BRIDGE OVER GOOD CREEK BEING BUILT

A low-water bridge to consist of a concrete slab 182 feet long, is being built across Good Creek on the road leading from the Texaco gasoline plant in the southwest part of Foard County to the Crowell-Paducah pavement, the intersection being about 15 miles west of Crowell.

Construction of the bridge was begun last week with two shifts of government laborers, each consisting of about 15 men, employed in the work. The Works Progress Administration project also includes the cutting down of hills and grading the approach to the bridge which will extend 91 feet each way from the middle of the creek bed.

The project is under the sponsorship of the county and commissioners J. M. Manz and A. W. Barker, the work being in both precincts, three and four.

Although the federal agency furnishes most of the materials and all the labor, part of the materials and other expenses will have to be borne by the county.

Cat Waits After Flood for Woman

Mrs. W. S. Douglas of San Angelo, well-known in Crowell, having visited friends here many times, and her Persian cat were separated during the recent flood at San Angelo. However, when she returned to her home after the floods were over, she found the animal waiting for her at the front door.

When Mrs. Douglas was forced to abandon her home, she took to the hotel with her child's chair, made in 1823. During the flood period the damage to their home amounted to at least $2,000 and many antiques impossible to replace were lost, Mr. Douglas said.

When the flood entered the home, the cat climbed "his favorite tree" in the back yard. It was washed over by the water, but one branch was out of the water and the cat stayed on this limb.

Third Anniversary Sale at Everybody's Food Store Oct. 9-12

The third Annual Anniversary Sale of Everybody's Food Store will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 9, 10 and 12, in observance of the business' third birthday.

Previous anniversary sales by the store have been for one day only, but this one will last three days, according to owner and manager, Claude Dodd. The reason for the extension is because of the likelihood of bad weather which might cause many of the people to miss one day of the sale, he said.

Milk Figures of Foard County Given in Special Bulletin By Department of Commerce; Number of Cows Increase

In 1934 on January 1, 619 farms in Foard County reported 2,243 cows being milked in comparison with 1,336 cows being milked on 610 farms on April 1, 1929, according to a special report of the 1935 federal farm census released this week by director William L. Austin of the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce.

The number of cows being milked on the farms in 1934 show an increase of nearly 68 per cent over the number of cows being milked less than five years previous.

On the same number of farms 793,043 gallons of milk were produced in 1934 to compare with only 564,496 gallons produced in 1929. This figure for last year shows an increase of slightly more than 40 per cent, the gallons of milk produced not increasing in the same ratio as did the number of cows.

Butter Churned
Five hundred and ninety-one farms in the county reported 119,482 pounds of butter churned during 1934. This compares with 116,771 reported on 541 farms in 1929. The increase shown amounts to less than two and one-half per cent of the 1929 production.

The number of cows and heifers, including both milk cows and beefs show an increase of 1,239 in 1935 over 1929. The number of cows on the 591 farms and ranches in Foard County in 1934 amounted to 7,433 and in 1929 to 6,194. This is an increase of slightly more than 20 per cent.

Crowell Grid Fans Journey to Wichita Falls to Attend Grid Classic Between Texas Aggies, Hardin-Simmons Team

Between 350 and 400 Foard County football fans attended the gridiron classic between the Texas A. & M. and the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, "The Dream game of North Texas," in Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon in Coyote Stadium.

Followers of Dick Todd, former Crowell High School football sensation, and Burns McKinney, ex-Wichita Falls High speedy gridster, were the main attractions of the contest which started with the kickoff at 2:30 Saturday afternoon under ideal conditions with the exception of a slightly too-high temperature.

The game gave thrills galore as the teams battled on near-even terms and each machine neared the other's goal line. Both failed, however to score a touchdown and with seconds to go Morrow, captain and flashy end for the Aggies, teed the oval squarely between the goal posts above the cross-bar for a three-point victory over the golden attired Cowhands.

In addition to a thrilling grid match, the approximate 5,000 customers were given an extra attraction by the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band, the Cowgirl Pep Squad and Johnny Regan, world renowned trick and fancy roper and bull whip artist.

An entire section of the east side of the Wichita Falls High School stadium was reserved for Crowell fans and another section for A. & M. ex-students and fans. The west side of the stadium was reserved for the Cowboy fans and students.

WORK RESUMED ON HIGHWAY TO WICHITA RIVER

Work was resumed Friday of last week with full crew of government laborers on the strip of new highway from Crowell to the Foard-Knox county line after a delay of several days because of weather conditions.

The entire shift on duty began grading, hauling sand and excavating footing for culverts and bridges. The grading is rapidly nearing completion, with approximately five per cent of the grading yet to be done. The grading work is now being done about 9 miles south of Crowell.

A small crew had been working on the government project prior to last Friday doing "odd jobs." Most of the materials and equipment have already arrived so that the actual work on bridge and culvert construction will be begun within a short time.

CROWELL BOYS ENTER CONTEST ON EVEN TERMS

Iowa Park Machine Is Bespeckled With Experience

The Crowell High School Wildcats—with a new outlook on life—will meet the Iowa Park Hawks in Wildcat Stadium Friday night. Having completed the most strenuous week of workouts since convening August 17, the Feline aggregation will enter the game sure that they will battle the veteran Hawks on equal terms, although experts of the district are inclined to favor the visitors.

The contest inaugurates the conference warfare for the Wildcats. The Hawks met the Burk Burnett Bulldogs and lost to them last Friday 13 to 0 for the Iowa Park opener. The Gravesmen have three successive home games coming up with Shillicothe and Throckmorton visiting them before they invade the Burk favorites.

Friday's game will catch the Crowell lads at their finest with every regular ready to start the game and the reserves ready to relieve them. Eddy and Fitzgerald have drawn the assignments for the Wildcat ends, Eddy, lanky 127-pounder, who also stands at safety, has recovered from a shoulder injury that kept him out of one of the practice games and handicapped him in another. Gafford, a versatile lineman, is a third wingman in case he is needed.

