Medical science is constantly striving for cures for cancer, heart problems, and now the dreaded Aids virus. Some of us remember when Polio was a frightening disease that killed and crippled children as well as adults, striking violently without warning until the Salk vaccine has made it almost a nonexistent illness.

On a simpler level, a shot of penicillin can cure a sore throat or an abcessed tooth. And everybody knows how much pep a shot of Vitamin B-12 can give us, or how a muscle relaxer can ease an excruciating back pain.

Nobody expects medical costs to be cheap with all the money spent on research to find even new and better cures. But, I sometimes feel that a lot of us fit into a catagory where we are not eligible for Mecicaid but can't afford to write a $485.00 check for a series of tests.

"Haven't you ever heard of health insurance, Dummy?" someone will ask. I have. I don't see how anybody can sleep nights without it when a two week stay in a hospital can run into a five digit figure. But, many larger health care centers expect a patient to pay cash for sevices and file his own claim. In the meantime, $485.00 for a doctor bill in some households (namely mine) means somebody else doesn't get paid until that insurance check comes in. Whoever is not paid sends gentle reminders followed by threatening letters which irritate the ulcer we went to have checked in the first place until I usually wind up wishing I'd just stayed home and taken a dose of Papa Harlan's Epsom Salts.

Papa Harlan thought Epsom Salts could cure anything that ever ailed anybody. After the first few doses, we learned not to mention to Papa when we had a headache, a stomach ache or even a back pain.

"Come on in heah," he'd say in his southern drawl. "Let ol' Papa fix you a dose o' salts. Youh'll feel bettah in the mawnin'."

Only those who have ever taken a big dose of Epsom Salts (and Papa believed in BIG doses) can relate to this, but I never knew if the Salts really cured our ailments or they were simply forgotten in the midst of the new problems created by the cure.

Do you admit to being old enough to remember when a wad of your grandfather's used chewing tobacco could take the pain out of a bee sting when nothing else could? Or when your dad blew smoke in your ear that was hurting so bad and your mom heated table salt and wrapped it in a clean white cloth and you'd go to sleep with your ear nestled against the warmth of the hot salt-filled cloth.

My grandmothers passed on a long list of home remedies they had acquired from their own mothers, and my mother still insists most of them work. Neither my grandmothers nor my mother had a lot of confidence in the old chant-- "Sty! Sty! Get off Nell's eye! Get on the next person who passes by!", but many of the old home remedies really do appear to have some worth. Naturally nobody is stupid enough to try home remedies for something serious, but we're talking little aches and pains here. You know, the kind that can run into $125.00 in doctor bills and medicine.

Both my grandmothers preached to all of us on the effects of alcohol abuse on our bodies, but my mother and my Grandmother Harlan were never without a bottle of I.W. Harper or Jim Beam way up on the top shelf of the cabinet. At the first sign of that achy, chilled feeling that usually indicated the flu was coming on, the whiskey would be taken down, mixed with boiling water, honey and a pep-

WALTER AND PEGGY HERTEL seem to be enjoying the reception held in his honor at the Perry Patton Community Center last Thursday afternoon. Hertel is retiring after serving the City of Munday for almost twenty-two years as City Administrator. A host of friends were on hand to help celebrate the memorable occasion.

Walter Hertel Retires After Twenty-One Years As Munday City Administrator

On Monday, July 2, Walter Hertel packed up his personal belongings and his accumulated memories and locked the door to the City Adminsitration office for the last time. Since the beginning of January, 1969, he has served the City of Munday in the capacity of City Administrator and it is largely due to his planning and initiative that the city has become a source of pride for its approximate 1,700 citizens.

Mr. Hertel came to Munday from Benjamin where he had served as city manager for twenty-three years. He had met his wife, the former Peggy Trainham, in Benjamin, and while home on leave from the U.S. Army, he and his eighteen year old sweetheart had decided they should spend the rest of their lives together. They were married in a simple little ceremony and when he returned to camp, he took her with him.

