IT'S PART OF GROWING UP!

When four-your-old Johnny grabs a toy away from his younger sister, his mother will take immediate steps to correct him.

She may talk to him and explain what he did wrong-or, if is a repeated offense, she may punish him-but whichever method she uses, her purpose will be to teach Johnny good manners.

Johnny's mother knows, as do millions of other parents, that learning good manners is a part of growing up. She wants Johnny to be well liked and popular when he gets older, and so she knows she must help him become well-manner-

If Johnny's mother is wise, she will put just as much effort into helping him form safe traffic habits. It can be just as slow and painstaking a job as teaching him good manners. It can be even more important.

Learning safe traffic habits also is a part of growing up-indeed, how well the lesson is learned can, and often does, determine whether a child will have a chance to grow up. Last year more than 4,000 children, killed in traffic, didn't get that chance.

Recognizing the importance of traffic safety for our future citizens, the Texas Safety Associaation and the National Safety Council are conducting a month-long program on child safety in September.

To this vital and worthy fort we would like to add our support, and this advice to parents: "Teach your child safety as you would good manners."

What takes the biggest bit out of your day's pay? The answer is taxes, direct and indirect, according to a novel chart issued by the Tax Foundation.

The Fundation took for its example a wage parner working eight hours a day and with an income of $4.500 a year, all of which he spends. Then it figured out just how much of his working time is needed to meet each category of ex-

The tax burden, it found, accounted for two hours and 34 minutes of each day's gainful work -far more than for food, housing, clothing, recreation, or any other item.

LOOKING FOR BUSINESS

In spite of today's high prices, many enterprises are earning smaller net incomes than used to be the case. This is largely the result of two factors-extremenly heavy operating costs, and intense competition among both producers and distributors for the public's patronage. The result is described in these words by the magazine Printers Ink: "Few things interest top management more these days than how to increase sales. New markets, better saturation of old markets, new products, better packaging and merchandising of old ones, premium offers, special sales, improved products, price cuts."

Printers Ink was speaking primarily of manufacturers. The same thing is true of retailing. The time when a merchant could sell practically anything by just putting it on display has passed. Supply is equal to or greater than demand in practically every field. In short, a buyers' market exists-which means every store, from the smallest independent to the biggest national chain, must concentrate day in and day out on trying to offer the fickle customer a lower price, a better product, or some other inducement.

This is one of the hallmarks of a free, competitive economy-the kind of economy that does more good for more people than any other devis- lations.) ed by man.

WILL OF THE PEOPLE

Senator Styles Bridges has issued a report on the record of appropriations of the first session of the 83rd Congress. One part of it deals with reductions in appropriations as compared with the past. And here the Senator makes this heartening statement:

"Reductions were based on the will of the people that further encroachments by government on private enterprise were no longer to be tolerated, except in those areas where private enterprise was unable or unwilling to function or where, directed by national security or national interest, private enterprise could not operate."

We need a lot more of that kind of thinking in government today.

HOW WE GOT OUR BIBLE

(VERSIONS)

The Syric Version was tranlated from the original language into six dialects of Syria early in the second century. Perhaps some who have read this version knew some of the writers of the New Testament. Notice this version was in the SECOND century, not the fifth.

The Old Latin Version was translated from the Greek into Latin at the close of the second century.

The Coptic Version was translated from the Greek into the Egyptian about the close of the secend century.

The Gothic Version was translated in 375 by Ufilas for the Goths who had crossed the northern borders into the Roman Empire.

The Latin Vulgate was a revision of the Old Latin into which the New Testament had been translated in the second century. This work was done by Jerome in 385 A. D. and Jerome says that he used a Greek Bible belonging to Origen who lived in the early part of the third century.

The Bible having existed in all these languages before 390 A. D. With this in mind it is amazing that a claim could be made that the Bible was not collected together and given to the world until 390 A. D.

More amazing still, that some people believe it.

From where I sit, this was just a "Tiny" demonstration of the way people in our town are. They're usually pretty considerate and tolerant. If one of our neighbors prefers a good glass of beer to his friend's coffee at dinnertime, it's just each to his own taste and everything's "smooth as cream" between them.

Goree WMU Observes Program On Week Of Prayer On Monday

Members of the Goree W. M. U met at the First Baptist Church in Goree last Monday for an allday meeting to observe their week of prayer program for home missions.

Mrs. S. E. Stevenson was leader for the day, with Mrs. Homer Howard, Mrs. Ruth Temple, Mrs. Sam Hampton and Mrs. George Weber as co-leaders. About 15 ladies took part on the program. A paper sack lunch was enjoyed at the noon hour.