Tail Thompson and Ira Klepper, 168-pounder, will start the game at tackles with potentially powerful Shook awaiting the call to substitute. Thompson will be playing against the veteran Sunday for Iowa Park.

Simmons and Gibson will line up on each side of Center Reeder to match brains and brawn with two tried and true guards for the Hawks. In distress Graves can call Vecera from the backfield to any position in the line and replace him in the backfield without weakening either his offense or defense.

In the backfield Rasberry has been given the responsibility of signal barking and the title of quarterback to exchange places with Lankford. Orr, with a slightly sore hand, will return to his berth of left half with a running mate in the form of Vecera at (Continued on Page Five)

Excavations Made for Bridge and Culvert Foundations

Farm Agent Mails Large Number of Reports to A. & M.

The preparation of the reports of performance of the 1936 Soil Conservation Program, the federal government's new agricultural plan adopted since the invalidation of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, is practically complete and a large part of them have been mailed into state headquarters at College Station at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, according to John Nagy, Foard County farm agent.

The reports are based on measurements taken by representatives in Foard County selected by the extension service after giving competitive examinations.

The reports contain the official measurements of the land devoted to soil depleting, soil building and soil conserving crops, and the payments made to the farmers in compliance with the plan's soil conserving and building regulations will be based on the acreage as reported by these contracts.

BUT OIL-PLATING LASTS...

Change today

Right you are. The weather hasn't made up its mind yet. But you don't care, once Conoco Germ Processed oil-potented—is Oil-Plating your engine for Winter.

Change to modern Oil-Plating today, for instance. Then every cylinder, piston, bearing and other part is completely Oil-Plated.

And today... tomorrow... next month... as long as you use Germ Processed, this Oil-Plating will still be up there. It gets there by means of the special "hyper-oily concentrate" which is alloyed into Germ Processed oil under patents in circulation, this oil renews its genuine Oil-Plating, which doesn't return to the crankcase, but stays up all through your engine.

Thus the old cry of "get your right Winter viscosity" isn't the half of it, now that you can get exclusive Oil-Plating, too—a great big extra. Oil-Plating is all ready to lubricate before your starter even turns, and that lets your battery live. Oil-Plating doesn't run off in any weather, and that saves your engine and oil. You keep away from your next quart—your next battery—your next car, by changing today to Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

Truscott's baseball nine journeyed to Medicine Mound Sunday and defeated the Hardeman County machine 5 to 2 to take the second game of a three-game play-off series...

Conference—

hosts to the Chillicothe Eagles. The Eagles of Chillicothe slipped in the favor of the seers by dropping their opening tilt last Friday night on their own field to the Throckmorton gridsters, the ciew formerly doped to land in the cellar. The Greyhounds, with practically no experience and scarcely more weight, took the measure of the Eagles 6 to 0. It was the opener for the Greyhounds who started their conference schedule with a bang.

In this week's tilt the Bulldogs should take the Chillicothe eleven by a bigger score than they defeated the Hawks.

The Crowell high school Wildcats, miniature gridsters, entertained the Hawks in Crowell Friday night in the conference curtain for the Gravesmen and the second conference contest for the visitors. After bowing to the highly-touted Canines of Burk by two touches, the Hawks should battle the Wildcats on about even terms, considering the fact that the now available Wildcat McKown in the backfield and Reeder in the line with a possible revision of the starters may add strength to the winless Felines. Defeats of 1 touchdown, 2 touchdowns and 3 touchdowns taken by the Crowell lads from Floydada, Matador and Paducah, respectively, may place them in line for a "victory or bust." The Hawks, having suffered a defeat from their neighbors of Burk, may also be in a mood for victory. Although they did not rank high last year, Iowa Park boasts of 9 returning lettermen—as many or more than any other 10-B team can list.

Archer City ventures to Seymour for a battle that is also due to be fought on near-equal terms. The Wildcats of Archer County enter the tilt with two victories in as many starts, with wins already chalked up against Woodson 7-0 and Wichita Falls B eleven 19 to 6. Seymour also has a perfect record having played only one game this year and defeating Decatur in it. The game will also be a battle of the coaches as tricky E. E. Powell of Archer City and new Maurice Orr of Seymour match wits.

A tilt scheduled for Seymour and Rochester was cancelled by the Ormen because of ineligibility of Rochester players.

Throckmorton is not scheduled for a conference tilt this week-end.

"China Clipper" and "Swing Time" Movies At Vernon This Week

Theatre goers of Crowell will have an opportunity to see several outstanding hits at the Vernon Theatre, Vernon, beginning Friday of this week when "China Clipper" with Pat O'Brien, Ross Alexander and Beverly Roberts will be shown. "China Clipper" is a story based on the Trans-Pacific air route.

For the midnight show Saturday and Sunday, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers will be seen in their latest hit "Swing Time." Others in the cast are Eric Blore, Helen Broderick and Victor Moore.

On Tuesday, October 13, for a one-day engagement only Major Bowes' Nationally famous Amateurs will appear on the Vernon Theatre stage in person. The show will appear for both the matinee and night shows.

Crowell Boys—

right half. Available substitute backs are McKown, Joy and Meason with McKown and Meason probably seeing plenty of service in tomorrow night's mele. The Hawks bring with them 9 veterans to infest the Wildcat gridiron. A potentially powerful backfield with Wigley, formerly a wingman, the big threat, assisted by quarterback Honeycutt, will cause the Crowell youngsters no little worry. They were the offensive stars for the Chicken Stealers as they went down before the Bulldog onslaught, both being knocked out of the game in the final quarter, but regaining consciousness soon after it was over.

The right side of the Hawk forward wall, bespeckled with experienced men, will probably prove the more invincible with Howell at pivot, veteran stars Alvey and Sunday at guard and tackle, and Parrish at end. Holding down the opposite side of the line are Moody, Boutwell and Bain at guard, tackle and end.

