Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

The pros and cons about smoking being the cause of lung cancer has been kicked around for some time, and even lawmakers have toyed with the idea of forcing cigarette manufacturers to post warnings on their cigarette packages.

Even this and the recent advance in price hasn't caused a great many to quit the weed. Ben Wilhelm, a Seventh Day Adventist from somewhere, has proposed securing cigarette schools for those interested in learning how to abandon the habit. A contemporary columnist writes:

Regardless of the health aspects of smoking and I doubt if it is as serious as some people claim, the habit is an expensive one. At 40 cents a package it can mount up. Suppose that a man and his wife both smoke and that is rather common in this day and age. Say that he is a two pack a day smoker and she is a one pack gal. That adds up to 21 packages a week or $8.40 or $436.80 in a year. Perhaps there is more than one reason for thinking about Mr. Wilhelm's school for those who want to quit smoking.

Figuratively speaking, we of the Munday area have cantaloupes running out of our ears. We don't necessarily mean every person, but those engaged in the growing and selling of the melons are almost in that condition.

The harvest just about reached its peak period the latter part of last week. The processing places, as well as pickers in the field, got into high about Thursday.

We took a view of activities at processing points in Munday, then a trip to one of the cantaloupe fields to see the pickers in action.

A drive about town Friday revealed that cantaloupes were in plentiful supply. During the heat of the day, trailers loaded with the melons were parked in shady places at several points.

One load was parked in the shade of trees at West Texas Utilities Co.; Don Combs had some parked in the shade of the elevator he operated during wheat harvest; the coops had almost every shady place filled, and two of the Cottonseed Delinting Co. buildings were opened for loaded trailers.

When the harvest first began, we purchased some of the melons. A few days later, Joe Canafax stopped us and his pickup in the middle of the street and handed us one. Now about all we have to do is appear where some of the melons are.

We've eaten melons from patches of Phil Homer, Wilford Bellinghausen, Don Combs, Buddy Urbanszyk, and others. "Don't overload your refrigerator, we were told the other day, 'just come by every day or so and get some.'"

Our front door bell rang Sunday morning, and when we went to investigate the cause, there stood our neighbor, Bud Nelson, with three nice cantaloupes. He had been to the melon patch, saw we had company, said he imagined we didn't have too many cantaloupes so he just delivered these to us. Right thoughtful of our neighbor!

The editor fares pretty good in the vegetable season, what with our own pea patch, corn from the Bowley's beans from the Grady Phillips', corn from the Herb Peek's, and perhaps the thoughtfulness of others whom we don't think of right now.

Whether you live on a farm or not, National Farm Safety Week, July 25-31, should serve as a reminder to you to promote safety in your home community and on the highways.

Something we didn't know: Over 6,000 persons drown in the United States each year with the highest rate among teenagers. And the rate for teenage boys is about 15 times the rate for girls.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. Dub Moon underwent surgery in the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls last Tuesday morning. She is reported to be doing fine.

Cong. Purcell To Speak At Cotton Growers Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Graham Purcell (D-Texas) announced today that he will address a meeting of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., on Friday afternoon in Stamford, Texas.

Terry Julian, Executive Director, of the organization, said the meeting would be held at 2:00 p. m. in the Stamford High School auditorium. Julian said, "We sincerely urge all our members to attend, and we will welcome any others who are farmers or involved in agriculture related industries to hear this late report on farm legislation in Washington."

Purcell, who is chairman of the wheat subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture, said he would discuss the omnibus farm bill which was approved by the House Committee on Agriculture last week. The bill contains program extensions for cotton, wheat, feed grains, dairy products, and wool, in addition to a new proposed Cropland Adjustment Program.

The Congressman said he believes the proposed legislation is vital to Texas, and that he believes Texas farmers and rural residents need to be aware of the content of the legislation, and aware of the possible consequences if it fails to pass the Congress this year.

"The cotton program proposed in this bill," said Purcell, "involves some new concepts for this important commodity, and cotton producers should learn all they can about it in order to express themselves properly. The programs proposed are four-year programs, and they will be with us for some time to come. I hope those Texans interested in agriculture will take advantage of every opportunity to become more familiar with the legislation."

