WHAT WE THINK

I once knew a man who believed that the earth was flat. All of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barker and the arguments and all of the proof children, Ruth, Bettie and Roy that might be presented could not convince him that the earth was iting Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Canup.

Hershel Butler and Edward

He was wrong, of course. His position was several hundred years behind the times. It went back to that day when everyone believed that the earth was flat and was prepared to prove it. The point about him that I wish to make was that he had a conviction, a conviction for which he was willing to stand up and battle against all odds. He believed the thing and was willing to fight for it. I have often thought as I have heard him present his was willing to stand up and bat-tle against all odds. He believ-miler views vigorously, here at least is practical value to them. It is not

I have often thought wrong though he was, he ahead of many men of the community who never appeared to have a conviction upon any matter. They were neutral, lifeless drifters. They had no conviction about any matter of local interest. They had no conviction about the things of life and religion. In all such matters they ligion. In all such matters they were consistent, they merely drifted and drifted.

To me one of the most pathetic things in life is the young person without convictions in life or the matter of religion, and there are housands of them today.

The young man who finished school without any conviction of the thing that he wants to do and continues to drift through life aimlessly, haphazardly, with no desire, no conviction of any goal, is a tragic sight. All of his youth, his energy, his potential enthusiasm is lost because he does not have in his makeup that directing and centralizing force known as a conviction. Instead of centering his energies upon one thing and seeing it through he drifts in the great ocean of life like a ship whose sails are set and filled with the wind but whose master's hand lies inert on the rudder, permit-ting the ship to drift with each changing wind hither and you with no goal in sight. How tragically unsatisfactory and unprofitable is such a life, no plan, no goal, no conviction. I have seen many men like that in the matter of religion. They have never achieved a conviction about any important phase of the great philosophy of living. They have never met the issue squarely in their own minds. They have chosen to consistently dodge and evade the issue until finally evasion becomes a habit with them sion becomes a habit with them and they go through life without any real religious conviction. The tragic part of it is, that, lacking in this conviction, their religion never becomes a thing of much

'Old Pete' Shares Billing at Flea Circus

Grover Cleveland Alexander, once the hero of Gotham baseball crowds, recently spent a three-weeks' engagement in a New York penny museum whose chief attraction was a troupe of trained fleas. "Old Pete," as he was affectionately known, lectured on baseball and answered questions put to him by fans. A hit-and-run driver ended his career with the House of David team for whom he was pitching. Later he managed a semi-pro team near St. Louis.

What Does the Future Hold for The Smaller Towns in Texas?

What must inevitably be the fate of the small towns and communities in Texas?

This question is being asked in literally hundreds of interior places over the state where today "For Rent" signs clutter the windows of numbers of empty business buildings! It is a unestion of increasingly serious importance, not only to these small towns and communities, but to the state as a whole.

These once busy places of community life, around which has largely grown the progressive development of Texas, are being dried up by the operation of heavy trucks over our highways. Their local business firms and enterprises, the dry goods, hardware, drug and fruit and vegetable stores, retail lumber yards, wholesale grocery houses, bottling plants, feed mills, oil mills, crain elevators and cotton compresses are unable to meet the competition of the larger business centers because of the almost unrestricted and promiscuous use of Texas highways in the delivery of goods by trucks from the larger cities holding the quantity-purchase advantage.

The absorption and manipulation, in varying degree, of the cost of transportation by highway for competitive purposes, if not restricted, will inevitably drive dealers and wholesalers in the smaller towns and communities out of business. They must succumb to the inequality of opportunity with which they are burdened and thus contribute further to our growing economic chaos. The plea now being made by certain interests to increase the load limit on trucks operating over Texas highways will hasten the end of local enter-prises in smaller Texas communities. If under the present statutes harm already has been done the small town merchant and property owner, what then must be the effect of any increase in the allowable truck load limit? Certainly the larger the load limit the greater will be the distance over which goods can be hauled from the larger dis-tributing centers, and the greater will be the harmful effects on dealers and enterprises in the smaller towns!