Practice games of the 1936 season prove nothing in the way of the probable outcome of tomorrow's scrap. Iowa Park has played only one game—that with the Burkburnett boys. They held the dope-favored eleven to two touchdowns—a creditable feat, according to sport experts. The winless and scoreless Wildcats have bowed to Floydada, Matador and Paducah, all three powerful machines.

The odds on the game range from about a toss-up to a two-touchdown victory for the Wildcats. A victory for Graves' pupils will mean they have an excellent chance at runner-up with more than possibilities for a conference championship, disregarding Seymour's prospects.

Aurora Borealis

The Aurora Borealis in the northern hemisphere and the Aurora Australis in the southern hemisphere are due to similar causes. The usual theory is that the displays are caused by the encounter of electrons from the sun with gases such as krypton and nitrogen, in the upper rarefied atmosphere. Besides this electrical influence, there is believed also to be some connection with the earth's magnetism and with the frequency of sun spots. Proof of this is that the rays of the aurora coincide with the direction of the magnetic needle, that the needle is disturbed at such times and that a brilliant aurora is often associated with a magnetic storm.

An aerial map recently made of the Brazos River basin disclosed that one farmer had 140 acres of land that he didn't know he had. The farmer had been paying taxes on a section of land, or 640 acres, but the aerial map showed that his land holdings totalled 780 acres. This incident leads the Texas Planning Board to believe the exact area of Texas will not be known until an accurate aerial map is made of the state.

The Commission will probably approve 20,000 applications in October and like numbers in November as well as in December, the report indicated.

IS IT REALLY ART?

After more than twenty years of agitation Port Chester, N. Y., has the model of a Spanish-American war memorial for inspection, and is all wrought up over the question of whether or not the 11-foot clay model executed by Sculptor Karl Pavanlyllava is art. Inelegantly nicknamed "The Slob" by one faction, it is staunchly defended by another which wants to get away from the "glorification" of the soldier, and wants to show him as a fighting man, not as a "well-dressed dude." Here is the model.

Charles Loyd—

In 1912 he moved to Crowell and has been manager and owner of the Loyd Hotel during his 24-year residence here.

He is survived by his wife and seven children: Mrs. Eugene Reynolds of Chillicothe, Mrs. P. L. Bowers of Dallas, Mrs. Steve Belster of Lubbock, Mrs. Webster Mitchell of Ringling, Okla., Mrs. N. E. Pogue of Chillicothe and James and Rolla Loyd of Crowell. All his children were in Crowell at the time of their father's death.

PEBBLES AND BREAD CRUMBS ONCE USED TO DO PROBLEMS

French children love to hear tell of the budding genius Andre Marie Ampere, who, while still far too young to deal with figures, worked out mathematical sums with pebbles and breadcrumbs.

Ampere had a sad life. When he was eighteen, in 1793, his father, a justice of the peace, who had withstood the worst excesses of the Revolution, was imprisoned and soon afterwards executed. Only his deep and ardent interests in poetry, music and botany saved the young man from succumbing to his subsequent depression. His one great happiness was in his wife, Julie Caron, whom he met in 1796.

Early Mail Delivery

So far as transcontinental mail was concerned, St. Joseph (Mo.) was the westernmost point of delivery up to the beginning of the Civil War. Beyond that point almost any one who cared to deliver mail further, toward the setting sun was privileged to do so, and at one time many express companies and other organizations were handling mail in California. Each fixed its own delivery charges, and thus the so-called "frank" came into general use. The "frank" was merely a notation on the envelope at first done by hand and later with a rubber stamp, denoting the firm carrying the mail and the price. Delivery from San Francisco to a specified mining camp was originally $2 for and ounce or less, and by 1845 had dropped to $1. Many a hardy rider unconnected with any organization made it his sole business to deliver mail to isolated camps. These riders were the directories of the period.

PICTURES WE HANG ON MEMORY'S WALL

(By Samuel Thomas)

There is a poem by Alice Cary, the theme of which is the beautiful pictures that hang on memory's wall. The pictures described in the poem are the beautiful scenes of the home and the childhood of the writer. After a lapse of years the writer's memory goes back and reviews these happy scenes and lives again their joyous days. The poem is a picture of every life. Every one is engaged each day in hanging pictures upon memory's wall, pictures that, whether they wish it or not, will hang there as long as life shall last.

We create, to a large degree, the world in which we live. We have it in our power to make of it a thing of beauty and content, or a place of turmoil and regret. We do not realize that along with the beautiful pictures that hang all the ugly ones that we, in our moments of willfulness and thoughtlessness and weakness, create. I have talked with many who have told me of the things that they have done that they would give anything to erase from their lives. In the foolish years they have hung pictures on memory's wall that still haunt them after many years, and continue to bring heartaches and remorse and regret. How much it would mean to such as these if they could realize that wrong acts live in memory just as vividly as pictures painted in fadeless colors and hung where all may see. They are a silent record of self condemnation, mute, but eloquent accusers of weakness and folly that never cease to rebuke and to torment.

FOREIGN TRAVEL "AT HOME"

Tourist travel to America's island paradise, Hawaii, has increased more than one hundred per cent in the past two years. This is gratifying not only from the viewpoint that many Americans have forsaken Europe to see the United States and its possessions, but also because of increasing curiosity on the part of foreign travelers to see America. Current turmoil in Europe has practically banned that part of the globe so far as people bent on vacationing are concerned, so America benefits.

It is acknowledged by all who have been there that Hawaii is one of the few places on earth where the actuality more than justifies the descriptions. It has the subtle charm of a foreign country. It has all the glamour and color of the South Seas. And with all this it is America with all American conveniences, customs and transportation service.

