Odd Bits Salvaged By The Editor

Some people are still commenting on how quickly they have completed the 1963 cotton harvest.

Of course, now many of them got everything over with—the cotton gathered, stalks shredded and land plowed—in August, like, we believe, it was Bob Jarvis who did.

Wyllie B. Johnson was in the shop Monday, and said they were all through on his land and the estate land. "This is the earliest I've been through in all my farming," he said.

Unless it is under unusual circumstances, we'll likely never see the time again when we'll be after last year's cotton crop in February. A number of things contribute to that.

One thing is defoliation. Used to be we'd have to wait until a killing frost to get after the remainder, or late crop, of the cotton. And sometimes, it would seem that Frost and Christmas might get here at the same time.

Now a crop can be sprayed with defoliant and then harvested within a short time thereafter, say some two weeks or more.

Another important thing is the use of mechanical harvesters. Wyllie got to talking about those things, too. Mrs. Leona Michels had two, we believe, running in her field—and they were doing the work of 50 bracers!

Then, on top of that, they have those mechanical "picker uppers," or whatever you call them, that can be operated behind the mechanical pickers and they pick up the cotton that has fallen to the ground. That way, there is very little waste cotton.

Some of these "town boys" who have watched the machines working say that it's nothing short of remarkable how the blooming things scoop up the loose cotton and transfers it to the trailers. Some say, too, they will also scoop up frogs and things like that.

We knew, of course, from the experience of Sam Stone that the cotton harvesters would pick up rattlesnakes—and they're things nobody likes to be mixed up with the cotton. Yet, Buck Tidwell told us one day last week that two rattlers were found in one trailer of cotton. One of them was dead, but the other one was crawling around when the suction hand all but climbed the suction.

If you weren't a Dodger fan, you didn't have much fun from Wednesday through Sunday. The Dodgers wound the World Series up brown in just four games—which is just about as short as any World Series can be.

Freddie Caram called us a "converted Dodger" last Monday as we passed his place of business, although we'd never opened our chops to anyone as to the team we were siding in with. In fact, we hadn't sided with either, so guess it's best in the final windup to be a fan of the winner.

After the type of pitching Don Drysdale did Saturday, one could be pretty well satisfied with being a fan of the team he's pitching for. We imagine he started a bunch of fans talking Drysdale instead of Whitey Ford!

The ball fan can see a lot of action on week ends like the last one, especially if their home football team was engaged in action on Friday night.

With the Moguls resting and the series teams travelling, we didn't have any kind of ball on Friday. However, a football game both Saturday and Sunday, and these followed by two World Series baseball games, should prove enough action for most any fan.

TRAFFIC SLOWPOKE IS DANGEROUS

Mrs. Carver, 82 Dies On Monday At Knox City

Mrs. Lydia Carver, 82, of Knox City passed away at 10 a.m. Monday in the Knox County Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

She was born in Henderson County on October 19, 1880, and married John W. Carver on December 22, 1899, in Brownsboro. They moved to this area from Comanche County in 1916. Mr. Carver passed away April 2, 1922.

Survivors are three sons, Roy and Bud Carver of Knox City, and Carl Carver of Munday; four daughters, Mrs. Thelma Nance of Santa Ana, Calif., Mrs. Olene Williams of Imperial, Calif., Mrs. Belle Walker of Sudan and Miss Inez Carver of Knox City; 17 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren; 10 great-great-grandchildren, and one brother, Bernard Jordon of Tyler.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday from the Knox City Baptist Church with Rev. G. H. Crain of Arlington officiating. Burial was in the Rochester Cemetery.

Deaths: Mrs. Lydia Carver, Knox City; Mrs. E. H. Tankersley, Sr., Knox City.

Soil conservation districts are self governed state subdivisions which are established by the people through popular vote. The Texas Legislature authorized their creation in order to fulfill the provisions of the Texas Constitution.

