Dean of Loafers

FUNERAL FOR PIONEER LADY HELD MONDAY

Mrs. J. D. Wright Died at Margaret Saturday

Last rites for Mrs. J. D. Wright, 71, resident of the Margaret community for 39 years, were held in the Baptist Church in Margaret Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in charge of Rev. Cecil Baggett, a former pastor. Interment followed in the Crowell cemetery beside the grave of her husband, who preceded her in death by nine months.

Mrs. Wright died at her home near Margaret Saturday following a serious illness of about two months.

Pall bearers were Ab Dunn, Bax Middlebrook, Curtis Bradford, Jim Owens, Off Allen and Henry Blevins.

Flower girls included the following granddaughters: Mrs. Madie Meharg, Mrs. Jim Bean, Mrs. John Carr and Misses Edith and Mildred Wright and Ruby Jean Pruitt.

Mary Ann Carr was born August 1, 1868, at Newsite, Ala., and was married to J. D. Wright in 1882 in Clay County, Ala. The family moved to Foard County from Alabama in 1900 and had lived in the Margaret community since that time. Mrs. Wright was converted and joined the Baptist Church at an early age and was a charter member of the Margaret Baptist Church. She had lived a consistent Christian life during this long period of time.

Survivors include five children as follows: Sam Wright of Kim, Colo.; George Wright of Crowell, Lee Wright of Pampa, Johnnie Wright and Mrs. E. C. Maxwell of Margaret, and a large number of grandchildren.

Wilbarger-Foard Workers' Meeting Held At Margaret

The Wilbarger-Foard Baptist Workers' Conference met in an all-day meeting Tuesday with the Margaret Church.

A large number was present for an interesting and helpful program. Those attending from Crowell were: Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Duke Wallace, Mesdames Homer Zeibig, A. E. McLaughlin, C. P. Carter, Frank Moore, Roy Archer and J. P. Davidson.

SERIOUSLY ILL

The condition of Joe Owens, who is seriously ill in the Quanah hospital, is reported to be slightly better. Mr. Owens underwent an operation on Monday of last week and has been given three blood transfusions since that time.

TO MOTHER'S BEDSIDE

I. L. and Ira Denton were called to Hammon, Okla., Wednesday night on account of the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. H. M. Denton, who is in the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. U. Bell, in that city.

A decided improvement is noted on those streets of Crowell on which the WPA street paving project has been operating during the past several months. The work which has been done is a little scattered over various streets, but the majority of the improvements, which consists of curb, sidewalks and gravel base, have been made on the streets leading north from the northeast corner of the square and the Baptist Church.

To date, the first street east of the square, Houston Street, leading north, has been curbed continuously, with the exception of three small gaps, to the intersection of Houston and Garner Streets at the W. B. Johnson residence. Additional curb has been laid on Main Street; the street leading north from the Baptist Church and various other streets in the northeast section of Crowell.

This work adds much to the attractiveness of the property within the city limits and if the people who live on the streets that have not been curbed completely can be induced to take advantage of this work, a better connected and more complete job would result, as well as Crowell being able to boast of attractive residence streets. The cost of this work to property owners is very small and it seems it could be done by more people at this low price.

Approximately 6,000 square feet of sidewalks have been built under this project and 9,000 square yards of sledge-stone and gravel base have been placed. An asphaltic concrete surface will be laid at an early date.

The drainage is being improved on these streets and large amounts of excavation and two concrete dips have been made on the creek that passes through Crowell to the west of the business section. This creek has caused much trouble during heavy rains in the past, but this work has opened the creek so that all water will be carried away without flooding the highways and running into houses.

Concrete sidewalks across streets are being removed and will be rebuilt to conform with grade lines.

This is a WPA project and is being sponsored by the City of Crowell with property owners as co-sponsors. Fifty WPA workers, a project superintendent and a time-keeper are employed on the project at the present time. Total labor cost on this project to date is $12,653.70, of which approximately one-fourth has been supplied by the sponsors, and has been of great value to the city as a whole.

Property owners who are interested in this work can inspect the work on the streets named above, and if they plan to have this work done should get in touch with the City Council or the project superintendent, Walter Thomson.

Sales Campaign Proves Business Good in West Texas

Cisco. (Special) — A summary of the annual spring merchandise campaign conducted by the West Texas Utilities Company throughout the 45,000-square-mile territory it serves today revealed that the Cisco District had exceeded its sales quota by 261 per cent, thus placing it foremost among the company's nine districts. H. H. Monk, district manager, said he had been advised that other districts ranked in the following order: Quannah, Stamford, Abilene, Childress, McCombs, San Angelo, Ballinger, and Dalhart. Quannah and Stamford were tied for second place. Results of the campaign, added, indicate that business conditions are exceptionally good in West Texas compared with other parts of the country. Highlights of the campaign was sale of a total of 1,684 electric refrigerators during a 90-day period. Special awards for outstanding accomplishments in the campaign go to Monk, C. C. Rosmond, district sales manager; O. J. Ross, local manager, and R. S. Cox, salesmen, all of Cisco; Earl Miley, district manager, and R. K. Parks, all of Quannah; K. K. Francis, district manager, and L. Tillotson, sales manager, both of Stamford; R. T. Gray, local manager at Merkel; Jarrell Hale and B. Sheffield, salesmen, and M. Bowers, clerk, all of Abilene; J. Hembree, salesman of Paducah; J. M. Pennington, local manager at Eldorado; and A. J. McDonald, local manager at Winters.

