L. A. Neece Winner Of The Big Premium; Grover Jones Second

Little did Grover Jones expect that he would be a winner in Saturday's premium distribution when he consented to act as a judge. He only had a very few tickets in the boxes, and the $100.00 awarded to him was on a ticket given him by the Tate Furniture Company when he purchased a second-hand heater for $7.50. Hence he has the stove and $25.00 in cash without cost to him.

The $15.00 went to L. A. Neece on a ticket issued by the Gray Filling Station. Miss Erna Malcolm was awarded the $7.50 on a ticket issued by the E. E. Akers Dry Goods Company. The $5.00 went to Mr. J. B. Little on an unmarked ticket while W. P. Cleveland received the $2.50 on a ticket issued by the Guinn Hardware Company.

Girls In T. C. U. Are Interested In Course Better Home Making

Girls in Texas Christian University are interested in home-making and they don't mind admitting it. In answer to a question as to why they study in the class in interior decoration by Prof. Samuel Ziegler, head of the art department, two-thirds of the girls stated that they were interested in the course primarily because they were interested in beautiful homes. These girls expect to have a home of their own some day and are learning how to furnish it correctly.

Contrary to the popular belief that college girls in these modern times are wild and frivolous or masculine and interested in the professions, the statement that these girls are home-making. These girls in the class are taking the course because they want to make their decorating their life-work.

Prof. Ziegler says that interest in the course is increasing each year. The class in interior decoration will study color schemes, arrangement of furniture and the historic periods of furniture. Each member of the class will be required to choose a certain type of house to study, and she will learn to furnish it completely by the close of the term.

Eighteen girls have enrolled for the course this year. They are: Charlotte Huntington, Ella H. Cowden, Mildred Tomlinson, Flora Finegan, Theresa Paul, Vernola Mae Henry, Genevieve Shelton, Allene Allen and Mrs. Aline Burton, all of Fort Worth; Edna Ladd, Vernon; Calista Morrison, Wichita Falls; Helen Shands, San Antonio; Mildred Guinn, Munday; Lura Fay Miller, Cleburne; Mona Robinson, Rotan; Elizabeth Rowell, Jefferson and Robbie Lee Polk, Killean.

Moguls to Meet Rule Players Friday

Still smarting under the defeat at Knox City last Friday the high school Moguls are busy this week preparing for their next game with Rule on "Scruggs Field" tomorrow. The boys feel that they were a little "off form" at Knox City and are anxious to re-establish themselves with their followers.

Although this is the first year for Rule to have a football team, they are not to be taken lightly by any means. Their high school enrollment is about as large as ours, and they have plenty of heavy material. With two weeks of intensive training behind them, they should give the Moguls a real battle. The game will start promptly at four o'clock. Be there.

Club Girls Go To Fair By Courtesy Chamber Commerce

BIG SHOW NEXT WEEK

Students of the high school, together with the teachers and a few good outside entertainers, are very busy this week working on our program for next Tuesday night. It is the "Mock Majestic" and is being given to raise money for our library. The program is being very cleverly worked out by Miss Boyd, the expression teacher, and all who see it are due for many good laughs.

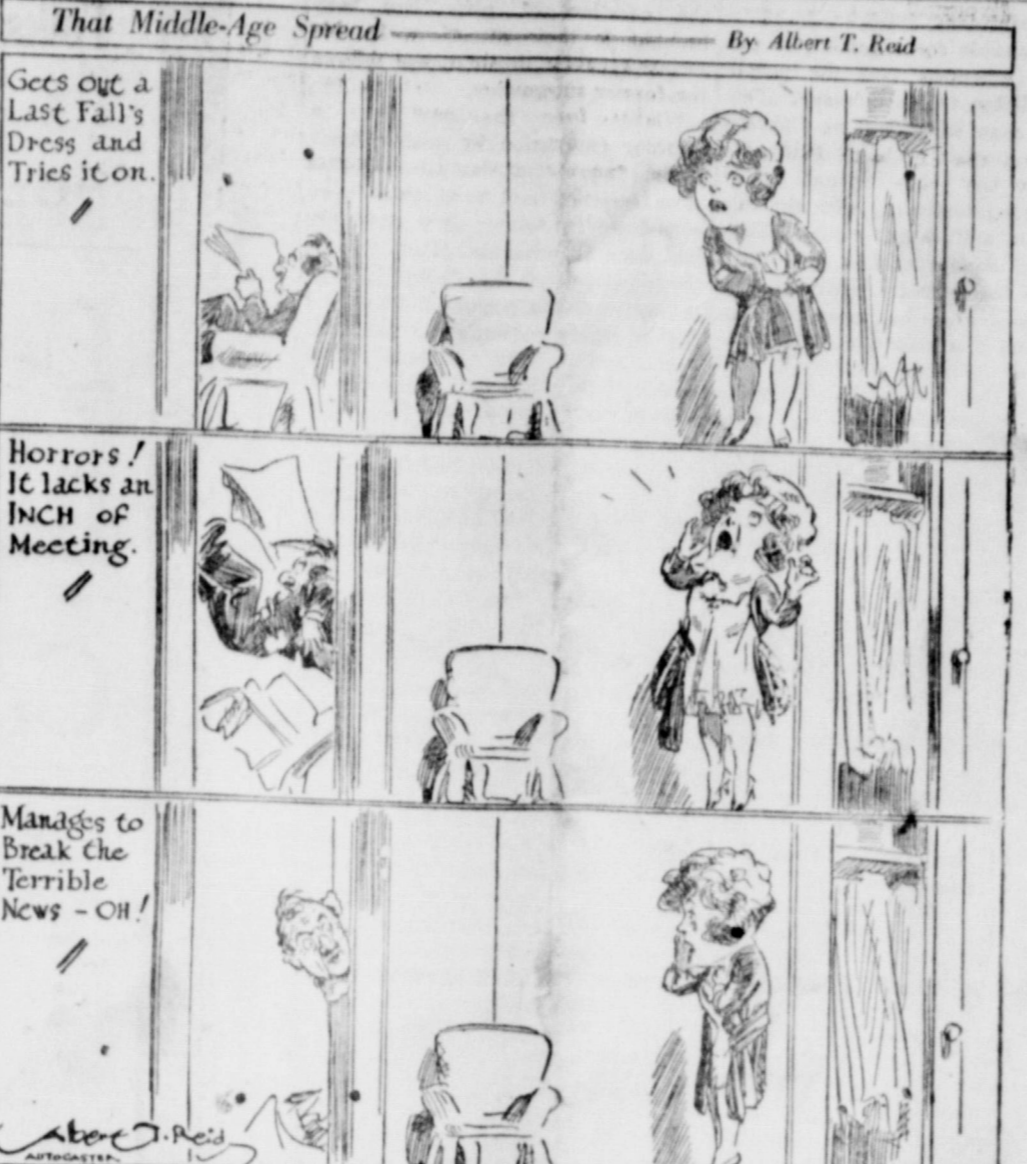

MISS LOIS WYCHE WEDDED AT ANSON ON LAST SATURDAY

Miss Lois Wyche and Mr. Robert Foster were united in marriage on Saturday evening at the home of her parents at Anson.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wyche, for many years residents of Munday. She is a graduate of the Munday High School and following her graduation here she attended the College of Industrial Arts at Denton.

The groom is a prominent young business man of Anson and holds a responsible position with one of the banks in that city, and a most pleasant surprise came to them following the ceremony when his father presented them with a check covering the cost of their home furnishings, which the young man had provided.

