Many Expected To View Liberty Bell Tuesday

A large crowd is expected here Tuesday-and during the lunch hour-to see a replica of the some organization or something famous Liberty Bell of Independence Hall as it makes its appearance here. Trucks bearing these replicas are visiting every state in the Union to spearhead the U.S. Treasury department's Savings Bond Independence Drive.

The bells were given the Treasury by six United States copper companies. When they arrived in New York they were mounted on trucks and sent to every state in the Union.

The Liberty Bell replica will be here for a 30-minute period Tuesday-from 12:30 to 1 p. m. -and will be on exhibit in the business district.

W. E. Braly, county bond drive chairman, is making plans for a suitable program during this period. The program will In fact, there a lot of clean- likely include a talk on indepen-

Sen. G. C. Morris To Be Speaker At Paducah Rodeo

Central West Texas supporters of Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville (Hunt County) are planning a rousing and typical send-off for their candidate for lieutenant-governor. On the evening of Friday, June 30, at 8 p. m. in the Rodeo Arena in Paducah, Texas, they will give a big free rodeo show, at which Senator Morris will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker.

Program for the evening has been worked out by a committee representaing the Central West Texas region, and a rally attended by several thousand people is being projected. Col. Byron Shotts of Paducah will preside, and Hon. Claude Calloway of Crowell will present the Senator Morris has been known in Central West Texas for many years as the man in the Texas senate who guided, with success, such important measures as the rural road construction bill, the rural school aid bill, and the well-balanced tax measures now in use in Texas. He has been the consistent opponent of the retail sales tax movement, and is widely credited with keeping it out of the Arthur George Ilseng, well Texas law books for the past ten away at about 5 a. m. Friday, distinction as lieutenant-governor, and is now asking for his Hospital. He had been in ill first elective term to that import office.

The free rodeo show with which his friends will greet Senator Morris is well worthy to represent the area. Sammy Baugh, of Rotan, probably the best-known athlete Texas ever sided in Knox County all of his gave the nation, will join Harold Felts of Paduach (who is a the county's most successful crack amateur roper) in contesting Fred Albright of Knox City and Nolan Pitcock of Aspermont in a team match, the latter pair to represent the professionals. The match roping will be known as the "amateurs versus the pros", and each team will rope eight calves. They will go for a cash prize of $200, so the match will be hotly contested. Pitcock and Albright are widely known RCA ropers. Another spectacular event will see Steeldust's Little Sister, one of the champion reining mares of the United States, contest an opponent in a reining Burial was in the Gilliland match. Little Sister will be ridden by Fred Albright. Good cowboy music will enliven the show and rally. It will be furnished by the Cottle County Cowboys.

The committee emphasizes that the show and rally is entirely free to the public, and evryone is invited to be there.

AUSTIN-There's a lot of punch corked up in that little bottle of cleaning solvent out on the back porch. State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox called them "hazardous, when special precautions are not used."

It seems that solvent vapors are heavier than air, which, means, according to Dr. Cox, that they will collect at floor levels. The danger of using solvent for such household chores as taking spots off the linoleum, or cleaning dirt or grease off the back steps, is that you have to get on your knees to do the

Important For Farm Buildings

There are many factors that should be considered by the farm family when plans are made for laying out the farmstead. One of the most important, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A. & M. College, is arranging the buildings for convenience. Time can be saved and inconveniences avoided by placing new buildings, including the house, in a suitable location with reference to buildings already in use on the farm.

One arrangement, suggested by Allen, groups the most frequently used buildings around a barn. Plan the locations so all the buildings can be reached easily from the barn and there should be an all-weather walk from the rear of the house to the barnyard.

Another suggested arrangement is to place the buildings along a straight walk that leads from the back door of the house. The first building could be food storage, then the garage, next the poultry laying house and on on the Fourth-Be Alive on the Fifth', this Fourth of July would bring much less tragedy and much more pleasure."

to the barn. This arrangement, says Allen, puts the buildings that are visited the most close to the house and at the same time gets the buildings that should not be too close to the living quarters the greatest distance from the house. The plans for new houses should include the views that can be seen from the windows, roof water disposal, turning fa-out that regardless of how good a house plan may be, if it does not suit the spot on which it is built, there is a great loss of convenience and beauty.

He says people who hunt a hilltop primarily for the view the location offers sometimes find too much wind for comfort. Fuel bills are likely to be higher; an adequate water supply is usally harder to find in such places and very often accessory buildings must be located in inconvenient places. Allen says it is best to plan the entire farmstead just as carefully as you plan the house. Once the buildings are constructed, nothing much can be done to correct a bad situation. Moving buildings is always expensive and for that reason, he says every farmstead should be planned before actual contruction gets underway.

Other features that helped gain the winning award are a fool-proof, interlocking handle, with a positive safety position to prevent opening the cooker until the pressure is down to almost half a pound and a simple pressure-control "checker." Highlighting the features of th new utensil was its ability to safely sterilize baby formula feedings quickly. Compulsory by law for state hospitals in New York and Kansas and widely recommended by public health officials, it cooks and sterilizes the formula sterilizing the bottles, caps and nipples at the same time in one simple operation, free from old-fashioned fuss.

NOTICE

TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC

I have employed Mr. Loren Trout, who hails from Wellington, Texas, in my shop.

