Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

We deeply appreciate those of our friends who have shown concern for us!

k-k

Enroute to the post office Monday, Paul Pendleton and Varney Moore stuck their heads in to see if we had survived the week end. They thought, perhaps, we were one of the unfortunate celebrators who landed in the hospital or hoosegow.

k-k

Truth is, it was about the wildest football week end that Dallas has ever hosted. It was climaxed, as usual, by the celebrations of Texans and Oklahomans before and after their annual battle in the Cotton Bowl.

k-k

We got one radio report that as a result of Friday night's carry-over, 11 had landed in the hospital and 168 in jail. Our two who checked on us had much larger figures than that!

k-k

We knew from past experience that it wasn't entirely safe to be in the vicinity of the Adolphus and Baker Hotels at any time Friday evening or night. We played it comparatively safe, and went to the Cotton Bowl to see the S. M. U. Mustangs wallop the tar out of the nation's No. 4 football team, Navy.

k-k

An elevator operator at our hotel, the Southland, was booming the way those college kids carried on. As an act of consolation, someone remarked to her that it only happened once a year. "Yes," she said, "but it's something you will remember all year!"

k-k

We suppose Big D is still recuperating from the wild week end, since she hosted four big-time football games in as many days. We ambled through the Baker Hotel lobby on Saturday night, and there still wasn't a stick of furniture in there. The carpet had been rolled up and the floor was a dirty mess, showing signs of spilled liquids, etc.

k-k

It was a week end of football upsets. The one we regretted the most was the defeat of our own Moguls right here at home, and while we were watching S. M. U. take Navy in that thriller. We don't expect this defeat to spell the end of our Moguls, however, and they will go on to win some conference games.

k-k

Texas' win over the Sooners was sort of an upset—but one we enjoyed—in that the Oklahoma team held the top spot in the nation, with Texas in second place. Before the game was over, though, U. T. students were chanting "We're No. 1, Now!"

k-k

We sorta guess the Longhorns made them happen, but everything happened to the Sooners at the wrong time. They had three passes intercepted, one or more punts took crazy spins and bounced back in the wrong direction after hitting the ground, their quarterback missed his man on a pitch-out one time in what started out to be a beautifully executed play, they had pass interference called against them on Texas' one-yard line. They made half as many first downs as Texas, and gained a little over half as many yards rushing. And one thing of importance—they made just one-fourth as many points.

k-k

We'll always wonder what became of the old boy who was waving a neatly-printed placard saying: "I'll kill myself if I don't get a ticket."

k-k

Heard, too, that the Governor had sent in requesting 18 tickets, but there were none available. And some Oklahoma fans flew down to Gainesville so they could watch the game on TV.

k-k

Several of the top ten teams didn't fare so well. No. 3, Alabama was upset by Florida 10 to 6; No. 4, Navy went bye-bye to S. M. U. by a 32 to 28 score. Wisconsin, No. 5, was winner over Purdue, and Pittsburg, No. 6, was idle.

k-k

No. 7, Southern Cal, was beaten by Notre Dame, 17 to 14 and Ohio State, No. 8, drew a 20-20 tie with Illinois. Penn State, No. 9, fell to Army, 10 to 7 and No. 10, Mississippi, was idle.

k-k

Shucks, we're kinda upset, too. But we're still rooting for the Moguls!

Texas Supreme Court Takes Haskell's Miller Creek Case Under Advisement

HASKELL — The State Supreme Court took under advisement Wednesday of last week a case protesting use of city water revenues by the City of Haskell in legal action fighting the Miller Creek Dam project which would provide a water supply for Haskell, Goree, Munday and Rule.

The court heard oral arguments from both sides, and both sides appealed for an early decision in the case to ease tension which has built up in a long drawn-out series of legal maneuvers.

Members of a Haskell citizens committee who sat through a third airing of the controversy (the case previously has been heard in district and civil appeals courts) before the high tribunal included R. W. Herren, former president of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority, Dr. T. W. Williams, Haskell physician and civic leader, and their wives. The committee is headed by John Kimbrough, who was not present at Wednesday's hearing. The City was represented in Austin by Mayor J. E. Walling Jr., and all but two members of the City Council, R. L. Stephenson and Bob Sego.

