Phillips 66

Greatest enemy of economy in winter driving is the choke. When it is used for starting, or while the motor is warming up, your gas tank is being drained 5 to 15 times faster than normal!

The only way to stop this waste of your money, is to use, not higher priced, but HIGHER TEST GASOLINE. This is why. With heavy crude oil in a perfume atomizer, no matter how hard you squeezed the bulb, you probably could not produce a spray.

But Phillips 66 Poly Gas would turn into a fine vapor at the first light pressure on the rubber bulb . . . because this amazing gasoline is higher test . . . more volatile . . . readier to vaporize quickly and evenly for faster starting and smoother acceleration.

In any weather, it needs the least possible choke, a fact definitely proved by continuous laboratory surveys.

So don't wait. Start getting faster starting tomorrow morning, by getting Phillips 66 Poly Gas this afternoon. You pay nothing extra for its extra high test . . . at any Orange and Black 66 Shield . . . because Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline.

NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL

As champion of the sorely beset American cotton industry, the National Cotton Council has set for itself a comprehensive program and certain laudable objectives which deserve the support of every grower, processor, transporter and merchant who handles the South's principal agricultural product.

A local business man prophesies that if the government keeps on telling business how to handle its own affairs the time may come when business too will be forty billions dollars in the red.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

The country is going crazy in the matter of old age pensions. The flair has reached the point where it has been truly said this country must either master old age pensions or be mastered by them.

First: The general hesitancy to speak against the rising tide for this sort of thing. Opposition is at once charged with being unjust, hard, unsympathetic, selfish and pernicious to the needy old.

Second: The readiness with which politicians, for the sake of votes, espouse every cause that comes along no matter how impracticable or uneconomic it may be.

Third: The extent to which people will allow themselves to be led in this direction. The more ridiculous and the more extravagant the scheme the more followers it will have.

In my opinion some sort of pension is necessary and desirable under our present scheme of living, but I believe that the necessity of such a plan should not overshadow all sense of reason.

In every community there are old people who have given their lives to the community. They have labored early and late to build a home and rear and educate and clothe and feed a family of boys and girls, to support community institutions, and pay their just share of taxes, who are entitled to a fair pension.

Strangely enough, in most instances, it is not these worthy people who are clamoring the loudest for extravagant pensions. The most active are to be found among those who have never made much of an effort and who have never been self supporting.

I believe the pension plan outlined by the government should be adhered to strictly until it has had a fair trial. I believe that more and more the effort to create old age pensions should be made along the line that enables the individual to lay by during his productive life, the fund from which his old age pension is to be paid.

Two incidents of the war about which England should not be very proud are the escape of the Bremen, the German luxury liner, and the entrance by German submarines into the highly protected Scapa Flow incident which cost a couple of ships and several hundred lives.

Texas Is Richer in Number, Variety and Species of Birds

The interest shown in the annual fall subscription campaign has been pleasing and we greatly appreciate at this time, as well as in years past, the co-operation so cordially given this paper by its long list of readers.

The above are the opening and closing sentences of "Brief Studies in Texas Bird Life," by a member of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission's staff, a splendidly compiled booklet, with illustrations depicting different kinds of birds, issued by the Game Commission.

Texas, it is claimed, is richer than any other state in the number of birds and the variety and species found here. Approximately 700 species and sub-species have been listed.

Throckmorton—

ers were among the list who were suffering greater bruises when the game closed.

Two of the Crowell linemen came near being classed as stars of the game, only to have their efforts erased by fumbles. Jack Fitzgerald, all-district center, playing in the Crowell secondary defense intercepted a pass from Loyd on the Wildcat 20-yard stripe and sped up the sideline, but when he cut back from a tackler on the mid-stripe a lunging Greyhound managed to strike the ball and knock it from Fitzgerald's hands.

After the removal of Olds and Brown and the ensuing change-up in the backfield, the Crowell offense naturally failed to roll along, it did work enough to keep the Greyhounds worried as Meason and Ownbey are dangerous men in a broken field, but the Wildcat defense was not weakened greatly and the Throckmorton lads were held at bay throughout the game, never once offering a serious threat and never being able to penetrate the Crowell 20-yard line.

