KARIN AND PETER SCHOENFELDER of West Berlin, Germany visited in Munday this week, reacquainting Karin with old friends. She was an exchange student here during the 1960-61 school year and lived with Herb and Alice Partridge. This fascinating couple provided Munday residents with some insights toward the way of life for persons in a free city surrounded by Communists.

SESQUICENTENNIAL WEEKEND NEAR

County To Celebrate Friday And Saturday

It's Sesquicentennial week in Benjamin, and plans are being finalized for the big celebration that everyone in the whole county should enjoy. An advertisement in this issue of the Courier displays the festival schedule.

The barbecue supper will be served by B&D Barbecue of Knox City from 6:30-8 p.m. The meal is priced at $5 per plate, and the Benjamin Mustang football field is the location. The Memorial Building in Benjamin will be open during the serving hours for visitors to view the artwork on display there.

The pioneer king and queen will be crowned during the 8:30 p.m. presentation. Admission to this event, which is also planned for the football field, is $2 for adults and $1 for students. A historical pageant, consisting of short skits depicting different phases in the county's history with a variety of entertainment between skits is set for 9 p.m. Karen Longan is general director of the pageant.

Saturday's celebration begins with the art show and sale in the Memorial Building, which will be open at 9 a.m. Art types eligible are oils, acrylics, water colors, pastels, mixed media, gouche, hard and soft sculpture and photography. Melanie Whitley of Knox City and Wyman Meinzer of Benjamin are in charge.

Booths will be open around the courthouse lawn at 9 a.m., and sights to see include leather work, weaving, crafts, woodwork, commercial and retail booths and food and drink concessions. Games for children and adults are planned throughout the day and include a jackpot horseshoe pitching contest and a watermelon eating contest.

The parade is set for 10 a.m., with floats and other entries expected from each community. Various prizes will be given, and the parade will carry out the theme "Happy Birthday, Texas."

The Memorial Building will be the site for an old fiddlers contest at 2:30 p.m. and a waltz contest will follow. Other musical entertainment will also take the stage in the Memorial Building. Admission for this set of events is $1.

The popular band Sage will play for a dance at the Memorial Building from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Dancers will be charged $5 per person.

Sue Oxford and Janice Tolson of Benjamin are co-chairmen of the county-wide celebration, and they can be contacted at 454-3981 or 454-3231, respectively, for more information concerning any of the events.

Hospital Trustees Talk To Physician

Trustees of the Knox County Hospital District met at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 1, in the Citizens State Bank in Knox City. Members present included Greg Clonts, Maurine Reeder, Bill Baker, Bernard Brown, Vernal Zeissel, Benny Grill and Ray Lynn Hardin, for a full quorum. Also present were administrator Randy Abernathy and Dr. Paul Moran.

Clonts called the meeting to order, and minutes of the June 19 meeting were read and approved on a motion by Grill and second by Baker.

During a long discussion on physician recruitment, Dr. Moran addressed the board. No action was taken. Similarly, no decision was made on amending the medical staff bylaws. Brown moved the board borrow $32,000 to cover some $31,727 in accounts payable and the monthly payroll. Baker seconded and the motion passed unanimously.

The meeting adjourned at 11:45 p.m. upon a motion by Zeissel that was seconded by Grill.

Heart Association Suggests Memorials For Special Gifts

Winters Matthews, American Heart Association memorial chairman for Knox County, has announced the availability of get well and special occasion cards to honor friends and loved ones.

What better way to celebrate a birth or wish a friend a speedy recovery from a stroke or heart attack than to contribute to an association whose goal is to prevent premature death and disability from the nation's number one killer --

DPS TROOPER JOHNNY MORRIS—of Seymour is shown with the healthy marijuana plants that local law enforcement officers found growing three miles southwest of Goree last Sunday. Stake-out teams watched the plants until Monday afternoon, when three persons were arrested at the scene for possession of marijuana. Officers then destroyed the patch. The marijuana was taken to the DPS crime lab in Abilene earlier this week to be evaluated. Scores of persons in a three-county area have been arrested on drug charges during the past week as a result of an undercover investigation.

Officers Crack Into Local Drug Traffic

Acting on information received during the weekend, Knox County law enforcement officers discovered a patch of marijuana growing about three miles southwest of Goree and arrested three persons in connection with growing the drug.

The arrests Monday came after a surprise round-up of persons charged with possession, sale and delivery of amphetamines, methamphetamines and marijuana last week. Officers in Knox, Baylor and Haskell counties, frustrated with a lack of response from state and federal agencies when asked for help with the drug problem, hired an independent drug agent who lived in the area for about two months. His work was funded by area merchants and donations to Crime-stoppers programs in the counties.

The agent made a large number of cases in the three-county area, and officers worked jointly to arrest those charged on warrants last Wednesday. Seven arrests were made in Knox County, with one warrant still outstanding because the suspect's whereabouts are unknown. At the same time, some 20 arrests were made in both Haskell and Baylor counties. Several of the persons arrested were held on warrants from more than one county.

Knox County Sheriff Gene Nix said he felt the arrests would at least put a dent into local drug activities. Sheriffs Wes Hollar of Baylor County and Johnny Mills of Haskell County concurred, saying they felt the use of the independent agent was well worth the cost.

