EXACO GASOLINE PLANT TO BE ENLARGED

CAPACITY OF PLANT WILL BE DOUBLED

Pipeline to Be Built to Quanah; to Be Other Improvements

Plans are under way to convert the Texas Company's gasoline plant, which is located about 20 miles southwest of Crowell, into an absorption type processing plant instead of the compression type plant, according to M. J. Adams of Fort Worth, gas and gasoline plant superintendent for the company.

The company is also installing compressor equipment so that the maximum capacity of the gasoline processed by the plant may be doubled. At present the plant is running at a rate of about 3,000 gallons daily.

No Waste

The method and equipment to be used at the Foard County plant will make possible the processing of all the gas, some of which has heretofore escaped into the air untreated.

A survey is also being made for a pipeline from the plant to the West Texas Utilities Co.'s Lake Pauline electric generating station near Quanah. Dry gas will be sent to the Quanah plant through this line for marketing after it has been stripped of its gasoline substances by the local Texas Company station.

Insures Operation

The West Texas Utilities Co. at Quanah will be industrial users of the dry gas for fuel and will use the entire production. This will insure the operation of the Texas plant for a number of years, Mr. Adams stated.

L. I. Saunders of Crowell has been employed to build the forms for the compressor foundation and for building the extensions.

Ray Mills, former superintendent of a natural gasoline plant at Burkburnett, has been superintendent of the plant in Foard County since it was put in operation.

When It Began

The history of the Texas Company gasoline plant began in July, 1933, when the L. K. Johnson No. 3 well blew in. Production of oil started at a very low rate, but gradually increased until by the last of July it was producing 256 barrels of crude oil daily.

Later when the depth of the well was lowered to 3,571 feet, the output increased gradually until it was producing 81 barrels of 42 gravity crude per hour. This raised the daily production to between 800 and 900 barrels.

Goes Wild

It was in the second week of October in 1933 that drilling six more feet into the lime formation caused the daily production to

Crowell Cast Presents Play at National Folk Festival at Centennial

A one-act play, written and directed by Mrs. I. T. Graves, speech arts and dramatic instructor of Crowell High School, played by a local cast, was presented in Dallas at the National Folk Festival Wednesday afternoon of last week. A big portion of the drama was given again Wednesday night in the Band Shell Amphitheatre on the Centennial grounds.

At the afternoon showing four plays were given by casts from Quitaque, Crowell, Childress and Beeville. Crowell, however, was the only West Texas town represented on the night performance.

Mrs. Sarah Gertrude Knott, director of the National Folk Festival which was held in Dallas last week, was in charge of the presentation of the plays.

The Crowell play was one of the three selected at the regional meet of the Folk Festival which was held at Memphis, Texas, May 19, for showings at Dallas. The other two selected were Childress and Quitaque. Although the three high towns were not ranked, it was generally understood that the Crowell play was the best in the regional meet.

Portraying the life of Foard County of 60 to 75 years ago, the play, "Memories," has for its theme the relation of the capture of Cynthia Ann Parker by the Indians and her recapture by the Texas Rangers many years later.

The cast proper is made up of three characters: Ragsdale Lanier, who won district honors in the high school one-act play tournament in 1932, was the grandfather; Miss Jim Lois Gafford, who was awarded the title of the best actress in the state in the high school division in 1933, was the grandmother; and Billie Billington of Crowell, was the granddaughter.

A double mixed quartet sang several cowboy songs during the presentation of the drama. As the curtain was drawn, the vocalists were singing "Home on the Range." Other songs used in the play were "The Cowboy's Dream," "The Last Round-Up," and "The Old Chisholm Trail." As the play ends, the quartets were singing "Memories."

Members of the quartets were Mrs. Hub Speck, Mrs. A. F. Wright, Mrs. Russell Beverly, John Rasmussen, Eli Smith, Wiley Ellis, Ebb Scales and C. O. LaRue. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Arnold Rucker.

The musical part of the program was repeated at the night showing given by the Folk Festival at the Texas Centennial.

The play was given in Crowell by the cast Thursday night, June 11, and an admission charge of 15c and 25c was made. The cast also presented it at Margaret of Crowell, where the money taken in at the two showings was used in taking care of part of the expenses of sending the players to Dallas and having the play presented at the Centennial.

BOOSTER BAND FROM CHILDRESS HERE TUESDAY

Program Is Given to Announce Jubilee For Today

A motor cavalcade consisting of about 50 automobiles from Childress made up a booster band which gave a short program on the west side of the square in Crowell Tuesday afternoon at 7:30. The program was given to advertise Childress Centennial celebration which is being held today.

Loud speaking equipment broadcast the program as it was given from a platform of a truck. A string band opened the program and played several numbers. Robert Brown acted as master of ceremonies.

