 By PERCY NALLS

The Crowell Wildcats will depart Friday morning for Childress to take part in the District 3 tournament for the fifth consecutive year, having gained the right to participate in this event by winning championship in 1929-30-31 and '32. For about five years previous to this, Thalia ruled the roost in Foard County basketball and represented the county at Childress.

The only first hand information that we have on Foard County basketball history is that which occurred during the past six seasons, for all that happened before then was before our coming here. Anyway we have gained some information from C. H. S. ex-athletes.

According to their information Crowell won the championship of the county in 1923 and not again until 1929. The district then was different to be present one and twice Crowell competed in district meets at Vernon and Quannah.

In 1929 at Childress the Wildcats lost a heart-breaking contest to Hedley by the score of 31 to 29 in the second game of the tournament. Crowell was leading by 9 points as the last quarter opened in this game, however, Hedley started making goals from all angles of the court and dropped in the winning goal in the last few seconds of play.

Estelline won the tournament that year. The year before Estelline won the championship by defeating Thalia in the final game.

Crowell reached the finals in the district in 1930 but lost to Estelline by the score of 39 to 20. Estelline won second in the State race that year.

The Wildcats won their first district championship in 1931 by defeating Childress 32 to 23 in the final tilt. Nocona won two out of three bi-district games to go to the State tournament.

Last season, 1932, Crowell again won the district by swamping Memphis 54 to 23 in the last game. Again the Wildcats suffered defeat in the bi-district play-off and Olney won the right to compete in the State finals. The Cubs lost to Temple, the State champs.

Miss Lella Ben Allee left Tuesday for San Antonio for a visit with her aunt, Mrs. J. S. Williamson.

Come in and let us explain how you can get eight and one-half cents a pound for cotton next fall.—M. S. Henry & Co.

Mrs. A. Y. Beverly, Mrs. M. J. Girsch, Mrs. Hines Clark and Mrs. T. L. Hughston attended a Methodist Missionary zone meeting in Quannah on Tuesday of last week.

Earl Teel and small son, Earl Jr., former residents of Crowell, were here Monday attending district court. Mr. Teel is now employed by the signal division of the Santa Fe Railroad in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McKown and children of San Antonio arrived here last week for a visit with Mr. McKown's sister, Mrs. Clint White, and other relatives. Mrs. McKown and children will remain for a longer visit, but Mr. McKown returned to San Antonio Tuesday.

Mrs. Marie Rider returned to Dallas Monday afternoon after a visit of several days with her mother, Mrs. W. A. Gordon, and other relatives. She was accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Bell of Crowell, and H. L. Scales of Dallas, who came to Crowell Saturday.

D. M. Shultz, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shultz, Mrs. C. D. Haney and son, Bob, of Thalia and Mrs. Roy Ricks of Crowell went to Sweetwater Tuesday to attend the funeral of Emmett Collett of Lorain, who was killed when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a truck. Mr. Collett was a relative of the Shultz family.

ney will enter the finals at Wichita Falls this week. We pick Olney to win the championship.
 Up in District No. 1 Pampa beat Quitaque 31 to 26 in the final game of the district tourney last Friday and Saturday. Graham, Quitaque's star forward, went out of the game on personal fouls early in the second quarter and with him went Quitaque's hopes. Pampa came from behind later in the game to win the championship.
 Crowell beat Quitaque twice this year, 27 to 24 and 39 to 16. Anyone who has seen the great Graham in action realizes what a tough break it was for Quitaque to lose him so early in the game. Quitaque also won second last year, losing to Amarilla.

Present indications are that Crowell will duplicate Estelline's record of three consecutive district championships by winning the tournament at Childress on Friday and Saturday. However, tournaments have a habit of producing outstanding upsets, so let's not be too confident.

So far as The News has been able to learn the following teams will represent the counties of this district at the tournament Friday and Saturday:
 Quannah ..... Hardeman
 Paducah ..... Cottle
 Kirkland ..... Childress
 Turkey ..... Hall
 Wellington ..... Collingsworth
 Matador ..... Motley
 Shamrock ..... Wheeler
 Crowell ..... Foard

King County is in this district, however, it is doubtful if that county will have a representative in the tournament.

