man was pulled over for speeding down the highway, the officer came to the drivers window and said, "Sir, may I see your drivers license and registration?"

The man said, "Well officer I don't have a license, it was taken away for a DUI."

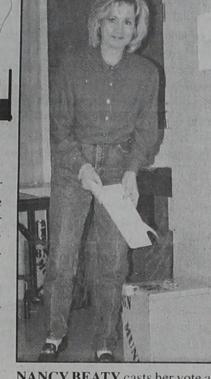

The officer, in surprise, said," What, do you have a registration for the vehicle?"

So the man replied, "No sir, the car is not mine I stole it, but I am pretty sure I saw a registration card in the glove box when I put the gun in it."

The officer stepped back, "There is a gun in the glove box?!?"

The man sighed and said, 'Yes sir, I used it to kill the woman who owns the car before I stuffed her in the trunk."

The officer steps toward the back of the car and says," Sir do not move, I am calling for backup."

The comment came after Dillard learned that the Tuesday, November 5th voting process by the citizens of Goree and Munday had passed in favor of the issue by a margin of 84 for in Goree with 17 against and 446 for consolidation in Munday with 30 voting against the issue . facts of the consolidation issue to community members by way of open public meetings, both to educate the public and to acquire new perspectives from the stakeholders of our school communities. The results were both optimistic and constructive and caused administrators and board members to search for resolution of potential conflicts. Dillard said that citizens of what will soon become the newly formed consolidated district were able to look beyond personal areas of concern to see the overall benefits for the two communities that now make our school district. "Change is often difficult and frequently avoided, yet it is change that repeatedly brings about renewed capabilities and opportunities," Dillard stated.

"It is pleasing to know that of the 2002-2003 school year, students will have opportunities to visit their future schools and fellow classmates, and staffs, administrations, and Board members will work together to forge a plan that will optimize the use of personnel, facilities, and all other resources. "All members of the future Munday CISD are encouraged to continue to forward ideas and comments to their respective school administrators," said Dillard. "A big thank you goes out to the many voters who turned out to express their opinion on this major issue and to the many community members of Munday ISD and Goree ISD who attended the open meetings and made the consolidation election a possibility," he said.

The man said," Yes officer here it is, right here."

It all checked out so the officer said," Is there a gun in the glove box sir?"

The man laughs and says," No officer why would there be a gun in the glove box." He opened the glove box and showed him that there was no gun.

The second officer asked him to open the trunk because he had reason to believe that there was a body in it. The man agrees and opens the trunk, no dead body.

The second officer says, "Sir I do not understand, the officer that pulled you over said that you did not have a license, the car was stolen, there was a gun in the glove box, and a dead body in the trunk."

The mans looks the officer in the eyes and says, "Yeah and I'll bet he said I was speeding too."

Hamlin 29 to 13

Munday's Moguls waded into Hamlin last Friday confident that they could win against an early preseason odds on favorite. Polls all across the state had the Pied Pipers ranked 7th or higher and headed for a "cake walk" into the class 1A schoolboy play offs. Prognosticators, experts, and others even still counted the Moguls out by as much as two scores against the potent Hamlin attack.

When the final whistle sounded, the Moguls had proven every one wrong. Everyone that is except themselves, their coaches, families, friends and fans. A 29 to 13 waxing of the highly favored Hamlin Pied Pipers, which could have easily been more like a 42 to 7 stomping, had heads turning and eyes looking at this week's showdown against another preseason favorite, Knox City.

Many of our neighbors from the West are predicting a Greyhound blowout and wondering why Munday even needs to show up. Some have said that if Knox City plays as well as they can, Munday won't have a prayer. Sounds familiar.

Mogul players and coaches prepared hard all week for the Hamlin game and it showed up big time. The coaching staff had the right plays in place on both sides of the football and Team Munday executed almost flawlessly. Both Munday and Hamlin staffs had done their homework, but the Moguls were able to make their adjustments on the fly in the first to over run and overcome the Piper attack.