Two "Caldwell Boys" sang "Home on the Range." A brass band played several marches. Nine girls sang "High Hat" accompaniment.

He died shortly after 11 p. m. as he was being taken to a hospital in Paducah.

As he and another employe attempted to replace a rain-soaked belt which had slipped off a pulley, a steel connection in the belt struck Mr. Fisher in the head. He never regained consciousness. He was rushed to Paducah by L. L. Pate, tool dresser, and Allen Fish, who lives near the well.

ense Heat Wave Broken by Norther And Storms Mon.

One of the most severe heat waves that has swept this part of the state in many years was broken Monday night by a norther and showers after unofficial thermometer readings soared as high as 112 and 114 degrees in the city Sunday and Monday.

The relief Monday night ended, at least temporarily, a severe heat wave that had covered all Texas more than a week. Sunday and Monday were probably the two hottest days of the summer with temperature at Wichita Falls hitting a June high since 1928.

Monday night severe storms, rain and rain were reported to break the grip of the heat wave. A half inch and a half rainfall was reported at Vivian and .41 at Veracruce. A severe storm at Paducah checked the town without communications for some time.

Artificial Diamonds

Artificial diamonds were made many years ago by a French chemist, Henri Moissan. He got his idea when tiny diamonds were found in fragments of iron meteorites, according to a writer in Ti-Bits Magazine. Knowing diamonds were crystallized carbon he attempted to reproduce the conditions that had once existed in the meteorite. Dissolving carbon in molten iron he then suddenly cooled the mixture. This caused the outside to contract, forming an outer shell of contracted and exerted a tremendous pressure on the inner cooled and hardened Moissan solved the iron away with hydrochloric acid and found that diamonds had been formed.

THE Foard County News

T. B. KLEPPER, Editor-Owner. DAN TARPLEY, Ass't. Editor

ANOTHER MILESTONE

Last week's issue of The News concluded forty-five years of continuous publication in Crowell and with the exception of two years, 1908 to 1910, when The Crowell Index was published, it has been the only newspaper published in Foard County. The Index was consolidated with The News in 1910.

The News was established in 1891 at about the same time of the organization of the county. Some old-timers say the first issues of the paper were published before the county was organized. J. L. Harper was founder and first publisher and it was printed in an upstairs room of a building belonging to the late Dr. W. H. Adams which was moved to Crowell from Old Margaret, first county seat of Hardeman County. The building was located on the same lot where the brick building now stands that has been the home of the paper since 1928.

During this long period of years The News has tried to keep pace with developments of the town and county. The printing plant has been improved from time to time from a small amount of equipment in the early days until now it is a well equipped shop and can handle the printing needs of this territory from the printing of a weekly newspaper down to a calling card.

The publishing of this newspaper and the maintaining of this plant would have been impossible without the loyal support and cooperation of the advertisers and friends in Crowell and Foard County. With humble acknowledgment of this support we wish to express our appreciation and pledge ourselves to a continuance of the same efforts toward publishing a weekly newspaper of which every citizen may be proud. We wish to be a component part of any step made for progress in the town and county.

A CODE OF MORALS

The following code for children has been set out as a model standard to be followed through life, and it is applicable for adults as well as children for habits can be mended when and where they are wrong.

"If I want to be a happy, useful citizen, I must have courage and hope, wisdom, industry and good habits, knowledge and usefulness, truth and honesty, healthfulness and cleanliness, helpfulness and unselfishness, charity, humanity and reverence, and faith and responsibility."

This is a fine code. The wisest men in any generation since the beginning of time could not have written a better code. In fact, the code is probably not much different from the one Adam and Eve carved on the tree their boys played under. The modern age has been accused of cutting its lines to the past and taking a headlong plunge in the general direction of the lower regions. If this is true, such a code as the above, if followed, will make the hearts of any as good as of any other age, and better than many.

Laying the law down is an old expression, but in some instances it would be a good thing to take it up again.

Reports show that blindness is decreasing, which is not surprising in view of the large supply of eye-openers.

Paid Admissions at Centennial Exceed World Fair Crowds

Dallas.—Paid admissions during the first week of the Texas Centennial Exposition exceeded the total for the first week at Chicago's 1933 Century of Progress Exposition by 58,700, official comparative figures revealed here today. Paid admissions during the first week of the 1934 Century of Progress Exposition exceeded the first week's total for the Texas Centennial Exposition by 4,755.

The paid admissions for the first Centennial Exposition week totaled 231,149, while the 1933 Chicago exposition total was 172,359, according to official figures for both fairs. The paid admissions for the 1934 Chicago exposition totaled 235,904.

These figures for the Texas and Chicago expositions do not include admissions by passes of employees, press representatives and others. The Centennial officials were elated over the comparative figures when announced by W. A. Webb, general manager. If the average attendance for the first week is maintained, the total attendance for the exposition will exceed the 10,000,000 visitors expected by executives before the close of the Texas World's Fair November 29.