Last year Crowell had played 27 games and had won 26 at the time the Wildcats entered the district tournament. The only loss was to Olney. This year the Wildcats again enter the district tournament after playing 27 games in which victories have been won each time.

Technocracy is really becoming important. There has been a schism among its advocates.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C. (Autocaster)

February 22.—The last of the Hoover family's personal effects have been taken out of the White House and put on board a Government ship, which will take them through the Panama Canal to the Mare Island Navy Yard in San Francisco Bay. From there it will be a short haul by truck to the Hoover's permanent residence at Stanford University, Palo Alto, California. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are "living out of suitcases" until the fourth of March. They will have very little baggage to take with them when they leave Washington on that day. Mr. Hoover will accompany the new president to the Capitol, but his plans do not contemplate remaining here to listen to his successor's inaugural address. Instead he will see Mrs. Hoover at the railroad station, shortly after noon, and they will take a train for New York to catch a ship which is sailing that night for California.

Democrats in Control
Twelve years of uninterrupted Republican control of the Federal Government are practically at an end. The Democratic Party is in more complete control than it has been since the first Administration of Woodrow Wilson, which began just twenty years ago. At that time only a few persons on either side of the Atlantic anticipated the great European War, and fewer still had any remote idea that the United States would be dragged into it. Yet it is the events which occurred during the war which are at the roots of the economic troubles from which the United States and all the rest of the world are suffering. By all odds the biggest job ahead of the Roosevelt Administration is the adjustment of the international situation, with respect of debts growing out of the war, and the effort to restore international trade upon a sound basis.

which the prosperity of the United States still greatly depends. And the most important task which President Roosevelt and his party's Congress will have to tackle also grew out of the war. This is the problem of pensions, hospitalization and bonus payments for those who served under the American flag in that war.

It now seems from here at this time safe to assert, first, that the new Administration will not consent to the demand of the American Legion for the immediate payment of the deferred certificates held by veterans of the war. It also seems safe to predict that there will be a complete reorganization of the system of caring for invalid and disabled veterans whose allowances and injuries are not directly due to their war service. At present the cost of medical and hospital service for such cases is estimated at around $400,000,000 a year, and it is anticipated that this will be one of the first points of attack by President Roosevelt in his effort to reduce the cost of carrying on the Government by at least 25 percent.

Presidential Power
The desire of many of the Democratic party leaders to rush a bill through the present Congress to give the President broader powers than have ever been conferred upon any President in peace time, for the reorganization of government offices, the consolidation of bureaus and the elimination of unnecessary functions, seem to have run against a snag in the shape of an intimation from the White House that if such a bill as proposed is adopted, Mr. Hoover will veto it. Mr. Hoover has asked for authority to make certain reorganizations, which authority was denied him. He never requested any such broad powers as it is proposed to confer upon President Roosevelt, and he does not believe that any President should be exempted from the control and review of his acts by the Congress. Since there are not enough Democratic votes in either House to pass any measure over the President's veto, if it is made a party issue, this seems to settle the matter so far as this Congress is concerned.

Cleared For Action
Mr. Roosevelt, it is known, has asked his supporters in Congress to give him all the power they can legally grant under the Constitution. And, in the beginning at least, there is little doubt that he will get it. Of course, any power delegated to the President by Congress can always be taken away from him by Congress, but it begins to look as if President Roosevelt would find himself in a position of more complete authority than any President has occupied since Mr. Wilson, who for two years, from early 1917 until early 1919, was practically the Supreme Dictator of the United States.

In any event, the new President will have to call a special session of the Senate to confirm the appointment of his Cabinet members, the new ambassadors and ministers with whom it is certain he will replace America's representatives abroad, and the hundreds of other Presidential appointees who must be immediately put in office and confirmed. In all, there are something like 15,000 Government positions over which the President personally, or his Cabinet, have unrestricted power of removal and appointment.

