State Troopers Out In Force For July 4th

Major V. J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety said, "Everyone should know the most dangerous time to drive is on weekends, during the summer and on holidays. This July 4th holiday is going to combine all three."

The Texas Department of Public Safety will be conducting "Operation Motorcade" from Thursday, July 3 at 6:00 p.m. until Sunday, July 6 at midnight. During this time all available troopers will be working to assist motorists, so they might have a more safe and enjoyable holiday. But Major Cawthon also stated these same troopers will also be on the alert for the motorists who continue to be traffic hazards for everyone and that will be the drinking and the speeding driver.

Major Cawthon warned, "Motorists also need to be on the lookout for people that are using the back road areas to discharge fireworks, especially the smaller children. The people that drive out into the country to discharge fireworks need to be especially cautious and watch out for fires and protect other people's property."

So whether you plan a trip across town or maybe across the state, by observing all traffic laws, not drinking and driving and driving as if your life depends on it, you can make this July 4th holiday safe and more enjoyable for everyone.

Munday All-Stars To Play In Seymour

The Braves finished on top of the Munday lineup this year, followed by the Cardinals, Yankees and Red Sox.

Hospital Directors Meet To Discuss Accounts

Directors of the Knox County Hospital District met Tuesday, June 3, in the Citizens State Bank conference room. Board vice-president Vernal Zeissel called the meeting to order.

Other board members present were Ray Lynn Hardin, Benny Grill, Maurine Reeder and Bernard Brown. Absent were Greg Clonts and Bill Baker. Also present for the meeting were Randy Abernathy and Art Willey.

Minutes of the May 22 meeting were read by administrator Randy Abernathy. Motion was made by Benny Grill and seconded by Ray Lynn Hardin that the minutes be approved as read.