Len Johnston, who operates the Ben Smith farm southwest of Crowell, planted 1,000 acres of cotton but like everybody else has had to fight the grasshoppers. He says he thinks he has them pretty well under control, but that it has cost him about $150 to poison them. As a result of his efforts, however, he thinks he has saved at least 800 acres, while if he had not fought them at all they would have taken the entire farm.

Good Crop
We happened up at the thresher at Rob Cooper's last week and learned that his crop was threshing 70 bushels of oats and 25 bushels of wheat to the acre, which is not bad by any means. While the wheat is about an average for the county the oat yield is regarded as excellent, and Mr. Cooper is very well pleased with both.

Seymour Will Stage Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo July 21 - 22

Seymour—Spectator comfort and interest will be stressed at the third annual Seymour Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, to be held here Friday and Saturday, July 21-22, under the sponsorship of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce.

The rodeo performances will be held at 2 and 8 p. m. each day at Fair Park arena. This field is located atop a hill one mile east of town, which catches all the breeze that may be blowing; and the field is covered with heavy turf, so that absolutely no dust is raised in the arena.

An ingenious arrangement of pens, being completed this week, will enable events to be run off quickly, with no delays between riders and ropers. Grandstand and bleacher seats are being rebuilt and added to preparation for the biggest attendance ever had here.

The opening feature will be a 35-mile horseback ride into Seymour over five different highways, starting points being located near Threeknot, Benjamin, Monday, Olney and Mankins. Some 30 riders are expected to compete for the hand-tooled saddle, hand-made boots and Stetson hat offered as prizes.

Substantial cash awards will be offered in the four amateur rodeo events, bronc riding, calf roping, steer riding and bell roping, with special prizes in all events. A cutting horse contest will be held Saturday morning. A number of unusual added attractions are being arranged for the rodeo performances.

Color will be added to the rodeo performances by 100 young lady sponsors, from Seymour and other West Texas towns. A number of beautiful prizes are being offered in three divisions. Big street parades will be held each day.

Frame Gardens Are Successful in Foard County

The surprise of the summer in Foard County this year is the series of frame gardens built on some 10 farms under the sponsorship of the Extension Service and the Farm Security Administration. Vegetables are flourishing under the thin cloth coverings of the frames while outside gardens are drying up and blowing away.

This device for outwitting the weather man has been used by a few progressive farmers throughout the Southwest for many years, Miss Sarah Kinsey, Home Management Supervisor for FSA, said.

"One instance is that of a prosperous Panhandle farmer who had two children to die of mysterious causes," she related. "Other members of the family were not well. They went to the Mayo Clinic where their trouble was diagnosed as a 'mineral and vitamin deficiency in the diet.' Fresh vegetables instead of medicine were prescribed. In order to raise the vegetables, the mother resorted to a frame garden. Her family became healthy. She now keeps a series of such gardens going the year around."

"Deficiencies in the diet do not always mean a lack of food," the home supervisor explained. "They frequently mean only the lack of the right kind of food. Few farmers in Foard County can afford to take their families to the Mayo Clinic, but all of them can afford a frame garden to prevent the necessity of such expensive services."

A balanced daily diet of home-grown foods is one of the first objectives of the FSA program, she added.

To Those Owing Delinquent Taxes

Penalty, Interest and Costs Will Be Added on All Delinquent Taxes Due the City of Crowell on the 16th Day of August, 1939.

The City has been very lenient with those owing Delinquent Taxes, however, the time has come when it is forced to make collection on these taxes in order that it may meet its obligations and function in the manner in which a City must if it is to be of any benefit to the people.

Why not save the penalty, interest and costs which will be added to your taxes by paying them before the 16th of August, 1939?

The City Council earnestly requests that all owing delinquent taxes make a decided effort to pay them at once. In the event taxes are not paid, the City will be forced to use other means to enforce collection.

LOOK AHEAD

There is an old maxim that we used to hear. It ran something like this: "Count that day lost whose low descending sun views from thy hand no worthy action done." It is a splendid rule for individual human progress. It is also a splendid rule for community progress.

The one big thing that Crowell needs right now is more water and better water, and at a price that lawns, trees and flowers can receive all the water they need at the time they need it.

An effort is being made to collect delinquent taxes owed to the city. All citizens owing city taxes should make every effort possible to pay these taxes and place the City Council in a position financially to take up the matter of securing a sufficient supply of good water for Crowell.

be too late. Crowell citizens will again be hauling water and their beautiful yards will dry up.

