*Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor*

We had a right enjoyable trip Saturday.
k-k
It was to Canadian to attend a meeting of Panhandle Press Association members for making initial plans for a program, come convention time next April.
k-k
We drove to Quanah on Friday evening and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers, the wife's sister and husband. The Mrs. decided to remain there for a visit while we continued the trip to the little city up on the Canadian river.
k-k
We were joined in Quanah by our friend and contemporary, Ed Eakin, editor of the Quanah Tribune-Chief, and his son, Mike, who is as football minded as any youngster and appeared to be a greater Baylor fan than his ex-student father.
k-k
We drove almost ten miles from the Rogers home into Quanah in a dense fog, the type like we heard we had in this area, then left out with the fog not much better. It continued on north of Childress to about two miles north of Red River; then, as if driving out of a thundershower, we topped a hill and came into the bright sunlight, leaving the fog behind.
k-k
Stopped in Wellington for a coffee break (yes, even motorists stop for coffee breaks) with another publisher, Deskins Wells of the Wellington Leader. During the brief stop in Wellington, we saw several friends of high school days—and that's nigh onto 40 years ago.
k-k
After passing through Shamrock, north of Wellington, and on north, we began to run into some beautiful country, especially for this time of year. It wasn't beautiful from an agricultural standpoint, for it was mostly rough ranching country, but from a scenic viewpoint.
k-k
The leaves had not yet fallen, but had turned into the lovely colors of nature, as they do in Indian summer days. The leaves of the large cottonwoods along the rivers and tributaries had turned into a bright yellow, some smaller shinnery-type bushes were deep red, and somewhere in the scenic panorama one could find almost every color in the rainbow.
k-k
The rivers, of course, were typical West Texas rivers—like our own Brazos and Wichita—practically dry, except for a small stream you can almost step across at any point.
k-k
After driving along for several miles thinking, "This is a cattle country, but where the heck are the cattle?" you finally drive across some hunting some green vegetation among the dry grass, or just lazily lolling around the hillside.
k-k
We arrived at our destination at 10:20 a.m., 10 minutes ahead of the set meeting time. We found other editors, including Harold Hudson of Perryton, Bob Hembree of Dumas and Hop Graham of Farwell ready to do business with us and the association's secretary, Ben Ezzell of the Canadian Record, who was our host.
k-k
After about two hours of discussion, we concluded our business, and all assembled in the lovely Ezzell home, where Mrs. Ezzell had prepared a wonderfully appetizing meal for us. When we expressed surprise at them having the entire group in their home, Mrs. Ezzell said she'd rather serve us in the home than at a cafe—and who wouldn't rather eat a home-cooked meal?
k-k
The Baylor-Texas football game was under way before we started the homeward trek. Time passes more quickly when driving along listening to a football game, especially if it is one as interesting and such a defensive battle as this one.
k-k
With the score 0 to 0 at the half, Mike Eakin held out high hopes for those Baylor Bears, saying they had come from behind in the past several games to win. He had hopes of the Bears being in the Cotton Bowl on January 1.
k-k
His hopes did not diminish very much until the final moments of the game—then he began to feel as low as we Mogul fans did Friday night. His daddy consoled him with: "Oh, well, the Quanah Indians won last night. After all, we can't win them all."

County Voters Favor Poll Tax

A total of 598 voters in Knox County cast their ballots on the constitutional amendments last Saturday. They rejected two amendments and favored two.
Voters of the county favored keeping the poll tax as a requirement for voting eligibility, as did those over the state. A total of 181 votes were cast in favor of abolishing the poll tax, while 417 were against it.
The county vote on the other amendments was as follows: No. 2, welfare funds: 381 for to 187 against; No. 3, Jefferson county pensions, 154 for to 281 against; No. 4, veterans' land funds, 313 for to 219 against.
Final tabulations of the Texas Election Bureau last Sunday showed the state-wide vote as follows:
Abolishing poll tax, 237,524 for, 303,673 against.
Welfare payments, approval 301,312; against 177,525.
Jefferson County pensions, approval 199,865; against 234,777.
Veterans land fund, approval 240,944; against 249,104.
It was reported that only 25 of Texas' 254 counties favored abolishment of the poll tax.