Munday's defensive effort was spectacular. The Moguls lead by Jeffrey Urbanczyk, Jerome Flye, and Micah Yates held the Pipers to just 16 yards on the ground, forcing the Pipers to air it out on the muddy, rainy turf. Justin Josselet, Jeffrey Urbanczyk, Jeffery Toliver and Dustin Flye kept the passing attack in check limiting the Pipers to 5 completions out of 19 attempts while snagging three picks. Toliver stole one in the fourth and scored from 37 yards out with 1:48 on the clock to nail the door shut on the Piper playoff picture for this year. Brandon Urbanczyk put a jailbreak rush on the Hamlin quarterback and forced the errant throw right into the hands of the speedy Toliver. Toliver started the scoring with a 25 yard field goal in the first to grab an early 3 to 0 advantage. Munday's Justin Josselet picked off a Hamlin pass at the Piper 45 and sped down the sideline to the 9 before getting bumped out of bounds. Munday stalled out at the 8 and on third and goal a wide open Jeffrey Urbanczyk dropped a sure TD to set up the field goal try.

Munday scored again in the second after the tough Mogul defense held the Pipers on fourth and 2 to give the football back to the offense at the Munday 39. Toliver rushed to the 35 but lost the football on a fumble to turn it right back to Hamlin. Hamlin's quarterback was quick to return the favor coughing it up on the next play, and Munday went right back to work.

This time the Pipers got a good dose of Dustin Flye who rushed for 7 times in the series for 54 yards and had to overcome two holding calls, one of which wiped out a Flye touchdown. Toliver hit Josselet on a 25 yard catch and run for a TD with no

A Measure of Courage

"Children have never been good at listening to their elders But they have never failed to imitate them."--James Baldwin

In this era of incessant cable news prattle--mostly about negative events--it is, indeed, a breath of fresh air to hear something positive for a change. In this era of spineless compromises, it is indeed a breath of fresh air to hear about someone taking a moral stand. In this era of political double-talk, it is indeed a breath of fresh air to witness leaders with moral courage and good old-fashioned backbone.

Such are the cases involving coaches of three high school football teams. I guess nothing has changed in the past 40 years, because I remember even back in my high school days, a few football playersespecially the physically talented ones--strutted around campus like they owned the place. MACHO was king. MACHO attracted girls. MACHO bent the rules. MACHO was cool.

Fast forward to 2002. In some circles, MA-CHO still rules (as long as he can win football games.) However-----a few coaches have taken a stand against MACHO breaking the rules--like drinking, or smoking, or chewing tobacco.

Examples? In Texas--at Kerrville Tivy High School where Coach Mark Smith suspended five of his players for two weeks for drinking alcohol at a party over the weekend. And at Comfort where Coach Paul Talbert suspended six of his starters for the same reason. That suspension began just before number-1-in-the-state Comfort was to play Blanco. Yep, Blanco beat Comfort and toppled them from the unbeaten ranks. Take heed, kids. Comfort lost because six of its players failed to take their responsibilities seriously, made stupid choices and let their team down. Their team lost, and it was their fault!

The third incident occurred in Pretty Prairie, Kansas, a small farming community. I recently spoke with football coach, C. T. Young and he related the following story: They were losing too many games because some of the players were partying too much.

After questioning his players about the situation, eleven of them admitted to drinking alcohol and chewing tobacco. The school has a strict zero-tolerance policy against such things, so Coach Young immediately suspended the players--for the rest of the season. And since there aren't enough players left to field a team, he also cancelled the rest of the season.

To a person, almost everyone supports Coach Young, age 30. The father of the all-state nose guard said, "I thought they were harsh on the kids, but I still stand behind the coach. You pretty much have to when the rule is in black and white." The school board, the parents and the entire town support Coach Young. How refreshing. (Unlike when some parents of cheerleaders brought along their pocket lawyers to protest when their little darlings were caught drinking at Alamo Heights High School in San Antonio.)