The king and queen visited America and have returned home. After all they did not really see America. They saw its biggest city, its capital, its parade, its splendor. True this is a part of America. Behind all of this is the real America, the small towns, the fertile farm valleys, the modest homes of the great mass of people, the little shops where thousands pursue their labors that support the great cities and the great industries and the government itself at Washington.

A good advertisement, properly written, containing interesting information regarding the merchandise a store has to sell is a potential invitation to every person who reads it to visit that store. The invitation extends wherever the paper circulates, throughout the town's whole trade territory.

Civic pride and town spirit is that something that gets into the people of a town that makes them want to keep their lawn mowed, their house painted, and their home attractive. It is the spirit that causes the citizens of a community to stand up for its institutions, boost its ball team, its schools, churches and its enterprises.

Flying blind is an expression used by airplane pilots. It means that owing to weather conditions the way cannot be seen and pilots must depend upon instruments and mechanical devices to keep their courses. This is just what happens to buyers who buy without reading the advertisements.

A lot of big and worth while things have been done in this world by ordinary men who have no special talent or genius except to go ahead and do the very best they knew how.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

We are prone in this country to point to dictator ruled nations as the very antithesis of a democracy and some disadvantages.

Wisely led and wisely administered the democratic system of government offers the largest measure of liberty to the individual citizen of any of the several systems of government.

This being true, in my opinion those of us who treasure liberty as it has been known under our form of government and our way of living should zealously guard against those things that creep into a system of government that gradually rob it of those things that distinguish a democracy from other forms of government.

In my opinion there are two perils that threaten the perpetuity of a democracy. One is an indifferent electorate, lacking the will to choose for officers of trust and responsibility the right type of leadership. The other is the growing tendency to turn government over to boards and commissions and bureaus.

There is a large number of these boards and commissioners in our system of government today. Two that have attracted much attention of late, but which are no more arbitrary or dictatorial than a score of others, are the Wage-Hour board and the National Labor Relations board.

unfair and unjust its rulings may appear to them, to be. As far as the majority of these corporations and small industries is concerned the NLRB has dictatorial powers as effectively as does any European dictatorship.

HOUSE WAKES UP

The action of the House in removing the undistributed profits tax from the new revenue bill by the astounding majority of 358 to 1 (and the single dissenting vote was cast by a representative who favored the tax's elimination, but voted "no" because he felt that the bill should have gone farther in the way of tax reform).

It is very definitely a step in the right direction after many years during which tax changes have invariably been of a punitive, business-destroying character. The House has earned the respect and commendation of the entire country.

However, worthy as this action is, it will be of little practical importance unless it is swiftly followed by further sane tax reform. Our staggering total tax burden is difficult enough for the nation to bear—and our manner of collecting revenue in many instances makes the problem more serious still.

So—all praise to the House for its ringing disavowal of the undistributed profits tax! And may this step mark the start of a real and sweeping program of tax revision to the end that prosperity may be restored.—Industrial News Review.

Heat Prostrations Taking Toll with Hot Summer Weather

Austin, "The heating Texas sun these July days is beginning to take its toll in heat prostrations, from reports reaching the Texas State Department of Health. A simple precaution to help prevent heat cramps and prostration is to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat, the body loses large quantities of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Heat cramps are characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then various muscles begin to cramp.

Fourth Annual XIT Cowboy Reunion to Be Held at Dalhart

Dalhart, Texas.—"Saga of the XIT" that is the name of the streamlined drama that will be presented as one of the highlights of the Fourth Annual XIT Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo in Dalhart, August 7th and 8th.

In swift, dramatic action the "Saga of the XIT" will sketch in flashing, colorful style the history of this most famous of the world's ranches. On the magic canvas of the stage it will paint in sweeping strokes the story of the XIT under the six flags of roaring empire—first the French, then the Spanish, then Mexico, then the Republic of Texas, the United States, then the Confederacy and back to the United States.

It will echo the clanking armor and heavy tread of Coronado's men who crossed the XIT lands twice on their historic search for the Seven Cities of Cibola and the fabled golden houses of the Gran Quivira.

Then rocketing down through the years, the saga will depict in stirring manner the red tongues of sizzling flame that humbled the old Texas capitol and forced upon the Lone Star State the absolute necessity of a new state home.

On and on the story will run in a swift and colorful torrent of action and pantomime that will show the rise of the XIT, the swash-buckling days that went with its heyday and the development that has made the present possible.

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

Unwilling To Pay the Price: the 19th chapter of Matthew told the story of the rich young man who came to Christ as he was teaching the multitudes and said, "God Master, what good shall I do that I may have eternal life?" He was told that he should keep the commandments, "these have I kept from my youth up," the young man asked, "What lack I yet?" When Christ told him that he must sell all that he had and give to the poor, the Scripture states he went away sorrowing, for he had much possessions. The young man felt his heart that he lacked something to insure him eternal life, when he learned what it was, he was unwilling to pay the price. He lacked, as we say today, what it took to cut loose from his life and launch out into the new. How like many today. They know in their hearts they lack something and know what it is, but the rich young man are unwilling to pay the price. It so happens that riches were his problem. Others it may be quite another problem. It may be quitting certain associates, certain practices, certain faults. Their unwillingness to give up sends them away sorrowing. They are unwilling to pay the price.

