crank Let's get down to Cases

To keep your car from growing old too soon... to make it run with that wonderful smoothness and pep it used to have when it was new... pay a lot of attention to the crankcase. That's where a motor's hardening-of-the-arteries starts.

So drain the crankcase—NOT your pocket-book, by refilling with Phillips 66 Motor Oil. It is Phillips finest, made from a costlier 100% paraffin base crude.

It meets the higher requirements of today's modern motors because it has high-degree oiliness. Refined into it by Phillips painstaking modern process. Besides, it is extra clean and extra thrifty. No wasteful light parts to cook out or burn out. Hence the film is tougher and longer-lasting.

Next time, drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil. It's concentrated!... This year's big value in car lubrication. Look for the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

The Economy Champion

The Work of the Department of Agriculture

In last week's letter I briefly reviewed the history of the foundation of the Department of Agriculture. In this week's letter I will briefly refer to some of the many activities of the workers in the different bureaus of this great department.

Now what do they do, these ten thousand scientists and clerical workers? It would be easier to tell you what they don't do. Of course, the chief function of the department is research into agriculture problems and the spreading of the information to those most interested, the farmers of the country. This is done through several bureaus.

The Bureau of Animal Industry not only conducts experiments in breeding and feeding of livestock, enforces livestock quarantines and instructs the farmer in the best methods of making his herds more productive and more profitable, but they supervise every packing house in the country in which meat is produced for Interstate Commerce. Killing and processing of meat cannot start in the morning until its inspectors give the word, and it must stop in the evening when the inspector goes home.

Treatment of the Soil

Several bureaus are concerned only with soils, soil chemistry, fertilizers, seeds, plant breeding, pest eradication, enforcement of quarantines against the entry of plants from areas infested with insect and other menaces to crops in uninfested areas.

Highway Construction

Still another bureau spends all its time in the study and supervision of highway construction, tests of paving materials, study of costs and of highway construction, tests of paving materials, study of costs and practical engineering problems. Under this bureau, there have been constructed within the last few years more than 20,000 miles of fine roads, built with Government and state funds.

Weather Bureau

The weatherman, much cursed and discussed, is a part of the Department of Agriculture, and the weather is about the only thing coming under the jurisdiction of this bureau over which it has no control.

Forestry

The forests of the Nation, the picturesque forest ranger, the reforestation of vast denuded areas, the fighting of forest fires, the regulation of the cutting of timber, experiments to find new uses for wood and to cut down waste, these are all part of the work of the Department of Agriculture.

Plant Industry

Perhaps the most picturesque function of the department is the search in all the far places of the world for new plants that can be acclimated and made to produce food or beauty, for the department is also concerned with the cultivation of flowers, for the American family. Those plant scouts lead a solitary and often-times extremely adventurous existence, penetrating often into territories where white men are extremely unwelcome.

Food and Drugs

No more useful function to the average family, is performed by the department, than the supervision of the foods, drugs, cosmetics, fabrics, soft drinks and a thousand and one other items of daily use in every family. This is done through the Food and Drug Department. It concerns itself with seeing to it that the package you buy is correctly labeled, that no false or misleading statements are made on labels or in advertising, that the contents are pure and exactly as represented. While you are down at the department, see the Chamber of Horrors, a vast collection of foods, medicines, cosmetics and packages which have been taken off the market by the bureau, because it has police powers to back up its orders. One amusing example is a package of ordinary noodles, perfectly good noodles, but they are wrapped in yellow cellophane to make the public think they are eye noodles. There is another striking, and this time grim, example of the importance of the protection the department gives you and your family.

It is a preparation, sold for five dollars a jar, for the removal of excess hair. Now it was condemned, not because it didn't do its job, but because it did it entirely too well. It got into the blood stream and removed all hair, including scalp hair and eyebrows. It even removed eye lashes. Another, a supposed eye beautifier, blinded several people before the Department of Agriculture forced the unscrupulous makers to remove it from the market. I have only scratched the surface of some of the many activities of the Department of Agriculture.

It effects the financial welfare of all of us, too, because we have found out during the last few years that when the farmer does not have money to spend, all of us are hard up, no matter what we do or where we work.

These six things doth the Lord hate; yea, seven are an abomination unto him: a proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren.

COURTESY

Who's the most important person in your company? President? Sales manager? Personnel manager? No, on all three, according to John R. Tunis, well known American author.

The most important person in every outfit, he writes in the current Rotarian Magazine, is the man or girl who has customer contact.

