It's not often an editor gets any commendation for something he has published.

It's not often he even receives a compliment on getting out a good paper, if he does, from his readers and friends.

Rather, they seem to want to carry the editor high for mistakes he makes, the typographical errors and things that get by the editor or his proofreader.

Like in our issue of September 8 last year, we, for some unexplained reason, ran a headline that the Sears Swine Show would be held in Munday on Saturday, September 31.

And ever since childhood we have recited that little verse about "thirty days hath September, April, June and November."

Being the type of fellow who finds it less embarrassing not to study his paper for errors, misprints, etc., after it's printed, we hadn't noticed our swine show headline.

But next day, folks began asking us just when the show would be held—what month, what year, etc.

We were somewhat confused until we got back-tracked to the office and secured a paper.

Reading on down in the story we found we had the date correct—Saturday, September 20—but that didn't make the headline error less conspicuous.

Reading on further down in the story we found:

"The show will be under the supervision of W. C. Pallmeyer, Knox County Agent, and sponsored under retain of rdugkm oinrdu."

And that's why we have a distaste for "pi-lines" in the proofs. Some of them just naturally get into print.

We could go on reciting errors. Errors where our informant misinformed, errors where our ears didn't hear exactly what was told, where our feeble mind didn't follow fast enough.

Most country editors strive to print a paper that's appreciated by their readers.

Lots of times they leave out, or just forget to print, the sordid news—news that's happened, alright, but would do more harm than good if printed.

He'd like not to hurt anyone through his publication; yet sometimes stories or editorials come out that contain errors of ignorance or something—or that are misinterpreted by some reader.

Which all leads up to the point that we received a letter recently.

Usually, a letter or news information received through the mails and bearing no one's name as the sender are not printed. We just like to know where our information comes from.

This letter was just signed "A Granddaughter." But it was one of those few bouquets passed our way, and we just plumb "et it up." So here it is:

Dear Mr. Editor:

You don't know me, nor I you, but I wanted to say "Thank you" to the man who wrote the editorial about "Aunt Minnie" and "Uncle Andy." That article could only have been written by someone who knew them as well as the family, did. It was filled with love, respect and admiration of these two people who meant so much to us all.

So again we thank you for your kindness and thoughtfulness in publishing such an article.

Munday Citizens Will Elect Five Councilmen On Tuesday, April 7th

All five of Munday's city councilmen must be elected in the coming city election on Tuesday, April 7th, it was announced this week by Harvey Lee, city secretary.

Ordinarily, there are two councilmen whose terms extend through another year. These two this year would have been Robert Grene, who moved away, and J. C. Campbell, deceased.

Councilmen whose terms expire this year are: A. H. Mitchell, who is serving the unexpired term of J. W. Massey, Wallace Reid and L. W. Hobert.

According to expected procedure, all five councilmen will be elected. After the election, it will be determined—possibly by drawing straws—who will serve a one-year term and who will have a two-year term.

Only member of the City Council whose term runs for another year is M. F. Billingsley, mayor.

Mr. Lee stated Tuesday morning that, so far, no names had been filed with the city secretary. Names of all candidates must be filed at least 30 days prior to the election date, and ballots must be printed 20 days prior to the election in order that those desiring to vote absentee may vote.

Staked as a 5200-foot wildcat in Knox County, the No. 5 W. S. Davis will be drilled 16 miles north of Knox City by Yeatman Drilling Company. Location is 3300 feet from north and 1794 feet from east lines of block 3, D. C. Burnett survey.

Spring Training Begins On Monday For The Moguls

If there's safety in numbers, it's safe to believe the Munday Moguls will make a good showing in football next season.

With spring training opening last Monday, it was reported that a total of 56 Moguls came out for this training period. A number of these boys are those who saw action last season and have this training to their credit.

It was reported the coaches expect to give the boys some three weeks of strenuous training and coaching in the fundamentals of the game, then all will be over until fall training.

Twenty-two of the boys in training live in the country, and it will be necessary for them to have methods of getting home each evening.

The athletic committee of the Munday Chamber of Commerce is taking this task in hand, and they are asking for football fans to furnish transportation for these boys. A schedule will likely be worked out soon, but if you will volunteer to take the boys home some evening, it will be a great help.