Mark Twain described Hawaii in terms that were almost delirious. Robert Louis Stevenson wrote about it. Jack London returned again and again. A famous American world traveler of more than twenty years' experience, recently wrote: "... For decades we practically inundated Europe and its worn-out old countries with our thousands of tourists and their millions of freely spent dollars, all of which earned us nothing but the thinly veiled contempt of nationalities who too often, and frequently with outright frankness, robbed us with everything we purchased.

"Americans are discovering that America and its possessions are actually worth seeing first. Where before the American family expensively traveled to France, England or Italy, it is now as often as not investigating Alaska, Panama, Samoa, and, more important than all from the viewpoint of charm and rest and climate, Hawaii.

"The Islands are the most beautiful jewel in the casket of American treasures, and I am not altogether sure they are not the most beautiful jewel in the world."

The Arc de Triomphe

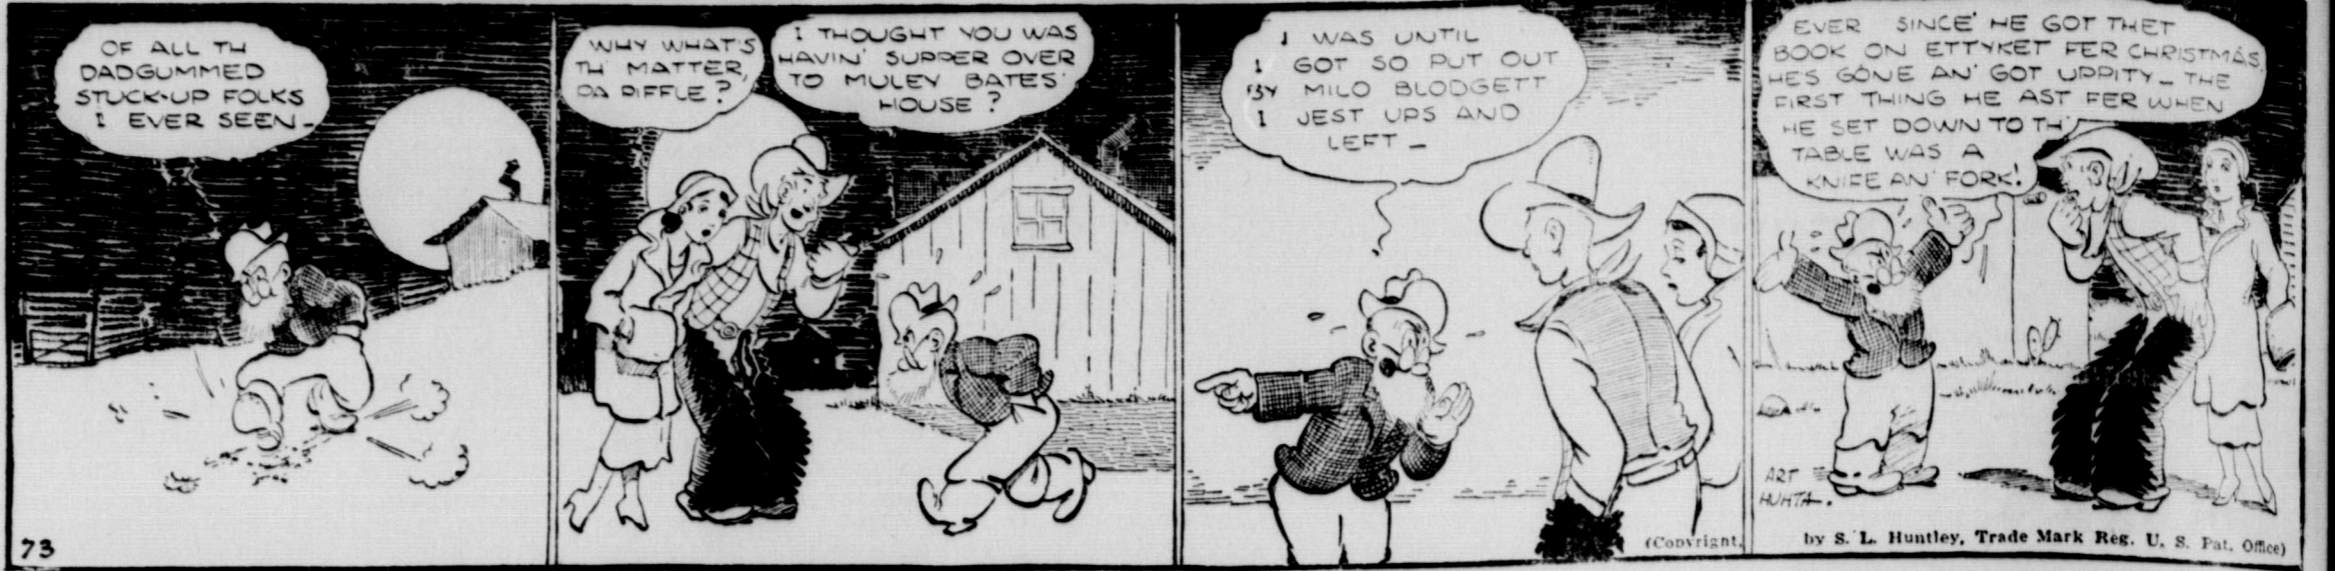

The Arc de Triomphe was begun in 1806 by Napoleon, who intended it as a monument to the glory of his army after the battle of Austerlitz. The great arch was not completed and inaugurated until 30 years later. It cost the state over nine million francs, because of its substructure, which extends 45 feet below the ground. The figures in the great frieze running around the top are over six feet high and represent a departure and return of the French armies. The handsome arch suffered badly at different periods of its existence at the hands of friend and foe alike, notably perhaps at the fall of the Second Empire, while the Commune raged in the city. It was calculated that for three weeks 90 shells were fired at it daily. With the restoration of law and order the Arc de Triomphe was completely restored. To reach the summit 273 steps have to be climbed.

MARVIN BROTHERTON, Pastor.

