FOARD COUNTY DRENCHED BY HEAVY RAINS WEDNESDAY; CITY WATER SUPPLY REPLENISHED

The heaviest rain to fall in Foard County was received Tuesday morning between the hours of 1 o'clock and 12 o'clock, during which time 2.90 inches of rain were recorded at the Crowell State weather station.

The rain was general, however, and lighter in parts of the eastern and western sections of the county. Reports from the Foard community show that the heaviest rain was received in that section. Accurate measures there were not possible but it was estimated between 4 and 5 inches of rain fell. The lightest rain was about one-half inch in a few miles east of Crowell. Farther east the rain was heavier. A light rain was reported about ten miles west of Crowell, but as the county received heavy

City Lake Full

Water ran over the spillway of City Lake Tuesday afternoon after 1 o'clock for the first time in several months and saved the city of Crowell from being drenched with a water shortage. The lake became so low during the summer that it was necessary to raise the dam to conserve the supply. A 2-foot rise in May increased the supply sufficiently that the minimum was again raised. During the past few weeks the supply again getting to the low stage and just before the rain Tuesday it was becoming necessary that city officials take such steps again to conserve the supply. At present, water users in the city of Crowell will not have any more water shortage for several months.

Mattress Centers Opened in Foard County This Week

Work Supervised by County H. D. Agent and Club Women

Three mattress making centers for farm families with incomes of $400 or less during 1939 were opened in Foard County this week under the supervision of Miss Joeline Vannoy, Foard County home demonstration agent, and women of the Home Demonstration Clubs.

Centers in Crowell and Margaret were opened Monday and up until Wednesday afternoon there had been 38 mattresses produced. Twenty of the mattresses were made in Crowell and 18 at Margaret.

The Crowell center is located in the Self building on the north side of the square and Mrs. S. E. Tate is the supervisor. The Margaret center is in the school building and is supervised by Mrs. G. W. Sikes.

A center was opened in Vivian this morning with Mrs. T. W. Cooper as supervisor.

Applications for these mattresses were made several months ago in the local AAA office and Foard County was allotted 240 mattresses. Materials are being supplied by the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation.

Each person who is eligible for a mattress receives 50 pounds of cotton and 10 yards of ticking, but must pay 25 cents for needles and thread at the center.

Foard City and Riverside centers will be opened at a later date.

At present, a waiting list is being made up in case any of the mattresses allotted to the county are turned back and anyone caring to, provided he is classified as a farmer with an income of $400 or less during 1939, may file application in the AAA office.

Wildcats' Fall Football Training Period; First Game on Fri., Sept. 13

Twenty-Five Boys Report for Crowell

Twenty-five football aspirants reported to Coach Grady Graves for the first Crowell High School workout of the 1940 season last Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Among the group reporting Monday afternoon, Coach Graves had only six men who saw enough action last year to earn their football letters, and only two of these played in regular positions. The returning regulars are Bill Ownbey and Leroy Gibson, backfield men. The other four are Murrell Diggs, W. D. Hudgsons and Daniel Brisco, all linemen, and A. Y. Olds, back.

In spite of the fact that the Wildcats have such a few lettermen back, their prospects are not entirely gloomy, because all of the boys went through the training period last spring and the aspirants looked then and will probably look during the fall practice sessions as though they will be ready and able to dish out a lot of hard football.

Scrimmage Saturday Night

As a climax to their first week's practice, the Wildcats will scrimmage the team of Rule High School under the lights at the Crowell stadium Saturday. There will be no charge for this scrimmage and all fans are invited to see the Wildcats in action.

Diggs Wins Mile Run

As an opener for their killing practice schedule, Coach Graves ran his cohorts in a mile race, offering prizes of small pieces of equipment to the eleven boys finishing first.

These boys, in the order in which they finished, are as follows: Murrell Diggs, Daniel Brisco, Leroy Gibson, Albert Bird, Bobby Spears, Junior Haseloff, W. D. Hudgsons, Paul Vecera, David Parkhill, Wilburn Davidson and Duane Capps.

Those reporting for practice were: Bill Ownbey 159, Leroy Gibson 150, A. Y. Olds 126, Murrell Diggs 158, Daniel Brisco 137, W. D. Hudgsons 153, Duane Capps 193.

Foster Petroleum Company to Attempt to Make Producer of Mrs. Belle Allee No. 1

The Thomason E. M. Gamble No. 2 was brought in last Sunday in the Gamble-Dickerson pool eight miles northeast of Crowell and it is believed will make the largest well yet drilled in this new field.

