have the installer, electrician or plumber check to make sure your household wiring and gas lines are adequate

- * budget for appliance repairs and replacement

- * check plugs, fuses, pilots, controls and your use and care manual before calling for service

- * call your dealer, the service agency he recommends or an organization franchised by the manufacturer if your appliance needs service.

If you have an appliance problem you cannot resolve with your local dealer or service agency, write or call the manufacturer. If you are still not satisfied, write MACAP (Major Appliance Consumer Action Panel). MACAP will study your problem and recommend a solution. When making your complaint, be sure to give

- * your name, address and phone number,

- * type of appliance, brand, model and serial number,

- * dealer and/or service agent's name and address,

- * location of appliance,

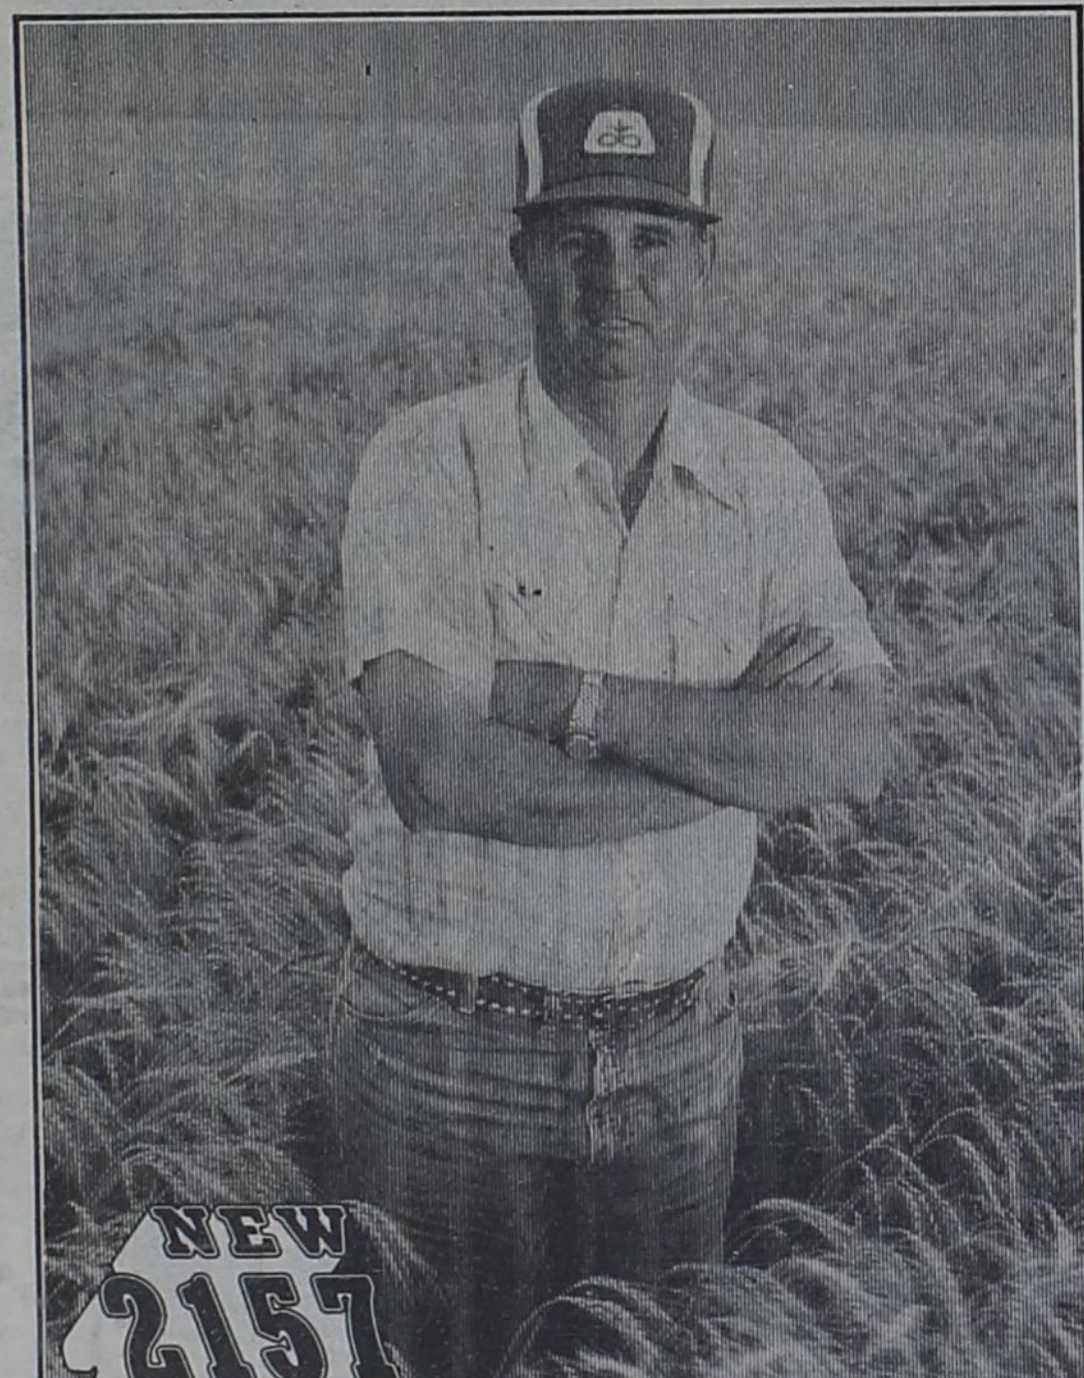

- * clear description of problem and difficulties experienced.

Michael Putnam and his son, Jared, visited the Jerry Lemleys and Glen Jordans in Houma, La., and the Billy Bonis in Slidell, La., last week. They also visited his mom, Dorothy Putnam, in Munday several days. Michael has completed an assignment at Luke Air Force Base and reported July 15 to Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nevada, which will be his home for several years.

MIXING COLORS IN SUMMER CLOTHES

The color explosion is around us this season, but there are certain rules for putting unexpected colors together for this brand new look. For example, pair neon colors with pastels in the same color family only, such as lime green with yellow. You can put two shades of the same color together as long as you keep the darker shade on the bottom. Pull two different pastels together by using a patterned piece, such as a blouse or sash, that mixes the two colors. And combine three shades, when the third color, such as purple, is a combination of the other two, such as red and blue.

Superior grain yields with a good grazing bonus. Excellent straw strength, too!

Our researchers were impressed by the tremendous pasture production and grain yields from these new varieties during testing. And now that the varieties have stood the test of actual production on many farms under many conditions, the proof is in!

