Payments Under 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is Under Way

Payments under the terms of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program are being made in considerable volume, according to Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The conservation program terminated two months later than was the case in 1936 when the final date for compliance was October 31. Farmers had until December 1 to carry out the conservation practices in 1937.

First payments went to farmers in Brazos, Morris and Jasper counties, Slaughter said. The state AAA office on the campus of Texas A & M College auditing 2,000 applications for grants a day, and is equipped to handle as many as 3,000 a day if the volume from the field justifies.

In spite of the fact that compliance date fell two months later,

Ed Gossett To Again Run For Congress Post

Ed Gossett today authorized the Munday Times to announce that he would be a candidate for Congress from this district, subject to the 1938 democratic primaries. Mr. Gossett expressed sincere appreciation for the splendid vote given him in this county in his 1936 race for Congress. In that race by a comparatively small vote, in this congressional district, he was defeated in the second primary by a comparatively small vote. His friends feel that with his increased age, experience and acquaintance he will without doubt be successful in this campaign.

Gossett's term of office as district attorney in Foard, Hardeman and Wilbarger counties expired December 31, 1936, after which time he became associated with his old friend Edgar M. Mann of Wichita Falls on the law firm of Mann & Gossett. A detailed statement of Gossett's platform and policies will be made at an early date. He assured us that he would make a clean and aggressive campaign in which public issues would be thoroughly and honestly discussed. Gossett stated that he believed in the social ideals and objectives of President Roosevelt; and that among other things he would advocate a platform to put farmers back on the farm, and workers back in jobs, in private employment, at living wages.

THE ADVENTURES OF OZZIE

'The REST of the Record'

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

As this is written I have just returned from Bismark, the capital of the State of North Dakota, where I spoke at the Jackson Day dinner. I found many enthusiastic Democrats there, and according to all reports the people are overwhelmingly behind President Roosevelt just as they are in this State.

Incidentally, when I saw the President in Washington, recently he appeared to be in the best health and happiest spirits of any time I have ever seen him. He seemed to appreciate it when I told him that the people of this State were behind him almost 100 per cent.

"Pay your poll tax!" That should be the slogan of all good citizens from now until February first.

One of the most important offices filled by vote of the people is that of Lieutenant Governor. Generally little attention is paid to it by the voters, but it is a powerful office.

The Lieutenant Governor presides over the State Senate and appoints the various senate committees. This is especially important when a conference committee is appointed. The Lieutenant Governor's rulings can generally determine whether a bill is to pass or not pass. For this reason you can see how important it is.

Several candidates are being discussed though none have made a formal announcement. Among them are:

1. Senator Will D. Pace of Tyler, who is chairman of the State Affairs committee, where all the tax bills died during the regular session of the legislature. At the beginning of the regular session Senator Pace voted against race track gambling but later switched to the other side and voted with the gambling crowd all the way during the remainder of the regular session; and even in the special session when the race track gambling law was repealed.
2. Coke Stephenson, who was twice elected speaker of the House by the Ferguson forces; and whose ruling as speaker first made it possible to legalize race track gambling.
3. Senator Wilbourne Collie, who voted for repeal, and
4. Senator G. H. Nelson, of Lubbock, who introduced the bill to outlaw race track gambling and successfully pushed it through.

This is a part of the records of these who have been discussed as candidates. If definite announcements are made I shall be glad to give you "the rest of the record" as to the records of these gentlemen from time to time.

Regardless of whom you expect to vote for, for Governor, for Lieutenant Governor, or for any other office—"Pay Your Poll Tax."

Government Debt $1,180 Per Family

New Estimates Reveal Every American Family's Share Higher

Washington.—Every family in America, if called upon this week to pay its share of the Federal Government's debt, would owe $1,180, new estimates disclose.

The new debt figure, as compared to the per family debt share of 1929, shows the burden has increased more than two-fold during the past nine years, the greatest increase coming since July, 1933.

The increase is shown in the following table, calculated at the end of each Federal fiscal year, July 1:

1929	29,500,000	16,931	574
(First column, Year; 2nd, Number of Families; 3rd, Gross Debt in Millions; 4th, co., per Family Debt)
1930	30,000,000	16,185	540
1931	30,300,000	16,801	554
1932	30,500,000	19,487	639
1933	30,700,000	22,539	734
1934	30,900,000	27,053	876
1935	31,100,000	28,701	923
1936	31,300,000	33,545	1,072
1937	31,500,000	36,425	1,156

1938 31,600,000 37,278 1,180
The 1938 figure is calculated as of January 1st, and based on population estimates of the Census Bureau and financial statements of the Treasury Department.

WORD MEANINGS!

(From the DeCasseres in The Washington Herald)
Many of the words we use nowadays have ceased to have any meaning.
The word democracy, for instance, is now used by the Communists. Democracy means rule of the people. Communism means the rule of the proletariat—that is rulership by only one class of people, the very lowest. And they purpose to exterminate the middle and upper classes. That is not democracy (which means all the people) but oligarchy.

The "radicals" call fundamentalist and constitutionalist Americans "reactionaries," whereas a reactionary means one who seeks to return to ancient and outworn forms of social and political organization—such for instance, as those that make the state all-powerful and abolish the common rights of individuals.

Reactionaries are actually thus Facists, Communists and Socialists.

A liberal used to mean one who was opposed to centralization and regimentation in those matters that concern the individual alone. Today men call themselves "liberals" who support every crackpot scheme to make the individual a parasitic growth on the general public. They now call these schemes "social legislation."

The dictionary is, however, still a good guide in defining one word, and that is individualist. There is no mistaking what that word means. It means an independent man, two words hated by all Communists, Fascists and reactionary liberals and Socialists.

Regardless of argument about liquor, keeping sober has never hurt anybody's driving skill.

Defendant on liquor charges get his troubles by the case.

Oddly enough their lives show that most of the great composers never are composed.

Newspapers and Drunken Drivers

"Newspapers mold public opinion faster than any other agency and should be enlisted in the campaign to end drunken driving," says W. A. Gabrielson, Hololul police chief, in a paper read at the recent National Safety Congress.

It is reliably estimated that drunken driving has at least doubled since the repeal of prohibition. Today it is one of the principal causes of motor accidents. Surveys carried on in various states indicate that liquor is a factor in 10 to 20 per cent of all accidents involving a fatality or a major injury. In the words of the Chief of the California State Highway Control, the drunken driving evil "continues to grow unabated . . . intoxicating liquor is playing too great a part in the present mounting death toll."

