Many Race Horses Have Been Entered In Haskell Races

Haskell, Texas, Sept. 26th 1933.—With the biggest purses offered this year in West Texas and with entries pouring in, the Haskell Race Meet to be held on October 19th, 20th, and 21st, promises to be this year's outstanding sporting event in West Texas. $1,500.00 has already been set aside for purses and more will be provided in the near future.

Horsemen from all over the state are showing a great deal of interest and entries for 76 horses have already been received at this time, a month before the opening day of the races. In addition to the early entries made by Strickland and White of Brady, Chas. E. Hummel of Kingsbury, George Darlea of McCauley, R. E. Summerlin of Rotan, Spert Barrett of Trenton and George B. Cabbell of San Antonio entries have been received for 2 horses from G. W. Weldon of Pickwick, 3 from J. W. Ray of Cisco, 2 from Theo. Dunman of Novice, 3 from Dr. Winchester of Amarillo, 4 from C. Locklear of Goldthwaite, 5 from Ed Deahl of Panhandle, 2 from Schultz Brothers of Kingfisher, Oklahoma, 4 from Tom Patterson, 3 from Tom Davis, 2 from Phil Brick, 4 from C. Anderson, 1 from Bill McClay, 2 from C. P. Swenson, 2 from Muldock, 6 from Gilbert, 2 from Davidson and 3 from Lindsey. Most of the last named owners live in the Panhandle with a few from Oklahoma and Colorado and Mr. Steve Knight, starter for the Haskell Race Meet, who is now working in the various Panhandle race meets estimates that approximately 100 horses will come to the Haskell Race Meet from that section at the end of the meets there.

Among the horses so far entered are White and Strickland's "Queen of the Forest," "Mountain Law," and "Pan Toy," J. W. Ray's "Dolly," "Mighty Does," and "Gold Crevis," Charles Hummel's "Miss Snappy" and "Silo Flight," George Darden's "Honey Babe," "Flash" and "Jack O'Diamonds." Most of these horses have been outstanding winners in various meets over the state and promise real competition in the Haskell Race Meet.

The first day of the Race Meet has been designated as Haskell County Day and will be featured by a race limited to Haskell County horses and a Texas Breed Race with a minimum purse of $155.00 over a 7-8 mile course. The second day will be given to six running races, one of which will be limited to lady riders only. The third day will be Abilene Day and will have as its feature a one mile race with a minimum purse of $130.00.

In addition to the regular program of races arrangements are being made by the various owners of horses for matched races which will be run on the program and will be an added attraction for those attending the races. Entertainment will be provided between races and on the Midway by Tidwell's Shows with their 6 rides, 12 shows and 30 concessions will provide attractions for the visitors. Exhibits of livestock poultry, textiles art, individual farm exhibits and exhibits of all kinds are being collected and premiums aggregating $1,200.00 will be given to the winners.

Judge Braly Dies At Pampa, Brother of Munday Citizen

W. E. Braly left Tuesday in response to a message advising him of the death of his brother, Judge Clifford Braly, who died at Pampa Tuesday following a long illness. Funeral services were conducted Thursday morning at Pampa and the remains were laid to rest in Dalhart Thursday afternoon.

Judge Braly was 52 years of age. In 1908 he was a member of the legislature from Milam county and on a legislative trip to the Panhandle country he was so favorably impressed with that section that he decided to locate at Amarillo, where he practiced law for a number of years, later moving to Dalhart. He was the first and only judge of the 114 District Court, which was abolished last year. In addition to serving as district judge, he served both the 69th and 131st districts as district attorney, and was regarded as one of the most able attorneys in the Panhandle.

Survivors include the widow, two sons, Clifford, at the University of Texas, and Tom, at the University of Oklahoma, his mother and two brothers.

Felix Decker Died August 30th At His Home at Palo Alto

Felix Decker, 47 years of age, died on August 30th at his home in Palo Alto, California after a brief illness, according to information received by relatives here. His death was attributed to complications arising from injuries received while in the army during the World War. Mr. Decker resided in the Rhineland community a number of years ago, but moved to California about 18 years ago, and has resided at Palo Alto since going to that state. His relatives here include his father, Fred N. Decker, of the Rhineland community, and the following brothers: John, Emil, Henry, Alfred Fred and Jerome Decker, all of the Rhineland community, and two sisters Mrs. Frank Herring of Rhineland and Mrs. Louis Raatz of Austin.

Iowa Park and Munday to Play Here On Sunday

Skipper Lee Haney has requested that we extend his apologies to the fans of this community for the disappointment Sunday afternoon, and explain to them that the Iowa Park boys were forced to cancel their engagement to play here at the last minute due to the fact that the Iowa Park Fair, which was in progress there, was extended to run over Sunday and a number of the players were forced to work in connection with the fair.