Loyd, Greyhound all-district back who has been one of the district's principal ground gainers, was never able to break in to the clear long enough to rip off a long run. His longest gallop, 28 yards, came from a freak lateral when a teammate had been "bull-dogged" by Johnson. The "stopped" back shoveled the ball laterally to Loyd who circled right end only to be overtaken and smothered after picking up 28 yards.

Crowell's Touchdown Fitzgerald of Crowell opened the game with a kickoff which was picked up by Loyd on the Throckmorton 15 and returned to the 37.

The Greyhounds were held to 6 yards in three tries and punted to Fitzgerald who was dropped in his tracks on the Crowell 30. Olds spun through center for 14 yards and hit center a second time for 1. Meason was stopped at right tackle after gaining 1. Smith passed incomplete to Ownbey and Meason punted to the Throckmorton 15. Loyd returned to the 25.

Loyd picked up 1 yard and on the second down punted to his own 46 yard line.

Olds circled right end for 16. Meason tried the left end for 4. Olds broke through right guard for 15 and then spun through center, slipped through several Greyhounds' hands to cross the goal line standing up after a 14-yard gallop for the only touchdown of the game. Canup added the extra point with a place kick.

Summary Yards gained from scrimmage—Crowell 131, Throckmorton 85. Yards lost—Crowell 27, Throckmorton 26. Passes—Crowell tried 7 passes, completing one for 36 yards. Throckmorton tried 21 passes, completing 5 for 95 yards, 14 incomplete and 2 intercepted. Fumbles—Crowell fumbled three times, recovering 1. Throckmorton fumbled 1, failing to recover.

PILGRIMS of 1939

The still chill of a November morning 318 years ago, gave no indication of man's feelings. Silent men, with flintlocks shouldered, and pale women, their cowls drawn close, slipped silently through early winter's snow. And there were smiles on their faces—smiles of thankfulness for a haven that responded to their diligent toil so munificently.

Perhaps we of the streamlined twentieth century come by our comforts too easily; perhaps we fail, at times, to evaluate our ease of self-provision. But the "pilgrims" of 1939 are likened to those of 1621—all consummately appreciative of past blessings—all surpassingly confident of their hopes in the future.

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

During the week ending October 21 there was purchased in this country gasoline to the amount of 12,182,000 barrels. This is the largest production of any one week to date.

A new record for continuous flight by an air plane was completed recently by Clyde Schleper and Wes Carroll near Lancaster, California. They remained in the air 30 days in a 50 horsepower seaplane.

The Nobel prize is awarded each year on December 10, at Stockholm, Sweden, to the six persons or organizations in the world who have been outstanding because of their work in science, physics, chemistry, literature and in the cause of peace. If the year has produced no outstanding individual in one or more of these activities prizes are not awarded in these particular departments. The fund from which the Nobel prize is paid comes from the interest on a foundation left by Alfred Bernhard Nobel of Sweden, the discoverer of nitro glycerine and dynamite.

Last year there was consumed in the United States 66,000,000 gallons of wine, 17,690,000 gallons of whiskey and 1,600,000 gallons of beer.

The University of Michigan spends about $500 annually to school each student.

The University of Texas at Austin, though a state institution, has an endowment of $29,000,000 in invested cash, and more than 2,000,000 acres of potential oil land valued at $10,000,000. The annual income from investments is $500,000 and the school receives from the state from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. A century ago when the school was first conceived, Texas set aside 2,000,000 acres of land in Western Texas as the future state schools endowment. The land was worth only a few cents an acre. The school opened in a very modest way in 1883 and continued small until oil was struck on the college land in 1923. Since 1923 the school has built $10,000,000 worth of buildings and a $3,000,000 administration library building.

Our Weekly Sermon

By Rev. Henry Ostrom, D. D., Member of Extension Staff, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Need
Texts—My God shall supply all your need.—Philippians 4:19. Me a sinner.—Luke 18:13.

Need! That is the real basis of our recommendation to God. Need, and not money, for money is too easily lost and destroyed. Need and not skill, for skill is too faulty and limited. Need, and not goodness, for our goodness cannot, just cannot, rate higher than deeply soiled rags.

