AFTER HARVEST DELAYS

Munday Vegetables Heading For Market

It has been an eventful harvest season in the Munday area, and this is bad news for the many growers of various crops who would like to see the harvest finished and the crops out of the ground. The latest to suffer from wet weather are those who planted onions and cabbage.

A larger demand than market for onions and availability of trucks for shipping the vegetables has created an ideal situation for local onion growers - if it would just dry up enough to get the onions picked and processed. A spokesman at the Knox County Vegetable Co-op said that although there has been a shortage of trucks in other areas, this is not the case in Munday. "We're not having any problems shipping," she said. "The trucks are here and waiting to take the vegetables out when the weather gets dry."

The clipping of onions has continued, but the new grader can't get into the wet fields to grade the crop. It was hoped that the grading process would begin again early this week, as fields began to benefit from the sunny skies. "We're locating some fields that are dry enough to work on," the spokesman said.

Onion yields have been affected in some places by excessive rain and hail, but it has not been determined that the quality of the vegetables has been hurt. With cooperation from the weather, the onion crop could be harvested in another two to three weeks.

A few cabbage heads have been harvested, and the quality of that particular vegetable looks good at this point. Producers say it is too early to tell much about the yield but feel it will be affected to some extent by the wet weather.

Wheat harvest in the Munday area is over for all intents and purposes. A few mudholes remain to be cut, but most out-of-state harvesters have pulled out to begin their trek north. A spokesman at Farmers Grain Co-op in Munday said they had received over 700,000 bushels of wheat this season, which is somewhat better than last year's total. This year's harvest weighed in at 42 million pounds but was expected to be heavier. The late freeze and early heat definitely took something out of the wheat, according to local elevator operators.

For cotton farmers, another kind of problem exists. Planting of this crop has been difficult because of the continuing rainfall, and some producers have planted three times. Newly-planted cotton may not have survived the hard rain and high winds of the weekend, and cotton that was up a little higher might make it - if it isn't standing in water. But when the fields dry completely, blowing sand will compound the conditions.

Potato harvest is in full swing after a weekend delay due to the rain. The price on potatoes has gone up, and through reports from other potato-producing states, it looks as though there may be a shortage of potatoes this year.

The latest rain didn't really affect the quality of area potatoes, said Joe Tidwell of TXS Vegetable Producers. But a reduced yield on all types of the vegetable, especially on the whites, is a disappointment to growers. The yield on white potatoes is down 30 to 40 percent below normal, Tidwell said.

Potato harvest in the area is about half finished, said one shed employee, but every rain pushes operations back - and makes the potato producers' faces grow a little longer.

LET'S GO FISHING! High water at Miller Creek Reservoir has brought the fishermen out in droves when the weather is cooperative. Although the biggest fish have been caught on trotlines, these men decided to try a bit of angling from the bank Tuesday morning. Recent heavy rains in the area have raised the water level still higher, a fact attested by the 15 inches of water running over the spillway. In addition to the nice catfish and bass being caught at the lake, the high water is a guarantee to the members of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority that water supplies are ample for some time to come.

School Trustees To Fill Board Vacancy

Persons interested in being considered for the vacancy on the Munday Independent School District board of trustees have until July 2 to contact school superintendent Doyle Lowrance. The board will appoint someone to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Bob Winchester.

Qualified individuals interested in the position must see the superintendent in person. The appointment will be effective until the school board election next spring, at which time candidates for the remaining two years of the term will be voted on.

Citizens Asked To Help Protect Post Offices

Texas and Oklahoma continue to be the target of post office burglars, according to Postal Inspector-in-Charge D.C. Strader of Fort Worth. Strader, whose area of responsibility includes the northern half of Texas (north of Austin) and all of Oklahoma, said that over 50 burglaries will occur within the boundaries of the Fort Worth division this year if the current trend continues.

Most of the burglaries have occurred at post offices that are located in rural communities that have limited or no local law enforcement available for routine patrols at night.

"A majority of the burglaries do not involve the loss of postal funds, because very little money is kept overnight in post offices and postal stations. Safes and security containers are used to secure the money and blank money orders which are kept overnight," stated Strader. "In addition to burglary-resistant security containers, we are continually adding and updating existing alarm systems where appropriate. However, we need for the residents of each city, town, and community to help us protect their post offices and stations from burglaries and vandalism."

Local postmaster Dolores Lambeth emphasized the need for citizen involvement. "Even though postal funds are secured in a safe, burglars who are unsuccessful in attempting to break into a safe will sometimes steal mail left in customers' post office boxes. Even when they don't steal mail, they sometimes just cause malicious vandalism. In either

Seniors Citizens To Enjoy Song Night

Munday senior citizens will hold their monthly singing night at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 25, at the Munday Community Center. Several out-of-town singers have been invited.