The "alcohol-mixed-with-gasoline" problem must be attacked from a number of angles. In many communities police and prosecuting authorities are more or less indifferent to it, and are too prone to let the use of a little "pull" reduce a serious drunken driving charge. While proven scientific methods for establishing whether or not a person is legally intoxicated are known, they have not been widely adopted, with the result that many cases are taken to court without sufficient evidence to justify a conviction. Worst of all, perhaps, a large part of the public tacitly condones drunken driving by refusing to demand rigorous and impartial laws and methods to detect and punish it.

Newspapers can perform a great public service by emphasizing the evil, showing how all of us are potential victims of a drunken motorist, and by carrying on a campaign for betterment in local law enforcement. Alcohol at the wheel kills thousands of Americans each year—and injures tens of thousands. It must be stopped.—Industrial News Review.

Ford Looks Ahead

Henry Ford, the world's largest individual industrialist, foresees a new era of prosperity ahead for the United States through the use of agricultural by-products in manufacturing operations. Experiments in his laboratories lead him to this prediction.

As one who has developed his gigantic business through the development of new ideas, Henry Ford knows their value. He has many times performed what others said was impossible by putting an idea into action. His operations have provided a market for many products and for labor on a large scale.

Now if Ford declares that new miracles of science are about to be performed, which will extend their blessings to the farm and make industry and agriculture partners in prosperity, there will be many ready to believe him.

With Holbrook, known as one of the ablest investigators in the State, in charge, it is assured that a complete airing of the controversial facts upon which the governor and the Land Commissioner have differed, will result. Vacany hunters have been especially active in several Gulf coast counties in Holbrook's district, where oil has recently been discovered, and the people of this district are greatly aroused. Holbrook was co-author of a Senate resolution at the last session, in which the Attorney General was asked to bring vacany suits against landowners in Polk, Matagorda, and adjoining counties within these counties, rather than in Austin, and he has expressed himself on several occasions in his characteristic vigorous fashion in condemnation of the "vacany hunting racket." NOBODY'S BUSINESS
BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

A thorough and complete sifting of the activities of alleged "vacancy hunters" and the operations of the State Land Office was scheduled to get under way in Austin this week, as the Senate investigating committee, headed by the vigorous veteran, Tom Holbrook of Galveston, prepared to begin a searching investigation. The probe resulted from a conference between Gov. Allred, who took the initiative against what he termed improper practices in the Land Office, when he hired Everett Looney, his former assistant Attorney General, to bring suit to cancel a lease renewed by Land Commissioner Bill McDonald. Allred has also bitterly criticised the practice instituted by McDonald of leasing school lands for mineral development on a basis of small cash payments and contingent payments out of oil, instead of larger cash payments and the usual one-eighth

SEEKS "LOST HORIZON"

An art conception of the story of "Lost Horizon," Frank Capra's great production showing Sunday and Monday at Roxy Theatre, by James Montgomery Flagg, internationally known artist. In the foreground, seeking escape from strife and danger, is Ronald Colman, portraying the heroic role of Conway, adventurer-ideal hero of James Hilton's prize-winning novel, which Robert Riskin adapted to the screen.

Frank Capra Has Mapped Amazing Career as Producer in Hollywood

First Film Listed As Among "Best Ten" Productions

The great body of motion picture addicts first became acutely aware of Frank Capra as a directorial wizard when, in 1934, "It Happened One Night," won Academy awards, not only for Capra as director, but for Robert Riskin, as scenarist, and for its leading players, Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable.

Those who follow the promising work of Hollywood personalities from their first auspicious beginnings, however, had realized ever since the nineteen-twenties that this Capra, a small, volatile Italian, was a man to reckon with. Capra's latest picture is Columbia's "Lost Horizon" the roadshow attraction now showing at popular prices at the Roxy Theatre. But as far back as 1926, when he was in his twenties, he made "The Strong Man" which was chosen as one of the "Ten best pictures of the year."

In Pictures After War At that time, "The Strong Man" was the high point in a career that began when Capra entered the motion picture field shortly after the world war as a writer of short comedies and "Our Gang" comedies.

In his first days on the lots, Capra, running his hand through a bush of unruly dark hair, was often heard to murmur something about wanting to be a director, but no one paid much attention. Then he became one of Harry Langdon's gagmen, and when Langdon decided to make full-length pictures, Capra persuaded the comedian to let him direct. "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," was the first Capra-Langdon opus; then came "Long Pants" and "The Strong Man."

Directed Films for Cohn Capra went back to making short comics, until Harry Cohn, president of Columbia sent for him and signed him to a long-term contract. He was first assigned to what was considered an unimportant program picture, "The Certain Thing," but he infused it with so much brilliance and charm—the "Capra Touch" though then unrecognized, was already functioning—that it was released as a special.

During 1927 and 1928 Capra directed for Columbia such pictures as "So This is Love," "The Matinee Idol," "The Way of the Strong," and "Say It With Sables." There followed a cycle of spectacular pictures—"Submarine," "Flight," and "Dirigible," and such other Capra successes as "The Younger Generation," "The Donovan Affair," "Ladies of Leisure," which brought Barbara Stanwyck stardom, and "Rain or Shine."

The cycle of highly dramatic and current-event pictures followed—"The Miracle Woman," again with which featured a then unknown

KEEPING TAB ON The Eagles

By BUDDY BUMPAS

Senior Boys Receive Second Upset of the Season

The Eagles visited the O'Brien Bulldogs last Tuesday night and took a game with scores of 29 to 1. Wednesday night they played host to the Mattson Mustangs, this was also an Eagle victory, without many difficulties. Friday afternoon the Eagles entered the invitation tournament given at O'Brien and Mattson was their first opponent. The Eagles took the game by a 12 joint margin. The next Sunset victory was over Seymour Saturday morning. The Seymour team showed a great fighting spirit, but they could not out-do the Eagles. The game ended with Sunset leading by about fifteen points. The defeat that the Eagles received from a fast Lueders quint was to Sunset like a Southwest Conference upset is to Coach Bible. At the half the Sunset lads were leading with 12 to 10 points. But the game ended with the score of 19 to 14, with the Eagles only scoring two points in the last sixteen minutes. Over half the Lueders' points were free shots.