You will see in the Gospels that our Lord Jesus passes by all official rank, all religious claims, to supply need. Not to the Pharisees or Sadducees, but to the man who needs sight because he was born blind (John 9); and to the multitude too far away from supplies, ready to faint by the way because of the distance (Matt. 14:15-21); and to the bereaved who cannot raise to life their dead (Luke 7:11-15; John 11:39-44)—need it is that entices the miracles.

As to the blind, see how our Lord leaves the proud officials who are so angry that they have stones in their hands ready to cast at Him, and He passes along to the poor man who was born blind and gives that man his sight (John 8:59-9:1). One cannot thoughtfully read this scene without concluding that all the contrast appears between the self-sufficient officials and the needy blind man. If we ask, what did they want? the answer is that they really wanted nothing that the righteous Lord had to give. And if we ask, what did the blind man want? the answer is that he wanted his great need met. You can say that he was virtually all need. You could photograph the man in a circle of need, you could weigh him and find that what made the scales go down was need.

But so it is everywhere as we note our Lord's sojourn here. Wherever you find Jesus, there you find some great realized need—and He came to meet that need.

Many, it seems, will subscribe to this fact, but when the cross is considered, their own sense of need is wanting; they do not see that the same fact prevails. They see a suffering One indeed. They may credit this as an event deeply appealing to the pathetic, but they do not see that Christ is there on the cross to meet their greatest need. Why, He never would have become incarnate except to meet that need. One may go with the child and admire "the little Lord Jesus asleep on the hay," but he does not thus see the real meaning of Christ's advent.

Our Lord would never have submitted to death on the cross were it not to provide against an awful and eternal need of human souls. "It is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance." This is why He could not be killed unless He had willed to die, for He had no sin of His own, and "death came by sin." He died for the sin of others. It was death for Him because of the need of others.

So then, it is your sin and mine that constitutes the need which there He met. "Christ loved me and gave himself for me." Now, as there are those who would esteem Jesus merely as a martyr, so there are those who admit that in some mysterious sense He died for sin, but they do not see that it is as if they themselves had suffered eternal death since He so literally "bore our sins in his own body on the tree."

Truly, then, the appeal of the gospel is not that men must try to be good. That would fall far

TWO-HUNDRED-YEAR-OLD MILL ROLLS AGAIN

An old millwheel turns again

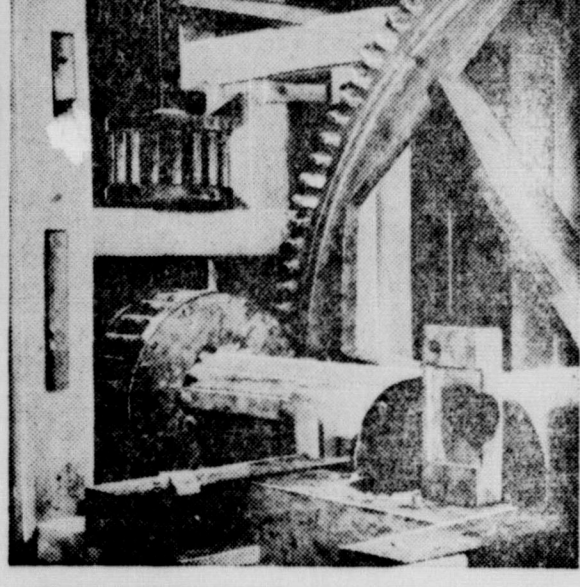

STRIKING a note of peaceful industry in the battle-crowded news of the day, a two-hundred-year old grist mill on the historic plantation home of General Robert E. Lee in northern Virginia resumed last week its clattering and creaking to supply neighboring farms and homes with flour ground between millstones, worn by centuries of service. Jutting over its picturesque mill pond and rushing flume on the famous Lee homestead in Stratford, Va., the restored building shows an authentic and moving picture of an institution which was once the social center of all American communities.

The restoration was made possible by Former United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Providence, R. I., and James F. Bell of Minneapolis, Minn., chairman of the board of General Mills.