Persons who enjoy singing or who just like to listen are invited to attend.

event, it does cost the Postal Service money to repair the damage incurred and for the postal inspectors to conduct an investigation. Our local tax money is also spent by our local law enforcement officers who incur expenses, because they are usually the first agency to respond, and they also provide valuable assistance in the investigations to the postal inspectors.

"But the most important reason for citizen involvement is because it causes a hardship to those whose mail is stolen or destroyed as the result of a burglary or a senseless act of vandalism," said Postmaster Lambeth.

Residents can help reduce burglaries and vandalism by reporting suspicious activity at or around the postal facilities which occurs after business hours. This activity would include such things as automobiles or trucks with license plates from outside the local area, unfamiliar people asking suspicious questions about the post office or amount of law enforcement patrol at night, or loitering in the post office box lobby or around the post office by groups of young people at night and on weekends when the post office is closed. This information should be reported to the local law enforcement agencies and to the postmaster or station manager.

Post office burglary is a Federal crime which carries a penalty of up to a $1,000 fine or up to five years in prison, or both. The Postal Service offers a standing reward of up to $5,000 for information and services leading to the arrest and conviction of any person responsible for the burglary of a post office. Any information about a post office burglary, or any crime committed against the Postal Service or its employees, should be reported to the local postmaster or the Postal Inspector in Charge in Fort Worth.

"It's your community, your post office, and your mail," said Mrs. Lambeth, "and we need the help of all our citizens in helping to reduce crimes against the Postal Service in our area."

County Vegetables On Display Saturday

There will be something for everyone at the Knox County Vegetable Show to be held Saturday, June 27, at the Munday Community Center. Commercial producers and home gardeners are encouraged to enter the show by obtaining a list of entry rules and then bringing their entry to the community center between 8 and 9 a.m. the day of the show.

For those who don't grow their own vegetables, a farmer's market will be located in the community center parking lot. Featuring Knox County potatoes and onions, the market will be open from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Growers who wish to sell vegetables at the market may rent spaces for $5.

The vegetable show exhibits will be judged in the morning, and the show will be open to the public from noon to 3:30 p.m. Awards will be presented to best vegetables in each division and to the top overall junior and senior home gardeners.

Organized by the Knox County Horticulture Committee, the show is being sponsored by Osbornes and the First National Bank in Munday, Zeissel Brothers Fertilizer and Seed in Rhineland and Whittle and Paint Shop, Dillon Greenhouse and Tri-State Chemical in Knox City.

HSU Honors Earned By Munday Resident

An MHS graduate was one of 13 Hardin-Simmons University students inducted into the college's Xi Sigma chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an international honor society in education.

Among those honored at the April 30 induction ceremony and banquet was Wilda Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith. In addition, Miss Smith was recently inducted into the Pi Gamma Mu national social science honor fraternity and the new Phi Alpha Theta international history honor society.

She has completed her junior year at HSU and is working on a bachelor of education degree with a double major in English and history.

County's Veterans Receive VA Funds

Most of the money expended by the Veterans Administration (VA) in Texas went directly to veterans during fiscal year 1986, according to Waco VA regional office director Stephen L. Lemons.

"Of the $1,757,553,147 expended in Texas during fiscal year 1986, more than 54 percent, or $951,756,049, went directly to veterans as compensation for disabling injuries or diseases incurred while in the armed forces, or as pensions for wartime veterans with limited incomes," Lemons said.

He added that the VA spent $88,826,144 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation benefits, $88,738,148 for insurance and indemnity payments, $32,471,840 for facility construction, and $595,760,966 for medical services and administrative costs in Texas.

"The Veterans Administration proudly serves those who served our country," Lemons said. "For more than half a century, the VA has been a deliverer of benefits, a pioneer in medicine, a financier in education, a guarantor of home loans and an advocate for Texas veterans."

Estimated VA expenditures for Knox County veterans totaled $550,716. This figure includes $527,266 for compensation and pension, $23 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation, and $23,427 for insurance and indemnities.

Courier To Take Long 4th Weekend

We're closing - but just for two days! The Munday Courier office will be closed Thursday and Friday, July 2-3, to give the hard-working employees here a short but well-deserved vacation. To accommodate the early closing, we will put the paper out a little early next week.

We ask that all copy, both news and advertising, be turned in by 5 p.m. Monday, June 29, so we can get the paper ready for printing on Tuesday. The benefit for our readers is that they will receive their papers in the mail earlier than usual, too.

Persons needing printing or other job work done and our business supply customers should keep the closing date in mind, also. We will be back for work on Monday, July 7, and hope to have lots of news of happenings over the country's most patriotic weekend.

Remember, all news and advertising must be in by 5 p.m. Monday, and we won't be here Thursday and Friday. The Courier staff hopes that all our loyal readers and customers enjoy a safe and happy holiday.