The board meets the fourth Friday of each month in the S.C.S. office in Knox City. The public is invited to any and all of the meetings.

Mr. Peebles, supervisor of the cotton classing office at Munday, told me last week that many farmers had lowered the grade on their cotton by stripping too green. The desiccants or defoliants should not be applied until the youngest bolls cannot be dented between the thumb and forefinger and cannot easily be cut through with a knife.

Disregard of these recommendations and applying desiccants and defoliants too early results in (1) reducing yields per acre, (2) lowers micronaire reading and (3) weaker fibers.

Cotton harvest is moving rapidly in Knox County. About half of the crop is in the bale. Grades are improving again after the rains of two to three weeks ago.

PLAN AHEAD FOR SAFETY

The Texas Safety Association urges motorists to plan every trip so they will not have to force themselves or their cars. The driver needs time to stop, stretch, rest and have a snack. He will be more alert, more comfortable, and safer.

now but she says the most satisfying part of her life—she recently turned 91—was "being able to rear my children in the county."

Mrs. Ford made the statement while recalling some of the events to the past at a recent birthday party in her honor in Munday.

Cotton Classing Continues High

Harvest of cotton is moving at a rapid pace and daily receipts at a Munday cotton classing office around 2,400 during the week ending October 4. This is expected to hold and possibly climb a little, according to A. D. Peebles, in charge.

Four classing tables and two micronaire crews have been busy the entire week and the office is almost keeping current.

12,541 samples were classed during the week to bring the season total to 34,516 as compared to 15,034 one year ago.

Grades for the week have been 6 per cent white, 7 per cent strict middling light spot, 60 per cent middling light spot, 20 per cent strict low middling light spot, and 4 per cent low middling light spot. 2 per cent were in the full spotted category.

Staple lengths were 1 per cent 13/16, 10 per cent 7/8, 40 per cent 29/32, 15 per cent 15/16, 7 per cent 31/32, and 7 per cent 1 inch and longer.

Micronaire readings improved and ran 2 per cent 3.0-3.4, 22 per cent 3.5-3.9, 47 per cent 4.0-4.4, 26 per cent 4.5-4.9 and 3 per cent 5.0-5.4.

Growers are selling light spots at around 30 points over loan on cotton that will mike 3.5 and better.

Moguls Facing Crucial Test In Bearcat Game

The Munday Moguls will probably be facing their most crucial test of the season next Friday night while opening the District 11A conference play against the Henrietta Bearcats. The game will be played on the local field.

The Moguls have been tabbed as the team to beat in district play, and the Bearcats are predicted to be the team that's liable to do it.

While Munday was idle Friday and not having yet played a conference game, Archer City, Henrietta and Crowell picked up victories to reach a three-way tie for the top position. Crowell downed Paducah 28 to 0. Henrietta stopped Chillicothe 33 to 8, and Archer City beat Holliday 48 to 8.

The game here is rated as one of the top Class A games in the state.

Flashy Pete Alcala and powerful fullback Lewis Flores will lead the Mogul attack, while Henrietta's power up the middle depends on fullback Eugene Franklin and halfback David Schick.

Jackie Booe, rated as one of the finest defensive centers in the state, will lead the Mogul defense which has allowed only 18 points in the four games played. The eyes of the district will be on this game, and the teams are expecting to play to a capacity crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Koonce of DeLeon visited his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Brown, over the week end. On Sunday their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gorth Priddy, of Texas Tech in Lubbock, met them here for a visit.

Modelling will be done by members of the Future Homemakers of America.

Each of the participating merchants will award door prizes at the show. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Homecoming Is Slated At Goree

The third Goree School homecoming has been set for Saturday, October 19, according to the planning committee.

This is a homecoming for all ex-graduates, ex-students, ex-teachers and friends, it was stated, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. Invitations are being mailed to out-of-area residents, but none will be mailed to residents of the county, the committee said.

The full day of events will begin at 9 a.m. with open house, and will be culminated by the homecoming football game between the Goree Wildcats and Oklaunion at 7:30 p.m.