Total attendance at the 1933 Chicago exposition was 27,703,132. For the 1934 Chicago exposition the total was 21,066,095.

OKLAHOMA LADS DOWN CROWELL; USE 4 PITCHERS

Eldorado First Sacker Leads Individual Offensive

The Eldorado baseball club shattered a pitchers' duel in the seventh inning Sunday on their own diamond and defeated the Crowell nine 11 to 5. Prior to the Eldorado rally the score was standing at 3 to 2 for the Oklahoma boys.

For six innings Herman Green held the Eldorado lads to six hits and three runs while his own mates collected four hits and two runs off Taylor. The little Oklahoma southpaw went the route for the foreigners and was never in serious trouble.

William Bell started at the mound for the Foard County nine at the first of the seventh, but had little luck in handling the Eldorado rally. Before the game was over Rogers and Graves had also seen service at the mound, none of them pitching effectively against the enemy.

Three Hits

Dickerson, first baseman for the opponents, led the individual hitting with three bingles. One of them was a homerun and the other two were doubles. Trammell, Eldorado catcher also collected three safeties, one of them going for three bases.

Junell, local right fielder, hit the ball for four bases in the fourth round for Crowell's first score and second hit. Nobody was on base. L. Green was the only man on the local team able to connect with more than one hit. He was good for a triple and a single.

Eldorado started its scoring in the second inning as three hits produced a run. The enemy drove another across the next inning. In the fourth a home run by Crowell made the score 2 to 1 for Eldorado. Both squads tallied in the sixth with a run each to leave Crowell trailing by one.

A triple by Ashford and an error on the part of the Eldorado shortstop accounted for Crowell's run. A base on balls and one of Dickerson's two baggers accounted for Eldorado's score.

Crowell went hitless in their portion of the seventh while Eldorado scored five runs on five hits and two bases on balls to put the game in the bag.

Temperature High

Three hits by Crowell boys and an error by Eldorado in the first half of the eighth was the best rally that could be staged by the Foard County boys on a scorching field. It accounted for three runs.

Jess Black's players matched the rally with three runs in the half of the eighth by pounding out four hits, one of them going for four bases.

The Crowell boys were retired in order in the first of the ninth while on the short end of a 11-5 score to end the fray.

Nelson, right fielder for Eldorado, turned in a sensational defensive game, nabbing fly balls that were either labeled for two or three bases or fouls by yards. He also netted a couple of safe hits out of three official trips to the plate.

CROWDS LARGER

Attendance at the University Centennial Exposition now in progress at Austin is growing daily and the average attendance has surpassed all expectations. Interesting exhibits of geology, zoology, botany, anthropology and history make up the University Centennial celebration. All exhibits have been built to take a permanent place in the Memorial Museum upon completion of the first unit.

CLIMBED BY STUDENTS

Cathedral spires, forbidding needle-like peaks which tower 2,115 feet above Yosemite valley, have been conquered again. Four University of California students, members of the rock-climbing section of the Sierra club, made the ascent under conditions so perilous that other members of the group were forced to give up the climb half-way up the perpendicular cliffs.

Klepper Announces For Re-election as Justice of the Peace

J. W. Klepper has authorized Dickerson to make public his announcement as a candidate for re-election to the office of justice of the peace of Precinct No. 1.

In making his announcement Mr. Klepper said, "To the voters of Precinct No. 1: In making my announcement I want to say I am thankful for the splendid vote you gave me in the last two elections."

"I am making the race on my own merits and I think I am competent to conduct the office in a businesslike and dignified manner. It will be impossible for me to see all of you personally, but I am counting on your vote and support. Please accept this announcement as a sincere solicitation for your help in the Democratic primary election to be held July 25," Mr. Klepper stated.

Saved Much Time But Died Young

Jim Jones lives out in the country, twenty miles from his office, and drives to work daily. The drive takes place largely on a modern highway, with the last few miles confined to busy streets.

The drive can be made safely in about thirty-five minutes. But Jim would feel ashamed of his record if he ever took that long. So, by "stepping on her" hard, he manages to make it in twenty-five minutes, and sometimes less. The other day, in fact, he did it in twenty-two minutes—a saving of thirteen minutes over the time taken by more conservative pilots.

That saving of time is a great boon to Jim. It permits him to spend ten or fifteen minutes talking about golf to the boys at the cigar stand, or reading the funny papers. And the day he made his record he spent the saved time, plus a few minutes more, boasting about it.

Of course, Jim has to weave in and out of traffic occasionally, cursing the slowpokes who move along at a sedate forty-five. And he has to steal a right of way. Now and then he misses a crash by an inch, and after the first flush of nervousness passes, he chuckles to himself about what a good driver he is. Once he did have a minor accident, but the insurance company paid for that.