The many friends of the bride here will join us in wishing for them a long and happy married life.

W. O. Logan Gives An Outline of His Work As Agricultural Agt.

As I am moving my residence to another county, and severing my official connections with Knox County, I think it a brief statement to the people with whom I have worked, and for whom I have worked, seems a fitting climax.

In leaving Knox County and the people here, I am doing so with a reluctant feeling. It is the people in the various communities have treated me with great respect and friendliness; therefore it is not an easy matter to step out into new fields. I have enjoyed the cooperation of the Commissioners' Court, the Press of the County, the Business men, and the people at large over all Knox County. In leaving Knox to take up similar work in Scurry county I shall have a feeling of appreciation for the many kind things you have said, and done, to make my stay here more pleasant.

I am not ashamed of the work I have done, nor am I boastful of my work and accomplishments. A County Agent is called upon to do many things that cannot have a place on reports, until records of these things are sometime forgotten. I want to urge you to give the new County Agent full cooperation, and get acquainted and use your utmost influence to keep the programs that are sound going. Then as new ones come along and are sound help work them over until you can back them to the last ditch then put them over. The carpenter, or brick mason are equipped to construct buildings, they know the details and fine points of construction but unless those that use the buildings assist in plans and specifications for a specific need the best of them find difficulty in knowing what plan is best suited for local conditions. The same will be true if you don't get behind your new County Agent. He will be fully equipped and anxious to help you solve your problems and build a program that will serve Knox county for

Wm. A. Wilson Tells of Munday's Growth During Past 6 Years

Recently, the writer had the pleasure of spending two days in Munday. Having lived there for six years, from 1921 to 1926, naturally I enjoyed retracing old acquaintances and shaking the hands of old friends. Equally did we appreciate another thing that we saw in Munday. It was the great development that has taken place during the last seven years. It is so beautiful. No doubt those who lived in Munday during this time have not noticed this great development as one who has taken occasion to make a check of it. Some times we forget to notice the forward marching of our community while we are living in it.

Munday Has Civic Pride. Seven years ago Munday was a mere village with perhaps no more than a thousand people living in the city limits. Today, it is a little city with city ways and at least a population of 2,000 people. Seven years ago there was not more than two or three miles of sidewalk in the city. Today, there are five or six miles of walk. Seven years ago the business houses, in the main, were either wood or of concrete blocks and in front of them, uneven and various widths of narrow sidewalks. Today, the merchants of Munday are housed in modern brick homes and deep concrete sidewalks from passways in front of them. Seven years ago Munday did not have the many modern and beautiful homes adorned with lawns, rose gardens and trees as she now has. Civic pride has not been asleep in Munday during these years. Munday's people have thus caused this forward stride and Munday's citizenship is now enjoying the many conveniences they have created for themselves.

John Ed's Baby Boy—New The writer's first pleasure while in Munday last week was to listen in on the P. T. A. program at the community auditorium at which time a fire prevention program was given. This program was indeed good. As we sat there listening to the program and the great speeches that were made we were made to wonder just what had happened during the past seven years, and as we sat there getting as much of the program as possible, we counted the many things Munday had acquired in seven years—even the wife and baby boy of John Ed Jones—and here they are.

People Have Changed The auditorium in which the program was held, the P. T. A. that sponsored the program and all who appeared on the program except Mrs. Lane who presided, Chas. L. Mayes, the Mayor, John Ed Jones and maybe one or two others—all were new. Even the band that played so entertainingly and rhythmically was not organized seven years ago. The fire department that witnessed the program was not organized seven years ago, as we now recall. Most of the City officials were not in that capacity seven years ago, excepting, we believe, Jim Kindall, City Attorney. The boy scouts were not organized in Munday seven years ago. Chamber of Commerce Alive After twenty-one chambers of commerce had been organized and as W. A. Baker of Florida puts it (Continued on back page.)

John C. Spann Is Winner of the Gas Range Given by Guinn

On Monday afternoon Guinn Hardware Company gave away a $125.00 gas range according to the plan which had been advertised and in the drawing John Spann was the lucky person, his name having been drawn by the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Campbell in the presence of a number of expectant winners. John was so elated over his good fortune that he invited the little lady who drew his name from the box over to the drug store to partake of an ice cream cone—the big hearted boy!

Cotton Report For County Indicates Crop Half of 1927

According to the report of W. H. H. Griffin of Goree, special agent of the Department of Commerce, there were 5,497 bales of cotton ginned prior to October 1, 1928, as compared with 11,809 bales ginned prior to the same date in 1927, which would indicate that the crop this year will be less than half that of last year.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday, October 21st, 1928. Don't forget the hour 10:00 a. m. Sunday school. Class for all. Come and bring the children. Preaching by the pastor at 11:00 a. m.—subject "What is Acceptable Prayer?" Preaching at 7:30 p. m. by Rev. J. H. Hamblen, Presiding Elder of Stamford, followed by session of 4th Quarterly Conference.

MRS. ELIZA VOYLES

Mrs. Eliza Voyles, 85 years of age, died on Saturday, October 6th, at the home of her youngest son, J. M. Voyles, Munday, Texas, following an illness of one week's duration caused from tumor. Mrs. Voyles was born October 1, 1843 in Murry, Georgia, and came to Arkansas with her parents when a small girl. At the age of twenty she was married to W. C. Voyles. She came to Texas fifty-two years ago, and settled in Comanche county. Following the death of her husband some two years later she moved to Parker county and lived in the Goshen community one year when she moved to the Toto community where she resided for about thirty years after which she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. G. V. Stratton at Advance, Texas.

Four children were born to this union. The oldest died at one year of age, while the others were at her bedside when she died. They are T. J. Voyles of Grandfield, Oklahoma; Mrs. G. V. Stratton of Advance and J. M. Voyles of Munday, Texas. In addition to the above relatives she is survived by eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at Poolville on Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, conducted by Elder Strickland of Munday, after which

Announcement of Haskell-Knox-Stonewall Teachers' Institute

On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, Oct. 25th, Mayor T. C. Cahill of Haskell will give the welcome to the teachers of the three counties listed above. Supt. M. E. Noble of Knox City will respond for the visiting teachers. Following this the general announcements for the two-day meeting will be made. This opening program and all general meetings will take place in the High School Auditorium.

At that time Dr. G. B. Wilcox of A. & M. College, Dr. D. M. Wiggins of Simmons University, and Miss Julia Lipscomb of C. I. A., the directors for the two days will be introduced and programs will be distributed. The subjects for the sectional meetings have already been determined, but the details of timing and placing have not been announced. These will be clear on the programs distributed.

Mrs. P. Pool, County Supt. of Knox County, will take about 125 teachers to the meeting and E. M. Trammel, County Supt. of Stonewall County, around 80. While Miss Ellis of Haskell County, announces the attendance of about 170 in this county.

At this time a list of teachers is not available, however, the County Superintendents announce that full and enthusiastic attendance is expected.

Supt. J. Horace Bass and County Supt. Miss Minnie Ellis, of Haskell, have arranged for a great meeting. No expense has been spared in bringing the best talent to instruct the teachers. All the directors listed above are specialists and pre-eminent in their fields. During the two days, representatives of the State Department of Education, Teachers Association, and P. T. A. Organization will also be present.

DR. SANDIFER TO BE AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Supper School 9:45. All B. Y. P. U.'s meet at 6:30. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The interest was fine last Sunday. There were more in Sunday school. With everyone in his place and working as we are privileged to do we will be ready to apply for the A-1 standard in a few weeks.

