He has been very low a number of times in recent years, but Uncle Happy has always maintained an interest in his community and loves to know of the nice things that are grown here.

Some few years ago, he brought us some nice peaches which were grown in his back yard. "When I set out those trees," he said, "they told me I'd never live to see them bear

Few people have reached Uncle Happy's age-think he's 96 now-and kept such an active interest in church, life, home life, gardening and fishing as he has.

The lettuce was grown by his daughter, Mrs. Addie Layne, in her "flower bed garden." She enjoyed her garden in its early stages, but the dry weather and hot winds have taken their toll.

By the time we got around to it, the lettuce was suffering, the beans were gone, and other plants in her flower bed were showing signs of the weather.

Painters came in with the scaffolding, paint buckets and brushes, cover-up tarps, etc., and we carried on what regular business we had.

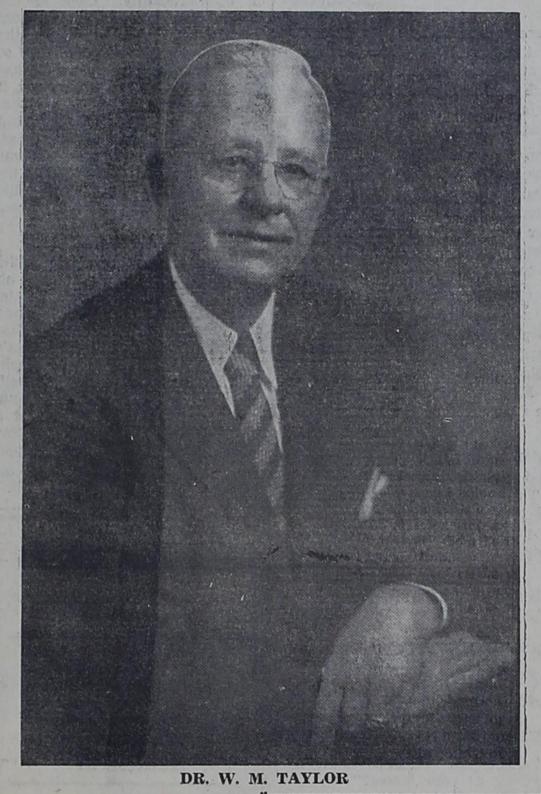

To say the least of it, and throwing no barbs at anyone, we had a mess. About the time we'd get our desk so we could sit down at the typewriter, it'd have to be moved again. Painters weren't overjoyed at having to work their scaffolding over and around the machinery and equipment.

They were glad when it was over, and so we were overjoyed, too, we wanted to forget all about it-so we just forgot to mention it up to now. ### FAT FOR FOOD

The June issue of Farm Journal featured a brief article by Cameron Hervey under the intriguing title "Fat Is Cheap-Let's Feed It!" It began, "A new wrinkle in feeds may bust wide open one of these days.

"It's the use of non-food animal fats-such as grease and tallow-in livestock and poultry rations. This development may mean better, cheaper feeds-while strengthening the market for animal fats and livestock."

The article was based on information obtained from the American Meat Institute Foundation and other authoritative sources. It has been found that the addition of adequate quantities of these fats to animal feeds makes it possible to grow hogs to market weights in a substantially shorter period of time, and that, in the case of beef, less feed per pound of weight gain is required. Experiments also indicate that fats are valuable in poultry production.

There is a heavy surplus of non-food animal fats available, and the price is low. To quote Mr. Hervey again, "A few days ago, grease and tallow were selling for 31/2 to 5 cents a pound. One southern feed manufacturer says that he can afford to use this fat, as long as the price doesn't go above eight or nine cents. One Chicago firm figures that it can break even at 12 cents." This seems to be a new development which has a tremendous potential.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CATSKILL, N. Y., ENTERPRISE: "A witness testifying before a House Agricultural Sub-Committee, declared that . . . . Russians have moved ing with a planned 'dumping' of Russian controlled potash on our domestic market, that Russian production is a state monopoly, paying no taxes, nor paying labor a fair wage. The communists know that destroying our domestic economy can be more devastating than dropping a series of atomic bombs upon us. It is part of their cold war."

DENVER, COLO., RECORD STOCKMAN: "The American Meat Institute is to be complimented on its research on fats and experiments which may enlarge the market for fat. Experiments have shown that feed rations containing fat will speed growth, improve quality, bring greater feed efficiency and have greater palatability . . . . Maybe our cattle as well as our population will eat us out of the present market situation-thanks to research."