There are a good many thousand Jim Joneses driving cars in this country. They go on for years with nothing happening to them—and then the inevitable occurs. Curtains!

WATER LILIES

The botany exhibit in the University Centennial Exposition was recently enriched with the gift of a large collection of tropical water lilies. The donation was made by A. J. Proebstle of Brazoria, Tex.

Paducah Here Sunday For Match With Crowell Boys

Eldorado, Truscott and Paducah all took the enemies in Sunday's games in the Cotton Belt Baseball League to tighten their grip on the first three positions.

The Oklahoma boys downed Crowell on a blistering diamond to remain in the top position while Truscott on their own field swamped Quannah to remain only half a game out of first place. Medicine Mound bowed to Paducah to remain in the cellar for another week with Quannah only one-half a game ahead of them.

The Standing

Eldorado's victory over the Foard County boys pushed the Oklahomans' per centage back up to .750 and lowered the locals' to .444. Crowell's loss of 11 to 5 placed them in fourth place.

Truscott's 15 to 2 victory pushed the Quannah lads almost to the cellar, their original place. Paducah kept up a winning streak by taking Medicine Mound 9 to 7 to move into third place with 5 wins and 4 losses.

Fans of the local team will have the opportunity to see the Crowell boys on their home ground for the first time in three weeks next Sunday as they entertain Howard Powell's Paducah players.

Medicine Mound visits to Truscott and Eldorado goes to Quannah next week's frays.

Saves Soil, Conserves Moisture, and Does Two Jobs in One

THIS is one of the most desirable tools to own. It saves time by plowing and disking in one operation, conserves moisture by keeping the soil in condition to receive and hold it, and prevents blowing and drifting by leaving a large amount of stubble spread over the surface of the field.

Heat-treated disk blades which resist breakage and sharp edges much longer are used in the McCormick-Deering Harrow-Plow. Power-lift raises and lowers the disks. Sizes 4, 5, 6, 8, and 9-foot.

natural resources. He stated that as a private citizen and as a State Senator he has been for such conservation. He holds that the title to the waters should be kept always for the people.

Senator Oneal said, "A social security program should be perfected and carried out." In his race for re-election to the State Senate in 1934 he advocated Old Age Assistance, with the state paying a part, and the Federal government a part, he said. In 1935 he supported the constitutional amendment for that purpose and worked in the Senate for the Old Age Assistance law. He voted for the $150,000 appropriation to aid in curing crippled children. This fund is supplemented by the Federal government. The program of social security should be broadened so that all deserving persons who are in circumstances of want through no fault of their own might be given assistance, he stated.

"The apprehension of criminals and their punishment should be made surer and swifter," he said. "In 1933 I publicly favored the creation by the Texas Legislature of a central bureau of identification and unification of law enforcement agencies of the state. In my race for re-election in 1934 I advocated these reforms and supported bills making these reforms. The Federal government and the states should further co-operate in this movement.

"The anti-trust laws should not be repealed and monopolies should be prohibited. In the State Senate I opposed every attempt to repeal or weaken the anti-trust laws of the state and vigorously opposed monopolies, in order that what we sometimes call small business may be protected from the grasp and oppression of large combinations or monopolies.

For animals, a valuable natural resource of this country, but sadly neglected and atrociously wasted, should be considered in establishing policies for land management, says Frank G. Ashbrook, of the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture.

GINGER BREAD LOVE TEST IS POPULAR OVER HOLLAND

One of the favorite dainties of the Hollanders is gingerbread. It is popular all over the country, and unlucky is the young man who goes courting without a supply of it. At the door his sweetheart meets him with the greeting, "Have you any gingerbread?" and if he has none, the atmosphere sometimes becomes decidedly chilly. If, on the other hand, he comes wisely prepared, he is assured of a pleasant evening the minute the gingerbread sack comes in sight. At last the young man decides to "pop the question." That night he appears with a large cake under his arm, but gives no hint of the reason for his visit. The rest of the family, however, slips off to bed early, leaving him alone with the girl. This is the fateful time. If she throws more meat on the fire, the young man understands that she loves him; they cut the cake and settle their future happily. Perhaps, though, the girl lets the fire die down; then her suitor realizes that she does not care for him and, bundling up the cake, he departs silently never to return.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever. . . . He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions" (Psalms 107:1, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Principle of divine metaphysics is God; the practice of divine metaphysics is the utilization of the power of Truth over error; its rules demonstrate its Science" (page 111.)