If only college and pro teams would set such examples. It is repulsive, revolting and nauseating to watch some of their spoiled MACHOs get away with their abhorrent antics. I believe that athletes have the privilege and the responsibility to set a POSI-TIVE example for others to follow. They are in the spotlight and kids will emulate them.

So, here's my advice to all of you athletes. Suck it up and act like decent human beings. The kids are watching. And kudos to Coaches Smith, Talbert and Young.

THE VIEW FROM THE PULPIT By Adrin Fletcher

I love the solid white lines! You know the ones I mean. They are painted by the Texas Highway Department along the outside edge of most highways in the state. Since my eyesight is not very good at night, those lines are especially helpful after dark. On some roads, the lines are reinforced by the addition of "rumble strips" which create an audible warning when you veer across them. I love these white lines because they not only make me feel safer and more confident, they really do make me a safer driver.

Now, don't misunderstand. The lines do not force me to drive straight, nor do they regulate the speed with which I go. Those decisions are up to me. Those white lines are simply passive guides to aid drivers like me and you in staying on the road. I'm sure there are situations in which we might be better off if those stripes were somehow active participants in maintaining our path. However they remain as silent (mostly) passive guides for our own good sense. Combined with the reflective yellow markers which define the center of our roads, these simple aids serve as potent markers of safe paths.

The pioneers who settled the West in this great nation depended on those adventurous souls who explored the uncharted lands and "blazed the trial". Those "blazes" were often just marks on trees, or rocks to show the way. Yet thousands of weary and wary travelers depended on those who marked the way.

Even with well marked trails many wagons loaded with precious lives or goods were lost when they missed the marks. Today, with our sophisticated highway systems and paint striped ways, people still get lost and even run off the road.

God prepared instructions for humankind. Jesus came to be our "trailblazer". Yet we still encounter people every day who have veered off the path. Others who experience the tragedy of emotional or spiritual rollovers litter the sides of life's highway. These tragedies have touched every family either directly or indirectly. What are we to do? The lines God has drawn are much like those on the side of the highway, they will not prevent your crossing onto the shoulder or even into the ditch, but you do so at your own risk.

The good news is that God has provided a way to resume the journey safely. While the lines on the highway do not prevent one leaving the road, neither do they prevent your return to the safe path. God's directions work the same way. You may have chosen to depart from His ways, but you can also choose to return to His path. I hope you will be encouraged to get back on "track". God wants you to return His love. The way is narrow, but well marked. Many of us are struggling to make the journey. You will be welcome to travel His way with us.

Report shows Mexico in breach of 1944 water treaty

By Mike Cox Texas Press Association

have been figuratively slugging away at each other gerous to humans, the disease could have a terrible in the most mean-spirited political campaigns in years, if not ever, a story of huge consequence to much of the state has been unfolding largely unnoticed.

Nov. 6 - Savannah Myers, Jonell The issue is water, not votes.

The short version of the problem is that the Rio Grande Valley and other areas upstream are not getting much water out of the river that separates Texas and Mexico. The reason, compounded by drought, is that Mexico is taking out most of the water before it can get to Texas. Mexico's water debt amounts to some 1.5 million acre feet, much more water than it looks like.

Though Mexico disagrees, the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality continues to maintain that Mexico is in "material breach" of the 1944 treaty that stipulates how the United States and that country will share water.

To underscore its point, the newly-renamed agency released a summary of Texas' position in the dispute called "The Legal Status of the 1944 Utilization of Waters Treaty Between the United States of America and Mexico."

The document is as dry as the Rio Grande, but the bottom line is that while Texas has no legal remedy against Mexico, the U.S. could terminate the treaty without performance or insist on reparation

- in both kinds of liquidity, water and money. This argument involves only South Texas, but it foreshadows a huge future problem for Texans: water supply.