The first thirty minutes of the Sunday evening service is given to special song service. I don't think I have ever heard better music than we are having. I have paid to hear musical programs and not get as good music as our choir is giving us. Dr. J. D. Sandifer, President of Simmons University will be with us next Sunday evening. He needs no introduction. You will be glad to hear him.

Come to choir practice Friday evening at 7:45. The church with a welcome. W. H. Albertson, Pastor.

Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Davidson left on Wednesday morning for their home at Pharr, Texas, after a very pleasant visit with friends here.

Interment was made in the Poolville cemetery. Pallbearers were Cecil Cagburn, Fitzhugh Cagburn, Bill Martin, Earl Richards, Elder Strickland and Mr. Cotton.

Sunday School Lesson

II Corinthians 8:1-9; 6:7, 15
It is possible for a teacher to get so much attention that the people will not listen to his message. This was the case with Paul at Ephesus after the uproar, when multitudes rushed to the theatre and cried against his interference with the sale of images and charm verses. Then it seemed wise to follow the letter which he had recently written to the Corinthians. Titus had been the messenger and this man is met in Macedonia and gives a good report of what had been adverse conditions in the Ithorian city. At once Paul writes the second letter to the church at Corinth and dispatches it by Titus. Now read that entire epistle, and then reread chapters 8-9, which give the full context for this lesson study.

One of the points under discussion at the Church Council in Jerusalem, A. D. 50 was the adequate care of the impoverished Jewish Christians in that city. While certain freedom of action was accorded the Gentile converts to Christianity the obligation was laid on them to make contributions for their needy brethren who were related to the mother of the church. This, Paul and his co-workers, was always diligent in doing. In writing the former letter to Corinth (1 Cor. 14:1) the question of gifts had been brought to their attention. In this second epistle a direct appeal follows the former suggestion.

"Going over the top" was a familiar expression in raising funds during the recent war time. Quotas were assigned and rival cities were stimulated by telling what the other had done or could do. Paul arouses the ambition of the Corinthians by telling what the people of Macedonia did in previous giving for the same Jerusalem. From their "deep poverty" they had an "abundance of joy" in the "service of their liberality." No pressure had been needed. In fact, the Macedonians had begged the privilege of sharing in "this grace and the fellowship of ministering to the saints." The reason the people of that Macedonia church were so eager to share was not beyond their power" was that "first they gave their own selves to the Lord."

Religion cannot be separated from giving. Costly, dignified and expensive systems or religions, out of all proportion to the ability of the people, are maintained in non-Christian lands because the inhabitants fear to do otherwise. The people in Corinth know how many local idolatries had cost. The making and selling of images had been the reason for the recent disturbance at Ephesus. All such giving was non-productive for others in need. Paul comes forward with a humanitarian principle that is empowered with a rich, spiritual motive. The strongest kind of a supporting appeal is made in the reference to Founder of their faith, as he tells them "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, but ye through his poverty might become rich." 2 Cor. 8:9. Only as we share what we have, as others are in need, do we evidence the sincerity of our declared love for Christ and for mankind.

Giving is not a matter of compulsion or emotion. "Let each man do according as he hath purposed in his heart." It is sensible to have a budget of distribution, whether it is for the nation, firm, home or individual.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car in one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1876, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, neural depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of astringent and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them, no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong

BIG MEN LITTLE TOWNS

An international figure is Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company; a lawyer of great fame and a strong influence in the affairs of the nation.

OWEN D. YOUNG

He has served his country in many important ways and is truly one of the outstanding Americans. He has been decorated and honored by the Japanese, Belgian, French and German governments—he belongs to high honorary orders like the Japanese Order of the Rising Sun, the Order of Leopold of Belgium, the First Order of the German Red Cross, and he is a Commander of the French Legion of Honor.

This man who has been so honored and esteemed was born in Van Hornesville, N. Y., on October 27, 1871. He had the advantage of a Lawrence University and receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He has also degrees from Boston University, Union College, Tufts, Harvard, Dartmouth, Johns Hopkins, Colgate, Columbia, and Yale. He married Josephine Sheldon Edmonds, of Southbridge, Mass., in 1898 and has five children.

He began the practice of law in 1896 in Boston. He was a member of Tyler and Young until 1913; the list of his subsequent activities is so long and varied that it seems remarkable for one man to have done all that he has done.

His importance in the electrical, power and light industries of America is tremendous. He is also a banker. He is a member of the board of directors of the International Chamber of Commerce, also of the Merchants' Association of New York.

He headed both of President Wilson's big industrial conferences; he was a member of President Harding's Conference on Unemployment; a member of the National Distribution Conference; the chairman of the Committee on Unemployment and Business Cycles; the chairman of the American division of the Geneva Federation—it is hard to keep on listing these bare facts, there are too many. Suffice it to say that he has offered his rare ability wherever his help has been needed in all worthy causes for the betterment of the conditions of life and for the strengthening of international friendship. A grand figure of a man, always ready to put his shoulder to the wheel and push progress forward. One whose efforts are making the world a better place to live in.

Still gives his address as Van Hornesville, N. Y., an American small town. He is only one of the many great Americans who influence the destinies of the entire world to be born in the cradle of rural America. They are in every field; in business, in politics, in science, in art, in literature. Judged by its products, "Main Street" must be a pretty good old place!

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

ADVENTURES IN THE KITCHEN!

LIKE a great many women, Mrs. Alden was inclined to resent the interference of any outsider into her kitchen affairs. Her kitchen was her own; and while she attended the meetings of the Kitchen Club, and was glad to give suggestions, she decided to make her improvements without calling the Club in.

However, when the job was done, Mrs. Alden invited the Club in to see it; for, after all, she had been inspired to dress up her kitchen by seeing what was done for other women.

"Girls," she said to the Kitchen Clubbers before they went in to look at it, "My kitchen might not suit anybody else in the world but me. But I have made it remind me of the thing I love most—the sea—and now it makes me happier just to go into it. I was born on the coast of Maine, as you may know, and I never got over missing the water with its marvelous blue and green and white. Come and see how I have reproduced it in my kitchen!"

"O a life on the ocean wave!"

LEAVES FROM NANCY'S KITCHEN CLUB NOTEBOOK

Mrs. Alden's kitchen is a dream! It has all the cool, restful effect of the sea itself! Washable paint walls of the palest blue-green; dark blue and white "marbledized" linoleum; jade green chairs and kitchen cabinet; white shelves lined with jade green; white porcelain enamel oil range; jade green table with white porcelain enamel top. Dark blue woodwork. A beautiful print of the ocean, hung right above the sink. It's surprising to see pictures in the kitchen; but, after all, why not? And why shouldn't a woman make her kitchen a picture of the thing she loves best, if it will make her happier?

Refinishing Furniture

Mrs. Alden did all her furniture herself, and it looks like a professional job. She gave us these directions for using lacquer on old pieces: Clean the surface. Sandpaper, if furniture has had glossy finish. Wipe off with cloth saturated in benzine, gasoline or alcohol. Wash until surface dries. Brush lacquer on lightly; for a heavy stroke will soften any remaining varnish on the piece, and make it bleed. Then coat. The coats of lacquer should be neat, and more if you wish a more satiny surface than the three coats give. Do your painting in a room away from the fire, or outdoors if the weather permits. Lacquer dries almost instantly, but should be aired before using.

Wet Paint. Come back in half an hour!

New Heat Indicator

Mrs. Alden's new range has a heat indicator which she says is the most accurate she has ever seen for an oil stove. It is built into the side of the oven.

