LATE PAYERS OF WATER BILLS FACE PENALTY

Local Officials Urge Water Users to Pay Bills Promptly

A penalty will be assessed those who wait until after the tenth of the month to pay their water bills, and water service will be discontinued to those who have not paid by the fifteenth of the month, according to an order passed by the City Council at a meeting Tuesday night.

Twenty-five cents will be added to bills paid after the tenth of the month, and those who have their water discontinued will have to pay a fee of fifty cents to have the water reconnected again.

City Secretary J. T. Billington stated that a large number of customers have gotten into the habit of waiting until the fifteenth of the month to pay their bills. Since the old charge of $2.00 for re-connecting the service after non-payment of bills was discontinued, the number failing to pay bills by the fifteenth has steadily grown until the number has reached well over one hundred. It requires two days, and at times parts of three days to collect these bills, and in the past the water superintendent, G. L. Cole, has served as collector, and he is needed on other jobs during this time when it is not his duty to collect the bills.

The City Council urges all of the customers of the City Water Works to co-operate and pay their bills promptly in the future.

Boman Building 24-Room Apartment House in Vernon

S. J. Boman, owner and manager of Boman & Co. of Margart, who has operated a general merchandise store and lumber yard in that place for many years, decided several weeks ago to discontinue the lumber business and is converting the stock and sheds into a modern apartment house at the corner of Wichita and Fannin Streets in Vernon. It will be a stucco building and will contain eight 3-room apartments with a bath for each apartment. Floors throughout the building will be hardwood.

The building is in a desirable location near the downtown section of Vernon and when completed the estimated cost is around $15,000.00. Construction of the roof is now underway, however, much work remains to be done and Mr. Boman states that it will probably be Sept. 1 before the apartments are ready for occupancy.

CAMP FIRE COUNCIL

A Girl Scout Camp Fire Council and Court of Honor will be held by the Girl Scouts of Crowell on the vacant lots two blocks east of the grammar school building Thursday night (tonight) at 8 o'clock.

The public is invited and urged to attend these ceremonies of the Girl Scouts.

ONE INCH RAIN RECEIVED HERE EARLY TUESDAY

Rain Reported General Over County; Young Crops Benefited

The most severe heat wave suffered this summer by sweltering citizens of Foard County was temporarily broken when rain fell over the county early Tuesday morning. One inch of rain was registered at the Crowell State Bank, however, the rain was lighter to the south and east of Crowell. Reports on the rainfall ranged from one-tenth of an inch to one inch.

The relief from the heat lasted for only a few hours as Wednesday afternoon was sultry, and the thermometers again rose toward the 100 degree mark.

Feed and other row crops and cotton were greatly benefited from the moisture, as the tender plants were beginning to show damage from the hot, driving winds of the past several days. Farmers were heard to comment that if crops had gone many more days without rain, the feed would have been ruined and the cotton yield damaged.

Crowell FFA Boys Leave On 1100 Mile Educational Tour

Ten members of the Crowell F. F. A. Chapter and the adviser, Marvin L. Myers, left Crowell early Wednesday morning on a 1,100-mile educational tour. They will visit the state FFA convention at Temple on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. From there they will route their trip through Austin, San Antonio, Del Rio, San Angelo, Abilene, and will arrive in Crowell in about one week. The trip will be made in a truck driven by Melton Connell.

The highlights of the trip will be a visit to the state convention at Temple, a visit to the state capital, the Alamo, Brackenridge Park in San Antonio, and a side trip into Old Mexico from Del Rio. The boys refer to the trip as a vacation, but while gone they will study the different types of farming and ranching in the various sections of Texas.

The expense of the trip will be shared by the boys, with each contributing to the traveling expense and each bringing a part of the food supplies from home. All will be equipped for camping, and the group will camp at nights during the entire trip.

Mr. Myers will attend a state teachers' meeting and two boys will represent Crowell at the convention. He will also serve on the Area One newswriting committee, which meets there Thursday and Friday, and will deliver a short talk on the writing of FFA news to the vocational agricultural teachers of this area.

The boys who have gone on the tour are Carl Connell, Blaine Barker, Joe Farrar, Clyde Teal, Kenneth Halbert, Bill Ownbey, Curtis Nelson, Basil Nelson, Ralph Fisher and Wayne Cobb.

School Transfers Must Be Made Before August 1

Transfer of school children from one district to another must be completed by Aug. 1, it was announced this week by Judge Claude Callaway, ex-officio county school superintendent of Foard County.