DPS Estimates 40 Fatalities During 4th Of July Holiday

The Department of Public Safety estimates that 40 persons will die in traffic accidents in the state during the upcoming Fourth of July holiday period.

For counting purposes, the National Safety Council has designated the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 2, through midnight Sunday, July 5, as the holiday period.

Last year, during the Fourth of July period, 41 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents, with four others subsequently dying of injuries suffered during the time frame.

"Even though the 1986 and 1987 holiday periods are the same length, we're hopeful that fewer persons will die this year, in keeping with the steady decline in traffic deaths we have been observing in recent years," said Col. Leo Gossett, director of the DPS.

Though the number of holiday vehicle deaths varies from year to year, the causes of fatal accidents do not.

"Last year, slightly more than 6 out of 10 traffic fatalities resulted from accidents in which either speed or driving while intoxicated were listed as contributing factors," Gossett said. "The message is clear - high speed or driving under the influence of alcohol, and often a combination of both, can kill motorists. It's also very important to remember to wear that safety belt and make sure very young children are in child safety seats."

As in years past, the DPS will conduct its Operation Motorcade program during the Fourth of July period, with periodic reports on the number of traffic deaths occurring during the 78-hour counting period.

Additionally, as part of Operation Holiday, DPS Highway Patrol commanders will be assigning added personnel to patrol the state's highways during the period.

4th Of July Safety Tips: Preventing Eye Injuries

Fourth of July Holiday fireworks are dangerous to your eyes. It is estimated that 4,000 people will suffer eye injuries, with 1,000 of these resulting in permanent vision loss, according to the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

"Bottle rockets are responsible for more than half of these injuries," says Richard D. Cunningham, M.D., director of the division of ophthalmology at Scott and White in Temple, and professor at Texas A&M University College of Medicine.

"I cannot describe the tragic feeling when we have to remove eyes from children or adults and know the injury was preventable. Wearing protective goggles or glasses will prevent most eye injuries," notes Dr. Cunningham.

He emphasizes that children should never be allowed to handle or ignite explosive fireworks.

The most frequently injured person is a ten-year-old boy setting off bottle rockets, according to a three-state fireworks injury survey in Arkansas, Georgia, and West Virginia.

Nationwide, more than half the states have adopted a model law which limits the use of fireworks to licensed displays or relatively safe fireworks such as sparklers. The three-state study indicated that there were ten times more fireworks injuries where no model law was in effect.

Another recent fireworks eye injury survey, being conducted by the American Academy of Ophthalmology, is designed to gain comprehensive information on eye injuries caused by fireworks.

More than 11,600 ophthalmologists in the United States are being asked to participate by reporting how many injuries occur, the severity of injury, and the type of fireworks involved.

Some tips for avoiding eye injuries during 4th of July holiday include:

- *Always wear safety goggles or glasses when setting off fireworks.
- *Only adults should handle or ignite explosive fireworks.
- *Adults should be present to supervise children during the use of relatively safe fireworks such as sparklers.
- *Do not put firecrackers in a bottle or tin can, or under a clay pot. When such objects shatter, the fragments are often propelled into the eye, causing serious eye injury.
- In case of eye injury:
  - *Immediately rush child or adult to a hospital emergency room for treatment.
  - *Never press, rub or touch the eye.

Refrigerators Work Hard In Summer Temperatures

As summer temperatures soar, it's even more important that your refrigerator keep its cool. Proper installation and maintenance can make that possible.

Dr. Susan Quiring, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, says, "To keep the refrigerator and freezer at proper temperatures during warm, humid weather, try to open them as few times as possible. Don't leave the doors standing open for a long time while searching for something, and try to take out everything needed at once instead of opening and closing the doors a few times."

An overloaded refrigerator is inefficient. It doesn't allow the air to circulate and cool all the food. Clearing out near-empty jars and leftovers that haven't been used in a few days will help, she says.

"When you have a large amount of hot food to cool, divide it up into smaller containers. Small quantities of food in narrow layers will cool faster," says Quiring.

"Door gaskets need to be in good condition to keep a refrigerator running properly. Damaged gaskets allow cool air to seep out of and warm air into the cabinet. The specialist suggests checking the gasket by putting a piece of paper between the door and the gasket and closing the door with a little of the paper sticking out. Pull slowly on the paper. If there is some resistance, the gaskets are working fine, she says.

Keep frost from building up in the freezer or dust and lint from collecting on the condenser. Large buildups may cause the unit to work harder than necessary to maintain desired temperatures.

"Summer heat and humidity may make it necessary to adjust the temperature and air controls," Quiring adds. "The ideal temperature for a refrigerator ranges from 33-39 degrees, and freezers should be set anywhere between 0 and -8 degrees."

