Scores of parents will also be helping whatever way they can.

"We hope to see lots of supporters looking at the stock and encouraging these young people as they strive toward excellence," Tunmire said. "They work hard for this all year - it is the highlight of their stock show season."

Lions To Sponsor Stew Supper Friday

The Munday Lions Club is hosting a stew supper from 5-6:30 p.m. Friday, January 15, at the high school cafeteria prior to the varsity basketball games between Munday and Knox City.

The menu includes homemade stew, cornbread and cobbler. Plates are $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 10. Proceeds from the meal will benefit various Lions charities.

Local Lions invite everyone to come eat a hearty meal with them and then go watch the Mogulettes and Moguls as they try to take a home court advantage over their district visitors.

SOME OF THE BEST Class A football players in Texas have played for the Munday Moguls. The recently-announced All-State list bears this fact out, as seniors Anthony Stinnett and Jeremy Hutchinson were named to the first team offense. Stinnett was also named Class A's player of the year and made the second team defense. Pictured from left are senior Sam Hunter, second team offense; Hutchinson; Stinnett; junior Chad Bordovsky, honorable mention; senior Glen Reid, honorable mention; and junior Lowell Hutchens, third team defense.

Stinnett Voted Top Class A Grid Star

Honors continue to roll in for Munday Mogul senior Anthony Stinnett. The Texas Sports Writers Association All-State teams were announced Sunday, and Stinnett was named Class A Player of the Year in addition to making the All-State first team as a running back and the second team as defensive back.

Joining Stinnett on the offensive first team unit is senior Jeremy Hutchinson, Mogul center. Senior guard Sam Hunter was a second team choice, and junior Lowell Hutchens made the third team as a defensive lineman. Honorable mention went to senior defensive lineman Glen Reid, junior linebacker Chad Bordovsky and to Hutchens as a placekicker.

Stinnett rushed for 2,468 yards and 37 touchdowns in his senior season, helping lead the Moguls to the state semi-finals. A versatile player during his four years of varsity status, Stinnett was on the All-

Discussion Of Conservation Program Slated

A meeting to provide information on the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) has been set for 7 p.m. Thursday, January 28, at the USDA Plant Materials Center in Knox City, according to directors of the Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District.

"This meeting is being held to provide information to individuals interested in participating in the CRP in Knox County," said district conservationist Jerry Pearce. "We hope that this meeting will provide some good, useful information to landowners who are considering or have committed to participating in the program. The meeting will also be a few days prior to the February 1-19 sign-up and will allow landowners some time to make decisions before signing up."

Included in the meeting agenda will be topics such as eligibility, bid procedures, cover establishment and cover maintenance. Key speakers at the meeting will be Pearce, county ASCS executive director John Rector and Greg Huber, a range conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. Several vegetative contractors will be on hand to discuss custom work available.

Interested parties are encouraged to attend or call 658-3526 for more information.

Moguls Victorious In First District Contest

The Munday Moguls got off to a good start in district action, defeating the Benjamin Mustangs 73-32 in the first conference game last week, then traveling to Seymour Friday to take a last-second 61-59 win over the Class AA Panthers.

The Mogulettes suffered from lack of height in their pair of games last week, losing 48-35 to the tall Lady Mustangs, then falling 70-56 to the talented Pantherettes. It was a better week for the junior high and junior varsity girls, as the seventh grade lost a close game to Knox City-O'Brien, the eighth graders took a big victory at Knox City, and the JV Mogulettes also defeated Knox City 44-42 in overtime.

As the Moguls gain experience and confidence, balanced scoring is the result. Kent Sanders and Terry Collier each scored 14 points against Benjamin while Anthony Stinnett added 11. Four players, Chad Bordovsky, Sanders, Stinnett and Marc Andrade, scored in double figures

One-Act Play Cast Selected At School

A one-act play cast has been chosen at Munday High School, and the students are beginning rehearsals for a very ambitious production. "The Diary of Anne Frank," a well-known love story taken from the journal of a teenage Dutch girl during World War II, will be performed by Munday in this year's UIL competition.

Perry Kuehler, a veteran one-act play participant during his years in high school, judged the play try-outs, and he reported a very difficult time in choosing the best person for each part. Winning spots on the ten-member cast are Chris Burnett as Miep, Jeremy Hutchinson as Mr. Frank, Alexis Bordovsky as Mrs. Frank, Kacy Longan as Anne, Holly Jackson as Margot, Lowell Hutchens as Mr. Van Daan, Annette LeFevre as Mrs. Van Daan, Ronald Edrington as Peter, Jeff Herring as Mr. Dussell and Marc Andrade as Mr. Kraler.

The crew includes Rita Ramos as stage manager, Angie Partridge as lighting director, Ann Parker as sound technician, Jenni Bowman as production secretary and Marguerite Skidmore as assistant stage manager.

Karen Longan is directing the play, and she said she hoped the cast would have an opportunity to stage a public performance, but any decision about this will be announced later.

Tumbling Meet Is Planned Saturday

The Munday Gymdandeez will sponsor a gymnastics meet Saturday, January 16, at the Munday Elementary School gymnasium. Towns to be represented include Munday, Rotan, Roby, Haskell, Stamford, Crowell, Quannah and Vernon.

The gym will open at 9 a.m. and the grand march is set for 10. Tumbling and trampoline competition will be judged from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The Gymdandeez Mothers club will sell hamburgers, baked potatoes, nachos and homemade desserts beginning at 11 a.m. Area persons are invited to purchase lunch at the gym and to watch the gymnastics competition. There will be no admission fee.

Gins Report More Than 22,000 Bales

A bumper cotton crop is not all out of the fields yet. A check with area gins Tuesday morning revealed that over 22,800 bales of cotton have been ginned at the four facilities in the Goree-Munday-Rhineland area.