Then the Sheriff's Department received word of a possible marijuana patch growing near a creek bottom in the Goree-Munday area. Deputy Greg Covey and Reserve Deputy Melvin Cypert found the plants, and surveillance teams were set up to watch the crop in shifts. Sheriff Nix said the plants had been recently tended, so they felt the "farmers" would be back soon to water the plants again. Officers at the scene about 4:30 p.m. Monday were Munday Police Chief Henry Dancer and District Attorney Investigator Gerald Saffel. They arrested Ronnie Phillips and Bud Phillips of Munday and Sheila Hoffman of Arlington for possession of marijuana over four ounces, a felony charge. The trio was arraigned before Judge John Phillips and taken to the Knox County Jail.

Arrested last week on drug charges were David Johnson and Teresa Gilliam of Munday, and Sheila Avey, Jerry Medrano, Kathy Montez, Brenda Gallagher and Rick Warren, all of Knox City. Bonds on all the suspects ranged from $15,000 to $35,000.

PCA's Gary Decker Receives Promotion

A reception Friday afternoon at the Munday Production Credit office will honor Gary Decker, who is being transferred to the central office in Stamford. Office manager Bobby Sosolik and secretary Wanda Vojkuffa invite local residents to drop by the office between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. to wish Decker well in his new location.

Decker is a hometown product, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Decker. He returned to Munday a few years ago to teach agriculture at Munday High School and was soon employed by the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association. Decker has been very active in community affairs, serving as president of the Munday Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture last year, working on the Knox County Vegetable Festival and joining the Brazos Valley Young Farmers. He is married to the former Connie Perry of Haskell, a resource teacher at Munday High School, and they have a two-year-old son, James.

Decker will report to his new job at Stamford on Monday, July 28.

German Exchange Student Returns To Visit Munday

Most of the 1961 graduates of Munday High School have been back to Munday, either to live, to visit friends or family or to attend homecoming. But none have traveled as far as Karin Schoenfelder, who is visiting in Munday this week.

Mrs. Schoenfelder (she was Karin Einbrodt back in 1961) was a West German exchange student placed here through the International Youth Fellowship of the First United Methodist Church. Herb and Alice Partridge were her host parents. Another Munday student, Nancy Cowan, lived in Germany during the school year. Others in the class who now live in Munday were John Reneau, Sandy (Brown) King and Dayle (Phillips) Kuehler.

Mrs. Schoenfelder and her husband, Peter, live in West Berlin. She teaches the mentally handicapped, and he is an employee of the Department of the Interior for the Federal Republic of Germany. They flew to San Francisco early this month and rented a car, then drove through parts of California, to Las Vegas, around the Grand Canyon in Arizona and through El Paso to Munday. When they leave here at mid-week, they will travel to Austin to visit Herb Partridge's brother, Don, and his family, then fly from Dallas back to Germany.

The couple has two grown daughters and a grandchild. This is not their first trip to the United States; they visited the New York area two years ago. Mrs. Schoenfelder said she has kept in touch with the Partridges during the 25 years since she left her home, and two of Herb's brothers, Leon and Don, have visited the Schoenfelders in Germany. She has also kept in touch with Myrtle Everett.

She said she was beginning to get her bearings in Munday, although her first drive through town seemed to be in completely unfamiliar territory. She especially noted the absence of the high school building where she attended classes and the change on the city hall square, and she was glad to see the elementary school and the Methodist church, more familiar landmarks. Rex Mauldin was pastor at the church during her stay here, and she remembered his wife, Letha, directing students in a choir. She was also in the high school choir at MHS and was elected senior class favorite. She got a chance to visit in Old Mexico that year, too, when the class took its senior trip to Monterrey.

One Texas custom that has become popular in Germany is the rodeo. The Schoenfelders said the rodeo comes to Berlin for two weeks each year, and there is even a European Rodeo Association led by a transplanted American. Their daughter has gotten involved in the sport, wearing hat, boots and the rest of the Western look.

The couple pointed out a little-known fact that the city of Berlin is actually in East Germany (the German Democratic Republic), even though it is divided into West and East Berlin. Citizens of West Berlin must deal with the Communist government, and they must cross a section of East Germany to get into the free part of the country. But agreements between the two governments have made travel relatively easy.

Peter Schoenfelder's mother and brothers live in East Berlin. She is able to spend about a month - two weeks in the summer and two in winter - in West Berlin each year. But they say it is almost impossible for young persons to cross into the free state.

"The Communist government does not feel the elderly can do anything for them," Karin said. "So they let them go into West Berlin to escape paying their pensions." Young people, however, are more valuable to the East government.

West Berliners can cross through the wall dividing the two sections of the city and country, but they must pay a price. After securing government permission, they must pay a fee for every day they stay in the Communist section. So, the Schoenfelders pointed out, persons who do not have money to spare are unable to see family on the other side of the wall. They do have reliable mail service, so some contact is available, although residents on both sides cannot say everything they would like in a letter for fear of government censorship.

The East German government refers to the wall as "the border of peace" and alleges that it was necessary to halt espionage. The Schoenfelders say they often read in the newspaper of persons who try to escape East Berlin, but few make it to the other side. Those who are captured are shot or put into prison.

Despite the obvious problems, the couple say they love their home city and would not think of living somewhere else. With a population of two million, West Berlin is a lovely city with many attractions. The climate is moderate, with snow from November to February, and summer

Cotton Insects To Be Studied July 30

A cotton insect clinic has been scheduled for 8 a.m. Wednesday, July 30, by the Knox County Crops Committee. Those attending will meet at the Soil Conservation Service office in Knox City and move to fields for practical evaluation.

The clinic will focus on boll weevil and bollworm control decisions. Extension Service entomologist Emory Boring will discuss the factors that influence control decisions and how to evaluate the status of a field.

All area cotton producers are urged to attend.

Third Signup Begins For 1987 Conservation Program

The next signup for the 1987 Conservation Reserve Program will take place August 4-15 at Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county offices.