A REVOLUTION BEGAN IN 1840

In 1840, according to Bureau of Agricultural Economics figures, one farm worker could produce enuogh to support 4.49 people. In a recent year he could produce enough to support 15.30, and the figure is undoubtedly higher today

That little set of figures describes one of the great social and economic revolutions of recorded history And the cause of it can be described in two words: farm machinery. Barely 100 years ago agricultural methods had changed but little through the centuries. Hard and slow human and animal labor did practically all of the work. Then, in 1840, the production of labor-saving, cost-producing machinery began, and the revolution was underway.

That revolution has been of enormous benefit in time of peace. But has been a life-saver in time of war. For instance, the Bureau estimates that had farmers in 1944 been compelled to go back to the equipment and methods of 15 years before, it would have taken 4,500,000 more workers to produce the same amount of food. The catastrophic effect it would have had on on our manpower supply for industry and the military can be imagined.

To summarize Bureau figures once more, the tractor alone is credited with saving the incredible total of 1,700,000,000 manhourse in the single year of 1944. Machinery has transformed all enterprise. Probably nowhere, however, has the transformation been more dramatic and farreaching as in agriculture.

SHOPPING IN WARSAW

When you walk into an American retail store, whether it be in one of our great cities or a small town, you take it for granted that a wide and attractive selection of dependable merchandise will be offered to you, at prices which are well within the means of most people.

The contrast with stores in communist countries, where the government owns or bosses everything and competition in our sense of the term is non-existent, is incredible.

U. S. News and World Report recently described the price scharged for representative com- first thing to save is that"-and modities in Warsaw, where communism reigns supreme. In terms of U.S. money, shoes are priced at $231.25 a pair; a girl's sweater costs $187; bathing trunks carry an $85 price tag; an ordinary leather brief case commands $200. The cheapest brandy costs $48 a bottle, horse meat retails at $1.50 a pound and beef is $3 to $5 a pound.

Some skilled workers in Poland get good wages-a tractor driver can earn as much as $400 a month. But it would take all his wages for ture of big, all-powerful government at the exabout two weeks to buy a pair of shoes.

Next time you hear someone extolling the virpense of free enterprise, remember these figures.

"WHAT GOD HATH JOINED."

In Matthew 19:6 Jesus states a very important truth. When God joins together things by His divine authority, man does not have the right to tear them asunder.

I. Husband and wife. In this text this truth is directly applied to the marriage bond. Marriage is more than a human contract. God joined the first man and woman together and He continues to do so at every true marriage. God joins the two. The Bible reads now as it did then, when Jesus stated, "What God hath joined together, let no man put II. Faith and baptism. These two hath God also joined together. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." (Mk. 16:16) According to the statement of Jesus who shall be saved? He that believeth? He that is baptized? No. Who, then? He that believeth AND is baptized." What God hath joined togther let no man put asunder.

III. Repentance and baptism. "What shall we do," cried the Jews on the day of Pentecost. "Repent ye and be baptised, everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ, unto the remission of sins," was the God directed reply given by Peter. God joined these together and no mortal man has the right to tear them asunder. Note too, that EVERY ONE of you was enjoined to obey this command.

IV. Christ and the church. (Eph. 5:25) They are united as husband and wife. Christ is the head of the church. (Eph. 1:22-23). Some want to preach Christ and leave out the church. How can this be done when God has joined them together? To do so violates the direction of Jesus. "What God hath joined let no Man put asunder." To persecute the church is to persecute Christ. (Acts 9:4). They are inseparable.

V. The church and salvation. Paul taught that the church is the body of Christ and that reconciliation is in the one body (Eph. 22:23; 2:16). There is no promise of salvation outside the church. Christ is the Saviour of the body. (Eph. 5:23). If we teach that people can be saved outside the church, we are guilty of putting asunder what God has joined together.

Are you following the directive of Our Lord? If not, why

Farm Bureau Is Active In Fight For Agriculture

The Texas Farm Bureau Federation lived up to its slogan protects and promotes agriculture", during the recent session of the 53 Legislature in Austin, according to Hubert H. Sego, president of the Haskell County

"For farmers and ranchers the most important aspect of the session was the absence of any real threat to take away the rural road program annual appropriations, the counties' share of vehicle registration fees and county road bond assumption monies," Sego said.

During the 1951 session an attemept was made to take money from those sources, plus the farmer's refund on tractor gasoline tax, for use in the construction of superhighways. The Farm Bureau mustered enough strength to defeat the forays and rallied late in the session to push through a gathering tax on natural gas.