We got some recipes for excellent imitations set during this afternoon. Here they are:

Beef Oysters

Beat one pound of round steak. Cut into pieces the size of an oyster. Soak for ten minutes in water with a little salt. Drain. Take one cup of beef stock. Dip in milk. Fry in hot oil until very brown. This oyster sauce is very good, and it can be eaten at any time of year.

Tomato Oysters

Slice half-ripe tomatoes. Salt, pepper, and dip into cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat. This dish also tastes like oysters, and many like it better.

Salsify (Oyster Plant)

Scrape the salsify. Boil it tender. Remove from fire, mash well and mix with cracker crumbs, butter, salt, pepper and a beaten egg. Make into patties the size of an oyster, roll in cracker dust and fry in hot fat.

"Treasure Chest" Salad

"To be ho ho and a state of mind!"

Take curved leaves of lettuce. Wash and arrange on plate. Halves of fresh or canned tomatoes, sliced out centers of both halves. Set one half on lettuce leaf. Fill with grated pineapple. Cover with other half. French dressing and curries over the top. Makes a beautiful salad, as curved lettuce leaf resembles a sea shell; and the "ho ho" is in the tomato shell.

What an inspiration is the career of Owen D. Young! A man right in the midst of things, battling ever for the right as he sees the right, devoting his usual talents to the general good of all mankind.

No doubt there are boys now in the small towns throughout the country who will in time become important personages in the affairs of the nation. Our small towns are breeding places of genius.

DR FRANK CRANE SAYS

Work According to accepted traditions, work was a curse pronounced upon man by the deity when man was expelled from the Garden of Eden. If this is true, then it is true that the curse of God is better than the blessing of man.

For there can hardly be any doubt that working for one's bread and butter and shelter is about the best thing that ever happened to a man. Suppose all the teeming millions in New York were idle, that they had nothing to do but amuse themselves. It would not be a week before the city was burned down. It is the fact that most of us have to put in a certain number of hours a day in earning our livelihood that keeps us sane.

The sanest thing on earth is work. Men who devote their time to imagining, to theology, to philosophy, or to other speculations are fertile soil to all kinds of disorder. It is men who have to work that are the flywheel of every nation. As a rule they want things to remain as they are. And as a rule they are the bulwark of morality. Crime news and divorce court scandals originate largely in the idle classes. Chesterton has said that when a man puts in ten hours a day at street car driving he is not likely to be tangled up with the wife of some one else. He hasn't time even for his own wife.

The workers are the security of a country and the best guarantee of that country's prosperity. The greatest menace of militarism is that a large body of men are kept in comparative idleness. If the millions under arms in Europe could be disbanded and go to work it would be the best insurance of peace.

How many a divorce trouble would be avoided if both man and woman were economically independent. It was not a bad idea of the Jews of old to instruct their children in some useful trade. The best life insurance policy that a man can leave his family is to have them all so trained that they can make their own way in the world. It is doubted that the man with the hoe, the laborer, should be the object of so much sentimental pity. For after all the man who knows how to use his loom has a greater prospect of happiness in this world than the man that is left an endowment of a million dollars.

NATIONWIDE STRAW VOTE CLOSURES WITH HOOVER 36,783 IN THE LEAD

Final Results Are 612,449 For Hoover and 575,657 For Smith

The Nation Wide Presidential Poll conducted by this newspaper in conjunction with 2,000 others the country over has come to a close. The last ballots have been counted. The voice of Rural America has spoken—but, truth to tell, it has not spoken very decisively as the voting has been very close right from the start. Hoover retains the lead he gained early in the voting, but his lead has been quite slight during the major part of the Poll. Several times it seemed as if Smith were going to upset Hoover's lead, but never did the New Yorker quite make it. His ballots kept fluctuating near Hoover's mark dangerously, but never got above it. The final results of the entire straw poll are as follows: Hoover—612,449. Smith—575,657. Former Democrats voting for Hoover—110,814. Former Republicans voting for Smith—72,416. These figures give Hoover a lead of 36,783. His percentage of the total vote is approximately fifty-one and a half percent. His percentage has been fluctuating between sixty-eight and a little over fifty-one percent of the total vote.

From these figures it is impossible to venture the assertion that the rural districts of America are definitely aligned in favor of Hoover. His lead is not sufficient to allow any definite conclusions. The Nationwide Straw Poll has demonstrated, we believe, that the returns in the election this year will be very close. It has also shown a strong sentiment to "switch" votes on the part of both Republicans and Democrats.

The Hearst Newspapers Nationwide Poll shows a majority for Hoover, as follows: Hoover—515,596. Smith—417,060.

In the Literary Digest Poll, Smith reduces Hoover's percentage from 68 to 63 as the first major returns are reported from the South and several larger cities in the fourth week's returns of the Literary Digest's Presidential Poll.

This poll has the following returns: Hoover—1,201,869. Smith—688,829.

In the Literary Digest Poll Smith leads in Chicago, Philadelphia and New York. 167,386 voters the country over "switch" from Democrat to Republican, while 259,913 "switch" from Republican to Democrat.

SPANISH SETTING LENDS BEAUTY TO "CHINE PARROT"

A Spanish setting, rich in color, forms the background for Earl Derr (Chinese Parrot), the screen version Biggers' best-selling novel, "The Theatre as the feature attraction Saturday night. The picture is a Universal Jewel and features Edmund Burns and Marion Nixon with a prominent supporting cast.

The main theme of the story takes place in Mexico where Biggers lives as a newspaper correspondent during the Diaz revolution. Every foot of ground as well as the dress and costumes of the natives is well known to the author and used to great advantage in his story.

The photoplay of this remarkable novel was directed by Paul Leni, famous Continental director, who came to this country a year ago under contract to Universal. Leni is considered a past master in the art of obtaining photographic values and has done his best work in bringing the natural beauty of the country to the screen in this picture.

The adaptation was made by J. Grubb Alexander, who is himself an author of note and a member of Universal's staff of scenarists. His dramatization follows the original version with only a few necessary changes to achieve full picture value.

Hobart Bosworth plays a prominent supporting role while others in the cast include K. Sojin, Albert Conti, Anna May Wong, Fred Emmett, Edgar Kennedy, Slim Summerville and Dan Mason.

W. F. McMahon was stricken critically ill on Monday with appendicitis and on Tuesday was carried to the County Hospital at Knox City. Late reports from there are to the effect that he is in a very critical condition and grave fears are felt by members of his family and friends.

Mrs. C. A. Hayles and children arrived on Tuesday morning from Roysse City to join Mr. Hayles, who has accepted a position with The Times as linotype operator, and who has been here for about a week.

Mrs. James T. G. Bengo, E. H. Buman and S. E. McStay left on Wednesday morning for Dallas, where they will attend the fair.

HOOVERITIS

There is a new disease in our land which seems to be more or less epidemic. Like most new diseases the name seems to be a little difficult to decide, but Hooveritis seems about as appropriate as any since it appears to be of a distinctly inflammatory nature. If any should doubt this, let him read one of Mrs. Willbrant's speeches, or any of her like, and they will be convinced. Scientists declare that this new disease is the result of partaking too freely of a certain bitter "Herb" growing in the dismal bog of republican corruption and is fatal unless large doses of donkey serum are injected early in the course of the disease.

It is true that the Good book says, "Better is a dinner of herbs where love is than a stalled ox and hatred therewith;" but the only love we know of that goes with this herb is Tom Love and we are sure he is the concentrated essence of hate if his utterances are any criterion.