Knox History To Be Published

The project of compiling a history of Knox County completed in May, after about nine months of work on the part of the committee, composed of the following:

Mrs. Earl Sams, Benjamin; Mrs. Arthur Horne, Gilliland; Mrs. W. M. Taylor, Goree; Mrs. R. G. Vaughan and Mrs. B. B. Campbell Sr., Knox City; Mrs. Effie Alexander and Mrs. M. H. Reeves, Munday; Mrs. V. M. Meador, Rhineland; Mrs. H. A. Smith, Truscott, and Mrs. Olen Coffman, Vera.

The manuscript, 568 typewritten pages, was mailed to the publishers early in June. The publishers felt this would make a book of which the county would always be proud.

The prices for publishing the book were given as follows: 500 copies, $10 per copy; 1,000 copies, $6 per copy. The committee feels that a poll should be taken of county residents to see how many copies would be needed.

"We have given nine months time to writing this history," Mrs. B. B. Campbell, Sr., said, "and if you are interested in Knox County having a formal history, just take a few minutes and fill out the accompanying poll and mail to me at Knox City. Your response will certainly help us decide what to do."

If 500 copies are printed, I want _____ copies at $10 each.
If 1,000 copies are printed, I want _____ copies at $6 each.

Senior League Boys Get Suits

Players in the Senior Little League baseball are sporting new suits which arrived a few days ago. Making them possible were the following merchants and individuals:

Knox Prairie Seeds, Rhineland Co-op Gin, J. H. Kane Gulf, Flash-O-Gas, Dairy Treat, Quality Implements, Stewart Animal Hospital, Brown's Grocery, Leo Fetsch Insurance, Osborne Dist. Co., Vernal Zeissel, J. L. and Herbert Stodghill, Paul Pendleton Alvin Michalik and Starcraft Lumber Co.

The boys appreciate this very much, and manager of the players express their thanks to the above for their generosity.

Don Murphy, seller for the Munday Cooperatives, poses in front of a trailer load of Munday cantaloupes grown by Buddy Urbanszyk. Photographer got only Buddy's hand holding one of the melons. In background at entrance to truck being loaded is Garon Tidwell.

In the field, these cantaloupe pickers pause long enough to have their picture taken. They were picking in the Wilford Bellinghausen patch, on the farm owned by Buck Tidwell.

Six Accidents Are Investigated

The Highway Patrol investigated six rural traffic accidents in Knox County during the month of June, according to Sergeant Frank Jirek, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one death, four injuries and an estimated property damage in the amount of $4,160.00.

The rural traffic accident summary in Knox County for the first six months of 1965 shows a total of 33 crashes resulting in four persons killed, 20 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $57,610.00.

"As of the first of this month, there had been a total of 1,040 fatal crashes in Texas taking lives of 1,261 persons," the Sergeant stated. This is approximately two percent less than for the same period of 1964; however, if past trends continue, we will all probably exceed the all time record high of 3,006 persons killed in traffic crashes experienced in Texas last year.

The final section of the dress revue and girls achievement events is scheduled to be held in Benjamin on July 28th starting at 9 a.m.

Century Plant In Full Bloom Here

Attracting much attention among local townspeople is a beautiful century plant, which is now in full bloom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Isbell.

Towering some 20 feet skyward, the plant now has ten blooms, all of which are almost full, and two others which will be in full bloom soon.

According to tradition, these plants — seen in numbers in the Big Bend area — bloom once every 100 years, thus the name, Century Plant. It is said, too, that they'll bloom once, then die.

Mrs. Isbell couldn't confirm this. "The book says they'll bloom every ten years," she said. But her plant hasn't done so. It is around 35 years old, Mrs. Isbell says.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Planning for retirement is a popular subject nowadays. However, most folks fail to think of their tax problems as a part of their retirement plan.

Our good tax folks point out that Congress has been very liberal in providing benefits for our retired taxpayers. You can save yourself several hundred dollars in taxes if you plan ahead.

It will pay you to get a copy of Document 5569, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans." Read it and get Internal Revenue to answer your questions. It takes planning to retire from paying taxes as well as retiring from working.

MEANINGLESS TAX CUTS

Every tax reduction, of any kind, is greeted with hosannas. The public, the story runs, now will have more money it can call its own, spending will be given a new shot in the arm, and the whole economy will benefit.