Special Program Is Slated Sunday At Church Of Christ

James R. Wilburn, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair of Midwestern University, will be in charge of a special program to be presented next Sunday evening, November 17, at the regular Sunday evening worship of the Munday Church of Christ, at 6:00 p.m. A group of ten to twelve college students will make the trip with Mr. Wilburn, and several will have part in the program.
At least two of the young men will deliver short messages, one will read a scripture, one will lead prayer, and another will direct the singing.
Every one is invited to the program, but a special invitation is issued to all who plan to attend college at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls.
Richard Pectol, minister for the Munday Church of Christ, also announces that the Vocation Bible School for 1964 will be conducted June 1-5.

SOLVING PROBLEM—Eddie Littlefield, drum major; Marita Masingill, head majorette, and Kenneth Smith, band president, try to decide where to put the newest addition to the Munday Mogul Band's already crowded trophy case. The trophy was won in a recent contest at Quanah.

Munday Moguls Are Toppled By Archer City Wildcats 27 to 6 Friday Night

The rugged inside-outside combination of the visiting Archer City Wildcats staggered the District 11-A hopes of the Munday Moguls last Friday night with a 27 to 6 victory over the local boys.
The Wildcats relied heavily on the pile-driving line plunges of Barber Oliver, 180 pound back, and the flashy sweeps of half-back Mike Stewart, who combined for 20 of the Archer City points.
When Lewis Flores, Munday's powerful fullback was injured early in the game and was relegated to the sidelines, the Moguls had to rely principally on their flashy Pete Alcalá, who scored the only Mogul touchdown on a 14-yard end run. Alcalá carried the ball on every running play in the second half and was the game's leading rusher with 129 yards on 27 tries. He was exhausted after making the touchdown.
The Wildcats scored the first time they got the ball after the opening kickoff. Munday had driven down to the Archer City 29 — the deepest Munday penetration in the first half — only to have the ball go over on downs.
Immediately Oliver & Co. started eating up large chunks of yards up the middle.
On 14 plays and six first downs the Wildcats found themselves on the Mogul 4, where Oliver plunged over right guard on first down for the initial score with 1:20 left in the first quarter. An extra point kick by end Barry Morrison was blocked by Munday center Jackie Booe.
The Wildcats had gambled on the play previous to the touchdown. On fourth down Oliver had plunged five yards for a first down to give Archer City its scoring chance.
Bad Luck
After the ensuing kickoff, the Moguls ran into some bad luck. Two Munday drives were stymied by fumbles and another ended when a pass by Alcalá was intercepted by Stewart.
Wildcat tackle John Rutherford recovered both fumbles, the second setting up the second Archer City score.
After the recovery on the Mogul 39, the Wildcats were kept to one yard on two plays. Then on third down, Stewart got a double reverse handoff and started around left end. He was knocked about twice but stayed on his feet and scampered 38 yards into the end zone. A pass from quarterback Donny Linscott to Stewart was good for the two points. The tally came with 48 seconds left in the first half.
The Moguls came back after the half with renewed "vigah." (As Mr. Kennedy would put it.)
Wildcats Punt
The Wildcats were forced to punt three downs after they received the kickoff and Munday took over on its own 30. Then Alcalá went to work. He carried the ball for 12 straight plays and moved it to the Wildcat 14 after four first downs. His longest of these was a 15-yard dash around left end.
Then, on the 14, he tried the other end and found a path into the end zone with 3:35 left in the third quarter. A run for the two points failed.
Then after an exchange of downs, the Wildcats took over on their own 35. Stewart and half-back Gary Tepler moved then in four downs up the middle to the Munday 39.
Linscott then ran an option play to perfection around his left end and went in virtually untouched for the third Archer City score with 10:30 left in the game. Morrison's kick was good.
Last Drive
Munday could do no good after the kickoff and had to punt. Archer City then started its last scoring drive from its own 33.
Oliver blasted down the middle on four plays to the Mogul 42. Four short gainers moved the ball to the 31 where Stewart raced around end for 21 yards.
It then took Oliver three line plunges to take the ball in. He scored from one yard out with 2:54 left in the game. Morrison's kick failed.
Oliver was the second best rusher with 108 yards on 25 carries. Stewart had 80 yards on 10 carries and Linscott 80 yards in seven tries.

