THE TWO PURPOSES OF ADVERTISING

Advertising can, and should serve two major purposes.

The most obvious is to sell a concern's goods or services, whatever they may be. This is essential and traditional.

But there can be more, much more—and that is advertising designed to instill faith in the system which makes it possible to produce, advertise and sell goods and services, in a climate of freedom. The "climate" is the foundation for successful production and sales.

The Freedoms Foundation each year awards its George Washington Honor Medal—which is its top award—to an enterprise conducting a local advertising campaign furthering the cause of freedom.

The 1962 Medal went to the Florida Power & Light Company, which also won it in 1955. That made this utility the first two-time winner of the Foundation's highest award.

The 1962 advertising which won the honor pointed out the importance of maintaining the basic rights and privileges of our citizens. "Each ad in the series depicted a different phase of the American way of life—freedom of speech, the right to vote and many others—asking on each, 'Are we letting it fade away?'"

An officer of the company has said: "We have tried through advertising to awaken citizens to the value of our rights and freedoms . . ." What finer purpose can advertising serve?

NOTHING IS STATIC

In nature, nothing is static. Tides ebb and flow. Weather systems pulse across the land and the Cycle of life moves on as inexorably as the stars traverse the heavens each night.

In the affairs of men and nations the story is the same—constant movement either forward or backward. The neutral lives by sufferance.

One of the healthiest signs of the times in this country is the growing trend to participate actively in public affairs. It is especially gratifying to find that corporations are encouraging this trend; after all corporations are people too. And in the words of a brief policy statement by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, "Corporations are involved in public affairs because so many laws and regulations influence the future growth and prospects of every business. Governmental action and policy have become closely interwoven with business operations. This makes it necessary for companies to speak up on important public questions which affect their operations and the interests of employees, investors and customers."

If all businesses and individuals adopt this attitude there will never be a vacuum of neutrality for dedicated communists or socialists to fill in the United States.

—SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE TIMES—

SUNDAY SCHOOL WEEK

This year's observance of Sunday School Week—April 8 thru 14—carries a special significance. We live, for one thing, in an intensely materialistic age, in which tens of millions of us are almost literally buried in a sea of goods and services whose result is more leisure, more money, less work. More immediately, we live in a world of discord and revolution, where no man knows what tomorrow may bring. In such a world of distractions spiritual values, on which everything worthwhile and lasting must rest, are of crucial importance in lending strength and stability to each of us in recognizing and attaining worthwhile goals in life.

In Sunday School children can find some of the essential foundation blocks on which to build a future for themselves and for the world. It is the place where the child can find his start in religious experience, and begin to learn of its wonders, whatever the church or creed of his allegiance. He will be a better adult because of it.

Of all the many Weeks that are observed each year, none is more deserving of recognition, observance, and success.

WYOMING MAKES 20

Last February 6 Wyoming passed a Right-to-Work bill. The margin was substantial—33 to 23 in the House and 16 to 11 in the Senate. And this was accomplished in the face of the most aggressive sort of opposition.

Wyoming's act makes it the 20th state to forbid compulsory unionism. The principle of Right-to-Work, aside from differences of detail in the various state laws, is plain. Neither union nor employer can demand that a worker either join or not join a union. The decision is entirely up to him.

Right-to-Work is thus a force—and a highly important force—on the side of individual freedom. Then, beyond that, it is a force in favor of better, more responsible, labor organizations. A union which must sell itself on the basis of worth and service is a very different sort of union than one which can compel people to join and pay dues, whether they want to or not, or go jobless.

Wyoming's action—like that of the 19 other states which preceded it in passing Right-to-Work laws—is in perfect consonance with the needs and the public sentiment of these times.

Last year Americans, through local, state and federal governments, spent $2.5 billion on mental health. A population nearly the size of Detroit's occupied our mental hospitals. Yet, says an American Medical Association bulletin, most mental patients don't belong in such institutions. According to modern psychiatric thought, they belong in their own community—at home—not miles away.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

GOREE, TEXAS

Ask Your Preacher:

If one can be saved without faith, why are we told it is impossible to please God without it? (Heb. 11:6.)