A Texas Tournament

There was not much room for books in the crowded covered wagons that came into early Texas; but of the few that were brought in, one of the most popular was Scott's Ivanhoe. Small wonder that attempts were made to recapture its spirit of knightliness in flower. Our pioneering ancestors were more romantic than we. They were "dreamers on horseback," and to me their attempts to recapture the medieval tournaments celebrated so magnificently by Sir Walter seemed particularly fine. These tournaments persisted up to the beginning of the new century. It was my good fortune once to witness one, and it is the most vivid early recollection I have.

It took place in Limestone County, this Anglo-American interpretation of the tournament of feudal times. We learned about it in advance and drove far into the hinterland to witness it. The people came from miles around. There was a track about 200 yards long that contained two goal posts about ten feet high, placed on the right-hand side of the track. From the top of each post extended an arm from which hung a wire crook, holding a ring about two inches in diameter. Each "knight" carried a ten-foot pole tapered to a fine point, which was his "lance." Mounted on his fiery charger, he ran the length of the track, the object being to spear as many rings as possible. The runner made three trips at full speed, guiding his steed with the left hand and holding the lance with the right.

The knights were gaily bedight in tight-fitting trousers, high boots, blouses and sashes. I remember how fascinated I was by their broad-brimmed black hats, romantically caught up at the sides with long ostrich plumes.

As the prizes were announced, the winners rode forward on prancing steeds to receive them; each then turned and presented his guerdon to the lady of his choice. Here a note of practicality entered into the proceedings; for the prizes were not crowns or wreaths, as in the medieval tradition, but new spring millinery! Yes, each knight crowned his lady fair with a new spring hat.

This practice, in fact, accounts for our having knowledge of the event. Were not the hats purchased at my father's general store, and had I not watched Miss Susie, the milliner, as her deft fingers fashioned the delectable head-dresses? It was not necessary in those days for a woman's hat to be individual or becoming, but it had to be elaborate. And these crowns for the tournament were truly marvelous concoctions, each bearing about a pound of flora and fauna, not to speak of ribbons, furbelows, and lace.

Tragic Expedition of La Salle's Colony Told First by Don Carlos of Mexico in 1691; He Also Wrote History of Texas

Austin.—The tragic expedition of La Salle's colony in Texas has been recorded in many accounts, but by a significant coincidence, the first account of the destruction of the French on the Texas coast to have been published in Mexico in 1691, it is pointed out by Dr. Carlos E. Castenera, Latin-American librarian at the University of Texas.

"This account, generally unknown, was written by Mexico's outstanding scholar and scientist of the seventeenth century, Don Carlos de Sigüenza y Gongora," Dr. Castenera said. "It was Don Carlos that Father Massanet, founder of the missions in Texas, wrote his long letter describing the first establishment of the Spaniards in this region, and it is Don Carlos who claims a prologue to one of his books and wrote a history of Texas. Unfortunately the manuscript of this history of the State has been lost."

"However, in one of his many books, Don Carlos has given a brief but very interesting summary of the destruction of La Salle's colony. This is found in 'Trofeo de la Justicia Espanola' published in 1691. This account was perhaps one of the earliest of his lost history of Texas, and it is based in part on Father Massanet's letter, and on the legends made by two of the survivors of the settlement who were captured by De Leon in 1689 and sent to Mexico. It is therefore the first authentic account to be published in this tragic expedition in the history of the State. A rare account is found in the University Library of the University of Texas."

"The first chapter in this valuable and little known book is entitled, 'Fatal Events That Befell La Salle on the Lake of San Bartolome (Matagorda Bay), and the Success with Which Several Expeditions to the Province of Texas Have Been Undertaken into the Carolina (Georgia).'"

"The successes attained by New Spain (Mexico) during the administration of the most excellent viceroy, Count of Galve, will forever afford materials for voluminous tomes even should these be reduced to a mere compendium," Don Carlos wrote. "Should I, a better pen undertake this enterprise, I may attempt myself sometime in the future. In the meantime, I wish to set here as a brief appendix, one of two of the many successes which are not entirely unrelated to what I have already written, either because it was the French who were occasion for them, or because they were attained by the valor of the Spanish-American arms, or because they were due to the vigilant providence of the most excellent viceroy."

"His most Christian Majesty, the King of France, was informed by M. de LaSalle, a native of Normandy in Old France, that he had discovered the rivers of New France (Canada), to the southwest, down the St. Lawrence for a stretch of several hundred leagues and had discovered a very rich and fertile province which he called Louisiana. In this province, near the great lakes, there was a large river more than a league (three miles) from shore to shore which flowed down into the Gulf of Mexico. In order that he might return to the said province and establish there, a warship called Joly, with forty cannons and three hundred men, was given to him, to which were added a frigate and two other small boats at the expense of the King. He arrived on the Texas coast towards the close of the year 1684 (1685)."