However, he has again matched a game for Sunday afternoon with the same team, and they will be on hand Sunday afternoon without fail, and the fans of this community will be given an opportunity to witness one more ball game, and it should be a good one, as the Iowa Park lads were winners in the Wichita-Archer league, and Munday was the winner in the Wichita Valley league. Van Horn, Iowa Park's famed "submarine" ball pitcher will work for the visitors while "Lefty" Hambricht will perform for the Munday aggregation. The game will be called at 3:30 and the admission price will be 15c to everybody.

Bristow Aerial Circus Will Be Here Saturday

The Bristow Aerial Shows will stage an Aerial Circus here on Saturday that promises to be something entirely different from anything that has ever been in Munday, and should provide thrills aplenty for the spectators who attend the attraction, which will be staged on the baseball park on the Bowden farm just east of town.

According to Jess Bristow, manager of the company, they will have two big monoplane here, each capable of carrying six passengers, one of which is a Ryan monoplane which was specially built for Reg Robbins and Jim Kelly, Fort Worth endurance flyers at a cost of $18,000, and the other a six-place Stinson cabin monoplane. One of these big machines will be used in their stunt performances, which in itself is something unusual and is seldom attempted on account of their great weight.

Another feature attraction will be a death-defying stunt on motorcycle by the "Flying Dutchman." A strong board wall will be erected on the flying field and set on fire. The motorcycle rider will attempt to crash this wall of flame on his motorcycle at a speed of 70 miles per hour. This is said to be a new thrill producer and has never been done in Texas more than half a dozen times. The board wall will be on display in Munday Saturday.

Palace Cafe Is In New Location In Bank Building

Workmen have been engaged this week in remodeling the old State Bank building on the east side of the square, into which the Palace Cafe has moved. An awning has been built across the front of the building and numerous other improvements made, and the removal of the cafe to this building will give Mr. McGraw quite a bit more room for his market and grocery business in the other building.

Watch Out for Stowaways!

READY TO SERVE

Never before in the history of Munday have the merchants of this city been in better position to serve you as they are at this particular time. They have purchased large stocks of merchandise early in the season and have protected their customers against recent advances in merchandise of all kinds, and in many instances advances have been so rapid as to bring wholesale costs up to prevailing retail prices.

We recently looked at a late wholesale price list on one of our dry goods stores and found that overalls that the merchant was selling for $1.40 was now listed in the wholesale price list at $18.00 per dozen, and we know of many instances where merchandise is being sold at less than actual wholesale cost today—because the merchant bought their merchandise before the advances and taxes were effective, and they are passing these savings on to their patrons.

And remember this; the Merchants of this town expect to do business with you from day to day and from week to week and year to year, and they must sell you dependable merchandise to merit a continuance of your patronage. They must sell you merchandise of standard quality if they expect to continue to do business with you. You will find on the shelves of Munday merchants the very highest quality of merchandise to be had. They do not take chances on selling you off-brand merchandise, for they know that such goods will not stand the test, and would injure their business.

In dealing with our home merchants you take no chances in misfits, no difficulty is encountered in making exchanges. You see exactly what you are getting for your money and do not buy upon an exaggerated description. You must be pleased or you need not buy.

Our merchants have invested here many thousands of dollars in goods in order that you may have what you want when you want it. They strive to know your needs and be in position every day of the year to supply them without delay or disappointment. They are here to serve . . . they are doing the job well . . . and deserve your undivided patronage.

They stand ready to serve you—with no ready-to-serve charge. They are entitled to your business, they merit your patronage.

W. T. U. Company Pays Nice Sum In City and School Tax

Riley B. Harrell, tax collector for the City of Munday and the Munday Independent School District, has received checks from the West Texas Utilities Company for both city and school taxes for the current year. The check for school taxes amounted to $712.00, whilst that for city taxes was in the sum of $362.50.

Mr. Harrell states that the payment was badly needed by the school district in order to meet the current expenses. Others who have responded to the request for school tax payments early are Mrs. N. Dobbs, W. H. Sheedy, Mrs. Mary Munday, Mrs. J. W. Rogers, Mrs. P. B. Baker, J. J. Haskin estate, and the above taxpayers who own property within the city have also paid their city taxes.

Knox Farmers Receive Checks Totaling $77,000

Knox county farmers this week received additional cotton checks aggregating a little more than $77,000, which were distributed by County Agent W. E. Jones early this week, which brings the total amount received by Knox county farmers to about one-third of the amount to be received.

Many of the checks were distributed in Munday and all afternoon the First National Bank was crowded with farmers receiving their checks and making deposits and looking after other business matters.

While many farmers are getting somewhat impatient about their checks they have the satisfaction of knowing that they will come through in time, and as many of them are harvesting their crop and receiving some money they are not so badly in need of the money now as they were some time back.

