"LOOK TO THE EAST" columnist, Aaron Edgar, stands in front of the Oak Hill Church near Yellowpine, Sabine County, where his parents worshipped some 75 years ago.

In our youth, going to church services was a ritual. It mattered not how busy the season of the year or how far behind we were with farm work, the family was in attendance at church, come Sunday.

The ox rarely ever got into the ditch with our father.

So it was that on Sunday morning we did our chores after (or before) breakfast and started in plenty of time to get our faces and ears clean, our hair combed, donned our Sunday go-tomeeting clothes and occupied a seat in the little country church. Sometimes we travelled the distance of two, three, maybe five miles to reach the place of worship, depending on how often or how far away we moved when going from one rented farm to another.

The mode of travel was by farm wagon. The entire family loaded into the vehicle, with Dad and older brother occupying the spring seat, Mother and the other young'uns in canebottomed chairs, standing, or seated in the rear of the wagon with feet hanging outside.

As years passed, we graduated to the surrey. This one (although minus the fringe on top) was about the snazziest thing we'd ever ridden in. It seemed the team of ponies (or mules) pulled the surrey with more pride and energy than they did the old wagon.

Our church was usually a one-room variety of country church. Sunday school clases would assemble in the corners, the choir place, in the center pews, or wherever there was room enough to accomodate the group.

We recall one time that Mother decided to visit a class of younger people. It was about spring of the year, and the teacher raised the question as to whether Easter Sunday came at the same time each year. The group readily agreed, but Mom sat there shaking her head from side to side with vigor.

"I see we have one person who disagrees," the teacher said, smiling. He then asked Mother, and she replied: "It's the first Sunday after Continued on page 2

That Good Ol' Sunshine

What a beautiful sight it was to see that good ol' sunshine coming from the east Saturday morning! After a week of constant rain and foul weather, "Old Sol" was a very welcome

The month of October proved to be a wet one bringing several inches of rain to the area. All this moisture is very beneficial to the wheat farmer who is ready to plant another crop. But, enough is enough, he can't get into the field to plant that crop if it doesn't quit for awhile. And, of course, the cotton farmer is wishing for some sunshine to dry up the field so he can get those cotton strippers rolling. With cotton bringing such a good price, farmers want to get it out of the field and to the gin.

Predictions have been that this will be a very hard, cold winter. It seems that those predictions may prove very true if early snow on the Plains means anything. It could easily be a cold winter for all of us when rising fuel prices force us to cut down the thermostat.

Oh well, if the winter is a cruel one, it will make spring a doubly welcome sight!

Picture Story Of Munday Soon To Become Available

Something of inestimable value to the community is now in the process of becoming available to the entire area through the Munday Chamber of Com-

It is a Carousel projector, In the second quarter complete with trays and whereby photos detailing a complete "picture story of Munday" may be reviewed by individuals, special groups, industrial prospects etc., and the Munday story may be told at state fairs or other available places.

For many years, Callie Ann Combs, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has envisioned such a project and working toward its Allowing the Greyhounds realization. In addition to the new slides, taken by a professional photographer, Mrs. Combs has collected for the Chamber of Commerce some 500 additional slides to the town's activities. The professional slides are of different buildings in the town, aerial views of the area, agricultural scenes, and many other interesting photographs.

The projector may be set to show the slides manually or automatically with timing that may be set for 5, 8 or 15 seconds. A total of 800 slides are stored in the Chamber office. These need to be inventoried and catalogued so a particular "story" may be immediately available to the viewer.

The equipment was made possible by an anonymous donor, and those who view the slides in the future may continue to be grateful to this benefactor for adding an important service to the community.

Within the near future, it is possible that a schedule may be set up whereby special groups may be able to see "the picture story of Munday." The story may be a continuing process as slides of new crops, buildings, activities--and maybe industry-are added to the storeroom.

On October 5, 1976, the Knox County Commissioners Court opened bids for painting the interior of the courthouse, and other needed repair on the building. The architect on the project is Tom Mills of Lubbock.

Seven contractors bid on the work, with Hammock Bros. Construction Company of Lubbock being the low bidder. Total cost of the project, including some outside cement work, is $49,896. Work is under way at the present time, and is expected to be finished by December 15.

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds are being used to finance the project.

Cotton Classing Office

Cotton gins and warehouses in seven North Central Texas counties, on Oct. 26, began submitting samples to the Munday, Texas, classing office, reprts Donald W. Bratton, regional director for the cotton division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Agricultural Marketing Service, El Paso.

The Munday office serves 24 gins and warehouses in Archer, Baylor, Haskell, Jack, Knox, Throckmorton and most of Young counties. Sidney C. Ferrell is officer in charge at the Munday office, which last year classed 58,971 samples. It is estimated that this year the office will handle 60,000 samples, until it closes with the end of the cotton harvest. Early-ginned cotton about-about 3,500 samplesfrom the Munday territory has been classed at Abilene. Cotton producers may request reviews of classification reports from the Munday office, P. O. Box 74, Munday, Texas 76371. Producers, as well as news media, gin operators and others of the cotton trade, may be placed on a mailing list to receive weekly reports on quality sales and other market information prepared each Friday by the Munday office. The telephone number is 817/422-4063.