The water authority was created by the legislature in 1957 and approved by voters in Haskell and the other member cities. Then the authority obtained a permit from the Texas Water Commission for construction of a 25,000 acre-foot reservoir in June 1961, after $3.8 million worth of bonds for construction had been voted in 1958.

Haskell city officials lost their first attempt to cancel city participation in the project when their claim that it is unconstitutional for an appointive board of Reservations should be sent to John Loyd Lambeth not later than October 17. Dinner tickets are $1.40 each.

A highlight of the homecoming will be a football game Saturday night between Oklaunion and the Goree Wildcats.

Moguls Take On Holliday Friday

The Munday Moguls, whose title hopes suffered a severe jolt in the 16-8 loss to Henrietta last Friday night, will "take to the road" for three consecutive games before playing another one at home.

Friday night, they journey to Holliday for a conference tilt with the Eagles. According to dopesters, the Moguls should have no great trouble since the Holliday team has only one victory which was a 22-0 upset against Throckmorton. The Eagles have dropped five in a row, and all by wide margins.

Fans will be following the Moguls to Holliday in large numbers.

The Moguls still have some rough sailing before closing out this season. After this week, they still have Paducah, Crowell, Archer City and Chillicothe to contend with.

Munday Moguls Toppled By Henrietta Bearcats By 16 to 8 Score On Friday

Munday's gallant Moguls, who were given a slight edge by dopesters, were toppled by the hard-battling Henrietta Bearcats last Friday night on the local field. The final score of 16 to 8 left local fans stunned, for their hopes had soared toward the district championship again this year.

Munday took an early lead with their only score, which came in the first quarter. Fullback Lewis Flores rambled 44 yards to cross the goal stripe. Skip Lane, quarterback, tossed a pass to Pete Alcalá for the two-pointer.

The Bearcats used a grinding attack to rack up scores in the second and final periods. Eugene Franklin, fullback for the visitors, scored from 12 yards away and with one second remaining in the first half. He also made the conversion for two points.

In the third quarter, Henrietta intercepted a Mogul pass and with the help of two 15-yard penalties, were in scoring position again. The Moguls' stubborn defense stopped the drive—but not for long. On the first play from scrimmage, the Moguls' pass was again intercepted, and the Bearcats went on to score when McClean ran 24 yards. Franklin carried over for another two-pointer.

Statistics showed the Moguls leading in almost every department except in scoring. Pete Alcalá gained 97 yards for the Moguls, while the Bearcat fullback, Franklin, gained 88. Henrietta led in first downs, 15 to 9, but Munday gained 185 yards rushing to 166 for the visitors. The Moguls were nil in the passing department, while the Bearcats gained 22 yards by this method and intercepted two Mogul tries. Punters were 4 for 33.5 for Munday and 3 for 40 for the visitors.

The Moguls were penalized three times for 31 yards, and the Bearcats once for 15.

JOB MAKER

Of what use are profits?
 There's a quick and easy answer. You can say that profits benefit the owners businesses, large and small. And so they do—though it is a fact, according to various public opinion polls, that the percentage of profit earned by typical enterprises and whole industries is far lower than is generally believed.

That aside, profits have another extremely important use. They make jobs.

A brief editorial and statistical graph in the August issue of Nation's Business tells the story concisely. Its substance is this: "When profits are low, unemployment is high. When profits are high unemployment is low. In short, profits make jobs."

The graph—which covers the 1954-1962 period—bears out these words. When profits are squeezed down, unemployment rises. When profits are adequate, unemployment declines.

Yes—profits make jobs.

DULUTH, MINN., PUBLICITY: "If the Government listens to the Chamber of Commerce of Kingfisher, Oklahoma, it can save $110,000. That body voted to ask Uncle Sam not to build a half-block long post office in their town, and to use the money saved to whittle down the national debt a bit."