Insulin Discovery

Insulin was discovered by Canadian physicians, Drs. Frederick G. Banting and J. J. R. MacLeod, but the greater share of the credit has been given to Dr. Banting. At the time the discovery was announced in 1921 Dr. Banting held the office of resident surgeon of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The insulin treatment had been used under the supervision of its discoverer for a while before it was announced, but its general use dates from 1922.

C. Hampton, S. W. Dismukes and W. S. Orr, southeast of Rocksprings. Their ranges are green pastures while neighboring pastures are so dry, in some instances, that feeding costs have been heavy, and, in one or two instances, the operators have turned their goats and sheep out to forage along the country lanes. Mr. Clark has had two or three times as much rain as most other ranchmen in the county.—Round-Up Column, Uvalde Leader-News. (T. C. Hampton is a former Foard County ranchman).

MALAYAN SNAKES PROVE EXPENSIVE ZOO GUESTS

The keepers of the reptile house of the London zoo might well be intoning a new version of the nursery rhyme about the "ten little Injuns," for this is exactly what happened there: Seventy-four Cerberus water snakes arrived at the zoo. The Hamadryads ate 12 of them—now see 62.

The Hamadryad snakes are three in number. Their habitat is malaya. From the first day of their arrival they proved rather expensive to feed. Until the water snakes came they had lived comfortably on a black and gold snake a piece a week, but as these reptiles are rare and cost about $20 to $25 each, the Hamadryads' meals proved a strain on even the zoo's resources.

"You see," says a zoo keeper, "we have only three black and gold snakes left now, and they must be kept for show. So we imported these Cerberus water snakes from southeastern Asia as a substitute. They only cost about 10 shillings each if you buy a lot of them, so it is an economy in a way, as three Cerberus snakes go to one black and gold one."

He pointed to the cage in which the new arrivals were crawling happily about oblivious of the fate before them. "Three of them will be lucky," he said, "as we will keep them for display. The rest will be fed to the Hamadryads at the rate of about six a week, although we will vary the diet occasionally."

Absolutely no pain is involved for the water snakes, however, as the great Hamadryads render each victim unconscious before consuming it. "It is one of those problems we are always being confronted with," the keeper said. "The Hamadryads would starve to death if we didn't give them live food; the Cerberus water snakes, in their natural surroundings, would almost certainly meet a far more unpleasant end. It is happier for all concerned this way."

know by name, and the great named army of early believers endured; how thuring, edly without murmuring, took up the cup of martyrdom without wavering in faith or attitude—only a part of the is with man, but with God one tear is forgotten, not one deed of faithful discipleship unrecorded. Brethren, "be ye steadfast, movable."

In the light of eternity lived in such a house not built with hands as God will provide for His own, how insignificant appear the inconveniences and hazards of the years of our pilgrimage. The poet Longfellow somewhere enjoins the person who is crossing a flooded stream to fix his eyes upon the opposite shore rather than upon the angry waters. Yes, yonder is the shore that will steady faith and give composure where else were agitation of spirit.

A discouraging lack of steadfastness is seen in the disciple group that went hither and yon with Jesus. Judas betrayed, Peter denied; they all forsook Him and fled. But how different when the significance of Christ's resurrection had been revealed to these poor mortals on and after the day of Pentecost. The Spirit fulfilled Christ's pledge: "He shall glorify me; for he shall receive of mine, and shall reveal it unto you" (John 16:14).

Being rooted and grounded in the faith of the resurrection, the disciples moved on through the years exhibiting a measure of steadfastness and unmovableness that has been the admiration of the centuries.

Then, you realize that you have a very definite place to fill at every worship service of the Church. Are you discharging the responsibility that you have as you should? The "little white church on the corner" is seeking to make the religion of Jesus Christ as indispensable as the air which we breathe, as vital as scientific fact, as devoted to Truth as the prophets of the Old Testament. Are you doing your share in the task? HARRELL REA, Pastor.

Christian Science Services "Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16.

The Golden Text is: "Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live; and so the Lord, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken" (Amos 5:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life" (1 John 5:20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness" (page 264).

Our Weekly Sermon

By Rev. William M. Runyan, Editor, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Unmovable Text: Be ye steadfast, unmovable.—1 Corinthians 15:58.

Much more than these words call out to us from the verse from which the text is taken. The apostle had uttered the most remarkable dissertation on immortality to be found in the Word of God. Paul was assured of immortality; he would assure others. Such assurance becomes the rock on which to build the unmovable. Paul lived his faith through storm and tempest, and to the last tragic hour. He kept the faith; the faith kept him.

The utterance of sustaining confidence abounds in the Scriptures, especially in the Psalms. Recently, a rapid reading of Psalms disclosed a reiteration—"I have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved" (Ps. 16:8); "The king (David) trusteth in the Lord, and through the mercy of the most High he shall not be moved" (21:17); "He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defense; I shall not be moved" (62:6). And as a closing note of assurance in the Psalms, we read "He shall not suffer thy foot to be moved" (121:3).