More worries ...

As if water supply was not enough to worry about, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is cautioning the state's several hundred thousand deer hunters to be extra cautious in handling their kill this season. The reason is Chronic Wasting Disease.

While CWD has not been found yet in Texas, it could be a serious threat to the state's herd, one of potential fire in the home.

AUSTIN --- While candidates from both parties its most important wildlife assets. Though not daneconomic impact on Texas.

> Even though there is no known danger to humans, the Parks and Wildlife officials say that if a deer looks ill, don't shoot it or if you do, don't eat it. Hunters are advised to wear rubber gloves when dressing game, to remove the bones from all meat and to not consume any neural issue.

> For more information on the issue, check the agency's Web site at www.tpwd.state.tx.us.

Watch your truck ...

Nationally, the most stolen vehicle is the Toyota Camry. But that's nationally.

In the Lone Star state, 20 of the 25 most-stolen vehicles in 2002 were pickup trucks. The favorite with vehicle rustlers that year was the Chevrolet C1500 4x2, according to data compiled by CCC Information Services, Inc. and released by the Comptroller's Office.

Tea from Taiwan...

The results are in from Sept. 21's annual Adopt-A-Beach Cleanup. According to the General Land Office, nearly 10,000 volunteers collected 150 tons of trash from 208 miles of Texas' shoreline.

Among the more interesting items found this year: a Russian shaving cream can, a package of jelly from Japan, bottle caps from Argentina to Nigeria and tea packets from Taiwan.

Other debris that somehow ended up washing ashore in Texas included a water fountain, an artificial leg, a car door, a refrigerator and a piano top.

You probably remembered ...

With the helpful slogan, "Fall back, spring forward," what to do when Daylight Savings Time changes is pretty easy to remember.

But the Department of Insurance reminds Texans they also should change the batteries in their smoke detectors. This simple procedure can help detect a Lunch Menu: Monday

Time to Rebalance Your 401(k) Holdings?

You may be casting your ballot this week for a new governor or senator. But you might also want to participate in a different type of election - the choice of investments for your 401(k).

Depending on where you work, your company may have offered an :official" window of time for you to increase contributions to your 401(k) plan. But you can generally change your 401(k)'s investment mix at any time of the year. And now might be a particularly good time to act. Why? Because your 401(k)'s holdings may be out of balance with your desired asset allocation - the mix of investments that reflects your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. And your 401(k) may have gotten "unbalanced" without you having done anything.

To understand why this is the case, you need to examine how the different investments in your 401(k) have performed recently. You're probably painfully aware that the equity side of your 401(k) portfolio has slumped. At the same time, your fixed-income investments, such as bonds, have probably done relatively well. In fact, they may have done so well that they now make up a much greater percentage of the total value of your 401(k). And that could be a problem you'll have to address.

When you first set up your 401(k), you decided on a suitable asset allocation, with different percentages of your total portfolio going to stocks, bonds, money market accounts, government securities, etc. During periods of significant market fluctuations, these percentages can change - a lot. For example, during the long bull market of the 1990s, the equity portion of your 401(k) may have grown to such levels that your portfolio was taking on a higher level of risk than you were comfortable with. You may well have recognized this; if so, you may have rebalanced your portfolio by shifting some assets out of equities and into other areas.

Now, though, the situation is reversed. Within your overall portfolio, the value of stocks may be down, while the value of bonds may be up. Over the short term, you might not mind having a greater exposure to bonds while the market is so turbulent. But over the long term, stocks have historically outperformed bonds - and every other financial asset, too. Remember that past performance is no guarantee of future results. So, if your 401(k) is heavy with bonds or other fixed-income investments, your progress toward your retirement goals could be slowed.