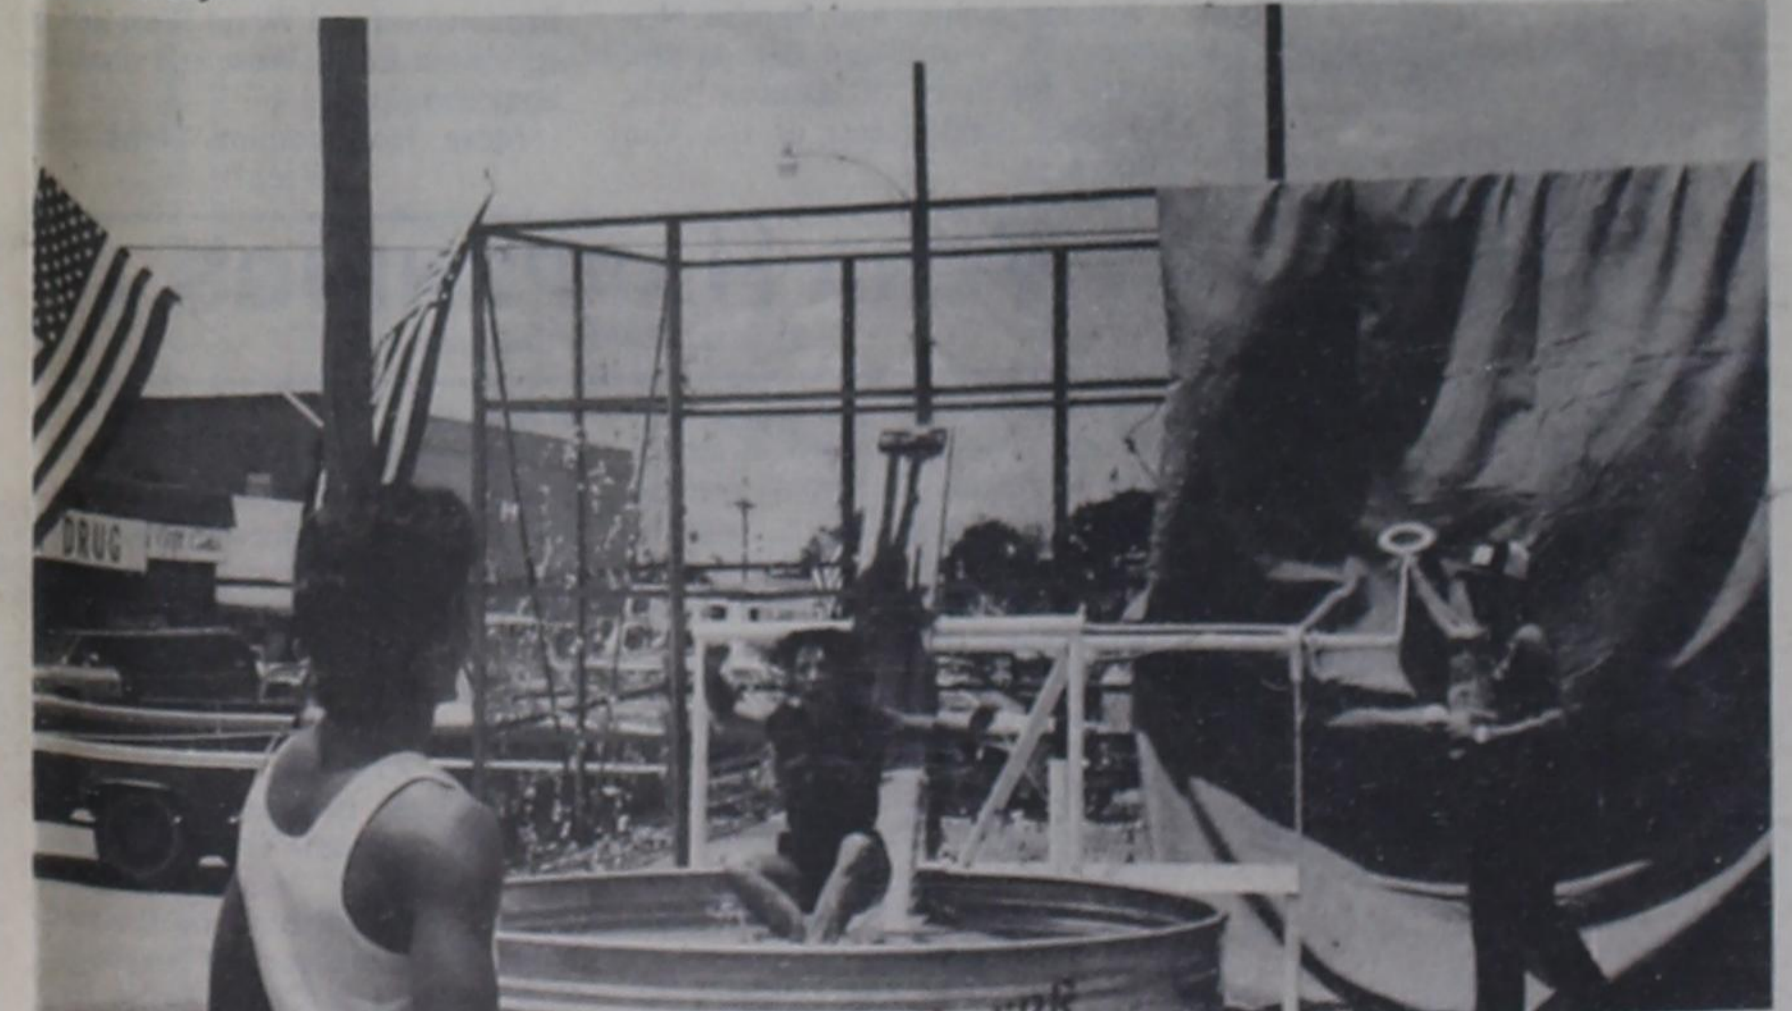

Art Willey discussed the hospital's account with West Texas Ancillary Services with the board. No action was taken as the business was not listed on the agenda. The hospital's account with Allied Pharmacy was discussed again but no decision or motion was made. Randy Abernathy was instructed to negotiate with Allied Pharmacy and report at the next meeting. Allied Pharmacy's contract was also discussed, with no decision being made.

After reviewing the list of accounts payable, a motion was made by Benny Grill and seconded by Bernard Brown to borrow $43,000 to pay the accounts totaling approximately $42,700. The motion carried unanimously.

A report of three medical records needing board consideration for filing incomplete was presented. The recommendation was approved at the medical staff meeting on May 27 and forwarded to the governing body. Benny Grill moved to file the charts incomplete. Ray Lynn Hardin seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

Motion was made, seconded and carried to adjourn.

WHAT A DIRTY TRICK! Jan Zeissel's face registers utter amazement as she takes an unexpected dunking in the tank at the Chamber of Commerce dunking booth at Saturday's Vegetable Festival in Munday. Chamber president Lyndle Reeves apparently didn't trust anyone to do the job just right, so he ignored the process of throwing balls at a target to dunk the victim and just triggered the dunking mechanism with his hand as his co-conspirator (the photographer) snapped the historic moment. Sorry, Jan!

