Views From Another Point

By Joyce Beecher Greenwood

As we sat discussing the storms that terrified everyone for two days last week, my friend, Fran, remarked, "I hope nobody ever decides to video tape my family going to the cellar."

I share that hope. I can think of nothing else where a person is so vulnerable, so completely without any semblance of dignity, than on a mad rush to a storm cellar as rolling black clouds are bearing down on her.

How fortunate people are who own basements during tornado season.

"It looks like it could storm, dear," says a lucky basement owner. "Perhaps we should take the children and sleep in the basement tonight."

I would almost rather risk the wrath of the elements than to go down into a storm cellar. My mind conjures up all kinds of creepy, crawly things lurking in the dark corners while we flounder helplessly, trying to light the kerosene lamp. "Do you have the matches?"

"I thought you had the matches." During one of our lamp-lighting ventures, Amy let out a blood-curdling scream as the beam of the flashlight she was holding fell on what she - and I - thought to be a poisonous Gila Monster. I had thought I was too old and fat to spring up onto a chair, but I'm not.

"It's only a harmless salamander," Tommy informed us.

Harmless to some people maybe, but it almost caused my heart to short circuit, lying there at the base of the steps, beady little eyes demanding to know why we had invaded his privacy.

Storms seem always to come up in the dead of the night. We are too far out to hear the storm signal, so Mother calls us on the phone.

"The whistle's blowing. They've spotted a funnel cloud."

Amy is instantly awake, has her shoes on, grabs her dog, and heads for the car. Tommy is a different story. First he argues that it's not that bad, then he wants us to go on and leave him to take his chances. After I have finally convinced him to go, he takes time to pull on his boots, because he doesn't want to ruin his house shoes. Amy and I sit waiting in the car as the storm approaches until I can't stand it and make another wild trip into the house. He's had to take time to go to the bathroom.

Finally, we arrive at my mother's house and the storm cellar in the back yard. I'm more afraid of the lightning than a twister as it cracks all around me on my way to the house to help Mother gather up all her worldly possessions. She takes everybody's baby picture.

"If the house blows away, they can never be replaced," she says.

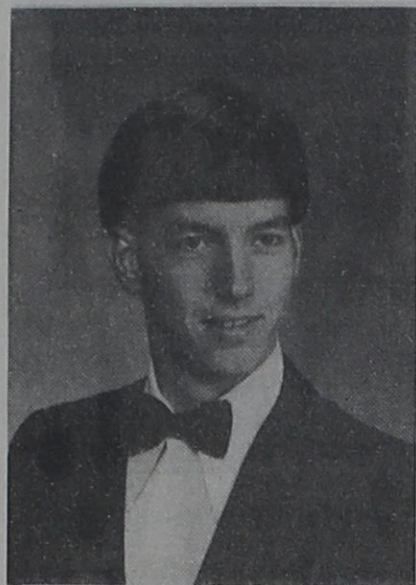

"But Mother, if a tornado blows us away while we're gathering them up, will we care if they can't be replaced?"

Not only does she take her pictures, she takes a change of clothing, all her "important papers," and her purse so that by the time she's ready to go, a U-Haul is needed. Then, she gets her little satin cap to tie carefully over her hair to preserve her hair-do.

If ever a tornado blows something onto the cellar door and we have to be dug out, my mother will step graciously from the cellar to thank our rescuers wearing fresh clothing with her hair set still intact. I, on the other hand, will emerge in my faded Mickey Mouse night shirt, a threadbare purple robe with two holes in it, and my hair glued to my head.

When you start talking about storms, everybody has a favorite story that is funny several years later, but is very terrifying at the time it happens. So it is with my wild trip to the cellar one stormy

Healthy Blood Donors Needed At Upcoming Red Cross Bloodmobile

Every minute of every day, people need blood, and you - the healthy blood donor - are the only source. Healthy blood donors are needed Monday, May 22, when the Red Cross Bloodmobile comes to Munday. Blood donations will be accepted from 2:45 to 6:30 p.m. at the Munday Community Center.

Do you remember the last time you gave blood? If not, it's been too long. A healthy donor can give blood as often as every eight weeks. Help is needed now by hospital patients who have no one else to turn to.

According to Dr. C. Everett Koop,

Surgeon General of the United States, people are not aware of the ongoing need for blood until a friend or family member requires a transfusion. They mistakenly believe they should wait for such a situation before donating. Yet, the majority of blood in this country is required by very young and very old patients, who usually do not have enough friends or family members to meet their own blood needs.