Friday night the Senior boys will enter a tournament at Rule. They are expected to go a good ways, but they will have plenty of competition.

Sunset Girls Take a New Start

The Eagles had a little better luck the past week, as they won one game and lost one. The girls went to O'Brien Tuesday night. The guards did some very good guarding, but the ball just would not go in the goal for the forwards. The game ended with the scores 27 to 19 in favor of O'Brien.

Wednesday afternoon all the Sunset girls were talking about winning the game with Mattson to be played that night. Every girl was determined to win. The team as a whole showed some real teamwork when they started to play Wednesday night. We want each girl to know that we are proud of the playing she did. With the spirit the girls had they just couldn't lose the game, and the game ended with the Sunset girls victorious. The scores were 21 and 23.

The girls are going to play in a tournament at Weinert this week-end. They are scheduled to play Midway Thursday night. We are all backing the girls one hundred per cent, and want them to make a good showing at the first game of the tournament.

SO GO THE SENIORS!

The senior class has been spending the last few days reviewing the periods of English Literature. The review was made very interesting. An outline form was followed while all through the review interesting poems and selections from essays written by the famous English poets and essayists such as Bacon, Shakespeare, Burke, Milton and the Scotch poet Burns, were read. Robert Burns gave us some philosophy that impressed most of us a great deal. "I wad some power the Giftie gae us, to see ourself as ithers see us."

We are all "stuffing" for mid-terms which are coming next week. We are having to burn some midnight oil to make up for time spent in more interesting procedures. We cannot seem to convince our teachers of the truth of Mr. Bacon's statement, "To spend too much time in studying is sloth."

The Seniors are coming along nicely with their year book, up to date they have sold thirty-two copies. Several senior girls have apparently been posing before the mirror. From some reports I hear that they managed to give the photographer one of their sweetest smiles. They are all looking forward to Wednesday night so they can see just how they look to other people. We hope they are favorably impressed by their pictures, because it would be quite disappointing to know that all the time they spent before the mirror was wasted.

Home Economics Girls Serve Buffet Supper

On January 13, the Junior and Senior Home Economics girls planned, prepared and served a buffet supper. Each girl planned a menu, and then the class chose the menu which would be served.

The menu selected consisted of: Stuffed Peppers Potato Chips Vegetable Salad Pickles Hot Rolls Coffee Lime Jello

All of the girls helped get the food cooked and then twelve of them acted as guests, while five of them finished preparing the supper and served it.

Before the supper was completed Miss Spraggins, the Home Economics Teacher, was called to Haskell to help judge some Home Economics projects there. However, she was confident that the girls could complete the project without her further assistance. The girls did not disappoint her because she said Friday morning that the department looked very nice and clean.

Freshman News!

It is almost mid-term time, and the Freshman Class has really been working. They have been busy this week reading reports and memorizing poetry.

They were told that they would take Algebra instead of General Math the last half.

Although next week is exam week, the Freshman class will be happy Friday (if they make good grades) for they will not have to come to school!

So cold the blast,
So cold the winter's snow;
The wind is past
Endurance; on I go
Spurred by the hope
Of Spring and sun-flamed skies
Of Summer's scope.
Then last—the wild geese cries—
Migrating home.

SOUTH LAWN AT "LOS CERRITOS"

Save where shimmering shadows
fleck'd the lawn,
Rich carpet of the brightest green

No Persian pile so soft as Nature's

No costly fabric springs like grassy

No picture ever made by hand of man,
Nor sculptured group in polished
marble white
The beauty of our Season's ever can Compare, or bring to mind such keen delight.

Such scenes of sylvan beauty
soothe the eyes,
Convey to old a sense of sweet
repose;
To youth's estate they bring that life which vies
With courage, hope and will to banish woes.

For men may come and men may go
In search of something better;
Man leaves behind a faint echo,
But laws keep green forever.

FIFTEEN DAYS ARE HOLIDAYS DURING YEAR

Texas Independence March 2 Included on List

To Knox school children and public workers who bemoan the end of the holiday period and return to work and school, 1938 is not as gloomy as it might appear at first glance.

The statute books list fifteen holidays, some of the peculiar to Texas, which will vary in observance from a shutdown of all save necessary commercial activities and closing of schools to more or less casual speechmaking.

In addition the new year holds three election days, July 23 and Aug. 27 for the Democratic primary and run-off primary, and Nov. 8 for the general election. These bring a holiday to state workers and banks.

Every month except May offers a legal holiday in Texas. Some of them are observed throughout the United States, some in a few additional states and others only in Texas. These are 1938's red letter days.

Jan. 1—New Year's.
Jan. 19—Robert E. Lee's birthday.
Feb. 22—George Washington's birthday.

March 2—Texas Independence Day (Texas only).

April 21—San Jacinto Day—(Texas only).

June 3—Jefferson Davis birthday

July 4—Independence Day.

Aug. 12—Texas Pioneers' Day, (Texas only).

Sept. 5—Labor Day.

Oct. 11—General Pulaski Day. (Honoring the Polish militarist who aided the American Revolutionary Army.)

Oct. 12—Columbus Day.

Nov. 3—Stephen F. Austin Day, (Texas only).

Nov. 11—Armistice Day.

Nov. 24—Thanksgiving Day.

Dec. 25—Christmas.

PEEP SHOW FOR LADIES ONLY —BY— MIGNON

"Ila Huff, Ila Puff
Ila blow your house down"
Said one politician
And pulled a big frown.
"Just puff and just huff
And just do all your able
Was the naughty reply
From the girl friend called Mable.

Oh Yeah, the fight is on. And in the little game of anti-over that the politicians play this year there's bound to be a few cat hairs stick to the mud balls. I hope those who sit one fence get all splattered.

Gals, I'm really getting excited. U can't possibly imagine getting fan mail saying "I suppose you, like O. O. McIntyre use your fan mail for material." Gollie, I had never thought of that and to even mention me in the same breath with O. O. is a thrill that sets my gooseimples a notch higher.

A mighty sweet little fan, too, from her letter, and one with a tenderness in her heart which draws me to her at once. She also sent me a poem which I want to share with you. It is one of those between-the-lines poems, and as I happen to know the story, it makes the poem all the more beautiful. The writer is Mrs. Henry Perry of Kemp, Texas, an aunt to the babe, Johnnie Grubbs, to whom the poem was written:

To A Posthumous Babe
O little Babe upon my knee,
Your Father's face you'll never see,
Yet in your veins his blood flows on
Your flesh is his, tho he is gone.