During the ice cream judging, special events such as a three-legged race, tug of war, cow chip throwing contest and tobacco spitting contest will be held. The public is invited to watch these races and taste all the ice cream entries at 50 cents per cup.

Other activities to take place at the fire barn include ring toss, football throw, can toss, dart throw, turtle race and frog jump, in addition to two new contests, calf scramble and calf dressing. Hot dogs and cold drinks will be served while the action is going on.

A talent contest is open to the public, and half of the entry money will be returned as prizes. A spectacular fireworks display will begin at dark, and everyone is invited to bring their lawn chairs to watch this July 4 tradition.

Entries for the ice cream freeze-off and talent contest must be turned in to the King County Extension office by June 29. Entrance fees for both events are $1. For more information, contact Sherry Brady at 596-4474.

★ Weinert News ★

By Mrs. Myrtle Plemister

Among the many fathers in Weinert who were honored on Sunday were Pud Brockett, whose daughter, Coleen, and her husband, W.C. Nance, drove up from Houston to be with her family on Father's Day. Coleen has had physical problems, so we were surprised and pleased she was able to come this far.

Others who attended the get-together were a nephew, Jerry Collins of Gallup, N.M.; Courtney Reeves, a granddaughter from Lubbock; a daughter, Jo-boy Coffman of Goree, and a son, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brockett of Munday.

Wayne and Linda Plemister, Lincoln and Laura, are spending a few days vacation with relatives and friends here before returning to their home in Austin.

Chesley Forehand attended the Forehand reunion held at Ft. Belknap on Father's Day, but illness kept Jeannie from accompanying him. The entire Forehand family are former residents of Weinert and we have fond memories of the family.

The First Baptist Church honored several fathers on Sunday, beginning with a chocolate cake being given to Hal Guess as the youngest father at worship. The fathers with the most children present were Lyndo Guess and Kenneth Sanders, who tied.

The only father who was served breakfast in bed was Joe Yates, but because of absence he was not awarded the prize.

John Mayfield was honored with having all of his children home and at worship with them on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Arch Mayfield of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Rimmer and Adrienne of DeSoto and Mr. and Mrs. Will Ricketts of Dallas visited the Mayfields.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mayfield entertained their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham of Ransom Springs, and grandsons, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Teague, Melissa and Justin, of Haskell and Mondy Mayfield of Weinert.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Wade of Abilene visited her parents, Toby and Alice Yates, and other relatives over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. James Glasscock, with Jackie, LaDonna, Jimmy, Billy, Johnnie, Rusty, Amanda, Cody and Tanya, of San Angelo, were here to visit their parents and grandparents, the Roy Plemisters, and attended worship services on Sunday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hatfield of Munday.

Faye Brian entertained her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Johnson of Sacramento, California, and other relatives during the weekend. They returned to their home on Monday.

Jeanie Forehand is improving in health, and a visit from her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Skipworth of Robert Lee, and a sister, Brenda Lawrence, was very beneficial in breaking the monotony of her continual bed-rest confinement.

David and Peggy Plemister, Marcus Wayne, and Greg left today for Chicago, Ill. to spend a few days there with their son, Cpl. D. Bryan Plemister, and wife Rosemarie. Bryan is a Marine stationed there.

Dale and Doris Carroll, Darlene, Dianne and Denise, attended the Carroll family reunion held at the Civic Center in Haskell the past weekend.

Rene Vojkufka was honored at a birthday dinner given by her children as she celebrated her "39th" birthday. She looks and acts as lovely and light as the balloons that floated over the dinner table, and proves the saying, "You are only as old as you feel!" Many, many more Rene!

Larry and Linda Sanders, Robert and Lynette, of Las Alamos are in our area for a few days and will spend some time with Larry's parents, R.S. and Betty Sanders, and also with Linda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Giffith of Paint Creek.

Len Mahon underwent surgery on his shoulder on Tuesday, June 23, and is recovering in Hendricks Medical Center in Abilene.

Our birthday people this week are Sheila Castorena, Tencha Gonzales, Kelly Earp, Brenda Sanders and Jerry Hester. Happy Birthday to each, and congratulations.

Superintendent Lyndo Guess and Principal Chesley Forehand have finished their training and have both been re-certified as teacher-appraisers. We commend these two for their dedication to the teaching profession, and we appreciate the work they do for our small school.

The WMU of the Weinert Baptist Church will host a salad supper on Thursday, June 25, at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Michelle Keil of Edinburg will be the featured speaker at the event, and area ladies are invited. Mrs. Keil is the mother of Debbie Crump.

Heather Guess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Guess, is attending the G.A. Camp in Lueders this week. She was included in the group that went from the Munday church.

Helen Boykin was in Munday to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Chan Hughes, and later enjoyed a visit with Chat and Bub Adams, formerly of Weinert, now residing in Munday.