Dinner will be at 5:30 p.m., served by Underwoods of Wichita Falls. Reservations for the dinner should be turned in to John Loyd Lambeth of Goree by Thursday, October 17.

County Council Names Chairman

The new Chairman of the Home Demonstration Council for 1964, will be Mrs. A. L. Cook of Gilliland. During the past year, Mrs. Cook has served as council treasurer and president of the Gilliland Home Demonstration Club.

The annual council meeting was held October 4, to review the past year's accomplishments and to elect officers. Others elected were:

Mrs. Roy Petty, Benjamin, vice chairman; Mrs. J. M. Chowning, Truscott, secretary; and Mrs. W. H. Dodd, Benjamin, treasurer. Others who will be members of the council next year are Mrs. Ed Thompson, Benjamin; Mrs. Joe Patterson and Mrs. Gill Wyatt, Munday; Mrs. Oscar Solomon, Truscott and Mrs. June Navratil, Gilliland.

Plans were made for a County achievement exhibit to be set up on November 1, in the court-house. Friends and all interested individuals are invited to come at 1:30 p.m. to see some of the work done during the year and attend a short program.

Mrs. A. L. Cook and Mrs. Roy Petty gave short reports on the State Texas Home Demonstration meeting held in San Antonio in September.

No Opposition From Knox County

In the story concerning Senate confirmation of the appointment of Munday's postmaster last week, the editor in the statement, "confirmation had reportedly been blocked by Republican opposition," did not intend to imply that such opposition was local. Yet, the wording was such that Reuben Bates, Knox County's Republican chairman, felt the implication was toward him.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

AUSTIN — It may come as a blow to the male ego, but the facts are inescapable; men belong to the weaker sex — outnumbered, outwitted, and out-lived by the sturdier female.

Are women biologically more resistant to disease and death than men? Is the male animal shortening his life by greater aggressiveness, greater exposure to stress and disease, or by ignoring the laws of health? Can anything be done to reduce male mortality?

The sex ratio at birth — 105 boys for each 100 girls — as well as death rates have always been higher than the female rates. It has long been assumed that women are biologically more resistant to disease, tolerating pain and illness better than men.

There are also striking differences in causes of death for each sex. Lung cancer kills six times more men than women. The male death rate from syphilis and ulcer of stomach and upper small intestine is three times as high, and twice as high from tuberculosis. Three times more men than women commit suicide or are murdered.

The odd thing is that higher male mortality, compared with females, extends to most animal species as well as to humans.

Because of the excessive mortality among males, their advantage in number at birth are offset by age 20. In 1900 the white American female averaged 1.9 more years of life than her male counterpart. In 1959, her life expectancy was 5.3 years more than the male.

Men are helping shorten their own lives. They have insisted on carrying the greater responsibility and have had to develop aggressiveness to meet that responsibility. Result: more worries, more stress, more contact with disease and physical dangers.

Women, on the other hand, are more likely to release pressure through tears, rest when they feel poorly, consult their doctor early when ill, and follow medical instructions better than men.

Much can be done to reduce excessive male mortality. One investigator has suggested a nationwide inventory of the physical, mental, and emotional assets and liabilities of men in preparation for intensifying the attack on accidents and occupational diseases and the research into cardiovascular diseases and cancer.

Alleviating the stresses of competitive living in a materialistic age requires that the fragile male be continuously instructed in the laws of health and encouraged to follow them.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

STOP FOR SCHOOL BUSES

Thousands of school children are now back in school throughout Texas. Many of them are being transported by school buses. Most people are careful when approaching a school bus which may be standing beside the road or school to pick up school children or allow them to alight. However, we have already had some very bad accidents this year because a child or a motorist, or both, were careless at that very time.

Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not always apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious.

