Wilbarger County was hit by twisters over a wide area last week with one person injured and much property damage. Limbs were torn from trees, roofs blown from houses and some cotton fields stripped. — Vernon Times.

Scurry County has little to fear from grasshoppers this late in the season, the county agent believes, who recently returned from hopper-infested Colorado state. Nearest heavy infestation is 300 to 350 miles northwest of this county and likelihood of the insects traveling in this direction, since they move largely with prevailing winds, is not expected. — The Scurry County Times.

A pack of vicious wild dogs broke into the hog pen on the George R. Dickson farm in the Bruce community in Hall County last Friday night and destroyed two hogs. The dog pack also destroyed four hens and injured a number of other hogs before the bedlam awakened the family. The men had to beat the wild dogs off with clubs, as all the ammunition for their guns had been used that afternoon shooting jackrabbits. The Bruce sector has been bothered by wild dogs before. For a time a cunning dog known as "The Phantom" roamed the countryside slaughtering farm poultry. — The Memphis Democrat.

Two young ones of the Chalk community, Elmo Lindsey and Claudy Parks, killed a large rattler on the S-D Ranch, which is located about three miles east of Chalk, Saturday morning about 10 o'clock.

A beautiful bouquet of roses disseminates perfume into the room until the perfume fills the room. As far as can be observed the fact that a hundred people enjoy the perfume of a rose does not perceptibly diminish its fragrance. The perfume is just as sweet to the hundredth person as it was to the first one. The same thing is true of a smile and pleasant greeting. It takes no more effort to be pleasant to a hundred folks during the day than it does to be pleasant to one, and, having been pleasant, one's supply of good will and smiles remains the same. Like the perfume of the rose, smiles are not lost though given freely.

Regardless of how we look at the question of equality of men, the fact remains that the mass of people are dependent upon a few individuals for the creation of those things which provide clothing, food, and the luxuries of life. The mass of people is also dependent on the genius of the few, which creates employment in the production of these utilities. Without the creative few we would still be laboriously plowing the soil with a crooked stick, transportation would be carried on the backs of animals. Life would drop back to its simplest elements and drudgery, common place drudgery would come again. The race owes much to the man whose genius can snatch from behind the curtains of mystery the secret of progress and improvement and translate it into tangible forms that all may enjoy.

A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in His holy habitation.—Psalm 68:5.

A man's growth and development and value to a business is limited by the amount of responsibility he is willing to accept.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS
 BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin.—The long-sleeping Blanton mystery sprang back into the newspaper headlines this week, and became the center of news interest in Austin, as well as throughout Texas. Last November Luther Blanton and his son, John, Willacy County farmers, living near San Perita, went onto the former King ranch property near their home, presumably to hunt ducks. They never returned, and no trace of them has been found since. Local officers failed to find any clew. Texas Rangers were sent to the scene, the governor offered a reward, Safety Director Carmichael personally visited the scene. Months went by, and the case remained as complete a mystery as ever. Public interest died out, the newspapers ceased to mention the case.

Then it flared up again this week, when Ranger Power Fenner, Game Warden Morgan Miller, Sheriff Howard Cragg of Willacy County, and his deputy, Mallie Brownfield arrested Louis LaMadrid, a deputy constable who claimed to be nearing a solution of the Blanton case, on a charge of illegally carrying a pistol, and impersonating an officer. They spirited LaMadrid to Brownsville, despite a pending writ of habeas corpus. The quartet of officers were cited for contempt, found guilty by Willacy County Judge F. E. McCharen, given nominal fines. After the hearing, Ranger Fenner drew a pistol on a valley newspaper photographer, seized his camera, tried to destroy the plates.

Rangers Passing
 LaMadrid came to Austin, interviewed the governor. There it developed Col. Carmichael, safety director, had hired him months ago as an undercover investigator, and gave him $150 expense money. After the conference, Gov. Allred issued a statement saying LaMadrid apparently had no information on the case that was worthwhile. Carmichael suspended Ranger Fenner pending "investigation." Miller was ordered to Austin to make a personal report to the governor of his part in the affair. People of the valley section were deeply aroused. Judge McCharen wired the governor, asking removal of Fenner "in the interest of the public peace."