Consequently, you may want to consider adjusting the percentages of your stock and bond investments within your 401(k). You may find it hard to put more money into stocks when the market is volatile. But when you invest in a 401(k), you are dollar-cost averaging - putting the same amount of money into the same investments, at regular intervals. While this strategy can't guarantee a profit or prevent a loss, you buy more shares when the price is low, and fewer shares when the price is

Elementary Edition THE HAPPENINGS AT MUNDAY ELEMENTARY

Campus Happenings Halloween Parties

Spook-tacular Halloween parties were held on October 31st. Many thanks to all the parents who helped make the parties such a BOO-tiful time for all the students. Also thanks to the First National Bank in Munday for providing treat bags to all the students.

HALLOWEEN PARTIES were bewitching thanks to all the "spook-tacular" parents that helped.

UL

Students will be participating in the Academic UIL District Meet next week, November 12 and 14 in Knox City. Practices have been occurring in many areas since September. Students are well prepared and are ready to defend their district title. Good Luck to all

AR

The AR six weeks ended Friday, November 1st. This Thursday, a assembly to recognize the students who reached his/her goal will be held at 2:00 pm in the gym. Then the AR Store will be open on Friday, for students to spend some of those hard-earned points.

Pep Rally

Fifth and sixth grade girls cheered at the Nifty Fifties pep rally. Winning Spirit Sticks were Lee White, Lari Dee Welch, Abby Sanders, Kalee Josselet, Baleigh Hunter, Raci and Rian Dillard.

Class Happenings

PCD was caught in a web of learning about spiders. The students also discussed Halloween safety rules and made some crafts. Number three was the number of the counting dimes, and subtracting one from a number. Whizzing through the Math lesson were Rylie Decker, Jarett Earle, Yadi Gonzales, Darian Leija, Tanna Moeller, Mayra Ramirez, Kaylan Urbanczyk, and Mayte Torres. Science had students discovering what products humans get from plants and animals while English had the class telling stories.

Past, present, and future were explored in second grade. Students also looked onto how people and things change over time.

Abbreviations were the third grade lesson as well as writing explanatory papers. Math had students counting quarters and telling time to the nearest 5 minutes. Mastering this were Dylan Cooke and John Searcey. Reading hit the main idea while Science class discovered the 5 main groups of animals and the traits of each. Emisel Torres was noted for outstanding improvement in all subject areas while Super Spellers were Holly Alexander, Katelyn Brown, Cruz Gutierrez, Morgan Hendrix, Alyssa Moore, and Lee White. Nonfiction readers were Adrian Hernandez, Morgan Hendrix, and Lee White, while Eduardo Chavez, Jose Gonzales, and Lee White were chosen as the summary reader. Top TFK (A Nose for News) readers were Kristen Kuehler, Kirstie Thorne, Kimberly Andrade, Rita Martinez, Chelssea Ford, Morgan Griffith, Eduardo Chavez, Alyssa Moore, Adrian Hernandez, Katelyn Brown, Dylan Cooke, and Morgan Hendrix.

week to write and recognize.

Pre-K students also focused on the number 3 with the readings of books like The Three Little Pigs, Goldilocks and the Three Bears, and Clifford's 1,2,3. The students chatted about the weather, the four seasons, and looked at acorns and fall leaves. These students have already begun taking computer, and are busy learning to type his/her name on the computer. Nate Hernandez was recognized as doing a superb job of reciting the days of the week, while Paige Ramirez was noted for a super job counting to ten.

Dr. Kevin Finley visited kindergarten students on Friday, November 1st. He brought along Mr. Bones and some X-rays to share as well. He also brought some Beanie animals and let the students check out if the do/do not have bones. X-rays were revealing as they showed earrings, rings, a filling in a tooth, and even BB's.

DR. FINLEY & MR. BONES came to visit the Kindergarten class as a part of their skeleton thematic unit.

