O. D. Reid Released On Bond After Charges Filed

WINDSHIELD CLAMP COMES LOOSE, GETS DRIVER'S ATTENTION

Caught Between Cars

Driver Made Effort to Stop Car But Was Too Late in Applying Brake

Wichita Record-News, Tuesday:

Henry Larkin, 52, a driver for the Perfection Water company here, died about 3:15 o'clock Monday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained earlier in the afternoon when he was crushed between his truck and the radiator of an automobile driven by O. D. Reid of Knox City.

A complaint charging negligent homicide in the first degree was filed Monday evening against Mr. Reid by Wayne Somerville, county attorney. The accused man was released on bond of $500 after his father had come to Wichita Falls from Knox City to aid in perfecting the bond. Mr. Somerville explained the charge against Reid as "negligent homicide in the performance of a lawful act instead of second degree negligent homicide, which is based on performance of an unlawful act."

Windshield Clamp Blamed

The accident occurred about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon on Indiana avenue near the Tenth street intersection. Onlookers reported something apparently dropped in front of Reid's car and that he leaned over to see what had fallen. When he looked up after a moment Larkin was between the front of his car and the rear of the truck. Reid attempted to throw on his brakes but the effort was too late to prevent striking Larkin, officials said. Larkin was crushed between the two machines. It was found later, members of the county attorney's department reported, that a clamp on the windshield of Reid's car had fallen to the floorboards and it was this that caused him to take his eyes away from the street for a moment.

Reid rushed to Larkin's side immediately after the accident and assisted him to the curb. An emergency ambulance was called and the injured man was hospitalized.

Childress Girl Dies on Train

Memphis, Texas, Sept. 9.—The body of Miss Opal Coley, 20, of Childress was taken off a passenger train here early Tuesday evening after the train crew had forced open the door of a dressing room when the young woman failed to alight at the Childress station. Miss Coley held a pass entitling her to ride to Childress. Porters reported that she did not leave the train and investigation led to the locked door behind which the body was found.

Dr. C. Selham, Memphis physician, declared after an examination that Miss Coley came to her death from natural causes. The young woman boarded the train at Wichita Falls Tuesday morning, train officials said.

The body will be forwarded to Childress for services. Miss Coley is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Corley of Childress, and four brothers and one sister.

Miss Coley was well known to many Munday people, having visited in the Atkinson home here a number of times and was also a visitor to Miss Kathleen Mabry here on several occasions, and the news of her death was received by her friends here with deep regret.

J. W. Melton of Benjamin was here Monday meeting with friends and looking after business matters.

Farmers Urged to Sow Small Grain For Late Fall Pasturage

By E. A. Miller, Agronomist, Extension Service A. & M. College of Texas

Do not neglect to sow a small grain crop this fall. Oats, barley, rye and wheat are valuable for winter pasturage and cover crops over a large part of Texas, and will go a long way in reducing the feed bill, particularly where the drought ruined the feed crop. Every farmer who has any livestock should sow one of these crops for grazing purposes, if he lives in a section where small grains will grow, and even in case no livestock is to be grazed, these crops will serve the very useful purpose of cover crops to keep the land from washing away and to take up and hold the available plant food, especially nitrogen which might otherwise be leached out.

For grazing purposes, the grain should be sown early, preferably by the middle of September, since the experience of farmers is very conclusive that the early sown grain is the most profitable, as it furnishes a good deal more grazing than late sown crops. Small grain pastures, when planted early, will be the means of saving a good many dollars in feed.

For early planting, oats, barley or other small grain may be drilled in between the cotton rows or corn or grain sorghum rows with a small grain drill, or the seed may be broadcast and then covered with a fine tooth one-row cultivator, harrow or some other form of scratcher or plow. For grazing purposes, at least 75 to 90 pounds of small grain seed should be sown per acre. Thick seeding furnishes more grazing than thin seeding. It is still better to add 15 to 20 pounds of hairy vetch seed (inoculated) per acre.