After being discharged from the Army two years later, the Hertels made their home in Benjamin. Their three sons were born there, the eldest living only until age seven when he died of Cystic Fibrosis.

Their second son, Larry, married Judy Alexander of Munday and they have two children, Greg and Christian. A Texas Tech graduate, Larry is employed as City Engineer for the City of Lubbock. Their son, Tim, a graduate of Munday High School has also followed in his father's footsteps and is employed as Assistant Construction Engineer for the City of Wichita Falls.

Walter Hertel came to Munday in December of 1968 where he served as a part-time employee in association with the then City Administrator, E.W. Harrell. When he assumed full responsibilities a short while later, M.E. Reeves was mayor and Munday, like all other cities in the area, was beginning to show signs of aging and outdated systems.

There was a process underway for obtaining signatures for a projected pavement venture since only about one-fourth of city streets were paved at that time. Many of the unpaved streets were almost impassable due to severe city flooding.

The Munday map was somewhat outdated and streets were not all named nor houses numbered. This posed tremendous problems in trying to locate specific residences. Thus, among his first tasks, Mr. Hertel began to update the city map and adopted a system for establishing street signs and residence numbers.

He then turned his full attention to the storm sewer and street paving projects already in progress. Securing a $100,000 grant and an additional $98,000 loan, both from FmHA, Munday citizens voted additional bonds needed for completion of the $350,000 project.

During his years as City Administrator, Mr. Hertel has been involved in many projects to enhance or improve the city he loves.

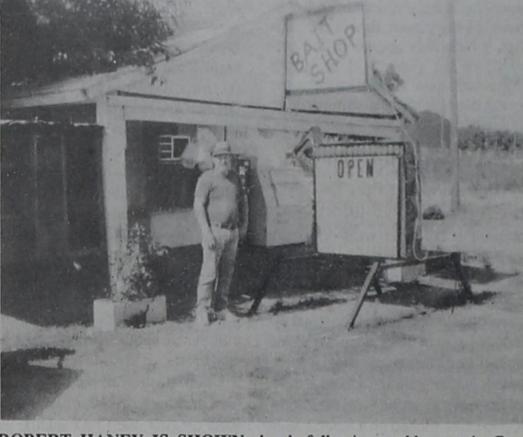

"But, possibly, my proudest involvement has been the construction of the one million dollar drainage ditch," Mr. Hertel said. "Mayor Reeves and Engineer Ed Briggs were negotiating about the possibility of some project to stop the severe flooding in Munday. Mayor Reeves turned the negogiation procedures over to me because it was consuming so much of his time. From 500 to 1,000 phone calls were involved and months turned into years of meetings and considerations of submitted bids. The first few bids were thousands of dollars too high, but finally Mr. Reeves, Moulton Wiggins and I met with a corp of engineers in Fort Worth and were able to reach an agreement. In 1975, with the dedication of the drainage

Another project became a reality."

ROBERT HANEY IS SHOWN shortly following a robbery at the Goree Bait Shop in Goree on Monday morning. An estimated $438.00 was taken in the hold-up.

Daytime Bandit Robs Goree Bait Shop

Robert Haney, owner of Goree Bait Shop, was working on a motor in the back of his shop Monday morning about 9:50 when he heard the front door. Before he could stand up to see who had entered, he felt a gun in his back and was ordered to get up slowly. A black man, approximately six feet five inches tall and wearing a pair of panty hose over his face, motioned him into the front of his shop and demanded the money from the register. When Haney handed him about $25.00 from his register, the man told him he wanted the other bag he kept in another room.

"The fact that he knew about the other bag makes me think he has been in my shop on other occasions," said Haney, visibly shaken moments after the robbery. "And when you're staring down the barrel of a snub-nosed "38, you don't argue. I gave him the money."

Haney was then returned to his back room and ordered to stay there until "you hear the pipes on my car" and the man left. Haney ran into the front of his shop in time to see a '69 or '70 model yellow Camaro pull away.