"Various misfortunes caused him to pass the mouth of the river which he was searching and which he called Colbert, and thus he arrived at the Lake of San Bartolome (Matagorda Bay), found in the interior formed by the coast of Florida and New Spain. Here he was abandoned by the convoy because Beaujeu, the captain, believed the enterprise to be a fantastic dream. He lost a ship called Marie (Amiable); he explored the bay and its rivers as best he could; and upon landing, he had several encounters with the Indians that were there and are called St. Louis."

"The head of the Statue of Liberty was completed in time for exhibition at the Texas exposition in '73, the forearm having been sent to Philadelphia for showing at the Centennial exposition in '76. Thence it was transferred to Madison Square Garden, New York City, where it remained until 1886, three years after the framework and base had been put in place. It raises 305 feet from foundation of pedestal to top of torch. The length of a hand is 16 feet 5 inches. The index finger is 8 feet long. The thickness of the head from ear to ear is 10 feet. The nose is 4 feet 6 inches long. The mouth is 3 feet across."

Champion

MISS LOUISE CHASTAIN

Meat Poster Wins First in Texas in National Contest

Here is Miss Louise Chastain of Brownwood who has just been announced as state champion for Texas in a national Meat Poster contest for high school students sponsored by the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Miss Chastain won this high honor in a field of contestants from 520 high schools of 44 states. In addition to her poster Miss Chastain submitted an essay on the subject, "Why We Need Meat." In this essay she says in part: "As a high school girl I consider meat one of the most essential of foods, not because of its flavor alone, but because of its food value. It is a most important protein food and protein is necessary to build body tissue and repair old tissues which are broken down by the constant wear and tear of everyday activity. Meat is also needed for its energy value. Meats contain the minerals, iron and phosphorus, which our bodies must have. Liver is an especially valuable source of iron for replenishing red blood corpuscles."

Carbon Dioxide Aids Storage of Fruits

Carbon dioxide "anesthetizes" fruits and vegetables in storage and keeps them fresh by retarding their respiration and other life processes. It also checks decay organisms that attack these products. Specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture observed this in investigating the possible use of solid carbon dioxide in shipping fruits and vegetables. Their tests indicate this treatment may be used advantageously in preserving the quality of newly harvested products during the day or two required to cool them in refrigeration, and at canning factories lacking refrigeration facilities.

"The gas, however, must be used with care, because too much may 'kill the patient' say the specialists. They found that fruits and vegetables vary greatly in their tolerance to carbon dioxide. Apples, for example, can stand a higher concentration of gas in storage air than strawberries. At canning factories deliveries often deteriorate when held overnight for processing next day. This can be prevented to a large extent by using the carbon dioxide treatment, which has been found especially effective in preserving the fresh quality of peas and sweet corn. Carbon dioxide is widely used in England in preserving fruits and vegetables in storage. There the climate is cool and little refrigeration is needed to supplement the gas treatment. In the United States this plan could not be adopted widely, because hot weather makes it necessary to use considerable refrigeration, in addition to the gas treatment."

Collecting Postmarks Cheaper Than Stamps

Stamp collecting is a good hobby for young people, but it is rather expensive for the average boy or girl. An interesting variation which would be within the reach of more children is described in the following letter which we quote from Margaret Berry, Union County, Ky., in The Progressive Farmer: "About a year ago I began collecting postmarks. In a year's time I had collected postmarks from about 480 different cities of the United States and abroad. Some of these are from Alaska, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Central America, Labrador, England, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Persia, and Africa. "I have postmarks from the capitals of most of the states and many other interesting places. I have a large scrapbook that I put many postmarks in. I have many duplicates but I have no use for them since I have never found anyone else who collects postmarks, consequently I have no one to trade with."

Hints for Poisoning Garden, Flower Pests

Some timely hints for gardeners, whether they grow flowers or vegetables, are given by L. A. Niven in The Progressive Farmer: "Frequently insects injure flowers greatly. These pests may be controlled by spraying or dusting. During spring such sucking insects as plant lice and aphids frequently do great damage. Spray them with nicotine sulphate, using 1 1/2 teaspoons to a gallon of water in which enough soap is dissolved to make thin suds. Spray so as to come in contact with the insects, as they suck the juice from the inside of the leaves or tender stems and can be killed only by putting something on them that will burn them. Because they are usually on the underside of the leaves one must get the poison there and directly on them. "For any of the eating insects, use a stomach poison such as arsenate of lead, Dutox, magnesium arsenate, etc. For a spray, use three teaspoons arsenate of lead to a gallon of water or five teaspoons magnesium arsenate, mixing in a small quantity of hydrated lime. With Dutox use two level teaspoons to a gallon of water. "If one prefers to apply these poisons as a dust, mix one part arsenate of lead with four parts hydrated lime; one part Dutox with two or three parts of lime or flour, and dust on thoroughly, covering all leaves and tender twigs. "Everyone with even a few flowers or vegetables about the place needs a small spray pump or a hand dust gun. The directions given for dusting or spraying flowers are also correct for vegetables."