Mogul-Eagle Game Set Thursday Night

Officials announced Monday that the Munday Mogul and Chillicothe Eagle football game will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night, instead of Friday night. The game will be at Chillicothe.
The change in date was made so fans of this area might attend the Henrietta-Archer City game, which will decide the district champion, at Archer City on Friday night. Both these teams are undefeated in district play.

Post Office Helps County Livestock

Beginning November 15, rural mail carriers from the Munday post office started leaving livestock survey cards along their routes. The cards are distributed at random.
"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster Chan Hughes explained. "The random distribution means that not every box will get a card. For this reason it is important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out, so the USDA can get a true sample of the state's livestock holdings."
Carriers assisting with the survey are: W. A. Spelce, route one, and R. R. Guess, route two.
Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and national pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.
Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas crop and livestock reporting service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio and television.

YOUR BLOOD IS NEEDED

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," says an old English proverb that dates back at least to the 16th century. We are reminded of this by a line in an announcement of the recent meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks.

This valuable organization of hospital and community blood banks is an outgrowth, remarkably enough, of the terrible Texas City disaster in 1947. The banks which cooperated to save lives after the ship explosion there left the need for continual cooperation and formed an organization. It now has 3,800 members in every state and 25 foreign countries.

It has established standards for blood banks, a national clearing house system, regional reference laboratories, and a central file of rare donors. The workings of the last two often save lives dramatically by turning up rare blood types in emergencies.

The life of a woman in Wichita Falls, Texas, for example, was recently saved by blood flown to donors. Blood from Memphis, Tenn., similarly saved a woman in Jersey City.

Since 1961, the Association and the American Red Cross have cooperated to permit local donation of blood for credit to friends or relatives anywhere in the country. But it all still depends on the human blood donor. So far, there is no other source. If you are between 21 and 60 and in good health you should give blood regularly to your local blood bank or collection center.

THANKSGIVING DAY

"Dear the people coming home,
Dear glad faces long away,
Dear the merry cries, and dear
All the glad and happy play,
Dear the thanks, too, that we give
For all of this, Thanksgiving Day."

This simple verse was written many years ago by Harriet Prescott Spofford. It tells of the traditional Thanksgiving our grandfathers knew, and that Currier and Ives immortalized in engravings. It was, of course, a day of rest and feasting. But it was more, much more—a day of prayer in which gratitude was offered for the good things of the past, and hope was held out for the future. And it was a day of affirmation in the existence of a higher power than man, and of faith in the workings of a divine providence.

We live now in an infinitely more complicated time. A sophistication of dubious quality has obscured many values. Materialistic advances of almost incredible dimension have dulled the needs and wants of the spirit. And we live, too, in a world so torn with dissension, covering every aspect of human affairs, that, to many, the real relevance of Thanksgiving has been largely lost—the eternal is buried under the pressures of the moment. We have the feast—without remembering and pondering, the reason for the feast.

Perhaps this all may change. Perhaps this Thanksgiving Day, great numbers of us will observe it in the spirit of our forefathers. If so, it will truly be a day of thanks for the blessings of the past, broken with troubles as they may have been—and a day in which we will find new courage to meet whatever is to come. Then, above all, it will be a day in which we realize deeply another thing our forefathers knew—that, under God, each individual human being owes an everlasting debt of duty and responsibility to his family and his neighbors, and that no institution and no government can discharge it for him.