Farmers may offer bids to place highly erodible cropland into the reserve for the third time this year.

Annual payments for 10 years will compensate farmers for retiring highly erodible land from crop production. The amount of payment is determined by the accepted bid per acre and the number of accepted acres.

Participants will also receive cost-share assistance for establishing permanent cover and wildlife plantings on the accepted acres. Once established, the cover must be maintained for the entire ten year contract period at the expense of the producer. Participants will be allowed to lease the accepted acres for hunting, but no other uses such as haying or grazing will be allowed.

Jerry Pearce, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Knox City, said land which is eroding at more than three times the tolerance level is eligible to be placed in the reserve if it was farmed two or more years between 1981 and 1985.

During the first two signups, bids were tentatively accepted from more than 1,200 Texas farmers on 310,000 acres. Accepted bids ranged from $25 to $50 per acre. Interested parties are encouraged to visit the ASCS office during the signup period.

merit temperatures are in the 80's. Peter and Karin said they do not feel as though they are surrounded by Communists, but admit that the sight of the wall, only a ten-minute drive from their home, saddens them. The area of East Berlin near the wall has been kept clean with new buildings to impress visitors, but is a sharp contrast to conditions further to the east.

The Schoenfelders have traveled extensively in Europe, including visits to England, Scotland, France, Spain, Italy and Yugoslavia. Europeans are not especially worried about the terrorism threat, and scoff at American fears of traveling abroad. "Traveling on U.S. highways doesn't seem too safe," Schoenfelder remarked, having read some accident statistics, "and we really don't hear much about terrorism any more."

The Communist situation in Europe doesn't seem to be changing any, he said. People in the Eastern Bloc nations, even after hearing the massive anti-American propaganda efforts put out by the Communist governments, realize the contrast between their lack of freedom and the opportunities to be had under a democratic form of government. But Soviet scare tactics like the appearance of tanks and soldiers in city streets are a powerful deterrent to any threats of revolution. "Revolution means war," Karin Schoenfelder said, "and war means deaths. No one is ready to start that. So we just live our lives and try to ignore the problems."

When asked how the German people felt about Americans, Schoenfelder said that international news seems to focus on protest marches and demonstrations, but that this is not a reflection of the general opinion.

"Most residents of West Germany know that we depend on and need the Allies (America, France and Great Britain). Without the military bases they maintain, West Germany would be very vulnerable to Communist takeover." Personally, the Schoenfelders say they "love America. It is a wonderful country, and we plan to come back again."

Besides his government job, Schoenfelder has also written three suspense novels which were published in paperback form for the German market.

The couple were guests at an ice cream supper at the First United Methodist Church Sunday evening and spoke to the congregation about their life in Germany. Mrs. Schoenfelder says that although lifestyles are different, good people are the same everywhere, and if all West Germans are as open and friendly as this couple, the lines of communication between the United States and West Germany should continue unobstructed for many years.

Listening to the Schoenfelders makes an American realize again just how lucky we are with the many, many freedoms we take for granted. One visit to the Berlin Wall, they say, with its fences and armed guards in towers, would remind any citizen of a free nation how valuable our hard-fought liberty really is.

Duncan Rites Held Monday At Weinert

Pamela Marie Mayfield Duncan, 34, a relative of several area residents, died Friday, July 18, at a San Diego, California hospital. Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Monday, at Restland Funeral Home in Dallas. Graveside services were in Weinert Cemetery in Weinert.

Mrs. Duncan was born in Haskell County and graduated from Castleberry High School in River Oaks in 1970. She attended North Texas State University where she was president of her sorority, Alpha Delta Pi. She worked as a commercial lighting consultant for Cummins Lighting Center in Fort Worth and at Roger's Lighting Center in Dallas.

Survivors include her husband, William Bruce Duncan of San Diego; one stepdaughter, Katherine Duncan of Dallas; one brother, John Mayfield of Grapevine; and her mother, Patsy Mayfield of Arlington. Other relatives include Bobby Owens of Munday, and the Mayfield family of Weinert.

The family suggests that memorials be made to the American Diabetes Association or the Weinert Cemetery Association.

Weinert Woman's Brother Is Buried

Gussie Semmeion Sanders, 68, of Gorman, brother of a Weinert resident, died Friday, July 18, in a Euless hospital after a long illness. Funeral services were at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, July 20, in Higginbotham Funeral Chapel in Gorman. Burial was in Oaklawn in Gorman.

Sanders was born in Stephenville. He worked at the Pecan Valley golf course for 17 years before his retirement in 1976. He was a member of Park Temple Baptist Church in Fort Worth and the Gorman Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Frances L. Sanders of Gorman; four daughters, Delores Bowsher of Perin, Margie Whitcher of Midlothian, Jeannie Whittier of Gorman and Patty Isbel of Lake Worth; two sons, Ronnie Sanders of Fort Worth and Robert Sanders of Gorman; five sisters, Bertie Leeper of Fort Worth, Effie May Jones of Hobbs, N.M., Lois Cate of Moran, Nellie Lucky of Gorman and Bertie Alexander of Weinert; a brother, Blonnie Sanders of Gorman; 17 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Make Air, Automobile Travel More Comfortable For Children

Summer vacation trips can present an extra challenge to families with babies and toddlers. The Texas Medical Association suggests tips that can make air and automobile travel more comfortable for children and families.

Airplanes are probably the most stressful vehicle for the family with an infant. Changes in cabin pressure can help start an ear infection that shows up a couple of days after the flight. A drop in cabin pressure tends to push mucus from the back of the baby's nose into the tube leading to the middle ear, and this blockage can become infected.