Those small country churches were constructed along the same order, one room affairs with the front entrance on one end and the pulpit and choir loft in the other, if the place where the singers assambled was known as such in those days. There were no pews, actually, but only two rows of wooden seats, one along each side, with an aisle in the center.

Amid these simple surroundings, people worshipped in earnest. They were in no hurry to get home when services were over, but remained to visit a while. And each year, as again You see, they didn't have to hurry home and see after that roast in the oven, because with a coal or wood burning stove one didn't dare go off to church with something cooking.

There should be continued strength in the cotton market in the months ahead as crop prospects have been reduced by adverse Freeze and frost damage in West Texas should reduce the Texas cotton crop by about 250,000 bales. The total cotton crop in the United States was estimated at 10.2 million bales on October 1 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. estimated the Texas crop at 3 million bales.

Farmers still own about 50 percent of the 1976 cropso they can refuse to sell on the price dips. Domestic mills and foreign buyers need cotton and will compete for it. World consumption will exceed world production by about 2 million bales this year.

Looking ahead, the 1977 cotton planting es expected to be higher perhaps 5.2 million acres in Texas and 13 million in the U.S. Of course, price levels in the first quarter of 1977 will have a big influence. Contracting for 1977 cotton has been heavy in South Texas with producers locking in a profit at about 10 cents under the current price. This early cotton is in heavy demand by domestic mills. Contracting is a buyer's option, but this marketing alternative may help the farmer more in 1977 than this year.

Competition has been getting farmers a little more money for cottonseed in the Northern Blacklands. This is a valuable part of the cotton crop that is completely overlooked by some farmers. Products milled from cottonseed are returning around $180 per ton, and the farmers should receive around $120 based on grade 100. This figures out to $46 per bale. Farmers are now woods he "felt the burden getting about $10 less than

USDA Foods Available For Disaster Needs

Donated foods will continue to be available from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) for mass disaster feeding.

USDA said it has withdrawn a proposed change in its food distribution regulations, under which USDAdonated foods would have been distributed for mass feeding only after the declaration of a major disaster or emergency, and only at the direction of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA). TALK

By Tommie Harper

American cattlemen's super efficiency is dramatically illustrated by some of the information released on food production and livestock numbers in the developing countries. About 60 percent of all cattle are in the developing countries...about 8 percent in the U.S. Our 8 percent produces as much human food as their 60 percent. In terms of food production that makes the American cattleman 750 percent more efficient. That's a good thing for all of us. Red meat consumption in the United States last year was over 145 pounds per person. Although beet consumption in other parts of the world is on the increase this last available figures showed their meat consumption to be substantially less than ours. In Russia it was just over 46 pounds per person...less than 62 in Western Europe and only about 13 pounds per person in Japan.

Cotton Report

Cotton is bringing from 3500 to 3600 points above CCC loan prices, according to Sidney Ferrell, in charge of the Munday Classing Office. Trading was light with only a small amount of free cotton (cotton not under contract) available.

Grade 41 was the predominant quality this week, accounting for 29 percent of the classing total. Grade 42 was next with 26 percent, followed by grade 51 with 25 percent. Eleven percent was grade 52 and 3 percent was grade 43. Reductions in grade because of bark or grass accounted for 6 percent of the total. Staples 31 and 32 were predominant with 36 and 33 percent, respectively. Nineteen percent was staple 30 and 9 longer. Mike readings were excellent with 94 percent falling in the 3.5 - 4.9 range. Only 1 percent miked less than 3.5; and 5 percent, 5.0 and

percent was staple 33 or highter. About 1600 samples were classed by the Munday Classing Office during the first week of operation, ending October 29, 1976. Receipts are down to practically nothing. All cotton on hand has been

Parents' Role In Civilizing Kids Parents need a clear view of their role in developing the emotional health of their child - that they are the builders of a firm foundation for children, Dorthy Taylor, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

"We're going through a time in history when pressures to conform are great. The parent's job is to recognize this and play a role which is something more than passive yielding.

"To restore balance, they may sometimes have to help their children stand alone. This is best done when parents demonstrate in their own lives that it is possible to differ from the majority now and then, and that one may gain self-respect and Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt the respect of others by not always conforming." Children need leadership and authority. Children need parents who now and then question their wish to be different. Parents must be ready to say "no" when necessary. They also need parents who help them counter the drive for conformity -- whether it's a choice of friends, mode of dress, speech habits, behavior or moral values. Children learn early that there is such a thing as individual conscience, the specialist re-

"Parents must be on the side of the child's emerging conscience, resourceful in finding ways of helping him do right and avoid wrong. This means consistent discipline within the framework of love. Children want parents who stand for something -- children need ideals toward which to strive," she said.