The incident was in keeping with a series of similar affairs in which the Rangers have participated during the last four years. The Ranger force, "problem child" of the state government, apparently is slowly but surely writing its own death warrant through its inability to adapt itself to changing conditions. It resisted amalgamation with the state highway patrol, when the legislature created that body, demanded and received separate offices, separate commandants, and other favors.

Fail On Case
 The Rangers of today are a far different group from the storied heroes of the Texas pioneer days. Their failure to get anywhere with the Blanton case, after eight months, together with their apparent resentment of the efforts of any other investigator to solve the case, has caused eyebrows to be raised throughout the state. Their mistreatment of the photographer, their political alliance with a certain group in the Sheriff's association which has tried to dictate administration of the Rangers, their illegal seizure of a political newspaper at Wichita Falls recently, are all part of a series of indictments which many here believe indicate clearly the Ranger force has outlived its usefulness, and that in the near future the legislature may turn the state police job entirely over to the highway patrol. The highway patrolmen are picked through competitive examination, thoroughly schooled in police work, and they have made an enviable record. The Rangers, like the hairy mammoth of a bygone age, are threatened with extinction because they seem wholly unable to adapt themselves to new conditions brought about by the process of evolution.

New Highway Engineer
 Who will be the successor of Gibb Gilchrist as state highway engineer interested political observers throughout Texas this week. Gilchrist will become dean of engineering at A. & M. college September 1. Because of a joker inserted in the highway appropriation bill by Sen. John Redditt of Lufkin, and overlooked until now, it is possible no successor may be named until after the legislature meets in special session in September. Redditt's joker provides for hiking the pay of the engineer from $6,900 to $7,750 a year, but it also provides that unless the engineer shall have had five years experience in the department, he will receive 20 per cent less, or $6,200. This provision will tie the hands of the highway commission in seeking Gilchrist's successor, limiting them to men now in the department, since a competent outsider probably wouldn't want the job at $6,200. Seeking to give the commission the same freedom in seeking the best man possible for the job, Gov. Allred may merely name an acting engineer until the legislature meets, then ask the solons to repeal the requirement mentioned, before an engineer is named. Among those discussed for the job are T. E. Huffman, division engineer at Lufkin; Eddie Arneson, former chief engineer

FLEA HOPPER MAY DAMAGE COTTON CROP

Demonstration Will Be Held at Spur July 24

There seems to be a widespread outbreak of cotton flea hoppers over the Lower Plains Region of West Texas which threatens the prospects of the best cotton crop that the region has had since 1933, according to announcement from the Spur Experiment Station. The insects appear to be much worse in some sections than in others and even on the same farm there is a marked difference in the number to be found at different locations. In many of the fields about Spur the cotton plants that are knee high are not fruiting properly and 5 to 20 per cent of the plants are completely stripped of squares.

W. S. McGregor, who has spent five years in the research division of the A. & M. College studying the cotton flea hopper, has been at the Spur Station for the past week and reports, after making a survey covering many of the counties below the Cap Rock, that there is a very heavy infestation of flea hoppers with prospects for a rapid increase. If, after careful examination of cotton fields in your section, it is found that there are plants that are not fully fruited, it is possible that further investigation will show evidence of flea hopper damage.

A demonstration will be held at the Spur Experiment Station on Saturday morning, July 24, in which the life history and habits of the insect will be discussed by authorities from College Station and demonstrations of dusting will be made by representatives of dusting machine companies and manufacturers of chemicals for the control of the flea hopper. Every one is invited to attend.

morning one copy, at least, was picked up on the grounds where the carnival was held. This is a matter of interest because of the fact that in Arkansas only recently a man was arrested and fined in the amount of $1.00 for selling "Whizbang," a book that has been printed. We are not reflecting on the carnival people, but it looks like somebody was allowed to carry this stuff along. The carnival company ought to get rid of any one who would dispense such printed matter, if indeed that was done.