"If you have contact with the public by letter, telephone, wire, or word of mouth," he urges, "you represent your company. If you happen to be the first person to reach the public, you are the most important cog in the organization. From you the stranger gets his impression of the company, an impression that stays in his mind forever. Two minutes have secured lifelong customers, and they have made lifelong enemies."

"What sort of person do you care to do business with, the man who grows into the telephone: 'Gimmemisterrhennichest there gimmemisterrhennichest there gimmemisterrhennichest there, or the pleasant voice which responds, 'Good morning, this is the Riverside Hotel'?"

"Courtesy is not only gets business, it holds business," continues Mr. Tunis. "Ten years of sound business dealings have been spoiled by ten seconds of discourtesy."

A corporation executive checked and discovered that his company was spending over half a million dollars each year to get new business, but almost nothing outside regular channels to hold the business it had. He decided to spend $5,000 on an advertiser, a man who spent his whole time on clients and former clients, ironing out disputes, seeking causes of loss of business, and finding out whether the company's service was satisfactory. In one year the number of customers dropping from this concern's books declined 82 per cent.

"What a difference it would make if all corporations acted on a policy of courtesy. What a difference if the honest businessmen of the nation paid as much attention to courtesy as the gyps, crooks, fly-by-night promoters, and scoundrels who have only one stock in trade—a courteous address and manner. What a difference if business became polite and stayed polite, not only to the public but to itself. In short, what a difference if we all took the curt out of courtesy."

ates that conditions must be better in adjoining territory with a large cotton yield even though the price is not so good. Undoubtedly the merchants and business men of these neighboring towns believe there is going to be a fairly good fall business or they wouldn't boost their advertising appropriations to such an extent. They also probably realize that much more advertising will have to be done to encourage the return of business that has slipped away to catalog houses and nearby cities in the last few years. A neighboring weekly paper recently printed four extra pages devoted exclusively to advertising merchandise for one drug store in connection with a big sale.

Many weekly papers on our exchange list have increased the number of columns to the page to eight and at times print more than eight pages. Two 8-column weeklies reach our desk every week with sixteen pages well loaded with advertising of local merchants. Seven column papers that at one time had difficulty in securing enough advertising for eight pages are now printing ten and twelve pages each week in order to take care of the great demand for advertising space.

Most towns fight for better highways leading into town and then complain when the citizens of the town use the highway to go out of town to trade. Large cities also make mistakes—San Francisco at the present time is an example. That city built two giant bridges so that more people could come to San Francisco, forgetting the fact that people could leave the city on these same bridges. Many people are moving to other nearby towns since the new bridges make it easy for them to return to their work in the city in a short time.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPEIS JR.

Austin.—"Who killed the Cock Robin tax bill?" was the favorite topic of conversation in Austin this week, in the wake of the special session, which ended without any action toward raising revenue. The record is fairly clear. The House and Senate conferees wrote an omnibus bill, increasing tax rates on natural resources, corporation franchises, public utility gross receipts, cement manufacture, and stock and commodity exchanges, which would have yielded between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 of new revenue. It allocated funds as follows:

For old-age assistance $300,000 from additional revenue provided from general fund, plus $1,600,000 to pay off the loan of the pension fund from a Dallas bank.

For teachers retirement fund, $750,000. Aid to needy blind, $300,000. Aid to dependent children $750,000.

The bill would have re-allocated school funds—after this year—back to the one-fourth provided by the constitution, leaving undisturbed the larger school revenues for this fiscal year, to insure payment of the $22 per capita apportionment.

It eliminated entirely the $5,000,000 reduction in appropriations which the Senate had passed, and it also eliminated the provision in the House bill demanding that the ability of children to support their parents should not be taken into consideration in determining the eligibility of the old folks for pensions. That provision proved the stumbling block that killed the bill, when the House, on motion of Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, voted to instruct its conferees to stand pat and demand its inclusion.

Reliberation Rejected

This would have thrown the old age pension rolls wide open again, and the Senate conferees declined to accept it. Efforts to get the House to withdraw from its position failed utterly, when the "pensions for everybody" bloc joined by the "no taxes" group, resulted in a clear majority and voted to stand pat.