HOT DAY FOR SIGHTSEERS

Vegetable Festival Gets Fair Turnout

Intense heat may have kept crowds from being as large as last year's, but there was nothing disappointing about the number of persons who attended the 1986 Knox County Vegetable Festival activities Friday night and Saturday. No attendance figures were available, but the throngs included both local and out-of-town visitors who browsed through the arts and crafts sale, looked over collections of antiques, viewed various judged exhibits and partook of the food vendors' wares.

Winners in the stew cook-off that began early Saturday morning were the team of Michele Tibbets and Danette Owens of Munday with their South of the Border Stew. They also won showmanship honors. Second place went to the team of Joe and LaCresha Phillips and Shirley Gass, and Rick and Patsy Meinzer won third.

Sweepstakes winner in the flower show was Sara Offutt, who was awarded more ribbons than any other exhibitor. Winning the horticultural grand championship and arboreal award was Kathryn Moorhouse. Shirley Welch had the reserve champion entry in horticulture, and also won a flower show award of merit. Recognition for horticultural excellence went to Marge Kirschner.

In the arrangements division, Emogene Thompson turned in the grand champion, which also won a flower show tricolor award. The reserve championship and award of distinction in artistic arrangements was won by Mauryse Stone, and Flora Lee Floyd won the creativity honor.

Best overall home gardener in the vegetable exhibit was David Bordovsky, who resides between Munday and Knox City but works in Munday. He had the champion entry in the adult division, and reserve champion was Lloyd Don Welch of Munday. Junior winners were Chad Bordovsky of Munday, champion, and Todd Faulk of Knox City, reserve. Kiser and Sons of Munday won both grand and reserve championships in the commercial division with their potatoes.

Tommie Crawford was the big winner in the baked and preserved foods show, winning adult sweepstakes honors in both divisions. Amy Parker won sweepstakes in senior youth baked foods, and Jason Patterson of Benjamin was the sweepstakes winner in junior youth preserved foods.

Best of Show honors in the arts and crafts exhibit went to Charles and Betty Baker in the grandparents' brag corner; Mike Stewart in photography; Opal Brewer in crafts; and Janice Dutton in decorative painting. Amy Parker won the youth award, and Robin Bowen was the children's division winner.

TIPS FOR MELON LOVERS

With melon season upon us we need to stop and think about these high nutrient, low calorie foods. Cantaloupe, watermelon and honeydew are the best known melon varieties. Here are a few tips on selection and use:

Cantaloupe - Look for melons that are well webbed, well formed, with a smoothly rounded depression at the stem end. Let them ripen at room temperature. They're ready to eat when they feel springy under slight pressure and have an inviting, distinctive aroma. The average serving (half a melon, about 5 inches in diameter) contributes 110% of the daily requirement of vitamin C, and just 37 calories.

Watermelon - Look for melons that are firm, symmetrical and have an attractive waxy look and feel on the rind. Cut-up watermelon should have crisp, red flesh that is neither mealy nor soggy. The seeds which can range from white to black, depending on the variety, should be fully mature and hard. A 4-inch by 8-inch wedge is only about 115 calories and is a good source of vitamin A and C. Watermelon should be kept chilled at temperatures between 32 degrees and 50 degrees F.

Honeydew - These melons are at their peak June through October. Look for skin color that's ivory white or greenish white turning creamy white with pale streaks. The surface should have a waxy feel. The flesh of a ripe ready-to-eat honeydew will be moderately thick, pale green, firm, but juicy. In most cases, the honeydew will not be ready to eat at the time of purchase. Let it stand at room temperature until you notice its fragrance, creamy white color and stringiness at the blossom end. A 2-inch by 7-inch wedge contains only about 46 calories, and supplies a large amount of vitamin C and other nutrients.

MILDEW

Mildew flourishes in warm humid weather. The molds that cause mildew need moisture in order to grow, and soiled clothes are an ideal site. Prevent mildew by washing clothing as soon after use as possible. Never place wet articles in a hamper.

Tax Reform Bill Might Be Of Benefit To Cattle Operators

Cattle operators should find the tax reform legislation currently in Congress to their liking, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Senate Finance Bill will most likely be the one adopted, with some minor changes, points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga. He compares the provisions of the Senate bill with current law:

Tax brackets: Currently there are 15 brackets from 11 to 50 percent; the Senate bill reduces this to two brackets, 15 and 27 percent.