People have fears about giving the gift of life. Some say that they have no blood "to spare". Yet the body is constantly producing new blood cells, replacing old ones that die naturally after about three months. Besides, people who are anemic are not permitted to give. Another fear is the transmittal of the AIDS virus. It has always been known that donating blood has nothing to do with AIDS, but despite the known safety of donating blood, some people are still afraid to give. Their fear is unfounded - all collection agencies use a new needle for each donor.

The United States is fortunate to have as safe a blood supply as anywhere in the world. It is up to those of us who are healthy and able to do so to give blood and thus maintain that supply.

Donors are urged to stop by the Community Center on Monday, May 22, and join the community's Life Support Team by giving the gift of life-blood.

night when Joel was an infant.

We lived in our little yellow house down on the highway and the cellar we went to belonged to Mrs. Jones, our next door neighbor. A hail storm had passed over and Tommy was anxious to go to the Hefner community to see if his crops out there had been damaged.

"But what if the storm's not over?" I argued. "How will I get all the kids in the cellar by myself?"

"A tornado never hits after the hail and rain have passed," he said. "The worst of it is over."

Not quite twenty minutes after he left, the siren began to wail - the signal that a funnel cloud had been spotted.

I pulled Christye and Butch out of bed and wrapped Joe in a blanket, head and all, and we stepped out into the already hurricane force winds and pelting rain. Suddenly, Butch - who was four at the time - began to run as fast as he could in the opposite direction and I realized he must be still half asleep. I yelled at him, but my voice was lost in the wind as he continued to run across the yard and into the vacant lot at the back of our house. I handed the baby to six-year-old Christye and told her to take him to the cellar door and wait until I could catch her brother. After a mad race through the night, I managed to catch him and head him in the right direction. Joe was screaming at the top of his lungs when I finally got back to where Christye stood holding him and pushed open the heavy cellar door. I helped them down onto the steps and told them to sit there until I could light the kerosene lamp. Joe was still wailing as Christye tried to calm him by bouncing him up and down.

At last, the lamp was burning and I took Joe from Christye and unwrapped what was supposed to be his head. Two kicking feet emerged from the blanket where his head should have been. She had been holding him upside down.

Just as we were settled in the cellar and the blood had returned to the rest of Joe's body, the cellar door flew open and there stood Tommy, looking sheepish.

"Everybody o.k.?" he asked.

"We're fine," I answered, one of the few things I would say to him for a while.

I heard a lady say she thinks it is kind of exciting to run from a storm in the middle of the night. Obviously that lady has never chased a run-away kid two blocks in a blinding rain, nor jumped over a wicked looking salamander, nor tried to light a kerosene lamp with a "gopher" match, hoping all the while it doesn't blow up in her face. Excitement like that, a person could do without.

But - whether we like it or whether we don't, storm season is upon us and we'll probably all make several more trips to the cellar. Hopefully, all those trips will be unnecessary and our houses will all still be standing when the storm has passed. But there's always that chance that this time, there really is a tornado - this time that wild run will be worthwhile.

Tommy always points out the fact that we ran scared for nothing.

"See," he complains. "There's the house, still standing right where we left it. We could be in it sound asleep instead of standing here soaking wet in the middle of the night. Next time, if you want to go to the cellar, just go and leave me in bed."

Sounds like a good idea to me.

Nominations Needed For Outstanding Rural Minister

Individuals or groups wanting to get some special recognition for a hard-working rural minister have an opportunity to do just that. The search is on for Texas' most outstanding rural minister for 1989, announced Donnie Peters, Knox County Agricultural Agent.

The award is presented each year by the Progressive Farmer magazine at the annual Town and Country Church Conference at Texas A&M University. This year's conference will be October 2 and 3. It is an educational program for rural and small town ministers and lay leaders and is conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rural minister must deal with a variety of cultures and certain issues and concerns unique to small communities. Many have played key roles in helping families learn to cope and to survive the farm recession of the past few years.

Details on how to submit nominations for the Rural Minister of the Year Award are available at the county Extension office. Nominations must include a record book that tells the story of what the minister has done for his congregation as well as the entire community.

The nominations should focus on the impact that the minister has had within his congregation and the community as a whole. To be eligible, a minister must serve a congregation in a rural community or town of less than 10,000 people, and he must have served the congregation at least two years.

Nominations must be submitted by August 15 to the Texas Rural Minister of the Year Committee, Dept. of Rural Sociology, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2125.