A Fine Dinner
 The writer and his family were invited to take dinner with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Diggs and family Wednesday, but circumstances interfered with the wife's acceptance of the invitation but not with the husband, not on your type. Two of the young journalists accompanied him also, and all convinced the host and hostess if the entire family could have been there that full justice would have been done to the occasion. It was a very fine dinner. Mr. Diggs knows exactly how to prepare a meal.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON WEAK, UNRELIABLE TIRES.

Today and drive with an assured feeling of SAFETY

A large portion of the automobile accidents in which lives are lost are caused by blow-outs. When a tire blows out, your car is momentarily out of control and in those few seconds the car can crash into an approaching car, roll into a ditch, smash into a bridge, curb or building, killing from one to all of the occupants of the automobile.

You do everything in your power to protect your loved ones' health, so don't risk their lives by having low quality tires on your car when it is just as cheap and more economical in the long run to equip your car with—

"THE TEMPERED RUBBER TIRES"—the better quality tires for the same price as lower quality ones.

Come in today before tire prices go up and let us show the advantages of purchasing U. S. TIRES.

Seymour to Have Revival of Reunion of 1896, July 28-29

Seymour, July 20.—A revival of one of the first cowboy reunions ever held in West Texas, the 1896 Seymour Reunion, will be held here Wednesday and Thursday, July 28-29. Some 50 Seymour business men are working on various committees in charge of the affair, which is sponsored by the Seymour Chamber of Commerce. All West Texans have a cordial invitation, and especially the old-timers of this section, who will be honored July 29 with a get-together program and other features in cool, shady Seymour Park.

The rodeo to be held in connection with the reunion will have two performances each day, at 2 and 8 p. m. on the football field, where heavy turf will eliminate dust. A new and comfortable grandstand is under construction and will be finished next week, and bleacher seats will make total seating capacity over 4,000. Two dances will be given each night; one on a hardwood platform near the rodeo grounds to old time string music, where square dances will predominate, and the other to modern orchestra at McDonald Hull in Seymour. Other features will include a big rodeo style parade each morning at 10:30 o'clock; and meals in pioneer style at chuck wagons scattered over the grounds.

BEAUTY'S DAUGHTER

By Kathleen Norris

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER VII—At the opera hardists first see Serena and Quentin. An exotic and striking beauty, Quentin appears to be a husband, warning her to hold a husband, warning her to hold a husband, warning her to hold a husband...

CHAPTER VIII

Quentin, wife of Spencer Ashley Morrison, was by birth part Dane and part Dane; she had married to this, her third husband only a few years, and for only a few years, and for only a few years...

Quentin, wife of Spencer Ashley Morrison, was by birth part Dane and part Dane; she had married to this, her third husband only a few years, and for only a few years...

"Oh, of course we are," Serena said slowly, with no change of expression beyond a hint of languid curiosity. "It's your children Gita talks to Amah about?"

"I am not a very formal person. You can't be, when you have six children," Vicky explained, when they were comfortably seated, watching the tennis. "But I do mean to come and see you one of these days!"

"You have six children?" The beautiful voice could not be said to have even a trace of Norse accent, and yet there was a charming little lilt in Serena's words now and then, a slight clinging and lingering that marked her as not all English-born.

"She always tells everyone that instantly," Phyllis said. "I have. And they make it hard for me ever to get away."

"But do come and see me. Except for Phyllis here," Serena said, completely expressionless in voice and face, "I am quite strange in California."

"We were in school in Paris together, Serena and I, but I didn't know they were here until last week!" Phyllis explained. "If you know Phyllis you know everybody; she's the special minister between Europe and America," Victoria said.

"I can't be much with my little girl. You see my husband's an invalid," she said, in a child's flat tone.

"Ah, that's too bad!" "They said he was slated for a brilliant career. But he was thrown from a horse, and dragged, about four months ago. It's his back, and he lost his eye."