OSWEGO, KAN., INDEPENDENT: "It looks like the proposed federal tax reduction legislation is going to be enacted, regardless of the fact that at the same time more governmental expenses are going to have to be met. President Kennedy, and many of the present democratic administration seem to think this can be done. Devise a plan to decrease the intake while plans have already been disclosed to show that the outlay is to be increased a few billion. Assuredly it is going to involve a principle that cannot be handily taught in school."

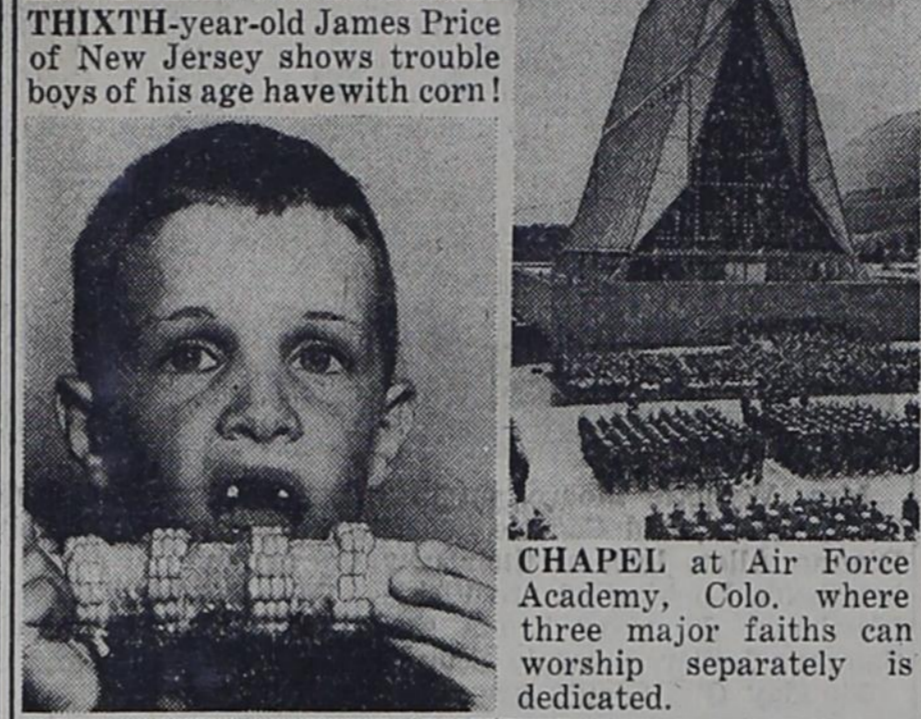

GIDDINGS, TEX., NEWS: "Since . . . most all the schools in Texas are receiving federal aid for education, they can well expect to have to take orders from the federal government. At least it should keep the kids under better control. Skipping school (playing hooky) could be a federal rap."

AGRICULTURE

Chemical Safety

Livestock owners are once again cautioned against the deadly danger of allowing their farm animals to graze in cotton fields which have been defoliated by the use of certain chemicals.

This warning comes on the heels of new reports this fall of cattle dying from the effects of arsenic poison. A North Texas farmer lost 20 cattle overnight after they had grazed in a field where an arsenic-containing cotton defoliant had been applied earlier.

The proper use of agricultural chemicals is of great significance to farm productivity in our nation today. However, lack of information or caution in their use can be disastrous.

Chemical manufacturers are required to take every possible precaution in the making, distribution and sale of their products. A wealth of information is provided on the proper use of the compounds. But there is no safeguard against carelessness of the applicator.

Many defoliants used on Texas cotton today contain arsenic acid which is economical and effective in defoliation but can be dangerous to animals for a certain period of time. In many cases, cattle should not be allowed to graze the fields. Rather, the stalks should be plowed under as a normal farming procedure.

Farmers are urged to guard against possible animal losses by seeking full information before applying any chemical to their crops, take extreme caution during application and keep watchful control of chemically-treated fields. The use of some chemicals is presently regulated within Texas. Read the directions on the can and check with your county agent or your Texas Department of Agriculture if you are in doubt as to the best methods of application and control.

Highway Engineer Cites Low Costs Of Interstate System Of Bridge Building

AUSTIN — Texas is building bridges across its Interstate System at the lowest cost per square foot of any state surveyed in a nationwide report, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced today.

