THIS WEEK IN TEXAS HISTORY 1690—The mission San Francisco de los Tejas was founded June 1 by Father Massenet a short distance from the Neches River, near the present town of Crockett.

1825—On June 4 Stephen F. Austin signed a contract to bring 500 families into Texas. The settlement was completed six years later.

1839—On June 2 Edwin Waller was appointed by President Mirabeau Lamar as agent to lay off the city of Austin, to conduct sales of lots, and to erect public buildings.

1845—On the call of Anson Jones, an extraordinary session of the Texas Congress met June 6 at Washington, Texas, to consider the question of annexation.

1890—Denunciation of the methods of the railroads began and much was said about the need of government regulation.

REPLICA OF MISSION In a 100-acre state park near Crockett, Texas, there has been constructed a replica of the first Franciscan mission in East Texas, San Francisco de los Tejas, originally built there in 1690.

JIMSON WEED NOT A NATIVE Oddly enough, the evil smelling and poisonous jimson weed is Asiatic origin although its present name is American. It was known as the Jamestown weed because of its prevalence in the region of the colony and this name was later corrupted to jimson. Jimson was a member of the datura family from the leaves of which the stramonium is derived.

SYNOPSIS

Following his father's bitter criticism of his idle life, and the notification that he need not expect any immediate financial assistance, Hal Ireland, only son of a wealthy banker, finds himself practically without funds but with the promise of a situation in San Francisco, which city he must reach from New York, within a definite time limit. He takes passage with a cross-country auto party on a "share expense" basis. With five others, Hal begins his journey. Four of his companions excite his interest: a young attractive girl, Barry Tafford; middle-aged Giles Kerrigan; Sister Anastasia, a nun; and a nondescript individual whom he instinctively dislikes, Martin Crack. Barry, a self-withdrawn annoys Hal. To Kerrigan he takes to at once, but he is unable to shake a feeling of uneasiness. He distracts Crack. Hal's intimacy with Kerrigan ripens. Through a misunderstanding, at a stopping place, Hal directed is directed to Barry's room, instead of his own. The meeting seems to soften her apparent unfriendliness and they exchange kisses. In the morning resumes her attitude of aloofness, but Hal has a feeling that she is not indifferent to him. At the luncheon stop, he tells Barry that she must love him. In a speak-easy (the story is laid in prohibition days) Crack brutally insults Kerrigan. Hal forces him to apologize abjectly, and his feeling of enmity and disgust toward Crack is intensified. Next day Barry promises she will tell him, that night of the shadow of despair that hangs over her. Motherless, she tells him, a girl, in her pride for him, had a feeling of adoration for her father. He had urged her to marry a man many years older than she. Without any real feeling for the man, but trusting her father, she did so. On his deathbed her father secured her promise to stick to her husband, "no matter what happens," for ten years. Her husband tells her he had evidence of a dishonorable episode in her father's life, and her hand had been the price of her husband's silence. That was four years ago, and she is adamant in her determination to keep her promise, though she acknowledges her love for Hal.

hope, sharp and so very fragile, was still that Kerrigan might be with Barry. And yet if Kerrigan was well and free, he would have come here to Hal, or written, or something. Later Hal was moving when he heard the nurse saying something that sounded like, "It's your sister to see you." And the name Anastasia leaped into his mind like a cool jet of water. He turned his head so quickly that pain ran deep in his arm. "Show her in right away." "She's waiting downstairs," said the nurse. "She'll be up in a moment." She knew something about Barry. Hal fought that hope for his fear of disappointment. Probably it was only that her brother could be left for a while and she—bless her dear, cool goodness—had come to comfort him. And there was an instant's whispering behind the screen before it closed again. Then, tense for the first look of Anastasia's white-framed face, Hal felt his blood's business stop, time stop, the day stop over the world outside. Even as he whispered her name in the hush of the room, he knew it couldn't be Barry. Yet the clear, blue-clad authentic in their solemn questioning of his look of awe. She came nearer, looked down at his mouth and into his eyes again, a hopeful tenderness waking in her solemnity. Then he caught her wrist. She bent swiftly down to him. His other, wretched, useless arm wouldn't stir, but the good one was strong enough to bring her against him, his hand moving on rough, real cloth over the firmness of her back. If it were a dream, the pain he felt going through his tight-strapped arm must wake him. And it didn't. She stayed there, her skin smooth and cool, her breathing against his slow and grateful, as if in fearless sleep after long weariness. Her cheek moved, touching his, until their lips came together in the gentle beginning of belief; and then the soft, near shadow of her husky whisper said, "Poor dear darling—they haven't let you—she paused for the shadow of her soft chuckle too—"let you shave." The exultance of laughter that ran from Hal's swelling lungs was a month of sunny convalescence crowded in one liquid moment; and he let her precious body free when, long enough to take away the hat that kept her hair from shining over this improbable return of all hope. "Kind heaven!" he whispered.