And now his flesh which is but clay
Too soon to dust-will fade away.
And of his body there will be,
For you, not even a memory.

Yet in your heart and in your mind
Something of him is left behind,
And in the deep depths of your eyes,
The answer to his hope, lies.

If he were only here to see
That you're his immortality!

Did I tell you not to tell
Secrets on our Wally
"They Say" she has rooms reserved

At Johns Hopkins. Gollie!
How can I these secrets know?
I'm no keyhole peeper.
Blessed events come and go
Thus the Duke may keeper.

You've been seeing the name of Elsie Smith Parker for a long time now in most every paper you pick up for she is editing a poetry corner in some three hundred papers in the Southwest. But you can't imagine all the things that little lady can do and is. She is a regular human dynamo. She's the left hand bower of W. T. Tardy of the Tardy Publishing Company and she is vice-president of the American Poetry Association. That's only a few of her high-sounding titles. To tell the truth she is the homeliest, friendliest person you'll want to meet. Her talents have been multiplied it seems, but her greatest talent, I think, it is the knowledge that true greatness lies in simplicity.

She is a poet in her own right and lives with meter, similes and scansion as her daily brain food. Her first book of verse lies here on my desk. A lovely thing of color and heart-throbs. My Dream-Book is truly it is a dream book in every sense of the word. Blue and bold binding reminding you of the worth of character and the intrinsic value of valor and honor. The lines are tender little images taken from her heart. Of home, of father, and mother, of the every day scenes that the reader readily recognizes and takes to his heart as being also part of his dreams. There are liting love songs, there are sturdy pioneers marching through the pages of the book and there are lovely ladies dressed in magic lace and fragile dream dust. There is the tang of sage, the dust of the old trails in your nostrils, there is haunting melody and unforgettable tenderness and there are lines of strength and inherent loveliness. There is a little song for every mood and they are played upon the emotions like the muted tones of a mellowed organ.

My Dream Book is for sale wherever books are sold or can be obtained from the Tardy Publishing Comany, Dallas.

CHURCH NEWS

METHODIST CHURCH

"No chain is stronger than its weakest link." That is only a half truth. A paraphrase would have us think that "No man is stronger than his weakest link." Another half truth, yet either situation has impaired the full value of the object in question. All men are strong in certain lines of their moral fiber and the weaker places may be developed by guarding against them through divine assistance. The churches have been thrown in the pathway of life to assist men in building up that "weak link" and thus make a stronger person. Do you know of anything that does not have to go to the repair shop for its best future? The church can get along without man much better than man can succeed without it. Deep in my soul there is a sense of need that only the God that created me can adequately meet.

Our Methodist Church is not very different from most other churches. It has a program planned to meet the needs of each age group in all phases of the field allotted to churches. We are not perfect people. In fact, to most of us it is a repair job for the "weak links" of life. We need more perfect models to kinder lift our spirits. Let's not make the fatal mistake of just doing nothing about it.

Subject Sunday, 11 a.m., "Did Paul Disappoint God?" Sunday Evening, 7 to 8, "The Fourth Psalm." What would you use for a text in this most interesting Psalm of eight verses?

Sunday School at 10 a.m., with interesting teachers and lessons that will help solve your problems of life. One person missed last Sunday for the first time in four years. 99 1/2% perfect in attendance is that your record to date? "A person with a burning heart warms the church."

Texas Fire Loss

Second Lowest in History for 1937

Austin, Texas.—Texas experienced the second lowest fire loss year in its history during 1937, Marvin Hall, State fire insurance commissioner, announced today. An unofficial check of the Commissioner's records show that only the 1935 total of $6,008,363 was below the total during the past 12 months of approximately $6,400,000.00.

"When contrasted with the losses of former years," Commissioner Hall explained, "the 1937 losses are surprisingly small. The 1931 losses amounted to $17,565,457, the 1930 losses to $17,225,417, and the 1929 losses to $15,664,858. Such a large decrease in so few years definitely reflects great progress in fire prevention and control."

Since he took office on January 4, 1937, Hall has been a leader in fire prevention activities. His policies in this respect are largely responsible for the low loss record of the past year.

According to Hall, for the first six months of 1937, the losses dipped under any other six-month period on record, but an increase in fires over the State generally from July to December pushed the year's total up to right above that of 1935.

"Such a low fire loss as that of the past twelve months means a direct saving to the people of this State of approximately $2,000,000, as the fire record of each city and towns plays an important part in the determination of the cost of insurance," Hall said. "In addition to this fact, the low loss reflects a period of prosperity, not a business recession; the records of this department show that high fire losses invariably go hand in hand with times of depression."

"The 1937 record is a compliment to the efficiency of Texas firemen, and proves what can be done when the people of this State cooperate in an effort to reduce wasteful loss of life and property through fires. The aim of the Fire Insurance Department is to help Texas citizens set an all-time record low in 1938."

Louisiana's Plan to Help Industry Is Hailed as Model for U.S. Congress

Baton Rouge, La., January 6—(Special)—Louisiana's "golden rule" policy toward industry, inaugurated a year ago by Gov. Richard W. Leche, is being hailed nationwide by the press as a model for Congress to study in its quest of relief measures for business burdened by taxation.

Editorial comment by scores of leading newspapers in the United States reflect high credit upon Louisiana's ten-year property tax holiday which has resulted in the establishment of 82 new industries with total capital in excess of $37,000,000 in the state during the past twelve months.

The thunder of new wheels of industry in Louisiana is echoed throughout the nation as Congress, ponders upon the problem of lessening the tax load of wearied business.

Youthful Governor Leche has been given much of the credit by newspapers in their editorials for the advancement Louisiana has made under the "Fair Play for Industry" plan and the 10-year-tax-exemption program, which was ratified in a constitutional amendment by the state's electorate in November 1936.

Many of the editorials cited the Louisiana plan as a good example of the type of influence government should exert in the world of private industry.

No Chance For Argument!!

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Simpson Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary Saturday Here; Open House Held During the Day

Elderly Couple Is Still Active; Parents of Four Children

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Simpson, of this city, pioneer West Texas citizens, celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary last Saturday at their home in this city.

