Act of Congress, March 2, 1879.

OUR NEEDS FOR 1950

1. Completion of our portion of the Throckmorton road, giving the farmers of that area an all-weather outlet.
2. A farm-to-market road to the north and east of Munday, possibly connecting with the Hefner road.
3. A U. S. Federal building. Munday needs a new post office home.
4. More homes in Munday. We did a good job in 1949, but there's still a housing shortage.
5. A new telephone system, giving the town adequate telephone service and tapping the rural area surrounding the town.
6. Greater cooperation of business man, farmer, and citizen toward long-range development for our community.

INEXCUSABLE DELAY

The House Ways and Means Committee—for a reason which will be a mystery to consumers—apparently does not think that repeal of the wartime excise taxes is an immediate need. In any event, it resisted all attempts to give priority to their repeal, and it now looks as there will be no action before July 1.

To assure action at all, it may be necessary for a great many more people to make their views on these taxes known to their Congressmen. Continuance of the taxes, now that the war has long been over, amounts to a breach of faith. They were strictly emergency measures, designed as much to reduce production of non-military items as to raise revenue. They prevent full production and employment in the many industries which they affect. Retailers have testified that they are a strong barrier to sales in many lines. And they have jacked up the cost of living another notch for millions of consumers.

These taxes apply to such things as baby oil, cosmetics, costume jewelry, furs, transportation tickets, long distance telephone calls, and so on. Thus, they are not "luxury taxes" in any reasonable meaning of the term. Most of the goods and services they hit are regarded as necessities and semi-necessities in a country with high living standards.

Congress should have repealed these taxes long ago. Refusal to act is inexcusable.

New Yarn Lampshade

Any old lampshades in your attic? You can make a smart new lampshade from an old frame by winding strands of yarn around and around. The material used for this lampshade, to give a brilliant, lustrous effect, is a new all- rayon yarn called Lusterspun. And, anyone can make this lampshade—no needlework skill is needed!

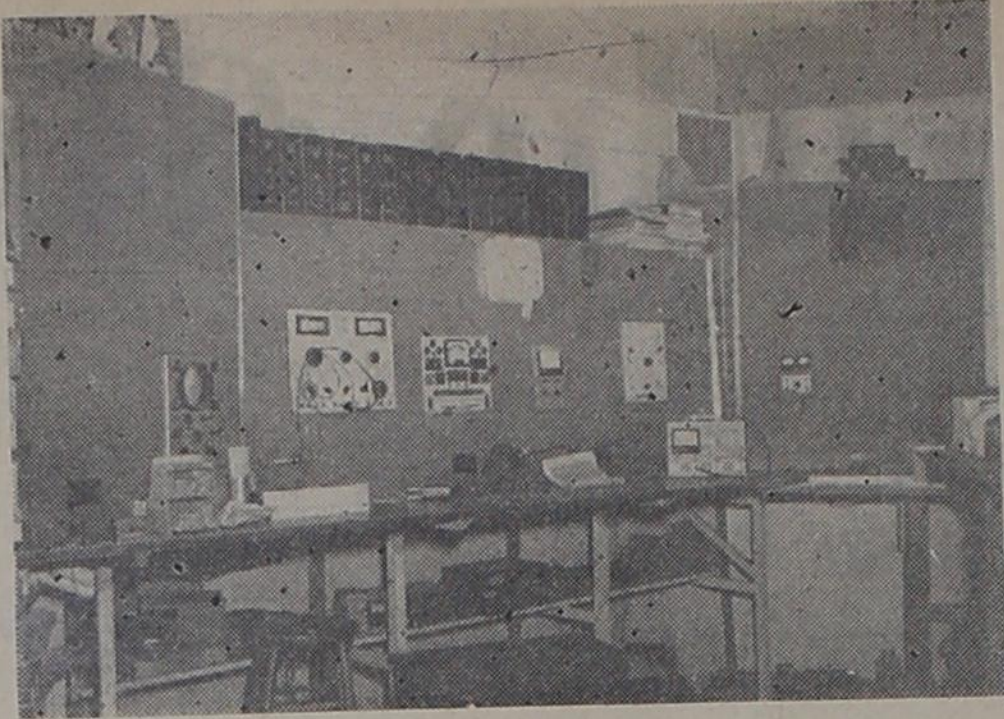

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29—During this week I have had many telegrams and letters asking me to help do something to prevent the threatened railroad strike which is now scheduled to occur on May 10. The strike is being threatened by the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen. They are demanding that a second fireman be placed on Diesel locomotives. Most locomotives now are Diesels and burn oil. About all the firemen on such an engine does is turn a few spigots and simply ride. On fast passenger trains the fireman can, and often does, draw a month's pay for about ten hours riding time. Time is calculated according to the number of miles driven and not the number of hours actually worked. A second fireman on these locomotives would simply be going along for the ride. This would be featherbedding at its worst.

The Taft-Hartley Act does not apply to railroad labor. Railroad labor is subject only to the so-called Railway Labor Act. Congress has no way to settle this threatened strike. It is now an administrative problem. Even the President may lack authority to settle it. However, if this brotherhood does go through with its strike it will likely result in Congress passing another bill to compel compulsory arbitration in cases where the public interest is involved.

A special congressional committee has been investigating lobbying. The committee has concerned itself primarily with persons required to register under the Lobbying Act, i. e., those receiving pay from industry, individuals, or organizations to advocate the passage of the defeat of legislation. Lobbying is the most overpaid of all professions. There are many lobbyists in Washington who get $10,000 a year or more. Most of these are not worth 15c insofar as service to their employers go.

The most effective lobbyists and those who put the most pressure upon Congress, are the bureaus of the government itself, federal employees, and newspaper columnists and commentators. These people are not regarded as lobbyists. Still these people have far more to do with passing and defeating laws than do all of the registered, paid lobbyists.

Speaking of lobbying, a great deal of it is, of course, legitimate. It is quite all right for the departments of government to get acquainted with Members of Congress, and vice versa. In today's mail I have a letter from the Under Secretary of State, Mr. James E. Webb, inviting me to a smoker to meet and mingle with a number of Assistant Secretaries of State. At such meetings one finds out how a number of these people think about matters of foreign policy.

I am getting a great deal of mail complaining of the Postmaster General's order reducing mail service to the residents of our cities. Postmaster General Donaldson, as an economy move, has ordered that hereafter city dwellers in residential areas are to get their mail only once per day. A number of people have been loudly protesting this action. Rural patrons get only one mail delivery a day. I fail to see where this is going to work hardship or injustice upon those of us who happen to live in cities. We scream economy and efficiency in government, and then we scream when we get it. Most of us are for economy only when it

RUTH HODGES

Ruth Hodges Is Home Economist For This Area

QUANAH—The addition of a home economist to the staff of West Texas Utilities Company's Quanah District was announced today by Earl Morley, WTU Co. District Manager.

"In keeping with our Company policy of not only supplying low-cost electric power but also doing everything possible to help our customers obtain the full benefits of electric service," Morley said, "we have employed a full time home economist, Ruth Hodges, who will work through out the district helping housewives stretch their kitchen-budget-dollars."

"Mrs. Hodges will be available to work with individuals, groups and clubs. Requests for her services may be made at any WTU Co. office," Morley continued.

Mrs. Hodges, a daughter of Mrs. Ed Lawrence of Vernon, was born in Vernon. Following her graduation from Vernon schools, she has been active in the Vernon civic and business life. She is a member of the Baptist Church and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Hodges will continue to live in Vernon where her husband, Cecil A. Hodges, is employed as a precision machinist by the West-Tex Tank and Machine Company.

Make Kitchens Bright

Attractive curtains, good lighting, colorful towel and green plants make the kitchen a gay place even on a dreary day. Kitchen utensils, too, can add a special bit of brightness to the preparation of daily meals. Porcelain enameled utensils, for instance, are available in gleaming white with black or red trim that blends in with the color scheme. Little touches like this help make the kitchen one of the most popular rooms in the house.

Make every day in 1950 a safe day on your farm.

Crossbred Pigs Showing Promise Of Higher Incomes

Nashville— Crossbred pigs promise Southern hog farmers a better source of income, according to research done by Dr. H. A. Stewart, North Carolina State College. In the May issue of FARM & RANCH-SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST Dr. Stewart points out that crossbreeding is the modern ladder to profit in the hog business.

In contrast to the old recommendations made by swine specialists, Dr. Stewart says that crossbreeding will produce more pigs, bigger gains and better carcasses.

In tests made by Dr. Stewart at the North Carolina Experiment Station he found that pigs sired by the Minnesota No. 1 bores gained an average of one-tenth of a pound per day more than the lots of pigs with which they were compared.

He also found the carcasses of the pigs sired by bores of Minnesota No. 1 or the "A" line were superior to those of the inbred lines or the purebred hogs.

Dr. Stewart said that sows farrowed in litters sired by Minnesota No. 1 bores farrowed 1.5 more pigs per litter and saved more than the other lines.

A plan for a breeding program based on Dr. Stewart's research is outlined in the May issue of FARM & RANCH-SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST in a story written by Dr. L. R. Neill, Senior Editor.

Eighty-Four Party Is Held Recently In Reeves Home

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reeves were host and hostess to an "84" party last Tuesday night when it met in their home. Co-hostess was Mrs. B. L. Blacklock.

The Reeves home was beautifully decorated with bouquets of red roses. A red rose was also placed on the plates of all the guests present.

Games of "84" were played after which a delicious refreshment plate of angel food cake and punch was served to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Borden, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Holder, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. King, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Young Women Of Baptist Church Form Auxiliary

The young women of the First Baptist Church of Munday have organized a Y. W. A., which means Young Woman's Auxiliary. If you happen to be unmarried and between the ages of 16 and 25, you are eligible for membership.

So far we have 11 girls who have joined the Y. W. A. organization and these 11 are interested in the work of Christ.

Some two weeks ago we decided to find a name for our organization. We had Ilene Mcclaran to look over the list of missionary names, for we felt that she was better acquainted with the missionary work than the rest of us. Finally, we decided to call our organization the "Maybelle Taylor" circle and we hope that we will not disappoint Miss Taylor in any way.

We have met regularly now since our circle was organized. Every Monday afternoon at 4:00 we meet at one of the member's homes for our program.

Our aim is to unite the young women of the Southern Baptist churches in an enduring missionary enterprise through which they shall show forth the beauty of holiness.

The name "Young Woman's Auxiliary", was adopted in 1907 after a questionnaire vote of preferred name by many missionary groups of young women then functioning. Alabama suggested this name and in the voting it was selected along with the Young Woman's Auxiliary emblem of the Y. W. A. monogram on a crescent which makes the design of the Y. W. A. pin.

Our watchword chosen was Daniel 12:3—"They that are wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever."

The colors that were chosen for the Y. W. A. were Nile green and white.

The song that was chosen was "O Zion Haste", which well ex-

USE CARE IN WASHING CORDUROY

Corduroy gets soiled just the same as does any other clothing material and it should be washed or cleaned regularly if it is to look well and wear well. Corduroy suits, coats and dresses can be successfully washed at home, says Nena Roberson, associate extension clothing specialist of Texas A. & M. College, if certain precautions are taken.

She says garments made from corduroy need a gentle washing and points out that lukewarm water and mild soapsuds should be used. The suds should be squeezed through the garments and twisting and rubbing should be avoided. They should be rinsed in two or three changes of lukewarm water.

She doesn't recommend wringing, but instead says the garment should be lifted from the tub and folded in a bath towel to remove the excess water, then hung on a wooden hanger to dry in shade.

Corduroy garments should be dried rapidly and out-of-doors in a stiff breeze is best. When the garment is almost dry, brush it following the nap to keep it smooth. The use of a steam iron will make the ironing job easier, she adds.

If the cot is lined, the only safe way to wash it is to remove the lining and padding and wash each separately, she says.

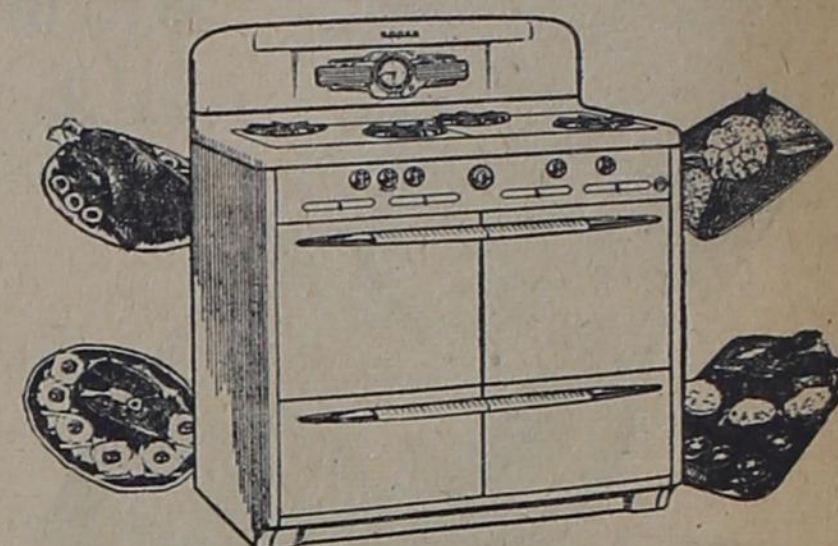

Mrs. Frank Bowley and Butch of Big Spring came in Tuesday for an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bowley and other relatives and friends.

The label of "boardinghouse dish" has been tagged to Trifle too long. When correctly made, it's a fit dessert for the most epicurean company. Into a shallow serving dish pour 1/2 cup sherry. Then put into dish 1 single layer sponge cake (two or three days old) cut into fairly thin slices, spread with currant jelly, raspberry or strawberry jam. While cake soaks up the wine make a boiled custard: Scald 3 cups milk in top of double boiler. Beat 3 eggs with 1/4 cup sugar and 1/2 tsp. salt. Pour the hot milk over this stirring constantly. Put back into top of double boiler, cook over medium flame. Stir continuously until just barely thick. Remove and stir in 1/4 tsp. vanilla. Let cool with cover on, then pour over cake in wine. Chill well. Decorate with dots of jelly or jam and whipped cream if you wish. 4 generous servings.

Several families in multiple buildings can share an average size gas incinerator because it burns up three bushels of garbage per hour. Operating cost is low.

Simple cheese sauce: Heat 1 cup evaporated milk over hot water, pour into 1/4 lb. grated Cheddar cheese. Stir gently until smooth.

The Tarrant-Cloud well near Moran was drilled in 1913. It was the first oil well in all that section of Texas. A few months ago, your columnist visited Moran. Imagine my surprise to be informed that the old well is still producing after 36 years! It is making eight barrels a day, and during its lifetime, has made more than a million barrels of oil.

C. R. Bates in the small town of Dermott, Ark., has an unusual occupation. He "liquidates" factories. When a plant is going out of business, he salvages the machinery. He buys all over the United States and he may re-sell the equipment as far away as South America.

In the same town, John Baxter is a banker, lawyer, farmer and ginner. And yet with all those businesses, he doesn't seem to be in a big hurry and he seems to be always in good humor, ready to tell a good story or to smile at the other fellow's.

Here's a quaint little happening of early Texas days: On the south coast in the days of the Republic lived two men who had never met—Bill Bradley and a Dr. Collins. Neither was what you would call handsome—just the contrary. Dr. Collins was full of good humor and one day, while riding to Brazoria, he met Bradley and both reined in.

"My name is Collins," said the doctor.

"Mine is Bradley—Bill Bradley."

Dr. Collins said, "I have a present for you," taking a large knife from his pocket and handing it to the other man. "This knife was presented me for being the ugliest man in these parts with the stipulation that should I ever meet an uglier man than myself, I should present him with the knife. Mr. Bradley, you are that man."

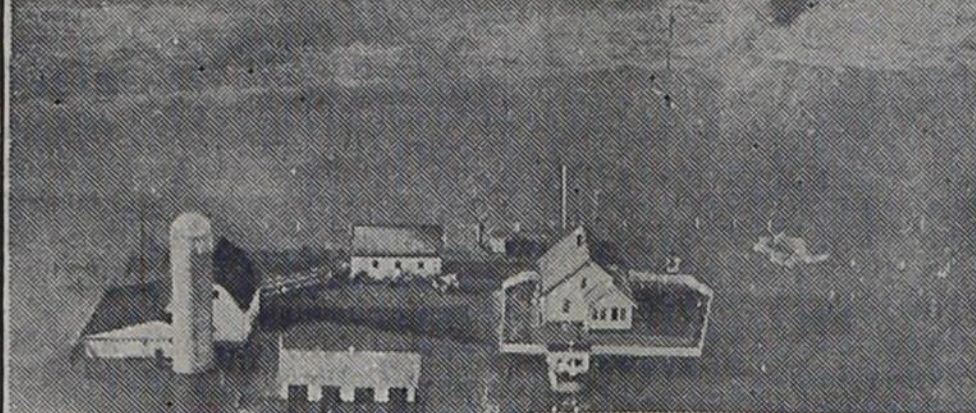

"Bradley said nothing but opened the knife, spurred his horse and chased the doctor half-way across the prairie.