When it comes to overtaking and passing moving vehicles, exercise of ordinary common sense will generally keep a driver within the law. For instance, when passing a car it is only common sense to proceed on past it a safe distance before cutting back to the right side of the highway. Also, any driver would realize the danger of increasing his speed while another is attempting to pass him.

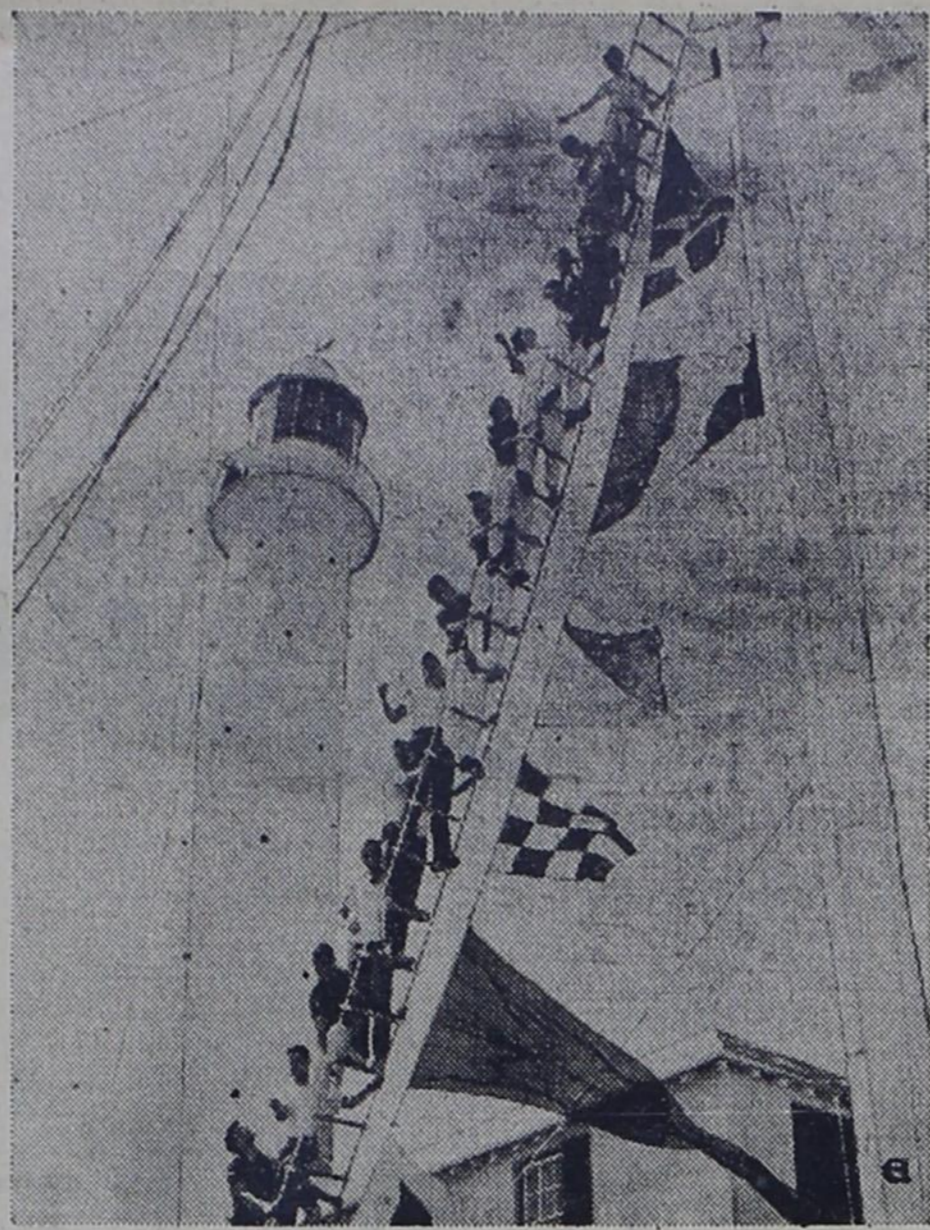

In the same category is the prohibition against passing on the right under most ordinary conditions. Of course, you may legally pass on the right in a few specific instances, such as when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn, or upon a one-way street with two or more lanes, or upon a four-lane highway.