McFarlane Announces Candidacy for 13th Dist. Representative

W. D. McFarlane has authorized The News to make the formal announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election as United States Representative from the Thirteenth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Party in the July primary. Mr. McFarlane expects to return to the district to make an active campaign for re-election on the adjournment of Congress. He is a member of the House naval affairs committee, is chairman of the private bills No. 2 committee and is a member of the sub-committee on aeronautics, discipline, health, ordinance, supplies and accounts. In making his formal announcement, Mr. McFarlane said: Fellow Citizens of the Thirteenth District: In formally announcing my candidacy for re-election, I want to first thank all of my friends throughout the District for your splendid support, particularly in the last campaign. You will remember that while we carried nine of the twelve counties by a majority of 4,727 votes in 1932, after three counties, Hardeman, Foard and Knox were added to the District, we carried 13 of the 15 counties by a majority of over 5,000 in 1934. In submitting my candidacy for re-election, I ask your support entirely on my record of service rendered the past three years, as your Representative. I am glad to be able to state that I have completed 100 per cent with every pledge I have made you since I have had the honor to be your Representative. As stated by Vice President Garner and other leaders in Congress, a member is considered more efficient and effective for serving his constituents, with years of service. I took office in March 1933, and since then have devoted my entire time to the duties of the office. I hope the record I have made will meet with your approval. I Have Favored 1. Immediate cash payment of (soldiers bonus) balance due the World War veterans on their adjusted service certificates. I have been recognized as one of the leaders in this fight to finish paying the soldier's past due debt. National Commander-in-Chief, James E. Van Zandt of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, concerning my work on this measure said, "Tribute has been paid to all of those who played an important part in the passage of the so-called 'bonus' bill and to you, Mac, Old Boy, belongs a great deal of the credit." 2. Adequate old age pensions. I have always favored adequate care for the aged and voted for the Social Security Act, recommended by the President, which while not perfect does more for the aged, the blind, the dependent mothers, the crippled children and the unemployed than any legislation ever enacted by any Nation in the world. 3. Cost of Production plus a reasonable profit for the farmer. Without this the farmers cannot continue to farm. 4. Prevailing rate of wages for all workers for all lines of endeavor. 5. Refinancing farm and city mortgages at low rates of interest over a long period of time in order to encourage home ownership and reduce tenancy. 6. Guaranty of bank deposits. 7. Sound constitutional money issued by the Government, instead of Wall Street currency issued by the banks. 8. Enforcement of our anti-trust laws. I favor independent business and continued competition against absentee ownership and chain control. 9. Revision of our tax laws providing revenue based on ability to pay rather than through sales or excise taxes. More than 60 per cent of our present Federal revenues are raised through sales taxes. 10. Taxing profits out of war and limiting all profits to 10 per cent on all Government war materials contracts in peace time. Government ownership of all war munitions supply. 11. Constitutional Amendment requiring the vote of the people before Congress may declare war except in the event of direct invasion of our country by an enemy. 12. Rigid economy in the administration of all Governmental affairs. 13. Deportation of all aliens illegally in this country. Some of our most atrocious crimes have been committed by aliens. We have hundreds of thousands of aliens on the relief rolls being fed at the tax payers' expense. All such aliens should be stricken from the rolls. 14. Law enforcement. I have always favored rigid law enforcement and offered H. R. 6333 suggested by Judge A. H. Carrigan, giving dual jurisdiction of kidnapping, bank robbery and hijacking crimes and concerning this legislation, Chairman Sumners of the Judiciary Committee says: "Your honest and constant efforts have contributed to the consummation of this item of legislation." I Have Opposed: 1. Monopoly. It crushes the weak and destroys all hope for equality of opportunity for small business and individual citizens. 2. Abuses existing in our banking laws. An independent board under complete Government supervision should control the issuance of credit—coin money and regulate its value, as provided in the Constitution. 3. The further issuance of tax exempt interest bearing bonds. This annual interest burden now nears a billion dollars. The President last year urged discontinuance of this program. If this policy is not stopped there will soon be but two classes—one the owner of all wealth and the payer of no taxes; the other the tenant class—paying taxes on what they owe and consume in order to support the Government. 4. Further concentration of wealth. I have offered legislation to check same and to force wealth to pay its just portion of the burden. Committee Assignments I have been assigned to one of the 12 major committees of the House—the Naval Affairs Committee. The records show that this committee is recognized as one of the great committees of Congress. During this Administration it has worked out much important legislation, and has been busy considering legislation of vital interest to the general welfare of the Nation. Because of my work I have been assigned to several important duties, one of which made me Chairman of the Committee considering all private bills, dealing with Naval affairs. Special Committee Assignments I was named on the special investigating committee to investigate aircraft purchases for the Navy and was specially selected to investigate the income tax returns of all concerns selling the Navy aircraft equipment. Because of the disclosures I made in investigating the income tax returns under the direction of the President, the records show that I furnished the Congress information upon which they acted in abolishing the right of all corporations to file consolidated income tax returns.