When a child has completed the highest grade that a school is classified to teach, it must be transferred to a school of higher classification to receive the state appropriation it is entitled to when it enters another school. The transfer must be made at the county school superintendent's office.

The information in detail appears on page 7 of this issue as given by Judge Callaway. Any parents in doubt as to the transfer of their children should investigate the matter thoroughly before the deadline on the last day of July.

Coast Guardsman Killed in Atlantic, Mrs. Crews' Nephew

Lieut. William L. Clemmer, 33, one of two coast guardsmen of New York and a man they were flying ashore from the Ketch Atlantis for hospitalization for appendicitis, who was killed last week when their plane crashed in the Atlantic approximately 150 miles southeast of New York, was a nephew of Mrs. Sam Crews of Crowell. Lieut. Clemmer was commander of the plane. He was born in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crews in Jackson County, Texas, she stated.

Lieutenant Clemmer met death in a line of service for which he had great enthusiasm. Since boyhood he had hoped to be in the military forces of his country and strove at one time for appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., according to an A. P. dispatch in the Monroe Evening Times of Monroe, Wis., former home of Lieut. Clemmer.

The driver of the wrecked automobile told Sheriff Lilly that the right wheels of the vehicle slipped from the pavement when it struck a puddle of water on the highway and that he could not pull the car back onto the pavement because of water-soaked shoulders. TIME TO BAIT OUR HOOK!

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

I am in favor of the abolition of the property tax. I would remove the tax from homes and money and other property and from land occupied by the owner.

Another benefit accruing from the removal of the property tax is that more homes would be built, more building material sold, more employment given builders.

Another reason, much money, now idle, would be put in homes to rent. The building of them would create better living and housing conditions, cheaper rents, larger sales of building materials, more employment and better towns.

Another argument against the property tax is that scientific assessment is not possible. There is not one assessor in a thousand competent to assess a piece of property at its true value.

I believe the cost of government should be borne more by the spender and the voter instead of by the thrifty. I also believe that the tax base should be broadened until it includes everyone who earns and spends money.

The property tax is obsolete, archaic and unjust. It was never designed for the present social and economic order and it is a mistake to continue to apply it.

We are all for competition until it stops at our door.

Why do Americans drive to the right instead of to the left, as Englishmen and Frenchmen do, and as even Canadians did until the left hand steering wheel on American cars reformed them?

These same drivers who so arbitrarily decreed that future generations of American citizens should drive to the right also fathered another familiar American institution. They wanted a long smoke, and a cheap one. Ingenious Pittsburgh tobaccoists were quick to oblige.

Greatest Livestock Show to Be Held at Dallas State Fair

Dallas, Texas, July 18.—Plans are being made to have one of the largest livestock shows ever held in the entire South at the 1939 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7 to 22, it has been announced here by Frank P. Holland, director in charge of livestock.

Premiums have been increased in practically every classification of livestock. Beef cattle alone has been increased to more than $20,000, and one of the features of the livestock show will be the Hereford classification for which $10,000 in awards will be made. Due to the increased herds of dairy cattle in Texas premiums for this classification has been increased to $7,500, as have the awards offered in the various swine classifications.

Texas has rapidly forged ahead during the past few years as the outstanding beef cattle state in the entire union, and are selling many animals of registered stock to farmers of the South and the hauling hay to the preacher's cow and the neighbor asked for barn rent. When that came about the preacher discovered that to buy everything made his expenses run so high that it didn't pay even to keep a cow to furnish milk for his own family.

"There was a perfect little Tennessee Valley Authority setup. With the Federal Government furnishing everything, even to writing off a loss of $1,000,000 in a single year, no private company can compete with it any more than the regular milkman could compete with the preacher."—Industrial News Review.

Southeast for breeding purposes. State Fair officials plan to invite many officials and visitors from Southwestern states to visit the Hereford and other livestock shows at the Texas Fair. The governmental cotton program of the past few years has necessitated the change of cotton acres to feed stuffs and farmers in former cotton belts are turning to live stock to dispose of these crops.

LIKE PREACHER'S COW

There's nothing new about the principle of the TVA—as the following editorial, from the New Richmond, Wisconsin, Observer tellingly proves:

"It may be surprising to some to realize that at least the principle of the TVA was demonstrated in Richland Center, Wis., years ago.