Munday Winner Of Land Dispute

The dispute over 16,000 acres of school land between the Munday Independent School District and the Knox City Independent School District appeared closed Wednesday with Munday the winner in the latest round of court decisions.

The Associated Press reported the Texas Supreme Court had denied a petition by the Knox City District asking the court to review the case. M. F. Billingsley, local attorney, believes this decision brings an end to the case.

The case involved about 16,000 acres of land in the old Sunset School district. The land had been voted into the Munday district in a consolidation election when it was ordered annexed by the Knox City district after three petitions were presented.

The Munday district filed suit for an injunction to recover the land, but lost the case in both district court and the 11th Court of Civil Appeals.

The State Supreme Court heard arguments on the case in October 1952, and reversed decisions of the lower courts.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MADISON, GA., MORGAN COUNTY NEWS: "Why try to produce milk when you can't get enough for it to pay your feed bills? . . . people do not want milk anymore anyway, they want beer. You have to make the people what they want. Beer is 40c a quart and milk is 20c a quart and it costs more to produce a quart of milk than it does a quart of beer. Therefore, from a plain business standpoint all the dairy farmers should go into the production of beer."

FAIRFIELD, IOWA, DAILY LEDGER: "No department needs as thorough a clean-up as the Interior Department. A very large number of socialist schemes have been attempted in this department and as a result all kinds of personnel are on the payroll and doing little."

MALTA, MONTANA, PHILLIPS COUNTY NEWS: "When President Truman recently recommended that Congress continue certain income tax exemptions for three of the nation's top officials there was no audible shout of approval either from Congress or the country at large. General opinion seems to be that in these days of heavy taxation of all kinds for everybody there should be no special concessions made to anyone . . ."

NARROWSBURG, N. Y., NEWS-TIMES: "The prizes has sometimes been criticised for squawking too much about their own freedom. But is it not their freedom in question, it is the freedom of the people to have a press which can give them all the facts on the news of the day without being subject to censorship."

GREENFIELD, IND., DAILY REPORTER: "Every great and sustained war effort in history has ultimately had its economic reaction. But we do know that, whatever comes, we will be ever so much better to face it or enjoy it, be it good or bad, if the nation is in a sound economic condition, solvent, highly productive, conserving wisely its resources, with its national debt minimized and under control."

PRICE OF INFLATION

Drops in farm prices have been substantial. The index in mid-December stood at 96 per cent of parity compared with 107 a year ago and 122 per cent in 1946. Some major crops are selling below 90 per cent of parity.

Consumers wonder why they don't find similar declines in food prices. The reason is simple. Major costs of any business today are made up of irreducible expenditures that are the result of twenty years of an inflationary trend, which has seen the value of the dollar cut in half. This has put a higher value on everything from matches to locomotives. The cost of goods and services that enter into the operation of a retail store have doubled and tripled in some instances.

Consider taxes. In pre-inflation days they were not a burden. Today taxes cost us more than our food and clothing combined. Hundreds of taxes are included in the price of necessities. They begin on the farm and accumulate through every step of the production and distribution process. A large part of current high prices for processed and manufactured products is due to taxes.

Then consider what has happened to wages—those paid by retailers are no exception. Also they have another new cost—a mountain of paper work and expensive legal guidance in attempting to comply with those evil misnomers called price controls. Current reductions in some farm prices largely evaporate in inflation and taxes before they can be passed along to consumers. This is the penalty we pay for swallowing the advice peddled by spend-ourselves rich politicians.

If it were not for the efficiency of the modern retailer who is able to operate on an infinitesimal net profit margin per sale, we would be back to a barter system.

YOUR PROGRAM

Blood, like miracle drugs, has become vital to the saving of life. Unlike the miracle drugs it cannot be produced in a manufacturing process. It must come from the people.

Demand for blood began to soar about fifteen years ago when scientists found a way to store it. Prior to that all blood transfusions were emergency operations, direct from one person to another. Complicated equipment was essential. Now hospitals are able to keep a supply of blood on hand classified by type, ready for instant use. Still another time-saving technique for using blood grew out of further research when plasma came into use. Plasma can be stored for years. During World War II the Red Cross collected more than 13,000,000 pints of blood as the free gift of Americans to their fighting men.