If a grain or hay crop is desired, the oat and barley seed should be sprayed with a formaldehyde solution at the rate of one pint of formaldehyde to five gallons of water to prevent smut. This amount will be sufficient to treat 40 bushels of seed. The seed should be sprayed with a solution and shoveled over two or three times, then placed in a pile and covered with a wagon sheet for several hours. On account of the small amount of the solution, the seed will be ready to plant after they have been treated, without drying.

For wheat smut the copper carbonate treatment is used. This method consists in placing the wheat in a tight container which should be so arranged that it can be revolved on an axis. From 2 to 3 ounces of powdered copper carbonate per bushel should be sprinkled on the seed and the container then thoroughly revolved so that every seed will be covered with the powder.

Plans Being Made For West Texas Fair, Abilene

WEST TEXAS PRODUCTS WILL BE SHOWN AND BIG AWARDS MADE

Rodeo to Feature

Ernie Young's "Spanish Nights" To Be Big Grandstand Attraction

More than $10,000 in premiums and purses are being offered in the livestock and agricultural exhibits in the West Texas Fair which is to be held in Abilene from September 29 to October 4 inclusive. These departments promise to be larger and more interesting than ever before. Many entries have already been received in the livestock department from some of the most outstanding herds of the Southwest.

In the woman's department every effort is being made to secure attractive exhibits. A specialty is being made of curios and antiques, in addition to the textile and culinary departments. The art displays will contain paintings from the most famous artists of the south.

These paintings will be displayed in special settings and will offer one of the largest and most attractive exhibits in the West Texas Fair.

A number of nationally known cowboys have signified their intention of participating in the rodeo which will be staged on October 1, 2, and 3. This rodeo is being held under the supervision of men experienced in this particular kind of attraction and will doubtless be one of the largest and most successful shows of the kind ever held in this section of the state. Each morning there will be a parade through the downtown section of the city in which cowboys and cowgirls attired in fancy costumes will take part. Entries in the rodeo are open to the world.

Two days, Monday and Saturday, will be given over to football in which the leading high school football teams of West Texas are to participate. These particular teams are strong contenders for the state championship each year and will doubtless put plenty of pep and enthusiasm in their play.

On Tuesday the leading motorcycle riders of the country will meet in a series of hotly contested races on the West Texas Fair speedway which is conceded to be the fastest track in the entire southwest. A number of these riders are now in the East competing in the national races.

A novel addition this year will be the terrapin derby in which from 3,500 to 5,000 trained racing terrapins will take part. Indications are that the entries will be very heavy in this event which will mean large purses. It is estimated that the purse will amount to from $3,000 to $4,000 for the several events.

Chief among the attractions at night will be Ernie Young's gala revue, "Spanish Nights," a highly entertaining show. This will be given before the grandstand each night and is free on all except Friday nights. On that night Ernie Young presents his wedding number. A legal wedding will be held in which some local couple will be married. The costumes are very gorgeous and the entire setting will be the most beautiful ever seen in West Texas. Ernie Young is one of the best known producers and his numbers are always well received.

The Lachman-Carson Carnival will be on the midway all the week. Their show contains a large array of the exhibits and curiosities seen in this type of clean entertainment.

Each of the departments and the shows are under the direction of the best talent that could be found and it is expected that this fourteenth fair will be one of the most successful held so far.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Ruten, son, Vernon, and entire family.

Leaf Worms Have Damaged Cotton

ESTIMATED THAT CROP IS CUT 25 PER CENT SHORT BY LEAF WORMS

Many Are Poisoning

Young Cotton Practically Ruined and Older Cotton Is Being Damaged

Last week we reported that the leaf worms had made their appearance on the Knox prairie, and since that time they have made their presence visible in practically every field over this entire section and have damaged the crop at least twenty-five per cent, and possibly more. The greatest damage has been done in the late cotton, and a large per cent of the cotton in this immediate section is late, much of it having been planted after the big rain of June 13th.

Many farmers have been applying poison, and while some report good results, a majority of the farmers have made no attempt to check the pests, stating that the low price of cotton did not justify any expenditure "in saving the cotton."

The rains of the week will be of untold value to late feed, and there are many fields of it in the country and farmers who have a large acreage in feed this year are the fortunate ones, as it will net them far more money than their cotton acreage will.