Filing For SS Disability Benefits Is Easy Process

You may think applying for social security disability benefits is a long, difficult process, says Frances Braden, resident representative of the Vernon Social Security office. While considerable time is involved, the application can be completed without much trouble.

Social Security Disability is a program for people who cannot work due to a severe impairment expected to last at least a year or result in death. If you feel you meet these conditions, you should apply at once.

To apply for disability, you can call social security and arrange an appointment. You can apply over the telephone or in person at your local office. An appointment is not necessary, but you may want to call before coming to the office so you will know what to bring when you come. Whether your interview is conducted in person or by telephone, you will be asked about your medical condition and treatment, your marital status, minor children, and your work over the past 15 years. You should have your social security number, your spouse's social security number, and your W-2 Forms (or tax returns, if self-employed) for the past year.

Many people like to wait to apply for disability, but the initial application process can take two to three months. If you have to stop work due to an injury or illness, you should apply as quickly as possible.

When contacting social security, you should provide the names, complete addresses, phone numbers, and patient or clinic numbers of any doctors, hospitals, or other medical facilities that have treated you. You can describe in your own words the treatment you have been given.

The local social security office will forward the information on your application to the disability determination services office in Austin, which will contact the doctors, hospitals, clinics and other medical sources for complete medical reports. You will not be asked to see a doctor unless medical information is needed and has not been provided in reports furnished by your own doctor. The Social Security Administration does not have doctors who examine patients. Each consultative examination is performed by a private physician who charges for the visit. If an examination is scheduled, you do not have to pay the doctor.

If you would like more information about the Social Security Disability program, call social security and request the pamphlet, "Disability." The toll-free number is 1-800-234-5772 or 800-2345-SSA.

I wish I'd been old enough for us to talk a while.

She was in the mid of life when I approached teenage.
Oh, the love a mother shows when we are in that stage.

Now I am an adult and when I look around,
I see Mom is gone, she's laid her burdens down.

I thank you Lord for a mother's love, the richest in the world.
For a mother's love makes adults out of little boys and girls.

Older Texans Recognized During May

Texans over the age of 60 and the senior activity centers which serve as the focus for many of their major life activities will be officially recognized in May by the State of Texas.

Separate proclamations signed April 18 by Governor William P. Clements Jr. declared May as Older Texans Month and the week of May 14-20 as Texas Senior Centers Week.

May has also been designated as Older Americans Month by President George Bush.

Clements, in his Older Texans Month proclamation, said, "The most tangible links between our past and present are the 2.3 million of us over the age of 60.

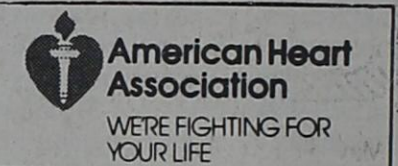

"The elders who nurtured us in our childhood, counseled us in our young adulthood and remained our valued friends in maturity are deserving of our sincerest expression of gratitude."

In his tribute to senior centers, Gov. Clements lauded them for offering "an open door" to all seniors who need services such as meals, transportation, physical fitness programs, volunteer opportunities and creative activities.

The governor urged all older Texans to visit senior centers in their communities and take part in the activities there.

The Texas Department on Aging maintains a network of more than 500 senior centers in all areas of the state. Seniors or others who want to find out more about these senior centers may call the Department on Aging at 1-800-252-9240.

During this special month, why not "adopt" a senior citizen and do something especially nice for them.

Sister Of Local Women Killed In Auto Accident

Kathleen Shelton, 33, of Altus, Oklahoma, died Friday, April 28, following a one-vehicle accident southeast of Altus.

Graveside services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, May 2, at Boggy Creek Cemetery near Altus.

According to Oklahoma Highway Patrol Trooper Johnny Freeman, Mrs. Shelton was northbound on a country road when she lost control of the 1974 Plymouth she was driving. The vehicle rolled 2 1/2 times before it came to rest. She was pronounced dead at the scene suffering from head injuries. Shelton's 15-month-old daughter, Amy Nell, sustained only minor head injuries and was treated and released from Jackson County Memorial Hospital following the accident.

According to the report, the elder Shelton did not have her seat belt on at the time of the accident and was ejected six feet from the vehicle. Daughter Amy was in a child-restraint seat and officials are contributing that to the child suffering only minor injuries.