Friends of the Simpson family gathered throughout the day from all parts of this section to pay their respects and congratulate them on their 50 years of happy married life and wished them many more years of companionship.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson were married near Belton, in Bell county, Texas, January 15, 1888. In relating the day of his marriage Mr. Simpson stated that it was the coldest day in the history of Bell county. Cattle froze and chickens to their roosts, he commented.

They later moved to Bosque county, thence to Haskell county near Rule and a year ago he moved to this city. He is a retired farmer and has been an active member and worker in Farmer Co-op organizations, being president of the Rule group when he moved to Munday. Mr. Simpson is 70 years old and his wife is 66, both being very active.

Four children were born to them, three sons and one daughter, Floyd of Lorenzo, Texas; Guy of Chandler, Ariz.; and Otis of Munday; and Mrs. Sam Crawford of near Stamford. They have 18 grand children and 2 great grandchildren. The Times wishes to join the many friends of the family in wishing them a continuance of their happy pursuit of life.

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Simpson on their golden wedding anniversary from Rev. and Mrs. Era T. Miller, prominent Baptist minister whose education for the ministry was made possible largely through the aid of the Simpsons.

The letter follows:
Corsicana, Texas.
Jan. 13, 1938

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Simpson,
Box 395,
Munday, Texas.
Dear Bro. and Sister Simpson:
It is our understanding that you dear friends are to celebrate your 50th wedding anniversary on the 15th of this month, which is this coming Saturday. We want to join your legion of friends in extending our congratulations and wish for you many more happy wedding anniversaries. Fifty years is a long time for two to walk together. You two have done it beautifully and contributed to your day and generation a family that is a credit to you and their day.

Mrs. Miller joins me in the belief that you two had as much to do in helping us to get straightened out in our life's work as any one of the dear old Pinkerton Church. We shall always love you for the love and faith you put into us in those early days. We have not done much for the Lord, but what little we have done, you friends have had a part in it. I do not know of one rural church that sent out more ministers and missionaries than the old Pinkerton Church. The members of that dear old church were not able to give large sums of money to missions, but they did inspire and encourage their young people to follow the leadings of the Lord until today the Gospel is being preached around the world because of it. I have witnessed thousands of happy conversions and had an humble part in raising many thousands of dollars for missions, and all come about because of what dear people like you taught me and drilled into me while at Pinkerton.

We are keeping well and very busy. Janice is teaching in Ft. Worth, and Spurgeon is teaching in Houston. Lois Aileen weighs more than Janice and is the most charming young lady I have ever seen. Mrs. Miller is the same miracle wife and mother. I owe all that I have done to the Lord and to her. She joins with me in sending our love and best wishes to you. The Lord's richest blessings on you and yours.

Prayerfully yours,
Era and Trula Miller

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

In the good old days of fifty years ago,
The young folks took a chance;
They waited not for fame or fortune;

But only the call of romance,
And so it was J. F. Simpson
And a girl named Loucretia Ann,
She married him not for a fortune,
But because he was a man.

That was back in 1888
In a county in the East.
Their wealth was bare $3.00,
And a horse that was much of a beast.

He was a flea-speckled gray
And really a thoroughbred.
They owned a table and buggy
And were very handsomely wed.

This couple was very young
But ready to tackle life;
He became a farmer
And she a farmer's wife.
Soon they grew tired of life in the East.

And wanted more land to cultivate;
So they moved to Haskell county,
With four children to educate.

Here they dwelt for thirty years,
Through much happiness and sorrow,
But with much courage such as these pioneers had
They won, for they're looking yet for tomorrow.

And so they lived and dwelt together,
For two score years and ten;
They've lived a faithful Christian life,
And so we know that they will win.

The years have quickly passed,
And your hair has grown white with age;
You talk of your married life
As though it were a treasured page.

As we listen today,
This day of days to you
Each of us express our sincere wish,
"MANY MORE HAPPY YEARS TO YOU!"

Billie Faye Allison,
Palestine, Texas.

Weinert Ladies Honored at Tea

At a seated tea the ladies of the Weinert W.M.U. gave a ship shower honoring Mrs. J. D. McClaren, past president of W.M.U., and her sister Miss Edna Howard, who are moving to a farm near Munday to make their home in the near future.

On arriving at the home of Mrs. R. H. Jones, the guests wrote a wish for the honorees in a book, made by Mrs. Cadenhead over which she presided.

Each one present was asked to tell the most embarrassing moment of their lives, which proved very hilarious.

The numerous gifts were presented to the honorees with an appropriate poem: "The Friend Who Just Stands By."

After viewing the lovely gifts the hostess served tea and wafers to the following guests.
Mesdames J. D. McClaren, C. F. Oman, J. F. Cadenhead, Ben Brunt, J. W. Medley, A. Newberry, Ella Moize, Arlie Howard, H. C. Yandell, J. M. Williams, Everett Medley, Bailey Gues, R. H. Jones, H. Weinert, W. L. Johnson, I. J. Duff, W. D. Hinson.

Sunset H.D. Club Has Meeting at Home Ec Room

The Sunset Home Demonstration Club met January 11 in the kitchen of the Home Economics Department. Six members, Mrs. I. W. Walling, T. J. Partridge, R. M. Almarode, H. D. Gammill, W. C. Kimbrough and J. W. Bigony answered the roll call with their height and weight. Some of the ladies were overweight and one lady underweight. Miss Astin was present also.

Plans were made for the year's work; all the club yearbooks were filled out. All the programs are accomplish much this year.

Miss Astin gave a demonstration on left-over foods. Rice, carrots, onions, tomatoes and squash, all of these well cooked and combined with fried bacon were used to stuff a tomato, onion, pepper, and squash. This proved to be a very useful way to use up all left-over foods and was very delicious.

Mrs. Cash was a pleasant visitor. All visitors and members filled out. All the programs are arranged and the club hopes to be welcome.

Senior Class Is Occupied By The "Haunted Castle"

The 10-2-4 Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mary Moore on Wednesday night. The members went to the show first, and then had a waffle supper. As soon as the weather permits, we are going to continue the hikes for which the club was first organized.

At last those exams are over! Some of us failed, and some of us passed, but most of us feel that we need a rest after those nightmares.

The date for the Senior play, "The Haunted Castle," has been set for Tuesday night, February the first. We know you will enjoy it, so tell your friends about it. You really don't realize what we have in store for you. There are laughs and thrills in "The Haunted Castle."

The cameraman was on the job Monday at noon, and there was much hilarity and excitement going on as he caught many students off guard. If you are interested in seeing students as they look and act on the campus, you should have been at the theatre Wednesday night.