It's been a long harvest for employees at the area gins. Some cotton is still in the fields and may not be stripped for some weeks. And at least two gins are still behind and keeping busy, so the end is not in sight yet.

Bale totals are 4,158 at Munday Gin and Seed, 5,500 at Knox Prairie Co-op, 3,169 at Goree Producers Gin and 10,000 at Rhineland Gin.

Knox Prairie came to a standstill for a few days for repairs at the gin, so employees there are working hard to get through the backlog of trailers. Munday Gin and Seed is picking up some overflow, so their gin is still in use, also. At Rhineland, some 110 modules remain on the waiting list, and all the gins expect to get a few loads from late harvest.

Sixth Graders Do Research, Program On Holiday Customs

Sixth-grade students of Mrs. Leona Partridge conducted an interesting class project before Christmas. The young people did extensive research into the customs of Christmas in their social studies, English and fine arts classes. On the final day of school before the Christmas holidays, the students presented a program they prepared from the information they had summarized from their research.

Students taking part in "Christmas and its Many Customs" were Tony Birkenfeld, introduction; Lupe Diaz, Christmas in Mexico; Esmeralda Nunez, Posada; Ricky Thomas, the Yule log; Robyn Clem, stockings on the mantle; Mandi Moore, the star and candles; Monica Nieto, mistletoe; Michele Berryhill, gift-giving, holly and wreaths;

Also, Leslie Wilde, Christmas cards; Kevin Stone, bells; Jason Blake, carolling; Brandon Milhoan, Christmas tree; Teisa Porter, reindeer, elves and the North Pole; Sylvia Sepeda, Spanish customs at Christmas; Jake Jordan, the angels; Tony Morgan, nativity scene; and Laura Burnett, Bible reading and the origin of St. Nicholas.

The fine arts class presented a pantomime and reading of "Twas the Night Before Christmas." Several mothers and elementary principal Doug Donoho were present for the special program.

Abilene Cotton Classing Report

Receipts became more steady this week as weather permitted gins to continue operations. Although many gins throughout the area are finished now, those still ginning are keeping a fairly steady stream of samples arriving in Abilene. Ice and snow of varying amounts caused some slowing late in the past week but more pleasant weather soon returned.

Two shifts classed 36,979 samples during the four day week, which brought the season total to 631,378 bales classed. Carryover is now about 15,000 samples, and Abilene may soon return to one shift to class the remaining bales.

Graves continued to run slightly lower than the previous week, but 31 is still the season's most predominant grade. Bales reduced one grade for bark showed the most dramatic increase at 33.5%, up from 26.8% one week ago. Strength readings are running slightly more dispersed than earlier, but are averaging approximately the same as earlier cotton. Micronaire remained steady from a week ago, but continues to read lower than in cotton classed earlier. Market activity remained slow again this week.

It's A Girl!

Proud grandparents are Jimmy and Janice Albus of Knox City and Ted and Jerrie Fairchild of Junction. Great-grandparents are Theresa Albus and C.H. and Clara Herring, all of Rhineland, Melba Hicks of Junction and Carrie Fairchild of Eden. Her great-great-grandmother is Mrs. W.A. Jungman.

Both varsity teams were in action Tuesday night at Goree, and hometown fans will get their first district look at the teams Friday, as they host the Greyhounds and Houndettes of Knox City for four games. JV contests begin at 4 p.m. The first half of district action will end Tuesday, January 19, as Munday travels to Weinert.

Coach Klinkerman Comments

We obviously had a better team than Benjamin; although I've been told they are much improved from last year they still lack some ball-handling skills. We were able to get everybody in to play, and we were happy to get our first district win.

We beat Seymour on two last-second free throws by Chad Bordovsky. Just as important was the good defense that resulted in a steal that gave us the opportunity to make the shots instead of letting Seymour take the ball in to score what probably would have been the winning points.

We had some rough spots in the game and saw some areas of concern. Twice we built leads of 8 or 10 points and let them evaporate, then we got behind by 7 at the beginning of the fourth quarter. We showed a lot of composure in coming back to win it. Seymour is a senior team which advanced to the finals of the Olney tournament after beating Breckenridge, who then beat us. They have good free throw shooting skills, and we were able to overcome that. Overall, it was a good night for us. It's good to win the close ones, especially in our opponent's gym. Knox City beat Seymour by 3 at home, so I think we're probably as good as anybody in the district.

We're looking forward to playing Knox City, but we don't want to overlook Goree. We don't know much about them but expect them to be well coached. Their junior high team beat us soundly. All in all, I think we're still making good progress.

Coach Farmer Comments

We just couldn't play our kind of game on Benjamin's small court. They played a spread out zone and we got rattled when we couldn't make them run. Kathy did a good job on the boards, she's improving every game. But we couldn't make up for the difference in height. Angie and Mindy had good games, too, but they defended Mindy well and she couldn't get loose.

In the Benjamin game I substituted our second team in every two minutes in the fourth quarter, and that worked real well. I wish I had tried it sooner.

We didn't know we were going to play Seymour until that afternoon. Christy Williams, Ann Parker and Robin Reneau had already played two games that week and Esther Escamilla was sick, so we suited Jae-Jae Reneau up for varsity and played with only seven girls. Jae-Jae did a good job for us, and Alicia Cook had an outstanding game. She handled the ball better than I've ever seen. In the first half, we really ran hard, and we stayed close. Mindy was hitting some three-pointers, and April did a good job on defense; she's getting more aggressive and she's not afraid to shoot. In the second half Seymour slowed down the pace and covered Mindy better.

I think if we played everybody in our district like we did the first half at Seymour, nobody could stop us. The girls are beginning to realize that they can outrun people if they will just put the other teams in that situation.

Our rebounder of the week is Kathy Wilde. She is learning to control herself more; she's not fouling as much when she comes down from getting a rebound. April and Alicia tied for Most Valuable Player honors with the most assists, and Mindy was the offensive and defensive player of the week.