Cash accounting: Currently there are no restrictions in recognizing expenses when paid and income when received. The new bill also has no restrictions except when deducting prepaid expenses such as feed, seed and fertilizer. If these expenses exceed 50 percent of all costs, the excess must be deducted in the year consumed.

Capital gains: Income from certain assets, such as the sale of breeding stock, is currently treated at a capital gains tax rate of 40 percent. The new Senate bill would eliminate this capital gains rate, but overall tax rates would be lower.

Pre-production costs: No restrictions on costs of raising replacement heifers from conception to first calf would continue.

Investment tax credit: This tax credit currently is 10 percent of the purchase value for cattle and 6 percent for pickups; under the Senate bill it would be repealed.

Capital expensing: Current law has a $5,000 limit on the amount of capital investments that normally would be depreciated. This would be increased to $10,000 for farmers and ranchers with $200,000 or less in capital investments annually.

Depreciation: The Senate bill would be the same as current law (pickups, three years; cattle, five years; tractors, five years) except that single purpose agricultural structures would be increased from five to ten years.

Health insurance expenses for self-employed persons: Currently no deduction is allowed; the Senate bill would allow a 50 percent deduction.

Alternative minimum tax (on tax preference items such as capital gains): The current rate is 20 percent, with the first $40,000 excluded for joint filers. With the Senate bill, the 20 percent rate would continue; in addition, one-half of book profit and all passive losses would be preference items.

Passive investment losses (such as limited partners): Currently there are no restrictions. With the Senate bill, such losses would be limited to the amount of income received from the passive investment; the remainder would be carried forward and deducted against future income.

Income averaging: This currently is severely restricted and would be eliminated with the new tax bill.

Personal exemptions: The current level is $1,080. The Senate bill calls for a $2,000 exemption for all taxpayers, phased out for taxpayers with $150,000 taxable income.

Employer withholding on farm employees: Currently, quarterly withholding is required when labor expense exceeds $20,000. The new law would not require withholding until labor expenses exceeded $40,000.

Effective date: Under the Senate bill, tax changes would take effect on January 1, 1987.

A FAMILY AFFAIR: Winning honors in the home gardening division at the Knox County Vegetable Festival were the above gardeners, who probably work pretty closely together. David Bordovsky, right, was named best overall home gardener, while his son, Chad Bordovsky, left, was the top junior entry. To keep it in the family, Bordovsky's stepson, Todd Faulk, center, won reserve championship in the junior division.

BAKED GOODS WITH A Munday, Texas touch were big winners in the baked and canned foods exhibit at Saturday's Knox County Vegetable Festival. Amy Parker, left, decorated a Texas-shaped cake to take the senior youth championship, and Tommie Crawford won sweepstakes in both baking and preserving divisions of the adult show. Tommie holds a zucchini pie with a beautiful latticed crust that won a blue ribbon. Jason Patterson of Benjamin won the junior youth sweepstakes.

OXYGEN DEPLETION A PROBLEM IN FARM FISH PONDS

During the hot, dry summer, farm fish ponds often suffer from oxygen depletion, and the result is fish die-off.

Oxygen depletion can result from a combination of factors, some of which cannot be controlled by the pond owner. One of these is the weather. Hot, still and cloudy conditions do little to generate oxygen production in a farm pond. In fact, this condition can cause die-offs of oxygen-producing phytoplankton which may further increase oxygen debt. In addition, cold heavy rain can cause a pond to run over, which further increases oxygen demand and the likelihood of a depletion.

A pond owner can do several things to lessen the likelihood of an oxygen depletion. One is to maintain fish populations below 1,000 pounds per surface acre. This can be a problem for pond owners managing intensively for catfish in small ponds. Weed control in the spring rather than summer will also help reduce oxygen depletion. If weed control treatments are necessary, make spot treatments to prevent too much plant decomposition at one time.

If oxygen depletion is an immediate concern, the oxygen level can be increased by pumping water from near the surface and spraying it back over the pond. Another option is to back a boat and trailer into the water and use the outboard motor to circulate the water.

Remember, these corrective techniques are treatments and really do little to solve the real problem. If the cause of an oxygen depletion is man-made, take appropriate corrective action.

Hot, dry weather lies ahead, and oxygen depletion problems will only increase. Proper management now may prevent dead fish later on.