A record vote was had on motion of Bond, of Fairfield, to instruct the House conferees to sign the conference report. It was defeated, 75 to 73. The voters were: Adkins, Alexander, Amos, Bell, Boethel, Boyer, Bradbury, Burton, Callan, Carsaw, Cathey, Celaya, Colquitt, J. C. Davis, M. D. Davis, Davison, Dean, Derden, Dickinson, Dollins, Donaghy, England, Felty, Fielden, Fox, Fuchs, Gibson, Hankamer, Hanna, Harlin, C. L. Harris, Fred Harris, Hartzog, Hedlin, Huddleston, Jackson, B. T. Johnson, S. A. Jones, W. E. Jones, Kieth, Kenyon, King, Knetsch, Lanning, Leyendecker, Lucas, Mann, McKinney, McFarland, McKee, McKinnon, Monkhouse, Morse, Nicholson, Oliver, Tolbert, Patterson, Potts, Pugh, Ragsdale, Reader, Jasper Reed, Rhoads, Rutte, Scheunemann, Sewell, Skuggs, Stinson, Tennant, Thornton, Vale, Waggoner, Weldon, Westbrook, Winfree. Absent were Anderson, Cagle, Farmer, Herzik, Keefe, Little, Loggins, London, McDonald, Metcalfe, Newton, Palmer, Shell, H. Smith, Morris, Stevenson, and Tennyson. All others voted "aye."

Pension Outlook

Some reduction in pension payments during the next few months may result, although little evidence is placed in the statements made while the session was on that pensions might be suspended. These are regarded as being made largely for political effect, and so far as to cut off the only means of existence of 113,000 old people, even to carry a political point. The bank holding the State's notes for the $1,600,000 borrowed earlier, has indicated its willingness to work with the Board of Control in handling the debt on some extension basis. Meanwhile, members of House and Senate and the Governor were continuing their exchange of publicity shrapnel, seeking to lay the blame for failure of the session on each other. Sen. Will D. Pace of Tyler pointed out clearly how the professed friends of needy aged are using them as a political football, when he said:

"The Senate backed down from its economy amendment that would have saved the taxpayers $5,000,000 and provided more than $2,000,000 for old age pensions and we had a right to think the House would take the rest of the bill. Those who are entitled to pensions would receive much larger amounts if it were not for the avarice of those not entitled to them, who want the law thrown open so they can get money that rightfully belongs to the needy. If the pension rolls were cleared of imposters, the aged who are entitled to help would get more of it and it is their interest to be against a reliberation of the law."

Wait For Verdict

Meanwhile, two groups were anxiously awaiting news of the attitude of the folks back home. They were the special interest lobby and the politicians. The lobby was divided in its opinion. The conferees bill carried moderate tax increases, and some of the lobbyists feel it would have been better to take reasonable tax increases. Now they feel pretty certain the fight must be waged all over again in February or March, at another session. This could have been avoided, some feel, for at least another 14 months until the next regular session, if the conferees bill had passed. Others, cheered by their success in cutting down the Governor's $15,000,000 that rolled out-of-bounds deep in Wildcat territory. Cribbs, for his line plunging, and Odell, for his punting and rassing, were the stars of the Pack. McKown was the outstanding lineman of the local club with his stellar defensive work. He threw opposing backs for losses time after time.

W. F. Statter, Crowell guard, was removed from the fray four minutes after the starting whistle when he received a blow on the head that rendered him senseless until after the game. He was uninjured in any way other than being unable to participate further in the contest.

Hugh Sollis replaced Statter in the line and turned in a defensive game of which a regular lineman could well be proud. His offensive play was weak due to the fact that he did not know the plays from that position as he has been working as an end and back.

Although the score indicated a close game, statistics show that the Wildcats had the edge throughout the battle. Crowell gained 138 yards rushing and lost 3 while the Racers were only able to penetrate the Wildcat line for 65 yards and were thrown for losses totaling 45 yards.

PLAY BY PLAY

First Quarter

Hibbits of Throckmorton kicked to Crowell's twenty yard line. Fitzgerald made a beautiful run up the center of the field to the 50-yard line. He almost got completely away, but was finally hauled down. Joy sliced through center for 8 yards. Orr picked up 3 for a first down.

"Dead Sea Fruit"

The origin of the expression, "Dead sea fruit" is from "Lalla Rookh." The so-called apple of Sodom, a yellow fruit which grows on the shores of the Dead Sea is beautiful to the eye, but bitter to taste, and filled with minute black seeds not unlike ashes.

Pretty Close

The Wildcats came fairly close to having their perfect grid record spoiled last Friday night when the Throckmorton Greyhounds threw a scare into them in the fourth quarter when they marched over a touchdown only to have the place kick, and tying point, blocked.

Crowell fans say that the Wildcats did not play up to par in this game but good competition can make a lot of good teams look bad. Having failed to see the tilt, W. E. hopes that the fans are right because a one-point victory over the eleven that Burk Burnett whipped while taking a rest makes it look bad for the Cats.

Some seem to think that the week lay-off threw the boys off stride but at the same time Coach Graves states that the Greyhounds had the best defense of any team the Cats have tangled with this season and that means a powerful defense.