There is comparatively little gas in the Gamble No. 2 and it has a stronger showing of oil than the discovery well. However, no accurate tests have been made. Shortly after being brought in, the well flowed 70 barrels of oil in thirty minutes. The new well was being tied into the tanks serving Gamble No. 1 late Wednesday afternoon and a more accurate test will be made later.

The well was drilled to a depth of 2,353 feet and casing was set to 2,551. After the plug was set, the rotary rig was removed and a spudder set. The plug was drilled out Saturday afternoon with cable tools and the well came in Sunday.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

These Are the Only Real Riches. In the first verse of the first Psalm appears the statement, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful." There is contained, I think, in this verse, and the several verses that follow, a splendid philosophy of life. On all sides we find evidence that the man who follows this course prospers, and the man who does not follow it does not prosper. He may not prosper in the measure that he receives great material riches, but he does prosper in that he receives happiness, content and satisfaction. Without these no life is really happy, or content. Wealth, of itself, cannot, and never has, brought happiness. If it did bring happiness those with wealth would all be happy. The facts are they are not all happy. True riches are only measured by happiness, content and the joy of living.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

For whiter mashed potatoes or boiled rice, add a pinch of cream of tartar to the cooking water. Don't keep honey in the refrigerator. It keeps better in the pantry or cupboard. A half cup of sweet milk added to be bluing water will prevent clothes from becoming streaked during the bluing process.

Better is little with fear of the Lord than great treasure and trouble therewith.—Proverbs 15:16.

You Couldn't Read This—

The 500th anniversary of the invention of printing by Johann Gutenberg is being celebrated during the present year of 1940, stimulated by the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen and other graphic arts groups.

Printing has become as commonplace in our lives as the rising and setting of the sun, yet it plays a tremendous role in the lives of every one of us.

You are awakened each morning by an alarm clock which undoubtedly has a printed dial. You arise from bed and dress in clothes that were undoubtedly bought under the stimulus of printed advertisements. Your daily newspaper was made possible by Gutenberg's invention of printing. The cereal on your breakfast table and the brand of coffee you drink were undoubtedly bought because of merits attributed to them in printed advertising. If you board a train or ride a street car to work, you hand the conductor a printed ticket or transfer. And it is more than likely that the selection of the car, if you drive to work, was determined by the statements made in print.

A recent ruling requires all aliens be registered and fingerprinted. Vigilance should not stop here. Many aliens are most loyal citizens. The fellow that needs watching is the one that parades openly as a full fledged American and does his dirty work under cover. He may not be an alien. He may preach patriotism, salute the flag publicly at every opportunity while he is carrying on his reasonable work under cover.

We note that the air service is offering to pay flying students $75 a month during their period of training. This should make an attractive field for eligible young men with nerve. The air force is no place for a sissy.

success. It is thus fitting that during the current year 1940 we should pay homage to Gutenberg, the inventor of printing, the man who gave mankind its choicest gift. Gutenberg's invention has even made it possible for you to read this editorial—a simple task which few people could have accomplished before the days of printing and the rise of popular education.

By some strange coincidence all of the success stories that we have read tell that the person about whom the story was written and who made a success of life, as a young man worked hard, long hours, lived simply and saved his money. We do not recall ever having read a success story where the subject as a young man was an idler and a dawdler and wasted his money. It seems one of the natural things of nature that success isn't founded on such beginnings. Some young fellows who hope to succeed should take notice of this before their present habits become fixed with them and it is too late to change.

Argentina has a bumper crop of corn this year and no place to sell it. Great quantities of it are being dumped in great piles and burned. Enormous quantities of coffee are being burned in Brazil because of the surplus. This, in spite of the fact that there are millions of people in the world hungry and other millions to whom coffee would be a rare treat. The destruction of surpluses is by no means confined to this country nor to Henry Wallace and the New Deal.

A recent ruling requires all aliens be registered and fingerprinted. Vigilance should not stop here. Many aliens are most loyal citizens. The fellow that needs watching is the one that parades openly as a full fledged American and does his dirty work under cover. He may not be an alien. Chaotic World Demands Leaders From Business Stratum, Urges Pitkin

Flying has opened up a vast field for young women. In addition to the several thousand positions as air line hostesses, an agreeable, delightful and interesting line of work, many women are becoming pilots. The airplane lends itself well to a trained woman pilot. It is not heavy or disagreeable work, and calls for a clear head and quick thinking. The American girl today meets every requirement fully.

Some one has figured it out that the man who borrows $2,500 to build a small house through the usual channels at 5 1/2 per cent over a period of twenty years pays $1,650 interest before the loan is paid off.

Even a college education won't help a man much if he doesn't have self-initiative. He is like a car without a self-starter. No one wants him around.