Methodist Church

Rev. John E. Eldridge will bring us his last message for the year Sunday evening at seven. Those familiar with our church government realize the importance of this fourth round of quarterly conferences. This could be the last appearance of our Presiding Elder. The last three years have seen a last month's drive that has put us over the top each year. Of the four this is the year in which it is most necessary to report everything in full, for the church facts the appointment of a pastor to lead the flock during the next quadrennium. To be introduced to a church already defeated by indifference might well be suicidal to both pastor and church. We welcome visitors to hear our Elder. The pastor will preach at eleven. The new leagues started well last Sunday evening. Intermediates meet at 5:30; Seniors at 6.

GEO. E. TURRENTINE.

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

The Quittor: A long time ago the prophet said: He that putteth his hand to the plow and turneth back is not worthy. I have thought of this a good many times when I have seen men start out on the right course and desert it. I have thought of it especially recently as I have witnessed many young people going away to school. Most of them start out with a sincere desire to learn and improve themselves and lay the right sort of foundation for a useful, efficient and happy life. Others go with the thought that they are going for a good time. These as a rule either come home at the end of the first few weeks or at the end of the first year having given up the effort. They couldn't make the necessary sacrifices, they couldn't give up playing and a social time and deny themselves, and buckle down to work. They couldn't realize a college training and the discipline of hard work and study was the one thing they needed to make real men and women of them. They didn't have in them the stuff of which real men and women are made. As the young people say today: They couldn't take it. God makes all sorts of promises to the worker and to the man who tries and keeps on trying, but nowhere does He make any promise to the quitter, nowhere does He hold out any promise to the lazy man, the idler and the loafer. It is still true in the eyes of God and the world today, as it was in the days of the prophet that he that putteth his hand to the plow and turneth back is not worthy.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY (CIA)

Beginning of School Means Responsibility Of Health Education

Austin.—Assembling of students in the schools of the state this month calls for public attention to the definite health responsibility of parents and teachers, as well as health workers, and is the subject of an address from the State Department of Health to the citizen-ship.

"A public health education program is an outstanding factor in the development of the physical, mental, and social welfare of the school children of today," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. "Health teaching should be a basic part of every educational program."

"Practically every phase of the school system is related to health—Housing, screening, diet, disposal of wastes, exercise, rest, even the manner of daily contacts with others, all have a direct bearing on health. Schools must treat the child as a whole—with his physical condition related definitely to his mental and emotional capacities.

"Prevention is the all important factor in the control of communicable disease. 'Communicable'—as we all know—describes that kind of disease which may be imparted or transmitted from one person to another, either by personal contact or through some other method. One by one, the communicable diseases, such as smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and typhoid fever, are being controlled by preventive or immunizing agents. It is much better for all concerned that the child should be protected from ever taking these diseases, which often leave some condition that will cause trouble later in life.

"Assume your responsibility in the community and work for the development of health education which will pave the way to a better health for the future."

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

SAFETY SLOGANS

A thin tire is a constant hazard to fast driving. Don't take the risk.

Remember after the accident the statement, "My brakes wouldn't work" is no legitimate excuse. Your car is no safer than its brakes.

If you are going where there is apt to be poisonous snakes learn the first aid step in the treatment of a poisonous snake bite before you go. It is too late to look them up after you are bitten. The doctor may be late in getting to you. Know your automobile. Know in just what distance you can stop it at any speed. If you can stop in fifty feet, do not drive at a speed at which you cannot stop in fifty feet. To do so is to take chances.

Car drivers have no right to drive over a hill on the wrong side of the road. By so doing they endanger the lives of car drivers who may be approaching from the opposite direction.

Origin of "Dixie"

The Home Book of Quotations says there are many stories to explain this but none of them is convincing, the compiler's guess being that it derives from the Mason and Dixon line between Pennsylvania and Maryland. One legend is of a kind-hearted slave-owner of Manhattan Island in the Eighteenth century, whose slaves were so well treated that when taken away they pined to be back on Dixie's plantation. Another explanation derives it from the French word "dix" which was printed on the $10 notes issued by a New Orleans bank, popularly known as

SENIOR PICNIC

The Senior class held an outing at the Roadside Park north of town Thursday afternoon. They met at the high school building and went to the park via automobiles. Before the picnic was served, the students played football. After a plentiful lunch prepared by Miss Kirkpatrick, one of the seniors, mothers, four new class members, Marion Benham, John Bowen, Lois Norris, Richard Vecera, and the sponsor, Henry Black, were initiated. After several more games were played and a few prizes were told, the class broke camp and journeyed home.

PEP SQUAD

Friday morning, October 2, the pep girls were called to a meeting by Supt. Graves for the purpose of electing a Pep leader to take the place of Faye Zeibig. Faye was unanimously elected by the girls. Fern Pierce was elected secretary-treasurer to fill the vacancy left by Faye Zeibig's election.

PADUCAH TRIP

Friday night, October 2, the Pep girls went to Paducah on Mr. Fox's bus. Between halves, formations were made. After the game the girls attended the carnival which was in Paducah. They were given rides on the ferris wheel and the "Love Nest."

A. & M. GAME

Saturday, October 3, marked a great day for the football fans of Crowell. They saw Dick Todd, the great Crowell High School football star, in action against Hardin-Simmons. He played most of the game and did practically all the punting. Their next chance to see him in action will be against Southern Methodist University of Dallas on Nov. 7.

WE WONDER—

Why Glen Don and Bernice rode back from Paducah on the Pep Squad bus. Could it be because they and Jean Opal were on it?
 If Joyce White, Freshman, really thinks Cecil Carroll, Junior, is the cutest boy in High School?
 If Margaret Woods will ever leave her cats (?) alone and study Algebra as Coach has instructed her?
 Who Glenn Shook was with this weekend?
 Just why Margaret Long, Freshman, smiles so sweetly at Bobby Hildebrook, sophomore?
 Why Floetta Bradford came to school with the bandage on her head Monday morning?
 What Tommie Hasseloff said when he was called out of the Junior party and who called him out?
 What I. T. Graves said to the traffic cop who was going to arrest him for double parking in Wichita Falls?
 If Buster Davidson really worked while he was in Paducah over the weekend?
 If the library will ever be opened again?