"I believe he may be a local man or knows somebody in the area," Haney stated. "Because I couldn't see his car in either direction when L ran outside to see which way he went (down 277). This suggests to me he must have turned down a dirt road."

About $438.00 was taken. Haney added that in his small operation he does not carry insurance against theft.

Police officers from Goree and Munday and DPS officials were investigating the robbery.

Mogul Cheerleaders Win NCA Honors

The Munday Mogul Cheerleading team for the 1990 football season attended the National Cheerleaders' Camp on the Hardin-Simmons University campus in Abilene from June 10-15.

Camp counselors observed, graded, and checked the progress of all the squads involved until they were able to nominate three teams to compete for Squad of Excellence. The Mogul team emerged victorious as Squad of Excellence winner over all the other Outstanding cheerleading teams.

Upon completion of the camp,

NCA instructors nominated eight girls to compete for the honor of All-American Cheerleader. Two of the eight participants chosen were from the Munday squad. Missy Reneau and April Offutt were selected to try for this most coveted award, with April Offutt being chosen as All-American Cheerleader.

As the result of being chosen as two of the eight participants in this contest, both Miss Offutt and Miss Reneau will be eligible to attend one of three of the most prestigious cheerleading events in the world. They can participate together or as individuals in The Aloha Bowl in Hawaii, The Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City, or the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Dublin, Ireland.

This trip will include a week long series of activities involving cheerleaders from all over the nation.

Members of the Mogul cheerleading squad are Jae-Jae Reneau, a senior and daughter of John and Jean Reneau; April Offutt, senior daughter of Dan and Becky Offutt; Kacy Longan, senior daughter of Bill and Karen Longan; Missy Reneau, junior daughter of John and Jean Reneau; Bridgett Beaty, junior daughter of Alan and Nancy Beaty; and Brandi Branam, junior daughter of Jerry and Vicki Branam.

permint stick. After we'd drunk all the "hot toddy", Mother would tuck us into bed, pulling the patchwork quilts up to our chins. I don't know if itreally cured the flu or if the whiskey induced such a deep sleep we woke up feeling all bright-eyed and bushytailed, but something worked.

Then, of course there was the smelly Kaola salve rubbed on a wound with a piece of glass or a sticker deep in our feet to draw it out. I'm surprised we didn't all have Tetnus, because shots for it were almost nonexistent. If we stuck a nail in our foot, it was first soaked in kerosene, washed with hot soapy water and then coated with the Kaola and a "clean white rag" wrapped around it.

Idon't know why kids had so many boils (Mother called them risens) back then, perhaps because it took hours to prepare a bath and it was not a daily occurance for a kid. But, there were cures for boils, too. A piece of raw fat meat was pressed tightly against the lesion and tied securely with a piece of gauze or a "clean white rag". In the morning, providing the fat meat had not worked loose and was in your hair, the lesion usually had a big white head on it. Against everything any doctor has ever told anybody, the slightest pressure was applied and the "core" would usually pop out. The gaping hole would be cleansed with alcohol and another "clean white rag" applied to keep out dirt and

The list of home remedies was long. There was flour heated until it was scorched brown, then applied to a diaper rash over a thin layer of vaseline. There was the thick layer of Vicks Salve followed by hot flannel cloths for a kid with croup, two aspirins and a glass of milk for excessive bloating. There was Black Draught and Carter's Little Liver Pills, Cardui and Jayne's Pin Worm tablets--cures passed down through the generations.

There were many reasons for the origin of home remedies. When the country was new, doctors were sometimes too far away, and though country doctors really did trade services for vegetables and eggs or no payment at all, may people were too proud to ask for something for nothing and simply didn't have anything to spare. During the depression years, to borrow from Vera's Edith Beck's cookbook, Another Place-Another Time, if a family "didn't grow it, they didn't eat it" and it sometimes took all a family had just to survive.