Looking at statistics, the Crowell boys won a decisive victory in every way but scores. They made more first downs, and more from rushing than did the Racers. The Cats' passing attack practically fizzled as they completed only one pass for five yards out of five tried.

The running attack of the Crowell team was hampered with the loss of W. F. Statter after the first four minutes of play and was replaced by a substitute backfield man. It wasn't the fault of Hugh Sollis, who replaced Statter, that the attack was slowed down because he did not know the plays from that position. He gave his best to the game and played a whole of a good defensive game.

This lad is a first year man and is proving that he is versatile. He had been working at backfield and end positions and then was able to step into the line and perform like a veteran.

Evans has shown excellent improvement at center, which position he took over upon the injury of Branch. His passing is fast becoming dependable and his blocking at this position has helped con-

Hawk-Cat Fight

Crowell fans will be treated the first home game in four weeks when the Hawks and Cats meet on Friday night. The Wildcats will be fighting to keep their slate clean. The Hawks will be winging for victory over a team they have been able to beat in several years.

A good game is promised as Iowa Park lads tied the Greyhounds and according to that Crowell would be rated as touchdown better but W. E. thinks that they will win by at least touchdowns more than that. It will be seen in this scrap whether or not the Cats were off form just up against a club that nearly too much for them.

My! My! It happened this week. A young Crowell business man felt committing murder when a printer's devil, George Cat showed him some type lice. I see any?

"Toast of New York" Heads Program for Week at Rialto
 Edwin Arnold again plays one of his dynamic roles in "The Toast of New York," which will show at the Rialto Theatre Sunday and Monday. This is another picture in which Mr. Arnold is cast as a very wealthy man in love with the beautiful Frances Farmer, much younger than he. Again he has a youthful rival in Cary Grant. Much action and music is promised with the New York of 1870 as a background. Jack Oakie plays the comedy role and that is all that need be mentioned in regard to any comedy role to assure satisfaction.

Ann Sothorn, well remembered for past performances, is appearing in "There Goes the Groom" with Burgess Meredith on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Music lovers will have a treat when the famous voice of Nino Martin is presented in "Music for Madame" at the Rialto Theatre on Thursday and Friday. Appearing with Mr. Martin is lovely Joan Fontaine and Billy Gilbert.

Those who love cowboy songs and hillbilly bands will enjoy "Git Along, Little Dogies" starring Autry supported by Smiley Burnette, the Cabin Kids and the Maple Four, all of whom are quite musical. Gene Autry, already famous on the radio and screen, sings several songs and the Cabin Kids, a group of Negroes who are fast coming to the front for their singing talents, add much to the picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Allison and daughter, Miss Marjory, left Tuesday for their home in Covina, Calif., after a visit of several weeks with Mr. Allison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allison, and other relatives in Crowell. Last week they visited relatives of Mrs. Allison in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Schlagal returned from Rankin Thursday where they had been called on account of the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Grover Yocham. They were accompanied to Crowell by their daughter, Mrs. Stator Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Yocham and children. Mrs. Adams returned to her home in Austin Monday but Mr. and Mrs. Yocham remained in Crowell for medical treatment to Mrs. Yocham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cooper left Saturday for Dallas to visit Mr. Cooper's sister, Mrs. Ludie Knight. Accompanied by Mrs. Knight, they went from Dallas to Tulsa, Okla., to visit Mr. Cooper's and Mrs. Knight's brother, Dr. Mark Cooper. From Tulsa Mr. Cooper and Mrs. Knight went to Nebraska on business.

Moffett—

any greater than the disagreement would be among 150 average men and women in the daily walks of life. It is easy to vote for pensions, aid, benefits, etc., but paying for them becomes a far different matter. Beginning about four years ago, the people of Texas have each succeeding summer voted for some sort of pension or payment but have never voted for any sort of tax to provide the money. What ought the Legislature do? It is a cinch that the farming class of people, and those immediately dependent upon them, cannot pay more taxes, because farming is more demoralized than it has been in many years, and the future is not bright. The means that any additional taxes must be raised from other sources and the problem is further complicated because the Federal Government has recently levied so many different taxes, on these other sources. The strong and vigorous objections, raised by those whom it was proposed to tax at the recent special session, caused no end of bitter wrangling and strife. It was worse than a jury hopelessly deadlocked on a bad murder case, or a school board torn up because of a community split. Twelve men, or seven men, or three men, can usually find a common meeting ground but it is much harder for 150 men to do so.

Improve Cotton—

should be left undone to meet it regarding to importers in Europe and exporters in this country, it is necessary that Texas farmers produce cotton at least as good, or if possible, of better staple than foreign countries if they wish to maintain a large export market.