One cannot doubt but that in the heart of Old Testament Israel there was exaltation at the fact of the up-holding and sustaining power of the God of Israel. We do not find circumstances always favorable for ease and quietness with ancient Israel. But through the Old Testament pages there rings forth, like a noble anthem, the recurring psalm of praise for assured help and deliverance.

When the psalmist speaks his trust, it is always that God is at hand, available, concerned, able to deliver. Inspiring examples of faith as known and expressed in Old Testament times and by Old Testament saints are here. On what does David found his confidence that he "shall not be moved"? Broad and sufficient are his reasons: The Lord always before him, at his right hand; his trust in the Lord, the mercy of the most High; the undergirding of God the Rock of salvation; God as active defender of His saints; God's own purpose that his saints shall not be moved. Enough.

In passages of Old Testament Scriptures from earliest utterances to the silence following Malachi the note of exaltation and confidence sounds out with inspiring frequency. It is not restricted to the songs of the golden voiced psalmist.

We need not wonder that the New Testament saint, Paul, can Use and Observe These TRAFFIC SIGNALS for Your Safety!

Traffic signals were not invented for the playing of polite parlor games. True, it is good driving manners to use and observe these signals. But courtesy is merely incidental to the real purpose: YOUR OWN PERSONAL SAFETY.

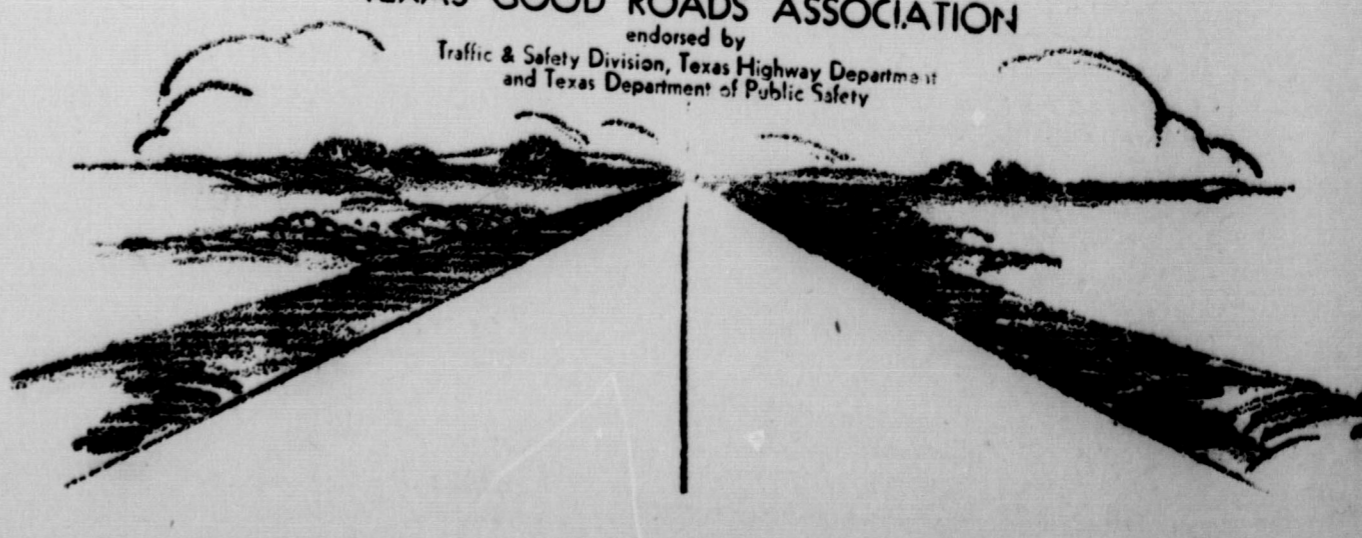

When you extend your arm straight to the left, even the half-wit (whom every driver fondly imagines is steering the car immediately behind him) can understand that your car is going to turn left. Raise your arm straight up, and he knows you are going to turn right. Lower your arm over the side of the car, and he is amply warned that you are going to stop.

Simple signals, these three; and so easy that their use can become as automatic as opening the mouth when you want to speak. So simple and so easy that it is hard to understand that for many they have meant the difference between life and death. Psychologically, perhaps, it is explained by the fact that many people who drive 1939 cars still follow 1910 driving methods . . . and are as hopelessly old-fashioned as if they wore bustles or yellow buttoned high shoes! Their intentions are good; they plan to do the right thing. But they don't practice it. And the tragic part is that they only have to forget just once! "Once is enough" is Death's own motto and should be graven on thousands of those hard gray skulls.

Let's be good sports and set the dilatory ones a good 1939 example . . . USE and OBSERVE these traffic signals not just occasionally, but ALL the time!