Mrs. Pankhurst's class read Where The Wild Things Are by Maurice Sendak, which really hit the spot with the occurrence of Halloween. Mrs. Pierce's class boned up on skeletons and Halloween safety. Both classes dived into the letter Nn, time to the hour, and added 2 more high frequency words. Birthday wishes go out to Mrs. Pierce.

First graders are Oo so busy with the letter Oo! Math has the students counting to 100 by tens, paper, there will only be one or two days left in the 2nd six weeks of school. We have six weeks left firs scrimmage having taken place in the semester and twelve weeks on November 5th at Jayton. The behind us. I would like to acknowledge some things that have been accomplished by our students so far.

Notes from the High School Principal:

weeks closer to the May graduation. The Junior High District UIL Academic competition practices are in full swing; teams have been named; competition is less than a Life Involvement Council (CLIC) week away at O'Brien. The juniors have taken the ASVAB and the PSAT. Fall TAAS tests are complete. The eighth graders have completed the EXPLORE test and the sophomores have completed the PLAN test. High school UIL academic teams are beginning to prepare for spring competition. Classroom work continues in all eighteen elective courses, six social studies courses, seven science courses, seven mathematics courses, nine English/reading courses, five computer courses, and three foreign language courses.

Music: The band earned it's nineteenth straight UIL rating of one. The band has performed at nine half-time shows, two parades, two marching competitions, and at the UIL Marching Contest. The band began workouts on August 5th and the students worked out every Monday and Tuesday night from 7-9 PM until just two weeks ago.

Athletics: Cross country season is now over, but not before the athletes participated in seven meets. The high school girls ran well enough at the district meet to advance to the regional meet. Our one boy in cross country was one place away from advancing to the state meet. These students began 5th and never let up. Girl's basketball is now underway with the football teams began preparations on August 5th. The football teams have played a total of twenty-eight games. After a very tough pre-dis-Academics: Seniors are twelve trict schedule, the varsity team earned a play-off berth last Friday and will play for the district championship this Friday night.

Other items: The Community has had its organizational meeting and has been involved in several community events. The Future Farmers of America (FFA) has had its organizational meeting and these students are preparing for spring stock shows, and is preparing for the District Leadership Contest. Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA, formerly FHA) has had its organizational meeting and several other meetings. The National Honor Society (NHS) has help, instruction, and support.

By the publication date of this their grueling workouts on August met several times and recently held a new student induction ceremony. Student Council elections were held and the officers are involved in student life at the school. Class officers have been elected and have been involved in planning events such as fundraisers. These groups are planning future events and have completed events such as fundraisers and volunteer activities around the school and community. The Cheerleaders have performed a cheer minicamp, planned and conducted nine pep rallies plus several other events. The two cheerleading squads have cheered at the twentyeight football games.

> Next time you ask your child what's going on at school and the answer is, "Oh, nothing," please remind them to pay attention to the extraordinary days they are living as junior high and high school students. entire month looks pretty busy. There has been very little visiting this past week. Mike & Debbie Moorhouse were in Atlanta, Georgia all week for meetings with their business. They returned home on Friday.

Julia and Tommy Thomas were in Lubbock on Thursday to visit with their daughter, Sarah Meinzer. As I said a couple of weeks ago, Sarah will soon leave for California to make her home.

"Moguls Storm Hamlin"

Munday led 9 to 0.

The Pipers reached into their bag of tricks but lost 10 on a fake punt to put the Moguls back in the saddle with a chance to extend their lead before the break. Munday advanced the football to the 27 where Toliver lost the football again with :49 seconds left in the half. Hamlin took a knee and went in to regroup trailing Munday 9 to 0.

On the first series of the second half, Dustin Flye intercepted a Piper pass then fumbled on the return to give Hamlin an early second half break. The Pipers jumped on the opportunity and scored on the next play, a 43 yard quarterback trap to bring Hamlin to within 2 points at 9 to 7.