"If there was ever a time in the last million years when we needed leaders, it is now, now when there is chaos about us," challenges Walter B. Pitkin, distinguished author, educator, and analyst of our times, writing in the current Rotarian magazine. "If ever we bring order out of that chaos, it will be through leadership—large and small—coming from the business and professional stratum of our population."

"There's a challenge to the business and professional men of our planet," Dr. Pitkin asserts. "There's a job to do. The world is on fire. You can't put it out with an eight-hour day. You can't put it out by reading books on the nature of combustion. You can't put it out by debating all night whether it is better to pour water on it or to throw sand on it or to cover it with wet blankets. Great business men of the Old World once sat at their desks, twiddling thumbs and musing over the sad state of affairs. Where are they now? Ask the wind. Great statesmen delayed in the hope of finding some easy way out of their worries. Where are they now? Once again I suggest: ask the wind."

To the thousands of small-town businessmen who ask "How can I help?" Author Pitkin says: "The answer reduced to its lowest terms runs thus: Liberty, like charity, begins at home. Stay home and work from there outward. . . . Where do you live? Rio de Janeiro, you say? Or Hartford, Wisconsin? Sorry, but that is the wrong address. You live in the world. Old frontiers are going down in flames. All of us are citizens of the world, not by choice and planning, but by default. . . . The need is urgent for men in small communities and large who are experts and can lead wisely."

How become a leader? "Give something to live for. . . . plan far ahead!" Dr. Pitkin declares. "That is primary advice for any man who would lead his fellows. But there is more to this matter of leadership, much more. Here are six things leaders, especially those in politics and government, must do: (1) perceive current trends; (2) evaluate these trends and take a definite position toward them, drawing up a program of action; (3) persuade many people to accept this program; (4) organize all such people to the end of putting this program over; (5) deal with opponents effectively during the campaign to put it over; (6) administer the program after it has been adopted."

Country's Second Largest Meteor Crater Being Probed

Odessa, Texas, Aug. 26.—After several months' probing in the country's second largest meteor crater—a 600-foot-wide, debris-filled pit near here—University of Texas geologists have reported the discovery of the object they sought.

The meteorite which blasted into the Earth thousands of years ago is so deeply imbedded, however, that University-WPA excavators will have to dig for it, according to Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the University's Bureau of Economic Geology.

The crater, second in size to that made by the great Arizona meteor, is almost completely filled in. The Texas meteorite, whose presence was spotted with a magnetometer, may be as much as a hundred feet underground. Since the project was launched several months ago, there was considerable doubt as to whether the original mass would be recovered, as the meteor might have exploded on impact with the earth.

To study the effect of that im-

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

The study of people is always interesting. Since Adam first walked the earth man has changed but little. The change is more in the manner of achieving his objectives than in the objectives themselves. He responds in the same way to the same stimuli. He is just as changeable, just as fickle with his loyalty to his leaders today as he was a thousand years ago.

A most recent example of the capriciousness of the mass mind is in the manner in which the American public is turning from Franklin Roosevelt to Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee for president.

This column views the situation not from a political angle but merely as an interesting study of the performance and the actions of the genus homo.

For years in this country the plaint had been that the country was under the domination of big business, Wall street, and special privilege. For fifty years and more this was the battle cry of campaign speakers. In country school houses, street corners, and convention halls. Each promised to be the Saint George, who, if elected, would free the country from the thralldom of the dragon of special privilege. One after another they were defeated and the people waited patiently for the leader who would fight their cause in the courts of the mighty.

Then came Roosevelt. In the efforts to give to the "have nots" of the abundance of the "haves" revolutionary legislation was proposed and passed in rapid succession. The storehouse of the nation was all but emptied to give to the "have nots" a measure of abundant life. The farmers for the first time in the history of this nation were accorded a subsidy. Billions were poured out to sustain them and help save their farms from foreclosure. A frenzied effort was made to redeem lost homes, to build up soil destroyed by erosion and wasteful farming methods. Labor was given a greater bounty than its wildest dreamer ever hoped to receive. The unemployed was relieved of the necessity of looking for work. The government assumed the responsibility for his welfare and brought to him employment. It gave him unemployment insurance. It gave old age assistance until now the "have nots" have more abundance than they hoped for, even in the best days the country has known—and have it with less effort on their own part.

These and many other things were done but did they satisfy? They did not. Were they appreciated? They were not.

When the giver of all these gifts sought to continue in power, those who had received most largely of the bounties from his hands turned away from him to Wendell Willkie. Few unknowns fact, trenches have been cut through the upturned and twisted layers of rock which form the lip of the crater. Major object of the excavation, however—now possible with the knowledge that the meteorite is actually still in the pit—is the analysis of the projectile itself, Dr. Sellards said.