Because of the increasing demand for blood and because there is no manufactured substitute the Red Cross established a national blood program. Besides military requirements it is now taking care of civilian needs throughout the nation. The program when fully developed will furnish whole blood, plasma and other blood derivatives to all the people of this country irrespective of race, color or financial status. The only charge ever made to the patient will be a fee by the physician or hospital for professional services in administering the material. The Red Cross makes no charge.

Get in touch with your local Red Cross and find out how you can participate in this program, and make certain a life giving blood supply will be available to all.

"There is no such thing as an unfettered press without advertising revenue. Ever since the first advertisement appeared in a news sheet more than 300 years ago, a free press has gone hand in hand with the increase in advertising lineage." —Mitchell J. Anthony.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Has An Impossible Idea On Just How The Government Can Save Money

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has an impossible idea this week, as you'll readily agree when you read his letter.

J. A.

Dear editor: There was sort of a new touch of spring in the air out here the other afternoon, a bright sun was shinin, the air was still and peaceful, heard a few birds cuttin loose, calves were racin each other over the pasture, my bony cows were warming their hides in the sun, and I was out wanderin aimlessly speculatin on whether eight bales of hay would get my cows through the rest of the cold spells this year, when I stumbled on a copy of a newspaper and since a man can speculate as well sittin down as walkin around I sat down and looked it over.

The first article I noticed raised my blood pressure. Accordin to it, the government is buildin a complete city out in the Nevada desert. It's gonna be complete from paved streets to tall buildings, houses, stores, water system, electricity, gas, etc. When they get it finished, they're gonna drop an atom bomb in it and study the results, see what type buildings stand up, which ones melt down, etc.

Now I don't like to criticize the government, but it seems to me this is another example of government waste and extravagance. Certainly it would be interesting to study first-hand the effects of an atom bomb on a city, but what I want to know is why go to the trouble and expense of building a new city when we got plenty of good ones already available?

Why build an expensive city in the Nevada desert when we got plenty of cities that would do just as well to blow up? What's the matter with Fort Worth? Or Dallas? Or Houston? Or San Antonio? Or if there is too much professional jealousy between these cities, how about say Eagle Pass? Or Texarkana? Or there must be hundreds of cities in the rest of the United States most of us never have heard of and if we tried hard enough could live without.

Of course, if there developed too much competition among cities for this honor, why couldn't the matter be settled by picking out a city say in North Korea, or in China, or if the experts wracked their brains and could not think of one there, maybe there might be one somewhere in Russia.

I don't like to stand in the way of scientific progress, but I do like to see the government save money when it can.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. John Michalik, above, well known residents of Rhineland, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, January 25, with Holy Mass at 8 a. m. in the St. Joseph's Church with Rev. Fabian Dierking, O. S. B., officiating. The Mass was followed by a dinner for members of the family and friends.

Eight of their nine children present for the celebration are: Mrs. Frank Cerveny, Mrs. J. W. Zeissel, Mrs. R. G. Schumacher, and Mrs. Phil Homer, all of Munday; Mrs. C. J. to attend. All of their grandchildren and great grandchildren were present.

The scene for the occasion was in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Phil Homer. Attractive floral arrangements decorated the home. The centerpiece on the dining table was a four-tiered white cake trimmed with gold leaves and topped with the numeral "50" in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Michalik were married January 10, 1903, in Havelka, Czechoslovakia. They came to America on January 28, 1908, and settled near Wichita Falls, living there for eleven years. They then moved to Rhineland, where they have been since that time.

Vagabond Kings And H.-S. U. Team To Give Cage Show Here On Monday

An exhibition of basketball at its best will be given in the local gym next Monday night when the Vagabond Kings basketball team from Detroit and Dearborn, Mich., will make an appearance here.

The Kings will be engaged in a game with a top team from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, and the game promises to be a "basket ringer" from start to finish. Proceeds from the game will go to benefit the Munday athletic fund.