Funeral Services Held Saturday For Mrs. Chas. Rowell

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the home of C. C. Jones for Mrs. Charley Rowell, 27 years of age who died Friday in a Wichita Falls hospital following a prolonged illness. Services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Albertson, after which the remains were laid to rest in Johnson cemetery.

The Times joins the many friends of the family in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Rep. Geo. Moffett Gives His Views On Legislation

Mr. J. A. Kennedy, Munday, Texas.

Dear Sir: I have received several letters from people in your community about the bills now before the Legislature, and I am glad to get them.

It may seem to the people back home that the Legislature has been working slowly on these bills, however sometimes it is best to make haste slowly. Tremendous pressure has been brought upon the members of the Legislature to repeal the Anti-Trust laws, but I think it would be a very serious mistake, and very much against the interests of the average man and woman in Texas if this Legislature should repeal the Anti-Trust Statutes now on the books in Texas. And I feel like the least possible change or amendment to them that this Legislature makes the better it will be for the interest of the people of this State. These laws were passed for the interest of the people, and have served their purpose well, and in my judgment, should be altered as little as possible.

In regard to the relief legislation, a great many members including myself have come to the conclusion that some of the money spent for relief should be for hospital and medical care. Under the present law it cannot be used this way, and I for one believe that when a person is sick and without funds that they are more entitled to relief than a person in almost any other circumstance. And I am very anxious to see this amendment written into both the Federal and State regulations.

Another group of members including myself are doing our very best to get the license fees reduced on small farm trucks. At the present time it costs about $33.00 a year to even register a Model A or Chevrolet Truck; and a great many of these vehicles, more especially those upon which the farmers haul seed cotton to the gin—would not sell in the open market for more than $100.00. It seems to me entirely out of line for a vehicle worth only about $100.00 to pay an annual registration fee of $33.00, and I am very much in favor of seeing it reduced. And if the Governor will submit the question a bill will probably be passed to bring this about.

I would be glad to have comment from you or your readers at any time.

With sincere personal regards, I am

Very Truly Yours,

George Moffett.

P. S.—If anyone in your community desires an appointment as Notary Public I would suggest that they communicate with me at once, and I will do my best to get the appointment made at this Session.

QUALITY—of our girls

I was talking the other day with a gentleman who for many years was one of the heads of the personnel department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

"Did you ever realize," he said, "that the girls who operate the telephone switchboards are the pick of the young women of America? I don't mean in skill alone, but in character and devotion to their work. Only one girl in ten who starts with the telephone company manages to make good for a permanent job. And nobody gets a chance unless she can come to a very high standard of personality and intelligence."

LIKE—faithful servant

"Like" Hoover is dead. An hour before he expired on the door-step of his home in Washington he was chatting with newspaper men at the White House about the people and events that had passed under his eyes in the forty years in which he had served as "major domo" of the Presidential mansion. Someone asked him why he didn't write his reminiscences. He replied that he had been offered an enormous amount for the "inside story" of the White House occupants since Mr. Cleveland, but he didn't believe in cashing in on confidential information.

Irwin Hoover was a young electrician when he installed the first electric lighting and push-button system in the Executive Mansion when Mr. Cleveland was President. Nobody knew much about electricity then, so the President employed the young man to see that all the wire systems were in running order. Pretty soon he was seeing to it that everything in the White House was in running order, and through six administrations and the beginning of a seventh he was in charge of all formal events and activities as well as in charge of the building. Everybody called him "like" and everybody loved him. He was a faithful, genial public servant.

ART—sidewalk market

One evening not long ago I went into the old section of New York known as "Greenwich Village" to dine at a popular restaurant. I found one street for several blocks and two or three cross streets crowded with people who were inspecting paintings, drawings, etchings and sculptures exhibited out of doors by artists of that section of the city.

Everything was for sale, and the selling was brisk. I was amazed at the excellent quality of most of the works of art being shown, but I was still more amazed, as I watched the crowd, at the enthusiasm of people who did not look as if they had an idea in the world beyond filling their own stomachs.

The love of beautiful things is universal, but too few of us carry it to the point of being willing to part with our money to buy what the artist paints.

NEWSPAPERS—looking back

I like to study old newspapers, because everything printed in them gives a clue to the manners, thoughts and habits of the people at the time when they were printed.

In one ancient paper, printed just a hundred years ago, I saw considerable space given to a method of protecting graves from grave-robbers. The subject was of lively interest in the days when the only way medical schools could get human bodies for anatomical study was to buy them from grave-robbers.

We have come a long way in a hundred years. It is not at all uncommon for men to will their bodies to medical colleges, and many other legal ways of obtaining subjects for study are common enough.