"With so much short and mixed staple many spinners are discriminating against Texas cotton by specifying in their orders that 'no cotton from Texas' be included. The plan is to start with one or two of the most likely communities in each county and organize them on a one-variety basis to increase the seed purchased from the breeders and make it available for distribution to other communities in the county at a small amount above oil mill prices, thereby making a large amount of pure seed available to replace the gin-run seed which is now being planted. If registered seed is planted the progeny would be subject to certification by the State Seed and Plant Board under certain regulations. By this method, there would be enough pure seed available in each county in two or three years to replace the gin-run seed. The one or two foundation communities referred to above would in turn buy new seed each year from the breeders, with the small increase above oil mill price they receive for their seed, thereby keeping up the purity."

Two Minute Sermon

The Helpful Tongue: In the third chapter of the book of James appears an admonition by the author against the careless use of the tongue. The writer cautions his readers to be ever watchful of their speech, ever careful of their tongues. Though written especially for a certain group, the evils of which James cautions his readers, are just as present today as they were the day his epistle was written. The human tongue can do a great deal of harm, or it can do a great deal of good. The tongue reveals the individual and gives a fair cross section of his mind and thought and life. It reveals depth of character and thought, or it reveals shallowness and superficiality, dishonesty and littleness. The tongue of the liar, the gossip, the destroyer of ideals, the profane, the one who is constantly tearing down others, undermining reputations, blasting characters, can do a great deal of harm. On the other hand the one whose tongue is wholesome, who inspires, uplifts, who lights ambitions and desires, who awakens within others a new hope, a new vision, a new dream, who shows them how to build effective, helpful lives, who points out to men how to awaken the best that is in them, who shows them how to meet and overcome discouragement, how to achieve faith—his is a helpful tongue. It is such a tongue that James besought his hearers to cultivate and to covet. It is such a tongue that mankind everywhere needs today. It is such a tongue that everyone should strive to possess.

The Tahitians are wonderful under-water swimmers and love to swim out to their coral reefs, where magnificent under-water ferns and plants grow in profusion and fantastic shapes. The Tahitians can stay under some time to gather these tropical flowers; they like to wear them in their hair. There is only one place that they are forbidden to swim. That is the Sacred Blue Grotto of the Gods near Papeete, the capital. The water here is an amazing bright blue and very beautiful. The Tahitians have been told by their medicine man that they would immediately be pulled down by a deathly swift current in this deep pool, wading to find themselves in an open field full of flowers and surrounded by beautiful peaks where the gods live.

Captive Mines

A captive mine is so-called because the product of the mine is consumed entirely by the owner and, as a general rule, not sold on the open market. The owners of railroads, iron and steel plants, coke ovens and other industrial concerns own certain coal mines solely to provide fuel for their own industries. Only the surplus from such captive mines is likely to be put on the market.

PLANETS AND NORSE GODS GAVE NAMES TO WEEK DAYS

(By Estelle Chilcoat)

The week was unknown to the ancients. It was gradually adopted under the later Roman emperors, with the growth of Christianity and under the influence of the seven-day creation of Genesis. It was a principle of the ancient astrology that seven heavenly bodies presided in succession over the hours of the day. The seven so credited were the sun, the moon, Mars, Mercury, Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.
From these, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the Latin designations given to the days of the week have been directly derived; and from the Latin names, in turn, have been chiefly formed the modern names used in various countries—either by literal translation or, as in the Teutonic tongue, by the substitution of the corresponding deity of the northern paganism for the Latin god.
Sunday is derived from "sunnandaeg," day of the sun, the first day of the week having been dedi-

In the Old Town Hall

Monday is derived from "monandaeg," day of the moon.
Tuesday, "tweesdaeg" from Odin, "god of storms."
Wednesday, "wodnesdaeg" from Woden, "god of thunder."
Thursday, "thunresdaeg," of Thor, "god of thunder."
Friday, "frigedag," day of Freya, goddess of marriage.
Saturday, "saterdag," "Dies Saturnus," day of Saturn, the god of time.

'The Act of God'

The legal meaning of "act of God" is an overwhelming natural event, such as a storm or earthquake, which no human being could be reasonably expected to foresee or prevent. According to the common law, no person is responsible for a loss or injury if it is caused by "the act of God" or the enemies of the state. A man is sued for breach of contract and can prove that his performance was due to "the act of God," he has a good defense.

THE FRESHMAN PARTY

The Freshman class was entertained in the home of Mrs. P. D. Beverly with a Halloween party Friday night, Oct. 29, at 7:30. There were about twenty-seven members of the class, their sponsors, Mrs. Cogdell, and class mothers, Mrs. Allen Sanders and Mrs. E. Olds, present. Only inside games were played because of unpleasant weather waiting for the freshmen. By request the "Fish" was escorted home by Miss Cogdell and Mrs. Olds.

STUDE PERSONALITIES

Fish—Beverly Hughton
 This red head is liked by almost everyone in school. She respects her classmate, we hope, and is a good sport. Beverly loves ball and is a member of the squad. She seems to enjoy playing because she is always seen with a ball. She likes a tall, dark very handsome boy who drives a Chevrolet.

Fish—Ralph Fleisher
 Likes football but is bashful and the girls, except a few. If he passes by his home he can be heard playing his cornet. Whether his playing is good or not is for me to say, but I am of the opinion. He chauffeurs his car around every once while with his girl friend. That's what we would like to see.

Who were the boys that took Edwards and Riley Griffin to the graveyard and left Did Riley really cry? He moved the seniors' truck Saturday night while they were showing it required the assistance of the whole police force.

Why did J. M. Hill have his waiting for him in front of show Saturday night? Was it a show of upperclassmen? Why Stater could not go with seniors Saturday night because he kept him busy at the Junior Carnival.

Why was Gordon Thomson out at 2 o'clock Sunday morning? He really "spooking"? Why didn't Pauline Stinebaugh with the seniors Saturday night?

American Boy Introduces A New Football Game

In the early fall issues of The American Boy there'll be presented the story of a new game—six-man football—fast as professional football, wide open as basketball, thrilling as hockey!
 The game came to life through the need of small schools for some substitute for 11-man football, which was too expensive. Stephen Epler, a Nebraska graduate student in athletics, developed the game of six-man football to meet this need. In six-man football anybody can score, the possibility of injury from mass plays is minimized, and the game is open enough for spectators to follow every exciting development.
 The new game is a hit. New schools are taking it up every day. In coming issues The American Boy tells the world about this practical new game. In addition, it presents The American Boy Official Handbook, which can be obtained from the magazine at 20c a copy, or 15 cents when bought in bulk.
 Note:—Subscription prices of The American Boy will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00 or three years at $2.00. Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newsstands the price is 15c a copy.

Last King of England

The last king of England and date of his reign prior to the union of Scotland and England was Edward VI, who reigned from 1547 to 1553, but the last ruler of England during the period prior to the union of Scotland and England was Queen Elizabeth, who reigned from 1558 to 1603, notes a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer. Upon her death she was succeeded by James VI of Scotland, who became the first "British" king, and was thereafter known as James I, founder of the house of Stuart. He was the son of Mary, Queen of Scots, granddaughter of James IV and Margaret, daughter of Henry VII. He reigned as James I from 1603 to 1625. (His Scottish reign began in 1567).

What is believed to be the first passport ever issued was granted in 1629 to a gentleman secretary traveling from northern Europe to Vienna. It "asks that his passage should not be held up at frontiers and customs barriers," and was given by Reinhold Count of Collalto, a foreign secretary of Ferdinand II, emperor of Germany. The parchment was handed down from generation to generation in an old Viennese family.

HOW CHURCH OF ENGLAND FILLS BISHOPRIC VACANCY

According to the history of the Church of England, (25 Henry VIII, c. 20), when the vacancy of a bishopric occurs, the crown is empowered, by statute of 1634, to send the dean and chapter (of the diocesan cathedral) a license to elect, with a letter missive, containing the name of the person whom they shall elect. If the chapter fails to elect within 12 days, the crown appoints a bishop by letters patent, and the chapter failing to elect, or the archbishop, or other appointed bishops, failing to consecrate, are subject to penalties of Premunire (16 Richard II, c. 5).

Before deciding upon the name contained in the letters missive, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the king receives the recommendation of the prime minister, who has generally received the advice of the archbishop or of other bishops, before deciding upon the name to be recommended. Thus, the procedure in appointing an archbishop, or a bishop, in the Church of England in England, is as follows:

1. A license to elect and letters missive from the king to the chapter.
2. Election by the chapter.
3. Confirmation of election held first in Bow church, and later at the church house, London. The confirmation devolves upon the archbishop, or his vicar general, or upon the metropolitan bishop and two other bishops, or upon four selected bishops.
4. The installation in the diocesan cathedral.

DEVIL'S TOWER, WYOMING, IS 20,000,000 YEARS OLD

Devil's Tower, Wyoming, is the oldest national monument under the National Park service of the Department of the Interior. It is said to be 20,000,000 years old. It is a unique and colossal geologic formation which stands stumplike in the Black Hills.

The striated stone, measuring 1,000 feet in diameter at its base, occupies one and a half acres of territory, and stands 865 feet feet above ground. Geologists hold that about 50,000,000 years ago, when the Black Hills were forming, molten rock started to force its way through weak points in the limestone and sandstone in the area. These formed surface flows sills and lava "blisters."

Some of the molten masses came through passages that were nearly rounded or oval. The cooling of the molten lava in the passages produced necks or plugs, sometimes called pipes. Weathering frequently exposes these rocks, which remain standing as prominences.

Mrs. N. J. Roberts and Miss Myrna Holman were hostesses at the Roberts home Wednesday evening of last week to the Columbian Club members and their husbands in celebration of the annual husbands' evening, a social feature of the calendar.

Games of forty-two provided the evening's diversion for eight tables of guests, in which games I. T. Graves was high scorer among the gentlemen and Mrs. S. T. Crews, among the ladies. Guests other than club members and their husbands were, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Boman, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hinchman, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Andrews and Mrs. Moody Franklin of Adkins, Okla.

Cut flowers furnished home-decoration while the Halloween motif was used in the refreshment course which consisted of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee. Plate favors were cellophane cornucopias filled with candies.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Hines Clark.

Hallow'en Party Given by Members of B. & P. W. Club

All cares and worries were forgotten last Thursday evening when the Business and Professional Women's Club enjoyed a merry Hallow'en party at the home of Mrs. Henry Borchardt, with Mrs. Borchardt and Mrs. Leon Solomon as joint hostesses. Guests, wearing the customary spook costumes, were taken to and from the party on a spook train.

Upon entering the living room, each guest experienced a weird feeling, for she found herself in an improvised grave yard, with her own epitaph on the stones. The clever epitaphs on the stones provoked much laughter, and the group entered into the spirit of the affair and enjoyed numerous Hallow'en games and contests.

The hostesses served a tempting refreshment plate to fourteen members. Misses Mozelle Lilly and Juanita Hough attended as new members.

At a brief business session, the club voted to hold a Bridge and Tournament on Tuesday, November 9, at the M. & S. Chevrolet Company for the benefit of the County Library. Mrs. M. O'Connell, Mrs. Henry Borchardt and Miss Mozelle Lilly were appointed to make arrangements for the tournament.

er for the program, gave a selection entitled "Qualities Necessary to Form Personality." A very interesting part, "What is Personality?" was given by Camille Graves. Joyce White's talk was called "Mistakes to Be Avoided."

A lovely refreshment plate carrying out the Hallow'en idea was served to nineteen members.

Each guest brought a birthday gift. Hallow'en baskets filled with candies were used as party favors. Games of various kinds were played.

Thirty-two guests partook of a sumptuous dinner which was provided by the families of the children. Mrs. Horace Haney, a daughter, who lives at Truscott, baked the birthday cake which was decorated with 82 candles. Mr. and Mrs. Markham are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Spencer at the present time.

Those who were present for the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hinds of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dancer and children of Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. ADELPHIAN CLUB

The Adelpian Club met in regular session on Wednesday, Oct. 27, with Miss Frances Hill as hostess and Mrs. Raymond Burrow as program leader.

"France" was the subject for the afternoon's story. "Old France and Modern Canada" was discussed by Mrs. A. Y. Beverly, who made it very interesting by a vivid description of home life in Canada, of the dress of the Canadians and of how the love of the mother country was kept alive from generation to generation by early training. "Paris, the Most Beautiful City" was the title of a travelogue given by Mrs. Clint White. She told of the love of the French people for the rivers and especially the Seine, their love for out-of-door life and their intense interest for the theatre music and art. The Louvre and the Eiffel Tower were mentioned as being always of interest to tourists. "French Chinaware" was ably discussed by Mrs. A. D. Campbell and she gave a splendid review of the manufacturing of chinaware in the various periods of its history, explaining how color and designs of other countries were combined into one that became their own.

The Hallow'en motif was used effectively in the delectable refreshment plate.

Foard City Scholastics (By School Reporter)

The P. T. A. pie supper was more fun! All apart from the fact that it netted over $40.00, it was fun! We didn't know there were so many good cooks in Foard County. Only culinary artists could have created some of those golden-brown meringue-peaked beauties. Auctioneer Tom Callaway must have wanted to take a bite from some of them as they passed on to the consumers. Of course, there is sometimes a tragedy behind the headlines—as in the case of the boy (name purposely omitted) who did not have enough "change" to outbid his rival.