"Parents' job is to educate and civilize their children. This is a gradual step-bystep process that takes endless patience and the willingness to see children as creatures of growing'

"Another way parents can help in building emotional security in a child is to know in advance what the common stumbling blocks in growing up are. With some advance knowledge about growth and the obstacles to growth, parents can develop skill in helping a child over the bumps so he can go forward.

"Parents should use enough pressure to be challenging -- but not so much that it discourages a child from trying," she reminded.

COMMERCE - LaVerne Fetsch, a graduate student at East Texas State University, is included in the current edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

At ETSU, Miss Fetsch has been on the President's Honor Roll and the Dean's List, and received her bachelors degree with superior academic standing. She was a finalist for the Regents Scholarship in 1975. Miss Fetsch is a member of Alpha Chi, honor society; Cap and Gown, senior womens honor society; Pi Omega Pi, business education honor society; and Beta Gamma Sigma, business honor society.

A business education major, Miss Fetsch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fetsch, Rt. 2, Highway 267, Munday.

All parents want their children to be happy. They want to be able to say "yes" to children whenever possible and to make their home a place where children and their friends will feel free to be themselves. But his doesn't mean being a good pal and joining "bull sessions" is all there is to do,

Miss Taylor said. "Most parents learn as they go along and manage well. Each one has to feel his way and discover what is needed for his own particular family. As this self confidence grows, parents become less anxious and better able to face their own and their children's problems -- and to recognize that the new generation's ups and downs are an inevitable part of growing up."

The Wildcats showed that they were not going to let their opposition slip away with it as they picked up the very next kickoff and ran it back 90 yards for a touchdown. The extra point try was blocked. No other scores were posted in the first half as the score stood 6-6.

In the second half the Moguls again took advantage of a Crowell mistake as the Crowell punter fumbled in the end zone and Johnny Melton recovered the ball for 6 points. The kick for the extra point was blocked.

The rain was the key for the rest of the game as neither team could move the ball on the muddy field.

The Moguls are now 1 win, 4 losses, and 2 ties and they will travel to Paducah Thursday night.

MOGUL CHOIR SINGS FOR TEACHERS

by Danny Brown The Munday Mogul Choir was honored last Friday by having an invitation to perform at the annual Texas State Teachers Association meeting.

Present at the meeting was about two thousand teachers from all parts of the state.

The choir sang three numbers for the teachers. The first was entitled "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing." The second selection was a change from popular music to an old folk song entitled "Shenandoah." Before the last song, the colors were presented by four Vernon High School students who played the song

MHS Tom Tom News

"Yankee Doodle." As the choir's finale they sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

After their performance they were treated to a barbecue meal furnished by the TSTA.

The choir was accompanied by their director, Jerry Frazier and also by Boyd Baker.

Mr. Frazier and the choir would like to express their thanks to the Methodist Church for the use of their robes and also to Mrs. Ratliff for all her help.

Many good comments were heard from the teachers about their performance. The choir is, by the way, an extra curricular activity and the students practice on their own time by coming at 7:45 in the morning, three days a week.

CROWELL SQUEKS BY MUNDAY

by Omar Choucair In the mud, rain, and cold weather, the Crowell Wildcats managed to get by the Munday Braves 14-12 in a mud bath. Despite the weather conditions, hard hitting and blocking helped as Randy Routon and Johnny Dockins each pushed the ball across the goal line for the touchdowns. This was not enough, however, as top. The season is winding down to a close as the Braves travel to Paducah for their last game this Thursday.

HD Club Meets

The Munday Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, Oct. 27 at 2:00 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Bessie Winchester.

The president, Mrs. R. M. Almanrode, opened the meeting by giving an interesting Bi-Centennial note. The hostess gave as the devotional the poem titled "Tomorrow." The minutes of the previous meeting was given by Mrs. A. L. Roden, in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Joe Patterson.

Mrs. Almanrode read a quiz on the different programs on a number of subjects. These questions will be answered at the next meeting by members. The club has had most of these programs presented with very valuable information received from them.

Mrs. Earl McNeill and Mrs. A. L. Roden gave a good report on the Countywide Achievement Day held October 22 at Truscott. Several Munday club members won ribbons on their handwork, etc.

Mrs. McNeill and Mrs. Roden gave a demonstration on making Christmas tree ornaments from beads. These were very attractive and will really brighten up the tree. Also Mrs. Winchester demonstrated the art of decorating coat hangers by wrapping them with rug varn.

The hostess served most delicious refreshments to Mmes: Almanrode, Alta Bowden, McNeill, Roden, Grace Gollehan and a visitor, Mrs. Cecil Mings from Kingsland, Texas. Her husband works with the Department of Agriculture and is interested in buying cotton here. They will be here for a few months.

The next meeting will be Wed., Nov. 10 in the home of Mrs. R. M. Almanrode and she will present an interesting program. Members are urged to attend. There are a few more Council Cook Books available from club members. Reporter, Grace Gol-