I have never been able to figure out that there is anything particularly sacred about a dead body. I have no quarrel with those who believe literally in the physical Resurrection, but it would seem absurd as miscellaneous to reassemble the millions of skeletons I saw in the Catacombs in Rome as to bring back those lost at sea or in any other unidentified resting place.

Many baseball fans gathered here Sunday afternoon to witness a game scheduled between the Munday team, winners in the Wichita Valley league, and Iowa Park, winners in the Wichita-Archer league, but at the last minute the Iowa Park lads notified Skipper Lee Haney that they could not fill the engagement and the fans were disappointed.

Ford Dealers Will Pay $1,000 For 15 Word Story on Car

The Ford dealers of Oklahoma and Texas are offering one thousand dollars in prizes for a fifteen word statement describing "The Feel of the Ford at the Wheel."

Simple rule contest blanks are available only at local Ford dealers. Anyone is eligible by taking a 20 mile drive at the wheel of a new Ford V-8 car accompanied by the dealer; then writing their impressions of the "Feel of the Ford at the Wheel" in a fifteen word statement.

The one thousand dollars prize money will be awarded in twenty-three units: $500, first prize; $250, second prize; $100, third prize; ten prizes of $5 each.

An interesting phase of the contest is the fact that the winner of the first prize will be receiving better than thirty-three dollars a word for the statement, which is better than the price paid to big name authors for their stories.

All entries must be postmarked not later than October 31st midnight. The entries will be judged by executives of the Ford dealers' advertising agents, and winners announced by November 15th, if it is possible to complete judging the incoming mail by that time.

MOVE THE BRIDGE

The proposal to move the bridge on the Brazos between Vera and Munday to Rhineland and pave the cutoff from the Rhineland lane on Highway 24 to intersect Highway 20 at Munday is a movement which should receive the approval and cooperation of all Knox County. Added to the program of highway and construction in Knox County, on completion all major trade centers in the county would be connected by all-weather roads. On Highway 18, Knox City, Benjamin, and Truscott will soon be out of the mud. On Highway 24 Vera and Benjamin are already linked by a hard-surfaced road. By adding the cutoff from 24 to 20, all the towns above mentioned would be connected so that travel in any kind of weather would be possible. Rhineland has needed a bridge to cross the Brazos it is now necessary to either ford the river or to either go up or down for several miles to get to a bridge. The cost of moving the bridge below Rhineland to Rhineland has been estimated at $10,000. Federal funds have been made available for the construction of lateral roads and the construction of the proposed cutoff is the best bet that Knox County has to participate. Let's get behind it and make it a reality.—Benjamin Post.

TO ALL OLD MEMBERS OF FARMERS UNION

By resolution passed those who have not paid dues for 1933 should do so before November 1st if you expect to benefit from dividends on entire crop.—J. E. EDWARDS, Secretary.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that Senna is the best laxative for everybody. Senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It has the average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore, ready for use. Member N. R. A.

Many Entries In Club Exhibit of County Held Here

Six clubs and seventy-five club members participated in the competition of the Home Demonstration Club exhibit for Knox County held here on Friday and Saturday of last week under the direction of Miss Jewell Faulkner, home demonstration agent for Knox county, in which 311 containers of food were judged in addition to the numerous other items exhibited. The awards were placed by Miss Johnnie Reed, home demonstration agent for Haskell county, and Miss Vera Lee Jones, county home demonstration agent for Kent county, while Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent for District No. 2, was an interested visitor to the exhibit and complimented the ladies very highly for their excellent display and the high quality of same.

The Munday club was awarded the prize for having the most complete exhibit of any club in the county, and Mrs. Roy Jones of Hefner was awarded the prize for having won the greatest number of points on items exhibited. This latter prize is a trip to the State Fair at Dallas.

In addition to the interesting display of foods there were eight entries in hooked rugs, and as this work is somewhat new to the club members of Knox county, no first place was awarded, but it is likely that within the next year some very attractive specimens will be made by members of the clubs in the county and much interest is being shown in this work. Also there was more than two dozen dresses on exhibition which had been made from foundation patterns under the direction of the home demonstration agent. As these dresses had been previously judged in the dress contest they were merely exhibited at the exhibit here. In this contest, which was conducted in June, Mrs. Roy Jones was awarded first place and her entry also won honorable mention in the state contest.

In connection with the exhibit here the Knox County Council on Home Demonstration club women wish to express their sincere thanks for the excellent cooperation given them in arranging the exhibit here. Especially do they wish to convey their thanks to the Joe Mayes Implement Company, Wm. Cameron Co., the Masonic Lodge and the Roberts Ice Company for the cooperation given.