Freshman Class Report Studies

Most of the Freshmen are proud mid-term exams are over even though we agree it doesn't seem possible that half the school year is over.

The girls in Home Economics I are taking up the study of the preparation of foods this week. We believe it will be a relief to get our minds off the worries connected with sewing. A few of us have not yet finished our dresses. We have taken up an interesting course of study in civics I. We are studying "The Good Citizen in His Economic Life."

In math we have taken up the study of the tangent of angles. We find this a quite difficult problem; but we believe by studying hard we shall be able to master it.

Sophomore Class News

The Sophomores are certainly glad examination week is over. The last few days were very busy ones for them. There appeared to be more than the usual number of lessons to prepare. Home Projects had to be turned in; lessons prepared, and everyone had to review for the coming exams. But as everyone seems to have lived over this period, we are looking forward to the next half.

The Future Home Makers of the second year class are expecting to enjoy the next half of homemaking. For the remainder of the year they will be occupied with clothing.

JUNIOR REPORT!

Well, at last those mid-term exams are over, and do we feel relieved? The Juniors are enjoying this lovely weather. We certainly do hope that it continues.

Several Junior girls played volleyball last Saturday night in the games against A.C.C., and although they were defeated, they certainly did play a good game.

The English II students find the lives of American authors are very interesting, and we are enjoying our course very much.

The students taking chemistry have found a subject they have long looked for. They haven't decided whether its the teacher or the subject, but really it is a course that is well worth taking.

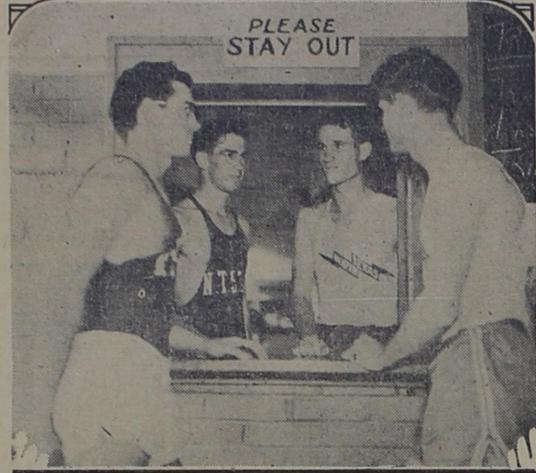

The Home Ec III girls are thrilled over getting to take clothing the first six weeks of the new semester. They are also glad to think that they will never again hear of nutrition or that is while they are in high school.

Several Juniors are taking Business Law this last semester. We hope they find this subject as interesting as it sounds.

THE TEACHER!

To watch them grow through long summer days

Yet, here, within these four walls I, too, sow tiny seeds

Which is God's own Garden.

MIRROR TRICK WITHOUT THE MIRROR

Denton, Texas.—A mirror? Oh, no, just the window in the training house at the North Texas State Teachers College with those two sets of track twins, the Rideouts and Browns, posed on either side.

As for which is Blaine and which is Wayne Rideout, and which Delmer and which Elmer Brown, even the photographer did not know, but the sports world at large does know that these four remarkable runners are to play an important part in the most strenuous cinder-path program in the history of the Denton Teachers College this year.

Both the Rideouts, together with co-captain Henry Morgan of Alvord, staged a near-blanket finish at New Orleans Dec. 18 when season by placing eight of the nine first men across the line and winning the Southern A.A.U. cross-country championship.

Winner Blaine Rideout quarreled with the judges for a time, insisting that he, Morgan, and brother, Wayne ran a dead heat, but the judges gave him first place medal anyway.

meet in New Orleans, Wayne Rideout ran a heart-breaking race against Don Lash, world record holder in the two-mile race, to lose by only five yards, and thus give Lash revenge for his defeat last year by Rideout in the same event at the Sugar Bowl. On Dec. 26, 1936, Rideout defeated Lash in the two-mile run for the second fastest time ever made out of doors for the event in America.

Local Smallpox Epidemics Likely During New Year

Austin, Texas, Jan. 20—"Texas is faced with the probability of local smallpox epidemics if precautions are not immediately employed," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "Last year there was not a single death from smallpox in Texas, while last week over thirty cases and two deaths were reported.

"Smallpox epidemics would never occur if everyone, and especially children, could be effectively vaccinated. The lack of vaccination causes the present menace of this disease. Modern safeguards have removed every legitimate objection to vaccination. The virus is made from calves and, consequently, is incapable of transmitting human blood diseases.

"A primary vaccination with one successful revaccination will, as a rule, protect throughout life

PUZZLING LINGO OF 'COWPUNCHER' IS FORCEFUL, DIRECT: IS UNKNOWN TO MODERN DRUGSTORE COWBOYS

Talk of the Past Days Would Be Greek To Moderns

Expressive, forceful, direct and simple might be some of the adjectives applied to the language of the old cattle country's inhabitants. Much of the talk of the past would be "Greek" to the drugstore cowboys whose boots pound pavement throughout the Southwest and other sections of the United States—pavement that has replaced dusty cattle trails.

A really vicious horse was an "outlaw." One that merely acted up early in the morning, or when his rider became careless, might be termed "salty" or "snaky," while the term "locoed" was not confined to an animal which had eaten the poison weed but meant any unreliable or foolish mount.

"Hoss," "bronc," "mustang" and "cayuse" were all popular words for his mount and the man who rode the bad one was known as "bronc buster," "bronc peeler" or "bronc rider."

If he failed to keep his saddle the rider was "spilled," "busted" or "thrown." The act of riding was "topping him off" and the rider might be encouraged to "tight-leg him," "squat him" or "rare back."

Roping Terms

When a cowboy roped an animal he "tossed a loop," dabbled it on him, "spread a holly" or "smear-ed it on." He "built a loop" in preparing to cast the rope. If a horse was to be "fore-footed" with the rope the cowhand "heaved it under" him.

One old-time puncher recalls a boss who said, "Boys, don't go to getting off over those ponies' heads or they'll always want you to get off that way." Which was generally true, as a bronc who spilled a few riders was more likely to "buck," "pitch," break in two," or "bury his head" than one who always was "ridden out."

A "night horse" might be one kept hobbled for use in wrangling, or bringing in, the "remuda," or loose horses, the next morning. Often he was a horse kept tied at the chuck wagon to await his puncher's turn at guard during the night when a herd was being thrown together.