"There was a local preacher who had quite a family while he drew somewhat of a small salary. He conceived the idea that if he possessed a milk cow one of the heavy expenses of family maintenance might be reduced.

"He discussed the proposition with some of his parishioners. One said he would give him a cow; another volunteered to furnish hay, another, straw for bedding. A neighbor gave the minister the use of a barn in which to keep the cow and store the feed.

"Finding that the cow gave more milk than the family required, the minister sold the surplus. Inasmuch as he had not a dollar invested in the cow, that the feed, bedding and barn were furnished free, he readily saw that there was a big profit derived from the milk sold. He was soon able to lay up enough milk money to enable him to buy another cow.

"Forgetting to tell the members of the church that he had the second cow, he was able to get other friends to furnish additional hay, straw and feed the second cow needed him to keep the other cow there.

"The preacher committed the error of arriving at the conclusion that the milkmen of the town were robbers. When he saw them charging the prices they were getting he offered to sell milk at a slightly reduced price. He even preached a sermon on the crime of profiteering.

"One of the milkmen was a member of that church. When he saw them taking his sermon to heart and learned that his preacher was canvassing his customers to take milk from him and was telling his brethren how their milkman was robbing them, he got angry.

"He sat down and figured out that he couldn't afford to buy cows, build barns, furnish hay and make delivery at the same price as could a competitor who didn't have a cent invested, got his feed and barn room for nothing and had customers come after 'their milk."

"The milkman went to the mat on the proposition. It didn't take him long to convince other members of the congregation that the practice wasn't fair, especially when he backed his argument by letting them know that if it continued he would cease making his large yearly contribution to the church. Brother churchmen quit

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

Piano manufacturers report that the sales on pianos have shown a marked increase in the past three years. Shortly after the coming of the radio, piano sales dropped to a fraction of their normal volume. The pendulum is said to be definitely swinging the other way.

Young women are coming to find that there is no culture or training in music or accomplishment to be found in merely twisting a radio dial.

According to a survey recently completed by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., the average family with an $1,800 annual income pays traceable indirect taxes of $242.64 annually. It was also brought out by a recent poll of the American Institute of Public Opinion that less than one-fourth of the population of voting age is aware of the existence of these hidden taxes.

Classified by income groups the poll showed the percentage of those who did not feel that they paid taxes of any kind was: $10 a week, 7 per cent; $20 to $40 a week, 19 per cent; under $20 a week, 40 per cent.

A new type of preparation for war is involved in a recent barter arrangement with England whereby this country agrees to exchange 600,000 bales of cotton valued at $30,000,000 for an equivalent value of rubber, about 8,500 tons. Both commodities are to be stored in their respective countries for seven years subject to delivery in the event of war. Similar exchanges of different products are being worked out with other nations. In this way a commodity reserve is created. The cotton represents one-half of Great Britain's annual cotton consumption and the rubber about one-fifth this country's annual rubber consumption.

There has been developed by the engineers of the Corning Glass Works of Corning, N. Y., what is called a pre-shrunk glass. The individual quality of the glass is that it will not crack with sudden changes of temperature. In an experiment to demonstrate its ability to withstand sudden changes of temperature a disc of the glass was placed upon a cake of ice and molten iron, at a temperature of 2,600 degrees, poured upon it without injury.

Dislocated Saints

Text: Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.—Galatians 6:1.

Here we have the case of a saint with sin in his life. A saint is a believer in the Lord Jesus, one who has received Him as his personal Saviour, and is trusting His precious blood for salvation. No Christian wants to sin. A truly born-again person has a nature that hates sin. If sin comes into his life, it is through lack of watchfulness, or lack of proper instruction in the Word.

God exhorts the spiritual saint, the person living close to the Lord Jesus, to restore such a saint. The word "restore" is translated from a Greek word which in the first century was used to refer to the act of putting a dislocated arm back in its socket. In Ephesians we have the truth concerning the Body of Christ. Christ is the Head of the Body, and all Christians are the members of that Body.

Attempt to Socialize Industry Criticized By Menard Publisher

Menard — A warning against "power socialists" and an alleged attempt to socialize industry was sounded here by N. H. Pierce, publisher of the Menard News and chairman of the Texas Press Association's legislative committee, with publication of an editorial criticizing the federal-state power program.

"Very recently rumors have been heard of a new political war against the utilities," the editorial reads. "And what that amounts to is a war against the taxpayers who pay the bills; against the armies of workers with good jobs in the tens of thousands of people of small means who own utility securities, bought out of savings; against a tremendous number of businesses, little and big, from which utilities buy, and which share directly or indirectly in utility spending. It's a war primarily against the 'little fellow'."