Nursing an infant during takeoff and landing is one precaution that can help prevent ear infections. The sucking movement helps keep the middle ear open, much the way chewing gum does for an adult.

Check with your physician who may suggest protecting the child by giving a combination antihistamine and decongestant, which will reduce the amount of nasal secretions and help keep air passages open.

Infants should not be buckled inside a seat belt on an airplane, but held in an adult's lap for takeoff and landing; the child can rest in a portable crib during the flight.

Automobile traveling with young children need not be difficult, but it can be hazardous. Children of all ages risk injury if they're not properly restrained. They should ride in the back seat. The type of harness designed for children is safer than a lap belt and allows more freedom of movement.

According to Texas law, young children and infants must be strapped into a car seat that is securely belted to the seat of the automobile. This safety measure also may make the ride more pleasant, because children react to car travel better if they can see outside.

Ventilation is another problem during car travel. Babies are likely to react unfavorably to the stuffy air that can result from automobile air conditioning systems that recirculate air. Try to keep at least some fresh air coming in at all times.

If you are traveling with children who are on medication, remember to pack an adequate supply. And if your children are likely to need medical attention while traveling, ask your family doctor to suggest where you can find a physician.

As I recall, there was a side of beef sitting on a table separating Spud and Flab.

Both had looks of reverence and commitment on their fleshy faces as they watched the steam coming off a fresh platter of medium rare sirloins.

The beef had been carefully prepared at a steak house in the woods. It wasn't one of those places with fancy fixtures or new ornaments designed to look old fashioned. The building was plain. The floors were plain. The waitresses were especially plain.

"I've never really been full in my life," Spud bragged.

"Me neither," said Flab.

"Most people reach a point where they either can't stand it anymore, or they get sick," said Spud, rubbing his well developed bay window in a narcissistic manner.

"They're weak," said Flab, who sounded more like Clint Eastwood than he looked. "Sometimes you just have to reach down for something extra."

"Yeah, I call it guts," said Spud. Both snickered and belched.

I'd forgotten about those two until I stopped in at Mama Underwoods' in Brownwood last week.

At least 100 of our fighting men were already inside. They looked as serious as Spud and Flab had on that memorable evening.

Not a smile was registered on any of the faces. If this was a mission - operation gluttony - they looked up to the task.

A few fell by the wayside after the first helping of cherry cobbler. There are, after all, few combat missions without casualties, be it in Libya or during an invasion of ribs and cobbler.

On the whole, though, our fighting men represented us well. Several even managed to hang in through the second and third helpings of steaming hot buttered rolls.

Sandwiched in between was a heavy bombardment of barbecued beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, and, or, potato salad and beans.

Inspired by these soldiers, I put away each of the above items, except for the beans. I also had a side order of fried chicken breast and became deliriously miserable.

During moments of intense gluttony, nostalgia often results. It serves as a mental instant replay - slow motion and all. The moments are in vivid colors like broccoli green, cobbler wine and barbecue sauce rust.

This moment focused on a sterling performance during an earlier visit to this same cafeteria. That day a friend and I had inhaled both cobbler - cherry and peach - after the main course. We tried to bow to our audience, but of course, we couldn't.

As I recall we drove one mile to the city park. He took the left bumper of the car, and I took the right. The two of us slept it off for the next 90 minutes.

There are several chicken fried steak - come in and don't take off your hats, this is serious eating - places in the southwest. Real men (Hoss Cartwright types) walk in, straddle chairs, roll up their sleeves and pull out their own personalized knives and forks.

You wouldn't want to disturb Hoss when he has his feedbag around his sizeable neck.

Gluttony is wrong, of course. Sinful in every way, what with people starving all over the world, the shameful cholesterol problem, high blood pressure, and the disgrace of cellulite.

Just thinking about such wickedness is enough to work up an unhealthy appetite, though.

I know a place with a dirt floor called Big John's between Llano and Burnet, and...

A Question...

When was the last time a New Yorker sent money to pay for your local schools?

Never, of course.

We Texans pay our own way with state and local taxes.

And yet, this year alone, Texans will send $3 billion to New York, California and New Jersey and even Hong Kong.

That money will leave Texas in the form of mail orders for all kinds of merchandise.

Not one penny of Texas sales tax will be collected. And so, not one penny of sales tax will come back to Texas to help pay for our schools, highways, parks, hospitals and colleges.

No, you and your local merchants will pay for them. Don't you think it's time you had a little help? About $100 million in help?

$100 million. That's the minimum additional Texas sales tax due on mail orders going outside our state. That will pay for a lot of schools.

The Congress is now considering requiring big national mail order firms to collect the sales tax and send it to the states, including that $100 million a year to Texas.

In other words, Congress can make these national mail order operators play--and pay--by the same rules our hometown merchants do.

Your congressman needs to hear from you. He needs to know that you think local merchants deserve fair treatment and fair competition.

Please write today. Tell your congressman you support a mail order sales tax bill.

Study Finds No Basis For Contamination Allegations

There is no difference between the quality of milo-fed and corn-fed chickens. In studies conducted by Texas A&M University, poultry scientist Dr. Frederick Gardner and Dr. Clarence Creger found that there was no difference in overall quality of processed chickens, regardless of the feed used.

The studies were requested by the Sorghum Promotion Federation after the USDA Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) recommended changes in its poultry inspection procedures. In order to economize and streamline the inspection process, the FSIS instituted a procedure early this year that called for plant inspectors to count tiny specks on chicken skin as a measure of bacterial contamination.