Loren and his deceased father owned and operated a blacksmith and welding shop in Wellington for 26 years. He was raised up in this business and has been doing his type of work since he was 14 years of age.

Both your editor, Mr. Edgar, and myself have known Mr. Trout for many years and can recommend him to everyone as being a high-class gentleman and first-class combination workman.

We invite you to come in and get acquainted. Visit our shop for better welding and real scientific blacksmithing. We also have a 300-amp. portable electric welding machine for day or night service.

Some Facts You Shuold Know

- 1-Your local Production Credit Association office is a part of an eight county wide organization of Farmers and Ranchers, numbering about 1600 who own and operate the Association for their own benefit.
- 2-Full control of the organization is kept in the hands of farmer and rancher members through their ownership of all of the voting stock. Each member has one vote regardless of the number of shares owned, thus assuring that no one large operator will gain control of the Ass'n.
- 3—There is not one dollar Government capital in the Association, and we pay income and other taxes just as any other private owned business.
- 4-Our Association is able and willing to finance any sound agricultural operation needing short time credit.

The bill to increase the borrowing power of Commodity Credit Corporation by $2 billion passed the Senate last week. It had previously passed the House. An amendment not included in the House Bill, was attached by the Senate to give the Secretary of Agriculture authority to determine when imports of agricultural commodities are interfering with price support programs in order that import fees of quotas may be imposed. The Washington today. They are Bill now goes to conference between committees of House and Senate to agree on the differences after which the conference report must be passed by both the House and Senate and signed by the President. It is doubtful if any support program on grain sorghums, oats, rye, and barley will be announced until the Bill becomes law.

For the past week Washing ton has been afflicted by a milk strike. Nine dairies in the socalled "Washington Milk Shed" have a complete monopoly on supplying milk to the one and one-half million persons who live in the Metropolitan area of Washington. Now no one can get milk without a doctor's certificate. During the last ten years we have paid a Washington dairy more than $2,500 for milk. What we may be forced to pay after the strike is over is anyone's guess.

The Political Action Committee of the CIO (CIO-PAC) is having a big national rally in discussing ways and means of defeating Congressmen who have so-called bad labor records. Anyone who voted for the Taft-Hartley Bill, for example, has a bad labor record, regardless of other considerations. Following the day's rally, those attending will have a party on the south lawn of the White House.

Mr. Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House of Representatives, this week assured me that we would get a vote on the so-called Lodge-Gossett Amendment before the adjournmnt of Congress. This amendment has been passed in the Senate, and it is my hope that we will be able to get the necessary two-thirds vote in the House.

The Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress has this week furnished me with some very interesting figures on the monetary costs of our major wars. Three major items go into the computation of these costs. One column shows ex penditures by the Army and Navy during the fiscal years of said wars. A second column shows the interest on debts incurred during the life of such degts, or down to June 30, 1949. The third item computed is veterans pensions, compensation, readjustment and rehabilitation debts, or down to June 30, 1949. These figures for seven major conflicts are as follows: Revolutionary War (1775-83), $200.8 million; Civil War (1861-65), ican War (1898), $3,329.5 million; World War I (1917-18) (1941-45), $408,185.8 million. It is interesting to note that

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants The International Banking Methods To Be Given A Trial Around Here

What interests me is the type of international bankin methods in use today ,and what I'd still like to know is why we can't have some of em down in Knox

Say last year I was confronted with a financial emergency, and there ain't no time of the year when I couldn't arrange one, and went to the bank and they loaned me $500. Well, along about now say the note comes due. Under the present system we got around here, the bank sends me a brief notice that the note is due and payment is ex-

But national governments don't employ such embarrassin methods. We send a man all the way to Russia, outfit him in a new suit of clothes, and have him wait around Stalin's office a few days, when he's admitted and hands over a diplomatically worded note sayin we hope Stalin is in good health and his family is fine and along toward the end, as a sort of after-thought, we beg his pardon for mentioning it but there's a slight matter of two billion dollars past due now for five years. And then Russia, in about two months, gets around to offerin to settle for

Now what we need here in Knox County is a similar system. When my note becomes due at the bank, I'd like to get some international treatment. If the bank would wait five years before sending a man out here to inquire about my health and casually mention the $500 note, and give me a couple of

Pop-Sorghum May Take Place Of Pop Corn

Pop-sorghum-a cross between Haiti's Petite mil and India's Shallu developed by plant breeders of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Stationhas one big edge on pop-corn.

The hull is thinner and more tender so there is less husk to lodge between the teeth.

It's just as delicious-most of the few people who have sampled it so far say more so-and as nutritious as popcorn.

The expansion of pop-sorghum is around 15 to 1, about the same as the popcorn varieties of 10 years ago, but not nearly as high as the 25-30 to one expansion of the large grained popcorns of today.

R. E. Karper, agronomist in charge of Texas A. & M. grain sorghum investigations, said the aim was to come up with a farm or home confection for areas where sorghum does well and corn does not. As it turns out, its small size makes it a natural for packaged caramel and candied confections.

Mr. Karper also sees possibilities for its use as a puffed breakfast cereal. Pop-sorghum stays crisp for a considerable time after being popped.

The Texas Station has distributed a small amount of popsorghum seed to seedsmen for increase and distribution to the trade. No further seed is available for distribution in 1950.