Mrs. Shelton is survived by five children, Jennie and Tony Birkenfeld of Wilburton, Oklahoma and Harley, Gentry and Amy Shelton of Altus; eight sisters, Barbara Wilson and Veda Williams of Munday; Evelyn Bowers and Helen Watson of Eules; Myrtle Shores, Janeice Wilson, and Linda Sawyer, of Wilburton, Oklahoma, and Carolyn Smith of Abilene; and five brothers, Jessie Wilson of Knox City; Johnny Wilson of Haskell; Steve Wilson of Tyler; Doyle Wilson and Bert Wilson of Hartshorne, Oklahoma.

TIMING IMPORTANT FOR QUALITY HAY

Since spring showers have been short, causing shortages in grazing, local producers should examine hay stands for maturity.

As Knox County producers start to think about their first cutting of hay, they need to give major consideration to timing. When hay is put up in the proper stages, cattle will consume less to meet daily dietary needs and thus save cow-calf producers money by the absence of supplemental feed.

All grasses and legumes will be high in protein and digestibility until seed-heads begin to form. At that point, the plant quits making new leaves and begins a fiber buildup which reduces both digestibility and percent of crude protein.

For example, studies have shown that coastal bermuda cut at a three-week interval produced 9.7 tons of hay per acre with 19 percent crude protein and 86 percent leaves. At the same time, coastal bermuda cut every 12 weeks yielded 11.6 tons per acre but crude protein dropped to 9.7 percent and leaf percentage declined to 51 percent.

Usually best coastal bermuda grass hay is the first two cuttings in May to early June. This hay will be the best quality and highest in protein.

Producers should pay close attention to the fertility level of their pastures for top quality hay production.

Research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has shown that one ton of forage from nearly any grass requires about 50 pounds of nitrogen, 12 to 15 pounds of phosphorus and 40 pounds of potassium. Nitrogen is the key element, and can produce noticeable variations in yield and protein content of coastal bermuda or other hays.

Garden Club Sees Slide Presentation

Members of the Munday Garden Club enjoyed a salad luncheon on Tuesday, May 2 in the home of Mrs. J.T. Offutt.

Mrs. Lonnie Offutt, club president, presided over the business meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. Clint Norman who gave a slide presentation on the Garden of God which included pictures of the River of Eden, fig trees, olive trees, palm trees, and water lilies. Also included in the slide presentation were pictures and explanation of the four stages of the monarch butterfly.

The Garden Club recently planted two pink rose bushes at the Munday Nursing Center in memory of Mrs. J.S. Shannon and Alta Bowden.

Floral arrangements for the meeting room and luncheon tables were furnished by Mmes. Connie Boone, Weldon Floyd, Jessie Roberts, Cordell Offutt, Louise Amerson, Wallace Moorhouse, and Norene Hawkins.

Members present included Mmes. Weldon Floyd, Louise Amerson, Norene Hawkins, Lloyd Mathews, Wallace Moorhouse, Lonnie Offutt, T.J. Offutt, Nolan Phillips, Joe Roberts, and Connie Boone.

More Americans Are Linking Diet With Coronary Problems

There is a growing perception by many Americans that links diet with heart disease problems.

Dr. Mary K. Sweeten, a nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said more people are eating more selectively in an attempt to reduce blood cholesterol levels.

"They believe the way to a healthy heart is through the stomach, and are attempting to reduce the risk of heart disease," Sweeten said.

She said the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute and other related groups are continuing their educational efforts on behalf of healthier hearts.

The institute suggests these tips to lower blood cholesterol and reduce risk of heart disease:

- * Less than 30 percent of total daily calories should come from fat, and less than 10 percent of calories should come from saturated fat.

- * No more than 10 percent of the 30 percent of calories should come from polyunsaturated fat, and 10 percent or more of the total fat calories should come from monounsaturated fat sources.

- * Between 50 to 60 percent of daily calories should come from carbohydrates.

- * A daily diet should contain less than 300 milligrams of cholesterol, and calorie intake should be adjusted to achieve or maintain a desirable weight.

Truscott-Gilliland News

By Mrs. Clara Brown

Rain finally came to the Divide, up to two inches in some places. It was parceled out over Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Some places got over an inch Wednesday night. There was also hail damage Wednesday night in Truscott and on east. Several on the east end suffered severe hail damage on their wheat and Mildred Cook's roof was ruined.