Greer revealed that a recent study of crossroad bridges built on the Interstate Highway System across the country showed Texas' No. 1 ranking in the bridge-building category. The study was conducted by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The study showed that Texas was the most economical state in building prestressed concrete, cast-in-place concrete, and structural steel bridges across Interstate highways.

The average cost for these three types of bridges in Texas was $6.13 per square foot. The next closest state, Kansas, spent $6.50 per square foot for the same structures. Other states ranged all the way up to New Jersey, which spent $15.50 per square foot for identical types of bridges.

Farm Facts

Fluorescent powder, a material often used in law enforcement, now is used by scientists in tracking boll weevils.

The technique was developed at the South Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station and with it workers are able to "tag" weevils with a coating of the powder and find them after they are released in fields.

An ultraviolet light is carried at night by workers and any weevil in its glow will light up, allowing researchers to see the insects from as far as 12 feet away. They can even be seen through a young, thin cotton leaf, according to scientists.

Even the path taken by the boll weevils will show up, allowing study of their movements on the cotton plant. The powder has no apparent physical effect and remains effective for more than three months.

Previous methods forced research men to search slowly and painstakingly through each plant in making population studies of field-released test weevils. The new technique makes it possible to count the weevils as fast as the worker can walk.

Guard Against Loss Of Credit On Social Security

Loss of credit earned under social security may be the result of using an incorrect social security number.

Do not depend on memory; be sure every employer actually sees the social security card.

When an employee gives his employer an incorrect social security number it may prevent the employer from properly reporting the wages paid the employee. This will, at best, delay posting of the employee's earnings to his social security record.

There is no need for an individual to memorize the social security number issued to him. If the card is lost it can easily be replaced by the Social Security Administration after he completes a simple application form. These application forms are available at any post office, as well as any Social Security Administration office.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Law Grows

You want the law to grow to meet new challenges, but you do not want it to change completely. The law is like a boy; it must grow up to meet the changing world, but you do not want it to change overnight.

When you buy or sell a house, you want the law to stand firm. You do not want your deed upset by some new law overnight. When you make a will you would like its terms carried out long after you are gone. In short, you do not want your law to upset your plans. So you want a stable law.

Yet the law cannot foresee all the changes that are to come, and it must be able to grow and meet new circumstances. Sometimes old rules, in terms of modern life, are too harsh and should be changed. It is a good thing that our laws can change—by court decision, legislation or by constitutional amendment.

Take an interesting case: until recently a farmer believed he owned his property rights straight up as high as he wanted to claim them—to the sky even. But, meantime, the airplane flew these skies. If your ownership went to the sky you could stop anybody's flying over your property. Or you could charge him a toll. But if landowners got a toll on airplane fare, travel would soon become too costly.

How do we change a system of laws to preserve the essential use of our property and yet let people enjoy airplane travel?

You could not tell briefly how this was done. But, within the past few years, we have carved out a whole new body of law by court decision and by law making. We have met the new problem without impairing unduly the older property rights of holders.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Department has been able to hold bridgebuilding costs to a low level through standardization of many details.

"For example, the Department has standardized the steel shoes which allow bridges to expand and contract with changes in temperatures," the State Highway Engineer said. "Contractors become familiar with these standardized items and are able to submit lower bids on bridge contracts."

"As another example, the Department uses a considerable number of standardized prestressed concrete beams," he said. "These beams are standardized in three sizes. Fabricators for these beams have steel forms on which they can use over and over without having to build new forms for each job—thus keeping their costs down and lowering our contract costs."

"The Department also makes good use of the pan girder form in building concrete bridges. This is a system we developed in the late 1940's which allows contractors to use steel pan forms for pouring concrete beams without having to fabricate form work for each new job," he said.

Farmers May Get A Head Start On Mother Nature

Farmers may soon be able to keep two steps ahead of mother nature by accurately predicting the growth rates of their crops, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

By the use of a formula developed by the Department, plant responses to specific environmental influences can be measured. The formula is based on the relationship between leaf development and environmental factors.