There was something extraordinarily incongruous between her untruffled flawless beauty and the terrible thing she said; the white hand, the white skin, the gold hair and innocent blue eyes under the parasol were apparently unaffected.

"Tough luck!" Quentin said. Victoria pressed his arm again. "Will you come and see him, Dr. Hardisty?"

"I'd like to." "I wish you would!" Mrs. Morrison said. "We're always there in the late afternoons. The frills of her parasol tumbled slowly as she twirled it."

"Daddy, I'm hun-n-gry!" Kenty shouted. Quentin accompanied his family to the waiting car, after a cordial good-bye from them all to the new neighbor. Mildly, as he took his place in the driver's seat, the doctor observed to his wife that he wished that the children would not be rude.

"He's terribly hungry, Daddy, and we're late."

"I know," Quentin said. "I know. But she was telling us her husband; I don't imagine she often gets to talking of her troubles."

Victoria glanced at his profile in surprise, ready to laugh. But he was quite serious.

"But did you ever know anyone to talk of dreadful—of ghastly things, so calmly? That poor husband of hers—imagine being cut off in the very beginning of your career, blinded."

Quentin, turning into their own, made no comment, and Kenty said animatedly: "Why din' Gita go to the club, Mummy?"

"She stays with her amah!" Susan supplied. "You speak of the man's misfortune," Quentin began unexpectedly, at lunch. "I was thinking of hers."

Victoria raised interrogative eyebrows. She had been cutting chicken into tiny pieces on Susan's plate, murmuring to the waitress, murmuring to her mother.

"I was thinking," Quentin expanded it, "that it must be a pretty dull life for her, planted down here in the country house with an invalid and a child!"

"They have our rabbits, too, Dad," Susan contributed animatedly. "They have the two rabbits we give Gita."

Quentin looked at her absently, moved his gaze to Victoria. "Any chance of your going down to Del Monte with me this afternoon?"

"Oh, darling, not on Sunday! Mollie off, and nurse with all of them to handle, and the Carters coming to supper! They're bringing all the children—I thought that since you wouldn't be here it would be a grand chance for a children's supper."

"H'm!" Quentin said noncommittally. Victoria, made vaguely uneasy by his tone, sent him another questioning glance. Quentin wasn't quite like himself on this hot, still Sunday.

"The other doctors are going, Quent?" You're to have your golf in the morning?"

"I don't know," he said irresolutely. "I thought I might telephone Johnny. We might have our golf right here. You'll get over there and see her, won't you, Vic?"

"Get—?" She was completely at sea, untying Susan's bib, as Susan bunted into her. "Take your cooky and run, darling," she said to the child, "and don't wake Baby—she's out on the side porch!"

"Get over and see the Morrisons," Quentin completed it. "Oh, Oh, yes!"

Somehow somewhere, something was wrong. Through the familiar scene a chill faint wind seemed to blow; a faint apprehension of trouble—of change. Vicky couldn't analyze it, was only vaguely conscious that she felt it, but it was there.

"I'll walk over to the Morrisons' this afternoon for a few minutes, if you like, Quentin," she said, on an impulse, after luncheon.

Quentin was stuffing his pipe; he did not look up. In their look-up, than seven years of marriage he had never made a call that Vicky could remember. Now, sauntering forth into the garden in search of dogs, children, his favorite chair under the oaks on the long terrace, he spoke carelessly over his shoulder.

"Oh, don't you bother," he said, "you've got enough to do! I'll wander over there, later, and afterward I can give you some idea what sort of an outfit it is."

"You'd be a darling to do that!" Victoria said. But oddly she did not feel happy about it, and it was from that Sunday that she dated the change in Quentin. Not understanding why, she nevertheless was conscious of the fact that life somehow didn't go back, after that Sunday, to what it had been before.

Just two weeks after the day when Vicky and Quentin had first met their lovely neighbor, her eyes were suddenly opened, and after that Victoria understood.