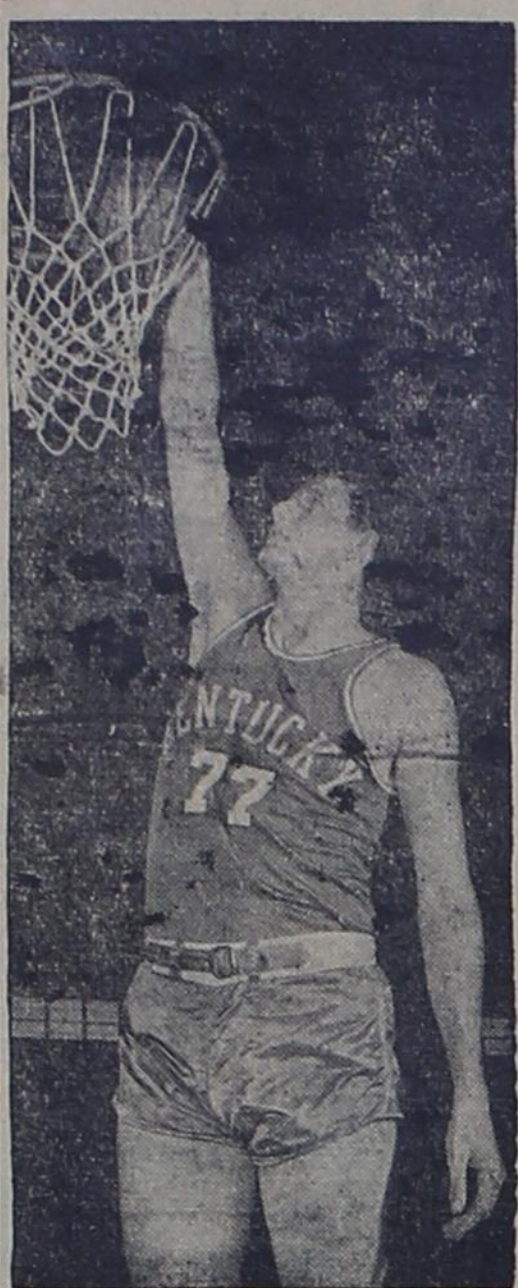

Paced by All-American Bill Spivey and his 31-point-per-game average, the Vagabond Kings are enjoying the best season of their six-year history.

"They make the doors too small," is a frequent complaint of Spivey, 7-foot center on the pro basketball team. The two-time all-American from Kentucky hit his head on a door sill one night at Ashland, Ohio, and was knocked out. He recovered in time to score 46 points in the game.

At the start of the season the Vagabond Kings had won 436 of 470 games; now the record from 1947 through 1952 reads 476 victories in 511 contests. The team was first organized by King Boring, one of the Midwest's foremost sportsmen, in 1947, with the idea that a high-class basketball team would provide entertainment and showmanship so would be in great demand. The team was able to schedule 100 games that season, won 93, and was asked back repeatedly in spots that it played. A record crowd of basketball fans is expected to come out for this exhibition game.

Religious Movie To Be Shown At Methodist Church

A religious movie entitled "Fire Upon the Earth," will be shown at the First Methodist Church in Munday on Sunday evening, February 22 at 7 o'clock.

"Fire Upon the Earth" keenly etches the highlights of the fascinating story of the fire of the Christian faith which swept from a tiny flame in Galilee until today it has covered the earth. The film traces the gigantic drama of 20 centuries of Christian movement as a continuing fellowship, a timeless institution rich in a great heritage.

Among the events and personalities portrayed are Pentecost; the conversion and work of Paul, Constantine's conversion; beginnings of the Roman bishopric; the Crusades, the work of Martin Luther, John Calvin and John Knox in the Reformation; the story of John Wesley; and the development of Protestantism in America.

"Fire Upon the Earth" accomplishes the miracle of condensing 20 centuries of church history into twenty-six minutes by combining realistic art in full color with incisive narration. Entirely non-denominational, the film was produced by Joseph De Fresno and Company for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education.

The general public is invited to see this film next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Kard

During this session of Congress, I expect to use this means of making weekly reports to you, thus giving a weekly summary of the happenings in Washington.