Individual awards on the various foods exhibited here were as follows:

- 1 Quart Canned Tomatoes—Mrs. Roy Jones, Hefner, first; Mrs. Lola Cartwright, Munday, second; Mrs. Hodges, Union Grove, third.
- 1 Quart Canned Beets—Mrs. Brice Dobbs, Munday, first; Mrs. L. P. Jones, Munday, second; Mrs. L. W. Hebert, Munday, third.

Brazos Is Texas' Biggest Public Works Project

When Senator Tom Connally, Congressmen Luther Johnson and O. H. Cross, and John A. Norris, Chairman of the Texas Board of Water Engineers, appeared in Washington before Deputy Public Works Administrator Waite, and asked that $50,000,000 be appropriated to bring the Brazos river under control of the people who live in its watershed, one of Texas' long cherished ambitions was brought a step nearer realization. Briefly, the Texas delegation sought from the Federal Government the finances wherewith to make the Brazos River the servant, rather than the master, of almost two million people. Competent engineers had assured the Texans that a system of reservoirs, dams and dikes would check the reckless fury of the river that in seventeen short years has destroyed more than $29,000,000 of property, claimed the lives of 251 people and impoverished thousands more; indeed, tentative plans had been devised to bring the river's flood waters under control, to provide water for irrigation and energy for generating electricity. Some have contended, even, that waters impounded in the upper regions of the Brazos system would stimulate rainfall.

Only two flood control and waterways projects of comparable magnitude have been submitted to the Public Works Administration. Of the two, one is President Roosevelt's own Tennessee River project, and the other is concerned with the Columbia River in the far northwest. And, in passing, it may be said that neither of them would serve so many people per dollar invested, nor an area potentially so productive.

Popular Interest Needed
 The Texas application is neither approved nor rejected. No ballyhoo after all, in its program of public works the administration spends and loans the public's money, and it would be less than human did it fail to lend ear to the magnified voice of organized bodies upon the one hand, and discount the whisper of small groups, however sound and sincere, upon the other.

The little group of men who have carried the burden of preliminary preparation have made a splendid case for the Brazos project. They have convinced Washington that it falls within the scope of the public works program; that it is, in a measure at least, self liquidating; that the benefits created far exceed the expense of creation; that it deserves preferential consideration because it creates so much employment of manpower that it would provide a constructive, if not an imperative, public service; and that it would not only conserve, but create wealth.

The Administration at Washington upon more than one occasion has demonstrated its impatience with people who hesitate to fend for themselves. The old adage, "The Lord helps those who help themselves," has been changed to read "Uncle Sam helps those who help themselves." Unless a radical change of policy has been initiated, Washington waits to hear from the million-and-a-half potential beneficiaries of the Brazos project. Obviously, popular interest and activity are now the prime requisites for successful consummation of a program that was conceived more than thirty years ago.

Runtree and Tiltson
 The late Lee J. Runtree, of Bryan, traced the legislative trail that eventually led to the creation of a legally constituted body charged with the responsibility of overseeing and directing preliminary surveys looking to control of the Brazos flood waters. Runtree died before the goal was achieved, but Leonard Tiltson took up the fight and lived to see the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District created by the State. Tiltson became the first manager of the District, selected by a temporary board of directors, including such prominent citizens of the Brazos watershed as W. A. Myrick, of Lubbock; George G. Chance of Bryan; C. M. Caldwell, of Abilene; F. E. Harrell, of Cisco; R. E. Baskin, of Seymour; L. E. Seaman of Mineral Wells; Frank Oltorf, of Marlin; P. L. Downs, Sr., of Temple; T. S. Henderson, Sr., of Cameron; William Hallmark, of Dublin; William Sandifer, of Franklin; John M. Lawrence, of Bryan; Ward Templeman of Navasota; D. C. Giddings, of Brenham; G. D. Ulrich, of Sugarland and L. Mims, of Freeport.

Under Tiltson management, the War Department was persuaded to approve a survey of the project, and in 1931 reported upon a tentative plan that would control the waters of the flooded Brazos in such manner as to insure the safety of inhabitants, conserve rich soils that were being carried into the Gulf of Mexico and reclaim thousands of acres of overflow lands of incomparable fertility. This preliminary survey contemplated the construction of 23 giant reservoirs with capacities ranging upward from ten thousand acre feet to one and one quarter million acre feet. While the exact locations of these dams and reservoirs would have been determined in the final survey by such considerations as the need of adjacent lands for irrigation and favorable topography, approximate locations were fixed as follows:

- No. 1. On the Clear Fork, south of Anson.
- No. 2. On Clear Fork, west of Albany.
- No. 3. On Clear Fork below No. 2.
- No. 4. On Palo Pinto creek SE of Palo Pinto.
- No. 5.—
- No. 6.—
- No. 7.—
- No. 8. on the Brazos river proper, between Palo Pinto and Waco.
- No. 9. On Acquilla creek, west of Waco.
- No. 10. On Bosque river west of Waco.
- No. 11. On Nolan's Creek south of Cleburne.
- No. 12. On Bosque river west of Hamilton.
- No. 13.—
- No. 14.—
- No. 15. On con River, near Hamilton.
- No. 16. On Cowhouse Creek, northeast of Lampasas.
- No. 17. On Leon River, north of Belton.
- No. 18. On Lampasas River, below the junction of the Lampasas and Leon rivers.
- No. 19. On Cowhouse Creek, west of Belton.
- No. 20. On Brushy Creek, south of Thorndale.
- No. 21. On San Gabriel River at Jonah.
- No. 22. On Navasota River below San Antonio-Nacogdoches road.
- No. 23. On Navasota River below San Antonio-Nacogdoches road.

In filing their application with the Public Works Administrator, engineers for the Brazos district showed that completion of the project would reclaim a total of 1,260,000 acres of fertile bottom lands for uninterrupted year-round agricultural operations. Not a drop of flood waters originating above the City of Waco would pass that point to play havoc with the lives and property of people living in the lower reaches of the Brazos system; while enough water would be impounded in the reservoirs above Waco to irrigate a maximum of 640,000 acres of rich but thirsty land. And were this not enough, one might add to the sum of benefits the protection of lands against erosion, the value of impounded water to the hydroelectric industry and the recreation value of the reservoirs to a pleasure-seeking population.

Education is Best Investment

In the words of the poet, "the melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year," because of the fact that the football season is again at hand and we begin to hear the pitiful lamentations of all the football coaches in the country. One of the unexplained facts of football is that football coaches are the world's most confirmed pessimists.

By the side of the average football coach the average stock market "goat" and the cotton farmer and the depressed business man will sink into nothingness when it comes to hangin' crepe and bein' pessimistic. In other sports it is altogether different and is considered quite proper to look for and predict victory now and then. Just before a big game the baseball manager will tell you that he expects his team to knock over the opposin' team in rapid order. The mighty prizefighter will tell the whole wide world that he will quickly hammer his foe into jelly. But not so with the football coach. When you ask him for a prediction his voice gets sad and trembly and his eyes will fill with tears as he tells you of injuries, poor material, and hard luck. He leaves you feeling that his team will be lucky if it escapes total destruction in the next game.

Seems like a lot of the colleges around the country is tryin' to outdo each other in gettin' publicity and win students by the use of new stunts or so-called courses. For example Northwestern University is goin' to have a lov'n' "clinic." We guess the laboratory of it will be just most anywhere on the campus. Then up in Chicago the girls are wearin' pajamas to school. But that ain't nuthin' now because Texas U. and A. and M. and Baylor and a lot of our other Texas colleges has had a course in "sleepin'" for a number of years. And somebody else has suggested a new university for hoboes. Of course we don't know anythin' about the plans for the hobo college, but we imagine it will specialize in athletics with cross-country runs. Somebody else has suggested that every college establish a "chair of laughter" in order to help dispel the depression blues. Well, one of the best "chairs of laughter" I have seen in operation was the one that slipped from under Travis Bryan at the Baptist church at Bryan one night.

While on the subject of goin' to college, here is somethin' v'ery interestin'. Have just read where a psychologist says that humans are most intelligent at the age of 14. This is before they have time to learn so many things that ain't so. It's funny how habit gets hold of a feller. For example, there is now many a father who worked his way thru college and is now workin' his boy's way thru.

Speakin' of college, no wonder the average college freshman is such a standin' joke or that so many of 'em flunk out of college when it is recalled how little most of 'em really know or what a small part they remember out of all they so patiently taught.

Talkin' about teachin' reminds me of readin' where several towns have passed a rule against hiring married women in the schools and in other public jobs. Seems like, from the viewpoint of a lot of us men, that they have gone and got this thing backwards.

When work is scarce there ought to be somebody to keep the unmarried women from workin'. Now, where a woman is married and has a husband to support (and maybe some children, too) then it is o. k. for her to get a job, but there ain't no reason for girls workin'. It ain't to help the father or family for the daughter to work, for she will spend that much more on herself. Whenever a woman applies for a job she should be asked if she has a husband to support and if she ain't, then she shouldn't be hired. Every time you give a job to a single woman it means that some good married woman is bein' knocked out of a chance to support her husband. This is a matter to do a lot of thinkin' over.