Making the Most of Pastures

Mower is conceded to be best pasture-growing implement and this applies sometimes to summer pastures (Sudangrass, etc.) as well as to permanent pastures where the mower is used down weed competition of the grass. Both on permanent and temporary pastures the mower cannot be dated on a calendar, but must depend on the conditions to be met. The growth of weeds has all been mowed before now, or been permitted to seed. Certain weeds, however, come later in the season and must be mowed about the time they begin blooming. Weeds and sprouts of various kinds and seedlings of certain weeds also yield to the mower's action. It is generally conceded that July and August are the best months in which to cut pastures, robbing the roots of the mowing foliage before the storing of food in the roots is completed for the season. This operation is done by the mower but not by hand and an old mower which is still useful for cutting pastures will still cut weeds and grass. Many farmers who have not cut are buying second-hand mowers to use on the weeds in the pastures. There are times, however, when the mower is also important in temporary pasture. Everyone knows that when Sudan or other pasture grasses begin to "stemmy"—it is when they start making seed, they are palatable to livestock and also nutritious. We have all seen a pasture where the grass has been eaten off and the stems left standing. The pasture gets ahead of animals which graze it—that is, they do not keep it grazed close—the mower comes in to cut back the seed and throw all the growth in new foliage instead of seed. Growth has a higher protein content than old growth, and is more palatable besides. It will pay to run the mower over the temporary Sudan grass pastures even though there is not enough hay to rake and cure, whenever stock do not keep the seed stalks down. After corn is laid by grass and weeds often spring up and grow luxuriantly. This late summer growth can be turned into cash by grazing the corn fields with sheep. Fencing off such temporary grazing has been greatly cheapened and simplified by the invention of the electric fence, which, with one or two wires properly installed and energized (by battery or power) keeps the animals within bounds quite effectively. The sheep may destroy a small amount of corn, but the gains from the grass and weeds will more than offset the loss in grain, and the corn ground will be in better condition than if the weeds and grass were permitted to grow unmolested, and seed the ground for next year. Temporary summer pastures will also furnish more and better grazing if they are divided and the divisions grazed in rotation. Here again the temporary fence, electric or otherwise, pays well for the trouble and the moderate expense of installing. Dollars are lost every year on many Southwestern farms through failure to take advantage of the grazing available, when it is available. There must be animals to graze and fence to confine them, but there is no form of wasted opportunity so common, and which offers so great a promise for extra farm income. The new agriculture which is growing out of the cotton crisis is a balanced agriculture, of which both crops and livestock are essential parts. We have too long thought of "agriculture" as crop farming, and "animal industry" as a thing apart. True agriculture includes both, for nature's own laws demand that plants and animals be kept together in that which each feeds the other and the residue returns to the soil—nothing lost. income taxes. According to Dr. James Sonnett Greene, director of the City's National Hospital for Speech Disorders of New York, stuttering and loss of speech in the majority of instances is caused by nervous tension. Extended research has brought out that many civilizations in the past have declined and finally disappeared as the fertility of the soil providing them food lost important of its nourishing minerals. The fact adds a new importance to the soil conservation program. A fertile cause of bad teeth is said to be the use of soft foods. In the more primitive state when man ate coarse and tough foods the teeth were as a rule better. This is especially noted among tribes of Seminole Indians in Florida. Those who inhabit the swamps in their natural state have nearly perfect teeth, but those who have taken on civilized ways and civilized food have a much higher percentage of defective teeth. A new hospital recently completed in New York for the treatment of cancer has 15,000 patients on its active treatment list.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin—State officials and employees, whose compensation is dependent upon the biennial appropriation bills, are in a state of jitters this week, as the deadline for signing the appropriation bills approached, and Gov. O'Daniel notified department heads that he intended to take some healthy slashes at the appropriations set up by the legislature to operate the state's departments and the state institutions. For the first time in years, the appropriation bills are itemized, each job and the salary being listed separately. This will permit the Governor to cut out any that he sees fit, by veto, but he cannot alter the amount fixed in the bills for any particular job. Thus, he may eliminate jobs entirely, but not cut their pay. Department heads reported, after being called into conference with the governor, that he apparently is seeking to reduce the total appropriations for departments and institutions by 10 per cent. He gave some department heads the option of making suggestions for eliminating jobs and employees, or of submitting to an arbitrary elimination decided by himself. Nobody knew what jobs and which employees would be abolished, and the working forces were in a demoralized state, with many expecting to "walk the plank" on September 1.

Who Wants Special Session?