So far so good. But there is another side to the story. And it is found in tax increases, which generally are given much less publicity than the reductions.

Take, for instance, the social security tax. Its rate, which is shared equally by employers and employees, has increased more than 262 per cent since 1949. And that isn't all. If medicare becomes law, and its costs are added in, the increase could be as great as 435 per cent by 1973. And there is always the possibility that the projections will prove too low and that still larger increases will be found necessary.

This is not all. State and local taxing bodies of every kind have been increasing their take in the form of higher levies for schools, roads, welfare and various other purposes.

It should be obvious that a tax cut which is largely or wholly offset by a tax increase is meaningless. It just puts money in one pocket while taking it out of another.

LIVESTOCK COUNTRY

The long cattle drives are ended. Cowmen and sheepmen no longer stage pitched battles over water holes. But this is prime livestock country still. In fact, cattle and sheep are of greater importance to the West today than when cowboys packed shootin' irons. Livestock brings in more money for western farmers than any crop.

Thus states the Portland Oregonian. And it summons impressive figures to back up its position. In a recent year in the three Pacific coast states, livestock brought producers $1,746 billion—nearly 40 per cent of total cash receipts from farm marketings. And in the Mountain states, livestock accounted for a still higher proportion—$1,466 billion out of a total income of $2,616 billion.

The West is the primary cattle and sheep producing area of the U. S. But in every section of the nation, farmers produce and market these meat animals on some scale. Even in regions where livestock may be secondary to other crops.

It is an important and dependable source of cash income. And, of course, it is meaningful to consumers everywhere, even though they may never have seen a steer on the hoof. Meat consumption in this country has grown apace, and there is every indication that it will continue to do so.

And the meat industry, all the way from the farms and ranches through the packing houses to the meat counter, is a free enterprise institution. It is ruled, not by government fiat, but by the natural law of supply and demand. The livestock people, like all other private concerns that prize their independence, intend to keep it that way.

THE CAMEL AGAIN

The bill for creating a Department of Housing and Urban Development at the Cabinet level, in the form in which it has passed the House and is now before the Senate, is a fairly mild sort of proposal. Its principal effect would be to combine certain activities now carried on by existing agencies.

But, it seems very clear, this is intended to be only a start. For, as one of the bill's principal congressional supporters sees it, the new department would ultimately be responsible for "all activities and problems making up the life of the city dweller."

This is a mouthful. The city dweller's problems run a wide spectrum indeed—traffic congestion, air pollution, recreational wants, unemployment, soaring local taxes, and so on and so on. Is the federal government to assume the responsibility of trying to solve them all? If so, we might as well abandon city and other local governments and hand Washington a blank check.

The camel, one remembers, just got his nose into the tent in the beginning—but before long he filled the whole tent. The current bill looks like an example of that.

American eating habits have changed dramatically in the past 15 years. Today, the average American eats 44 per cent more beef, 65 per cent more chicken, 33 per cent more cheese and 23 per cent more canned fruit. Consumption of frozen fruits and vegetables, which was slight in 1950, has skyrocketed as much as 300 per cent.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims He Has Found A Deplorable Trend In The Rash Of Resignations Lately

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek thinks he has discovered a trend in public affairs, his letter this week reports.

J. A.

Dear Editor:

Sometimes when the leaders in public affairs are involved with the worries of world problems they overlook minor trends that can be seen easily from the quiet and unhurried atmosphere of this Johnson grass farm, untroubled by monsoons and De Gaulle stones.

I have been watching a trend develop over the last few weeks and I can report it has now reached serious proportions.

First General Maxwell Taylor resigned as ambassador to Viet Nam, saying he had spent over a year there and would now like to spend more time with his family.

Then the head of the U. S. Information Agency, Carl T. Rowan, resigned, saying he owed it to his family to get a better-paying job.

Next Mayor Robert Wagner of New York declined to run for reelection, saying he had an obligation to be with his children more.

Now you see what the trend is. If it keeps up, it'll get to the point where, if a man in public office announces he'll run for reelection, the public will start asking: What's he got against his family?