If God promised to give faith when we ask for it, why are we told in the scriptures that faith comes from hearing the word of God? (Rom. 10:17.)

If "faith only is a most wholesome doctrine and very full of comfort," why did James say that we are NOT justified by faith only? (Ja. 2:24.)

If God has promised to save men regardless of the kind of faith they might have, why did Paul make it so plain that there is ONE FAITH? (Eph. 4:5.)

If one become a Christian the very moment he believes, as many teach, why was not King Agrippa a Christian? (Acts 26:27-28). Why were the devils who believed and trembled not Christians? (Ja. 2:19.)

If one can be saved without wholehearted obedience to the Lord, why did Paul say, "obey from the heart"? (Rom. 6:17.)

If the Lord has promised to save us without baptism, as many teach, why did Peter say "Baptism doth also now save us"? (1 Pet. 3:21.)

If scriptural baptism is not a burial, why did Paul say it was? (Col. 2:12; Rom. 6:3-5.)

If we receive the remission of sins without baptism why did Peter say that baptism was for the remission of sins? (Acts 2:38; 22:16.)

If one can get into Christ without baptism, why did Paul say that we are baptised into Christ? (Rom. 6:3; Gal. 3:27.)

Auto Inspection Deadline Nears

AUSTIN—The Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety today reminded the 1,300,000 motor vehicle owners who haven't secured their 1963 inspection stickers that they only have three weeks to do so. Col. Homer Garrison, Jr. said that as the April 15 deadline for inspections approaches, waiting lines will begin forming at the 5,000 official inspection stations. "Under the law there can be no extension of the deadline, and motorists who fail to display the new sticker on and after April 16 are subject to arrest," he said.

Authority for the enforcement of the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Act is vested in law enforcement officers of the Texas Department of Public Safety, any sheriff or deputy sheriff and any city policeman.

Garrison pointed out that in the three remaining weeks of the inspection period, there is sufficient time for the remaining vehicles to be inspected without inconvenience provided the owners act promptly.

"We are very well pleased," he said, "with the contribution that the vehicle inspection program has made toward reducing accidents on our streets and highways. We hope that through the continued cooperation of the people of Texas, these accidents can be further reduced."

Methodist W. S. C. S. Is Completing Study

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church will have a luncheon on Tuesday, April 2. The occasion is the conclusion of the spring Bible study on "Dimensions of Prayer."

The study is being taught by Mrs. Rex L. Mauldin and Mrs. J. H. Bardwell, and has been meeting for the past three weeks. Next Tuesday's meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon, and will be followed by a brief business meeting. All ladies of the church are invited to be present.

Tidwell's Science Students Are Tops

Two students of Kelton Tidwell, professor of chemistry at Webb School at Bell Buckle, Tenn., have won special honors for their achievements in science and research.

William E. Gallagher was one of the top 36 students in the annual science talent research. His project was titled "The Relation Between Metabolism, Ingestion and Thyroxin." In 1961 he was first place winner in biology at the Bedford County Science Fair in Shelbyville.

The other student is Brevard Haynes of Murfreesboro, a Webb school student who won the grand awards in a recent Middle Tennessee Science and Engineering Fair with an exhibit demonstrating the effect of ultra-violet radiation on the growth of paramcium.

Tidwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Tidwell of Munday.

Business Restrictions

HOUSTON, Tex.—In his recently released 1962 annual report to management A. G. McNeese, Jr., President of Bank of the South-west, Houston, made some timely comments on our government's role in affecting the lives of its citizens. Mr. McNeese stated:

"There is a dedication among some government policy-makers—local, state, and national—perhaps sincere but nonetheless un-economic, to direct the lives and fortunes of individual Americans far beyond authorized limits."

"As a consequence, a giant share of the profits generated by your investment in this—or any other—corporation is absorbed through taxation. You are aware of many of these taxes; you are not aware of a great many more which seriously deplete your profits. Further, and even less recognized, is the rapidly increasing depletion of net profits occasioned by enormous bookkeeping and other costs which must be sustained to meet government requirements."