Thompson in Race For State Railroad Commission Office

Ernest O. Thompson, candidate for membership on the Texas Railroad Commission, was born at Alvord, Wise County, Texas, on March 24, 1892, son of Lewis O. and Flora Thompson. In 1901 the family moved to Amarillo, a few years after that town became the county seat of Potter County. He married in 1924 May Peterson, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company and concert singer, a native of Wisconsin and daughter of a Methodist evangelist. Their home is "The Bungalow" on the roof of the Amarillo Hotel.

Thompson's first public office was Mayor of Amarillo, to which he was elected by 75 per cent of the votes in a field of four candidates. His campaign pledge was to "Take the Penalty out of Owning a Home" by reducing the cost of electricity, gas, water and telephones. Every platform promise was performed.

Thompson was appointed to the Railroad Commission of Texas by Governor Sterling June 4, 1932, succeeding Pat M. Neff, who resigned to become president of Baylor University. The East Texas oil field was discovered in September, 1930, and its vast size, underlying 183 square miles, soon upset the world's economic and price structure of petroleum. Efforts at legal production control began in August, 1931, with martial law and a called session of the Legislature to make applicable laws. Railroad Commission control began in September, but martial law continued until the summer of 1932. Operators were in a cut-throat war of frenzied production. Many stubbornly opposed any legal control. The mad race brought enormous expansion, the number of wells doubling in the last three months of 1931 and doubling again in the next six months, reaching 7,000 barrels by July, 1932.

This was the situation when Thompson became a member of the Railroad Commission. The first problem of the Commission was to write orders under the law that would stand up in the courts. Fluctuations in market prices are an index to the solution of this problem. At the time of the East Texas discovery the price of oil was $1.10 per barrel. It dropped to 35 cents, rose to 98c, dropped to 10c, and finally climbed back and stabilized at $1.00 and is now $1.15. These movements successfully indicated, first the demoralization from the first flood of oil; then the steadying from early control; the shattering of control when the law broke down in the courts; and finally the tightening again when the Legislature and the Commission, guided by court decisions, were able to make laws and write orders that would resist attacks on their constitutionality.

Railroad freight rates on cotton have been cut during the last two years to the lowest level in Texas history. Previous to 1933 all cotton was shipped on less-than-carload rate basis, but in that year carload rates were prescribed by the Railroad Commission which average a reduction of about 60 per cent of the old rates. There has also been a general investigation by the Texas Railroad Commission, jointly with the Interstate Commerce Commission, of railroad rates on principal farm products and livestock, for adjustment of inequalities. Extensive adjustments have been made at the same time in the relation between railroad and motor truck freight rates. (Political Advertisement.)

Aerial View Maps Aid Erosion Control

Aerial photography has come to play a large part in the Government's fight against soil erosion. Detailed aerial maps are now made of each erosion control demonstration area as a preliminary to further work by the Soil Conservation Service. To one familiar with such maps, they give a clear picture of drainage features, cultural methods, and general slopes or regions in which soil conservation measures are to be introduced. Although the Service did not start aerial map making until late in 1933, more than 200,000 square miles of eroded land have now been covered in this way. This includes several thousand square miles of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in the vicinity of Boulder Dam. Maps have been made of areas in 41 states.