More About the Leaf Worms

By R. D. Kalls, Vocational Agricultural Instructor

The first crop of the worms have gone into the pupa stage and from examination of the cotton about over the infested area, that is, where the worms worked before, there seems to be an extra amount of live pupa webbed up in the cotton leaves. This means that in a few days the moths (millers) will emerge again to start laying eggs for the second crop.

Farmers who sprayed, and sprayed thoroughly, have had very good results in keeping this pest under control, keeping them in check to the extent that they have saved the foliage and this in turn helps to mature the young bolls. To allow the worms to destroy the leaves causes the bolls to open prematurely, thereby reducing the length and quality of the staple.

There are twenty-six spray machines about over the country and you can get one of these for the asking. So see to it that so far as the worm is concerned you have murder in your eyes. Catch the next crop and then I think our battle is won.

With the present price of cotton, the amount of time and labor that is already wrapped up in this year's cotton crop, I don't see how any farmer can afford to feed a crop of worms.

The cost of poisoning these worms is less than ten cents per acre and where the worms have worked they have caused from twenty-five to fifty per cent loss to the crop. If your cotton will yield one-third bale per acre and you save this loss you are certainly getting plenty for the time spent on the spray machine.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to express our thanks to our many friends for their kindness and words of sympathy during the brief illness and death of our beloved daughter and sister. We want to also thank all of the kind and loving friends, and we want to thank all who in any way contributed to our comfort. We also wish to thank the Munday ladies for their kindness and Brother Eldand for his words of consolation.

No Prisoners In Knox County Jail During Month Of August

During the month of August the Knox County jail has been uninhabited, and the monthly meeting of the commissioner's court which met Monday was in all probability the first session of the court in many years in which no bill was presented for feeding prisoners. Sheriff Elliott attributes this good record to the fact that the citizens of the county are law-abiding folks, and the population of the county during the past few months has been composed almost entirely of permanent citizens, all surplus population having drifted out to other points, and this is indeed a tribute to the citizens of the county.

Prisoner Returns Promptly To Begin Penitentiary Sentence

Along about August 1st the only inmate of the county jail was R. Johnson, a former citizen of Munday, who had been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary on a charge of violation of liquor laws. Sheriff Elliott was informed that it would be some weeks before room could be found for the prisoner at the penitentiary, so Sheriff Elliott, rather than keep the prisoner incarcerated in the jail, released him on his promise to return when notified, and he was allowed to return to his family in a neighboring county. Sheriff Elliott notified the prisoner last week to report Saturday, and just in order that there would be no possibility of him being detained, came in on Friday, and was transferred to the penitentiary officials Saturday.

The observance of Friday as the Mohammedan day of assembly, corresponding in some respects to the Christian Sabbath, originated in the Mohammedan revelations. TEXAS REPUBLICANS AGAIN SHOW FLEXIBILITY

The Republican party in Texas has again demonstrated its flexibility in making their platform conform to the view of the defeated element in Democratic ranks. In their convention at San Antonio this week they have adopted the platform in toto of the Fergusonists in the recent Democratic primary. Not that the party leaders in Texas adhere to those principles, but with a view of attracting the Ferguson followers to their nominee in November.

It is just those tactics that make the Republican party in Texas a huge joke. Once before the present nominee of that party, Dr. George C. Butte, was a candidate. Then he made a bid for the anti-Ferguson vote, as the Fergusonists had won a victory in the primaries. In brief, the Republican party in Texas changes its politics every two years to conform with the policies of the defeated element in the Democratic party. It has no definite policy of its own.

There may come a time in Texas when the Republican party will be a contending factor in our political life, but it will come long after the party leaders of this state have abandoned their flexible policy and join hands in working for certain set ideals in government. It will not come so long as a few Federal office-holders dominate the party and bend its ideals to conform with the disgruntled element in the opposing party.

Certainly those Democrats who bolted their party ticket six years ago and voted for Dr. Butte can have little respect for his views now as a candidate running on a Ferguson platform. Certainly those who voted for the Fergusonists in the recent Democratic primaries cannot have a very high regard for Mr. Butte, who six years ago made his appeal to the Klan element in Texas in his effort to defeat the Fergusonists.