"Regrettably, these expenses necessarily rise in proportion to the success of our operations. As your Bank grows, the number of qualified employees must grow also. For example, effective January 1, 1963, your corporation was required to start paying to the government, from net profits, an additional amount equal to one-half of one per cent—or a total of 3 1/2 per cent—of every $4,800 in payroll."

"This means, of course, that for every $4,800 or higher salary paid in 1963, your net profit will be reduced by $24. Similarly, each employee in this pay range will take home $24 less wages. This amount equals the current dividend paid to you on 13.33 shares of Bank stock. For the employee, it equals the premium on a sizable amount of life insurance."

"At these staggering rates, one might assume a thoroughly solvent reserve from which adequate old-age benefits are to be paid. In fact, unlike procedures demanded of private insurance companies by laws of both man and economics, the Social Security agency has mushroomed without economic restrictions and faces deficits in the tens of millions of dollars."

"It is ironic that much of our profit must be paid to finance the increased regulations under which we perform our operations. There is consequently a usurpation of the judgment and evaluation rights of private business managers just as other high-cost government programs supersede your rights and powers of self-government.

"On this subject, all businessmen now face the harshest and most unduly penetrating interference with business conduct in the history of our nation. Unrealistic limits and qualifications are set arbitrarily by the Internal Revenue Service on what and how much a businessman may spend in the conduct of his business. Moreover, the accounting and bookkeeping involved in meeting the new IRS regulations may well spell the difference between profit and loss for small-margin firms."

"Of even more direct concern to you, the stockholder, is the tightening of tax collections from corporate dividend payments. Every publicly-owned corporation in America must report in detail all dividends of $10 or more paid to all stockholders. This is despite the fact that stockholders are required by law to report such dividends and are subject to prosecution for failure to do so. The costs of accounting, bookkeeping, printing, records-keeping, added equipment and space, and postage involved in this new regulation are monumental. Yet, since they benefit no one, since they take from rather than contribute to productivity, these costs represent a net loss to every stockholder."

"In short, many Americans may conclude that it costs more than it is worth to invest in business. Rather than increasing tax revenues by closing so-called loopholes, the total revenues more probably will decrease—advancing still further the monumental national debt."

"Unless you, as a taxpayer, citizen, parent, and stockholder, exert your intellect and your energy to develop sound government policies through rational, effective political activity, you may find precious few profits returning from your corporate and business investments."

"Too many of us seem to have forgotten that you and I and our neighbors compose the government of the United States. Those who write, adjudicate, and execute the laws governing our lives and fortunes are our servants, not our masters. To preserve this relationship, we will do well to select these servants with careful evaluation of their abilities to serve us loyally and capably—and to dismiss those whose performance does not meet reasonable standards of competence and integrity."

Property Should Be Rendered To Tax Authorities

April 1 and May 1 are important deadlines for Texans to render their property to various taxing agencies. State laws require all real and personal property to be rendered for taxes on or before prescribed dates. Those who fail to comply can blame only themselves for the money loss they may consequently suffer.

Some Texas cities set their own tax deadlines. These are the cities of more than 5,000 population which have incorporated under the "Home Rule" provisions of our statutes. All other cities are governed by the general laws of Texas.

In towns operating under the general laws property must be rendered for taxes between January 1 and April 1 each year. A number of home rule cities set up the same requirements in their ordinances, while others prescribe different periods.

For state and county tax purposes, property must be rendered to the County Tax Assessor by April 30, and homestead exemptions must be claimed by the same time.

In some localities a third taxing unit is involved—the independent school district. In other places school taxes are collected by the city or county. In addition, some localities have water, irrigation, or levee districts which assess and collect taxes. Make inquiry as to where these various taxes are assessed, and as to applicable deadlines for rendition.