Although there are many fine examples throughout the country of old mills from the 1800's, the search for wooden machinery from pre-Revolutionary days was nearly abandoned many times. But Senator Metcalf and Mr. Bell had determined to rebuild the mill just as it was, and

MORE than a year of painstaking research by historians and experts on old American milling went into the restoration of the Lee mill. In a deed to the Lee plantation dated 1749 the mill, which was then performing the same duty it is today, was referred to as "the old mill." Historians have taken this to mean that the original mill and its machinery antedated the American Revolution by more than fifty years.

After sufficient data had been gathered to draw up plans for rebuilding the mill ruins, the interesting task remained of finding carpenters, cooper-smiths, stone workers and other artisans who could do the actual building in the manner of two centuries ago. Many of these workmen, from neighboring farms, were found to be descendants of workers and millers who were employed in the original mill more than 150 years ago.

machinery was finally found in a two-century-old mill in Maryland. It performed correctly with little restoration. The authority on the installation of machinery was Professor B. W. Dedrick of Pennsylvania State College, the country's foremost authority on ancient mills.

With the restoration completed, it is conceded that the Lee plantation possesses the only working example of the country's oldest type grist mill.

Emergency Crop and Feed Loans for 1940 Are Now Available

Emergency crop and feed loans for 1940 are now available to farmers in Foard County, and applications for these loans are now being received by Marvin P. Bryan, field supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration, through Alma Walker in Crowell.

This early opening of the loan program in Foard County is part of a plan recently announced by the Farm Credit Administration whereby emergency crop and feed loans are being made available immediately in all areas where farming conditions are seriously affected this year by drought.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit associations, banks, or other private concerns or individuals.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing and cultivating his 1940 crops or in purchasing or producing feed for his livestock.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of cash crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed or, in the case of loans for the purchase or production of feed for livestock, a first lien on the livestock to be fed.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "The American Boy seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in The American Boy Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommended The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of The American Boy advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Your Horoscope

November 20, 21, 22.—Your biggest asset is your absolute reliability and promptness. You are close mouthed and when entrusted with a confidence will never divulge it. You accept responsibility and trust readily and are often found in civic and political groups, not infrequently as a leader. You have independence of thought and are a born organizer. Avoid your habit of continuous fault finding and desist from demanding flattery from your associates.

November 23, 24, 25.—You would make a skilled surgeon, an opera singer or teacher of voice. You have a commanding personality and you usually make the most of it. You extremely dislike opposition and are quick to tell people to get out of your way. You are apt to be a tyrant and you expect a high appreciation for your work. If the appreciation you expect fails to be forthcoming you become moody and blue and your work is done with indifference. You are very sensitive but try to keep from showing it. You have a vein of suspicion and unintentionally hold yourself aloof from the crowd.

THANKSGIVING

FORERUNNERS of A MIGHTY CIVILIZATION

It took initiative and courage to do what the Pilgrims did—to settle in a wilderness. It also took hard work. Those three qualities triumphed, however, and the roots of a nation took hold—grew—and flourished.

Among all other things we have to be thankful for, let's not omit those trepid men and women that started this country.

Best Wishes for a Pleasant Holiday for All

Let's Be Thankful for Electric Service, too!

"I am thankful for my electric range. It's so much easier to prepare Thanksgiving Dinner."

Electric Service is something we've all come to accept without much thought. That's because it's so very, very good and dependable. We simply needn't worry about it at all. So it's fitting and proper that we pause at Thanksgiving time to give a moment's thought to the marvelous value—nay, bargain—we get in return for the few pennies a day that we pay for Electric Service. Light is only one of the many items of service included in the monthly statement. Refrigeration, Cookery, Radio, Sweeper, Coffee-maker, Washer, Iron—all these and more cost less today than our grandparents paid for light alone! To use this Service, we need only turn a switch. And behind the switch are a thousand men and women whose constant labor and research make Electric Service both dependable and economical. Jobs thus are created—a $1,300,000 payroll in this West Texas area. Taxes are paid—almost a half million dollars annually for the support of local, county, state and federal governments. We can well be thankful for modern Electric Service.