The Sorghum Promotion Federation is the research and promotion arm of National Grain Sorghum Producers Association. It is supported jointly by the National GSPA and the sorghum checkoff programs of Texas, Kansas and Nebraska.

"There is absolutely no reason for concern among consumers," said Dr. Gardner. "The previous inspection procedures that have been used for more than ten years have given American consumers a poultry product that is very safe, and wholesome. The change to counting specks is not justified by our findings." He added that at no time during the processing were bacterial counts above acceptable standards and by the end of the processing, after poultry is thoroughly chilled for about 45 minutes in the slush ice solution, bacterial count is very low.

"There is no doubt about it," Gardner said, "poultry processing methods are tremendously effective in reducing bacteria."

"The news is good for poultry producers and consumers alike," adds Dr. Creger. "For poultry producers in part of the Southeast and Southwest, grain sorghum is a much more economical source of carbohydrates than corn, which would have to be shipped in from other areas. If the changes in USDA inspection procedures force producers to switch to more expensive corn, the cost would be transferred to the consumer," Dr. Creger said.

Pending further study, the USDA is temporarily allowing inspectors at plants where sorghum-fed birds are processed to return to the former Acceptable Quality Limits program procedures calling for a thorough examination of each chicken being processed. USDA officials say it will conduct another study before deciding whether the new Finished Product Standard program will be finalized with the "speck counting" procedure and its microbiological implications intact.

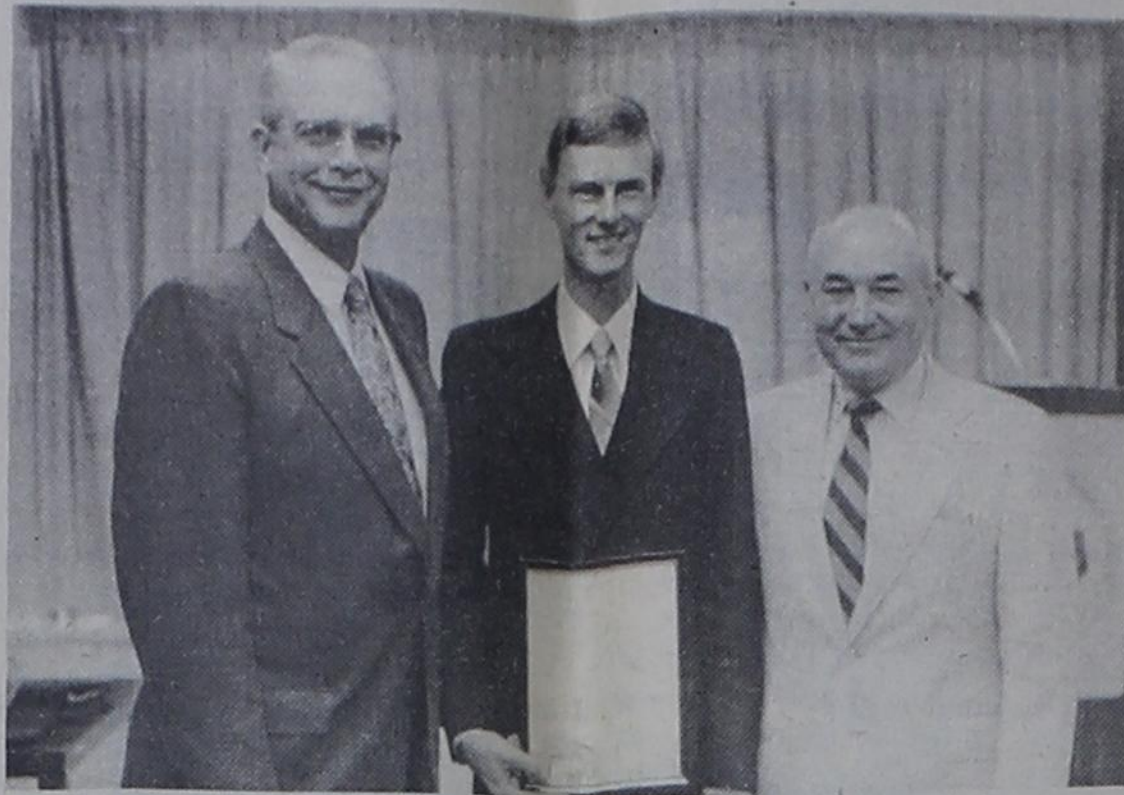

Gun And Coin Show Planned At Haskell

The Haskell Rotary Club will sponsor a gun and coin show August 2 and 3 at the Haskell Memorial Civic Center, 201 S. 2nd. Exhibits will be on display from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and from 8-5 on Sunday.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children age six to twelve. Children under six will be admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

Reservations for 8-foot tables are $25 and may be made through Kenneth Patton, Box 563, Haskell 79521. The reservation fee must accompany the request. No flea market material will be accepted. All federal, state and local ordinances will be observed and security will be provided.

The public is invited to buy, sell, trade or just browse around.

REDUCED TILLAGE AND WHEAT

The unusual rain pattern this summer has created a weed nightmare on wheat ground for producers in Knox County. Some producers have started their fourth cultivation of wheat ground to control weeds. There is still two months till wheat planting.

A demonstration has been set up to evaluate reduced tillage on wheat ground as an answer to this weed problem. The demonstration is being conducted as a cooperative effort with Zeissel Farms, the Knox County office of the Soil Conservation Service and the Knox County Extension office.

There are three treatments. The entire field was sprayed with Glean in mid-February at a rate of 1/4 ounce per acre. The northern-most plot was sprayed with Roundup and Ally at a rate of one pint Roundup and 1/10 ounce Ally per acre plus 1% surfactant. The middle plot was sprayed with just Roundup at a rate of one pint per acre plus 1% surfactant.

