Odds Bites Salvaged at Random

Again, a bright spot loomed up in a dark cloud.

This time it happened to the Munday seniors, who took off last Friday morning on their senior trip.

A happy, singing group of youngsters, accompanied by some of the parents and teachers to chaperone them, left Munday in the school bus and headed for San Antonio and Bandera.

Hopes were high, and funds were ample. After all, this group had been working and saving the monies they earned during all their four years of high school in anticipation of this trip.

We imagine hopes just about hit bottom, though, when the school bus broke down at Paint Rock, and the group knew it would take several hours to repair the motor.

No doubt, they thought the little town of Paint Rock was an inconvenient place to be stranded for several hours, when they should be well on their way to the Alamo city.

But there, the superintendent of schools learned of their misfortune. Having experience with high school students, he must have also had a ready knowledge of their disappointment.

He decided to do something about it.

The Munday group found they were guests of the Paint Rock schools and a school man who knew how to make the best of an unfortunate situation.

While the bus was being repaired, this man took the group in charge. They were taken to the painted rocks, a place of historical Indian paintings from which the little town got its name.

They were taken to the school lunch room, where they were served their noonday meal.

They were so graciously entertained that they didn't have time to worry about an old school bus that had broken down.

About 2 p. m., however, the thing was ready to take to the road again, and our seniors continued their journey.

So far as we know, the remainder of the trip was without misfortune. The group visited historic old San Antonio and its spots of interest.

They went on to Bandera, where they did a bunch of "dude ranching"—or whatever you do when you're a guest at a dude ranch.

They returned home at about eleven o'clock Monday night, reporting a very wonderful time and a most successful trip.

Now, they are ready for their final activities in Munday High School—the baccalaureate service next Sunday evening and the final graduation exercises on Friday night of next week.

Whatever highlights they have in their graduation life to follow, we expect they won't soon forget the hospitality extended them at Paint Rock.

And a bunch of parents and Munday citizens are appreciative of the courtesies extended their children by this school man, who, like all good superintendents, has the welfare and happiness of students at heart.

The earliest wheat harvested in the nation before this year was by L. B. West, Young County farmer, on May 8, 1945. Last year the Smith harvested first wheat on May 24, eight days after the nation's first grain was harvested by Johnny Michels in Knox County.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES: "Perhaps the best suggestion for government loans to small business, is that the government should not make them, but guarantee them, as it now does loans to veterans. That was the recommendation of the Hoover Commission . . . Small business would get help, banks would get the business, and politicians and influence peddlers would be frozen out."

SHELDON, IOWA, MAIL: "The Post Office, despite all opposition, continues to print names and addresses on stamped envelopes for forty four cents per thousand. A Congressman doesn't have to be a printer to realize no one can set type, get a press ready, and run 1,000 envelopes through it for that price."

HALLMARK OF A FREE MARKET

Last year, according to the National Retail Dry Goods Association, department stores and specialty stores fared a little better profit-wise than in 1951. But it's a safe bet that profits were a great deal smaller than the public at large realizes.

A typical group of department stores showed a net profit after taxes of 2.3 per cent. A typical group of specialty stores showed at net of 2.4 per cent.

In other words, less than three cents out of each dollar the consumers spent in these stores stayed with the owners. All the rest of the money went right out—for merchandise, wages, taxes, advertising, rents, and so on down the list.

Mass-distribution is based on the idea that it is better for all concerned to sell a large volume of goods at a small profit. It is the hallmark of a free, competitive market.

FARMING IS A PROFESSION

A late March issue of the Pennsylvania Farmer carried a brief but significant article by Wellington D. Smith of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association. His theme was the almost incredible progress we have witnessed since the turn of the century. As he put it, "Fifty-two years ago the telephone and electricity were in the infant stage. No one believed in the horseless carriage or the gasoline engine. Old Dobbin and the wagon wheel were here to stay. The breech loader was then our secret weapon."

"Today I am surrounded with the necessary but apparently luxurious automobile, streamliner, super-sonic jet aircraft, atomic submarine, radio, television, deep freeze, electric kitchen, combine, hay bales, field chopper and diesel tractor. Even old Daisy (the family cow) is equipped with a jet pump . . . During the years following World War II there have been fabulous investments made in agricultural enterprises. Such investments have served to cause a tremendous increase in agricultural production." The result of this, Mr. Smith believes, is that farming is becoming a true and integral part of our vast industrial system. And here he made the telling observation that farming " . . . is no longer a proposition for the man with the hoe. It is a profession for the man with a knowledge of the science of the soils, the language of a cow, and the heart of a tractor."