Quentin had said that he thought he would go over to the club, might play another eighteen if it got books and toys in the nursery. Finally they were all in bed, with books, and Victoria's head and hair jerked into a hundred roosting directions by warm good-night kisses and embraces. Five minutes past seven, and supper due within the hour—oh, dear, not much room for rest in there! Her Chiffon was at the cleaner's. Perhaps that white one that she had worn this morning. . . .

Pennington-Henry Wedding Solemnized Sunday at 8:30 A. M.

Miss Anabel Pennington became the bride of Mr. C. W. Henry of Pampa in a quiet wedding at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the Methodist Church with Rev. E. L. Yoats, pastor of the church, performing the impressive ceremony.

Miss Doris Oswald, accompanied by Mrs. William Ricks, sang "Always" as a pre-nuptial solo. Mrs. Ricks played Wagner's Wedding Chorus from Lohengrin as a procession, at the first strains of which the bride's attendants, Miss Frankie Pennington, her sister, and Miss Lottie Russell entered in single file. Mr. Gordon Gribble, who served as usher, entered by another aisle while the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Joe Lilly, of Amarillo, came from an adjoining room. The bride entered alone and joined Mr. Henry at the altar where the marriage vows were read before an archway covered with vines and garden flowers.

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" was played softly by Mrs. Ricks during the ceremony. She played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

The bride was attractively attired in a navy shirred chiffon dress with close-fitting hat and all accessories in navy. Misses Pennington and Russell wore dark sheers with white accessories. The bride wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and bridal spray and each of her attendants wore similar corsages of tulle, roses and bridal spray, as did also the mother of the bride and of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Henry is the daughter of Mrs. Bulah Pate of Crowell. She graduated from the Knox City High school and is also a graduate of the School of Nursing at Stamford. For a number of years she has been a nurse in hospitals at Crowell, Quanah, Vernon and Pampa but for the past year she has been connected with the medical firm of Drs. Goldston & Turner at Pampa.

Mr. Henry is the son of Mrs. W. B. Henry of Chandler, Okla., and is a graduate of the Chandler High school. He is also a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. College at Stillwater. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He is now field engineer for Bovard Supply Company at Pampa.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mrs. W. B. Henry and Miss Hazel Henry of Chandler, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sauls and Jack Sauls of Hamlin, Mrs. D. B. Sauls of Spur, Miss Mary Lou Fudge of Wichita Falls, Miss Florence Griffith of Lamesa and Joe Lilly of Amarillo.

Immediately after the wedding, a three-course breakfast was served by the bride's mother and sister, Mrs. Pate and Miss Pennington. The table was centered with Crowell Girl Weds Wichita Falls Boy In Grandfield, Okla.

Miss Evelyn Lee Cauthan and Floyd E. Stone of Wichita Falls were married in Grandfield, Okla., Tuesday evening, July 13, by Justice of the Peace J. M. Bray. The couple was accompanied to Grandfield by Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Pinson of Wichita Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A. L. Johnson of Crowell. She attended Crowell schools with the exception of two years when her parents lived in Rankin, and was graduated from Crowell High school in 1937. From the time of her graduation until her marriage, she had been employed at the City Cafe. She resumed the trip to Govington, Georgia, Wednesday afternoon and will return to Wichita Falls after a short visit with relatives there.

Mr. Stone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stone of Wichita Falls and attended schools there. He is an employe of the Better Sweet Candy Company of Wichita Falls. The couple will make their home in Wichita Falls.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. C. W. Ross entertained with a swimming party Monday evening from 6 to 8 p. m. honoring her little daughter, Edwina, on her eleventh birthday.

Games were played on the lawn until time for the swim, after which the guests returned to the lawn for more games and picnic luncheon consisting of sandwiches, potato flakes, pickles, fruit punch and cake.