Thursday night there was some rain, but it was mostly wind, and what a wind! Clara Owens lost dozens of shingles on the north side of her house. Her TV antenna was one of the many that the wind twisted down at the roof line. Tin strips on barns were hanging loose Friday morning and branches were everywhere. An old wooden grainery on the old Tom Westbrook place was tumbled over, then the roof came off and was laid on the ground in two flat sections, and with each additional roll, a section of the walls came off.

Instruments recorded 90 mile an hour winds in some places. Whatever it was here, if you were out trying to secure something, the wind took your breath and you had to struggle to keep your eyes open and to keep the wind from blowing you down. China Creek got one-tenth out of that storm, but Crowell and Vernon got an inch and up.

Grandma's Sunday Dinner will be the third Sunday in May, not the second. That is May 21. This month Grandma takes off the second Sunday so she can have company or go visiting on Mother's Day, but she'll be there dishing out good things to eat the third Sunday in May. In June, the regular schedule will be followed.

Last Wednesday, thirty-two members of the Crowell Rotary Club and their guests were served by the Truscott ladies at the community center. Warren Haynie, formerly of Truscott, gave a very interesting report on wheat prospects in Foard County.

Crystal Dishman won the dryer given away by Bill's Dollar Store in Crowell Saturday. We are all glad the new store came to Crowell, but Crystal must be especially glad.

Shirley Moore has suggested that those leaving wreaths at the cemetery should secure the flowers in some manner. After the big wind last Thursday night, many wreaths were caught on the south fence of the cemetery. When this happens, there is absolutely no way to tell where the flowers belong. The only thing that can be done then is to pick them out of the fence and burn them. If a stake is driven into the ground and the flowers tied to the stake, the flowers will be much more likely to stay on the grave.

E. D. and Mary Welch had all their children visiting Friday through Sunday. These were Becky and Tracy Beaty of Howe; Linda and George Oustad of Munday; Susan and Tracy Cartwright of Benjamin; Dennis and Charlotte Welch of Gilliland; and all the grandchildren.

The monthly supper at Gilliland Saturday night had a good turnout.

Jane Rowan, agent, brought a program on water to the home demonstration club Wednesday.

Sunday dinner guests of A. L. and Frances Cook were Glenn McGuire, Mildred Cook and Venta Home.

Jodie Miller visited her sister, Damie Groves, at Vernon on Friday and Saturday.

Dud Ellis said they worked cattle last Saturday and shipped on Sunday. Bill Flowers was the buyer.

Visiting Elmo and Billy Shaw over the weekend were their daughter, Chris Shook, her husband, Jim, and their children, Cody, Zane and Lin.

Richard Whitley of Lubbock has been here this week replacing the front porch on Lee and Gail Whitley's house with a glassed in "garden room".

May 12 and 13, Tom and Bob Moorhouse and Johnny Kimmell will take part in the wild mare race at the American Heritage Classic in Abilene.

The Knox County Cemetery Survey Committee of the Knox County Historical Commission will meet Wednesday, May 17, at 3 p.m. in the assembly room at the courthouse in Benjamin, according to Moulton Wiggins, chairman.

Most cemeteries have been walked and inscriptions copied. Community committees are now working on completing the information for each burial and typing it for the community reports. The KCHC has requested that one copy of the final report be placed in KCHC files at the courthouse and that at least one copy be kept in each community. No records have been turned in to KCHC yet.

At the meeting, a list of cemeteries with completed inscription surveys will be compiled and announced in the papers so that those interested in the few cemeteries which have not been covered may be motivated to join the survey.

At the May meeting, a due date in 1989 for the final report will be chosen by those present. All those who have worked on the survey and any other interested persons are invited to attend the May 17 meeting.

Report Indicates Lifestyles Play Role In Cancer Risk

Up to 80 percent of cancers may be related to the way people live, rather than hereditary causes.

Dr. Mary K. Sweeten, nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said a recent report from the National Cancer Institute (NCI) indicates that lifestyles have a vital role in an individual's cancer risk.

Sweeten said NCI has suggested that each individual consider seven areas of cancer risk in relation to lifestyles, including use of tobacco, diet, alcohol, radiation, work place, estrogens and viruses.

"Whether we smoke and what we eat, for example, may have a lot more impact on cancer risk than forces beyond our control, such as heredity," she said.

Offering the greatest potential for reducing cancer risk, according to the NCI report, are avoiding use of tobacco and eating right.

The report indicated that about 30 percent of cancer deaths are attributable to tobacco use and about 35 percent may be associated with diet.

Sweeten said the percentage of cancer deaths associated with the other five risk factors ranged from 1 to 5 percent each, according to the report.