What property must be rendered for taxes? If Texas laws were strictly enforced, we would be required to render to all taxing units nearly every piece of real and personal property which we own, down to the very clothing on our backs. An exception is the constitutional exemption of $250 worth of household furniture. However, no taxing unit carries its requirements this far, and it will be necessary to inquire of each tax assessor when rendering your property whether specific types of property are ordinarily rendered in that locality. Some cities and counties collect ad valorem taxes on automobiles, television sets and other personal items, while others ignore practically all personal property. Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

If property is not rendered by the tax payer, it may then be placed upon the unrendered tax roll, and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair. One advantage of rendering your property is that you can set your own valuation. Then, if the county or city decides a higher valuation is in order you will be given an opportunity to appear before a board to explain why the higher figure should not be used in computing your taxes.

Thereafter, an appeal to the courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency or board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property

Farm Facts

Corn has hundreds of uses.

In a good year, the corn crop totals about 4 billion bushels or more. About 85% of it is fed to hogs, beef cattle, and poultry.

There are literally hundreds of uses for the remaining 15% of the corn crop. The "dry milling" industry, for instance, makes corn meal, hominy, and breakfast foods of many kinds.

Feed manufacturers take a lot of this 15% of the corn crop and put it into concentrated rations for livestock and poultry. Distillers turn their share into alcohol.

Corn refiners grind about 150 million bushels of corn a year and make starch, syrup, sugar, oil, and feeds.

Starch is one of the most important by-products of corn. According to the Corn Industries Research Foundation, about 8% of the average year's output of corn starch goes to U.S. consumers for food and laundry use.

Papermaking consumes about 23 pounds of corn starch per ton. Processing of a bale of cotton into textiles accounts for an average use of 35 pounds. Starch also is used in foundry molds, "oil well mud," asbestos board, cosmetics, insect powders, soaps, cleaners, match heads, and aspirin.

a valuation higher than that placed on comparable property owned by others. If you do not render, the valuation set by the taxing agency is final.

Remember these facts: You may need to render your property at three or more different tax offices. Ask each tax assessor if in doubt concerning the deadline or the rendering of specific personal items.

YOUR FAIR SHARE...

Most Texans, we believe, are fair-minded folks. They believe in fair play, square dealing, and mutual respect for personal and property rights. Those who want to take advantage of their neighbors are the exception. Sometimes it may be hard to define "a fair share." This can occur in dividing oil or gas production, when two or more landowners are involved. As we all know, oil and gas don't pay any attention to fence lines. Here in Texas many wells have been allowed to produce more oil or gas than they should have because they were drilled on very small tracts. That extra oil or gas came from under the neighbors' land. Some oilmen made a regular practice of this type of operation. Obviously, one owner got more than his fair share—others, less. People in 26 out of 29 oil-producing states have found a way to divide their oil and gas so that each owner gets what is rightfully his. They simply put their small acreage together and share the costs and income. This system is known as POOLING. Such a system is needed in Texas. It is proposed in a bill now before the Legislature, HOUSE BILL 510. When the neighbors cannot agree, the Railroad Commission would set up a drilling block and see to it that the rights of all owners are protected... all costs and proceeds equitably divided. Oilmen who have made fortunes at the expense of others could not be expected to support House Bill 510. They are bitterly opposing it. But the responsible oilmen of Texas are overwhelmingly for it. So are the informed citizens who want to see justice done. Ask your Senator and Representative at Austin to support House Bill 510—so Texas, too will have a reasonable and legal way to assure to each landowner his FAIR SHARE. North of Rhineland. Contestants must furnish their own rifles and ammunition. Rifles must be brought to the contests with bolts open and kept open except when on the firing line. The 4-H tractor contest will be held the same morning at 10:30 a.m. at Knox Prairie Seed in Munday. The method demonstration contest will be at 1:30 in the lunchroom of the Munday Grade School.

Demonstrations using plastic Mulch for the growing of vegetables will be conducted by Herb Partridge and James Smith this year. Herb used this method last year and it showed great promise until wiped out by hail. The black polyethylene film is rolled out and covered in one operation by a machine hooked to a tractor. The film then serves as a mulch and holds the soil moisture in while completely stopping the weed growth. The cost is prohibitive except on a high income potential crop such as vegetables. Herb was harvesting squash from plants in plastic nine days ahead of the check plot on bare ground.