This year at the state capitol a bill was introduced to take away one-fourth of the farmers' refund on tractor gasoline tax. The bill was never considered. Also, a bill was introduced to increase the sale stax on gasoline from four to five cents a gallon. It, too, was never brought up for vote. Both bills were con mary to Farm Bureau resolutions, and the County Farm Bureau organizations over the state rose up to help prevent passage.

Another bill which' would have been harmful to farmers had it passed, was the Administration-backed plan to reshuffle the state's school funds and fixee local districts to bear an increasing share of the Minimum School Fund. The Farm Bureau was among many civic-minded groups which successfully mught the bill.

Among the more important wills passed this year with Farm Bureau backing, approval or sponsorship, included legislation designed to eradicate the swine disease, Vesicular Exanthema: a bill which regulates the sale, needed to be done in order for a certain bill to be passed or kill-type herbicides, a law which ed. ## News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

Washington, D. C., June 19, 1953. This week I discussed the severe drought situation in the Thirteenth District with Congressman Hope of Kansas, who is Chairman of the Agriculture Committee, and Congressman Hill of Colorado, who is Chairman of the Livestock Subcommittee, along with representatives of the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of the Budget in an effort to work out some program that will be of benefit to the drought area. One thing that can be done is Cottonseed meal, cake, and pellets could be made available to the ranchers in this area. At this time the Government has on hand about 700,000 tons of cottonseed meal, cake, and pellets. At the present time this would be sold in the foreign market at a price substantially below the market price in this country. After July 1st, the Government will start moving a greater volume of this on the foreign market at even a lower price. It seems to me that this feed should be made available to the farmers and ranchers in the drought area. It is also necessary, in my opinion, to take some action to assure that corn is available at a price that is reasnable to the feeders. As long as corn can be marketed on the market at a price that is more advantageous than feeding it to cattle, there will be very few cattle fed.

I have also spent a couple of hours talking to Secretery of Agriculture Benson about this problem. He told me that as a result of the earlier meeting we had had with the Chairman of the Congressional Committees and representatives of the Budget and Department of Agriculture, that he had discussed the matter of the severe drought with the President and Members of the Cabinet and that they would have some program concerning the drought area in a very short time.

The Secretery will be in Lubbock on June 27th. I suggested to him that if his time would permit that he personally see a ranchers or extending any addgreat deal of the drought area itional credit under the Farmers and that he discuss the matter Home Administration or a simiwith farmers and ranchers in

After the program is announced, then we can begin to make some real progress. Mt. Everest Feat-Coronation Jewel

A Coronation gift to Queen Elizabeth, so rare it would be almost impossible to duplicate—the conquest of Mount Everest, world's tallest mountain peak—is finally a reality. This "Goddess Mother of the Snows" has defied man's attempts for over 30 years until the 1953

British expedition succeeded in scaling the 29,002 feet to the top. The newest and successful team consisted of 13 members, 362 porters and 20 guides. It was one of the finest equipped expeditions, carrying over 10,000 pounds of baggage, including Grape-Nuts Cereal which was carried for its low weight and high energy content. Their supplies were of the utmost importance, for at these great heights it requires tremendous physical effort to take a step. I of the Himalaya giant.

The highest mountain peak in the world was named for the famed British Surveyor General of India, Sir George Everest, in 1841. Over 11 men have died in the various attempts to scale the mountain. The present British team started their ascent on March 10 and established several camps ranging from 18,000 feet to the last camp which was situated about 1500 feet from the top Business Center in Home JOMEMAKING is a "business," and it could be kept in a more businesslike manner if there were a desk and files. Every family needs such a center for the household's business operations.

You needn't even purchase a desk. Just take a couple of old filing cases, add a piece of smoothsurfaced Masonite Presdply, three-quarters of an inch thick, for a top, and your "home office" is practically ready for use.

Presdply is a versatile panel which is unusually strong. Its smooth surfaces of Tempered Presdwood are long-wearing - so tough, in fact, that many factory workbenches are covered with it. The surface may be treated with a penetrating sealer or varnish; if you like, it may be primed and painted. In putting this simple desk together, have the Presdply cover both filing cases, leaving a 24inch space as leg room. Drill holes in the tops of the cases-one at the front and back of each, at the extreme outer edges-and fasten the top by applying wood screws from underneath. Wood molding, available at the lumber yard that furnishes the top, may be attached with finishing nails around the edges of the top. Varnish, stain or paint the molding