Those present were, Margaret Claire Shirley, June and Billie Billington, Jane and Janette Roark, Rita Jo Bruce, Sandra Jo Bell, Mrs. Pete Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan O'Connell and Bryan Thomas, Bill and T. L. Owens, Valeria Mae Owens, Mrs. Leo Owens, Bobby Joe and Lewis Hunter and Mrs. Hunter, Pete and Frances Hasseloff, Lawrence Ferguson, Bruce Bledsoe, Junior and Pat Nelson, Mrs.

a three-tiered wedding cake, the first slice of which was cut by the bride. The cake had a miniature bride and groom atop, and from a tiny archway above them, wedding bells hung. The cake was surrounded by sweet peas and bridal wreath. The appointments of the breakfast carried out a color plan of blue and yellow.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry left soon after the breakfast for a vacation trip of two weeks to points in Colorado, after which time they will return to Pampa and reside in their newly-erected home at 1306 Christine St.

For going away Mrs. Henry wore a black sheer dress with chamois-yellow coat and harmonizing accessories.

Joe Bledsoe, Mrs. A. Bell, Floyette Bradford and Annie Rea Owens. Edwina received many nice gifts.

Garden Party, Shower Honor Bride - Elect

With Miss Anabel Pennington, bride-elect, named as honoree, Misses Lottie Russell, Gusta Davis, Florence Griffith and Florence Black entertained at the home of Mrs. M. S. Henry last Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock with a garden party and miscellaneous show-er.

The guest register table was placed on the south walk and presided over by Miss Griffith. After registering, the guests were directed around to the front entrance by Miss Black and presented to a reception line composed of Mrs. Henry, Miss Pennington, her mother, Mrs. Bulah Pate, and her sister, Miss Frankie Pennington.

Seats were provided on the porch where an interesting program was rendered. Mrs. Leonard Male gave the opening number, a piano solo, "Salut d'Amour," by Edwin Elgar. Mrs. Male also accompanied Mrs. Foster Davis, who played as a violin solo, "Trauerliebe," by Schubert. Mrs. Hubert Brown gave an appropriate short story, "Green Shutters." Miss Doris Oswald, accompanied by Mrs. William Ricks, sang "Dedicated to You," "White Hyacinths" by Lexie Dean Robertson, was read by Miss Mayme Lee Collins. Mrs. Adolph Wright, with Mrs. Male accompanying, sang, "When My Dream Boat Comes Home," "Mary's Home," by Helen Linham and "Specially Jim," were titles of two readings given by Mrs. L. T. Graves. Mrs. Henry presented the gifts to the honoree by relating an Italian legend concerning happiness and then guided Miss Pennington into the living room and dining room where the many useful and beautiful gifts were arranged.

Refreshments were served on the lawn from the pergola where Misses Davis and Russell poured punch. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Misses Mary Lou Fudge, Ruth Ferguson and Peggy Cannon. A color scheme of pink and green was used in the refreshment table which held rolled sandwiches, wafers topped with green icing and pink punch, and plate favors were three miniature wedding bells tied with pink and green ribbons.

This rattler is not one of the longest snakes found in this vicinity, but is one of the largest. The boys have killed six other rattlers in that section within the past few days.—Paducah Post.

If newspaper advertising doesn't pay, we'd like to know just why a chain store grocery used four eight column pages in last week's issue of the Odessa News-Times. Surely it was not for fun. It strikes us that managers of chain store groceries think too much of their jobs to risk losing them by willfully wasting the money of the company. It is our opinion that managers of chain stores are pretty shrewd fellows, and that if they did not figure the money invested in four pages of advertising would be returned in trade they would not have invested one penny. No, Odessa is not a large city, and the News-Times is a weekly newspaper—and a good one.—The Deport Times.

LIBRARY NEWS

Mignon G. Eberhart, a writer of mystery, says: "I was born, went to school, married. My husband is a civil engineer, which means a fugitive hearstone or at best a portable one." Mrs. Eberhart began writing not so much as a matter of self-expression as of self-defense; there was nothing else to do during long months of waiting for her husband to complete a job. She says that she likes lots of things, but she hates thunder and bugs. The sight of blood gives her a nervous spasm, so she puts it in her novels with greatest reluctance and refers to it as a "dark stain."

The library has copies of three of her Susan Dare mysteries and one novel, "Danger in the Dark."