Are you making plans to enter the Knox County Vegetable Festival. There will be divisions for Fresh Vegetables, Fresh Fruit, Canned Foods, Baked Foods and Flowers. It will be held Saturday, June 22 in Munday.

Leptospirosis, commonly known as "lepto," is a disease which livestock producers should watch for during this season. It causes losses of more than a $100 million to cattle owners annually in the nation. Swine, sheep and horse losses add more millions to the total and humans are susceptible. Lepto now exists on farms in every part of the state and because it can cause abortions, is often confused with brucellosis. The peak danger period is at hand since most cases occur during the following warm, wet weather. In areas of slow moving streams or swampy and low-lying pastures, stockmen should be especially alert. "Carrier" animals can contaminate such areas and spread the disease to other animals on the farm or to those on farms downstream.

In cattle, lepto can cause a death rate of up to 10 percent, in calves up to 25 percent, in addition to abortions and sharp drop in milk production. It is hard to diagnose in mature cattle. In addition to abortions and a drop in milk output it may cause the milk to become thick, yellow and blood-tinged. Calves may become depressed, lose appetite and develop diarrhea. Symptoms in swine may be overlooked because they are not as apparent as in cattle.

Because of the chance of confusing it with something else, a veterinarian should be called when symptoms appear in any animals. He may have to resort to rather complex laboratory tests to identify the cause of the trouble. If the diagnosis is positive, the veterinarian will make recommendations for handling the situation. Vaccines are available for cattle and swine but must be properly used to provide protection.

Cattle and Calves
U. S. totals of all cattle and calves and ranches as of January 1, 1963, reached a record 103,754,000 head, up 4% from a year earlier.

Here in Texas, our numbers were estimated at 10,240,000 head, or about 6% more than last year. This is also a new record high count for the state.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

AUSTIN—Texas will meet the 1963 tornado season with one of the world's most complete storm warning systems, and with a well-oiled public health relief organization.

Radar storm warning sets are in operation in 15 of the state's 18 first-order weather bureaus. All state highway patrolmen have been carefully schooled in the wily ways of the weather and are keeping a sharp eye on the sky as they patrol their sectors.

Texas' "local severe weather warning system," the first of its kind established anywhere in the world, is made up of sets operating around the clock in Amarillo, Abilene, Austin, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Galveston, Fort Worth, Houston, Port Arthur, San Angelo, San Antonio, Victoria, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Of the first-order weather stations which cover all sections of Texas, only El Paso, Laredo and Del Rio do not have radar storm warning sets as part of their regular equipment inventory.

All stations are connected by teletype and radio. Any station is able to instantly appraise all other stations of a tornado traveling in their direction. When such a storm warning is given, the weather bureau in its line of approach immediately notifies all communities in the area via commercial radio and television station bulletins.

The radar sets are owned by the Weather Bureau, having been supplied from U. S. Government surplus stocks, but the cities concerned paid installation costs.

Louisiana and Oklahoma are cooperating in the southwestern warning network by operating networks of their own. The Texas network is larger, however, by virtue of the area to be covered.

State Health Commissioner Dr. J. E. Peavy says the State Department of Health and local health departments stand ready at all times to provide public health know-how to stem health threats occasioned by weather.

Meanwhile, these precautions are still valid if and when a tornado is sighted:

Cut off gas and water before it strikes. Open windows on the north and east side of the house. If possible, take shelter in a storm cellar or cave. If this is impractical, sit down on the lowest floor of a strongly reinforced building, or against the southwest corner of a house. Stay away from windows.

In open country, move away at right angles to the path of the storm. If there is no time to escape lie flat in a ditch or depression to avoid flying debris.

Miss Gwen Groves of Snyder visited her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Matthews and children, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harpham visited Mr. and Mrs. Vestel Daughtry in Quanah last Sunday.