The donkey is small and none too good looking but those who think his looks may be improved by putting an elephant's head on him don't know much of what constitutes beauty. Just imagine it for a moment—and don't laugh if you can help it. Any-way the humble jackass carries no trunk around with him filled with teapot domes, nerve equality and other objectionable things; he has no excess baggage.

Taking him by liquid measure, which now seems the popular method, he is no wetter than the G. O. P. elephant as far as his measurement has been given openly by himself but Mr. Elephant takes refuge in silence and leaves it to his deluded followers to assert his dryness with no evidence to prove it. The republicans may think an Herb diet is all this country needs, but our farmers know that an elephant's bath requires 150 pounds of soap, but who can estimate the tons of whitewash that have been used on him in the last few years and still the dirt shows all over him in spots.

Twenty years growth in England's foggy clime cannot have fitted this Herb for American consumption, so perhaps after the election he may go back there and become a useful Britisher. I admit that many good citizens have been misled by sophisticated whisperings to believe that this country can exist on a diet of donkey with an elephant's head. They are not to blame but to be pitied because they can't help having heads of solid ivory. It will take a good Smith to hammer the idea into their heads that there ain't no such animal as a donkey with an elephant's head, so we will just hand them Al as the boy for the job.

The editor of the Times is in no way responsible for the contents of this article as he never solicited it and besides this is not a political gem but merely some thoughts that came into my mind unbidden while reading articles from some very eminent preachers and surely they are not politicians. Now smile and instead of a dinner of Herbs, let us have peas.

Little Joe.

W. M. S. Meet In Mission Study

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church in Mission Study. Mrs. John Lane presided over the meeting.

Papers on the mission study topic were read by Mrs. P. V. Williams and Mrs. J. C. Campbell; Mrs. M. P. Billingsley gave a piano solo.

The members will meet next Monday in a social meeting with Mrs. E. Davol, Florence Williams and A. F. Huskinson hostesses.

Federated Church Societies Will Meet October 29th

The Federated church societies will meet fifth Monday, October 29th at the Methodist church when the following program will be given:

Hallow'en Party Honoring Dr. and Mrs. Davidson

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. McStay entertained with a Hallow'en party Friday evening, honoring their guests, Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Davidson of Pharr, Texas. Bright hued flowers in tall vases and swinging baskets were attractively arranged throughout the rooms, with the Hallow'en motif being carried out in the table decorations, the score cards and refreshment plate. The guests wore Hallow'en caps presented by the hostess, which added much merriment.

Games of 84 gave out happy diversion for the evening. After the games the hostess served a refreshment plate of chicken sandwich, olives, individual pumpkin pies and coffee to the honorees, Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Davidson and Messrs. and Mesdames W. H. Atkinson, Fred Warren, D. C. Frits, J. A. Kennedy, John Lane, T. G. Benze, Fred Broach, J. C. Campbell, F. O. Campbell, E. H. Bauman, D. E. Holder, C. R. Elliott, W. H. Chapman, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Davis, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith and Mrs. C. L. Mayes.

Mrs. Hulme Hostess to Throp W. M. S.

Mrs. A. G. Hulme was hostess Wednesday afternoon to members of the Throp Missionary Society at the parsonage at Munday.

After a short devotional service led by the president, Mrs. Moore, a lunch buffet shower was given Mrs. Hulme as a slight token of appreciation by the members.

A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served to members of the society and to Mrs. Freeman, F. O. Campbell, Williams, Farrington, Hix and Billingsley of Munday, and Mrs. A. L. Hulme of Ft. Worth.

Miss Elizabeth Gaither of Abilene was a week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gaither. Miss Gaither is a graduate from one of the business colleges of Abilene and is now associated with the Abilene offices of Armour & Co. as stenographer, in which position she is making good, and is in line for promotion. Her many Munday friends will be glad to learn of her success.

City Marshall Elliott rounded up eight negroes Saturday morning and each paid a fine for gambling. The negroes had congregated in a negro shack in the east part of town and they were marched to the city jail and placed behind the bars, completely filling the city bastille to the point where there was standing room only—and very little of that.

W. A. Wilson, secretary of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, was here the latter part of last week shaking hands with his many friends in Munday. Mr. Wilson stated that conditions were very fine in the Lamesa country and expressed surprise at the growth and development of Munday, stating that he would write an article on the subject when he arrived home, and which will be found in this issue.

Miss Louise Kay spent the week end in Wichita Falls visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. Kay.

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Farrington went to Dallas the latter part of last week to attend the Texas-Vanderbilt football game, and were met there by their sons, Charles, who is attending the State Medical College at Galveston, and Nolley, who is a student in the University of Texas.

JUST TO REMIND YOU THAT—

Munday Chamber of Commerce Band meets every Monday evening at 7:45 in the E. B. Tull building. Members are urged to be present and those interested are invited to join. Prof. John J. Hoffman is director.

Munday Parent-Teacher Association meets the third Wednesday of each month at the High School building at 4:00. All patrons of the school are urged to attend. The programs are interesting and instructive. Mrs. John Lane is president.

Munday Chapter No. 371, Order Eastern Star meets first Thursday in each month at 7:45 o'clock. Members are urged to attend regularly. Mrs. J. D. Kethley is Worthy Matron.

The Munday Rebekah Lodge, No. 111, meets each Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. A. J. Bunts is Noble Grand.

Prayer meeting is held at each of the churches on Wednesday evening of each week, beginning at 7:45. A welcome awaits all.

Boy Scouts meet each Friday evening at the Community Auditorium. T. Phil Lowry is Scout Master.

Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church meets each Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church. Mrs. P. V. Williams is president.

Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church meets first, second and third Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the church, and each fourth Tuesday in business and social meeting. Mrs. M. H. Reeves is president.

The Baptist Associational Woman's Missionary Union meets each fourth Monday, meeting at various places over the district. The next meeting will be with the New Hope church. Mrs. J. O. Bowden is president.

The Federated Church Societies meet each fifth Monday afternoon. Mrs. S. E. McStay is president.

Wintery Weather CALLS FOR REZTOR GAS HEATERS

You'll never know the true comforts of natural gas unless your home is heated by a Reznor Orthoray Heater, for they give the maximum of heat with the minimum of gas consumed, and it is therefore the most economical heater to buy.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1927, by Hoyt, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 29

The so-called "spade convention" has been referred to many times in these articles. The convention requires the partner of the player who makes an informative double of a no-trump bid to bid a four-card spade suit in preference to a longer minor suit or a stronger four-card heart suit. For example:

- Hearts—10, 7
- Clubs—K, Q, 10, 7, 4
- A: B: Diamonds—J, 7, 4
- Z: Spades—9, 8, 6, 3

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one no-trump and A doubled. If Y passed, B should bid two spades rather than two clubs, even though the club suit is longer and stronger than the spade suit. The doubler always should be prepared for the spade bid. By "preparing" it means either to assist the spade bid or deny it by a bid of his own.

Suppose B held the following hand:

- Hearts—A, K, Q, 4
- Clubs—7, 6
- Diamonds—J, 7, 4
- Spades—9, 8, 6, 2

If A doubled Z's one no-trump and Y passed, B should bid two spades in preference to two hearts, even though the heart suit is much the stronger.