Several surveys show that people are trying to stop smoking and cut their fat intake, the report indicated. Smoking among men 20 years and older dropped 10 percent between 1977 and 1983, but the percentage of women who smoke grew during that period.

Sweeten said people are beginning to take positive steps related to diet and alcohol consumption, but these changes are more modest.

She said a survey by NCI and the Food and Drug Administration found some improvements in public knowledge, attitudes and practices in the areas of tobacco use, diet and alcohol consumption.

Compared with respondents in a 1983 survey, more of those who were surveyed in 1985 said that avoiding, reducing or stopping smoking can reduce cancer risk, and reported they had taken action to improve or maintain health. Others mentioned that eating too much fat and not eating food with enough vitamins or fiber may be a health risk.

Sweeten said the report concluded that much educational work remains to be done to increase public knowledge about prevention of cancer.

WHAT IS A MOTHER?

A mother can be almost any size or any age, but she won't admit to anything over thirty. A mother has soft hands and smells good. A mother likes new dresses, music, a clean house, her children's kisses, an automatic washer and Daddy. A mother doesn't like having her children sick, muddy feet, temper tantrums, loud noises or bad report cards. A mother can read a thermometer (much to the amazement of Daddy) and, like magic, can kiss a hurt away. A mother can bake good cakes and pies but likes to see her children eat vegetables. A mother can stuff a fat baby into a snowsuit in seconds and can kiss sad little faces and make them smile. A mother is underpaid, has long hours and gets very little rest. She worries too much about her children but she says she doesn't mind at all. And no matter how old her children are, she still likes to think of them as her little babies. She is the guardian angel of the family, the queen, the tender hand of love. A mother is the best friend anyone ever has. A mother shows God's love at its best.

See you next week, and remember... the virtues of the mothers are visited on their children as well as the sins of the fathers.

Thank You to the Munday and Knox County law officers, Fire Department, Staff and Volunteers who came to our assistance Sunday afternoon.

Benjamin News

By Mrs. Gladene Green

We can consider ourselves very fortunate this far, as the clouds last week brought us only small hail, winds that although were very strong, caused no real property damage in the immediate area, and some very beneficial rains. Let's hope that we don't get anything any worse than that but also, we have to keep in mind that this is the stormy season.

We appreciate our cloud watchers over here and the officers who are out during the turbulent times, and rest a lot easier knowing that if they see something, the sirens will be sounded.

Our high school girls advancing to the state meet this past weekend in Austin came back only with the experience of their trip. Christi Whitten who went in journalism and Sandra Bolones who made it in spelling, failed to place in the top 6, but represented the school well in the competition.

Accompanying the girls to Austin was Belle Grill and Britt Fuqua. Belle is the English teacher and Britt teaches journalism.

SOROSIS CLUB TRIP

The Benjamin Sorosis Club had their last meeting of the year Thursday. After a short business meeting, the group drove to Copper Breaks State Park for an outing and picnic. They did lots of sight seeing and toured the museum, which I understand is quite an interesting place. Indian history is evident in the museum, with the Indian artifacts, clothing and other items common to their culture being on display.

The group found a pretty picnic area to enjoy their sack lunches, and after having their early supper, they departed for home.

Making the trip were Bea Parks, Jessie Roberts, Lucille Moorhouse, Pearl Ryder, Eunice Friday, JoEta Cartwright, Ruth Russell, Louise Hertel and Leola Isbell.

LOCAL'S DAUGHTER HONORED

Our congratulations to Sue McCarthy of Iowa Park who was among those honored recently in Stephenville at the Region V Conservation Banquet. Sue was named the conservation homemaker for the region after winning the same honor in the district earlier in the year.

She is married to Denny McCarthy and they are the parents of two children, Will and Marci. Sue's mom, Clodell Duke, resides here in Benjamin.

HERE N THERE

Katrine Hudson and Lynda Brooke Pierce of Kileen visited Benjamin relatives and friends during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Golden and family of Abilene and Michael Golden of Lubbock visited their mom, Lois Golden, and their sister and family, the Randy Hibbons, during the weekend.

Mary and Randy Whitsett and family of Carrolton and Ann Roddy and family of Denton visited their mother, Gertrude Brannan, during the weekend. They left to return home pretty early Sunday morning but when they got to Jacksboro, they were detained and re-routed and finally arrived home around 6 p.m., several hours on the road for a relatively short distance.

Fred and Merle Searcey of Dallas were recent visitors of her sister and family, the Bill Ryders.