concerning which Senator Borah says: "I have talked with practically all of the experts as to the advantage which the consolidated returns gives to large corporations and I am informed that it is an advantage in the matter of taxes which, under the provisions of this bill, would amount to some $300,000,000 a year." Counsel For Patent Committee Last year I was requested by Hon. William L. Sirovich, chairman of the Committee on Patents, to act as general counsel for the investigation of pooling of patents and cross licensing agreements. Last fall I went to New York and spent several weeks making such an investigation. Of my work on this committee, Chairman Sirovich is part said: "Your unselfish devotion to your work and the fine co-operation that you have extended to our committee is very deeply appreciated by me." One of the greatest abuses now existing in the Nation is the monopolies created and existing under our patent law. As a result of our efforts legislation has been recommended correcting these evils. The President During my brief service in Congress it has been my privilege and pleasure to co-operate with our great leader in the White House, the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt, in his efforts for relief, reform and recovery. This Administration has no doubt made mistakes but I agree with the President when he said that if he could be right 75 per cent of the time would feel that his Administration has been a success. Certainly whatever mistakes have been made by this Administration have been made in trying to do something for the common people. It is well known they are the ones this Administration has tried to serve. Thy Will Be Done My entire legislative record has been one of fighting for the rights of the common people and opposing all legislation for the benefit of the special privileged class. This has caused their bitter opposition. We found this in the campaign two years ago. The Power Trust announced after the passage of the Wheeler Rayburn bill their bitter opposition to those who voted for this legislation. I have always favored legislation providing the greatest good for the greatest number. I believe in the Democratic slogan: "Equal rights and opportunities to all, special privileges to none." If my record of service rendered meets with your approval, I will greatly appreciate your support and influence in the coming campaign. I have been delayed in returning home to make an accounting of my stewardship because of important legislation pending here. I have stood by my guns and have fought for your rights and if my record of service rendered meets with your approval I trust that you, my friends, will stand by me and reward honest, faithful service rendered. Sincerely, W. D. McFarlane. "Last Aid" Clubs There are clubs for poor persons in Sofia, whose principal purpose is to provide their members with a good "send off" into the next world and to assure that their funerals shall be "successes." The clubs have different names, the most popular being "Last Aid" and "Last Duty." When a member dies, all the other living members subscribe an agreed amount each to cover the funeral expenses and the meal which is offered to the mourners after the ceremony. They also see to the provision of a proper hearse and flowers. All the members are obliged to walk in the funeral procession. In addition, it is found necessary, the remaining members provide relief for the widow and children of the deceased. Laugh at SKIN TROUBLES! Stop that awful itching. Skin improves. Time Lost is Money Lost

It costs money to be sick. You see it directly if your pay envelope is short. You lose out on some important work if you live on a farm or if you are one of the few who are not docked for lost time. You can't afford to show up on the job unless you are feeling fit. The boss wants results—not excuses. How many times do Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, "That Tired Feeling," "That Morning After" Feeling, Neuralgia, Rheumatic, Sciatic, Muscular or Periodic Pains keep you at home or interfere with your doing a full day's work? All these troubles are caused or made worse by too much acid in your body. To correct this condition take

ALKA-SELTZER
The New Pain Relieving, Alkalinizing, Effervescent Tablet.
It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid. Alka-Seltzer is pleasant to take, effective, non-laxative. Why don't you try it? Get a drink at your drug store soda fountain for a nickel. Buy a package for home use.