I am in no way suggesting that home remedies are superior to modem medicine. Only a crackpot would make such a claim, and while I have been accused of being "slightly flaky", I don't yet qualify as a crackpot. This is merely another stroll down memory lane, a page from a time of red and white checkered table cloths and razor straps that hung behind the door to serve a dual purpose.

We live in a world of organ transplants and tummy tucks--a time when, if we don't like the shape of our noses, we can have them changed. But holding your breath and taking nine sips of water is still the best cure for the hiccups. And I still have a box of Epsom Salts on my kitchen shelf. I've never used it for anything but to soak Butch's sprained ankle in, but it's there.

Papa would have insisted on it.

A good supervisor, someone once said, is a guy who can step on your toes without messing up your shine.

under Mr. Hertel's leadership was an updating of all valves and fire plug systems involving maps which showed the location of water valves. About fifty new water plugs were installed, enabling leaks to be repaired without shutting off service to the entire city. The installation of this system earned Mr. Hertel and Water Superintendent Salvador Sosa comendation from the Texas State Health Department.

During his tenure as City Administrator, Mr. Hertel has been instrumental in the completion of a project to pave streets and reduce flooding in Munday's east part of town on a grant from Housing and Urban Development as well as an additional grant secured from Texas Department of Community Affairs for various improvements in Munday areas deemed low to moderate income districts. Grants from Federal Aeronautics Administration and Texas Aeronautics Commission in addition to Munday's own funds have also made the dream of a city airport a reality.

The city law enforcement staff has gone from one certified police officer and a night watchman to two certified officers and an ordinance against burning trash within city limits has eliminated about 80 percent of incity fires.

Upon his arrival, the city did not own backhoes. In order to eliminate hand digging, the first backhoe was purchased second hand with another second hand backhoe and two new ones purchased subsequently. One backhoe is equal to from one and one half to two people on the work force.

Other projects have included the renovation and construction of upto-date work area facilities and storage buildings; concrete lines to improve drainage from the North Park Subdivision; and finally, the construction of the city hall and fire station three years ago, after more than seven years of planning and fund raising.

Mr. Hertel is proud of the fact that upon completion of the city hall, half the $200,000 project was paid by bonds voted in by the city and the final payment of the remaining costs for the 68,000 square foot structure will be made on January 1, 1991. An additional $68,000 cash accumulated over a seven year period has paid for a new fire truck.

"I have worked with some of the finest people in the world during my tenure here," Mr. Hertel remarked. "I have had the pleasure of serving under some of the best mayors and city councilmen to be found anywhere. None of the projects mentioned would have been possible without the involvement of Munday leaders and citizens. Munday can boast of many things within its city. Visitors who come through our town constantly remark on its overall neatness. Our volunteer fire department and ambulance personnel are some of the finest to be found anywhere."

"I love Munday,"Mr. Hertel concluded with a sentimental catch in his voice. "I plan to make it my home for as long as I live. Peggy and I have our roots here and it is here we'll stay. I have done my best to serve my town and I hope I have been successful in the eyes of my fellow citizens."

A reception was held Thursday, June 28 in the Patton Community Center to honor Mr. Hertel for his years of service to the City of Mun-

INDEPENDENCE DAY

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.'

The pledge of allegiance to the American flag. This is a symbol of the freedom that is granted to every American. America was founded on the principle that all men are created equal with certain rights. Among those rights is the right to worship as you wish.

The pilgrims came to America in order to get away from the Church of England which was forcing all people to worship in their beliefs, whether the majority believed as they did or not. They had no choice.

In America there were no set religions when the pilgrims arrived so they were able to begin worshipping as they saw fit. Many denominations were founded due to this freedom. They were able to branch out if they disagreed with the doctrine that was being preached.

Methodism in America began the Circuit Riding Preachers -- those who would ride from town to town to perform the weddings, funerals, and administer the sacraments. Many times it would be months between visits of the Preacher. On the Sundays there was no Preacher in the pulpit, the lay leader would give a short message and the congregation would have a Camp meeting. Singing, praising, and prayers were the order of the day. Many churches still have "Camp Meetings", especially during the summer months.