If the plans which are being discussed by the friends and supporters of the new Administration are carried out there will also be a big shake-up in the classified service, which is under the protection of the civil service laws. Appointments, promotions and dismissals in the classified service, which includes now about half a million Government workers outside of the Army and Navy, can be made only on the basis of examinations for fitness and merit, and these places have always been regarded as permanent and secure. But all of these positions are subject to Congressional action. Congress can, for example, abolish an entire bureau or division, or it can restrict the number of employees in any given department, thus abolishing any number of civil service posts.

Probably half the population of Washington, which is composed almost entirely of Government employees, is trembling in apprehension that their jobs may vanish.

SHOULD I BECOME A TEACHER?
The young man or woman who will graduate from high school this mid-term or in June is faced with an unusual problem. He surely will be puzzled to know which further step is best to take along educational lines. There seems to be one of the largest surpluses of teachers ever known. Thousands will be unable to secure schools. Those who are fortunate enough to get a school will be faced with a diminished income on account of the financial distress in which the states find themselves. This is surely a discouraging outlook for the young person who has ambitions to teach.

Other professions, too, seem to be overcrowded. There is a surplus of young lawyers who are barely eking out an existence. There are too many doctors for the number of patients; the talking pictures have killed the profession of music, and so on down the line.

At this time, we would advise young people to divert their minds toward the field of business. It seems to offer a quicker comeback than most of the professions. Business is dignified. It offers remunerative responsibilities. It is now considered by the masses as one of the few starting my career now," says a well known educator. "I would first finish high school and then enter some reputable Business College and get a business training. Then I would become connected with some large business concern and work hard and soon I would find my name listed as one of the executives." Quoting further, "From my knowledge of various Business Colleges, I surely would investigate the Business College at Tyler, Texas. I am told this school is the best in the South."

Write to the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration at Tyler, Texas, they will send you a catalog. Adv.

The Family DOCTOR

by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

FUMIGATION

Too seldom do people fumigate their apartments, in these wintry days, when habitations are closed so many hours of the day and night.

Air in living rooms may become quickly polluted. A guest may happen in for an hour's chat. He may have a cough, not enough to proclaim him an invalid—yet he may be what we call a "flu carrier." He may inoculate receptive victims in any house he visits, and do it without in the least being conscious of the act.

One or two fumigations a week does no harm—it's well worth the effort.

Not so very long ago, sulphur candles were burned in rooms that had held contagious diseases. My opinion is, that such an agency is wholly ineffectual. I came against it once in a small pox epidemic, and it proved utterly worthless.

A fumigant must be volatile—capable of being dispersed in the air of the room; it must be effectual against germs. Having these two properties, you have the ideal agent. I have tested out a solution of FORMALDEHYDE to my satisfaction. If handled carefully, it is safe in the hands of the family. Its pungent irritant odor warns against excessive dose. I use a 40% solution known as "Formalin."

Sprinkled about the linen closets particularly in the clothes-hamper containing soiled linen for the laundry; a little here and there about the bedding—enough to "bite" the nose and eyes a little. Keep children away from the keen odor. Its use can be quickly learned: It will leave air pure and will destroy bacteria. I have "isolated" cases of small-pox and scarlet fever by having the air constantly formalized about the patient. Try it for fumigation; use it carefully, and depend on its effect.

Dusting Indoor Track

Gene Venzke, noted University of Pennsylvania miler, is burning up the indoor tracks, stepping the three-quarter mile in 3 min., 52/5 seconds, in the first mid-winter meet. He holds the indoor mile record.

Get Rid of That SORE THROAT!

Any little soreness in the throat grows rapidly worse if neglected. Crush some tablets of genuine Bayer Aspirin in some water, and gargle at once. This gives you instant relief, and reduces danger from infection. One good gargle and you can feel safe. If all soreness is not gone promptly, repeat. There's usually a cold with the sore throat, so before gargling take two tablets to throw off your cold, headache, stiffness or other cold symptoms. Bayer Aspirin relieves neuralgia, neuritis, too. You may use it freely, it does not hurt the heart.