Betty and Bobby Carroll of Nashville, Arkansas were in town to attend the Carroll reunion. They reported Ted and Edna Boykin are well, and adjusting to Arkansas climate.

ALEXANDER REUNION

Approximately 65 descendants of the late Jim and Ophelia Alexander gathered at the Kiva Inn in Abilene for their 50th annual family reunion, with Mr. and Mrs. Larry Caddell of Springtown in charge.

There were 13 children born to the family, with 11 being raised to maturity and each family was represented save one. The family of Simeon was not represented because of illness in the family.

The one coming the farthest was Mrs. Leroy Fisher of California, the daughter-in-law of Willie Alexander Fisher. The eldest one present was Ima Stewart of Weinert.

One special event was the surprise birthday party given for Rene Vojkufka on Saturday night. (She thought no one knew it was her birthday!)

Larry Caddell was speaker at the family devotion held in the chapel on Sunday.

Next year's chairmen will be Mr. and Mrs. Tiffen Mayfield of Weinert.

Land Bank Enters Phase II Of Fixed Rate Loan Program

Officials of the Federal Land Bank of Texas have announced plans to extend their new fixed rate, purchase money loan program.

Favorable response to the Land Bank's fixed-rate loan program in May prompted the bank to initiate Phase II of the program. Phase II offers qualified purchasers a 9 3/8 percent interest rate for the purchase of farms and ranches and a 9 5/8 percent rate for the purchase of rural residences. Each program has a 1 point closed loan fee to the bank.

"The bank's executive committee reviewed the overall benefits of the program and determined that the program would be beneficial to our stockholders by helping stabilize the rural land market in Texas," says Don Rogge, president of the Federal Land Bank of Texas.

Rogge noted that during the first 30 days of the program, 298 applications totaling $47 million were submitted to Federal Land Bank Associations across the state.

"We are encouraged by the response to the new program. We feel it could be an indicator that the real estate market in Texas is beginning to turn around," Rogge said.

The program fixes the interest rate for 10 years and converts to the bank's variable rate at the end of the 10 years. Purchasers must qualify under the Land Bank's usual credit standards and use the money for new purchases only.

According to Rogge, rates for the bank's existing variable rate borrowers also were reduced on June 1. The new rates are 10.25 percent on farm and ranch loans and 10.50 percent on rural residence and farm-related business loans.

The Federal Land Bank and 44 Federal Land Bank Associations located throughout Texas have $2.38 billion in loans outstanding on 37,000 loans to approximately 100,000 Texas farmers and ranchers.

Those interested in more information should contact their local Federal Land Bank Association, the bank president said.

Justin Wade Baty was born Friday, June 19, in the Haskell Memorial Hospital. He weighed 6 lb. 2 oz. and was 19 inches long. His parents are Alan and Beverly Baty of Gilliland. Little Justin entered the world with a respiratory problem and was taken immediately to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene and on Sunday was taken to the Children's Hospital in Ft. Worth. His condition on Monday was stable.

Justin's grandparents are Buddy and Janice Tolson of Benjamin and Louis and Lula Baty of Gilliland. Great-grandparents are Buster and Louella Tolson of Benjamin, Roy and Mary K. Daniel of Truscott and Emma Scott of Crowell.

He also has lots of uncles, aunts, cousins and many friends who are praying for him and look forward to him coming home.

WEEKEND WEATHER

We have had some real weather the past few days. The worst for us came early Saturday morning around 2 a.m. Lots of lightning, some pretty strong gusty winds and rain amounting to 1.3 inches came with the storm. We are thankful that it wasn't any worse than that and sure have enjoyed the cooler weather that has followed. Maybe we can have a few days of storm-free weather now.

COMBINATION CONVECTION MICROWAVE OVENS

The problem of fast cooking and oven browning has been solved in the form of a convection/microwave oven. The capabilities of a long-cooking convection oven have been joined with the speed capabilities of a microwave, in the same oven cavity. This oven may be used as a microwave or oven separately, or combine the functions of both.

Convection ovens are different from conventional ovens. Convection ovens produce heat the same way as conventional ovens, but are designed so that a fan distributes hot air in the oven. This circulating heat removes the insulating blanket of cool air surrounding the food, and subjects the food to immediate heat.

Microwaves, on the other hand, produce energy, not heat, so the food cooks from the inside. Microwave cooking requires one-half to one-tenth of the time conventional cooking takes. Thus, the combination of these two ovens seems to make a great deal of sense.

Countertop convection/microwave units are a little larger in size than a microwave, but do not cost that much more to run. They can be plugged into any 110 volt outlet in the kitchen. The microwave and convection modes work alternately in this unit to provide the speed and browning.