Independence Day, a national holiday for the American people. It commemorates the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, and the birth of a free nation, under God. If you have never read the Declaration of Independence, take time to do so.

During this week take time to thank God for a free nation where you have the right to worship as you believe, where you are not persecuted as the Jews were under Hitler, or the Russian citizens are, still today.

Cotton Producers Should Consider Selling Crop Early

Many producers have now com pleted planting or replanting cotton in many cases, possibly cultivating and putting in furrow dikes or watering cotton; however, there is one important decision still left and that is to set the selling price.

Many producers have been watching the futures market and have seen a really high price that seems to keep climbing each day.

As is the case for most harvest periods, cash prices seem to always drop drastically but there are some alternatives for producers to consider

Many producers have probably used minimum contracts. For this producers contract part or all of the cotton to a dealer at a specified price.

One drawback to minimum contracts is that often times dealers may go bankrupt and thus contracts are worthless and could cost producers many dollars.

Put options though will protect the producer from any downward price movement and not restrict any price increases. For example, if a put option is purchased from a brokerage firm, the producer will pay a premium for a certain strike price. The premium will differ considering how near the option is to its expiration date and how high the producer sets the strike price. Put options usually expire on the 20th day of the month prior the date meaning a December Put option expires on the November 20. Premiums for Put Options are much less when a lower strike price is set or also called "Out of the

If cotton prices on the cash market are lower that strike price of the put option then producers can exercise their option and get the difference of the strike price and the price received for the cash market.

If the cash price is higher than the option, the producer would elect to let option expire and be out the pre-

Another benefit to the Put Option is that the cotton does not have to be delivered.

With the use of either marketing strategy producers will sleep better at night knowing they have sold their cotton at a good price.

Safeguarding Picnic Foods

Don't hold the mayo! Many people are uneasy about eating chicken salad potato salad and similar dishes at summer picnics because they have heard that foods made with mayonnaise are the most likely to cause food poisoning.

Scientists have shown that adding mayonnaise to food does not make it more dangerous. Food containing mayonnaise may actually be slightly safer than similar foods without mayonnaise because the acid in the mayonnaise slows the growth of the bacteria that cause food poisoning. However, studies have shown that the acid content of "homemade" mayonnaise may be too low to create comparable protection.

Mixed foods like chicken salad and potato salad probably got their bad reputation simply because they undergo a lot of handling during preparation, and this can contaminate them with bacteria.

When the pleasures of a leisurely picnic are spoiled by a bout of food poisoning, sick picknickers are often quick to blame the food. Seldom do they realize that the cause of sickness is more often the handling of the food rather than the food itself.

To play it safe follow these tips: -Scrub hands before starting food preparation and between steps. -After using knives and other utensils on raw meats, eggs, fish and poultry, clean thoroughly, especially before using on other foods. Failure to clean is one way to spread harmful

-Thoroughly scrub work surfaces after raw meats are cut or where raw meat juices have dripped.

-Use clean sponges, dish cloths and rubber gloves; over-used ones can spread germs.

-Refrigerate cooked foods such as chicken, potatoes and ham as soon as they stop steaming. Cooling foods to room temperature before refrigerating encourages bacterial growth. Perishable foods may not be safe to eat if they have been held at room temperatures of 60 degrees Fahrenheit or higher for more than three or four hours.

-Refrigerator chill all perishable food before packing. Keep them in a cooler with ice or commercial reusable cold packs until you are ready to eat. If you use ice, pack the food in tight containers or plastic bags so that it doesn't get wet when the ice starts to melt. Transport to picnic in insulated containers.

-Hamburgers or other raw meat should go into the cooler, but keep them separate from other foods. Uncooked meats contain relatively large numbers of bacteria, some of which could be harmful. The common food poisoning types of bacteria are sensitive to heat, so cooking will kill them, making the meat safe to eat. These bacteria can cause problems, however, if they contaminate other foods such as salads which don't receive further cooking before they are eaten.