We just wonder what Dr. Butte, who is an assistant attorney general in Washington, D. C., will say when he returns to Texas and finds that his party has groomed him to run on a platform that is identical in principle to that which he ran on six years ago; that he must appeal to the Texas Democrats for aid that he sought to defeat six years ago.

The Republican party in Texas reminds one of the British turncoats of the Revolutionary war, who, by merely turning their coats inside-out or vice-versa, could be either British or American soldiers.

WHAT ABOUT OUR MONEY CROP? Diversification has been agitated here and elsewhere for a number of years, in fact, we believe we are safe in saying that there has been an agitation in favor of diversified farming since farming has been carried on in this section of West Texas. A vast majority of farmers will express themselves as being entirely "sold" on the idea of diversified farming, but in almost every instance they will conclude by telling you that this section must rely upon cotton as the "money crop."

Until the farmers cease to rely upon cotton as their "money crop" they are dead sure to be cotton poor. The Federal Government with its Federal Farm Board cannot bring relief to the cotton farmer, nor to the wheat farmer, if they operate on a one crop basis. Mr. Legge has told the farmers of the North that they must cut wheat acreage if they are to expect any relief. He and others in position to know have warned the Southern farmer that he must reduce his cotton acreage if he is to be benefited.

And those who have contended that cotton must be relied upon as the chief money crop in this section should be reminded that about all the money that will be made by the farmers this year will be made from feed. Hence it is proven that cotton is not after all, the only money crop that can be grown here. In fact, if the acreage that is in cotton over the Munday country were in feed this year, 30 per cent the acreage that is in feed were in cotton, our farmers would be about the most prosperous in the United States. And if a large acreage were planted to feed every year and the feed is marketed in the various ways it can be marketed, there would be no less years for the farmers of the Munday country. We have the most ideal country for it, and it can be marketed, there would be no less years for the farmers of the Munday country. We have the most ideal country for it, and it can be marketed, there would be no less years for the farmers of the Munday country.

The history of all sections where cotton has been relied upon as the main money crop has resulted in poverty and privation. When any crop ceases to bring a price over the cost of production it has ceased to be a money crop. It has been a good many years since Knox county farmers have sold cotton very far above the cost of production, and from present outlook it may be a good many years before he can sell his staple even at cost, and since this is a situation that must be faced, it is up to the farmers to turn their attention to a program of diversified farming, which really means not too much anything, but enough of everything to insure a fair price for what is produced on the farm.

Cupid Was at the Convention

By RUBY DOUGLAS

WHEN Clarice's father proposed that he take both his wife and daughter to the big political convention, the daughter, at least, was far from thrilled at the idea.

"But, father," she began, trying to seem appreciative and yet unable to hide her real lack of interest, "won't we be a great nuisance to you in the city? Mother, of course, might not be, but what can you possibly do with me?"

Her father laughed. "He was a delegate from his district as much because of the quality of that laugh as because of his political strength."

"Never you mind what I'll do with you, son," he said. "He had always called her 'son' because he had expected her to be a son. So Clarice had waited and now she was 'seeing.' There was no delegate, spectator, guard or newspaper reporter more absorbed in the daily session of the national convention than this western girl."

"If you and your mother would like to go on home," her father had begun one morning while they were apparently hopeless as to progress in nominating. "Home?" cried Clarice. "Why, father—nothing would drag me away until our man is nominated. I never was so excited in my life. I wouldn't have missed it for worlds. Dear old daddy, you do know what I'd like better than I know myself."

"I know one thing that perhaps you think I don't know, son," he said, pointedly. "Clarice blushed. 'Yes?'"

Her father nodded. "I know that the young man delegate from Georgia has not lost much time in trying to affiliate with certain members attached to the Iowa delegation."

"Oh—Mr. Macdonald? We have seen a good deal of him, haven't we?" Clarice asked naively. "Clarice became so excited at the balloting that night in the great convention hall when the deadlock finally broke and it looked as if perhaps a nomination might be made, that she was wonderfully beautiful. Her cheeks were burning with enthusiasm; her eyes sparkled; her very being was radiant with joy at the prospective success of their favorite candidate."