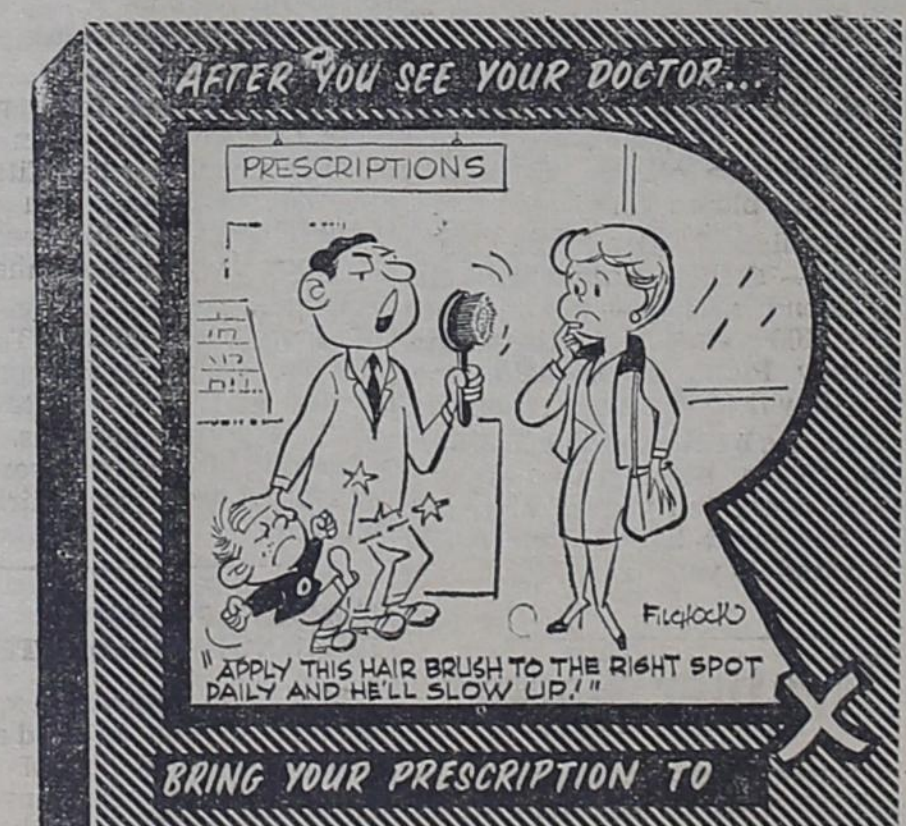

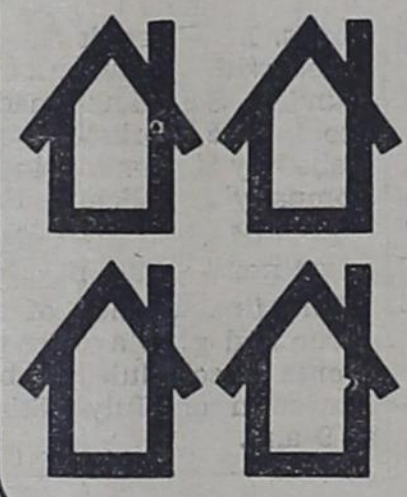

You can see where this will lead to. A man decides to stay in office and immediately everybody assumes he doesn't care about being with his family or his family isn't worth being with.

This will be a terrible plight, and if office-holders are smart they'll break this trend and start giving other reasons for retiring, like "I've had enough," or "Been here too long," or "This is a dull job," or if there's an answer to the problems in Viet Nam or New York City, it's beyond me."

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Your feet must last a lifetime, and if you've been sight-seeing, hiking or just walking a lot lately, you're probably quiet conscious of this fact.

Just because your feet are the lowest extremity of your body, doesn't mean that they deserve to be mistreated. Far from it. If your feet are to last a lifetime and serve you well, they require good care.

If you can heed the findings and suggestions by researchers and physicians before you have difficulty with your feet, you'll be way ahead.

According to a recent study, three times as many boys as girls have mild to severe skin problems with their feet. The researchers related that fact to the girl's students' tendency to take off their shoes or slip their heels out of their shoes when sitting in classes or elsewhere. The girls also wore lighter and lower shoes than the boys. Both of these habits tend to minimize excessive perspiration of the feet.

Perspiring feet are moist feet, and moist feet provide an excellent environment for the growth and multiplication of the organisms which contribute to diseases of the feet.

Although the locker room has long been considered the culprit of foot infections, research shows that fungous disease of the feet is probably not spread by such exposure.