Our junior varsity played super man-to-man defense in their win over Knox City. Chris Burnett really did a good job - she is getting more aggressive. The seventh grade played well, too, and I am just amazed at the eighth grade girls. There are only seven of them, but they are the most unselfish players I've ever seen. Even when they have a shot, they will pass off to someone who has a better shot. I'm really impressed with them, and I think if they continue to play so well together they have the potential to be a state championship team.

I'm still optimistic about our chances in district. We'll play everybody a good game, and I feel that the outcome of the district competition is just going to depend on who's hot on any particular night.

Afternoon Wedding Unites Miss Brown, Steve Rutherford

Elaine Marie Brown and Steve Kendal Rutherford were united in marriage at four o'clock in the afternoon Saturday, January 2, 1988, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland. Rev. Robert Strittmatter officiated at the vows and nuptial mass.

The bride is the daughter of Walter and Rose Marie Brown of Munday. The groom's parents are J.B. and Sharon Rutherford of Knox City.

The church was decorated with poinsettias offset by a pair of candelabras appointed with fern and English ivy. White bows and English ivy marked the pews.

Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. Lisa Myers of Munday, and vocalists were Kristi Exum of Wichita Falls and Curtis Knobloch of Denton. They sang Always, To Me, Flesh of my Flesh and El Shaddai. The church choir provided the remaining songs for the mass, including The Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of rose point hand clipped Chantilly lace over satin. Iridescent sequins and pearls were scattered over the fitted bodice and the sleeves, which extended to points over the hands. The waltz-length skirt of gathered net was designed with insets of matching Chantilly lace over satin. Her tiara of beads, pearls and silk flowers held the chapel length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white gardenias, sweetheart roses, ivory tea roses and stephanotis entwined with English ivy and a crystal rosary given to the bride by her mother.

Her mother's wedding gown served as something old, and for something borrowed, the bride wore pearl earrings worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her blue garter was made by her mother, and for something new, she completed her wedding ensemble with a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom. A pair of pennies minted in the years of the couple's birth were placed in her shoes for good luck.

Judy Smith of Fort Worth, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen Ptacek of Fort Worth and Nancy Alexander of Munday, sisters of the bride, Alesha Rutherford of Knox City, sister of the groom, and Kathy Penartz of Wichita Falls. Junior bridesmaids were Jennifer Ptacek of Fort Worth and Tara Alexander of Munday, nieces of the bride. Briana and Brittany Alexander of Munday, also the bride's nieces, were flower girls.

the former Elaine Brown

The bridal attendants and junior bridesmaids were attired in sapphire blue taffeta and tulle tea length gowns. They wore matching hats of sapphire blue taffeta and tulle and carried white fur muffs trimmed with a burgundy rose, tulle and sapphire blue ribbon streamers. The flower girls were dressed in white gowns with sapphire blue taffeta sashes and carried baskets of flowers and rose petals.

Joey Rutherford of Austin, the groom's brother, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jamey Montgomery of San Angelo, Lindley Carter and Mike Stratton of Lubbock and Tyke Meinerz of Knox City. Anthony Ptacek of Fort Worth, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer. Ushering guests were Nickey Ptacek and Brad Smith, both of Fort Worth, and Terry Alexander of Munday, brothers-in-law of the bride.

The groom chose a black tuxedo with tails complemented with a white vest and black bow tie. He wore a burgundy rosebud in his lapel. His attendants and ring bearer were dressed in black tuxes, white shirts, sapphire blue bow ties and matching cummerbunds with burgundy roses in their lapels.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception and dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Rhineland. White roses trimmed the wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bridal couple and stood on a table covered with a white cloth overlaid in white lace. The cake was made by the bride and her mother. An arrangement of mixed flowers in blue, white and burgundy with two white candles completed the table decorations. Sheryll Elliott of Weatherford, Oklahoma and Alyson Fisher of Arlington served guests. Kristi Bufkin of Munday presided at the registry table.

The groom's table was covered with a blue satin cloth overlaid in white lace. The two-tiered chocolate fudge cake, also made by the bride and her mother, was decorated with frosted grapes and English ivy. A silver coffee service and the unity candle completed the setting. Serving were Jennifer Stratton of Lubbock and Taryn Thompson of Lubbock.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Shamrock Cafe in Munday.

The bride graduated from Munday High School and is a magna cum laude graduate of Midwestern State University, where she was a member of Mortar Board, Alpha Chi and Alpha Lambda Delta and was an Outstanding Young Woman of America honoree. She is a certified public accountant employed by Peat Marwick Main and Co. of Fort Worth. The groom graduated from Knox City High School and is a cum laude graduate of Texas Tech University. A member of Alpha Gamma Rho, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Zeta and Agri-Techsans, he was honored as an Outstanding Young Man of America. He plans to attend law school.

After a wedding trip to Santa Fe, New Mexico, the couple will make their home in Fort Worth.

★ BENJAMIN NEWS ★

By Mrs. Gladene Green

With several days of terrible wintery weather behind us, we are finally seeing maybe a nice day or two. Can't tell though, by the time this paper is out, we may have another spell. Let's hope it doesn't get as bad as these first two were.

Benjamin lost another citizen Friday, when Pete Barnett passed away in the Seymour Hospital. Pete had been in failing health the past few years but never felt too bad to chat with you when you saw him. He will be greatly missed. We extend sympathy to Omitene and the rest of the family.

The basketball teams keep up their usual pace - two games each week. This past week Munday came over and the host teams split the winning. The Benjamin girls won in a good game. The score was 48-35. The Munday boys team won by a much wider margin - 73-32.

On Friday night, the local teams braved the ice, snow and downright nasty weather to go to Knox City for a match over there. Benjamin girls continued their winning ways by defeating the Houndettes 35-21. Knox City boys won 71-23. Benjamin girls remain undefeated.