JUNIOR CARNIVAL

The Juniors will have a carnival in the halls of the high school on the night of November 5th. All the members of the faculty are to help stage the program, and each will have a concession. The program will provide fun and entertainment for the visitors and will help the Juniors acquire money for the Junior-Senior banquet, which will be given next spring.

STUDENTS WITHDRAW

The Crowell High School student body is at a great loss this week due to the withdrawal of Ann Mabe from CHS. Ann has gone to Chillicothe. Another withdrawal was that of Albert Danaagan, who has moved to Sherman. Albert was a member of the Senior class and was one of the Crowell Wildcats who was a member of the Regional Champions in 1934. "Au revoir" to class mates and "Bon Voyage."

Literary Digest Poll Is Still Inconclusive, Says Goodyear Dealer

Pointing out that returns in the Literary Digest poll to date are still sketchy and inconclusive, M. F. Crowell, local Goodyear dealer, issued a warning today against drawing conclusions on the outcome of the election until further poll returns are in.
 With new areas being heard from daily, leadership in the returns is uncertain from day to day, and a period of a few weeks might see a complete change in the picture, he pointed out.
 "Many people show a tendency to take these early returns as a sure indication of the final outcome of the election. This is an unsound conclusion. The editors of the Digest, who have handled this many such polls, hear out this opinion by emphasizing that two hundred thousand votes, or even three hundred thousand, are not enough to give an accurate indication when it is considered that ten million ballots will be mailed out before the conclusion of the poll.
 "Geographical differences of opinion alone are powerful enough to affect the totals from week to week, as new parts of the country cast their votes. The sharply drawn lines of this campaign make the outcome even more uncertain."
 Political observers have paid the high tribute to Goodyear for the company's alertness in bringing first news of this traditionally accurate poll to the nation's loudspeakers by means of three-weekly NBC broadcasts, he reported.

Texas Hall of State One of Beauties at Centennial in Dallas

Classic magnificence characterizes the Texas Hall of State now open to the public at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Towering aloft from an eminence at the head of the beautifully landscaped Esplanade, it challenges a world of modern architectural confusion with its dignity and restraint.
 Its beauty outside is that of plain white surfaces and ascending columns against the burning blue of the Texas sky. Within, it shows rich bold color, so simply presented that it never seems ornate.
 Pre-eminently designed to enshrine the heroes of the Lone Star state, it holds also a thrilling concentration of Texas life. Its art and exhibits cover the entire period of transformation from pioneer chaos to agricultural and industrial security.
 Not only have its builders drawn heavily upon the resources of Texas and the United States to produce it. But they have gone across the seas for lovely marbles and woods with which to enhance it.
 Glimpsed first from the main entrance to the grounds, it is seen through a flowering garden vista behind sprays of leaping water. By day its creamy masses gleam in brilliant sun. At night it is silhouetted in ethereal beauty against a spreading fan of lights reaching to the sky.
 The immediate foreground of the stately building is a formal landscaped promenade three hundred and fifty feet wide and one hundred feet deep, terraced in wide curves across the face of the huge edifice. Broad steps of Indiana limestone lead up to the level admitting to the main portals.
 The facade is a symphony in white, gold and blue. The front of the building and the long stretch of colonnades are broken by the taller central mass. There, a deep niche has been formed by a semi-circle of white columns posed against deep blue tile. On a dias twenty feet above the doors stands a heroic statue in gold leaf over bronze of a warrior of the Texas tribe, from which Texas gets its name. The statue is the work of Allie Tennant, Dallas sculptor.
 The floor of the niche is of coraboard stone quarried in Tennessee. Five plate glass doors framed in bronze lead into the foyer of the Hall of Heroes.
 Fashioned of Texas limestone without, and walled with shellstone, another linework of the state, inside, the building is made basically of native materials. But it is richly embellished with metals and marbles of other lands. Nowhere is there more apparent than in the Hall of Heroes.
 The floor of the Hall of Heroes and of the five front entrances are of peach-colored Tennessee marble with borders of St. Auborn's red marble from Vermont. Small inlaid squares in the floor are red Levanto marble, also from Vermont. The wainscot of the Hall and the walls of the stairway leading to the lecture room below are of Rosetta marble from Italy. Over the doors are horizontal panels of multi-colored marble quarried in Lanquedoc, France.
 Heroic statues of six great Texans dominate the sweeping curvatures of the Hall of Heroes. Designed by Pompeo Coppini, Texas sculptor, and cast in dark bronze, they stand at spaced intervals about the majestic room.
 As you enter it, Stephen F. Austin, the Father of Texas, looks down from his pedestal on the left and Sam Houston, the Saviour of the Lone Star state, may be seen to the right.
 Further to the left are Mirabeau B. Lamar and James W. Fannin. Further to the right are Thomas J. Rusk and William Barrett Travis. Set in the walls are bronze memorial tablets commemorating the heroes of the Alamo and San Jacinto.
 The great Hall of State in the center of the building, is a lofty shrine reflecting the magnificence of a people. Almost a hundred feet long and more than half that wide, with its great gold medallion at the far end upholding the Lone Star in brilliant relief, it lifts the heart with its enthralling beauty.
 Texas shellstone columns give the huge room a note of ruggedness, and large chandeliers of gold and crystal suspended from the distant ceiling accent its loveliness. Dark marbles from the Pyrenees Mountains in Spain contribute to its dignity, and marbles, symbolizing the struggle of elemental and social forces in the commonwealth, line its walls.
 In four regional rooms that serve as two wings extending backward from the central mass, are depicted not only the history of Texas, but also the life of the people. This pageant is told in four major scenes, grouped into the four geographical areas of the state.
 The West Texas room may be read the history of Spanish and French colonization from 1492 to 1820. The East Texas room shows the Americanization of Texas from the period beginning in 1820 and extending to 1936. The North Texas room begins with San Jacinto and leaves off at Appomattox.
 The South Texas room brings the student of Texas from the Civil War to the turn of the present century.
 The very walls of these rooms reflect Texas atmosphere. On them in relief are the cattle brands of many ranches that sent their herds from the Llano Estacado to the markets of the Middle West and East. Throughout the building are inspiring relics and documents.