Convection/microwave combination ovens can be a part of a free standing range, or a separate wall unit. The combination ovens cook faster and use less electricity than a conventional electric oven. They are capable of microwave cooking, convection cooking, almost simultaneous microwave/convection cooking and microwave and convection cooking in stages.

The combination of convection and microwave cooking in the same unit offers great versatility, without taking a lot of space. Their shared advantages make fast cooking and oven browning easy.

BE CAREFUL WITH CHARCOAL BRIQUETS

Charcoal briquets are synonymous with summer and outdoor barbecues, but they can also be deadly.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 83 people have died over the last seven years from carbon monoxide poisoning due to using charcoal briquets in an enclosed area.

Just a small portion of the large amount of carbon monoxide these briquets release while burning can cause carbon monoxide poisoning or death. Since carbon monoxide is colorless, odorless, and invisible, it is difficult to tell when the gas is present at all, much less in toxic levels. Most problems occur when briquets are burned in the home for cooking or warmth. Open windows, fans and chimney drafts may not guarantee enough fresh air to keep the danger away.

To help consumers avoid this danger, the commission now requires two labels on every bag of briquets, warning about carbon monoxide dangers.

Sales of Savings Bonds Down In Area

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds for the first half of fiscal year 1987 in Texas amounted to $232,781,413, an increase of $44 million or 23.3% over the same period of 1986. T.J. Morrow, district director for the U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas, announced recently. These sales represent 60 percent of the state's 1987 assigned dollar goal of $388 million.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $2,162 during March, 1987 in Knox County. M.L. Wiggins, volunteer county chairman, said. The October 1986-March 1987 total for the county was $35,486, which represents 17.7% of the county's 1987 assigned dollar goal. Only seven counties in Texas sold a smaller percentage of their bond goals than Knox County.

Nationally, March 1987 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $703 million, an increase of 17% over last year and the highest sales for any March since 1978. Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds for the first six months of fiscal year 1987 increased 129 percent and redemptions decreased nine percent compared to the same period for 1986. Savings bonds held by the American public has reached an all-time high of $94.7 billion. The increase in amount outstanding during March 1987 alone was $883 million, the highest for any March since 1943.

Much of the sales growth can be attributed to the new market-based rate which was effective November 1, 1982. The current rate in effect (May thru October 1987) for bonds held five years or longer is 5.84%. The average rate since November 1, 1982 (five years) is 8.68 percent. Bonds held at least five years earn 85 percent of the average rate on five-year treasury marketable securities during the holding period which is currently 8.68 percent. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

Current rate information is available by calling toll-free, 1-800-US BONDS.

Ignore Mail Solicitations To Social Security Clients

There is an old Latin phrase used in business law -- caveat emptor. It means "let the buyer beware."

The reason this is mentioned is because there are some direct mail solicitations made to the elderly and the disabled, preying on their fears that Social Security is not financially stable, and there are serious efforts underway to dilute the protection that Social Security benefits provide, Frances Braden, Vernon Social Security representative stated.

The pitch is made that if older Americans will send in a contribution, these direct mail outfits will take care of the problem. This is why the Social Security office says caveat emptor -- let the buyer beware.

Available information suggests that little of the money contributed to these organizations is used for the stated purpose of lobbying to represent the interests of Social Security beneficiaries. Apparently, much of the funds raised by the first mail solicitation are ploughed right back into additional mail solicitations, designed to reach an even wider audience, using the same scare tactics.

Braden said these appeals are disturbing because they make the job at Social Security to educate the public about the financial soundness of the Social Security system and to restore confidence in that system more difficult.

The Commissioner of Social Security has stated both before Congress and in public appearances and interviews around the country that one of the top priorities of Social Security is to restore public confidence in the Social Security system and to assure the current 37 million Social Security beneficiaries and the 125 million workers who pay into the system that the system will meet its obligations now and in the future, as it has done for almost half a century.

In spite of the efforts of so many to assure that the Social Security system is financially sound, older Americans continue to receive fundraising appeals suggesting that their Social Security benefits may be in jeopardy unless they contribute to some organization dedicated to protecting their interest. Unfortunately, the very existence of these organizations rests on their ability to raise funds by perpetuating the myth that, in one way or another, the Social Security system is threatened.

Another concern at Social Security is the solicitation practice of certain "document service" companies that offer, for a fee, assistance in such services as applying for a Social Security number, updating Social Security records to reflect a married person's change of name, or requesting a record of a worker's earnings. Social Security does not charge for these services.

The document services themselves contribute very little to the process. The forms they ask their users to complete are essentially identical to the forms the Social Security Administration uses, Braden said. The document services act solely as intermediaries in a process that does not require the assistance of a third party and may, in fact, simply delay the process.

Concerns are that some people may needlessly be paying for services that the Social Security Administration provides free of charge and that these businesses promote their services by fostering a false impression that either Social Security will not provide certain services or that it is difficult for the public to obtain them.