A GOOD CITIZEN SPEAKS

The President of Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, attacked federal aid for higher education and said his school has rejected more than $3 million in federal funds in the last five years. He told a summer commencement audience: "Easy federal money will encourage the inefficient management and shocking lack of utilization of our existing educational facilities and buildings The federal control of higher education, which would accompany and follow federal grants would be unwise and dangerous"

BENTON, MO., DEMOCRAT: "The last session of Congress did an indefensible thing when (it) passed the Postal Service bill and gave a special nonprofit mail rate (to) the electric cooperatives. These rates are about ¼ the regular second-class mail charges—charges which were increased for other kinds of publications and mail users. . . . So now the co-ops spread their gospel of socialism far and wide at a fraction of the cost that the rest of us users of the mails must pay!"

PORTLAND, ORE., JOURNAL OF COMMERCE: "Twenty-four million bushels of grain would more than fill all the space in the hulls of liners Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, France and United States. It would seem to be impossible to lose 24 million bushels of grain, but the government did it. And now the Agriculture Department assures us that it doesn't matter, anyhow."

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "History is filled with the abysmal failures of dictators who resorted to the overthrow of law as a cure-all for social ills. That's not for us. The law, in America, not only must remain supreme; it must be kept abreast of the ever-changing times lest democracy be outdistanced by less responsible systems."

ODESSA, WASH., RECORD: "How many of us realize the vast returns we get from helping develop a strong community? Communities flourish because the people living there keep faith. People have not hesitated to make their initial investments. They invest in a home, in a business, in friendships, in living conditions. There are those who are short sighted and fail to see that a community needs keeping up just as surely as does a home."

"In order to discover anything, one must be looking for something," states Dr. Harvey A. Neville, president of Lehigh University. He calls this his first Law of Serendipity—serendipity being "the happy faculty of making discoveries one is not in search of." Thus, Columbus discovered America; Roentgen, the X-rays; Goodyear, the vulcanization of rubber; and Madame Curie, radium.

TEEPEE PUTS THE INDIAN SIGN ON BACKYARD STORAGE PROBLEM

HERE'S A SOLUTION to backyard storage woes. An A-frame "teepee" can be constructed rather simply by a home handyman with a wooden frame and rigid vinyl building panels.

An A-frame "teepee" can put the Indian sign on backyard storage problems such as where to put the garden hose, lawn-mower or papoose's playthings.

"A teepee" can be a relatively easy do-it-yourself project and it will get plenty of use during the long months ahead," says Sheldon Cady, manager of architectural services for Allied Chemical's Barrett Division.

Backyard storage can be a continuing problem, he explains, because it seems there always is lawn furniture to put away as well as garden rakes, tools, barbecue grilles, snow shovels, etc.

"If storing them entails a trip to the basement every time you want to use them, then a backyard shelter can help speed up your work and make it considerably less difficult," says Cady.

He also claims such a shelter is an ideal place to store croquet, badminton, paddle tennis, golf, fishing and other outdoor sports equipment that is becoming more and more prevalent in the American household.

Cady offers a few simple suggestions about constructing a "teepee" type shelter:

1. Plan it so that it can be built with materials that come in standard sizes. A shelter eight feet long, with walls 10 feet from the ground to the ridge pole, can be constructed easiest with two four-by-ten foot rigid vinyl building panels per side.

2. Framing of two-by-four and one-by-four inch studs should make it sturdy enough to withstand all normal use. Redwood framing can add a colorful touch.

3. The end sections should be A-frames of two-by-four inch studs and finished with either vinyl panels or pre-cut hard-board sections. A framed door may be built into one end. One-by-four inch planks may be cut to shape, nailed together and covered with hardboard to provide sturdy doors.