Since harvest both plots have been gone over with sweeps and chiseled once for a total of two cultivations. The plots were sprayed July 15, 1986.

The southern-most plot is the conventional tillage treatment. Since harvest this plot has been disced, swept and chiseled. The plot was scheduled for another cultivation at the time this was being written. That will make four cultivations for this plot.

The plots are located on the west side of FM 267 approximately 2.5 miles north of State Highway 222. Electric fence posts divide the treatments.

The cost of the Roundup and Ally used to control weeds is approximately the same as two cultivation operations. The Ally has a residual affect, which continues to help control broadleaf weeds when added to Roundup. Roundup alone only kills the actively growing weeds at the time of application.

Producers are invited to watch this demonstration throughout the year. The economics as well as weed control will be evaluated in the 1986 Results Demonstration Handbook.

Brazos Valley Team Loses In Tourney

Munday was represented at the Junior League Baseball All-Star tournament held in Burkburnett last week. The Brazos Valley team, made up of 13-year-old players from Haskell and Knox Counties, defeated Iowa Park in their first game, then lost to Burkburnett and Sheppard Air Force Base, getting eliminated from the tourney on Wednesday night.

Coach Freddie Caram said, "The boys played hard and did a good job. They were a good bunch of boys to work with." Conrad Roewe of Haskell was team manager.

Players were Bobby Dockins of Munday, Raymond Wolfe of Knox City, Kody Wilson of Rule, Vernon Speck Jr., of Rochester, Christopher Brown, Jay Scott Miller, Bernie Gonzales Jr. and Christopher Rodriguez of Haskell and Bryan Pritchard, David Moreno, Troy Aplin and Rosalind Baker of Stamford.

DPS Entrance Exams Given For 1987 Training School

Major Cawthon, regional commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has announced the DPS is accepting applications for the position of state trooper. Applications may be picked up at any DPS office.

"The entrance examinations are being administered in the Lubbock, Amarillo and Wichita Falls offices on Tuesdays and Thursdays for this area of the state and continue until October 16, 1986 for the recruit school beginning sometime in 1987," according to Cawthon. The test will start at 8:30 a.m. and will take most of the day to complete. Applicants are advised to wear comfortable running footwear and be prepared to give their best mental and physical effort.

Major Cawthon said, "General qualifications for DPS troopers are: Applicants must be 20 through 35 years of age; of good moral character; with excellent physical condition; must weigh not less than two pounds nor more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height; with visual acuity no worse than 20/40 correctable to 20/30; and be a citizen of the United States. Educational qualifications are a minimum of 60 semester hours of college. College hours may be substituted by having two years of law enforcement experience or two years of military experience or any combination of the three. Qualified female applicants are also being accepted for the uniformed services of the DPS. The department has been increasingly successful in recruiting persons from minority groups and the DPS is an equal opportunity employer."

Upon successful completion of the entrance examinations and personal background data investigation, the recruit will enter 18 weeks of intensive police training. Starting salary for recruits is $1,515. per month.

The 18-week training period will cover some 850 hours of the law enforcement classes on a wide variety of subjects such as criminal and traffic law, human and community relations, investigative techniques, marksmanship, pursuit driving and physical training.

After graduation as a commissioned law enforcement officer, the monthly salary increases to $1,671 and at the end of six months active duty, the salary increases to $1,784. State troopers receive longevity pay for each year of service up to 25 years. Other benefits include 5.85% paid Social Security. Uniforms, weapons, ammunition and vehicles are furnished by the state of Texas. Life insurance and hospitalization are paid for the employee. Paid vacations, state holidays and sick leave are provided to all employees.

Upon graduation, the trooper will be qualified to enter the following DPS field services: License & Weight; Drivers License; Motor Vehicle Inspection; or Highway Patrol. Experience uniformed troopers may apply for appointment to positions in Narcotics, Intelligence, Texas Rangers and Motor Vehicle Theft Services when openings occur.

Contact your nearest DPS office for job applications to begin a new and exciting career in law enforcement. Join the winning team as a Department of Public Safety Trooper.

YARD OF THE WEEK honor goes to the home of Marion and Mattie Waggoner on West Irving, but the credit for this neat yard and blooming flowers goes to Neil and Michael Waggoner, who have tended the lawn and planted the flowers. Various colored blooms along the side of the house provide a carefully manicured look that has been nurtured by these two young entrepreneurs, who make money during the summer by mowing yards.

OBESITY HAS FAMILY ROOTS

Our early lives teach us food habits: "Don't skip meals," "Eat so you'll get big and strong," "Breakfast is a must!" For some people, a lifetime of certain eating habits leads to constant hunger and obesity.

Some families teach that eating is fun and a social event. So whenever a group gathers, food is always available. Other families may teach the opposite -- that food protects us from unhappiness. Family members eat when they are unhappy so they'll "feel better."

To avoid feeding feelings rather than feeding the body, every person wanting to lose weight must be on constant guard for the automatic hunger pangs when things get "too right" or "too wrong." In this way, an overweight person can begin to break the eating habits learned from his or her family of origin.

When your family gets together the next time, remember that we often feed feelings of joy, sorrow, helplessness and hostility. Honor the cook not by lusty eating but by words of praise for the food provided.

HOLDING DOWN CLOTHING COSTS

While clothing costs are going up, they may have less of an impact on family budgets than in the past.