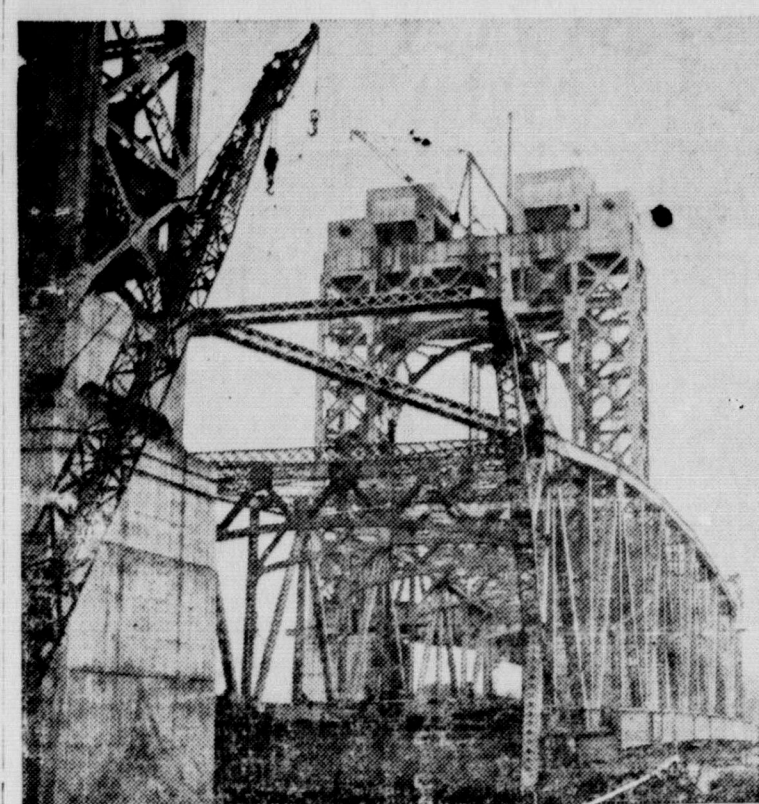

Three types of maps, based upon aerial work, are now being produced by the Soil Conservation Service. They are planimetric line maps, usually used to show flat agricultural lands with their cultural and drainage features; topographic maps, showing contours of sloping lands, cultural conditions and drainage systems, and aerial mosaics. This map is compiled from numerous small aerial photographs and shows cultural and drainage features of the land, and general slopes. The principal advantage of the aerial mosaic map is the relative speed with which it can be prepared.

Campers Should Be Vaccinated Against Fevers, Brown Says

Austin.—Parents of boy scouts, girl scouts, and other young people going to camps of any kind, are urged by Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, to have the family physician vaccinate each individual against typhoid fever. Some of the danger points for spread of typhoid it was said, are creek swimming holes and flowing springs. Even though the water at these places may appear clear and sparkling, there is danger that it is contaminated. "Typhoid fever is an unnecessary disease," Dr. Brown said. "Every case is due either to community negligence or to the carelessness or ignorance of some individual. Eternal vigilance in maintaining sanitary surroundings and a pure water supply is necessary."

"Three shots" of typhoid vaccine—a week apart—will put your child in the "protected" class. As it takes several weeks for the protective treatment to establish itself in the body, have it done now. "Typhoid fever is an intestinal complaint caused by the typhoid bacillus. The digestive tract of a patient is consequently infected with typhoid germs. Anything that may be contaminated by the body discharges is apt to be infectious and dangerous. "The prevention of typhoid fever is particularly a matter of community responsibility. In cities large and small most urgent control measures are those providing for (1) proper disposal of human excreta through sewage disposal plants and toilets of sanitary type; (2) safe public and well water supplies; (3) extermination of flies; (4) healthy food handlers; (5) supervision of disease carriers and (6) public milk supplies of high quality with the added safeguard of careful pasteurization. ## Crowell Falls Agent Aids Fire - Fighters Squelch Wichita Fire

John Diggs, agent for Falls Refining Company in Crowell, drove to Wichita Falls early Thursday to assist in putting out a fire which damaged the Falls Refining Company plant to the amount of $40,000.

It is believed the fire started when a small explosion occurred in a clay condenser behind one of the four stills of the plant. The fire burned until Thursday afternoon before it was finally squelched.

David Johnson, manager of the Falls Refining Company, did not estimate how long it would take to repair the damage, but said the plant would be rebuilt. He merely stated that the whole main plant was gone.

Mr. Diggs, local agent, stated that the fire would not interfere with sales and deliveries here. He said that all orders could be filled as promptly as before.

jump to 2,776 barrels.

The planning for the actual plant began November 13 with the beginning of a survey for a three-inch pipe-line from the proposed plant's location to Foard City where a loading rack was later built on the Santa Fe Railroad to handle the gasoline output.

One week later to the day workmen began breaking the ground on which the plant was to be constructed. The $150,000.00 gas processing plant is located about 1,000 feet west of the L. K. Johnson No. 3 discovery well, from which the plant originally obtained its natural gas supply.

March 5, the following year, after about a month's delay due to the inability of the equipment manufacturers to furnish adequate materials, the first natural gasoline was produced from the gas by the Texas Company plant, thus starting a new chapter in Foard County's industrial history.

5,000 Gallons

The production of gasoline for the first day was estimated at approximately 3,500 gallons with a capacity of 5,000.

Among the several buildings at the Texas plant are two large structural steel and sheet iron buildings. One of them is the compressor building. The other, the utility building, houses a 70 horse power engine which generates electricity. Water pumps are also in the building.

Other structures are offices, tool room, bank houses, mess hall, boiler house, and five residences. All the residences have modern conveniences with electricity, running water, natural gas and sewage service. All are of attractive and modern design and architecture.

Several 18,000-gallon heavy storage tanks for the oil and gas were built and two 16,000 water storage tanks were constructed. The water supply comes from an artificial lake about 4 miles northeast of the plant. A dam 604 feet in length and 13 feet in height on Good Creek creates a lake with a capacity of about 77 acre-feet of water. The lake itself covers about 18 acres of land.

The final number on the program was "Ole Faithful" sung by Elvin Watkins.