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

A mechanical cotton picker invented by John and Mack Rust was given a practical demonstration recently at Stoneville, Mississippi. It did in eight hours what ordinarily would require 82 men to do in the same time. The owners announce that they will lease the machines and not sell them. Objections to the mechanical picker are that it will throw out of employment a great number of people who have no other employment, that it gathers some leaves and foreign matter and lowers the grade of the pick, that it can only be operated on level ground. Since 1850 about 2000 applications have been made for patents on mechanical cotton pickers and over 1400 patents have been granted. The Rust machine is by far the most successful yet produced.

The United States Treasury has announced the approval of a design for 25,000 half dollars to commemorate the Centennial of Bridgeport, Connecticut. The new coins bear the likeness of P. T. Barnum of Circus fame. The coins are being issued as a memorial to Barnum's "civic and philanthropic" contributions to Bridgeport.

Bob Burns, the Arkansas radio star, who is well known for his jokes and his bazooka, has closed a contract with the Paramount studio from which he will receive $60,000 each for three pictures.

Carveth Wells to Feature New York in Radio Broadcast

Via subway, bus and "L" train, Carveth Wells will take his radio audience on a tour through the "wonder city of the world"—New York—during his Continental Oil Company broadcast, "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells," on Sunday, October 11.

Speaking from experiences gained through extensive travel in many countries, Wells describes New York as "a great magical city that is utterly unlike any other great city in the world"—where a visit of only a few hours will leave a lasting impression. "London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Moscow and a host of other cities of world importance are capable of comparison one with another," Wells declares, "but New York is just as unique and incomparable as Baghdad, the City of the Arabian Nights."

Points of interest to be discussed by the famous globe trotter are Bowling Green, Frances Tavern, Trinity Church, the Ghetto, Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, St. Paul's Cathedral, Central Park, the Bowery, Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the American Museum of Natural History. The latter two he describes as places that "no visitor to New York can afford to miss."

Local listeners who wish to tune in on arveth Wells Sunday, October 11, may do so by dialing station WFAA, Dallas, at 12:30-1:00 p. m. o'clock.

Texas Institute of Letters to Meet in Dallas November 9

Austin—Organization of a Texas Institute of Letters, intended ultimately to include Texas men and women writers who have made definite contributions to the literature of the State, has been outlined and the first formal meeting of the group will be held in Dallas during Texas Literary Week, beginning November 9, Dr. L. W. Payne, professor of English at the University of Texas, has announced.

Paul Whiteman and Louisiana Governor Enter Horse in Show

Fort Worth—Who has the best walking horse? Paul Whiteman or Governor Richard W. Leche of Louisiana?
 That question will have to be answered by the judges for the Centennial Horse Show opening Friday night in Fort Worth.
 The two nationally known figures have entered horses in the plantation division of the competition here. They will send their animals into the ring in two classes Sunday afternoon.
 White will ride his own horse, an animal bred at Texas A. & M. College. Governor Leche has made reservations for the show here and expects to be present when his horses are exhibited.
 Billy Rose, whose genius of showmanship has guided the great Frontier Centennial entertainment, is assisting the show management in making the event one that will interest the average spectator as well as the horse enthusiast.
 Whiteman's orchestra will play a 30-minute concert preceding each matinee, the director to conduct his musicians from a seat on the back of a white horse. The performance will be closed with a special drill by second United States Cavalry troopers here from Fort Riley, Kan. They will wear the colorful dress uniforms of the old Second Dragoons, of which they are regimental descendants.

The University Centennial Exposition at Austin, which will be in progress until Dec. 1, covers 40 acres of exhibits on the campus of the University of Texas.

Experiments Point To Control Cotton Root Rot Disease

Results at the Blackland Experiment Station near Temple have shown that cotton grown continuously on land had an average of 33.7 per cent dead plants from root rot disease whereas cotton grown in the four different rotations averaged only 7.7 per cent of dead plants. These rotations consisted of three and four year rotations and were carried for periods from nine to ten years. Some of these rotations included cowpeas which are considered as not particularly desirable in rotation to control root rot as they, like cotton, are susceptible to the disease. The point is that all of these rotations reduce the amount of dead cotton from root rot disease very greatly.

More recent experiments have shown that the fungus develops small, dormant bodies about the size of turnip seed which can transmit the disease and that these resting bodies are factors in the spread of the disease in addition to the normal spread by live roots. Experiments have also shown that the growing of non-susceptible crops such as grains and grasses on the land greatly reduces the number of these resting bodies in the soil and tends to reduce the chance of their being a major factor in the spread of the disease. The planting of a grass or grain crop on the land three or four years in succession before planting the land again in cotton, is the best practice known at the present time to control root rot disease.

With these facts in mind, it would seem that we have the essentials for formulating a practical method of control of root rot disease which will accomplish a great deal in reducing the disease. Such a method of control on any particular tract of land infected with root rot must involve the planting of a grass crop such as Sudan, sorghum, oats, wheat, or corn. The grass crop which most nearly occupies the land throughout the year is the most effective crop in combating the root rot disease.

There are, of course, some practical issues involved in the extensive use of grass and grain crops in the blacklands where the disease is most severe, the chief issue being that farmers themselves have known for a long time that cotton pays at least twice the returns that may be had from any other field crop grown on the land. In many instances it seems very probable that grass and grain crops could be made much more profitable than they are now if some livestock such as beef cattle could be grown out, fattened, and finished on the farm thus converting these grass and grain crops into a more salable product. A well-finished 1000 pound steer will bring on the market today approximately $80.00, nearly the equivalent of a bale and one-half of cotton.