Science and machines have gone a long way to transform the face of the land. And they are transforming the lives of the men and women who live on the land.

FREEDOM OF THE INDIVIDUAL

The cause of freedom has been hearteningly advanced by a recent Supreme Court decision upholding a Virginia law which lays down the principle that the right to work may not be denied either because of membership or non-membership in a labor union, and which makes illegal any agreement between an employer and a union barring a non-union worker from a job. The Court held in effect that any state has the legal authority to pass such a law.

Of this the Bedford, Virginia, Bulletin said: "No more important decision regarding the rights of the individual was ever made by the nation's highest court"

No man is free when his right to earn a living is dependent on his joining and paying dues to any organization.

WHAT DOES "LIBERALISM" MEAN?

"Liberalism implies freedom and individualism," writes Bob Munger in the American Student, official publication of Students for America. ". . . true liberalism stresses the dignity of the individual rather than the omnipotence of the state."

Keep that in mind the next time you hear the term "liberalism" applied, as it usually is, to some plan for giving government more and more power over the individual citizen, at the expense of our rights, responsibilities, and freedoms.

No word has been more misused in recent years—none has been more distorted. The true liberal philosophy holds that government is the servant of the people, not the master.

HOW TO KILL THE GOOSE

Excessive taxation can actually reduce government revenues—by preventing business expansion which would create new sources of taxation. The following quotation from the report of the Senate Small Business Committee tells the story: "Many witnesses stated that they were unable or unwilling to take the necessary business risks to expand their business when over 80 per cent of their increased earnings were earmarked for the Director of Internal Revenue."

WE CANNOT FOLLOW CHRIST THROUGH HUMAN CREEDS

We cannot follow human creeds and follow Christ at the same time, for Christ said, "In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men," Matt. 15:9. We cannot follow human traditions, whether they came from Pope or Church Manual, parents or friends. Paul wrote, "Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the rudiments of the world, and traditions of men, and not after Christ," Col. 2:8.

We need to find something better than a man-made religion, with man-made doctrines and forms of worship. We cannot follow the Bible while we teach and worship contrary to it. Jehovah said, "Come ye out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord," 2 Co. 6:17-18. Our worship and service to God must be founded on a "Thus saith the Lord," instead of on the superstitions and inherited traditions of the religious world.

False ideas are mistakenly taken for the truth by many people. Only those things found in the Bible are true. May we always be ready to change our views, and come into harmony with the Word of God. Only then do we "know the truth," so we can be set free from sin and error.

"Do you think that you and your little bunch are the only one who will be saved?" Next Lord's Day Morning at 10:45 o'clock we will give a BIBLE answer to that often asked question. Our subject,

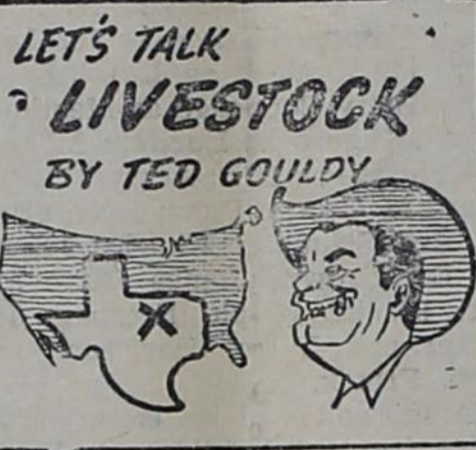

"WHO CAN THEN BE SAVED?"

So, "Come, let us reason together."

FORT WORTH—Fed cattle prices reacted and well-finished steers and yearlings sold strong to 50 cents or more higher at Fort Worth Monday. Three loads of steers scaling 1,064 pounds from Castleberry Bros., Donley County, cashed at $21.50, averaged fully 50 cents up. Two loads of steers from Post, Texas, averaged 1,166 lbs. and were lot mates to steers sold here last week. Monday they brought $20 against $19.50 a week ago.

Emphasizing the good outlet for truly fat young cattle was a shipment of Crossbred Brahma yearlings and heifers from J. B. Jones of Marquez (Leon County, Texas.) These young cattle averaged just over 700 pounds and the price was $20. Creepfeeding of calves to produce beef cattle comparable with these is being planned by cattlemen throughout the territory and it looks at present like the best bet since Northern feeders claim they are going into the loan with lots of their corn this year. Some sources in the Middle West are saying they feel that stocker calves and yearlings should be bought around $12 to $15 this Fall under present conditions. If such a market as that develops it will be good business for cowmen in this area to figure on selling "beef" calves by creepfeeding this Summer.

Best stocker calves sold at $16 to $19.50 at Fort Worth Monday. Yearlings sold at $18 down for stocker purposes. Stocker cows drew $11 to $15. Fat steers and yearlings of good and choice kinds sold from $18 to $22 and common, plain and medium butcher cattle drew $12 to $17, some shells lower. Fat cows drew $11.50 to $13, a few to $15-50. Canners and cutters drew $8 to $11.50. Bulls cashed at $10 to $15. Fat calves drew $15 to $22, others $8 to $15.

Biggest sheep runs of the year arrived. Spring lambs were steady, good and choice selling at $23 to $25, and cull to fair kinds from $15 to $20. Fat horn lambs drew $18 to $21.25, stocker and feeder lambs drew $14 to $18. Fat yearling wethers drew $15 to $18. Aged wethers drew $11 down. Old ewes sold at $4 to $6.50. Shorn fat lambs were considered steady to 50 cents higher, and other classes about steady.

Hogs hit the highest point at Fort Worth in nearly three years topping at $24 and $24.25. Sows drew $21.50 down. Pigs sold at $20 downward.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dean were in Wichita Falls last Saturday attending the Burlington Lines Agents annual business meeting and luncheon held in the Kemp Hotel. The wives were entertained with a coffee at 10:00 a. m. in the Town Room and after luncheon a Bingo party on the mezzanine floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Roberts of Wellington were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cox over the week end. Mr. Roberts is Superintendent of the Wellington school.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dane and daughters and Miss Lynn McCaughey of Lubbock visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hill last week end.

Don Guffey, who is attending N. T. S. C. in Denton, was a week end guest in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Guffey.

A writer of books has hectic experiences—especially, right after his book comes off the press. For example when "City of Flaming Adventure" appeared several years ago, Joe Naylor, the publisher, really had a "day" lined up for the author.

It was during the San Antonio Fiesta—(the book is a history of San Antonio)—and to start the day, Joe lined up a radio interview for me, then a presentation of copies to Chamber of Commerce officials while photographers flashed bulbs; then a luncheon with Fiesta officials and, after that, an hour and a half of autographing at Joske's. Then there was some relaxation: seeing the impressive piling of flowers to the Alamo, wreaths and bouquets borne by marching school children; a wonderful dinner at the historic Menger; viewing the pageant on the San Antonio river.

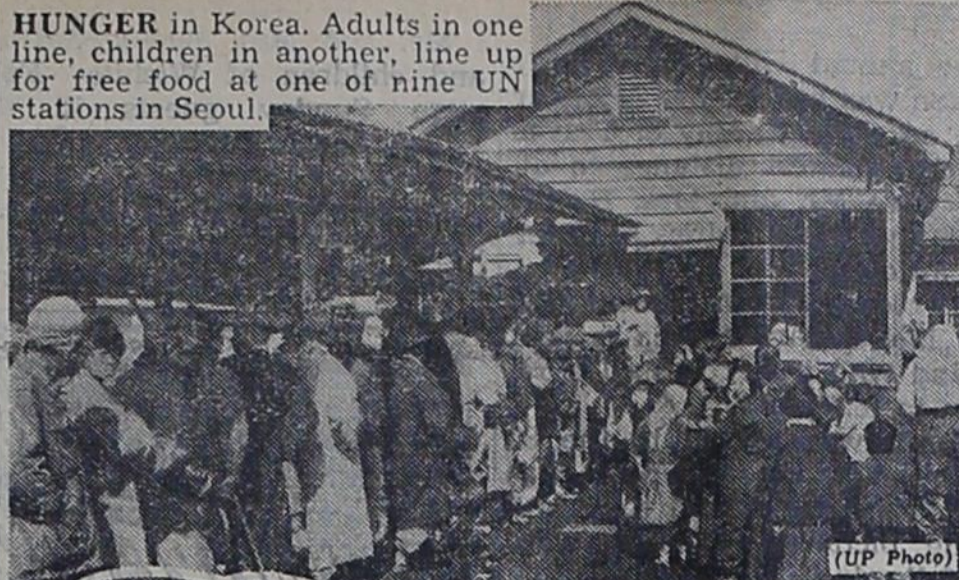

At midnight, at the reception for King Antonio, a copy of "City of Flaming Adventure" was presented to that "monarch."

After a day as crowded as that a fellow can't start writing on another book 'til he's had a rest.

A candidate for the legislature in the 1952 campaign had an unusual piece of campaign literature. In the space where usually the candidate's photo would have appeared was this statement, "Take my word for it, I have an honest face."

As the king had absolute power of life and death over his subjects, the soothsayer's enemies felt that any answer he gave would be wrong, if the king so willed. The king saw to it, that the soothsayer's welfare was looked after most carefully.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

There are detergents advertised on today's market for practically any cleaning job—from cutting stubborn grease on a mechanic's hands, to discouraging fleas on the family poodle.

They work, too, in most instances, but State Health Officer George W. Cox has this word of warning:

"Make sure you follow the directions to the letter." Otherwise you could end up with a discomfiting cast of "housewives eczema."

These so-called "soapless" products have found wide favor with housewives for washing clothes and dishes. No doubt a good bit of their popularity is due to high powered advertising, including the decorative boxes featuring happy ladies hanging the washing or putting up dishes which the product had cleaned all by itself.

Dr. Cox identifies the active ingredients of these products as chemical compounds which act to lower surface tension of water, making it more penetrating and able to get through grease and dirt to break it up and keep it from resettling.

Many brands contain special purpose ingredients, such as ammonium salt, which make the compound bactericidal.

A duck is supposed to sink like a rock in water containing some of these detergents, probably because the "wetter" water gets through the oil in the duck's feathers—which is the reason a duck is ordinarily waterproof and able to float.

It stands to reason, Dr. Cox points out, that if these compounds will cut through grease and film, and there is no doubt that some of them will—they will also penetrate the natural oils of the skin and cause irritation and discomfort if the condition is neglected.

The health officer's recommendation? Keep some hand lotion within reach and apply it liberally after using detergents for household cleaning or laundry.

Drive carefully. The life you save might be your own.

Tired Seniors Return Monday Night From Wonderful Trip To Lost Valley

At 4 a. m. Friday morning, 21 seniors and four sponsors sleepily piled aboard the school bus and took off for Lost Valley Dude Ranch near Bandera. About 9 a. m., their spirits were somewhat dampened when the school bus broke down at Paint Rock.

However, the day was saved when the Paint Rock school principal, Mr. King, took everyone to school for a turkey dinner.

Later he took the class on an interesting tour of the Paint Rock upheavals and the painted rocks.

The seniors arrived at Lost Valley about 10 p. m. They spent a wonderful day swimming, horseback riding and viewing the country, after which they journeyed onward to San Antonio, where they visited Brackenridge Park, the amusement park, a television station, the Alamo, and other parts of the historic city.

A tired, happy bunch of seniors drove into Munday at 11 o'clock Monday night.

Seniors enjoying the trip are: Lee Bowden, Tommy Gage, Peggy Armstrong, Olivia Car-am, Norman Gaines, Pat Cook, Charles Ratliff, Shirley Hill, Hilton Stubblefield, Bobby Guffey, Charlotte Hannah, Julie Massey, Wayne Smith, Eloise Martinez, Shirley Patterson, Joy Lemley, Gordon Stevens, Joyce Michels, Lynn Reynolds, Tommy Powell and Adrienne Jones.

Sponsoring the group were E. L. Goolsby, Mrs. Leland Hannah, Mrs. Levi Bowden and Mrs. A. L. Smith.

PEANUT MARKETING PROGRESS

Now they've done it. They've taken the peanut taste out of the peanut.

Are you one of the old fashioned persons who like peanut butter? Get "hep" neighbor! The modern peanut, aided by a little nutritional hokus-pokus, may soon be available in orange, maple and chocolate flavors. Or you gourmets who love Mexican food—how about a chili flavored peanut snack?

You would hardly recognize the origin of the two "changelings" called "Peanut Snack" and "Peanut Spread." The products were developed with the aid of the Production and Marketing Administration to create new demands and outlets for the lowly peanut. Preliminary studies show the products are popular with the customers.

This should be good news for growers around Gorman and other peanut areas of Texas. The yearly demand for peanuts has been known to vary to such a degree that sometimes we can get as much as $9,580,000 for our crop, as in 1952. Yet, growers can remember other time when the market was so bad that it was more profitable to feed the crop to the hogs. Any new developments which catch the fancy will give more strength to peanut sales.

Research and marketing officials may have hit a jackpot on this latest revamping of the peanut. Sales reports indicate the "new look" in peanuts proved more popular in some test areas than the old reliable peanut butter.

Supplies of the new products are not generally available yet. It may be some months before

Famed Evangelist To Hold Revival At Stamford Church

Dr. Clovis G. Chappell, well known Methodist minister, will do the preaching in a six-day revival at St. John's Methodist Church, beginning Sunday, May 17th. Sunday services are at 10:50 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. The time for week day services is 10:00 A. M. and 8:00 P. M. Dr. Chappell, now retired, lives at Waverly, Tennessee. He is engaged at the present in full-time evangelistic work. During his active ministry he served some of the largest downtown churches of America in the following cities: Houston, Oklahoma City, Birmingham, and Charlotte. He is the author of twenty-nine books, including the one now on the press. By poll of the Christian Century Pulpit he was chosen as one of the ten most effective preachers in America. He was the only man from the South so honored.

Charles E. Fike, St. John's pastor, said, "We want to make this a revival for all of Stamford and vicinity. We cordially invite all people to attend this meeting and be inspired by the messages of Dr. Chappell." Mr. Fike added that the week-day morning and evening services will be broadcast for the convenience of those unable to attend the services.

"The people of the Munday area are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear one of the really great preachers of America," said Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Munday.

Mrs. T. N. Carter of Comanche visited the first of this week in the home of her daughter Mrs. E. B. Bowden and family.

Price Reductions On International Trucks Announced

Claude Rogers and E. M. Mann, of Rogers & Mann, Inc., local International motor truck dealer have just returned from a meeting at the International Harvester Company's Sweetwater district offices at which the Company announced a substantial reduction in the retail prices of its new R-Line light, medium and light-heavy duty truck models.

The price reductions, according to Rogers and Mann, cover the Company's R-110, 120, 130, 150, 160, 170 and 180 model series, ranging from its smallest pickup trucks through those of the 19,500-pound capacity.

The downward price adjustments range from 3.5% on the R-180 series to 10.6% on the R-120 pickup models. They range from a minimum of $87 to a maximum of $152 on former list prices. The overall price reduction in these weight categories amounts to about 6.7 per cent.

In a statement accompanying the price reduction announcement, John L. McCaffrey, the company's president, said:

"Since the end of World War II we have centered an increasing share of our engineering and production efforts on the job of building the kind of high performance, high-efficiency vehicles which this market demands. We have been increasing our share of participation in the light through light-heavy duty truck markets in 1953, but we still want more.

"In appraising our truck manufacturing operations for the remainder of this year, and even farther into the future, our considerations led us to the natural economic advantages for our customers and our plant truck employees to be gained from possible price reductions in these categories of trucks. We decided to take the bold step of planning increased production at our Springfield, Ohio, plant and other Harvester plants, where these lighter trucks and components are built.

"This will have the beneficial effect of helping our customers with a better price on better quality truck and our employees with better employment opportunities."

McCaffrey pointed out that Harvester had long been the nation's number one producer of heavy duty motor trucks. Harvester presently ranks third in the sale of all categories of motor trucks in the United States.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says He's Not Very Much Interested In Gadget To Show The Oil Level In An Auto

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Millere Creek must be having oil trouble, his letter this week reveals. Bearings probably burned out.

Dear editor: I noticed in a newspaper the other day where some organization had taken a survey to find out what the average motorist would like to see available for his car and found out it's a dashboard gauge which would indicate the amount of oil in the engine.

I don't know where this outfit took its survey, but it wasn't around here. I have conducted a survey out here and find that what most car drivers want is an automobile that costs less to operate.

Most people used to have the notion that they were supposed to spend their lives working to support their children, but the car has edged out the children in lots of cases and it seems to me the government ought to recognize this and allow you to take an automatic $600 income tax deduction on your car the same as any other dependent.

It would be nice I guess to have a gadget on the dashboard tellin you when you were low on oil, but most cars, after you drive em a while, you get to know pretty well and you come to know when they're gonna need oil the same as you know about a growin boy is gonna get hungry. They can put the gadget on if they want to, but fillin station operators are pretty shrewd and instead of askin if your oil is low they'll switch to sayin is your oil gauge workin, and still get t raise the hood and examine the oil stick anyway.

Cottons in the Swim

PRINTED COTTONS FOR BEACH WEAR—A dramatic two-piece, this vivid Catalina swimsuit and matching jacket are made in a border printed cotton with varicolored butterflies. The swimsuit is elastic shirred to mould the figure. The beach jacket flares wide to show off the print to the best advantage.

Personally, the gadget I'd like to see most on a car is not one showing whether I needed oil or not but one keepin me from needin in any. I guess it's a fine system for example a bank's got for sending you a notice when you are overdrawn, but it'd make a bigger hit with me if they perfected a way to keep that situation from developin in the first place. A gadget on your livin room wall automatically showin you how much Johnson grass you got growin in your crops would be an interestin thing to have around, but what I'm lookin for is a gadget to eliminate the stuff to start with.

Scientists are great people, but they're always workin on the wrong end of a problem.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

Washington, D. C., April 30, 1953. The necessity of effective soil conservation has been further emphasized this week by the Agricultural Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee and the Committee on Agriculture. All indications are that we in this country will have a population by 1975 of approximately One Hundred Ninty Million people. by the year 2000, our population will have increased to in excess of 200,000,000. At present production levels this would mean that we would have to find Seventy-Five to One Hundred Million acres of new crop land in order to maintain our present standard of diet. In the past, we have met the problem of population increases largely by bringing new land into production; however, now this obviously cannot be done for there are no reservoirs of virgin land left for us to tap. In the Continental United States there are approximately, 1, 904,000,000 million acres of land. 1,100,000,000 of these acres are used for grazing and crop land. Six Hundred Million acres are in forests and wood land. The remaining acreage is non agricultural.

While these figures may sound tremendous, the fact remains that this is all the land we have to provide the basic food and fiber for our increased population. Since this country was founded, we have reduced the productivity of our soil by probably forty to fifty percent through intensive continuous one crop farming which has burned out our land, through the removal of the minerals from our soil at a rate faster than they are returned, by improper practices which have resulted in water and wind erosion, depletion of coverage on our ranges and wastage of water needed for crop production. Perhaps no other people in history have used their land so wrecklessly as we have. It is obvious that the only way we can effectively meet our needs in the foreseeable future is the development of a program of conservation that will stop the deterioration of our lands and will improve and maintain our productions at higher levels. The hearings now being held by the Agricultural Committees have been very interesting. I have tried whenever time would permit to attend them. Their thorough consideration of the needs of conservation, particularly with reference to devising ways of trapping and holding water as nearly as possible where it falls, will result in all of us being able to do a whole lot better job as far as conservation is concerned.

It is obvious that the prime target of the Communists is South East Asia, not just a part of South East Asia, but the whole of that great area. It is ironic that at a time when the Russians are supposedly sponsoring a new peace offensive, the fighting in Asia should be stepped up. This, it would appear, certainly leaves the motives of the Kremlin open to questioning. The great stake, the rich claim they sought to stake, has always been the rubber, tin, and other raw materials that complete control of this territory would give them. The recent murmuring from Moscow of peace are still not being backed up by actions and if anyone needs proof, only a glance at the present Communist activities in Asia will supply it.

Mr. Ray Nichols of Vernon has been a Washington visitor this week.

ARMY IN ALASKA SAVES NINE MILLION

AUSTIN — Cost consciousness applied to military and civilians alike in Alaska saved the American taxpayer $9 million in actual cash last year, according to information received at Texas Military District headquarters this week.

The targets saving—more than enough to pay the annual food bill an Army division—was effected from repair and re-issue of equipment, the replacement cost of which would have amounted to $6,000,000, declared Col. E. O. Strouble, U. S. Army comptroller in Alaska.

Other economies were flat cuts or improved procedures such as reduction in gasoline consumption by $120,000, elimination of outdated reports, $42,090 and the streamlining of the Alaska depot operations by $154,768. Improved freight-handling and re-use of lumber and shipping crates saved more than $130,000.

It is claimed the savings will recur annually and in some cases the savings will be increased.

Clothes that are kept clean wear longer. Wash clothing before it becomes too dirty, for long, hard washing to remove accumulated dirt sometimes is responsible for loss of color. It is easier and more economical to launder clothes frequently.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Owens of San Angelo spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubra L. Smith, and other relatives.