Political observers here were surprised at the statement of Gov. O'Daniel on the radio that a special session is being sought by three groups, namely, race horse gamblers and liquor dealers, newspapers, and members of the Legislature. The real pressure for a special session is coming from the old folks who didn't get any money for pensions, and it hasn't gotten up a full head of steam yet. The real pressure from this group will come when enlarged pension rolls and decreasing revenue force a reduction from the present average of $13.85 per month pension payments to half that, or less. That will probably happen within the next 90 days, and that is when the squawk is going up from the old folks. The race horse gambling sentiment is at a low ebb in Texas. The gamblers' lobbyists found that out when they sought to enact a bill re-legalizing that form of "sport" at the regular session. They not only lost, but they barely avoided getting a constitutional amendment adopted by the house which would have forever prohibited race track betting if okayed by the people. Special Interests Happy Certainly, the governor, who never talks to newspapers or reporters, and presumably doesn't read them either, is mistaken about the newspapers seeking a special session. Editorial sentiment, as expressed in both papers throughout the State, both daily and weekly, so far has given no indication that the editors think the governor ought to call a special session. So far as the legislators are concerned, it is likely a good many house members would like to see a special session. And since 94 of the latter went down the line with the Governor, on his tax program, and were beaten, and now are "on a spot" with the old age pension seekers, it is reasonable to believe the Governor, if he has any sense of gratitude, will eventually listen to their pleas. The special interests, which fought so hard for S. J. R. No. 12, the sales tax constitutional amendment backed by the Governor, are certainly not seeking any special session. They had an ace in the hole all the time, figuring that if the Governor's program lost, they would escape any further taxes, and they still feel very happy at the outcome. They are now paying not one penny of taxes for social security purposes—it all comes from liquor and amusement taxes. The O'Daniel program calls for raising at least another $25,000,000 for pensions. The special interests know they will have to pay some of that, and they fought hard to make their share as little as possible. Certainly, having escaped entirely for another two years unless there is a special session, they aren't seeking any special session.

Austin Notes

Rep. Manor Westbrook, of Fairdale, who stood right by the microphone at every O'Daniel broadcast throughout the session, and was given a "plug" by O'Daniel so often that his name became part of the announcer's formula for the O'Daniel program, knows how we do it in business now. O'Daniel vetoed Westbrook's main legislative achievement of the long session—a local bill providing for a rural school supervisor for Sabine and San Augustine Counties. The governor explained the bill was against "sound business principles." Another bill by G. C. Morris, of Greenville, permitting cities to fund improvements by second lien obligations, was killed by the governor because it wasn't sound business, O'Daniel thought. . . Morris was floor leader of the successful fight to block O'Daniel's sales tax amendment. . . Earlier in the session, the Governor vetoed a local bill by Leighton Corbett, of Clarksville, another anti-sales tax leader. . . The fair trades act, found unfair and in violation of the anti-trust laws by Attorney General Gerald Mann, also fell under the veto axe, and the O'Daniel broadcast is not being tuned out by many a rural drugstore. . . A joint committee of House and Senate, named to supervise administration of the rural aid fund, which has been notoriously infested with politics for years, met and organized at Austin. . . The State Prison system cannot legally bid for the State's printing work, a contract that runs into thousands of dollars a year, Attorney General Gerald Mann held, since the prison system is not a "responsible bidder," under the law. The printing contract is a fat, fat plum which has built up fortunes in the past for several Austin firms which have enjoyed a monopoly on it for years. . . A conflict in the near future between old age and youth, is seen by Dr. Homer Rainey, new president of Texas University. Dr. Rainey, in an open forum talk, pointed out that in 1850, there were 890 adults to every 1,000 youths; today there are 2,200 adults to every 1,000 youths. "In 1930," he said, "we had 6,500,000 people in the U. S. over 65. In 1960, we shall have 23,000,000. The situation already is acute in Texas. We are at the beginning of the old age problem. It will be increasing insistently for the next 20 years."

Hall County Will Celebrate Its 49th Birthday July 28-29

Memphis, Texas. (Special).—One of the best amateur rodeos in West Texas will be staged at Cyclone Stadium here July 27-28 when Hall County celebrates its 49th birthday with an annual Old Settlers and Cowboy Reunion. Red Lyons of Byars has contracted to bring 110 head of top notch rodeo stock to Memphis for the two-day show. Lyons' stock is used each year in the noted Stamford Rodeo, and was headline attraction last year at Madison Square Garden in New York City. Jess Slaughter, sheriff of Howard County and a prominent Texas rodeo official from Big Spring, will head the list of judges. With him in the judges box will be Frank Rhode of Throckmorton and Mills Miller of Snyder. Bob Corley, riding for Brown Saddle Company of Amarillo, and John Selmon, foreman of the famous Swenson Ranch at Snyder, will be arena directors. The Memphis rodeo, like most top-notch Texas shows, will be limited to amateur entries only. All professionals are barred. Three fine saddles, costing $125 each, are being made by the Brown Saddle Company to be awarded to the top cowhands and riders in the local show. One will be awarded the winning out-of-town girl in the sponsor's contest, another goes to the best all-around cow puncher in the rodeo, and the third will be won by the contestant making the best average time for the four rodeo performances in calf-roping contests. A number of other fine prizes are being posted for the various winners. Two shows a day will be given, with a matinee and night performance on each day of the Reunion. A wide variety of entertainment is planned for old settlers and visitors as Memphis and Hall County complete plans for their greatest Old Settlers Reunion. A huge "Parade of Progress" will feature the opening day's activities, and a dance is planned for the night of the 27th. A number of outstanding speakers have been invited to attend the Reunion. The entire city of Memphis has been turning out in cowboy and pioneer regalia in preparation for the big two-day event, and will be prepared to extend a hearty welcome to all visitors.