The burden of taxation borne by the business interests of the smaller towns and communities throughout Texas will, as a natural result, be shifted more and more to the shoulders of the remaining property owners. Those who have invested in homes and business buildings must sacrifice their investments to what some might mistakingly call "the march of progress."

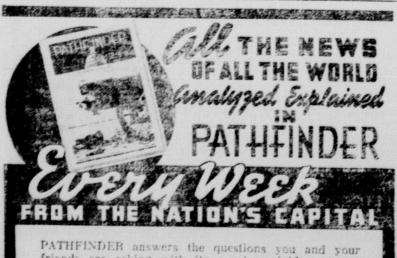

The thousands of calling

The thousands of families, for so many years dependent upon employment by these business enterprises as a means of livelihood, must be forced to the cities in quest of work, and failing in that add further to our burden of relief and unemployment!

Inroads by long distance truck operations on the traffic of the railroads must necessarily result in the abandonment of more and more railroad mileage, with consequent loss of payrolls and taxes to these communities and an increase of tax bur-dens to their citizens.

Texas Railroads, who seek no favors and advantages, but who willingly pay their own way to render efficient, dependable and economical transportation service to Texas communities, have felt business men and, in the interest of our mutual preservation, join with them in urging that existing legal truck load limits be not increased!

F. H. T. INSPECTOR VISITS SCHOOL

Miss Doris Buchanan, the Home-making supervisor for District 11, made her usual yearly visit to the Homemaking department Friday. She spent a half a day in your school visiting the different Home-making classes. She made some very useful suggestions for some needed equipment. We found her a very pleasant individual to have with us and we will welcome her regional medals.

Ing that it results in rich rewards.

WHAT'S THE RUSH

The old proverb, "Haste makes tion contests this year. waste," seems to have no meaning for high school students. We rush around in the halls as if we had one minute between classes inone minute between classes instead of three. Three minutes is sufficient time in which to change from one class room to another; if it were not, our administrator would change it. Just remember when you shove and push somebody that he is likely to "pay you back" tomorrow. If you push other people in the hall don't turn around when someone shoves you and act as if you are going to bite and act as if you are going to bite

Remember: People respect you no more than you respect them. So don't go running and pushing in the hall as if you were running does not have very much to do with the boys, but is a very likeable girl.

ADVICE TO FRESHMEN (Billington)

We, the freshmen, have learn-ed much in this half-year semester. We have learned not to talk back to upper-classmen, not to expect too much of some people, to be careful on next Hallowe'en, to like some upper-classmen and vice versa, to mind our own business, to get our lessons in on time, to expect a pop test any day, to be careful when we are close to certain upper-classmen, not to do cute things before upper-classmen, to be at school on time, not play hookey, and also to enter into school activity and to have fun sometimes. All the freshmen that do not know this had better learn home of Mr. and Mrs. last Friday, Jan. 25. it, they might be sorry.

Miss Cogdell, instructor, has or-ganized a volley ball team recent-ly, and a new system is being used da new system is being used this year. There will be eight players where there were formerly only six. This is the first time this number has ever been used. A captain has not been elected as yet, but Miss Cogdell reports that one will be elected in the near future. The games will all be matched, and we hope our team comes out with first place, of course. The team is composed of: Mary Owens, Evelyn Evans, Iva Ruth Gafford, Ruth Steele, Ruby the game. For Crowell, Borchardt was high point man with nine field goals and two free tosses. The luxury of a few years ago has become the necessity of today. The automobile has brought widely separated communities into compact areas and promoted the expansion of men's undertakings. Just as the automobile has become one of the nation's greatest industries, so has the selling maintenance of them become one of this community's greatest.

Many of our citizens gain their livelihood in this and its many allied industries. To these men and women we pay tribute Many of the firms they represent rely on us for all of their printing needs. We produce quality printing that helps increase their sales—we can do as much for you.