1985 apparel and upkeep prices, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, rose 4.4 percent over 1984. This is the first time since 1969 that clothing prices increased at a higher rate than prices for 'all items' category.

Women's suits, separates and sportswear led the increase in clothing prices. Only prices of boys' and girls' footwear and men's coats and jackets declined during the year.

In spite of the increasing prices, families are actually spending a lower percentage of their budgets on clothing. In current dollars, consumers spend an average of 5.5 percent of their total expenditures on clothing and related purchases, compared to 7.7 percent in 1972-73.

If you find that clothing costs are still taking too big a bite out of your income, do some advanced planning to avoid wasting money and winding up with a closet full of mismatched, impractical clothes. Take inventory of your present wardrobe to determine what can be restyled or repaired before buying anything new. Then if you still think you need new clothing, establish a plan for the items you need. Indicate how much you are willing to spend and set up a time schedule for buying the clothes.

If you have the time and the inclination, shopping at outlet stores, at garage sales and re-sale stores can also save you considerable amounts on clothing purchases.

Since the average per person expenditure for clothing and shoes is now estimated at $617, planning ahead and shopping carefully can add up to big savings in the family budget.

STRETCH SALAD DRESSINGS

When buying bottled salad dressings, cut the creamy kinds in half with plain, lowfat yogurt. Cut the oil and vinegar types in half with oil and vinegar from your cupboard. The salt is diluted but not the flavor.

Munday 4-H's To Compete In Home Designer Contest

Two 4-H club members from Munday will exhibit their skills in interior design and selection of home furnishings at the Rolling Plains District 4-H home designer event to be held Wednesday, July 30, in Seymour.

Andrea Longan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Longan, and Susan Whittemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whittemore, qualified for the district competition by winning the county contest.

The project helps 4-H's acquire knowledge of interior design and develop skills in selecting home furnishings. They must prepare a poster showing a room arrangement, using samples of wall and floor coverings, and exhibit a coordinating home accessory. A special category in energy efficiency will be sponsored by West Texas Utilities Company.

Judging in the district contest will begin at 10 a.m. in the Baylor County Extension Service building. The youths will display their posters and accessories and be interviewed by judges about interior design and furnishings. Awards will be presented at a public ceremony at 1 p.m. in the Extension building.

Taxing Unit of Munday Independent School District

CALCULATION OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE, ESTIMATED UNENCUMBERED FUND BALANCES, AND DEBT SCHEDULE

I, Oscar Hengle, Tax Assessor/Collector by contract for Munday Independent School District, in accordance with Sec. 26.04, Property Tax Code, have calculated $1,322,322 per $100.00 of value as the tax rate which may not be exceeded by more than three percent by the governing body of the Munday Independent School District without holding a public hearing as required by the code.

★ TRUSCOTT—GILLILAND NEWS ★

By Mrs. Clara Brown

Following the recent "Sting" operation by Knox, Baylor, and Haskell county law enforcement officials which resulted in over 90 indictments, several persons expressed interest in making donations to the Crimestoppers Program which funded the Knox County portion of the drug sales investigation.

Knox County Sheriff, Gene Nix reports that Crimestopper donations can be made through the sheriff's department. "This was a pilot program set up a few months ago with primarily Knox City and Munday donors," he says. "However, we are now working to set up the Crimestoppers Program on a permanent basis. Donations can be sent to Crimestoppers, c/o Sheriff Nix, Benjamin, Texas."

Harold and Carry Barry are back home on China Creek after several months in Seguin and San Antonio. Harold is doing fine.

They had an unexpected visitor a few days after getting home. Carry was cleaning their screened porch when she moved a small gasoline powered tiller that was stored on the porch, only to discover a rattlesnake in the plastic housing. She managed to get the small tiller in the yard and squirted water in it, but the snake just curled up. Finally she doused it with gasoline and he came slithering out on the grass. He didn't slither long though, since shot gun blasts at close range are quite fatal.

Everyone should plan to attend the Knox County Sesquicentennial and Centennial Pageant at the Benjamin football field Friday night at 8:30. Try to get there early as 400 to 500 are expected. Extra stadium seats are being brought in from around the county to take care of the crowd. Cars will not be permitted on the sidelines, but folding chair seating below the grandstands is planned for those who have difficulty with steps.

The Truscott scene in the pageant will be about a shooting that is actually supposed to have taken place in the South Wichita River Valley. Actors in this scene will be descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Myers, pioneer Truscott land owners, and of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ryder, early Gilliland pioneers. Trenna Cash Patterson, Kynn Patterson, and Jason will play a pioneer family and Donnie Ryder will play the hardhearted settler who refuses to help the family.

Since 1986 is the 100th birthday of Knox County as well as the 150th anniversary of Texas, Knox County has chosen to wrap both celebrations in one. A parade and day long activities and exhibits are planned in Benjamin for Saturday, including a fiddlers contest.

A grandson of Darryl and Vula Hord was killed in a wreck last week. Funeral services were to be held Tuesday at Truscott.

Paul and Ila Mae Bullion were in Lubbock Thursday through Sunday, visiting Sam and Wanda Bullion and buying a new pop-up camper to pull behind their van.

Truscott and Gilliland are working on plans for homecoming on Labor Day weekend. Saturday will be Truscott's day. The barbecue information will be announced later for the evening meal at Truscott and the noon meal at the Gilliland celebration on Sunday.

Two meetings have been set for the Truscott Community Center Wednesday, July 23, at 8 p.m. First will be the annual community association meeting. Workers for the next "Grandma's Sunday Dinner" will meet briefly and plan for the next Sunday dinner, second Sunday in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cash visited the Fred Cash family Saturday. Jim has received news that his brother, Alton Cash of Weatherford, is doing fine after recent surgery in Mineral Wells.