It is applicable to any plant species and could be used with equal success to calculate the importance of any environmental influence on any crop. The scientists have already measured four influences known to have a strong effect on plant development. They are temperature, moisture, light intensity and day length, according to the Department.

The researchers say that a grower could tell ahead of time just when to irrigate or fertilize his crop and in some seasons he would be able to save water and fertilizer and the labor required to apply them. The formula would also help scientists in developing new crops of value by enabling them to predict their adaptability to the various growing areas of the U. S.

Technically the formula is a mathematical equation that expresses the relative monthly contribution that each environmental influence makes to a plant's growth. The scientists used corn and three new crops in their experiments which may some day put farmers two steps ahead of nature and eliminate some of the guesswork connected with farming.

FARM and RANCH Notes

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Paul T. Marion's "cow cafeteria" will highlight the Rolling Plains Experiment Station's annual fall field day at Spur on Friday, October 25. Marion is superintendent of the Spur substation and personally directs all beef cattle research activities there. His pet project features a feedlot breeding herd that has never been on pasture. Visitors will see these cows and their 4th calf crop at weaning time.

Other items of special interest to area ranchmen will include reports on brush control research, water conservation practices and cow and calf operations on native pastures.

The Field Day program will get underway with a tour of the station from 9 to 12 a.m., followed by a "dutch treat" chuck wagon lunch.

Afternoon speakers will include E. D. Robinson, station range scientist; W. J. Waldrip, superintendent, Texas Experimental Ranch; Dr. Morris Bloodworth, head of A&M's Soil and Crop Science Department; J. K. Riggs, animal husbandry professor; and H. O. Kunkel, associate director, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

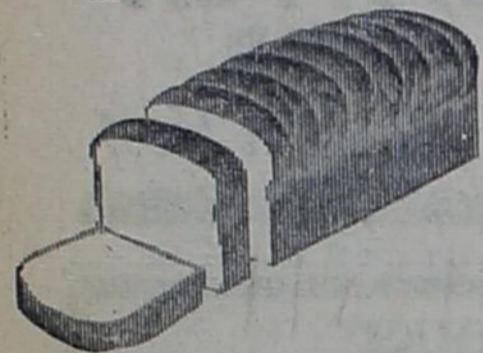

The days activities will be concluded with a question and answer session.

4-H Club volunteer adult leaders and 4-H Club members in every county of Texas will benefit from a recent $25,000 grant made by the Board of Directors of the Moody Foundation to the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

Calvin T. Johnson of Dallas, Chairman of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, stated on receipt of the grant, "We believe this investment in 4-H, approved by the Directors of the Moody Foundation, is representative of a growing awareness and appreciation on the part of individuals, firms, and foundations in the 4-H Club youth movement. No other youth organization, in my opinion, provides boys and girls greater opportunity to experience first hand principles of our agri-business economic system and to gain an understanding of individual citizen rights inherent in our U. S. Constitution."

The Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation was organized by Texas leaders of agriculture, business and the professions in October of 1962. The Foundation's mission is to seek and disburse funds from private sources to underwrite 4-H Club activities for which no prior funds were available. Individuals, firms, and

If you have noticed wax or gum oozing from the trunk of your peach and plum trees, they are probably infested with peach tree borers and now is the time to control these pests.

The insects damage the trees from about a foot above the ground to three or four inches below it.

Treatment for peach tree borers is Paradi-chlorobenzene crystals applied to the infested trees between October 20 and November 15. All weeds and grass should be removed from around the tree trunk for about a foot and the P D B crystals placed in a circular band around the tree about two inches from the trunk. A mound of dirt six inches high should then be packed against the tree without allowing the crystals to touch the tree as they will harm it if they do. Leave the mounds until spring, then level them back to the original ground line.

Two to three year old trees require about 1/2-ounce of P D B crystals per tree, and four to five year old trees need about 3/4-ounce per tree. A mature tree requires 1 ounce of crystals per tree.

When the crystals are placed around the trees the soil should be dry, and the soil temperature should be above 55 degrees F.