One Preventable Disease Cause of 351 Deaths in 1936

Texas loses more than three hundred of its children each year from one preventable cause, according to State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, Diphtheria, that ever present menace to children, was responsible in 1936 for 351 deaths.

No parent would allow his child to run in front of trains or automobiles, but many allow them to run the danger of contracting diphtheria. Prevention of diphtheria in children is a simple matter of inoculation with toxoid.

If you have a child six months old or more, take him to your family physician and ask to have a Shick test made to determine whether the child is susceptible or immune to diphtheria. For 75 to 90% of children under twelve years of age are susceptible.

Information that as high as ninety per cent of all children under twelve are susceptible was gained from Shick tests carried out on thousands of children during the past decade, and indicates that young children should receive immunizing treatment against diphtheria with a preliminary Shick test, such a test should, however, be carried out six months after preventive treatment, to make certain that immunity has been established. In older children and adults, a preliminary Shick test is advisable, since immunity may already be present.

Diphtheria immunization is accomplished by the injection of toxoid. Your doctor can tell if the immunization was successful by giving you the Shick test four to six months after the last treatment of toxoid. It takes that long for protection to develop.

There is no guess work about toxoid, it is a safe and proven preventive. The wise and cautious parent will take his child to the family doctor now, before school opens, and have him protected against the danger of contracting diphtheria, by immunization with toxoid.

Geneva Marr of Vivian Wins 4-H Contest Sat.

A suit case full of clothes that she had made herself helped in winning first place in the 4-H Club girls' wardrobe contest for Geneva Marr, wardrobe demonstrator for the Vivian 4-H Club.

Geneva reports having made thirty-two garments during the demonstration in addition to mending a large number. The thirty-two garments included eight dresses, four undergarments, one skirt, two aprons, a quilt, a pair of pillow cases, a slack suit and other smaller garments. For these garments and for those bought ready-made during the year Geneva reports having spent a total of $26.41.

Storage space improvements made during Geneva's demonstration included three closets. This space was two and one-half feet wide and extends across one end of the bedroom. A four foot space was partitioned off and equipped with shelves for storing quilts and out-of-season clothing. The other eight foot space was equipped with shelves, rod, shoe racks, and accessories. Two doors were placed in it, one to open into the boys' bedroom and the other in the opposite end opening into Geneva's room. The closet was built from lumber covered with beaver board, three new doors used at the openings. This addition to the storage space in the home provides for a clothes closet in each bedroom and relieves the crowded condition in the small closets previously used.

"For a contest dress I chose a neat little batiste made in plain pleated style and with some careful work got it finished with the best of results," says Louise Hembree, wardrobe demonstrator for the Riverside 4-H Club.

The contest judge agreed with Louise on the neatness of her pattern and praised highly her work not only on the dress but on several other garments on display during the contest.

Louise reports having spent a total of $16.40 on her clothing during the year. Ten garments were made and her storage space improved by the addition of a curtain for the closet door.

WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

"Any canned product that scores 90 or above is a quality product," Miss Myrna Holman explained to the members of the West Side Club when they met with Mrs. F. A. Davis on July 14. The score card for canning quality vegetables is:

1. Container, airtight seal, smooth and unbroken, free from rust and corrosion, clean and polished—5.
 2. Label—Smooth and unbroken, name of product and producer printed—5.
 3. Pack clear liquid—15.
 4. Color—Should be characteristic of vegetables at correct stage of maturity to be highest in food value and appearance—25.
 5. Flavor—Natural flavor of freshly cooked product, free from moldy, metallic or flat savor, taste or odor—25.
 6. Texture—Hill shape, evenly graded, tender, not mushy from over-cooking or flat sour—25.
- To obtain quality products, start with good seeds for planting, gather vegetables at right stage, can as soon after gathering as possible, pre-cook correctly, put in the right container, and process correctly.
- Mrs. J. L. Brock, Mrs. Ed Norris, E. W. Burrow and Mrs. Tom Patton were visitors.
- The club will meet on July 28.

with Mrs. G. H. Kinchloe with a program on "Learning by doing." Money will not buy all that you need.