Her seat was next to the seats allotted to the Georgia delegation and George Macdonald always made it a point to get the chair next to hers. Tonight he watched her with so much wonder in his eyes that he almost forgot that they were at a very important moment in the convention. For the young Southerner had fallen completely in love with Clarice Cummings of Iowa. He was sure that no one more beautiful ever lived, and he chafed under the restraint of convention that had kept him from telling her so.

Suddenly, in the midst of cheering and deafening noises, music, shouting and waving of banners for the candidate who had at last won nomination, Clarice sank back in her chair.

Macdonald of Georgia was soon to notice this. "What is it, Miss Cummings?" he asked anxiously. "Clarice tried to regain her normal attitude. 'Oh—I—just occurred to me what it all means,' she said ambiguously. 'You mean—' No one could bear them."

"I mean—we must go home—now," said Clarice. "The man looked at her. What could she mean? Could it be possible—that it mattered to her that she would have to be separated from him?"

It was her father speaking to them that really roused Clarice. "Come over to the hotel where you can get out. Won't you join us?" to the young Georgian.

"I should think I would," said Macdonald quickly. "And while the others were having supper and talking of candidates and conventions, Clarice and the member from Georgia had sought the iron balcony at the hotel."

"Is it too soon for me to tell you that you are the most beautiful girl I have ever looked at and that I love you?"

Clarice did not answer. "I realize that I should wait—that I should write to you and come to see you and woo you as you deserve to be wooed, but—I must tell you first that I love you. Do you—care?"

Clarice nodded. "Yes—I care a whole lot. That is why I—I hated to think of going home."

And after that they talked until Clarice was called in. "Father, the delegate from Georgia would like to have the floor for a moment," said Clarice as they stood by the door to say good-night. "He is out of order tonight. The meeting has adjourned," said her father laughing.

But he listened, none the less, and if he regretted that he had brought his only daughter to the convention with him, he was sport enough not to tell her so. Her happiness was his.

Lower the Cost of Producing Beef

There is a Cost Line Running Through Every Animal on Your Farm

LETZ MIXED FEED MAKER

Fully 50,000 farmer owners of Letz Mixed Feed Makers have positively proved that you can lower the cost of producing beef, pork, mutton, and dairy products with the Letz System of Home Crop Feeding.

Their results show that Letz Mixed Feed Makers will: (1) save 25% to 50% of present feed crops by utilizing waste; (2) release up to 30% of your present feed crop acreage for cash crops; (3) increase milk and meat production up to 30% through better feed preparation; (4) save up to 25% of labor in handling feed crops; (5) improve the health and condition of your farm animals.

The No. 130 Letz is a popular size for average-sized farms. It will cut and grind roughage—stalks, stems, leaves and all. It does a fine job of grinding ear corn and small grains, and it won't clog if the material is green or wet. Has double-automatic, all-steel feed table. Plates are self-sharpening and self-aligning.

Use of Nutgalls

Nutgalls are hard nut-like galls, especially those from the Asiatic oaks, which are produced largely in Asia Minor, Syria, Persia, Cyprus, Italy, etc. The Chinese and Japanese nutgalls of commerce, however, are from trees of the species Ilex, and they are large and irregular in form. The nutgalls are rich in tannin, which makes them valuable in the leather and dyeing industries, in the making of inks, the preparation of medicines, etc. Several New York firms are listed as importers of nutgalls from China and other countries.

Select tender, juicy corn from whose kernels the milk flows freely. Can immediately after picking. It is almost impossible to get stale corn. Shuck, silk and wash corn. NEVER USE NO. 3 CANS FOR CORN.

The little town of Alford down in Wise County has advised the powers that be that they need no government aid, and, as Chick Sales would say, I'll tell you why. Up to September 4th that little community had shipped 279 cars of watermelons. This means that 279 railroad cars of watermelons have been shipped, to say nothing of the hundreds of truck loads of melons that have been hauled out of that community to the Fort Worth and Dallas markets. When the boll weevil invaded Wise county the farmers were forced to look to sources of revenue other than cotton, and now the farmers of the Alford section wish to make it plain to the world that they do not need any assistance from the government in solving their problems. They have solved them already.