Alfalfa Proves Popular Grazing To Farmers Of Area

Several District co-operators are using alfalfa for pasture. This fine legume and hay crop produces an abundance of pasture, according to Harry Beck, Vera, and J. B. Reneau, Munday. Mr. Beck had 70 head of yearlings on 50 acres of alfalfa until the rain. He took them off just before the rain, and from the looks of the alfalfa now, you would never know it was grazed at all. Mr. Beck wonders how many yearlings he could run now on the 50 acres since the rain.

Dr. J. B. Reneau, Jr. has been using alfalfa for grazing purposes for quite some time. Last year he ran 34 head from March 15 until sudan grass came on. This year he is doing about the same, with a few more cattle part of the time.

Mr. Beck planted his alfalfa last fall and got a fair to good stand. Dr. Reneau plowed up his old stand of alfalfa because of some weeds and undesirable

Septic Tanks Recommended For Farm Homes

A septic tank and disposal field is usually recommended as the best waste disposal system for the farm home. The septic tank, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A.&M. College, is not a mysterious object. It is merely a holding tank for the household wastes where decomposition disposes of these wastes quickly, easily and in a sanitary manner.

He says sanitation authorities agree that a septic tank should be made large enough to hold the maximum amount of sewage discharged into it in any given 24 hour period. The minimum sized tank should hold no less than 500 gallons. Tanks that are too small soon become overloaded with sludge and raw sewage and this will pass into the disposal field and clog up.

He says a grass trap is not considered necessary for the ordinary household if the tank has a capacity of 500 gallons or more. The location of the tank, however, is of primary importance. It is cheaper, he says, to build the tank close to the source of the sewage because less water tight line will be needed. It is not, however, a good practice to locate a septic tank too close to a building for this makes grasses. He was expecting to have to replant, but had enough alfalfa to come up volunteered for a fair stand.

Both of these farmers are very enthusiastic about the grazing value of alfalfa and plan to plant more as soon as possible. Both are cooperating with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service at Knox City.

cleaning difficult. All septic tanks will need cleaning during their life of usefulness so locate it where it can be reached easily for the cleaning job. The tank itself, he says, should never be a part of any foundation. The disposal field should consist of two or more tile lines. If a single line is used, there is a greater chance that the field will become water logged and thus cause trouble. He says unless you live in an area where the soil is very porous, it is advisable to provide a porous bed of gravel or crushed stone for the disposal field. Sewage, it should be remembered, is not necessarily rendered harmless in the disposal field; therefore, the field should be located a safe distance away from wells and water supply lines. He says the minimum distance should be 100 feet.

Allen says you can obtain plans for constructing the right kind of a septic tank and disposal field from your local county health unit, the State Health Department or from your local county extension agent. He says they'll be happy to advise you on the amount of disposal tile needed for the soil type in your area and also on the construction of the system. He concludes with this word of advice, get a good plan and then follow it in constructing your septic tank and laying out your disposal

P.-T.A. Procedure Study Completed

Twenty-four Parent-Teacher Association members from Knox City, Sunset, Goree and Munday completed the procedure course offered at the high school on Wednesday of last week.

Instructor for the all-day study was Mrs. Fred B. Hunt of Burkburnett, who is procedure course chairman of the P.-T. A. thirteenth district. The study just completed is one of two organization courses devised to help members by increasing their knowledge, interest, and understanding of the work of the organization. The other course, Parliamentary Procedure, may be offered to members of this area in the near future. Both of these studies are open to any P.-T. A. member and are virtually essential to organization officers for greatest accomplishment in the local unit.

Thompson, Mrs. A. U. Hathaway gave an opening prayer. Duties of each-class officer has explained. The next meeting will be May 25th in the home of Mrs. J. J. Keel. Mrs. C. W. Armstrong gave the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served to members of the class.