Another brother, Wayne Cash, is at home again in Lubbock after some time in a Lubbock hospital with a heart condition.

The Truscott Church of Christ will begin trying out preachers Sunday. The last minister, Dale Potter, has entered the U.S. Army as a chaplain.

There were some scattered showers Sunday afternoon, but seemingly provided little moisture.

Senior Citizens To Sing Thursday

The Munday Senior Citizens will sponsor their monthly singing night at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 24, in the Munday Community Center. Several out-of-town singers will be present.

Anyone wishing to sing or just listen is welcome to attend.

Area Players Pace Six-Man All-Stars

Two area athletes participated in six-man All-Star games last weekend in Stephenville.

Randy Reagins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Reagins of Goree, scored 26 points and grabbed ten rebounds to lead the West team to a 97-74 victory over the East squad Saturday night at the Tarleton State University gym. The basketball game was sponsored by the Texas Six-Man Football Coaches Association.

Reagins was a standout for Goree High School, scoring more than 40 points in many of his court appearances last year. He was twice named to the All-District basketball team, and was a three-time member of the elite football squad. Valedictorian of his graduating class, Reagins is bound for Clarendon College this fall.

In the Six-Man All-Star football game, Weinert's Shannon Forehand took a back seat to offensive Most Valuable Player Trey Richey of Jayton, but still took part in the contest long enough to complete six of nine passes, including two in a crucial fourth-quarter drive. The West team won the football game 35-14 on Richey's 174 yards on 30 carries, two completed passes for touchdowns and pass interceptions that blocked the East team from scoring. Jayton won the state six-man title on Richey's season-long heroics on the gridiron.

Forehand, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Forehand, was named All-State quarterback two years, and also played basketball for the Bulldogs. He plans to attend Angelo State University.

WG Club Has Party With Sesquicentennial Theme

Viola Cude hosted the WG party last Saturday evening in her home. It was beautifully decorated in red, white and blue with Texas and Sesquicentennial flags decorating the table. Viola made tiny cowboys as party favors.

Refreshments were served, gifts were exchanged and games were played by Elba McMahon, Pauline Morrow, Elaine Gulley, Allene Beaty, Juanita Massey, Dorothy Putnam, Ruth Griffith and the hosts.

Celebrating birthdays this month are Viola and Pauline.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Mexico, our neighbor to the South, has cause to be plenty confused by our foreign policy.

Mexico is attacked one day by a high Administration official, who is contradicted the next day by another Administration official.

It's good to hear that the Administration has decided to coordinate its policy toward Mexico, because Mexico is incredibly important to us now. And it will probably be even more important in the future.

Today, Mexico is our third largest trading partner. With almost 80 million people, it is an incredible natural market for U.S. manufactured goods. An increase in trade between our two countries can only work to our mutual advantage, and we ought to work for an increase.

One type of trade we do not need more of, though, is the trade in illegal drugs that are flowing across our border with Mexico like water through a sieve. Mexican authorities must accept a good share of the blame for this illegal drug trade, but so must we.

All these drugs would not be coming into the United States if there were not such a demand for them here. And they wouldn't be coming in such vast quantities if we were doing a better job of patrolling our borders and enforcing our drug laws.

For six years straight the Administration has proposed cuts—which I fought—in the U.S. Customs Service. Now, at last, the Administration says it is willing to beef up border drug enforcement. The President has accepted a recommendation by several Senators, including me, to create a drug enforcement task force along the Border.

The United States and Mexico face many common problems besides the battle to control illegal drugs. We both have huge trade deficits and international debts. The U.S., in fact, passed Mexico and Brazil at the first of this year to become the world's biggest debtor nation. We both need fiscal austerity at home. We are both suffering from the collapse in oil prices.

These common problems are especially evident and acute along our Border. As one who was born and reared in the Rio Grande Valley, I know how a problem on one side of the Border hurts people on the other side as well, whether it is a sudden change in currency values or the lingering depression in rural areas.

Unemployment on the Border, for example, is a staggering 27.6 percent in the Eagle Pass area, compared to 20 percent in Mexico and 7 percent in the U.S. at large.

As neighbors, the United States and Mexico ought to be working together to solve our common problems. But in recent weeks, officials from both countries have fired such salvos of criticism back and forth across our Border that one would expect imminent warfare.

When neighbors get to feuding, it is always regrettable. It is especially unfortunate when they spend their time pointing fingers at each other instead of rolling up their sleeves and working together.

This spring I traveled to Mexico for meetings with President de la Madrid and several cabinet officials, as well as with business people from both countries. I know from those encounters that the will exists to work together.

If we are to resolve the serious problems facing both our countries, we must have more cooperation and less confrontation between our two countries in the months and years ahead.

The time has come for a truce.

Taxing Unit of Knox County Hospital

CALCULATION OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE, ESTIMATED UNENCUMBERED FUND BALANCES, AND DEBT SCHEDULE

I, Oscar Hagle, Tax Assessor/Collector, by contract for Knox County Hospital, in accordance with Sec. 26.04, Property Tax Code, have calculated a 1986 tax rate of $1.00 per $100 of value as the tax rate which may not be exceeded by more than three percent by the governing body of the Knox County Hospital.

The estimated unencumbered fund balance for Maintenance & Operation funds is $0.00.

The estimated unencumbered fund balance for Interest & Sinking funds is $0.00.

The following schedule lists debt obligations that 1986 property taxes will pay. This taxing unit does not collect an interest and sinking fund tax.