To keep pace with an increasing interest in water routes as a stimulant to lower Texas freight rates, the University of Texas will offer a course in water transportation this fall.

The strangest part of it, the thing that proves the contention expressed in the beginning of this article is that Willkie is a child of big business. He is a protégé of Wall Street. He epitomizes the very thing that the mass of people a few short years ago sought to escape. Today they are turning their back on it, they thought they wanted to pay their fickle allegiance to the thing from which they sought escape.

The incident provides in the short space of seven years, a striking example of how the political mind of a democracy works.

ORR'S Veri-Best Bread

A Home Institution That Tries to Meet Every Requirement of Its Customers

The Wildcats receive one break here in that the games will be played in Crowell.

In 1939, Holliday boasted the smoothest working, trickiest eleven and only inexperience kept the Eagles from being among the top teams. This year Holliday will have the experience.

All district fans know and respect the brand of football Coach Maurice Orr drills into his boys, so another hard game is in store for the Wildcats when Seymour invades Crowell.

Then comes the Eagles. Last year Chillicothe rang up its first victory over Crowell in a number of years by a lone point, 7-6, to finish the season in second place, one slot below the regional champs, Burk Burnett's Bulldogs. This year the Bulldogs left the district to play Class AA football. So, according to figures, this leaves Chillicothe the top team of the district and the Eagles have eleven veterans back in their bid for their first district title.

After going through this stiff string of games, the Wildcats will earn a much-deserved rest before going to Archer City and Iowa Park.

In the last game of the season, the Crowell boys return home to entertain the powerful Throckmorton Greyhounds.

In a short talk before issuing uniforms, Coach Graves cautioned the boys about training rules and "loafing" during scrimmages, as the teams which they are to meet will be both experienced and "tough." He reviewed their work of last spring and predicted that they would formulate an improving team and that by the time they hit their first district game they should be in readiness to meet their district opponents. However, he warned that to make this possible it would require a lot of intensive work and co-operation.

He told the boys not to expect to win every game they played and not to be discouraged if they did lose one, but he stressed the point that it was also not impossible to win the district.

The Wildcats of 1940 are now in the most grueling fall training periods of any Crowell High School teams of the past as they will have only 9 days in which to prepare for their first game of the season. This short training is due to an Interscholastic League ruling that went into effect last year under which high school football teams are not allowed to start training before Sept. 1.

Not only will the Wildcats have to go through long and fast practice sessions, but they will also have to buck a difficult schedule as in practically every instance they will be facing more seasoned players.

The Matador Bullfighters are expected to be a power in their district and one week after the scrap with the Matadors, Coach Graves' lads will find themselves facing the heavy, seasoned Paducah Dragons, and on the Dragons' home field at that.

Next, the Wildcats will travel to Munday to meet that team which lost only one game last year and has a veteran lineup for this season.

The last practice game for the Crowell team will be at Floydada and this team has always given the Wildcats their "money's worth."

Jumping into conference, the Gravesmen meet Holliday, Seymour and Chillicothe in success-

"Man is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 8.
The Golden Text is: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ" (Romans 8:16, 17).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "These words spake Jesus. . . I have kept thy word" (John 17:1, 6).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual man is the image or idea of God, an idea which cannot be lost nor separated from its divine Principle" (page 303).

ones, beautiful art glass windows are frequently set in our temples of worship. The sun's illuminating rays through the windows often bring never-to-be-forgotten effects.
A very popular design is that which portrays Christ standing before a closed portal with hand raised as if knocking, and with one foot upon the first step. A light is in His hand; he is the light of the world. No latch is on the door, for the will to open the heart's door is on the inside.
What a small matter is the opening of a door, but there must be the urge to do it. Were some earthly potentate to stand without the door, men would exert every effort to bid him welcome. Strange, indeed, it is that when Christ, the heavenly Potentate, stands without the heart's door. He must knock repeatedly if He is to be admitted at all.

The text states that Christ says, "I will come in to him, and sup with him, and he with me." The fact is, that when Christ sups with us, He is the chef—a guarantee that the feasting table will be decked with heaven's choicest food, for when one sits at His table there is neither thirst nor hunger.

What a feast He made of the few fishes and loaves for the hungry five thousand! What a precious meal He made for the two men met Him on the road to Emmaus! What a wonderful draught of fish He prepared to be caught for the breakfast of those disappointed fishermen who had toiled throughout the night without a catch!

The question before us is, have we opened unto Him, or is He still standing without, knocking, while we are complacently ignoring His entreaty? Why not open your heart's door to Him, thus becoming the recipient of His unending blessings?