Several have asked when the 1988 Benjamin Homecoming is. After checking, I'm told it will be the third weekend in June, the 17, 18 and 19. Mark those dates on the calendar and start making plans to be here. As time goes on, we'll say more about it.

HERE AND THERE

Jim, Jason and Kobi Melton of Abilene and the Jack Youngs of Lubbock were New Years guests of H.T. and Kathleen Melton.

Henry Rogers was in Dallas last week to babysit his grandchildren while the children's parents took their grandmother to Galveston for a medical checkup.

Bro. Woolley learned Saturday of the death of his nephew who lived in Houston. Due to bad weather, the Woolleys were not able to attend the funeral.

Katrine Hudson and her daughter and son-in-law, Debbie and Hassan Iberham, of Killeen, were here several days last week for a visit with friends and relatives. Debbie and Hassan married in July and have been living in Egypt since that time. He will continue his education in the fields of accounting and computer science. It was good to see Debbie and to meet her husband. We're glad they are back in Texas and Debbie said that although living in Egypt was a very good experience, she is glad to be home.

Anthony Lamb of Wichita Falls spent last week with his grandparents, Dutch and Imean Young.

About half as much hot water is used in the average shower as in the average bath.

Weinert Extension Homemakers Meet

The Weinert Home Extension Club met on January 5 in the home of its president, Faye Jetton, for the first meeting of the new year.

Order of business included appointments of club hostesses for the year and chairmen for club projects. Alice Yates was appointed chairman of the birthday calendar committee, which is the club's only money-making project. Advertisements for the calendar will be sold the week of January 21 and new ads must be called in before that date.

Mrs. Yates gave the council report with major emphasis given to the junior livestock show and concession stand the council will be in charge of. The show is scheduled for January 29-30 at the Haskell County show barn.

Betty Sanders and Debbie Crump were appointed to be leaders for the February meeting, entitled "Altering your clothes when you are losing weight." The club will meet in the home of Betty Sanders for the program, which will be held on February 2 at 2 p.m., and visitors are always welcome.

The club voted to put a minimum bid of $250 on the quilt they made and donated to the West Texas Rehab Auction.

Nine members and one guest answered roll call of a "New Years Resolution I plan to keep." Mrs. Jetton led the devotional, and Erma Liles gave the invocation, before the refreshments were served.

Those attending the meeting were Cordie Cunningham, Debbie Crump, Myrtle Phemister, Anna Mae Roberts, Henrietta Rueffer, Agnes Winchester, Alice Yates, Betty Sanders, and guest, Erma Liles.

Thought for the day was "It's foolish to spend money you don't have, for things you don't need, to impress people you don't like!"

VERA HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Claudell Bratcher were visitors with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Ellis, in Bowie.

Barnett Services Held In Benjamin

Aubry 'Pete' Barnett, 82, a long-time Benjamin resident, died Friday, January 8, in the Seymour Hospital after a long illness. Services were at 2 p.m. Monday, January 11, at the First Baptist Church in Benjamin with Rev. Larry Neal, pastor, and Rev. K.E. Woolley, retired pastor, officiating. Burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery in Munday under direction of Smith Funeral Home of Knox City.

Barnett was born August 30, 1905, in Blue Ridge and had lived in Benjamin more than 67 years. A farmer and custom harvester, he was a member of the First Baptist Church of Benjamin.

Survivors include his wife, Omitene; a brother, Rotan Barnett of Dallas; a brother-in-law and sister-in-law; and several nieces and nephews.

SOIL TESTING — IMPORTANT MANAGEMENT TOOL

A simple soil test is an important management tool that is often overlooked. It can insure that proper amounts and grades of fertilizer are being applied for economically optimal yields.

In fertilization result demonstrations conducted in Knox County, soil tests are used to determine what fertilization levels will be evaluated. During 1987, these demonstrations were conducted by L.D. and Lloyd Don Welch, David Key and James Amerson in wheat, sorghum and cotton, respectively.

The soil test recommended rates of fertilizer in the wheat and sorghum demonstrations proved to be economically the best fertilization rate. They also were the top yielding plots in both demonstrations.

The fertilizer rate recommended by the soil test for the cotton demonstration was economically only second best. The best plot only had an additional 5-0-0 foliarly applied at first bloom but these results were not real clear.

These fertilization demonstrations conducted by local producers clearly demonstrate how soil testing can be an important management tool. The complete results of these demonstrations will be in the 1987 "Results of Agricultural Demonstrations in Knox County" which will be available soon.

Proper sampling is an important key to getting good soil test results.

Normally, a soil sample at plow depth, which is about six inches deep, is adequate. If a subsoil sample has never been taken, then take samples from several sites to look at nutrient status below the surface. Subsoil fertility status is very important in deep rooted crops such as coastal or cotton.

The next question that needs answering is, "How many subsamples and what size field should a single sample represent?" If a field is uniform, then 10 to 15 subsamples per 100 acres should be adequate for a good soil analysis. Fewer subsamples and a larger area are possible if the field has never been fertilized.

Prior to taking small samples, scrape the litter from the surface, then use a spade, soil auger or soil sampling tube. To use a sharp shooter, dig a V-shaped hole and take a 1/2 inch slice of soil from the smooth side of the hole. Repeat in 10 to 15 different places.

Place subsamples in a clean container (plastic bucket, paper sack, etc.), mix thoroughly, and take out approximately one pint for the composite sample.

Soil sample bags and information sheets may be picked up at the Knox County Extension office located in the county courthouse at Benjamin.

Mayfield Family Celebrates Holiday

December 24, 1987 was a special day for Clyde and Otie Mayfield of Weinert, as they gathered at the Haskell Civic Center with their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren for a dinner and gift exchange. The party was hosted by Doris and T.J. Bruggeman and their son, Terry. The guest registry was signed by 27 family members.