Social Security provides its services free of charge to the public. For those who receive a direct mail solicitation telling them otherwise, just remember, "caveat emptor--let the buyer beware."

Services Held For Well-Known Goree Resident Jay Elliott

Jay C. Elliott, 58, a lifetime Goree resident, died Thursday, June 18, at his home after an apparent heart attack.

Funeral services were at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 20, at the Goree Church of Christ, with Greg Melton of Haskell officiating. Burial was in the Goree Cemetery under the direction of McCauley-Smith Funeral Home of Munday.

Serving as pallbearers were Taylor Allen, Jack Steward, James Peek, Leo Koenig, Martin Bowman and Gary Harlan.

He was born October 16, 1928, in Goree and married Dixie Hammock June 6, 1949, in Seymour. A farmer, he was a member of the Goree Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Judy Barnes of Mesquite; two sons, Freddie Elliott of Bomarton and Mike Elliott of Seymour; a brother, Nick Elliott of Wink; four grandchildren, Jay Lee Elliott and Justin Elliott of Bomarton, Jonathan Elliott Barnes of Mesquite and Tamie Blakely of Seymour.

Prevailing Wet Weather Aggravates Insect Problems

Recent heavy rains and violent weather, causing deaths, injuries, flooding and property damage, have left almost no part of Texas unscathed. But even after the sun returns, the state may have in store more misery of another sort.

According to entomologists at the Texas Department of Health (TDH), a dramatic increase in the state's mosquito population is imminent. As early as April, TDH predicted the insect problem. The unusually mild winter had allowed the pests to continue breeding through the cool part of the year. And now, the already strong concentrations of mosquitoes have additional breeding places created by standing water throughout the countryside.

"Ordinarily, we warn everyone to keep window screens in good repair, to empty standing water out of any receptacles in their yards, and to report any extremely infested areas to their local health departments," said Bobby Davis, director of the TDH General Sanitation Division. "And of course we recommend the same things this year. But even with everyone's best efforts this year, it looks as if mosquito swarms may be inevitable."

Davis said he answers about 20 calls a day from local health officials, the Red Cross and the news media about whether TDH recommends spraying large areas to control the pests. "I have to explain that spraying, at least for now, would be ineffective, since the continuing rains would wash away any pesticide we would authorize using. When the weather has been dry for several days, some local areas may wish to spray. At that point, TDH will be available to help assess the problem and recommend mosquito control methods."

For now, Davis said, the public should continue to drain collected water when possible outside. "It is not the fresh, running water during a rainstorm, but still water that harbors mosquito larvae," he said.

"As if the news about mosquitoes is not already gloomy," Davis added, "we also predict that a lot of people are going to see an increase in the flea population. People's pets have been confined inside, often in high humidity, creating ideal conditions for flea infestations indoors--while the mosquitoes swarm outdoors. For some people who fail to rid their pets of fleas, and who are unable to reduce the number of mosquito breeding places around their homes, this summer could be pretty uncomfortable."

"Whether we have any increase in mosquito-borne disease outbreaks this year probably will not be known for several weeks," Davis said. "But people have to realize most mosquito species are no more than a nuisance."

Of the 83 species common in Texas, only four are serious disease carriers. TDH monitors outbreaks of mosquito-borne diseases, such as dengue and encephalitis, and assists local health authorities in controlling mosquitoes where outbreaks are found.

The department's mosquito surveillance program, which collects and classifies mosquito samples from across the state, helps identify where dangerous species are concentrated. The TDH Bureau of Laboratories tested some 63,000 mosquito samples last year alone.

Last year, TDH recorded 32 cases of St. Louis encephalitis for the state, including four deaths. Most of those cases were in the Houston area. Three cases of equine encephalitis were reported in West Texas. There also were 17 cases of dengue, or "break bone fever," reported, none of which were fatal. The number of instances for the year was considered normal.

HANDBOOK PREPARED FOR COW-CALF OPERATORS

A new "Cow-Calf Management Handbook" has been developed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with two livestock industry groups to assist Texas ranchers in increasing their competitiveness and profitability under current economic conditions.

The most successful cow-calf operations depend on a high percent calf crop weaned, high total pounds of beef produced by the herd and a competitive market price for quality calves. All these factors must be balanced against a reasonable and competitive costs of production.

Cow-calf producers have many opportunities to cut production costs and increase returns by assessing research-based technology and applying financial management and marketing information included in the handbook.

The handbook which contains over 100 topics divided into seven major sections for convenient reference, is designed to serve ranchers who operate under Texas conditions. The materials are assembled in a three-ring binder for ease of updating by producers.

Grants for development and publication of the book were contributed by the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo and Hoechst-Roussel Agri-Vet. Co., which is headquartered in Somerville, N.J.