Instead, there are several points you can note and include in your foot-care program.

Keep your feet clean by washing them frequently, always drying them thoroughly. If needed, use an antiseptic foot powder after drying.

As for footwear, use lightweight, light colored socks to minimize excessive perspiration. And change socks whenever they become damp.

The shoes, researchers found, normally contributing the most to good foot hygiene are those that cause the least perspiration. And as for youngsters, the researchers found that oxfords are preferable to boots, sneakers or tennis shoes for all-day wear.

Remember, your feet must last a lifetime, so give them the best of care.

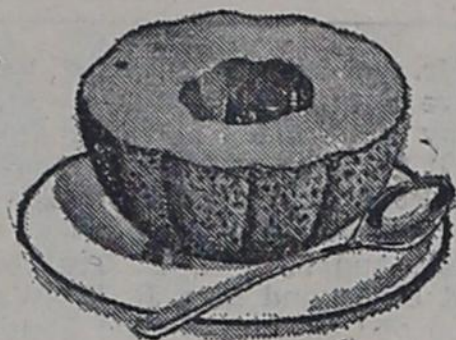

The first subway opened in Boston in 1897.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch Offers A Touch Of The Old West For Visitors

There's a touch of the Old West and a lot of the new for visitors to see up in the Panhandle country of Texas. The place to see it is Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo.

The ranch the first of its kind in America, is open to visitors and there are park facilities at the entrance for those who wish to picnic.

Situated along the bank of the Canadian River, the Boys Ranch is about 36 miles northwest of Amarillo and may be reached by taking Highway 1061 from Amarillo or U. S. 385 from Vega. It occupies the site of what was once Tascosa, Cowboy Capital of the Plains. Old Tascosa for a time was the center of the open range world, stamping ground for some of the West's most notorious bad men and focal point for cattle thieves and ranchers.

Located at an easy river crossing, the site started as a meeting place for Indians and Mexican traders who exchanged contraband goods, including women and children. The first permanent settlement was made by sheep herders in 1876, the same year Charles Goodnight and Thomas S. Bugbee brought the first cattle to the free grass empire.

Small ranchers and nesters followed and the boom was on.

Hundreds of miles from civilization, Old Tascosa lured the lawless and the law men. Names like Billy the Kid and Pat Garrett live in its history. Gun fights made a "Boot Hill" cemetery necessary. The heaviest toll in a single shoot-out occurred March 21, 1886, when three cowboys and a restaurant owner died in a five minute period. All went to Boot Hill.

The coming of barbed wire pinched off the cattle trails, Tascosa's life blood, and sealed the fate of the settlement. Today, only the town's stone courthouse and Boot Hill remain. Twenty-five years ago, the courthouse and 120 acres surrounding it were donated to a dream of a home in the country for boys who need a helping hand.

The man who had that dream is Cal Farley, champion athlete and successful businessman who founded the Boys Ranch with a handful of unfortunate kids. Since that time, boys from 4 to 17 from virtually every state in the Union have come to the ranch for help at the request or relatives, social workers, ministers and juvenile court judges, and Cal and Mrs. Farley have served as foster parents to more than 1500 youngsters who have become useful, productive citizens.

Financed by donations and operating on a nonsectarian basis, the ranch has thrived without fraternal, religious or governmental affiliations.

Today, Boys Ranch covers 1,400 acres, has 30 buildings, and boasts its own bank, post office and independent school district. Some 350 boys are living there in a normal, family atmosphere with staff "parents" who live right in the dormitories or "homes."

Old Tascosa had its day, but the atmosphere has changed. A different breed of cowboys is at home on the range there now, a frequently-used chapel stands next to the courthouse, and only pets are buried on Boot Hill.

Arthur Corbett, III, of Springfield, Mo., is spending his vacation here with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Maske.

Cotton Farmers Facing Reduction In Cotton Acreage

Texas farmers are facing a drastic reduction in cotton acreage if the proposed farm bill passes the House. Best estimates indicate that contrary to the House Agricultural Committee's figures, Texas cuts in acreage would be in excess of 35 percent.

Texas in the past has enjoyed considerable success in getting unused acreage released and in shifting this acreage to farmers who desired to grow cotton. The proposed omnibus farm bill would eliminate for all practical purposes the release and re-portionment feature of the present law.