Suppose, however, that B held the following hand:

- Hearts—J, 10, 7, 4, 2
- Clubs—10, 7
- Diamonds—J, 4
- Spades—A, K, 7, 2

If A doubled one no-trump and Y passed, B should bid two hearts in preference to two spades. This is only excepting to the spade convention: That is, if the player holds five or more hearts and two four spades, he should bid two hearts rather than two spades. If partner should then overbid, B should bid three spades. Such bidding shows exactly four spades and five or more hearts.

A very fine example of the application of the spade convention was noticed the other night at one of the New York Card Clubs:

- Hearts—8, 2
- Clubs—A, J, 9, 8, 7, 6, 3
- A: B: Diamonds—K, 10, 7, 3, 2
- Z: Spades—Q, J, 10, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump. A doubled, Y bid two diamonds and B bid two spades. This bid by B is a fine illustration of the spade convention. Even a seven-card club suit didn't tempt B to bid three clubs. The double by A indicated that he could support a two spade bid, if he bid nothing about club support. For that reason, B properly complied with partner's request by bidding two spades. Z then bid two no-trumps. A bid three spades and Y and B passed. Z doubled and A and Y passed. Should B then have bid four clubs or have stuck to the spade bid? B properly stuck to spades. His partner told him twice that he wanted to play spades, first by his informative double, and second by his three spade bid. For that reason, it was B's duty to pass and not show his club suit. In the play of the hand, A-B made four spades doubled and thus gave another good illustration of the value of the spade convention when properly played. A's hand was as follows:

- Hearts—K, Q, 8, 7, 5
- Clubs—none
- Diamonds—K, 10, 4, 2
- Spades—A, 9, 8, 6

Z opened a club so that B was able to get a cross ruff working at once. As a result, Y-Z only made the ace of hearts and two spade tricks. It was a pretty hand and one that should be carefully noted. Similar opportunities occur very often so be on the lookout for them.

Speaking of "take-outs" of partner's no-trump bid, how about the following:

- Hearts—K, J, 10, 7
- Clubs—4
- Diamonds—J, 10, 9, 6
- Spades—J, 9, 5, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump. If A passed, what should Y bid? Y should bid two hearts. With a hand of this type containing three four-card suits and a singleton, don't hesitate to take out with the strongest of the four-card suits. It is a hand that is hopeless at no-trump but very strong if played at a suit bid. If Z had played this hand at one no-trump he would have failed to make his bid by two tricks. Played at hearts, Y made three hearts. Be on the lookout for opportunities to take out with this type of hand. They come up very frequently.

Answer to Problem No. 32

- Hearts—A, J, 10, 9, 7, 5
- Clubs—10
- Diamonds—A, Q, 9, 8, 6, 4
- Spades—none

- Hearts—K, 8, 4
- Clubs—A, 9, 8, 5, 4, 3
- Diamonds—5
- Spades—Q, 4, 2

- Hearts—Q
- Clubs—K, Q, J, 7, 6, 3
- Diamonds—K, J, 9, 5, 3
- Spades—K, J, 9, 5, 3

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one club. What is the proper bidding of the other hands? Some readers may criticize Z's original bid of one club, but the two-suit character of his hand justifies the bid. A should then bid one spade. He also has a two-suit hand, spades and diamonds, and should bid the higher valued suit first. Y also has two suits, hearts and diamonds, so his former bid is two hearts, the higher valued of these two. B has a legitimate two spade bid, as he has at least three tricks in support of his partner's spade declaration.

Z is now in a position where he can double two spades or pass. His hand is so strong that it merits a double, especially after Y's two hearts bid. A must now double as his secondary suit of diamonds is too weak to bid, especially after his partner has helped the spade bid.

The real difficult problem is what Y should do after A's double. He has two almost equal suits, a holding that comes up so rarely that it is not subject to any set rules. At first glance it would seem that Y should bid three diamonds over the two spade double, but upon more serious consideration such a bid would be unwise. Z's original bid of one club and his subsequent double of two spades should indicate to

Among the lovely new printed satins that follow in the wake of the figured velvet mode are such feminine designs as this one of dark brown satin with a pattern of roses in yellow and amber tones.

The frock is exceedingly simple, its sole trimming being the circular flounce applied to the front of the skirt in a deep pointed effect that extends to the waist. A new note is sounded by the modified square neck treatment, which is a pleasant change from the round and pointed necks that have occupied the foreground for so long.

Opera pumps of soft brown suede are worn with the frock, as it happens—although for dressy afternoon wear, pumps of brown kid or satin would be equally smart.

New Blouses for Jacket Suits

Satin—either plain or striped—also seems to be a favorite fabric chosen for blouses. A simple one-piece blouse of ivory crepe is used with one tailleur of black velvet, a bolero blouse of red crepe with a suit of dark navy blue cloth. Boige crepe, made with the crepe side out and lizard and watersnake skin are also in demand.

A nice costume idea for the tailleur is the last and under-arm bag of matching leather. Usually these bags are of such lovely shades of brown, green, new blue or gray.

Coat Frock a New Theme

The coat-frock attracts in full share of attention at the fall openings. Many charming developments are shown in figured velvet and also in broadcloth with fur trimming. Skirts of these costumes invariably show the swirling, circular effect at the side, achieved by the use of the pocket or circular inset.

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Simon Judd, amateur detective, and William Dart, an undertaker, visit John Drane, an eccentric man of wealth, at the Drane place. Suddenly John Drane is murdered, and Dr. Blessington, after examining the body, makes the astounding revelation to Amy Drane that her "uncle" is a woman and not a man.

All the servants in the household are sick, it is noted, and it is found that Drane never discharged a servant for ill health. Dick Brennan, detective, arrives at the house and makes thorough investigations. Simon Judd tells him the story of the actual John Drane with whom he (Judd) was acquainted in Riverbank. Judd proposes to Brennan that he "go partners" with Brennan in the solution of the crime. Brennan accepts, then Judd declares that Amy is not John Drane's niece or any relative of Drane. Mrs. Vincent, housekeeper, tells Brennan that Drane picked his servants from among the chronic patients at the hospital. Dr. Blessington is asked if he had ever noticed any special change in Drane.

Dr. Blessington has but little information to give. The talk veers to Drane's employment of chronic invalids, and suddenly Judd astonishes the doctor by asking when "Drane murdered the first of those hired hands of his?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

That Dr. Blessington was utterly amazed and genuinely shocked by this brazen question discharged at him by Simon Judd is putting it mildly. He glared at the fat Iowan and when he tried to speak he could only splutter. Brennan himself looked at Simon Judd with smiling curiosity, but as Judd's possible thought suggested itself to him he straightened with a perceptible jerk.

"Murdered!" spluttered the doctor. "I take exception to that word, sir! I demand that you explain—"

"Well, black my cats!" Simon Judd said good naturedly. "You don't have to go flyin' off the handle at me, doc. I ain't said you murdered anybody. It just sort of struck me that maybe this dead lady had been doin' some. I don't know but what—if I was a female person tryin' to let on to be a male man, and if I had all-fired big reasons for keepin' it dark—I would sort of like to get rid of any mosey hired help that got a notion I wasn't what I let on to be. Seems reasonable to me, some ways. I ain't sayin' you had anything to do with it, doc. Don't think you had, myself. You ain't that sort."

"Why—why—" Dr. Blessington stammered, still too angry to have control of himself.

"Never mind, Blessington," Brennan said soothingly. "Our friend here is a new hand at this business. He only thought he had found something interesting. Don't let it worry you. Stop as you go out, if you want to talk it over; it's probably unimportant."

But when the doctor had entered the house Brennan did not act as if he thought the suggestion unimportant.