An office copy of the handbook has been placed for reference in each county Extension office. Producers who wish to inspect the book, secure order forms, and place orders for the book -- which is priced at $40 per copy -- may do so by going by the Knox County Extension office located on the second floor of the county courthouse.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

Watching Washington

While chairing Senate Finance Committee hearings during the past few months, I have heard over and over again a theme of vital interest to our nation's senior citizens and those who will one day pass age 65.

That is, Medicare has made a tremendous difference, but does not fully keep its promise to protect older Americans from financial catastrophe when a serious and lengthy illness strikes.

Eight percent of our nation's senior citizens spend more than one-fourth of their income on medical care. Unless we act, nearly seven million Medicare beneficiaries who require hospitalization in 1989 will pay an average of $1,720 in out-of-pocket payments.

When you recall that 1.53 million Texans are older than 65--9.4 percent of the nation's elderly--that's a particularly important consideration for our state.

I am determined to ease the burden. That's why I have authored legislation, which will be voted on by the Senate this summer, to help prevent financial catastrophe for elderly Americans who suffer lengthy illness.

This voluntary coverage would be handled under Medicare. Once participants meet a $1,700 annual deductible, it would cover all hospital and most doctor bills.

To finance these benefits, the plan combines a $4 basic monthly premium and a progressive premium. Average out-of-pocket medical payments spread among all 31 million Medicare enrollees would be reduced by 22 percent--from $542 to $423. The bill would cap out-of-pocket costs at a maximum $1,700 in 1988 and $1,772 in 1989.

It is particularly important to note that about 60 percent of America's elderly, who currently pay no income tax, would pay nothing but the flat $4 premium for this additional coverage. And because coverage is financed by premiums, it will not add one dime to our nation's deficit.

Participants would be liable for no more than one inpatient hospital deductible each year, as opposed to as many as six under current law.

They could receive daily home care for 45 days if they have been hospitalized recently or discharged from a skilled-nursing facility. This is more than twice as long as under current law.

And whether or not they have been hospitalized first, they would be entitled to three weeks of daily home care.

I am encouraged by the response to this bipartisan approach. The Finance Committee approved it 20 to 0. Cyril Brickfield, the executive director of the American Association of Retired Persons, said, "I commend Senator Bentsen on his catastrophic care proposal. It advances the debate substantially with regard to both expansion of Medicare benefits and financing of them."

This is the most significant, far-reaching change in the Medicare program since its inception in 1965. It needs to become law so that we can better protect our nation's older citizens.

W.G.'s Meet In Bowden Home

Alta Bowden decorated her table with silver, china and crystal to host her recent W.G. party. After the salad was served, ice cream and angel food cake were brought out for dessert.

Gifts were exchanged, new names were drawn and games were played by Viola Cude, Pauline Morrow, Juanita Massey, Ruth Griffith, Elaine Gulley, Frankie Ponder, Dorothy Putnam and the hostess, Alta Bowden. Everyone was a winner because of the love and fellowship they shared! *****

SINCE IT WAS Father's Day, surely these young ladies presented their catch to their dad! This 39-pounder was taken off a trotline at Miller Creek Sunday by the Melton Morgan family as proof that for fishin', Miller Creek is the place to be! Helping twins Sheila, left, and Amy Morgan heft the scaly creature is James Williams, whose arm and legs look a bit out of place in the photo.

Food Labels: Good Health Information

Food labels, which can be a source of important information to consumers, can also be very confusing, especially these days. For example, you may wonder what a company means when it advertizes that its product is "lite" or "low calorie."

which have at least as many calories as sucrose. If the product tastes sweet, check for ingredients like aspartame or saccharine to insure that the calorie count is really lower.

Words like "natural" and "organic" may make a product sound like it is better for you—and it may be. On the other hand, there is no legally recognized definition for these words, so you must look carefully at the rest of the label in order to determine whether one brand is really better than others.

CONTENTS

What most labels do, of course, is inform consumers about package content. On most labels, the major ingredient, by weight, is required to be listed first, followed by the second most prominent ingredient, and so on. So, if you read a sugared cereal label and the first ingredient listed is sugar, you know that there is more sugar than anything else in the food. If wheat is listed first, then the product should contain more wheat.

LABEL CLAIMS

If you want to count calories, you should be aware of some Food and Drug Administration regulations about labelling. A food labeled "low calorie" should have no more than 40 calories in each serving. If the food is labeled "reduced calorie" it must contain at least one-third fewer calories than similar foods in which the calories are not reduced. The FDA also requires food to be labeled "imitation" if it is less nutritious than the product it is replacing.

Food labeled "sugarless" can be used very deceptively, because it only means that the product contains no table sugar or sucrose. It may contain corn syrup, honey or sorbitol, all of