The Mayfields had four children, Codgell, Couilla, Tiffen and Rebus Lee. Codgell and Rebus are now deceased.

The day was spent in visiting, playing games, taking pictures and reminiscing. Gifts were exchanged after the meal.

Those attending the party in addition to the hosts were Paula and Johnny Weaver, John Paul and Mark, Dallas; Gary and Cindy Mayfield, Jay and Stacy, Giddings; Forest and Tammy Mayfield, Melissa and Nicholas Clyde, Athens; Couilla and George Cunningham, Ransom Canyon; Tiffen and Erlinda Mayfield, Mondy and Mitch, Weinert; Jeff and Lisa Teague, Missy and Justin, Haskell; and the parents, Clyde and Otie Belle Mayfield of Weinert.

The Importance Of Touch

by Tim Hansel

(Editor's note - The following article is presented as a public service by the Knox County Child Welfare Board.)

Touch has a profound ability to communicate, either positively or negatively. If you've ever watched a used-car salesman -- and a really good one could sell you your own shirt -- you know he will grab a customer by the elbow or touch him on the shoulder or figure out some other way to make body contact. He knows, at least instinctively, that the right touch can transform people into eager purchasers.

The television show "Nova" did two insightful studies on touch. The first study took place at a library. The control group came to the library desk and handed their books back to the librarian. On their way out, an interviewer asked them what they thought of the library. For the most part, their answers were neutral to negative. "What do you mean, what do I think of the library?" they would say. "It's just a normal, dull place."

With the experimental group, the librarian was instructed to make some slight physical contact with the person handing back the books, such as brushing that person's hand with her own. When these library patrons were interviewed, their responses were usually highly favorable. "Oh, the library is a great, friendly place," they would say. "It's a good place to study."

In the other study, some change was left in a telephone booth. The control group was allowed to use the phone booth and find the money. Then someone would come up to them and say, "Excuse me -- I was in the phone booth just before you, and I think I left some money in there. Did you find it?" Only 30 percent of the people returned the money when the request was simply verbal.

With the experimental group, contact was made. The person would touch the telephone user on the sleeve, the shoulder, or the elbow while making the same request. Ninety percent of the people returned the money. This gives scientific evidence that touch has a profound way of changing actions.

It has been documented that if children aren't touched, they will suffer physically, mentally, spiritually, and emotionally. I've read that we need a minimum of four hugs a day to survive, eight to be normal, and twelve to be super healthy. I believe that's possibly true.

One author has said that a major reason teenagers get involved sexually is that they want someone to touch them in an affirming way. All they want is to be held, but if they feel they can meet that need only through sexual activity, that is what they will do. Kids need to be touched while they are growing up. Those who are deprived of touch may grow so hungry for it that they become sexually promiscuous.

Personally, I almost maul my kids - I'm always rustling their hair or tapping them on the shoulder or making some other kind of contact. I wrestle with them often. I do that so their tanks will be full when they become teenagers.

Even when they're teenagers they need the value of touch - even if it's more subtle. One friend, who has two teenage daughters, 5'6" and 5'11", says they still love to be hugged and snuggled. As she says so well, "Don't expect your kids to last through their teen years without touch, even if their tanks are overflowing at age twelve."

I once watched a TV interview of a man who had molested children for seventeen years. He said he could spot susceptible kids - the ones who suffered from a lack of touching and a lack of good relationships with adults - instantly. These were the children he approached.

Kids need ongoing touch. In fact, we never outgrow the need for it. Even though I'm in my mid forties, touch is important to me. It's great when Pam leans over, puts her hand on mine, and says "I love you." Somehow it's different from when she just says "I love you" without touching.

If a kid can't get affection from his parents, I would hope he would have other positive models who could give him legitimate touch. A coach, for example, can get down and wrestle with the boys. Ben Parks, one of my dearest friends, is a coach in the San Francisco Bay area. He's a thick, muscular, deeply caring man who has more charisma in his little finger than most of us will ever have in a lifetime. He's not afraid to touch kids. He hugs them by the neck and says, "How are you doing today, Champ, are you making it?" I've seen lives transformed by Coach Parks' incredible, tangible love. I've seen kids walk a mile out of their way just to get hugged and encouraged by this amazing man.

I heard a story about a Sunday School teacher who hugged every child every Sunday. When the kids tried to walk out and evade her, she just walked through the line, grabbed them, and hugged them anyway. During the year, she found unbelievable changes happening in the kids' self-esteem.

In communication, touch is just as powerful as listening. It lets people know they're important. It lets them know you care.

GET SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER FOR DEPENDENTS

If you claim an exemption for a dependent -- whether it's your 85 year old mother or 5 year old child -- you must list a social security number for that person.

Requiring a social security number for all dependents 5 years of age and older is part of the tax reform that goes into effect this year. If dependents' social security numbers are not listed on the 1040 or 1040A tax form, or if they're wrong, you may be subject to a $5 penalty for each missing or incorrect number.

If you have dependents without social security numbers, you need to apply now. Get form SS-5, complete and file it with any office of the Social Security Administration. A representative from the Vernon Social Security office comes to Munday and Knox City monthly. Times are listed in the local newspapers or you may contact the Vernon office by calling 552-9346.

When you apply for a social security number for a dependent, remember to bring evidence of the person's date of birth, U.S. citizenship or legal alien status and identity.

A public, hospital or religious birth record will generally be accepted as proof of birth and citizenship. Proof of identity can be established with something that shows name, age, address, physical description and a picture.

Documents such as a driver's license; school, work or youth organization identification card; insurance policy; medical records; U.S. passport; U.S. citizen identification card; work badge or building pass may serve to show identity. The document you use must be original or certified.

If you apply for a dependent's social security number but don't receive it before you file your 1987 tax return, you can write "applied for" on your tax return.