But gettin' back to the college business, notice where a State University in one of the Western States has been havin' a big fuss between the president and the students because the proxy objectin' out loud to the practice of neckin' and likin' drinkin' half-way publicly on the campus. Of course, not bein' up-to-date on the business of runnin' colleges, we can't tell whether this will result in cleanin' up this college or whether it will mean an increase in students. At any rate it would appear that the courses of a lot of colleges these days includes not only Greek and French, but a little Scotch, also. Perhaps the reason the modern college student in most cases don't turn the midnight oil like the old-timers did in because they don't get in soon enuff. However, we don't guess the present day crop of students is entirely beyond hope, because we see where the University of Kansas School of Fine Arts has established a class of harp-playin'. The charge has been made that the modern college education ain't practical, which ain't true. As an example, look how perfectly and splendidly cheer leading fits a person for a job callin' trains.

But, gettin' down to "brass tacks" and layin' aside all foolishness and jokin', it is our honest opinion that a college education is the best investment we can make or the best gift anyone can receive. It ain't a question of what a college education will cost. It is a question of how much it will cost the youngster not to have the education. It is far more a necessity than a luxury. It is worth a hundred times more than all the trouble and sacrifice it may require. Instead of saying, "go west, young man," I would say go to college young man—and young woman too.—LS AKERS in "East Texas" Magazine.

DISGUSTED AUDIENCE WALKS OUT ON MARX BROTHERS

The four Marx brothers were not considered so "hot" when they lived in Farmersville, Texas, and attempted to put on a program in the old Dreamland theatre at Commerce, according to the following report of the Commerce Journal:

The four Marx brothers, now one of the most popular teams on the screen drawing large salaries and enjoying the plaudits of crowds everywhere they make a personal appearance, are a far cry from the group who had the audience walk out on their performance when they made their first stage appearance in Commerce during 1910.

Only the three older Marxes, (Groucho, Chico and Harpo, as they are known by nicknames tacked onto them since then) were here, accompanied by their aunt to stage a musical program of classical numbers. The family lived near Farmersville and came to Commerce for a two night stand at the Dreamland theatre which was located where S. L. Moore's offices are now.

The Marxes, although young (the youngest was about fourteen) were talented musicians and played well the type of music their aunt had selected for them, but it didn't go over with the audience who began leaving the theatre as soon as their act started. The management suggested a change for the following night and the Marxes worked up a vaudeville act interspersed with selections of popular music.

Doug Mitchell, who has been connected in some way with every theatre Commerce has ever had, was operator at the Dreamland at the time and remembers that an old railroad hat, punctured out of shape with broomsticks, was worn by Chico in the second performance. Chico still wears the same type of hat, though it is greatly modified.—Clarksville Times.

DOROTHY, DARNIT

By Charles McManus

BRUCE BARTON

...writes of "THE MASTER EXECUTIVE"

Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the busy business man who will find every business idea parallel in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

"WHAT GAINETH IT?"

IN Jesus' hour of the second crisis he proved his right to be the silent partner in every modern business; to sit at the head of every directors' table. There is no mere theorizing in his words; he speaks out of what he himself has proved. If he says that a man's work is more eternally important than any title, he has a right to speak. He himself refused the highest title, "King". If he says that there are things more vital than merely making money, let no one question his authority. He was handed the wealth of a nation and handed it back again. Idealist he is, but there is nothing in the whole hard world so practical as his ideals. "There is a success which is greater than wealth or titles," he says. "It comes through making your work an instrument of greater service, and larger living to your fellow men and women. This is my Father's business and he needs your help."

He told one business story which should be published every year in all magazines of business, all trade papers, all house organs. It concerned a certain rich man whose enterprises prospered beyond all his expectations. His land "brought forth plentifully," so much so that he said to himself: "What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?"

And he said: "This will I do; I will pull down my barns and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods."

And I will say to my soul, "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry."

But God said, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee."

The poor fool had regarded his business as nothing but a means of escape from business. He had hoarded his wealth, denying every generous impulse; spent his health, forfeiting every chance for wholesome enjoyment; sacrificed the joy of living for a selfish satisfaction that he hoped was coming when he had made his pile. And Fate laughed in his face. He thought he had provided for every contingency, but the one great Event which is always unexpected came like a thief in the night and found him unprepared.

With that business anecdote should be published another, which is also a tragedy. It concerns the little hotel in Bethlehem, "the inn."

The mother of Jesus of Nazareth knocked at its doors and could not come in. It might have sheltered the greatest event in human history, and it lost its chance.

Why? Why was Jesus born in a stable? Because the people in the inn were vicious or hostile? Not in the least. The inn was full, that was all; every room was taken by folk who had affairs to attend to and money to spend. It was busy. It was so busy that the greatest event in history knocked at its doors—and could not come in.

Are YOU HAPPY After Meals

Or Do Gas on Stomach and Sour Stomach make you Miserable?

Too much food, or the wrong kind of food, too much smoking, too much beer, make your body over-acid. Then you have distress after eating, gas on stomach, heartburn, sour stomach.