Last year there were 5,850,000 acres planted to cotton in the State. Estimates indicate that under the proposed bill, a acreage would be reduced by 2,102,000, a reduction of 35.91 percent. Translated in terms of income, assuming that crop conditions will be about the same as they were last year, this would mean a reduction of 1,462,992 bales of cotton worth $219,500,000 to Texas farmers.

The Texas economy, however, would be decreased by a figure approaching one billion dollars since it is a well established fact that cotton approaching one billion dollars since it is a well established fact that cotton multiplies itself in the channels of trade five or more times.

Many producer groups, it is reported, are voicing opposition to the reported bill. The Texas Cotton Ginner's Association is definitely opposed to the acreage features, as it will mean a general reduction of income for this vital group of processors.

The average gin in the State processes around 3,300 bales annually, consequently, the entire production from 443 of the State's 1,308 gins would be eliminated. Besides the drastic effect on the State's economy and the cotton ginning industry drastic acreage reductions would curtail the individual farmer's efficiency by increasing his cost of production, which is directly opposite to what the bill is designed to do.

House Agriculture Committee reports indicate a need to temporarily reduce acreage by only 15 percent, which the industry said it could stand.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Morgan and children of Lockney visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Boggs and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morgan, over the week end.

4-H Youths Keep Fit

When boys and girls club work first started in the early 1900's, the emblem was a 3-H clover symbolizing Head, Heart, Hands. Around 1911 the 4th H was added to represent Health. Ever since, both here and in about 75 other countries, this emblem has represented the equal training of "head, heart, hands and health for better living."

Health projects have grown over the years in knowledge, activities and membership, says the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H programs. And keeping fit is one important segment of the national 4-H Health program which today enrolls some 677,000 boys and girls.

It is easy to keep in good shape during summer months through sports, games, hikes, camping and outdoor work. But, cautions the 4-H Health bulletin, there is more to maintaining good health than strenuous exercise.

This recent publication points out the need for three nutritious meals a day, plenty of sleep, periodic physical checkups and a sensible balance of work and play. It also urges 4-H Club members to look for ways to improve family and community health.

Individual members and clubs can win awards for doing an outstanding job. Winners are selected by the Extension Service. Award donor and sponsor of the 4-H Health program for the last 10 years is Eli Lilly and Company.

The boy or girl judged best in the state will be a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago next fall, and will compete for one of six $500 scholarships. In the county, the best four club projects will be recognized with a certificate and medals will be presented to as many as four top individuals.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

NEW MARKETING PROGRAMS FOR TEXAS

The process of marketing Texas farm production can be stated simply as "getting the buyer and the seller together at an agreeable price." But the actual process can get quite complicated.

The Texas Department of Agriculture this fall will begin an expanded marketing program to act as a clearing house of information for both buyers and sellers. The goal is to eliminate some of the stumbling blocks in the marketing road.

Because of the sheer size of the state, one area may have a surplus of one kind of commodity with no buyers available, while another area has ample buyers but the same commodity may be in short supply. Mere lack of information on a statewide basis prevents the buyers and sellers from getting together.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced that a new program will get underway this fall with six offices in various parts of the state keeping a constant check of supply and demand on Texas crops. These offices will help farmers find an outlet for their crops and keep buyers informed of supplies.

In addition, availability reports on Texas production will be compiled and sent to out-of-state buying agencies. Such current information will go a long way towards preventing seasonal "gluts" during peak harvest times, White said.

Area locations for the marketing offices are at Lubbock, Stephenville, Tyler, Houston, San Marcos and Pharr, Texas. The state office at Austin will also serve as a central collection agency for information.

Red, white, & blue chip investment

You won't get rich overnight buying U. S. Savings Bonds. But for the long run, they make an excellent investment.

You get a guaranteed rate of interest—3 1/2% when held to maturity—so there's no ups and downs to worry about.

You also get certain tax advantages since Savings Bonds aren't subject to state or local income taxes and the federal tax can be deferred until the Bonds are cashed.

But probably most important is that Bonds pay off in more than dollars. When you get your Bond investment back you know it has helped Uncle Sam strengthen the cause of freedom (your cause) all around this troubled world of ours.

Buy U. S. Savings Bonds and own a share of America. It's a good outfit to do business with.