The politically-manipulated power program, Pierce charged, is designed to "blanket the country with tax-subsidized, politically-managed power plants and transmission systems in the next five years."

He named Texas among several states which, he said, are being "blessed" with socialized power, at the expense of private savings, private investment, private opportunity, and private employment.

"In every case," he continued, "the areas have been long and adequately served, at reasonable cost, by heavily-taxed state regulated systems. In every case where possible deficiencies of power existed, the private companies were prepared to expand to make up for them—given assurance that they would be allowed to stay in business. In every case, all the taxpayers of the country have been taxed to pay for the unnecessary government projects—and the total bill of the projects planned runs past the $2,000,000,000 point. Furthermore, the 'power socialists' aren't satisfied. They frankly want to destroy or absorb the entire private industry. . . .

"Such a program is insidious. It grows without our knowing it. And it leads us inexorably toward that totalitarianism the very politicians who are today promoting socialism in this country, profess to detest. The people of this country have long been asleep—and the future of democracy will be dark indeed if they don't awaken soon."

President Lazaro Cardenas, speaking recently in Juana, Baja Calif., announced approval of a 2,000,000 peso bond for construction of a 131 mile way from Mexical, on the States-Mexico border, to San a Gulf of California fishing. An irrigation system in the valley will cost an additional 600,000 pesos.

The supervisor reported more than fifty per cent of illies delinquent in repayment. FSA have unsolved health problems. One farmer, for instance, developed a reputation of "shiftless" and "no-account." While his neighbors worked the fields, this man lay on the porch. Occasionally, he plowed a few acres but would "feel poorly" at the exertion. He was nearly driven from the FSA program.

Investigation revealed, however, that the man was suffering from a hernia. With a small operation, he obtained a service and is now working successfully.

In one hundred local families there were 1,377 ailments, including 132 cases of suspected tuberculosis; 208 cases of pellagra; 360 individuals with defective teeth and 124 defective vision.

"Medical service alone correct such things as rickets, pellagra," the supervisor said. "These disabilities result in long lack of an adequate FSA. The FSA has attacked this with a supervised home production of food. This country in the past has ten endured their illness matter beyond help," the visitor said. "They allowed disabilities to become so great to handicap them in making ing. Knowing they could not they hesitated to approach a doctor. In many other instances doctors of this county have their service without hope of recompense."

FSA Adopts Plan to Extend Medical Service to Clients

The medical service plan of the Farm Security Administration was extended this month to cover approximately 4,000 Texas and 2,000 Oklahoma farm people in addition to the more than 18,000 already so protected.

FSA's county supervisor, Julian Wright of Vernon, said there is no basis whatever for the impression some people have that this plan is "socialized medicine." He said there is, actually, nothing new except that an FSA loan assures medical attention when needed and guarantees the doctor at least some pay. The patient

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

They Forget God: In appraising Solomon as the wisest man who ever lived, historians take the sum total of his life with his accomplishments and his short comings, put them all together and upon the whole, base their findings. One of the many lessons to be found in the long life of Solomon that might be applied to the present day is the fact that as a young king eighteen years old he started out with high ideals. Challenged by the size of the task before him, he sought the Lord in commendable humility and made of him a request, remarkable for a young man, that he be given an understanding heart to judge the people and to discern between the good and the bad. It is told that the unselfish wish of the young man pleased the Lord and it was granted. As a young man he held to his high ideals and under him the kingdom grew and reached the height of its power and glory and wealth. But prosperity proved too much. Solomon forgot the idealism of his youth, and selfishness and wrong crept into his reign until toward its end dissatisfaction and disorder appeared which resulted in the division of the kingdom and a long struggle for his people. How typical of many today. They start out filled with unselfish ideals, but as riches and power increase, selfishness increases, they lose their sense of values, and life, instead of being an ascending climax of greatness, becomes a grief and a disappointment because they forget God.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin.—The action of Gov. O'Daniel in slashing $5,000,000 in round numbers, from the biennial appropriation bills was the center of interest in Austin this week-end. The consensus of opinion here was that the governor's action would be approved by the people, and would make a good talking point in his re-election campaign next year. Observers here or at least those without personal bias—were of the opinion that the budget cuts were probably a wholesome thing. There is a tendency on the part of the State department heads to build up the personnel and the expense of their bureaus, and a pruning of deadwood periodically is undoubtedly a good thing. The influence of the New Deal and its free-spending policy has spread to Austin, and there has been a constant rise in activity and expenditure by most State departments. O'Daniel's action, therefore, required political courage, because it undoubtedly antagonized a great many state employees who vote, but most observers here believed the Governor would benefit politically in the long run from his action.