After an exchange of punts, Munday started a drive from the Piper 48 5 on two plays. Toliver fumbled twice more before Flye crashed in from 2 out on a fourth and goal to regain the 9 point advantage. On the ensuing kick off, Hamlin fumbled and Jeffrey Urbanczyk recovered for Munday at the Piper 36. Toliver and Flye advanced the football to the Hamlin 16 where a delay call and another Toliver fumble on fourth and 10 put the ball back into the hands of Hamlin at their own 28.

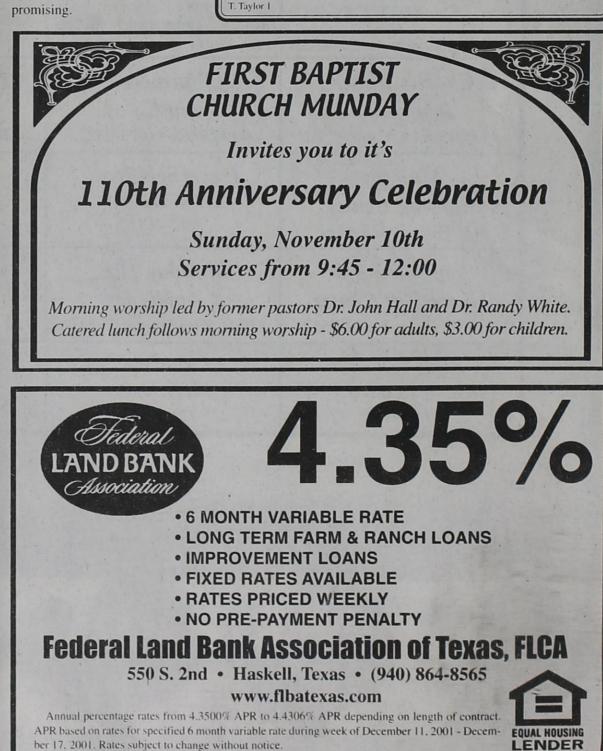

rose to the occasion this time with a Junior Sanchez fumble recovery at the Piper 13. Two plays later Jeffrey seconds left on the play clock and Urbanczyk had traversed the yardage needed and added to the Mogul lead. Trailing 23 to 7 and running out of time, Hamlin went straight to the air and found the end-zone on a 65 yard catch and run with 10:11 left in the game to bring the score to 23 to 13. Hamlin went for two and failed to convert, but forced the Moguls to go three and out on their next series, opening the door for an heroic comeback effort. Hamlin was able to advance to the Munday 42, but a fourth down pass attempt fell short of the mark and the Pipers once again turned the ball over on downs. Toliver ripped off 16 yards to the Piper 42, but Munday's drive stalled at the 38 hindered by yet another fumble. Sanchez punted to the Hamlin 17 and the Pipers tried to find a big play on the ground or through and Flye busted loose to the Hamlin the air, but the Mogul defense wouldn't allow it. Josselet ran stride for stride and nearly got his second pick, before Toliver snagged his interception for a score. On Hamlin's final series, Brandon Urbanczyk sacked the Hamlin quarterback for a 16 yard loss before Junior Sanchez knocked the ball loose at the 12. With :39 seconds left, Toliver took over and took two snaps as the Moguls eliminated all playoff hopes for Hamlin and propelled themselves Once again the Mogul defense into post season. Munday can enter as the district champions with a win over Knox City this Friday. Game time is set for 7:30.

Studies. The 81 Excelling District Award recipients had to meet a standard of 80 percent in the same areas of TAAS and have a 2000 - 2001 migrant student dropout rate of 2.5% or less.

Campus recognition for outstanding migrant student performance is based upon the same criteria as the Excelling District Award. Statewide, some 280 campuses achieved this level of success with their migrant students.

Each year the Migrant State Conference Planning Committee, consisting of state, regional, and district migrant educators, selects the criteria used for the district and campus awards. The criteria are aligned with the accountability rating system for Texas public schools and school districts. SHUGART'S STUDIOS