Jim and Barbara Pratt spent several days last week visiting Barbara's parents in Shreveport, Louisiana.

Henry Rogers was a recent visitor with relatives in the Dallas area.

Only 33 voters turned out in Benjamin Saturday to cast their ballots in the city, school, hospital board and water board elections. There were no contested races so interest was low.

Good luck Moguls and Mogulettes and the other county entries as they go to the track meet in Austin this coming weekend. We hope to hear that you have done well in your endeavors!

Weinert News

By Mrs. Myrtle Phemister

We were spared any major damage from the storms we had last week. There was some damage from lightning; some trees uprooted, with others having limbs broken off; a bit of hail, and some frightened people. But the one inch and six-tenths of rain we received was welcomed with grateful hearts.

OUR VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Tanner of Truby were guests of Francis Mahan on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall of California, former pastor of the Foursquare Church, were recently in Weinert, and spent some time with the Roy Herricks and other members and friends.

Lois and Doug Anderson of West, with Karen and Doug Partain, were here for a visit with Lois's mother and brother, Lucinda and Calvin Davis.

Other relatives visiting the Davis home were Cara and Billie Dutton, David and Michael, of Abilene; Donnie Ray Davis of Newcastle; Mary Davis of Clovis, New Mexico; Frank Davis of Graham; and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Westerman and children of Abilene.

Mrs. Davis reports the birth of her first great-granddaughter, Joyce Ivy Betts, who arrived March 30 in Portales, NM to bless the home of Iva Lou and Roy Don Betts. Mrs. Davis has four great-grandsons. Congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bailey, Jr., all of Dallas, spent the weekend in Weinert, and Floyd Jr. was guest speaker at both worship services at the Foursquare Gospel Church, of which his parents pastored years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Grimsley of Abernathy were guests in the home of classmate Lester Hutchinson, and Kathi, last week. They both have cabins at Lake Stamford, and were unaware of each other living nearby.

Larry reports his mother is well and stays busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schindler of Abilene were in town and took her mother, Bertie Alexander, for a physical check-up.

While here they completed plans for the family reunion which will be held on Saturday, May 13, at the Western Motel in Munday, with plans for the delegation to attend worship services at the Weinert Foursquare Church on Sunday. They will be celebrating Bertie's 87th birthday.

OUT OF TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. David Sikes, Nathan and Andrew, were in Vernon for the weekend with friends. The Sikes formerly lived in Vernon before moving to Weinert where David is employed with Haskell SWCD and Mrs. Sikes is on the school faculty of Munday ISD.

Eddie and Myrnie Sanders were in Wichita Falls to visit their daughter's family, the Wayne Offutts.

Sandra Nichols and T, and a friend, Heath Guess, were in San Antonio recently for a weekend at Sea World and other points of interest.

Francis Mahan attended the wedding of a grandson, Michael Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Allen, which was held in Greenville, S. C. on Sunday, May 7.

The bride is Linda Lazar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lazar of Greenville.

Michael will graduate on May 12 from Furman University in Phoenix, Arizona, and will begin his internship at the Dallas Childrens Hospital in July. Congratulations to all.

Lester and Kathi Hutchinson were in Wichita Falls on Saturday (instead of Junction as reported), where Lester's sister, Christine Meers, underwent surgery at Bethania Hospital. She is home now and doing well at this time.

Buck and Helen Turnbow spent a few days in San Angelo with members of Helen's family. The doctors have diagnosed Helen's problem as being a calcium deficiency, which caused her bones to become brittle and split. She is wearing a cast on her leg, and is much improved in health and attitude.

Tinka Herricks is doing well, and was able to be at worship services on Sunday. She underwent back surgery in Dallas recently.

The Weinert Church of Christ enjoyed a monthly fellowship dinner together on Sunday, and later went in a group to Knox City for the First Sunday Singing. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Phemister hosted the dinner in their home.

Helen Boykin attended the graduation exercises at Abilene Christian University on Saturday, where her grandson, Michael Boykin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Boykin, graduated cum laude, with a degree in accounting.

The Haskell SWCD was well represented at the Region V Conservation Awards Banquet held at Stephenville on Tuesday, May 2, as they received the first place award in the region, consisting of 38 counties.

Another home-town winner was Jo Helen Elliot Phillips, formerly of Haskell, who received the first place conservation teacher award. She teaches at Kline White's Elementary School in Lampasas. She sent warm regards to all her friends in Haskell by Marvin and Myrtle Phemister.