February 17 will mark the beginning of hearings on the "Tidelands" bills in Congress. Next Tuesday, the Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee headed by Congressman Louis Graham, of Pennsylvania, will begin the hearings and on the same date a Committee in the Senate will also start to work on bills dealing with the Tidelands. It is my hope that these hearings will be limited in their scope and will not consume a lot of time because of the fact that both the Senate and House Committees have, in times past, held extensive hearings and the facts concerning the Tidelands are generally well known to members of Congress. Extensive reports have been filed on these hearings which are available. It seems to me that long drawn out hearings in which a hundred or two hundred witnesses would be allowed to testify would make no real contribution at this time, but would only serve to further delay Congressional action. As I am sure you know, the Tidelands question has been before the Congress a number of times within the last six or seven years. On July 22, 1946, the Senate passed a so-called Tidelands bill by a vote of 44 to 34, and on July 27 of that year, the House indicated its approval of Tidelands, voting 188 to 67 in favor of the States. On July 30, 1951, the House again passed a bill favorable to State ownership of the Tidelands by a vote of 50 to 35. On May 15, 1952, the House again approved the principle of Seatt ownership of the tidelands by a vote of 247 to 89. Therefore, in view of the fact that this matter has so often been considered by Congress and extensive hearings have been held in years past, it is my hope that the Committees considering the Tidelands question will see that no great deal of time is consumed in hearings and that this legislation is reported favorably out of Committee so that Congress can act on it at an early date.

Whether or not the Tidelands will be returned to their rightful owners, the States, is one of the most important issues facing this Congress. To all Texans it will mean the return to our State the lands that are rightfully our and also favorable action by Congress will be just a victory for those who believe that the rights of the States are just as sacred as those of the Federal Government. I expect to do all in my power to see that this question is favorably settled at the earliest possible date.

So far this session, most of the time of Congress has been spent in getting organized. There was very little that could be done until after the inauguration and since that time, everyone has been busy getting their Committees organized and getting the working machinery set up so that Congress can go to work on legislative matters. The only legislation that has been acted on by Congress during this session was the continuation of the power of the President to reorganize the Executive branch of the government. However, the work of all the Committees should be in full swing by not later than the first of next week, and shortly thereafter, I know that we will begin to get reports of bills that have been acted upon favorably by the Committees and will require Congressional action. It is everybody's hope here that Congress can get down to work at an early date so that it can adjourn, or at least recess by mid-July.

If there are any specific matters that you would like for me to discuss in these reports, or if there is any particular information you would like to have me give in them, I would appreciate hearing from you.

Garden Tractor Helps Win 4-H Award for Georgia Girl

Winner of the 1952 gardening contest sponsored for 4-H Club members of Bibb County was young Lee Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Anderson, Route 2, Macon, Ga. Lee's garden was one of twenty-five planted and cared for by 4-H Club members and entered in the competition.

Lee's "silent partner" in her award-winning project was a three horsepower Simplicity M-1 garden tractor. Though she is rather slight as the picture testifies, Lee found it easy to handle the tractor with minimum effort, even to changing implements for various jobs such as plowing or cultivating.

With an investment of two dollars worth of seed and small batches of tomato, onion and cabbage plants, and her Simplicity, Lee won the first award—and had the distinction of contributing her prize-garden vegetables to the family dinner table as well.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

By Senator "Cotton" George Moffett

The Legislature has now reached the stage where numerous and often lengthy committee hearings are the order of the day. The Constitution requires that every bill must be referred to a suitable committee immediately after it is read the first time in each branch of the Legislature. Of course, many bills are non-contested and therefore the committee hearings are usually brief, and the bill is then reported favorably with the recommendation that it be printed and placed on the calendar for consideration and final vote by the full membership of the House in which it then reposes.

However, a committee hearing is usually held on most of the important bills, particularly if they fall into the contested class, such as taxation, oil and gas regulation, etc. A date is set for a public hearing, and frequently hundreds of people come to Austin to participate in these committee hearings. On one night during the past week more than 1,000 school teachers were here to attend a Senate committee hearing on a bill to increase teachers' salaries $600.00 per year on a state-wide basis. The following night a committee hearing was held on the optometry regulation bill which lasted well past midnight for a total duration of more than five hours. The night following that there was a five hour hearing on an insurance bill.

These hearings afford a reasonably good opportunity for all of the arguments for and against a bill to be developed. A member of the Legislature does not necessarily swallow everything that is said but the hearings do provide a better overall picture of the questions involved than can be secured in any other manner.

It is regrettable that our state is so large that many we desire to appear and be heard can not do so because of the time and distance involved in coming to the State Capitol. Three of the twelve counties in the district which I represent are larger than the state of Rhode Island. This clearly illustrates the difference in the process of passing laws in Texas and in a small state like Rhode Island or Delaware.

Mrs. Jim Choate of El Paso visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hannah, one day last week.