"Have you seen anything to make you think there has been murder of that sort done?" he asked Judd, but the Iowan was unable to say that he had.

"Now, don't you go payin' too much attention to what I say from time to time, Dick," he said. "I'm gabby, I am. Always was an old fool when it come to shootin' off my mouth; notion hits me in the head and I blab out like a kicked billy goat. Wouldn't surprise me a mite if I was all wrong about these sick and halt hired hands bein' murdered; prob'ly just one of my fool notions. Doc wouldn't go and bury nobody without findin' out what they died of."

"He certainly would not—if he suspected anything," Brennan said. "But if he had no reason to suspect? If he saw in a death only the operation of the disease he had been treating? There may be a lot in this idea of yours."

"Pshaw, no!" Simon Judd said with exaggerated carelessness. "Just the fool talk of a fat old feller that don't know nothin' much. You better forget it, Brennan. Go on and ask some more of the help about things."

"I never forget anything, Judd," Brennan said, but he did continue, as his next step, the questioning of the servants. The local reporters had by this time had word of the murder and began to arrive, and Brennan referred the first to Dr. Blessington and the officers upstairs and told Norbert to send any others to Dr. Blessington. To have privacy for his further questionings he went into the library and had the servants sent to him there.

From the servants, however, he was able to draw nothing new. With Simon Judd's mother suggestion in mind he dug a little more into that phase of the life in the Drane home. Norbert said that he had succeeded a houseman who had died, and the cook Maggie Maney admitted that she had come while her predecessor still lay dead above stairs, but she insisted she had known the former cook and that she had always been sickly and weakly. The others had followed servants who had gone to other positions as their health improved, or had been sent to sanitariums by John Drane when they became too ill to work.

To get Maggie to say this intelligibly was not easy for she had been drinking and as Brennan's questioning proceeded she was alternately angry—shouting her answers at the top of her voice—and maudlinly tearful, her huge body shaken by rather ridiculous sobs. She became so hysterical finally that Brennan told her he would not bother her more then, for it was plain she was an apoplectic and he was afraid she might break a blood vessel if she carried on any worse. But she would not go.

All Brennan had managed to get from her were assertions that John Drane, "poor woman that she was" had been a "heavenly angel, God rest him," and that a poor woman had a right to a "swaller" or drink when her heart was broke, and that she could tear the hair from the heads of "them that came sneakin' in snoopin' tryin' to blacken folk's car-ack-ers."

"All right, then, Maggie," Brennan told the excited cook, "we won't sneak and snoop any more. You go back to the kitchen and take it easy, and don't let it worry you. And just send the chauffeur in, will you?"

The cook flared up again.

"I'll not have him bulldozed by the likes of you," she shouted. "All shame to you, stirrin' up strife in th' house. Go on about your business an' leave us be, why don't you?"

"Now, be easy," Brennan urged good naturedly. "I'm Irish myself and you don't want to get me angry, you know. It'd be a terrible row. You just tell George I want to see him here, that's all."

The cook went out mumbling and growling, but George did not come and Brennan had to send Norbert for him.

"What got into that stout lady cook, do you think?" Simon Judd asked while they waited for the chauffeur.

"Some of the worst sort of whiskey now being bootlegged," Brennan said, smiling. "I imagine John Drane kept the lady pretty severely off the stuff and she's having her first real happy time for many a month."

"Black my cats!" Simon Judd exclaimed. "It beats my time how they get shell of the stuff, with prohibition and all."

"They get it," Brennan said drily, but Norbert's return cut short further explanation. He said George the chauffeur was sorry but he had gone to bed and didn't think he could bear to get up.

"He says, Mist Brennan, how the growth in his stomach got mighty bad all-of-a-sudden-like while back and he ain't able to stand it. Yes, sir. He says how the pain is mighty terrific. He ain't hardly able to stand it, he says. So he took some of the medicine what he got and went to bed. Yes, sir."

"Well, what's the rest of it?" Brennan asked. "I can see that's not all; you've got something else in your mind."

"I was only thinkin', Mist Brennan," Norbert said, "that if he got a pain or ain't he got a pain it ain't goin' to be much use trouble George right now. No, sir. Seems like he been indulgin' in alcoholic liquor to a very considerable extent."

"Drunk, is he?"

"He certainly has been indulgin'!" Norbert said seriously. "I ain't seen a man what has indulged more completely fo' quite some time. No, sir."

"We'll put George off for the present then," Brennan said. "Are there any other servants I have not seen?"

"No, sir," Norbert assured him. "We you has seen is all."

"This George," Brennan asked, "what do you know about him, Norbert?"

The negro told what he knew. Like the others, George—who had the odd name of Firmandick—had been in John Drane's service some little time. He had been an orderly in the hospital before coming to Drane and had had an operation for a growth in the stomach, but the operation had not been entirely successful—the growth had returned. Dr. Blessington said, Norbert told Brennan, that the growth was a serious matter and would kill Firmandick some day if there was not another operation, but the chauffeur was set against another.

The chauffeur, Norbert said, was supposed to be engaged to marry Maggie, but no one believed the marriage would ever occur because they did not believe George would live to be married. He was too ill when his bad spells came upon him. Norbert said he supposed George got his liquor from some bootlegger.

NEGLIGENCE

The greatest injustice to a boy or girl is the negligence by someone, somewhere, in not determining the proper course to take up at high school.

The greatest factor in a person's life is to have an objective to strive toward. The nature of this goal naturally governs the road to be followed. One may never reach his goal. He may spend his life in a futile attempt, but nevertheless it is a wonderful satisfaction to accomplish what you set out for and the fruits of the striving offset all failures and tend to increase the desire that is much greater in a determined individual. We must all have something to look forward to, and this we do sometime in life, but the later one starts the longer he may have to strive, and less time shall he enjoy the result.

So, the best thing to do is to have a child, when he is old enough to have good judgment, to inquire into many of the vocations which especially appeal to him. He must analyze the goal and the bad features of them, and then, when his heart is set on that which he knows is best suited for him, he will have his future laid out, instead of cruising about on an uncertain sea. His compass will be set toward "home path."

This is a vital factor in our country's welfare and is invaded in every generation. Then, the best thing to do is to make this the first few lessons in high school. Break the age-old customs and work more individually with each student, because it may mean the difference between failure and success, until he has his own individual future decided. He shall then be interested in his work and the knowledge he gets while young will greatly multiply his possibilities in his line. It oftentimes occurs that, with an object in view, one has to be satisfied to do his unrelated work for a while, but the opportunity generally presents itself sometime, and when it does, one must be prepared. This is a very serious problem to contend with, but there is a solution to all problems, and surely this merits due attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, Misses Rhodes and Robinson spent the weekend in Dallas attending the Texas-Vanderbilt football game and "other places to have fun."

Misses Paxton and Thornton visited in Dallas and Roysie City over the weekend. Miss Paxton must have had a good time for she didn't arrive at school until 10:45 this morning (Monday). Mr. Palmer took Earl and Paul Pruitt to the great big city of Wichita Falls to see the S. M. U.

Simmons football game.

Maybe he will develop a "Redman Hume II" from one of those boys.

Don't Miss The Mock Majestic. Moguls Lose to Grayhounds 6-0. The Valiant Moguls went down in defeat to their arch-enemy the Knox City Grayhounds last Friday. It was the first defeat of the season and is all the more bitter because it was administered by Knox City.