STORING KEEPSAKE GARMENTS

The attic or garage may be the best place to store any number of things, except grandma's wedding dress, the baby's christening gown or that antique quilt you're saving for your daughter. Textile heirlooms of all types require special care and storage.

Most people know that their textile heirlooms must be cleaned and packaged properly. But it's equally important that they then be stored in the proper environment.

Changes in temperature and humidity can cause damage to fabrics. Store these textiles in an area of your home where the temperature stays relatively constant. A bedroom or any other lived-in area of the home is best.

Attics and garages are poor places to store heirlooms because they're not heated or cooled. Humidity and temperature change radically from day to night and season to season and will contribute to the deterioration of even well-packaged textiles.

★ Weinert News ★

By Mrs. Myrtle Phemister

The "Siberian Express", so called, took up residence instead of rushing through our area, and the extreme cold with all the ice has kept us "on hold." We will welcome the sunshine we have been promised.

Our condolence to Shannon Forehand and Mondy Mayfield whose "wheels" were wrecked last week. Ice on the road is everyone's enemy, and the most careful driver sometimes errs in driving on it. We are happy neither was injured.

Our congratulations go to several Weinert couples this week. They are Ed and Mary Murphy, Joe and Caron Yates and Hal and Cindy Guess, who celebrated wedding anniversaries the same week. Birthday people include Henry Rueffer, Betty Raynes, Lupe Castorena, Gayle White, John Brueggeman, Ruben Castillo and Ann Horan. Happy Birthday, to all of you, and many more!

Floyd McGuire joined our sick list and was hospitalized in the Haskell hospital. He was diagnosed as having developed diabetes and will remain hospitalized a few more days.

Glenn Caddell is recovering from heart bypass surgery he underwent at Humana Hospital in Abilene last week.

T.E. Reeves has been under the weather again, but is greatly improved at this time.

We wish for all our sick a speedy recovery to good health.

Bud and Mildred Offutt received word that their daughter, Sgt. and Mrs. R.W. Anderson, with Mellisa and Valarie, had arrived safely at their home in Eatontown, New Jersey, after a week's visit in Weinert. The Andersons have returned from a tour of duty in Germany, and are happy to be back in the States. They are especially pleased with the schools for the children, and the children are enjoying school more.

The Andersons spent some time in Oklahoma with R.W.'s parents, the Ross Andersons, who are former Weinert residents when Ross was pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

Sallie Sanders has enjoyed a visit with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Slade, of Eagar, Arizona, and they have all gone to Daingerfield to visit in the home of Sue and Butch Cox, another daughter. Other guests in Sallie's home included Eva Hardeman of Irving and her son, Johnny, and his wife Carol, of North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sanders and Scarlett Brazzell of Cross Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Sanders of Putnam, Oman Sanders of Coleman and Darrell Sanders of Pensacola, Florida.

Betty and R.S. Sanders were in Winters for the funeral of Betty's aunt last Friday. They had a nice visit with her parents while there, especially with her mother who is taking radiation treatments in Abilene. She is doing well as can be expected.

Eddie Sanders was in Munday to visit relatives last week, especially with Jimmie Bullington, who lost a granddaughter through death, and Edna Lemley, another cousin, who has been ill.

Alton and Mildred Sanders has been spending time in Merkel, sitting with their granddaughter, Amanda, who is recovering from hepatitis.

Rene and Scooney Vojkufka were in Abilene to visit Jana Caddell while Glenn was recovering in ICU from heart surgery.

Bryan and Rose Phemister, with 7 week-old son Jonathan, arrived safely from Chicago on Friday night after a harrowing three day trip through the ice storm. Bryan has recently been separated from the U.S. Marine Corps after a three-year service. He attained the rank of corporal and was a loadmaster on a C-130, as well as a radio dispatcher on the plane. He will be looking for a job in the Austin-San Marcos area, as he has had all the winter weather he needs for a long while!

Our congratulations to Pvt. Alfred Garza, who recently completed his recruit training at the Marine Corps Depot in San Diego. We are very proud of Pvt. Garza. He is a 1987 graduate of Weinert High School, and he joined the Marine Corps in September of '87. His mother, Anita, and other relatives reside in Weinert, and his brothers and sister are students in the Weinert school.

This week is mid-term test time, and as always there will be some "midnight oil" burned as students cram for exams. The basketball teams will travel to Knox City on Tuesday night, but Friday night we will host the Benjamin teams here. The students will enjoy a brief vacation from school on Friday, as the teachers will have a work day that day.

This is the time of year that ski lovers look forward to. Kregg Sanders, with three of his classmates at NTSU, returned Sunday night from a skiing trip to Cloudcroft, N.M. Kregg will be leaving for Denton on Thursday for another semester of college. He enjoyed a very successful football season the first semester.

Ed and Mary Murphy, Lane and Shanna, were in Rio Castillo, N.M. for a fun-filled ski trip last week. Others in the party included Bob and Melanie Wood and Cory, Joe and Caron Yates, Jace and Dusty, Christy Herricks with her friend Robin Murray of Throckmorton, and Ricky and Linda Wade of Abilene.

D.I. White and Mattie report that their grandson, Todd Hackney of Ft. Worth, won first-place recently in the Wichita County bullriding contest. The win puts Todd a step closer to his dream of being a professional bull rider when he graduates from high school in June. Congratulations!

Weinert's newest resident is Alan Heard, who has recently moved into the former residence of Elmer and Linda Adams. He is employed as a farm laborer for Tiffen Mayfield. Welcome to Weinert, Alan.

A cut up starfish will regrow into several starfish.

We are glad you are reading the Munday Courier, and we hope you enjoy each issue.

Letter To The Editor

An Open Letter to the Community Choir of Munday:

On December 21, a crisp star studded night, my neighbors and I were spiritually uplifted by music so pure that it could have come from the heavenly choir itself. At my front door was gathered a group of amateur singers who with this one night bridged the gap into professionalism. And all because they were having such fun, we listeners were infected with their joy which sustained us throughout the holidays.