Our birthday people this week include Bennie Horan, Bertie Alexander, Donita Hudgens, Myrtle Alexander, Dora Bruggeman and Cindy Guess. Happy birthday, all.

Congratulations to Jimmie and Harlan Weinert, and to Brian and Vicki Adams, who are celebrating wedding anniversaries.

We regret that Lenora Griffis had to return to the Haskell Hospital suffering from pneumonia. Our prayers are for her quick recovery.

Lucile Adams is spending some time in Kingsville, as they all eagerly await the "stork's arrival" at the home of her daughter, Linda and Scott Moody. Everyone is well.

Angie Costello and family were in Garland for the weekend for a visit with her son, Reuben, who has recently found employment there.

Molly Estrada and Denise Carroll were participants in the Purple Cloud Musicade that was presented by the junior high and high school Mogul band Tuesday night, May 9. The girls are both freshmen students.

Have a nice day!

Annual Awards Banquet Honors Athletes, Band

Munday High School athletes and band members were in the limelight again Monday night as the annual Sports and Band Banquet gave recognition to the many students who participate in the two programs.

Themed "Yabba Dabba Do...Look What The Moguls Can Do", the banquet decorations featured characters from Bedrock - Wilma and Fred Flintstone, Barney and Betty Rubble, their families and friends. A meal of barbecued brisket and the trimmings was prepared by Mrs. Bobbie Kegley and the cafeteria staff.

Dr. Bill Kingston, principal of Munday High School, gave the invocation and Munday school superintendent Doyle Lowrance welcomed the audience.

First on the program for recognition was the award winning Purple Cloud Band members. Rodney Bennett, band director, handled the introductions.

Students who participated in athletics during the 1988-89 school year were introduced by their coaches. Athletic director Jim Edwards introduced the football and boys track teams while Dan Sloan presented the cross country, basketball, and girls track squads. Ralph Klinkerman recognized the boys basketball and tennis teams and Mark Dobson presented the golf teams. Laurie Dobson, cheerleader and pep club sponsor, presented the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders for the 1988-89 season. A special best all-around cheerleader presentation was made to Lynn Parker, senior cheerleader.

Mindy Myers presented the 1988-89 football hero, Chad Bordovsky.

Highlight of the banquet was the announcement of special awards for special athletes. Making the presentations were Jim Edwards and Dan Sloan. Best all-around boy athlete honors went to senior Lowell Hutchens and for the second year junior Mindy Myers was named the best-all around girl athlete.

Hutchens, the son of Mrs. Bunny Hutchens, has received numerous honors in football, including all-state second team offensive tackle and honorable mention defensive tackle in Class A this year. He was all-district basketball second team choice and will participate in both the shot put and discus this weekend at the State track meet in Austin.

Mindy, daughter of Billie Jake and Dot Myers, has been a standout in all phases of athletics this year. She was named to the all-state cross country team for the second year, and honored as co-most valuable player in District 18A girls basketball. Mindy has set new school records in various track events and will defend her state track titles in Austin this weekend.

Juniors Alicia Cook and Robin Reneau were joint recipients of the Sammie Rayburn Bowman memorial award, given to a Mogulette who has exhibited an abundance of team spirit and effort. Both girls were members of the MHS cross country team, basketball and track teams and will be participating at the State track meet in Austin this weekend. Chad Bordovsky, senior son of David Bordovsky and Gail Breeland, was awarded the Fighting Heart Award in recognition for his performance in football, basketball and track.

MHS athletic director Jim Edwards worded the benediction to close the banquet.

Senior Citizens Plan Singing And Games

The Munday Senior Citizens met for their regular meeting on May 4. Ella Gresham, president, presided. A special "Good Morning" greeting was extended to everyone who attended.

Opening prayer was worded by Virginia Williams, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance in unison. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report was accepted as written.

After a short business meeting, members were asked questions to find out how easy they were to live with. Some of the answers proved to be very amusing. Virginia Cary read a poem by Helen Steiner Rice entitled "Mother Is a Word Called Love". The remainder of the morning was spent singing with Eunice Raynes at the piano and Maggie Gaines leading the songs.

The group enjoyed a covered dish meal at lunch time, followed by a period of fellowship.

Seniors citizens will meet for games on May 18, from 2-4 p.m. May 25 at 7 p.m. has been set aside for singing.

Senior citizens will meet again on Thursday, June 1 at the community center. All senior citizens are urged to attend.