-And don't hold the mayo. Add it to salad and sandwich mixtures during initial preparation.

-At picnics, keep food out of direct sun. To reduce traffic in and out of picnic hamper, pack food to be eaten first at the top of container.

-Don't be tempted to carry leftovers home. It is safer to discard perish-

Fishing Tip

Q: While fishing at Miller's Creek last week, someone told us that we had to throw back our crappie because they were under 10" in length. Is this true?

A: Nope. It's not true. However, September 1, 1990, will be a different story. On that day all crappie caught in Texas waters (with a few exceptions) must be 10"or longer or released. If fishermen will co-operate with this law and take care of the fish they return to the water then it will probably produce larger trophies, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife.

From sunup to sundown, you won't find a more useful farm hand than the Polaris Trail Boss 2x4. It hauls tools and parts to almost anywhere on your operation. June was a nice vacation month for your correspondent, but I hope you missed the Weinert News.

We regret seeing the moving vans around town. Rick and Deena Hacker have moved to Benjamin where she has accepted a position with the school faculty there.

Mike and Peggy Adams have purchased a home in Haskell and moved to that city.

In the near future, Chesley and Jeanie Forehand and Kenny will move to Rochester where he has accepted the position of football coach. Congratulations Rochester! We thinkyou have a prize!

Anita Garza and children have moved to Munday. We regret to lose all these families.

Though we have no school, we do have four churches, a great water system, sewage, cable TV, paved streets, nice store and cafe, three mechanic shops, two beauty shops, friendly people and a choice of homes to purchase. The welcome mat is out for anyone desiring a quiet, friendly place to reside.

We missed an opportunity to congratulate some of our very special people on their anniversary during June, so we'll do it now.

Congratulations, belated, to Alton and Mildred Sanders, Ricky and Karen Harlan, Mondy and Debra Mayfield, Gilbert and Sophia Jimenez, David and Shirlene Sikes, and Bill and Joyce Robertson. And happy birthday, you "June bugs".

During this week, congratulations go to Woody and Georgia Turnbow, H. H. and Juanita Grimes, Jerry and Wanda Hester, and Russel and Hazel Rainey.

Birthday balloons will fly for Eddie Sanders, Julian Estrada, Shannon Forehand, Samuel Bruggeman, Laurie Hester, Angie Costillo, Gracie Griffis, Marcus Phemister, Sandra Nichols, Daisy Horan, and Michael Adams. Happy birthday!

Our sick are recovering well at this time. Clyde Mayfield is home following a hip replacement surgery, and gets around with a walker.

Myrnie Sanders had knee surgery on Monday of last week. She is better.

Bennie and Robert Horan continue to improve. Faye Brian is recovering from colon surgery in Fort Worth several days ago, andis doing well.

Irby Hall was the scene of the semiannual family reunion of the descendants of Henry Karl and Beate Rueffer family, with approximately sixtyfive registering on Saturday, June 3.

The states of Oklahoma, New Mexico, South Dakota and Texas were represented, and the afternoon was spent renewing old acquaintances and meeting new family members.

A covered dish dinner was served at 6 p.m. Later, the family and friends danced to the music provided by the Texas Rhythm Boys.

Those attending from Weinert were the Gus Rueffers and the Henry Rueffer families.

Lawrence and Catherine Schonerstedt of Decatur spent the weekend with her parents, Mr.and Mrs. Gus Rueffer.

STOUTREUNION

Thurman and Feba Stout and Floyd and Hellen Stout attended the Stout Reunion held in the school house in Blossom, Texas on Saturday, June 30, with sixty-five family members in attendance.

On their way to Blossom, Thurman and Feba stopped over in Weatherford for a visit in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bledsoe. PHEMISTER REUNION

The descendants of Virgil and Ida (Henry) Phemister met on June 22-24, 1990, in the Seven Oaks Hotel in San Antonio for their 50th annual reunion, with 47 in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Perry and their famly hosted the event and had many interesting and exciting events planned for each age group. There were four generations present. The eldest was Alma Phemister Terrell of San Antonio, and the youngest was one-year-old Nicky Pollastro of Austin, grandson of Lola Williams.