What a happy night it was and we thank you, we thank you, we thank you.

Economic Recovery Requires Changes in Our State Judicial System

By Governor William P. Clements, Jr.
One hundred years ago the Texas population stood at about 2.2 million. Our population in 1990 likely will approach the 17 million mark.

Texas—like communities across our state—has experienced explosive growth during the past century. We have witnessed an era of unprecedented prosperity and opportunity, heightened by our ability to respond to changing economic conditions.

Our current efforts to revive our economy can no longer tolerate a status quo approach to economic development—or a judicial system that drives businesses and industries away from Texas, not to Texas.

Judicial reform is a major goal of my administration because it is a major goal of all Texans. We have made some progress; we must make more.

The problem is easily stated. Between 1981 and 1985, the number of court filings involving civil claims jumped from 27,000 to 38,000, or an increase of 41 percent. Put differently, the number of tort filings for every 100,000 Texans increased from 190 in 1981 to 230 in 1985.

Those statistics reflect an increase in the filing of frivolous lawsuits seeking extraordinary damage claims and virtually limitless judgments.

All are counterproductive and anti-business.

Businesses provide jobs only when they are in business. Those jobs start to disappear the moment a business begins focusing its attention on legal proceedings, not its competition.

To help end that threat to economic recovery, the Texas Legislature passed—and I signed—a sweeping package of tort reform legislation.

Our tort reform measures send an unmistakable message to the judicial system that Texans are tired of frivolous lawsuits clogging up the courts, making it hard for the real victims of injustice to plead their cases.

Tort reform also sends an equally clear message to businesses that we want them to prosper, not be driven out of business.

Now it is time to take another step and restore confidence in our Texas Supreme Court—the ultimate arbiter of civil law in Texas.

That court has become the laughing stock of the nation. It has been scrutinized by television's "60 Minutes," ridiculed by the New York Times and lambasted by the Wall Street Journal.

All three have noted that our current method of selecting members to that court—through statewide elections—fosters attempts at influence buying through judicial campaign contributions.

Confidence must be restored to our Supreme Court.

A step in the right direction was taken in November when I selected Tom Phillips of Houston as chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court to replace John Hill, who has resigned.

His selection represents the dawning of a new judicial day in Texas. Judge Phillips has no hidden agenda. He represents the first volley in the fight for a judicial selection process in Texas in which merit and fairness are the determining factors in the selection of Supreme Court justices.

That issue will spark a lot of debate during the 1989 Legislature. A 15-member Joint Select Committee on the Judiciary already is hard at work studying ways in which our Supreme Court can be enhanced through some type of revised judicial selection process.

My position is well-known. I will actively campaign for a system that allows the governor to select members of the Texas Supreme Court from a pool of talented jurists compiled by a blue-ribbon panel.

Those judges would then stand for public election. Through such a merit selection system, the people will still provide a philosophical direction for the court.

This is not a minority opinion. Texas is one of the few states that elects its judges on the basis of popularity and who can raise the most money.

It is time that our citizens are given a guarantee that our civil laws are weighed on the basis of fairness and independence, not campaign contributions.

Club Hears Talk

The Munday Garden Club met Tuesday, January 5, in the home of Kathryn Moorhouse. No business was recorded, and roll call was answered by ten members and one visitor.

Jim Dillon gave a lecture on early garden and flower cultivation and planting. His talk included how to prepare beds in the fall for spring planting, preparing the soil and fertilizing. He advised that seeds could be started inside and cared for until planting time or that plants could be purchased from a greenhouse later in the season. He also discussed trouble caused by insects and gave examples of good vegetables and flowers suited for early planting. He closed the program by reciting a poem, "A Package of Seed for Ten Cents" by Edgar A. Guest.

Club members received literature on planting and care of early gardens and enjoyed refreshments of cake and coffee.

★ TRUSCOTT-GILLILAND NEWS ★

By Mrs. Clara Brown

Another week of winter is behind us, and it was a very wintery week. The second snowfall (sleetfall might be a better description) with temperatures dropping almost to zero kept almost everyone in who didn't need to chop ice so livestock could water or to feed cattle. All the Christmas books were read, so if we have another storm people may be in trouble.

One person observed Monday that one strange thing about the latest cold spell has been the lack of wind the last several days. The almost windless days have helped the woodpiles last longer. Even in this bad, icy weather the area propane trucks have made their rounds to make sure customers have fuel for heat. Even if you do have a fireplace or wood stove, it is still good to know that you can turn on a gas fire because someone has made sure you have the fuel.

Truscott and Gilliland were just about shut down the last several days. To start with, on Thursday the senior citizen meal at the center was cancelled. Then on Friday Gail Whitley only set hair for three persons. The Grandma's Sunday Dinner was cancelled since no one wanted to brave the ice to get things ready. No church services were held in Truscott or Gilliland Sunday. Monday morning brought sunshine and slightly warmer temperatures. Actually the temperature was 20 degrees higher, but when you start from 15 above 0 for your comparison, the improvement is hard to notice.

Kay Carroll said she and Charles went to Vernon Thursday. The worst part about driving in Vernon that day was trying to maneuver in the ice-glazed parking lots.

Son Propps was released from the Knox City hospital last Tuesday and he and Avis were being taken to Lubbock so he could have therapy when they were turned back at Guthrie because of the highway conditions. They returned to Knox City and checked in at the rest home for a few days.

Ila Mae Bullion went to extension council last Monday, in between ice storms.

Some say the wild hogs have been seen rooting up the ice to get to the wheat plants. Following them have been seen deer and sandhill cranes.

The Owen News were in Haskell Sunday to have dinner with their granddaughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Teague and children, Missy and Justin.