However, our traffic laws state that even when passing on the right is allowed, it shall be done only under conditions permitting such movement in safety. And, in no event should such passing be accomplished by driving off the pavement or main-traveled portion of the roadway.

Familiar to all are the no passing zones designated by yellow lines placed to one side of the center line on our highways. Not so well known are the restrictions against crossing the center line when approaching within 100 feet of or when traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

A driver should never cross the center line of a highway when the left side of the road is not clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic. Generally speaking, when not engaged in passing another vehicle, one should not drive to the left of the roadway.

ANOTHER DRY CYCLE FOR TEXAS?

Farmers in the bone dry, parched areas of Texas are apt to find little comfort in predictions of a Denver meteorologist.

"By 1972 or 1975 we're likely to have seen a drought on the Great Plains more severe and more sustained than the droughts of the 1930's and 1950's," according to Dr. Walter Orr Roberts.

A director of the high altitude observatory at the University of Colorado, Dr. Roberts made his long-range forecast shortly after the end of the disastrous 1950-57 drought. And now after a six year interval, several South and Central Texas counties are once again being designated as drought disaster areas.

Some hope can be gained from a New Englander, Dr. Hurd C. Willett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This summer, Dr. Hurd C. Willett said the Southwest should begin to get some relief from its present dry spell before the end of 1963. He qualified his prediction "off the cuff", however, based on a cursory glance at the statistical pattern of dry cycles.

In some respects, Texas is in much better shape to withstand the ravages of a drought than it was at the start of the long scorcher of the 1950's. The Texas Water Conservation Association figures show that in 1950, Texas had only 3 reservoirs with 5,000 acre-feet or more capacity which held a total of 7,400,000 acre-feet of water. Stock and irrigation needs during the seven-year drought depleted this supply alarmingly.

Today, however, Texas now has 116 such reservoirs with a total usable conservation storage capacity of 14,932,000 acre-feet. Twelve more are under construction which will have 9,055,000 acre-feet capacity when completed. Should another long drought be on the way, Texas will have approximately three times more water in reserve than it had 13 years ago.

These figures are reassuring but do little to help farmers in dry land areas which are heavily dependent upon annual rainfall to make a crop. This includes a majority of the Texas cropland. But at least, efforts to increase our storage capacity in recent years has done much to provide adequate municipal water and much livestock supplies.

The early cotton harvest is giving farmers a real opportunity, say extension entomologists, to carry out a stalk destruction program. A good clean-up program, they say, can provide a real boost to insect control. An increase in the number of pink bollworms has been noted during the past three seasons and early stalk destruction and a farm clean-up offers a practical method for reducing their numbers.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

If you are one of those people who believe that the Internal Revenue folks collect money on April 15 and sort of look for work the rest of the year, you are wrong — for several reasons.

Tax dollars roll in to the Dallas District office at the rate of $7,000,000 a day. July is a light collection month, but taxpayers in the northern half of Texas paid $95,000,000 during July 1963. Some months the taxes run almost $200,000,000.

Withholding taxes, excise taxes, gasoline taxes, and even the $50 gambling stamps, bring more dollars into the federal till throughout the year than the terrible deadline effort taxpayers make on April 15th.

Next to excellence is the appreciation of it.—Thackeray

Knox Prairie Philosopher Having A Hard Time With The Big Problem Of Selling American Wheat To Russia

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek faces up to a different international problem this week.

J. A.

Dear Editor:
There are some international problems which I'd just as soon not have to solve.

For example take wheat. As I understand it, the Russians are to buy a lot of surplus wheat from the United States. I guess in order to get enough strength to handle the shovels they're planning on burying us with, and the offer, especially since it mentions cash in advance is troublesome to answer.