The first event was a picnic, held in the Joske Pavillion in Breckenridge Park on Friday night, followed by a baseball game at the lighted field in the park in which the Phemister "Pharm-hands" lost by 3 points to the "S.A. Yokels". (The loss was attributed to the fact the Boykin boys were late in arrival.)

On Saturday there was an early trek to the golf course, to get ahead of the two conventions that were scheduled at the hotel for that weekend. The swimming pools, the tennis courts and the many shopping centers attracted a large group of the relatives, as San Antonio offers so much to see and do.

Lola Williams hosted, and directed. the children in a "get-acquainted with cousins" program, and a panel discussion of "telling it like it was" by the older generation.

A catered dinner in the El Autonio was enjoyed on Saturday night, and the same room was the scene for the early morning devotion and worship period on Sunday.

In a business meeting, the family voted to meet at the same place in 1991, with the date to meet being set for July 19-21. The Perry's will again be in charge of the arrangements.

After a Sunday lunch at the cafeteria, the group parted to go their separate ways home.

Our African missionary family, Mr.

and Mrs. Wimon Walker and children, will be home and he will be in tharge of the Sunday worship serv-

Robert Tipton returned to Weinert with his grandparents, the Marvin Phemisters, for a few days visit in their home.

Have a nice day!

At Your Service Dr. Larry Fitzgerald Minister, Church of Christ

Q: I have caught my husband having affairs at least three times--that I know of. Do you think it's O.K. to divorce him?

A: What I think is immaterial. Scripturally, you are allowed to divorce your spouse for the cause of unchasity (Matthew 19:9). In most cases, it is best that you try to work things out through counseling, prayer and commitment to Jesus Christ. I'm sure you feel betrayed and put down because of his sin. However, most men are unfaithful to their wives due to an inadequacy within themselves. For instance, they might feel that they are "not masculine". One night stands and short-term sinful relationships might make them feel more "manly". Such problems need professional counseling to work out.

If you threaten your husband that either he goes with you to a counselor or you will divorce him, as you mentioned in your letter, be prepared to carry out your threat. If you do not, then he will continue to think he can "get away with it."

Isuggest you go together to an outof-town professional Christian counselor. You can contact the Marriage and Family Counseling Division at Abilene Christian University for re-

THE LORD'S CORNER HAPPY FOURTH OF JULY!

I believe in America. I believe it became great because of its faith in God, its hope for independence, and its love for freedom.

I am grateful for America's glorious past; I am awed by its unbelievable present; I am confident of its limitless future.

I am not ashamed to take my hat off and to stand at attention when Old Glory passes by. I do not apologize for the lump in my throat when I repeat the Pledge of Allegiance.

I am not embarassed by the tears in my eyes when I hear 'The Star Spangled Banner'.

Like millions of Americans, I want a free choice, not a free handout. I prefer an opportunity to prove my abilities on the job rather than a license to demonstrate my frustrations in the street.

I am an old-fashioned American with a new-found determination to domy part to make democracy work. HAPPY FOURTH OF JULY!

More Vegetable Festival Scenes

The Knox County Vegetable Festival attracted people from all over the area and surrounding areas for three days of contests, pageants, displays, food, and just good old fashioned fun. Some of the events are represented by the candid shots shown below.

THE DISPLAY OF TOOLS used by workmen of another era caught the interest of many Festival visitors Saturday, June 23. Wire cutters and hatchets, along with various types of barbed wire, revived many memories of times past.

"ISN'T IT OBVIOUS TO EVERYBODY our baby is the cutest?" asks every mother and father who watch the cute little contestants in the Baby Contest.

"LOOK HERE, NOW. I'M THE LOCKER, NOT THE LOCKEE," Knox County Sheriff Henry Dancer seems to say as he looks out from the makeshift jail that was all part of the Festival fun.