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

Residents of Wauwatosa, Wis., kept by large flocks of starlings put out on the lawns grain and feed in alcohol. The starlings greedily ate and then proceeded to lay over in a stupor, in which they were easily captured. Broadening the income tax base means exemptions will be lowered and smaller incomes subjected to Extended research has brought out that many civilizations in the past have declined and finally disappeared as the fertility of the soil providing them food lost important of its nourishing minerals. The fact adds a new importance to the soil conservation program. A fertile cause of bad teeth is said to be the use of soft foods. In the more primitive state when man ate coarse and tough foods the teeth were as a rule better. This is especially noted among tribes of Seminole Indians in Florida. Those who inhabit the swamps in their natural state have nearly perfect teeth, but those who have taken on civilized ways and civilized food have a much higher percentage of defective teeth. A new hospital recently completed in New York for the treatment of cancer has 15,000 patients on its active treatment list.

VIVIAN H. D. CLUB

Gordon Teel, minister of the Church of Christ of Paducah, and who was assistant director of the "Cavalcade of Texas" at the Texas Centennial in Dallas, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Vivian Home Demonstration Club which met with Mrs. Arthur Sandlin, Thursday afternoon, July 6.

In his talk on the Cavalcade, Rev. Teel gave some very interesting accounts of the experiences of the east backstage, the dangers that confronted them in dealing with the horses, cattle, and guns, and the dangers involved in portraying the fall of the Alamo. There were from three hundred to four hundred characters from practically every profession of life. Twelve Texas rangers were used because they were able to make the dangerous rides with least danger to themselves.

Many of the characters played the role of more than one person which meant quick changes. For instance, he, at one part of the show left the stage as a young Mexican, had to change costume and appear from the other end of the three hundred-foot stage as an old man in one and a half minutes.

He also related some of the things that happened to avoid monotony as the same show grew tiresome to the cast. As an example, one of the players sprinkled itch powder over the room where they signed the Declaration of Independence, which in turn caused that part of the cast a great deal of misery.

The club invited Rev. Teel to make a talk instead of having a book review as was listed on the program.

Lemonade and wafers were served to the members; one new member, Miss Myrtle Davidson, and eight visitors as follows: Mesdames J. W. Carroll and Ely Jones, Misses Maurice Benham of Bowie, Mildred Fish, Dolores Gilbert, Ina May and Winnie Fay Young, and the guest speaker, Gordon Teel.

"First Aid for the Kitchen" will be the subject of our next meeting, Thursday, July 27, at 2:30 with Miss Neoma Fish.

The members of the Reformed Cistercian order of the Roman Catholic Church, better known as Trappists, live an entirely secluded life, devoting their time to religious worship, contemplation and prayer, with hard physical work as their recreation. There are three monasteries: La Trappe, at Gethsemane, Ky.; Our Lady of the Valley, Cumberland, R. I.; and New Malleray, near Dubuque, Iowa.

Air Cadets Begin U. S. Army Training

Car Taxes

The average motor vehicle operator in the United States last year paid special automobile taxes aggregating $49.06, or 23 1/2 per cent on the value of his $200 car, figures compiled by the American Petroleum Industries committee from official sources show. The second game of the schedule was played Tuesday night with the Chevrolet crew having little trouble of disposing of the Riverettes, 14-10, after overcoming a lead about the middle of the tussle.

The big guns of the Rayland club blasted the Phillips lads right off the field here Wednesday by the most lop-sided score recorded this year, 21 to 5, after tallying four runs in the first inning and continuing to push additional scores across the plate consistently throughout the game.

At present, the undefeated teams, Corner Drug, Chevrolet and Rayland, stand in a tie for the top rung of the ladder, and the positions may receive a lot of changing by the time the second week of play closes.

All-Star Game

An all-star game between a team picked from the clubs of the county opposing an out-of-town crew will be played Friday night. Local managers were attempting to match a game with either a Vernon or Childress team Wednesday.

Next Week's Games

The first league game of next week will be played at Rayland between that club and the Corner Drug. On Monday night, the Chevrolet boys will lock horns with the Phillips lads and then sit back on Tuesday night to watch the scrap between Rayland and Riverette. Chevrolet returns to the field Wednesday night to play the Speer's team.

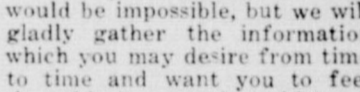

NEW PROCESS PRODUCES COAL FROM SUGAR CANE

New York.—In an emergency, American farmers may grow the country's soft coal in their fields. The fact that fairly good soft coal is now being made from sugarcane, the carbohydrates of farm crops, was reported to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers by E. The sugar coal is too expensive to be practical, but was made to settle an old controversy about the origin of coal and oil. In the Carnegie laboratories, whose experts include some of the

England Keeping Fit

England has a keep-fit movement that is growing rapidly and may become a challenge to health and youth parades in other countries of Europe. The county of London alone has more than 100 health centers, 500 evening health classes held weekly. In these classes 600 young men exercise during business hours.