Little Real Saving

That cuts were not made in the most intelligent manner, however, was obvious. O'Daniel waved the blue pencil without much regard to the relative necessity of the public service rendered by the respective departments, or the public convenience resulting from such service. Heavy cuts given the Highway Department and the Department of Public Safety were believed by many students of State government to have been unjustified, since both departments have been operated with a fair degree of economy and efficiency. Some of the other cuts, while lighter, were applied to departments rendering superfluous or "luxury" services, and will not impair the public service to any great extent. Some of the cuts obviously were made with typical O'Daniel lack of knowledge. He left the State Ranger force intact, for instance, but vetoed an item of less than $1,000 for ammunition. If the Rangers do any shooting during the next two years, they will have to buy their bullets out of their rather meager salaries. The Governor left the mule barn appropriation for the new hospital at Big Spring, but cut other buildings much more necessary to the operation of the hospital plant. The colleges, including the University of Texas and the teachers' colleges, suffered rather drastic elimination of items to maintain their plants. That is not good economy, because deterioration of physical properties merely piles up and has to be cared for later, at greater expense, when necessary maintenance work is not done. Actually, some of O'Daniel's largest vetoed items, represented more apparent cuts than real ones. The veto of $500,000 from the Highway Department's funds is an example. It will not result in a penny of savings, or elimination of a single job, since Julian Montgomery, highway engineer, pointed out the appropriation bill carried a clause authorizing the department to hire, out of funds allocated to the highway department by law, all employees necessary to build and maintain a system of highways. Having made rather severe reductions in personnel and expense during the past year, the Highway Commission feels all of the vetoed jobs are necessary, and will retain this personnel.

Mann in Spotlight

Attorney General Jerry Mann added lustre to his already brilliant achievement of running the Attorney General's office as a law office, instead of a political machine, with two more splendid opinions. He ruled that a law passed by the recent session, and signed without question by the Governor, authorizing Commissioners' Courts and other taxing governmental bodies to re-open and reduce valuations on property upon which such taxes are delinquent, was unconstitutional. It was another of those "pressure" laws resulting from activity of Federal agencies. The Home Owners Loan Corporation, holding mortgages on thousands of Texas homes on which taxes were delinquent, offered to settle these huge tax bills if the penalty and interest charges were waived. This was illegal, so the bill, permitting the boards of equalization to do the same thing in a roundabout way, was enacted. Mann declared it clearly violates the constitution, and the deal is off.

The Doughty Attorney General's office also handed out a "letter" opinion, that is an opinion by one member, advising the governor he couldn't name a member of the Legislature to a district judgeship. It is supposed the inquiry was made in behalf of Rep. Harold Hankamer, of El Paso. Jimmy Allred named Sarah Hughes to a district judgeship at Dallas, and Harry Graves of Georgetown to the Court of Criminal Appeals, while each was a House member. Legal authorities have contended such appointments are unconstitutional.

Texas setup so far as July and August Federal matching is concerned, heartened the liberal pension folks, but the whole pension situation was largely up in the air at the week-end, pending final action by Congress upon amendment to the Federal Social Security bill. Tom Connally, junior Texas Senator, got the Senate to adopt an amendment requiring the board to put up two-thirds of the first $15 granted each pensioner, with the State putting up the other one-third. That will help the Texas situation, if it is included in the finally enacted law.

SCHOOL TRANSFER DEADLINE JULY 31

Owing to the fact that there has been several changes in our State Rural Aid Law, I am giving detailed information on transfers.

Remember, if your child has finished the highest grade that your school is classified by the county board to teach, the parent must come to the County Superintendent's office and transfer the child. Therefore, I am giving the classification of each school in the county, as classified by the county board.