One side says no, don't sell them Communists anything. The other side says why not, we got all this surplus wheat staring us in the face and costing us money to store and if Russia doesn't buy it from us she'll buy from Canada or some other country, so why not take the money and spend it on defense or apply it on the national debt if it's not unconstitutional to reduce it.

It's that cash-in-advance angle that makes this a hard problem to answer. If she wanted to borrow some wheat, or buy it on credit, any Congressman could give you the answer, but cash on the barrel head . . . this is a question that requires judicious debate.

It stumps me, I don't have the answer, but I think I can tell you what we'll do. We'll sell.

Human nature is hard to control. I've never yet seen a prohibitionist lumberman who wouldn't sell material to build and.

bar if he got the cash, a reactionary insurance man who wouldn't sell insurance to a liberal. Cash, like music, seems to be a universal language.

Personally, I don't have any wheat to sell, but if you hear of any country in the world wanting to buy some Johnson grass seed, let me know and I'll rattle with the problem.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Artist Honored At Coffee On Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Leflar entertained with an informal coffee at their home Saturday, from 4:30 to 6:30 honoring Melvin C. Warren of Fort Worth. Mr. Warren exhibited some of his paintings for patrons and other invited guests.

Living quietly in his comfortable home in Fort Worth, Warren is an artist who has devoted many years of his life to painting Western landscapes and preserving western lore in oils. He has been commissioned to paint covers for such periodicals as Texas Livestock Journal, etc.

Mr. Warren, 43, painted his first oil at the age of 12 while living with his parents near Los Angeles, Calif. In his early childhood he lived near Seymour, and finished high school there. He is the son of Era Warren of Fort Worth. His first formal lessons in art came while living in Seymour where he painted many Western landscapes, ranch and rodeo scenes. During his early youth the family moved frequently and young Warren lived in almost every state in the Southwest. This early association with the picturesque beauty of the country left the youth with a strong ambition to capture the rugged, scenic story of the West on canvas.

During the war years, Warren served with the armed forces from 1941 to 1947. After the war he received a degree in art from T.C.U., and made Fort Worth his permanent home. A shy and unassuming man, the artist has developed his technique with the brush to the point of being classified as a leading contemporary Western artist. His ability to depict animals in action is similar to the recognized masters of Western art, Charles Russell and Frederick Remington.

Mr. Warren's work is carefully painted, preceded by considerable research for authenticity. He has been employed as an artist by Ashburn Co., Fort Worth, for the past 9 years. He has had one man shows in Fort Worth, Dallas and Santa Fe, N. M., and has permanent hangings in the Helbling gallery in Fort Worth. Critics have said of him that his ability to capture the true movement of animals on canvas and the technique with which he transmits the motion is a rare talent.

Mr. Warren's wife is the former Lucille Moore of Carthage, and they have two daughters, Mrs. Charles Bowden of Fort Worth, and Patti Warren who is a student in Arlington State University. Two sisters of the artist live in Munday, Mrs. Shelton Phillips and Mrs. Wilkie Guinn.

THIS DAY, A PAGE

Do you follow the Rules, God tells us to do, Look close, and you'll find, that each one does come true.

Your conscience may be a constant guide, But in line, with the Bible, we must abide.

Not one, He finds perfect, as Christ all in all, If we reach for the heights, in His sight, we stand tall.

We awaken, today, to a rose-hued dawn, that is fringed with gold, to travel, on A clean white page, from the Book of Life. Before you mar it, think once, better twice.

And without these pages, lived good and true, There can be no gold, to blend with the blue.

The knee must bow, the tongue confess, if this day we bring, True happiness, When recording today, it might well be, the last page written, By you, or me.

We shall love the right, and hate all sin, when our book is Closed, if we would enter in.

Mrs. Sam Stone

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. McClellan of Seymour and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw of Bay City visited Mr. McClellan's sister, Mrs. C. N. Smith, last Tuesday.