They grow off well and show strong resistance to SBMV, leaf rusts, fungal leaf blights, and the Hessian fly.

- * New 2157 gives you good, early grazing, then stays with you through the winter. And the grain yields are right up there with anything you care to compare it against. Choose 2157 for dryland or limited water production.

- * New 2165 works with your irrigation program to make the most of all you put into the crop. Pasture comes on strong in the fall and grain yields are among the best you'll find, bar none.

Congressman Beau Boulter Reports from Washington

SPENDING CUTS A MUST FOR DEFICIT REDUCTION

Last January, when I was chosen as the only Freshman Republican to sit on the House Budget Committee, I was honored, but very aware of the responsibility involved. Reducing the deficit by reducing federal spending is my number one priority, and the Budget Committee is where those reductions would have to originate.

In the past two months, as a member of the House/Senate Budget Conference Committee — the 26 member panel assigned the task of hammering out the differences between budgets passed by the House and Senate — I have seen very little progress toward true deficit reduction.

News reports have recently latched onto the issue of Social Security Cost of Living Adjustments (COLAs) as the sole reason for breaks in the Conference meetings. While this has been a central issue to our negotiations, it is not, in my opinion, the reason that we have been largely unsuccessful in coming up with real savings.

When a budget is grossly out of balance, as is ours, the first place to cut back is the extras — the luxuries. My contention is that there are federal programs that we cannot afford, and should not continue to fund with taxpayer dollars.

Unfortunately, the House majority does not feel the same way. Tied to special interests, the majority has failed to come up with a plan that significantly reduces excess spending for federal programs.

For example, let me cite an example used recently by columnist Donald Lambro: "Once a week Bob Smith leaves his apartment near New York