4. An ordinary hasp and pin or bolt lock will help keep the door in place. A padlock may also be used.

5. A floor of plywood may be raised off the ground by laying it over two-by-four inch studs but it should be reinforced to prevent sagging.

"If vinyl panels are used for the sides, the wood frame can be painted to match the colors of the house or garage or the panels which come in a wide range of colors.

"Ventilation should be provided at the top, near the ridge roll, or by louvers near the apex of the A-frame ends," he adds.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

Texas And The European Common Market

Two weeks of conferences with European Common Market officials resulted in some disturbing conclusions, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

"I think we are going to have to scratch and fight to keep the markets we have," said White. "If we don't, we may end up on the economic defensive."

Commissioner White and three agricultural economists from Texas attended a series of conferences in Europe during September. Their original mission, requested by Governor John Connally, was to inquire into future prospects of the 15-million dollar poultry market between Texas and EEC countries. It quickly became apparent that more was involved than just poultry.

One-fourth of Texas' total agricultural output goes into export markets and 60 to 70 per cent of this amount goes to the Common Market. European officials were firm in their requests for "quality" instead of "quantity" for today's purchases.

"The European Common Market men tell us we have a split personality in this regard," said White. "That is, we have high standards for commodities we use ourselves but will try to sell our off grades overseas."

"We won't be able to do this much longer. We cannot expect to be just order-takers in the future. We have to expect to compete on a quality basis," Commissioner White said Eu-

Intensive Improvement Plans On Farm To Market Roads Aimed For Safety

AUSTIN—The Texas Highway Commission today announced approval of an $18,144,500 program to improve the safety factor and protect the state's investment on 3,056 miles of farm to market roads.

The action spotlights one of the most extensive farm to market construction and improvement programs in many years. At the same time it emphasizes the Commission's concern with reducing driving hazards in the farm to market road complex as well as on multi-lane arterial systems.

Although the dollar value of the program is not greatly in excess of the $18 million-plus spent a year ago, more of the funds allocated will be used for reconstruction and reconditioning of existing roads and upgrading the safety factor. Some 67 per cent of the total allocation will go for this purpose.

The Commission stressed the need for meeting the demands of greater traffic volume and heavier load requirements of farm to market roads. When many of the older farm to market roads originally were built, demand for stronger bases, wider traffic lanes and thicker surfacing was not so great.

Besides protecting the state's investment in its farm to market system, the new program is aimed at incorporating safety features to meet the demands of modern-day traffic. The program will include the widening of culverts, channelizing of traffic at intersections and other engineering projects which will further contribute to motoring safety.

Work is proposed on 524 projects.

Some 335 miles of farm to market roads will undergo complete reconstruction, grading, and surfacing with the addition of new, wider bridges. This will represent more than 8.7 million dollars of expenditures and approximately 48 per cent of the total.

Some 3.5 million more will be spent for widening pavement, widening shoulders and resurfacing an additional 521 miles, representing 19 per cent of the total farm to market road expenditures in the 1954 program.

Also scheduled are new, wider drainage structures and approaches estimated to cost $1.7 million, representing nine per cent of the total allocation. Remainder of the allocation will be devoted to projects protecting the state's 3-billion dollar investment in its farm to market roads program by adding additional surfacing, seal coat, shoulder repair and sodding.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jetton of Dallas visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jetton, over the week end.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

only one stage of a sequence of events grouped under the general heading of periodontal diseases.

While tooth decay is the chief cause of tooth loss in young people, periodontal disease takes a greater toll in people over age 35.

Add ten more years—or by age 45—one of every two men is afflicted with periodontal disease.

Years ago, the disease was thought incurable. Now, however, dentistry saves many teeth if gum tissues are treated in time.

Periodontal diseases usually start with gingivitis, or inflammation of the gums. Bleeding is a frequent symptom. Bleeding gums may be shrugged off as a fairly common occurrence. But dentists point out that this is a symptom calling for attention.