- Four Corners, District No. 1, Classified for 7 grades
Thalia District No. 3, Classified for a four-year High School
Gambleville District No. 4, Classified for 7 grades
Margaret, District No. 6, Classified for 7 grades
Black, District No. 8, Classified for 7 grades
Vivian, District No. 9, Classified for 7 grades
Riverside, District No. 12, Classified for 9 grades
Foard City, District No. 13, Classified for 7 grades
Claytonville, District No. 14, Classified for 7 grades
Good Creek, District No. 18, Classified for 6 grades

CONTRACTED SCHOOLS

Even though your school will be contracted to come to Crowell, it is still necessary for you to make the transfer; that is, on all your children above the classified grade, or the state will not pay the high school tuition, and the receiving school would charge you with the high school tuition, where you do not make the transfer.

If you are in one of the four contracted schools, same being Black, Vivian, Foard City, and Claytonville, you will not transfer any of your children that are still in the grade that the school is classified to teach, for those children will be contracted by your board of trustees. If there should be anything that you do not fully understand about the transfer, I want each and every one to feel free to come to the office to discuss your particular problem with either me or Miss Russell.

"There were thirty-seven in our party, thirty-three women and four men. By going with a party or group, one has advantages, and gets to see things that they could not by going alone.

"An interesting feature of the fair is that the island where the grounds are was pumped up from the bottom of the ocean and was under water until it was made for the fair," Mrs. Kincaid continued.

"We were on the boat four days and five nights, making quite a nice boat trip. I wondered what

The people of the Islands did for a living and was told the pineapple industry furnished a large source of income. The sugar industry supplied another large part. They make raw sugar from the sugar cane and send it to the United States and Australia to be refined.

"There were four things that were strictly Hawaiian; the leis, the hula dance, the luau (a feast) and when our ship pulled out they tied bright colored paper strings from the ship to the Islands, thereby tying the boat to the Islands.

"The warm tropical climate is conducive to growth and flowers and vegetation grow everywhere. The eastern half of the Islands is wet and the western half is dry.

"Another interesting feature is their wood. They make many beautiful things from wood and this furnishes employment for many.

"The things that impressed me most were the flowers. We visited fifteen gardens and the flowers were the brightest and most beautiful I have ever seen.

LIBRARY NOTES

Agatha Christie, one of our best mystery story writers, has recently written another, "And Then There Were None," which is available at the library now. This exciting and thrilling mystery will keep you guessing to the end.

Eight people, each with a past they wanted to forget, were invited to spend a few days on a small island off the English coast. In each guest's room hung a copy of the nursery rhyme, "The Ten Little Injuns." When the host and hostess failed to greet them upon arriving, and still did not appear at dinner, they became alarmed. After dinner a voice began speaking calling each guest by name and telling what crime each one was accused of. That night two people died. When the boat failed to arrive the next day, they knew they were marooned on the island with a killer.

Public health authorities are handicapped in their fight against the spread of rabies because rabies in humans occurs only frequently. However, it must be remembered that rabies is 100 per cent fatal once the disease has developed. Treatment is only preventive and must be taken in time.

Do not kill the dog that is behaving strangely or immediately after it has bitten some one. The animal should be captured and kept under observation for ten days to determine whether it has rabies or not. The confinement should be amply secure, for a dog in the frenzy of furious rabies requires a much stronger collar and chain or enclosure than a non-rabid dog.

When the rabies virus is put into the body by a biting dog the virus travels slowly from the wound along the nerves until it reaches the brain and spinal cord. Thus if the bite is on the face the virus does not have far to travel to reach the brain. Consequently bites on the face are the most dangerous and immunization must be started at once.

It is possible to control rabies, but, owing to the large territory included in Texas, it will take extra efforts on the part of public health workers and the co-operation of the people of each town and county to carry on an educational program for this control.

The annual barbecue and picnic of the Spring Lake Country Club was held at the club lake Wednesday evening beginning at 6:30 o'clock. An estimated crowd of 500 people was present which included members and their families, local guests and many out-of-town visitors.

The Crowell Rotary Club postponed its noon-day meeting till evening and rendered a short program for the occasion. President Merl Kincaid gave a short talk welcoming the visitors and introduced George Sell, who was in charge of the program. Several songs were rendered by a male quartet composed of John Risor, Ebb Seales, J. P. Davidson and Ernest King with Mrs. Arnold Rucker as accompanist. The program was concluded with a talk by I. T. Graves.

The barbecue was prepared by L. G. Andrews, Homer Johnson, Floyd Borchardt, Gordon Bell and Pete Bell, with T. S. Hancey, president of the country club as general chairman of arrangements. Cakes and pies were furnished by the members of the club.

An orchestra of Vernon, the Dixie Land Singsters, furnished music for dancing on an improvised platform.