Sunday the Dennis Welch family had dinner with his parents, E.D. and Mary Welch.

Lee and Gail Whitley and Crystal were in Guthrie Sunday to visit his sister and mother, Kay and Donald Miller, Donald Lee and Clint, of Guthrie and Fran Fox of Desert Hot Springs, California. They said the road was icy in spots in the morning but was in good shape when they came back. However, Highway 6 from Benjamin to Truscott had more ice in the afternoon since it does not have as much traffic.

Allen Heard has moved from Newcastle to Weinert where he will work for Tiffen Mayfield.

John Mark Kinnibrugh of Graham and a friend, Jamie Reid of Archer City, visited his parents over the weekend. They went hunting but found few quail.

June Looney left the north country Friday and headed for New Braunfels to visit the family of her daughter, Nancy Becker. Newell stayed home to feed.

Lucille Langston reports her family returned Friday from Rockport. They left here December 23 along with her mother, Mrs. Martha Riley, and spent Christmas at Rockport with their children. Mrs. Riley became ill and spent six days in the hospital, so their return was delayed until she could make the trip.

A rig has moved in on the Alexander Ranch and drilling has started. Sunday a crew of rough-necks had to be pulled out of the ditch on the China Creek - Alexander road, which must be the slickest road in Knox County.

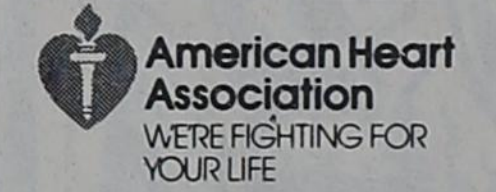

DARREN ALBUS

Locals' Kin Chosen To Assist Stenholm

The new year began a new career for Darren Albus, son of Dwight and Donna Albus of Abilene. Congressman Charles Stenholm chose Albus as his new agricultural legislative assistant in Washington, D.C. for matters other than livestock, dairy and poultry. Researching legislative concerns and working directly with farmers and ranchers of the 17th District will be his prime responsibilities.

Albus was an honor graduate of Abilene High School in 1983, and was active in Future Farmers of America, serving as chapter president and participating on judging teams at the state level. He also received his Lone Star Farmer degree. Albus was the recipient of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo scholarship for overall accomplishment. He graduated with honors from Tarleton State University in 1986, earning a bachelor of science degree in ag economics, and he completed courses for his masters degree in agriculture at Texas A&M University last month.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Verhalen of Knox City and the late C.J. (Tip) and Loretta Albus of Rhineland.

Social Security Recipients Will Get Benefit Statements

If you're a Social Security beneficiary, you should receive a Social Security benefit statement (Form SSA-1099) in the mail sometime this month. The form shows the amount of Social Security benefits you received or repaid in 1987. You should use the form to help you figure whether any of your Social Security benefits are subject to Federal income tax.

Most Social Security beneficiaries do not have to pay any Federal income tax on their Social Security benefits. If your Social Security check is your largest source of income, you probably won't owe any tax on your benefits. But if you have substantial income in addition to your Social Security benefits, up to half of your annual Social Security benefits may be subject to Federal income tax.

Your Social Security benefits may be taxable if your taxable income plus your non-taxable interest plus half of your Social Security benefits exceeds the base amount. The base amounts are $25,000 if you file as single; $32,000 if you are married and file a joint return; or $0 if you are married, live with your spouse at any time during the year, and file separate returns.

Included with your benefit statement will be an IRS Notice 703. This notice includes a worksheet you can use to get an idea if any of your benefits may be taxable. If you are married and you and your spouse will file a joint return, be sure to combine your incomes and your Social Security benefits when you fill out the worksheet.

If you have any questions about the worksheet or how to figure your taxable income, call any IRS office. The phone number of IRS offices are listed on the back of the Notice 703.

If you have questions about the information on the SSA-1099, you can call any Social Security office. *****

Watching Washington

Without question, the federal government has been stepping up efforts in the war on drug-smuggling in Texas during the last year and a half. The results include an increase in forces, more arrests of drug-peddlers and more seizures of illegal drugs.

I have worked long and hard to beef up federal anti-drug efforts in Texas — helping turn back proposals to cut back the number of lawmen along the border and the resources those lawmen have, and working to increase the number of Customs Service and Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) agents assigned to Texas. I also authored legislation that makes it easier to track down those who manufacture the drug PCP, known as "angel dust," and stiffens penalties for trafficking in this drug. In addition, I authored a provision that allows the Federal Aviation Administration to revoke the licenses of pilots involved in drug smuggling.

The war on drugs in Texas is being stepped up on many fronts. Customs is heading an anti-drug campaign, called "Operation Alliance," all along our border with Mexico. It combines and coordinates drug-fighting efforts by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Border Patrol, DEA, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Internal Revenue Service and Marshal Service. These organizations are working together, along with state and local authorities—cooperating to try to turn these drugs around and stop their flow across our border with Mexico.

DEA, for instance, is beefing up its presence in Texas as a result of Congress' 1986 anti-drug bill. DEA is increasing its forces throughout the country, but on a percentage basis, the increase in Texas is substantially larger than it is nationally.

While all of the numbers aren't in yet—the drug law is still being phased in—the results so far are promising.

Arrests by DEA are up by 39 percent in Texas, and we've seen a startling increase in the interdiction of various illegal drugs.

The most recent available figures show, for example, cocaine seizures more than doubled—to more than 7,000 pounds—during April to September 1987 over the same period a year earlier. Also during that time, seizures of marijuana along the southwest border increased 341 percent (from 46,576 pounds to 205,240 pounds), and heroin seizures were up 66 percent (41.9 pounds to 69.6 pounds).

These numbers by no means indicate we have won the war against drugs in Texas, but they do demonstrate that we have succeeded in committing the federal government to the battle.

We must keep the heat on.