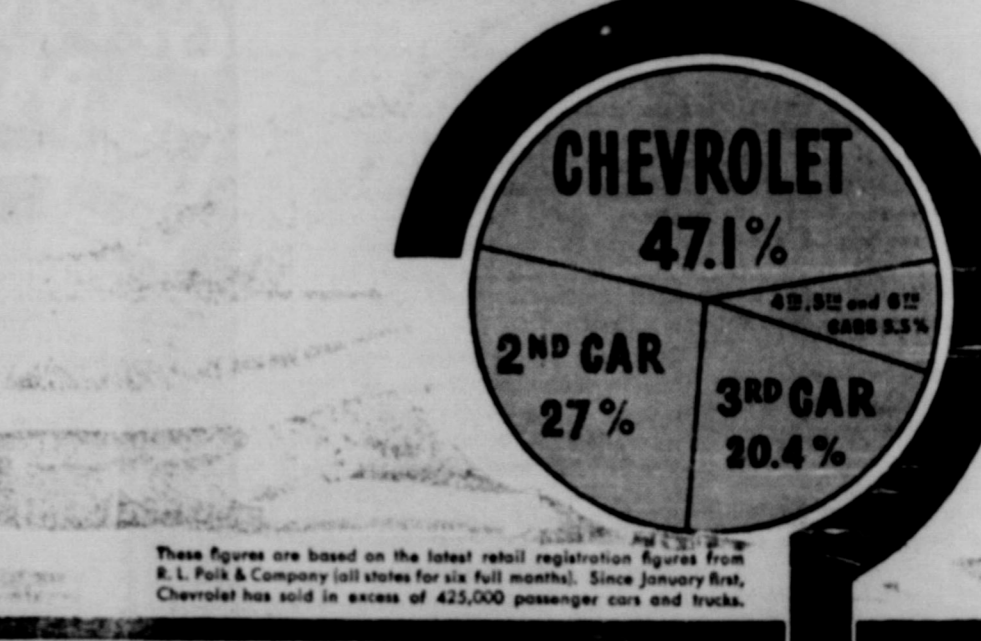

ALKA - SELTZER relieves these troubles promptly, effectively, harmlessly.

Use Alka-Seltzer for Headache, Colds, Fatigue, "Morning After Feeling," Muscular, Sciatic and Rheumatic Pains.

Alka-Seltzer makes a sparkling alkaline drink. As it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

Alka-Seltzer tastes like carbonated mineral water—works like magic. Contains no dangerous drugs... does not depress the heart... is not laxative.

Get a drink at your Drug Store, Soda Fountain. Keep a package in your home medicine cabinet.

Can there be any stronger recommendation for a car than this

NRA America can't be fooled when it comes to spotting the best "buy" in any field. America knows too much about motor cars for that. So when one certain car wins almost as many buyers as the next two put together, you know the answer: IT MUST BE BETTER. And that's what the new Chevrolet Six most certainly is.

Chevrolet is better looking—Chevrolet has better bodies—built not just of steel alone, but of steel reinforced by a sturdy hardwood frame. Chevrolet has a better engine—six cylinders for economy, cushion balancing for killing vibration! And Chevrolet gives better value—a long line-up of modern features which no other low-priced car can match.

Now is the time to start thinking about a new car for winter! And when you do so, think of the way Chevrolet is leading in sales. Could you ask for any stronger recommendation for a low-priced car than that?

Thinking Out Loud

By J. A. K.

The Kelly-Bailey-Bates case has crowded all other news off the front pages during the past few days, and it is gratifying to society to know that our government is actually on the job to stamp out this type of lawlessness.

Gangsters who waxed rich off the liquor racket for years have been forced to seek other channels of income, and kidnapping seems to be their next best bet, and an outraged public is hoping that the powers that be will not permit this racket to gain anything like the headway as did the liquor racket.

If the government would include a few dozen crooked lawyers in with Messrs. Kelly, Bates and Bailey they will have accomplished much in stamping out the most disgraceful racket that has ever existed in this country.

An Italian writing to O. O. McIntyre, noted columnist, stated that the great achievements of Balbo and Mussolini would be forgotten in the United States by reason of the fact that a few of their countrymen participated in kidnapping and other phases of lawlessness. However, he stated that Mussolini knew how to deal with them in Italy and if this country would take the firm steps that are taken by the Italian government there would be few such crimes in this country.

But with our complicated system of legal procedure and our smooth criminal lawyer gangsters there are too many technicalities to make much headway in stamping out lawlessness.

The cyclops of this column is still waiting impatiently for an invitation from Editor Harrison to visit the Baylor county capitol, and unless we hear from him soon we may make an appointment with him to meet us at the county line.

This is the good old fall season, when everybody is busy and on the run. We only wish that we might keep this hum of business going the year round, but if we did, we would not have much time for golf and the like.