COTTON CULTURAL PRACTICES

Good crop cultural practices are very important to every farmer.

For the cotton farmer, good cultural methods are especially important for two reasons: (1) they help assure maximum production on the land, and (2) they aid in keeping insect infestation to a minimum. The second reason has special significance in view of the continued spread of the pink bollworm in Texas.

A previous article by Glenn Shelton, farm editor of the Wichita Falls Record News, pointed out the dangers of the pink bollworm. This insect can make cotton growing a losing proposition in Texas unless it is checked. Then what can we do?

The Texas Department of Agriculture, which sets and enforces cotton planting and plow-up controls in certain climatic areas is co-operating with Mexico on this problem. If the insect can be reduced in the country from when it spread to the United States, then a big part of the battle is won. The rest is up to farmers in Texas and other infested states, aided by agricultural officials.

A practical five-point cultural program is recommended by the Texas Department of Agriculture this year. The practices involved are meant not only for farmers in heavily-infested pink bollworm areas but all cotton farmers in the state. These practices are:

1. Use all known methods which tend to speed up maturity of the plant and harvest of the cotton. This involves planting the cotton as early as possible and planting fast fruiting varieties where it is practical. It is desirable to use only properly treated and culled high germination tested seed and to leave plants as thick in the drill as soil moisture content will allow. Fertilizers should be used when recommended. It is also especially desirable to protect the plants from early-season damage from the usual insects which would slow development of the plant and allow the pink bollworm to get a better hold.

2. When the cotton has been harvested, destroy the stalks immediately. Early stalk plow-up shortens the breeding cycle of

Good Start for a Good Day

The average American family shown above is illustrating how to avoid jangled nerves, lowered efficiency, lack of energy and dull wits.

They are doing it simply enough by eating a good breakfast. For, according to nutrition experts, all these symptoms can result if you skip or skimp breakfast.

Speaking to his board of governors, Curtis H. Scott, of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the American Bakers Association, recently related numerous findings on what happens when you start omitting the first meal of the day, or cutting it down to a minimum.

Studies have shown that people who omit breakfast lose efficiency around mid-morning. They make more mistakes in their work, slow up generally. Children show less response in school than do those who eat a complete breakfast.

Scott figured that a loss of ten minutes per day per person as a result of poor breakfast habits can account for 43,000 lost man hours per year in a company employing 1,000 persons, as one example of what can happen if breakfast habits are bad.

He quoted from a number of eminent authorities who emphasize that the human body cannot stay efficient if it does not receive food between the evening meal and lunch the next day.

He related a report from Dr. E. V. McCollum of John Hopkins University who notes that bodily stores are reduced during the night and if they are not replenished by adequate breakfast, weakness, irritability and reduced stamina result.

And what is a good breakfast? Nutritionists list fruit or juice, cereal, eggs and breakfast meat, toast and your usual morning beverage with milk preferred.

That kind of a breakfast provides a suitable proportion of the body's requirements for the day ahead in protein, calories, calcium, vitamins and minerals and other elements.

It makes a good start for a good day and can be a strong factor in building a healthier people for a healthier nation, the baking industry leader comments.

Urges Support Of Heart Fund

In a state-wide appeal for all Texans to support the current Texas Heart Fund, honorary chairman Governor Allan Shivers pointed out that diseases affecting the heart and circulatory system caused 763,000 deaths in a single year and have disabled millions of Americans, many of them Texans. In a specially prepared proclamation, Governor Shivers said, "These diseases are recognized as the most important medical problem affecting the life and health of citizens in this community and throughout the nation.

"The month of February is sponsored each year by the American Heart Association and its affiliates to focus public attention on the medical, social and economic aspects of this leading health problem, and to secure the fullest cooperation of the people, science, government, health agencies and social agencies, in devising means to combat this menace," the governor said.

Church Chimes To Signal Reminder Of World Prayer Day

Church chimes at noon Friday will be the signal for all the citizens of Munday to turn their minds to God in prayer as a part of the special observance of the World Day of Prayer. Following the striking of the hour by the chimes at the Methodist Church the chimes will play one hymn and a prayer will be offered over the tower loud speakers.

The Methodist Church Sanctuary will be open all day Friday and individuals are invited to come in for a period of quiet worship. Music will be played from 12 to 1 o'clock.