FORT WORTH-Cattle and calf prices broke sharply at all major market centers Monday as the season's largest offering, The Wesleyan Service Guild nearly 150,000 cattle, arrived.

The downward swing of prices starvation runs of livestock brought about by the Labor Day holiday had lifted prices sharply in all categories.

Suspension of the drouth that it was time to put some cattle in the bank.

Visiting in the home of Mr. Many well informed people in and Mrs. W. G. Hollis in Trus- the livestock and packing busilis and daughter, Mrs. H. D. percentage of slaughter of cows Patterson and Jackie of Lub- and heifers and expressing conbock, and Douglas Mayberry cern. They feel that no real inroads have been made into the big numbers of cattle and that on the basis of present slaughter figures, the cattle population is still rising.

> State PMA Boss Claude Mc-Can gave a fair indication of the change of climate in PMA and the Department of Agriculture generally with his statement last week on the drouth disaster program. He said: "This is a disaster program, not one aimed at giving people some cheap feed." McCan says what he thinks every time, as many of the members of the livestock industry know from past experience. Such frank expressions are entirely new to government programs.

At Fort Worth Monday, good and choice fed cattle were scarce, selling from $18 to $21.50, with plain a n d medium grassers largely from $10 to $15.50, and some dairy breds down to $8. Fat cows $9 to $11.50, and canners and cutters $6 to $9.50, some high-yielding brahmas and Western cutters at the higher figure. Bulls drew $8 to $12.

Good and choice fat calves $13 to $17, few heavies $17.50. Plain and medium butchers $10 to $13. culls $7 to $10. Stocker steer calves mostly $10 to $16.50, few $17.25. Stocker steers and yearlings $10 to $15.50. Replacement cows $8 to $12.

Times changes everything. Long cussed and discussed as the scourge of the pork industry -lard is now a hero! Soon the hungry Germans under the Communist heel really love the lard the United States is giving them. USDA has asked bids on around 15 million more pounds. Late purchase at near 16 cents per pound highest in some time for lard. They do say the East Germans dare death or torture to get a couple of pounds of pure

Hogs climbed 75 cents at Fort Worth Monday. Topped at $26. Sows again selling at season's high of $23 to $24. (Lots of lard in those packing sows). Some sows up to 600 pounds sell to $22:50 or better.

Sheep and lambs active and fully steady at Fort Worth Monday. Advances of last week were held in the strong trade. Fat lambs $15 to $18, lower grades $8 to $15. Stocker and feeder lambs cashed at $10 to $15. Slaughter yearlings sold from $10 to $13. Old wethers drew $6 to $7. Slaughter ewes sold from $5 to $6.

Many sheep and cattle men are anxiously awaiting developments on wheat field pastures. Looks like wheat will get up but grazing will depend on whether more rains come or not this month. There could be lots of stock feed in the wheat belt if moisture conditions improve.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hertel and spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Bilbrey Henrietta, Henry Michels and Mrs. Carl Jungman and family were business visitors in Abilene Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jungman in Vernon.

Smut reduces the yield in the field and smutty grain is docked on the market. This smut is hard to recognize in the field except by its foul odor and the somewhat greener color of the infected grain heads. The kernels of the infected plants change to smut balls, and when the grain is combined, these smut balls are broken and millions of the healthy wheat seed.

Oat and barley smut, on the other hand, is easily recognized by the black, barren heads in ommends that producers check with their local agent on the kind and amount of the chemical to use. The cost is very small and in addition to controlling stinking smut, the treated seed germinate faster, more seed germinate which means a better stand and yield, says Dines.

Loose smut of wheat is something else, explaines Dines. It too, leaves empty black heads in the field but cannot be controlled with chemicals. It can be controlled by a difficult hot water treatment, however. Dines suggests that it might be better to get clean wheat seed from growers who were not bothered with loose smut last season.

Helminthosperium blight is a relatively new disease which at tacks oats. It affects the roots and stems of oats causing weakened stems and later lodging. It can be controlled by the same chemicals used in treating seed for protection against stinking smut, however points out Dines, the control may not be as complete as for smut. Oat verieties which are attacked by the blight includes some of the Victoria crosses as Fultex, Rustler, Ranger and Victoria Grain.

With limited wheat planting again in force, Dines says, producers should use every proved quality wheat and chemically Mrs. S. B. Jackson of Lubbock. chemically treating the panting seed is of major importance. It o wl them s.guffo