But the saddest sight was, this Monday morning, the forlorn, punctured Jack-o'-lanterns and signs clinging to auditorium seats. (Then was the time the alumni received a short course in home economics—house cleaning.)

We suppose beauty contests, like beauty, are their own excuse for being—anyway, people seem to like them. And the students were happy because Polly won the cake—thus proving that there are prettier girls in school than ever were out or something—but perhaps that's another adage of which I'm thinking.

Although it was too hot for coffee Friday night the English classes made enough to buy two books (including donations.) The class was such invaluable aids.

The nice aspect of this pie supper is that the funds are to be converted into a new slide cover, swings, and tennis equipment.

Twenty-two enrolled for public school music Monday. Like children with new toys they experiment with notes and squeal with delight at each new discovery.

All of life is music if one but strikes the right keys and stays in tune—Tony Wans Serapook. This is a "thought for today" from a freshman notebook.

One member of the ninth grade reported for duty this week, but the rest are still engaged in agricultural projects.

EXTENSION PROGRAMS

Extension programs originating in the counties joining Wichita County will be on the air each Thursday from 10:30 to 10:45 a. m., according to arrangements made with the program director of Station KGKO, Wichita Falls. Archer County, with the home demonstration agent in charge, presented the first program on November 4, the subject being "The School Lunch." The farm agent from Archer County will have charge of the program for November 11. On succeeding Thursdays programs will be presented in succession by Baylor, Clay, Montague, Wichita and Wilbarger counties.

ROTARY CLUB

Mrs. Neitah Campbell of Spur gave a number of interesting readings as a program for the Crowell Rotary Club Wednesday at noon at O'Connell's Lunch Room. The program was in charge of Rev. E. L. Yeats.

Visitors present for this meeting were Rotarians Harry Koch and C. T. Watkins of Quanah and Rotarian Fred Rennels of Vernon, a former member of the Crowell Club. Joe Ward attended for the first time as a new member.

CO-LABORERS CLASS

The Co-Laborers Class of the Methodist Sunday School held a class meeting at the church Thursday afternoon, Oct. 28.

Mrs. Allen Sanders was leader of the lesson which was taken from the Second Book of Samuel. The hostesses, Mrs. Frank Flesher and Mrs. P. D. Moseley, served refreshments to fifteen class members.

WHAT WE THINK (By Frank Dixon)

As the time approaches when initial preparations must be made for the next national political campaign, the fact is emphasized more and more that the Democratic party is going to be faced with a big problem in securing a candidate other than Mr. Roosevelt, who has the degree of popular appeal possessed by Mr. Roosevelt, and the Republican party is going to be faced with an equally big, if not bigger problem of securing a platform and a leader who will appeal to the old guard, and at the same time attract the younger leadership of the nation.

The fact is, that both old parties up to the time that Franklin Roosevelt came into office, had been content to go before the people every fourth year with the same old platforms on which they had appealed to the voters in every election since the Civil War.

It is amazing, when one stops and looks back, that the leadership of the old parties could be so blind to the fact that the world was changing, and that the things for which they proclaimed that they stood, were outgrown issues, and that an entirely new set of problems faced the people and the country, problems that were clamoring for and demanding solution. It is incomprehensible, that, while the best minds fiddled away on high sounding, meaningless platform phrases, the country coasted down hill to its near ruin. Neither old party was possessed of a vision of any other course or a single new idea even up to the eve of the debacle.

When Franklin Roosevelt appeared upon the scene he shouldered aside all the moth eaten, dust covered philosophy and theories of his party and stepped out into the arena an exponent of a new day and a new order. He made articulate the secret desires and dreams of millions and became the champion of a new order.

Whether we agree with all or any of Mr. Roosevelt's ideas and theories the fact remains that he made articulate and tangible what before had been but groping and vague uncertainty and public sentiment and support rallied to his program in such a definite and sweeping fashion that it amazed and confounded the old standpat party leaders. The time has come when the leadership of both old parties recognizes that a new note has come into American political life, that even the most sacred party tradition cannot still, or keep silent.

The far-seeing leadership of the opposition party has conceded in its own mind that the mass of voters can no more be reached by a program of trite platitudes and obsolete theories than the tide of the ocean can be turned back, or the laws of the solar system reversed.

It realizes that any program to attract attention must be in tune with changed conditions. It must point forward to a new day, rather than backward to an illustrious past, it must challenge the attention of youth and inspire it to action. No other program will appeal. No other program will be accepted.

The country has breathed a new air, it has caught a new vision and is headed for it. In the parlance of the times it may not know where it is going but it is on its way—and nothing can stop it.