The Grayhounds won the toss and elected to defend the south goal with a strong wind to their backs. This break alone is largely responsible for their victory. The Moguls lost big yardage on the exchange of punts due to the high wind and finally found themselves only a few yards from their own goal with the ball in Knox City's possession as the first quarter ended. At the beginning of the second quarter the Grayhounds had the ball with first down and goal to go. The Moguls' defense stiffened and held them for two downs, but on the third try a Grayhound back plunged over left tackle for the lone score of the game. It was at this stage that another bad break came. The Knox City player "crawled" fully two yards after he was downed or rather after the down should have been declared. The referee's whistle was evidently not working at this point of the game. Not that the referee was unfair, he gave Knox City several bad decisions, he simply didn't seem to know the game as he should.

After the Grayhounds scored their touchdown the game was much of a see-saw affair up and down the field with neither side ever seriously threatening. Although the Moguls played a good game they were obviously not up to par. They played a listless game that was absolutely devoid of their customary fight and punch. For some unaccountable reason the Grayhounds outplayed us last Friday—but we won't say they deserve it. That remains to be settled on Nov. 12 on Scruggs field.

Don't Miss The Mock Majestic.

CHAN'S CHATTER

Some of the spectators on the sideline last Friday got "hostile" a few times but no serious trouble developed. Someone very aptly remarked that it was unusually quiet for a Munday-Knox City game.

But folks the story is only half told. We have another chance at 'em Nov. 12 here on Scruggs field. We are not going to say much but when the dust of that battle has cleared the Munday people won't be disappointed. Remember, it will be a holiday game and will have all the color of a Texas A & M affair, so make your plans NOW to see it.

We are to play Rule here on Scruggs field Friday. They have only organized a team this year but that doesn't mean a thing. They have plenty of heavy material and the Moguls are expecting a real battle. Be on hand early.

It looked like there were about as many people from Munday at the game Friday as there were from Knox City. Such loyal support certainly should have inspired us to victory but we were just not our normal selves that day. We just want to ask the fans not to desert us though, because we will acquit ourselves Nov. 12.

SENIORS

The Seniors welcome W. B. (Buster) Miller of Weinert as a valuable man in the football and basketball teams. He will be a member of their class. He will be a basketball team.

Listen closely and I'll relate a little incident that came to pass a few days hence—and how. The Moguls entered into a pitched battle with the renegade Grayhounds of Knox City. We were confident that the Moguls would carry off all honors, for the best team always wins, but this proved an exception, we are sorry to relate. The game ended with the score 6 to 0 in favor of Knox City. The Moguls fought, but their opponents were too heavy—and well, you know what I mean. We appreciate your efforts, boys, and you played a good game. Just wait until Nov. 12 and you'll have a chance to even the score.

And here's another story with a moral. The Seniors entertained the High School faculty Monday night with a chicken barbecue. (Bend over close and I'll whisper a little secret. "They certainly can eat chicken.") We journeyed to Broach's Lake, and when we arrived, seven chickens were in the process of barbecuing. (If you miss any of your fryers just remember that they went for a worthy cause.) We'll have to hand it to Joe and Frank that they know how to barbecue—and eat—chicken.

lekie has started a new dictionary. He says that Webster's is not adequate for most school boy's needs. Here are a few of his changes: (He hasn't arranged them in alphabetical form, because he can never remember what comes after Z).

Sissy—a male who can rave over the beauty of silk hose when they are empty.

Sophisticated—a man becomes sophisticated when he is able to refrain from expressing his valuable opinions when someone starts talking about women.

NewYork—Where all good little minks go when they die.

Embarrassment—To wake up and hear burglars singing in the cellar.

Engagement—When a girl has a fraternity pin, a large framed picture, when she dates eternally, when she gets specials on Sunday, she's in love and engaged to four men. Sudden—Friend wife's first biscuits. Fat—No such word—a girl is merely "overemphasized."

Courtship—The period during which a girl decides whether or not she can do any better.

Gall—A man seated in a street car attempting flirtation with a girl standing before him.

Absentmindedness—A professor addressing the members of his class as "Gentlemen."

Love—The only intelligent conclusions one can draw regarding love is that there are none.

As this is examination week, the following ditty seems very appropriate—and true:
Sing a song of students,
Cramming for exams,
Florking to the library,
Like a bunch of lambs.

When exams are over
Students begin to sing
"Now, isn't that a dirty dish
To set before a senior."

SOPHOMORES

We are awake while others sleep.

Fire Prevention Week—Monday a poster was due; Tuesday a theme was due; Wednesday a drama was due; Thursday we searched the town for ten fire hazards, and Friday students vacated the high school building in thirty seconds—Audiotis, Fire Prevention Week.

Lillian and Blanche won second place in the drama contest last week; Charlie Morgan presented the most original poster and Marjorie Harris presented the most artistic poster.

Sixty-five per cent of the Sophomore class attended Sunday school last Sunday, but we intend to raise that per cent next Sunday.

Don't be surprised if Lillian and Blanche tell you that they are cousins. They just discovered their relationship and they are surely proud of each other.

Helen F.—Why do Munday HI boys wear suspenders?
Lela—To hold their pants up, of course.

The Latin class was deathly still. The teacher was the only one to be heard declining nouns. The quiet atmosphere was unbearable. For pity's sake somebody say something, the a-a-ae was too much. Alas, no one spoke for Madeline Spice was absent.

Maxine Pendleton spent Sunday in Munday visiting friends.

The Sophomores do loudly weep because of the Moguls defeat. We play again on Thanksgiving then it's K. C. turn in grieving.

Blanche Newsome and Mary Hope Smith journeyed to Wienert Sunday afternoon. They report a most enjoyable time.

Margaret Campbell went to Wichita Falls for the week-end, to visit her new cousin, she admired him so much that she had to spend Monday morning there.

Don't Miss The Mock Majestic. FRESHMEN

We are glad to see R. M. Norvill back in school this morning.

Frances McCord went to Weinert yesterday and reported a very crowded city and a rushed time.

Doloris Campbell spent the week-end in Baird, Texas. She says she will want to go back often now.

There were twenty-five Freshmen who attended Sunday school last Sunday. We are getting to be good aren't we? Just watch and see us win that prize.

Miss Paxton went to Dallas this week-end and the car broke down in Weinert. As a result, the first period Latin class was ordered to come back to the study hall. Miss Paxton arrived Monday morning at 10:30.

More Freshmen attended the ball game last Friday. But we didn't win. Seem as if we will never beat Knox City. But we are just saving our strength and yell till November 12th.

Don't Miss The Mock Majestic.

CLASS 7-B

Monday an English club was organized and officers elected as follows: president, Hazel Webb; vice-president, Katherine Milan; secretary, Eunice Perdue; treasurer, Mildred Burnett; reporter, Lowry Rigby.

The club was named "Speak Well Club" and its purpose is to encourage and develop effective speech. Class 7-B gave a theatre party Friday evening with members of class 7-A as guests. All met at the Collins' home and refreshments of lemonade and cake were served, after which all went to the Roxey and enjoyed the picture program.

MACK'S FAMOUS HAMBURGERS

I wish to announce to my many friends in Munday and surrounding country that I am opening Mack's Hamburger No. 2 on Saturday, October 20 in my new building east of the Post Office. Everything new, up to date and sanitary. While you are waiting for this to open, drive out to Mack's Hamburger No. 1, east of the school auditorium, on the Knox City road where we will be pleased to serve you. Curb service a specialty. A full stock of fresh candy, sandwiches, hamburgers, cold drinks, etc. at all times. Thanking you for your past patronage and trusting I may have a share of future business.