Spurs and Saddle

A "cutting horse" was adept at separating specific animals from the rest of the herd, while a "roping horse" knew all the intricacies of executing his duties in that work.

Spurs were generally known as just that but occasionally were referred to as "hooks." When used, the cowboy spurred, "gigged" or "scratched" his mount, the last term having survived as a permanent part of rodeo rules, a rider being forced to "scratch" his bronc a certain number of times in all from the milder forms of smallpox, but this is not true in the severer types of this disease. Therefore, be vaccinated and revaccinated at least every seven years, so that you will have the greatest protection possible and the least chance of being sick. Revaccination should also be done after each time you have been near a known case of smallpox, for you know that the old vaccination protects if the new one fails to take. Vaccination is not to be feared but rather to be sought as the only safe, positively harmless and absolutely certain safeguard against smallpox. See your family physician today and be sure that you are protected."

riding contests. A saddle might be called "rigging," "elm" or "fork" and the cowhand "tied it down and tight" when expecting trouble or fast action.

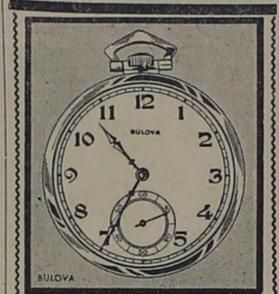

Cattle became "critters" to most with an occasional "bovine" as a demonstration or Websterian knowledge. A "rannie" or "dogie" was an orphan or a poorly fed runt type of calf, while a "maverick" carried no brand.

Chuck Line Riders
When a herd stampeded from the "bed ground" hard riding cowboys risked their lives in an effort to "turn the leaders" and to get the "bunch to milling," or going in circles. As the circles tightened the stampede was broken up.

A cowhand on special assignment usually was "riding line" or "riding fence," according to his particular duties. "Riding the chuck line" meant a cowboy out of a job who was riding from ranch to ranch for free food and a bed for the night.

The expression "top hand" is self explanatory and the man who won this appellation had to earn it.

In some areas due to the Indian influence, hard liquor was best known as "fire water." And when a cowboy started out for the city after pay day he was "going to town and out a rusty." A dance was a "rag." One recalls a fellow rider, going to a combination dinner and dance, who planned to "kill a chicken, skim a mudhole churn and have calico doings."

Spanish Influence

After getting his night meal at the chuck wagon a cowhand "rolled up" in his blankets and "pounded an ear." If he snored he was "sawing a gourd."

Colonel Colt's popular .44 and .45 calibre single-action pistols were variously known as Colts, six-guns, hog-legs, thumb-busters, and shooting irons. A hat usually called a Stetson, irrespective of the actual manufacturer, but might be "head-rigging" or "sky-piece." Cattle thieves were "rustlers" and when encountered the cowboys "smoked them up." In Southwest Texas most stolen cattle crossed the Rio Grande and the expression "wet cattle" became synonymous with stolen heaves. A "muley" has no horns.

The Spanish influence was widely felt throughout range lands of the Southwest and has left indelible marks on range language. A few of the terms borrowed from below the border include corral, rodeo, lariat, chaps, tapaderos, morrel, coyote, and lobo.—San Angelo Times.

FOUR WIDOWS HITCHED TO A PLOW . . .

This gives you an idea of the method once used to keep an epidemic out of town. Only 60 years ago, we are told, peasant believed that if they hitched four widows to a plow and plowed a furrow around the town the plague could not cross the furrow. That was the only way they knew. How different are our ways of fighting disease. How much we owe to doctors and men of science and the miracles they perform daily. Their law is generous service to mankind. Their knowledge is our protection. Let your doctor keep you in the state of health that makes you enjoy life. If sickness threatens, call him. • If he gives you a Prescription have it filled at Eilands, by a legally register Pharmacist.

'Friendly Valley' to Be Feature Of All-Day Affair

Mansell Bros. local John Deere dealer is putting on another big John Deere Day Program at their store on Wednesday, January 24 for farmers and their families of this and neighboring communities. "Friendly Valley," and all-Hollywood picture, will be the main feature of the all-day entertainment and educational meeting. Packed with human interest, good music and homely philosophy, this all-talking picture promises to be a real treat for every who sees it. In the large cast of Hollywood entertainers are Frank Daren, Edward Keane, Paul Barrett, Lenita Lane, Louise Keaton and many others.

The story portrays the loyalty of a rural community to the home-owned radio station that serves that community—loyalty that is typical of a small town and rural people. It shows how the people of "Friendly Valley" rally to the support of Marjorie Kent and WVF; and how Jimmie Badger brings Marjorie and WVF into the Badger network.

Three other pictures will be shown in addition to the feature presentation. They include "School Days," an instructive and educational picture on tractor service and tractor design; "Champions on Parade," a comprehensive portrayal of the most modern farming methods; and a short news reel showing new developments in agricultural equipment.

In addition to the four talking pictures, the John Deere Day program will include several talks and demonstrations in which you will be interested. Mansell Bros., cordially invites every farmer, every farmer's wife, and every farm boy in this area to attend this big day of entertainment and education.

Plans are being made to make this open house one of the biggest of the year in this community, and farm families from many neighborhoods will have an opportunity to get acquainted there and exchange ideas and experiences in their own farming operations. Many new ideas will be presented during the day which will be valuable to everyone present.

According to Mr. Harrell admission will be made by ticket only, and any farmer who has not received tickets can get them for the asking at his store any time before the show.

Abolish All Holding Companies

Last Friday the President at his press conference came out in favor of abolition of all holding companies. He did indicate what form of legislation he favored to bring about this result, whether through taxation, license, or through attempted regulation. No doubt, the President will clarify his statement in the near future. His statement regarding holding companies is of interest because of his conference last week with the utility groups, which included Mr. Carpenter of Dallas. His company is one of those affected by such legislation.

Tax Reform
The Subcommittee studying tax reform made their report to the full Committee of the Ways and Means last Friday recommending 63 different tax reforms. Some of these proposed tax changes would:

Retain the principle of the undivided profits tax in modified form on 10 per cent of the Nation's corporations, earning more than $25,000 annually.

Exempt from any undivided profits levy E90 per cent of the corporations, all in the less than $25,000 class, and substitute more moderate graduated normal rates.

Give intermediate transition treatment to companies earning just over $25,000 mark.