Bleeding gums grow progressively worse if untreated, as a general rule, and lead to more serious involvement.

The gums, which ordinarily hug the teeth like the collar of a turtle-neck sweater, begin to fall away. Debris then works itself down into the pocket formed between gum and tooth. This leads to periodontitis with inflammation extending deeper into the tissues.

As disease progresses, pus pockets form and the springy, hammock-like tissues—or periodontal membrane—is destroyed.

Finally, the root is affected and the tooth becomes loose. By this time, the possibility of saving the tooth is slim.

To keep your own teeth, develop a good strong pattern of dental care and have a prompt check-up when danger signs occur.

Activities of The Colored People

By Fannie Mae Johnson

Sunday School was well attended at all churches Sunday.

The Church of God in Christ showed great hospitality to their many visitors Sunday evening. At that time they were honoring their new pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Harrell.

Mrs. Aline Johnson rendered a wonderful program. The deacon's reunion was also present. Rev. Bennett of Abilene preached out of his soul. Our hearts burn within us as the man of God stood and poured out the gospel. Money raised was $50.00.

Rev. I. W. Wicks and the membership of Saint John Methodist Church also had a full day. On Sunday night the presiding Elder, Rev. Lot of Abilene, fill the pulpit at 8 o'clock. Our desire was that all men would have taken time to listen to that wonderful man of God as he talked concerning the goodness of Brother Peter. May we all try to live that life.

Mrs. Gracie Bradley of Wichita Falls is visiting her parent, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Toliver.

Mrs. Endia Beals is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. F. M. Johnson is thanking Mrs. A. A. Brown for the wonderful books that she was so nice to leave at her home last week.

The deacons of West Beulah are loud in their praise telling the membership that they are looking forward to high rally day Sunday.

Prayer is much needed. When people prayed for Peter God heard and answered but they didn't pray for James and he died. The world should pray much in these evil days.

Attend the church of your choice.

the moon, a friend says he read my letter last week in The Munday Times proposing that we put one man on each of the billion planets out in space, and that he has figured it up and since there are only about three billion people on earth it'd take a third of the population to do it.

"Your idea is impractical," he said. "The idea sending a third of the people out into space!" That's what I'm talking about. It's a splendid idea. I've got several in mind I'd like to nominate for the trip now. For example, right around here there are . . . well, you fill in the names, and if mine turns up, scratch it off. I'll be busy farming.

Yours faithfully,

Evidence

Before our modern idea of evidence in science, in daily affairs, and in our courtrooms, men did strange things to "test" truth in a court trial. Our notion of evidence in law courts is actually only a few centuries old. It entered court procedure at about the same time that Galileo and Newton used scientific evidence to upset older theories of nature. Before then, men talked to prophets, fortune tellers and augurs before they acted. These men would look into the sky and find out how many and what kind of birds flew in from what quarter. Sometimes they looked at the charred entrails of sacrificial animals.

Court tests for truth in the Middle Ages were many, but somewhat drastic. You might dispute with your neighbor over land. If so, the court might order a test by ordeal. The contestants would walk through fire. They might be tied and cast into water or you might meet your opponent with sword and shield. You or your agent might fight it out with your neighbor on the theory that Providence would not let the unjust win; or, after due rites, the court might toss you both into the water. If you did not drown, you won. Or perhaps you both grasped a red hot iron or walked barefoot through hot coals. If you came out without blisters, they believed your story.

As you can see, few people went to court of their own will. The risks were many, not the kind you'd choose.

Later in England, where we got most of our law, men had other ways to reach decisions. For example, take the "oath-helpers." Suppose your case was to be tried. You'd not go into court with facts, as today. No, you took with you a fixed number of men called "oath-helpers." Oath-helpers would swear by all that's holy that you were a man of your word. After that, you would swear that your neighbor had wronged you. In turn he would bring his oath-helpers and do the same.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)