SIXTY TONS AND WHAT DO YOU GET? With a unique display of technical skill and ingenuity, engineers have placed sixty tons of overhead air conditioning at the Six Flags 40,000 square foot open air Amphitheatre. The delightful show as well as the benefits of this cool innovation are reflected in the faces of the theatre goers.

SIX FLAGS PLAYING IT COOL

If you hear someone saying it's as cool as all outdoors, don't be too sure he's referring to the winter season. He may be talking about Six Flags in the summer.

The reasoning behind this statement is that engineers at the 115-acre Park, located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, are attempting to set up enough air conditioning units to cool off a large portion of the big tourist attraction.

Nearly 700 tons of air conditioning are already in operation—enough to cool a 16-story building, according to management.

The latest project involves air conditioning the Six Flags Amphitheatre. This 1200 seat open-air theatre, where the popular Campus Revue musical variety show takes place, encompasses approximately 40,000 square feet of space. Completion of this unique innovation is expected this week and theatre goers can watch the entertaining show in cool comfort, thanks to sixty tons of overhead air conditioning.

At Six Flags all of the queue lines as well as buildings are completely air conditioned.

Engineers and technicians still have a long way to go and right now "Old Sol" is in the lead over the Park's cool air output. But work is continuing to add new units for better visitor comfort. The price of trying to air condition much of the entertainment area at Six Flags would stagger the imagination. However, management feels it's well worth it, when the comfort of its guests is concerned.

It would seem to be somewhat of an impossibility to have the coolness of one's own living room throughout Six Flags. Yet one park technician smilingly summed up the situation by quoting a famous phrase. "The difficult we do today, the impossible takes a little longer."

Abilene visited her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stalcup, Monday.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Amazed To Discover That The Big Experts Think That Part-Time Farming Is New

PHILOSOPHER
Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his johnson grass farm on Miller Creek disagrees with the experts on a modern trend in farming, his letter indicates. . . .

J. A.

Dear editor:
Sometimes you'll find that an expert is somebody who has just discovered and announced what a lot of people have known for years.
For example, I was reading a magazine last night which a salesman had left out here during the afternoon, well he didn't actually leave it, he dropped it while he was trying to beat my dog to his car, and in it I discovered a long article on the changing trends in agriculture. In case you're wondering, the salesman won.
At any rate, according to this article, some experts have discovered that the modern trend in agriculture is toward part-time farming.

commission. James W. Wilson, member of the City of Haskell's Austin law firm, called Clark's approach to the dam controversy "emotional" and said "dams are good, ipso facto, just like mothers and flags."

Wilson said the people here who are trying to keep Mayor Walling and his City Council from spending public money on the water battle would win out in the long run unless the Supreme Court settles this case in time for the city to prepare its district court case against the water commission. At a date setting hearing in Austin in September before the 126th District Court, Wilson said he would need the testimony of experts.

Upon questioning by Judge Calvert, Wilson suggested that a "less ambitious" water project might not be objectionable to the city in the future.

A Supreme Court decision on the tax money use arguments is not expected before two or three months, the average waiting time on such rulings.

4-H Crop Producers Follow Their Grain To Terminal Market

CHICAGO—One of the largest terminal markets in the United States, the Chicago Board of Trade, has become a major point of interest for rural 4-Hers who branch out into production of corn, wheat, soybeans and other field crops.

In addition to learning how to produce high yields and quality grain the young agri-businessmen become interested in finding ways to market it most profitably.

It's easy for the young farmers (some are girls) to learn what happens when they sell grain at the local elevator, but difficult to determine where the grain goes and how it influences the market after it is shipped to larger centers.

To help understand the economics of buying and selling crops, the 4-H Grain Marketing program is provided for 4-Hers in 13 states, mainly in the wheat and corn belts.

It introduces them to grain testing and grading and shows them how grain is processed at manufacturing plants or bought and sold at market exchanges. They learn how grain is exported, how pests such as weevils are controlled, and how government policies affect the market.

The Board of Trade sponsors both the marketing program and a three-day tour and clinic for about 50 grain project members and their adult leaders.

The program, supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, has been continuous since 1951. The 1964 clinic and tour will be held January 28 through 30.