Smooth out sharpness of present capital gains tax, favoring those with a net income of above $60,000 with the minimum 40 per cent tax reached on assets held for five years instead of 10 years.

Give much more liberal deductions for capital losses.

Eliminate a present requirement that capital gains of wealthy individuals be forced into highest surtax brackets, with an alternative flat tax provided.

Moderate reforms throughout seem to favor the wealthy and fail to eliminate many loop holes previously pointed out. The report fails to contain statistical information from the Treasury Department to support recommendations of the Subcommittee. Report fails to indicate the attitude of the Treasury Department or the President regarding the subcommittee's recommendations on the proposed radical changes in our tax laws on undistributed profits and Capital Gains.

Hearings started Monday on the new so-called tax reform bill and it is known that the Tax Bill will have the right of way in the House as soon as they decide to report same, which is now decided to be next Monday, the 24th.

It would be interesting to hear what the Treasury Department has to say regarding the recommendations of the Subcommittee, in view of the President's statement last Monday on Taxation:

"We should rightly change certain provisions where they are proven to work definite hardships especially on the small businessmen of the Nation. But speculative income should not be favored over earned income . . . Our conclusion must be that, while proven hardships should be corrected, they should not be corrected in such a way as to restore abuses already terminated or to shift a greater burden to the less fortunate."

The President closed his message last Monday with these statements: "I do not propose to let the people down. I am sure the Congress of the United States does not propose to let the people down."

It will be interesting to follow the hearings and learn if possible, what the Records of the Revenue Department shows as to the operation and effect, if any, the undistributed profits Tax and Capital Gains Tax have had upon the recession, if any, now confronting us. Independent Offices Appropriations Bill

This bill passed the House on January 11th, giving the President broad power to veto individual items in appropriation bills. Items deleted by the President would be sent back to Congress within 60 days and if not passed over the President's veto would become effective after that time. Upon the President's signature the remainder of the bill would become a law. This Presidential individual item veto amendment was presented by the Chairman of the Subcommittee without having previously considered same in his Subcommittee nor the full Appropriations Committee, and with a very small number present in the House. Last Thursday at a full meeting of the Appropriations Committee, the Committee repudiated the action and called upon the Senate Appropriations Committee to eliminate this veto amendment.

Those favoring the amendment claim it will allow the President to veto unnecessary and ill-advised appropriations, while those opposing the amendment claim it will place a club in the hands of the President that will enable him to force through legislation and impose upon members of Congress through such power and in this way destroy Representative Government.

Babson's Praise Of Chemicals is Topic For Texas

Nomination of chemicals as the "industry of the year" for 1938 by David Babson, famed economist, emphasizes the desirability of cultivating these industries' development in Texas, which has many natural attractions to offer them, says a report of the All-South Development Council.

Babson, whose previous predictions as to the nation's pace-setting industries scored bulls-eyes with selection of building construction in 1936 and aviation in 1937, chose the chemical industry for leadership in 1938, basing his choice on its "research progress, all-inclusive diversification, conservative management, and its protection against war, inflation, politics and labor."

Because of her wealth of the raw materials both mineral and agricultural, used in chemical manufacturing, and in the fast-expanding chemical process and synthetic material industries, the report points out, Texas could be logically in the forefront of this sort of progress. A program of state "salesmanship" to industry, it is said, could bring great gains to Texas in this field provided it were backed by a cooperative rather than antagonistic official attitude toward business.

As it is, although Texas products such as petroleum, sulphur, gas, salt, lime, clays, carbon black, potash and coal tar are prime bases of the chemical industry, the state accounted for little more than half of one per cent of the nation's chemical manufactures values in the most recent official census. Louisiana, whose $7,324,036 output in that listing almost doubled Texas, $3,849,071, has in the last year added, under its "welcome to industries" plan, $5,540,000 worth of new and expanded chemical plants.

In addition to these mineral assets, the report notes, Texas has pine forests, ability to grow virtually of the cellulose-containing plants now finding new industrial uses through current discoveries of the "chemical age," and of course a monumental supply of cottonseed and linters, a prime source of cellulose used in plastics.

While recognizing that "a new plastic or a novel synthetic substitute for rubber or leather puts romance into the industry," the Babson statement points out that the chemical industry's leadership is based on more fundamental reasons, that chemistry is the "father of all industries," and that it has "built up a vast backlog of demand for industrial essentials."

YOUR LIFE

Too many people think of Life Insurance as if it were Death Insurance. The longer I stay in this business the more I am convinced that it renders one of the greatest services to humanity of any institution in existence today.

It is true that the proceeds of a life insurance policy, will, upon the death of the insured, provide food, shelter and clothing for the family, but a life insurance program properly planned has a far greater scope than that.

It will provide ready cash in time of financial stress, pay for a child's education, save a home or business, pay your grocery bill when you are out of work, and finally provide an income for life in your old age. Are you saving as much as you should? If not, see Southwestern Rip.

Report of Years Work on Home Demonstration

(Editor's Note: The following article is in brief a summary of the year's work conducted through the Knox County Home Demonstration Agent's office. Miss Nina Astin, county agent, has prepared the copy.)

Annual Report of Home Demonstration Agent—1937

The organization of Home Demonstration work in Knox County is through Girls' and Women's clubs and the County Home Demonstration Council.

The extension of Home Demonstration work is through the Knox County Council composed of twenty-seven women acting as presidents, secretary-treasurers and council representatives in their individual clubs. In addition to these members from the nine individual clubs there is a council chairman, council vice-chairman, council secretary-treasurer, county Parliamentarian, council reporter, chairman of Business and Standing Committees, namely: Expansion, Yearbook, Finance, Exhibits, and special standing committees, Education, Recreational, Reporters, and Sponsors.

The Demonstrations carried on in the Girls' clubs were: Gardens (green, leafy, and yellow phase), and Girls' wardrobe (third year).

Each club, both women's and girls', was met once each month by the Home Demonstration Agent. The second meeting was under the supervision of a leader from each individual club with the women and a club sponsor for the girls. These leaders were given help by the Home Demonstration agent in special meetings. The second meetings included: Election and Installation of officers, Sanitary disposal of wastes water and garbage, Baking of sweet doughs, a clean kitchen, color and line and the Arts of Sight, Achievement Events, Annual Encampments, and Christmas programs and banquet.

At the second meeting of the girls' clubs, the sponsor had charge and followed the instructions of the Home Agent.