Few farmers in the blacklands have the necessary equipment and experience for grazing and finishing cattle on farms, but not much equipment is needed and the necessary experience will be gained without loss if the practice is started in a conservative way by securing only a few head of livestock and caring for them well, and, like any other good business, expanded as the results justify. The main point in the use of livestock is to have some means of converting these non-paying crops such as grass and grains and corn, into values that will approximate the value of cotton and even though the returns with livestock may not be quite so large as from cotton, experiments thus far indicate clearly that the use of such grass and grain crops in the system of farming is imperative if the root rot is to be controlled. Moreover, it is not improbable that a combination of livestock and cotton in the blacklands where root rot is causing its greatest damage will be found very much more profitable and permanent than cotton alone.

George Moffett Gives Explanation of His Amendment to State Constitution Relative to Distribution of Legislators

(By George Moffett, Member of the House of Representatives.)
 Unless our present Constitution is amended, population will continue to be the only yard stick by which representatives are allotted to the various counties.
 Thirty states take geography as well as population into consideration in laying out legislative districts.
 Between 1920 and 1930 the population of Texas increased 1,161,000. Almost exactly one-third of this increase occurred in the three most populous counties. By actual census figures 69 rural counties showed a decrease in population between 1920 and 1930. Power farming probably accounted for most of this decrease.
 The trend of population is unquestionably toward the large cities.
 If Texas were redistricted today under our present Constitution, Dallas would have ten members and Houston eleven. In 20 or 30 years more this would be doubled.
 County commissioners' precincts, city commissioners' precincts, judicial districts, school districts and many other districts are not laid out on a population basis but usually with an eye to giving each section or community adequate representation. Geographic and territorial considerations play an important part in shaping the aforementioned districts and should likewise be considered in laying out representative districts instead of using population alone.
 Our forefathers wrote it into the Federal Constitution that the President and Vice President of the United States should not come from the same state. They opposed concentration of power and Amendment No. 6 does the same thing.
 The U. S. Supreme Court in 1932 definitely held that Congressional Districts need not be even approximately equal in population.
 A fair and impartial study of the problem clearly shows that Amendment No. 6 should be adopted by the people at the November election.

Explaining Amendment No. 6
 Amendment No. 6, the last one on the ballot in November, provides that any one particular county may not have more than seven members in the Texas House of Representatives, and since the total membership of the House is 150 members, it certainly is proper that no one county out of the 254 counties in Texas should have more than seven. In a state as large as Texas it would never be for the best interest of the State to permit the bunching or clustering of its lawmakers within a very few of the 254 counties. In other words geography should be taken into consideration as well as population in allocating members of the Legislature among the various counties.
 Thirty states of the American Union do recognize geography as well as population in apportioning representatives in the Legislature, and it is more justifiable for Texas to recognize geography than any other state because it is the largest state with the most far flung boundaries and the greatest variety of conditions, but, unless amendment No. 6 is adopted by the people, in a few years four or five of our larger counties will have increased in population to the point where they, on a population basis, will be able to control and dictate the laws under which the people of all of the 254 counties must live. Amendment No. 6 seeks to put a balance wheel in our governmental machinery which is badly needed and which many other states already have. In Oklahoma the limit for a county is seven members, in Georgia and Florida three members and in Iowa two members and other states have similar restrictions based on geographic and territorial considerations.
 The trend of population is unquestionably from the farm to the city and unless Amendment No. 6 is adopted five large counties in Texas may soon control the destinies of the largest agricultural state in the Union.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met Monday afternoon, Oct. 5, at the home of Mrs. George Self, with Mesdames J. H. Lanier and Self as hostesses.

An interesting program was given with Mrs. W. B. Johnson as leader. After the "Call to Worship," the Society sang "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord."

Mrs. Hines Clark presented an impressive devotional. She told a story, "The Age of Light," in which Christ's disciples were compared to Edison's wonderful discovery of light. After Christ had washed the feet of his disciples in the upper room, he said, "Know ye what I have done to you?" He did to His disciples what Edison did to his bulb of glass. Edison washed all the air out of it, cleared it of the heavy atmosphere of the outer room and emptied it of itself so that it could be an instrument of a power greater than itself. In like manner, Jesus cleansed His disciples of their little selves, washed from them the dirt and dust of materialism and selfishness that they might be incandescence enough to be carriers of light to a darkened world.

Talks were given by Mesdames Foster Davis, T. L. Huzhston, and Jeff Bruce on the "World-Wide Hook-Up." Christian missions have realized the necessity for all Protestant Christians to act together. In many lands this conviction has led to the organization of councils or confederations. Such organized groups prevent the overlapping of work and at the same time strengthens certain causes so that they are easily won.

The third chapter of the mission study book, "The Story of the American Negro," was presented with Mrs. H. Brown as leader and Mesdames George E. Turrentine and M. J. Girsch assisting.

During the social hour, an appetizing plate was served to twelve members.

Crowell Cemetery Association Gets $18; $15 Last Week

Mrs. N. J. Roberts, president of the Crowell Cemetery Association, makes the following announcement concerning the Crowell cemetery:

"Last week we issued an S. O. S. call for funds because of the acute situation brought on by the excessive rains. Our sexton is working over time to hurriedly put the cemetery back in its usual attractive condition. Four loads of dirt have been hauled and there is an urgent need for more. Possibly there may be some one with a truck that would be glad to contribute his services. If so, see Ray Woodard, sexton."

"After all the graves are mounded, one more mowing will be necessary. This should be a good fall for planting, and it would be well to observe the cedars and shrubs that survived the summer. Some are sowing poppy, larkspur, phlox and other seed broadcast and if spring conditions are ideal they should be beautiful."

"Those who have responded to our call and which also includes contributions since June 8 are as follows:
