Owing to the fact that there has been several changes in our State Rural Aid Law, I am giving detailed information on transfers.

Remember, if your child has finished the highest grade that your school is classified by the county board to teach, the parent must come to the County Superintendent's office and transfer the child. Therefore, I am giving the classification of each school in the county, as calssified by

Classified for 7 grades
Classified for a four-year High School
Classified for 7 grades
Classified for 7 grades
Classified for 11 grades, Contract Scho
Classified for 8 grades, Contract School
Classified for 9 grades
Classified for 7 grades

CONTRACTED SCHOOLS

Even though your school will be contracted to come to Crowell, it is still necessary for you to make the transfer; that is, on all your children above the classified grade, or the state will not pay the high school tuition where you do not make the transfer.

If you are in one of the five contracted schools, same being Black, Vivian, Foard City, Good Creek and Claytonville, you will not transfer any of your children that are still in the grade that the school is classified to teach, for those children will be contracted by your board of trustees. If there should be anything that you do not fully understand about the transfer, I want each and every one to feel free to come to the office to discuss your particular problem with either me or Miss Russell.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

I listened to the speeches and the reading of the platform of one of the nation's National conventions. As I listened it seemed to me that the whole purpose of the speeches and the purpose underlying the platform was to get otes in the coming election in November. Much time was spent in the preparation of the plat. form, in its wording and phrasing that it could be interpreted to cover all points. Especially were the power groups, the farm labor, the unemployed, the old age appealed to. Nothing was omitted hat might serve as a hook upon which to hang a hope and incidentally the support of that group in the coming election.

Within a few weeks we are go ing to witness another National convention. This, like the one just held, will prepare a platform as and as ingeniously worded that it, too, may appeal to all groups, the farm group, the labor group, the isolationists and the interventionists alike. Nothing will be omitted that might be an aid in influencing support for . The big problem before the country today, it seems to me, is unemployment, and the uncertainty that faces the young men and the young women who are coming into the picture from the schools and colleges of the country each year, a great army of them who find, upon presenting themselves to the country, that there is no place for them in it. They are baffled. They find themselves at a dead end, not knowing which way to turn. I contend that finding a solu-

Red Cross War Fund Passes $17,000,000

Washington, D. C. - Relief problems arising over France's "urgent" refugee needs and the threatened siege of England have prompted Chairman Norman H. Davis, of the American Red Cross, to appeal for "last minute" support of the $20,000,000 war relief fund.

Chairman Davis voiced his appeal as the Red Cross fund passed the $17,000,000 mark.

"Capitulation of the French government has not brought an end to suffering among the hordes of refugees and wounded soldiers who have fled to the south. Urgent needs are reported daily from these unfortunates. The American public in the past seven weeks, has responded generously in contributing war relief funds for their succor. However, if America is to continue relief in their hour of need, it is necessary that we support and fulfill this goal of $20,000,000.

"Latest reports from Europe stress the importance of added Red Cross contributions. Today the people of England are confronted with what has been described as the worst siege in the history of man. If we are to share in meeting this great emergency we cannot relax in our efforts.' Response to the American Red Cross war relief fund during the past week has resulted in contributions ranging from pennies to tens of thousands of dollars. To the Red Cross chapter in Pittsburgh came a donation of $55,000 from Paul Mellon. In contributing, Mr. Mellon informed the Red Cross that $5,000 represented his norman gift, and $50,000 was due to the great emergency abroad." He designated the latter sum to be used for the purchase of hospital and medical equipment Throughout the nation reports from chapters of all sizes brought word that quotas were being reached and oversubscribed. The District of Columbia chapter informed national headquarters that more than $325,000 had been contributed, $25,000 more than its quota.

From the pulpits of thousands of churches throughout the United States, spiritual leaders Sunday appealed for support of the Red Cross relief fund. Clergy of all faiths answered a plea issued by the Union and the World Alliance for International Friendship to "bring help to tortured minds and bodies in a dozen lands

Pilate-Washed His Hands Text .- When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it .- Matthew 27:24. Pilate displays his hands before the blood - thirsty mob. Splashing water over them, he announced himself innocent. Pontium Pilate! Man, your hands are not your seat of guilt.

You must go deeper, far deeper, to strike the root of what could signify innocence concerning any deed. Your hands may have needed washing, but your motive seems to swing like the pendulum on a faulty clock. Your Yes or No means to the one accused, release or death. You can be either a justifier or an executioner. Would that you might have washed your eyes with something ten thousand times more cleansing than water. Then you would have really seen the Son of God before you. Or that you had washed your ears deeply with such, then you would have heard words from the One who has all authority. But to eyes or ears no such could have been applied without first reaching the motive. The main spring of conduct in Pilate was defective. Not his hands or eyes or ears-his heart was wrong.

A man can be very superficial and hold high office. Yet superficiality is more a symptom than a disease. Superficiality sees the mob, but the disease caters to it. Dismiss the mob and lock the gov-ernor up within four walls and the disease is still there. Pilate was not true. Overloaded with expediency, and untrue at heart, with the most momen-tous event of all history to settle, tous event of all history to settle, he wanted something more than he wanted to be true. Now sin is like its author, the devil, who abode not in the truth. Sin getabode not in the truth. Sin get-ting into man ruins the motive. Conniving, deceiving, lying, be-traying are all included in it, with much else. Here we see why it is written that "the heart is de-ceitful above all things," and here is where we see that God cannot look upon iniquity with the least degree of allowance. "The whole head is sick, and the whole heart faint: . . . and there is no sound-head is sick, and the whole heart faint; . . and there is no sound-ness" (Isa. 1:6). We might not have seen Pontius Pilate so singled out but that our Lord Jesus Christ was "delivered up" by him to be cruci-fied, and a notorious robber re-leased. But seeing him thus, oh, turn quickly. "Fix your eyes up-on Jesus." It is He who says, "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."

retailers in the state would have been bound. The Anti-Discrimination law would have fixed selling price of all items at about ten per cent above the wholesale cost of the merchandise. The newspapers and the housewives both are watching this year for a resumption of the "contact work" done by the price-fixing lobbyists. Recently reports began trickling in from all sections of the State that the candidates are again being approached and that the lobbyists are trying to make all of them agree to support the laws regardless of what they do to the state's anti-trust laws or to the consumers the anti-trust laws are designed to protect.

Next major development in the price-fixing campaign will come when the FTC makes its report. In 1934, the FTC made a survey and reported that the Fair Trade Law had resulted in raised prices without any compensation in the form of higher wages or increases in raw material costs.

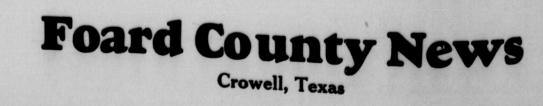

Apparently to be used as an antidote against the government's survey, a national druggists' association is conducting a survey of its own, results of which obviously are being withheld until the FTC survey is released. The druggists' association says its survey will not be prejudiced. The Fair Trade Act has been passed by 44 states, but is not being enforced in that many, Tex-

Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. Pilate-Washed His Hands Text .- When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it .- Matthew 27:24. Pilate displays his hands be-fore the blood thirsty mob. Splashing water over them, he announced himself innocent. Pontium Pilate! Man, your hands are not your seat of guilt. You must go deeper, far deeper, to strike the root of what could signify innocence concerning any deed. Your hands may have needed washing, but your motive seems to swing like the pendulum on a faulty clock. Your Yes or No means to the one accused, re-lease or death. You can be either a justifier or an executioner. Would that you might have washed your eyes with something ten thousand times more cleansing than water. Then you would have really seen the Son of God before you. Or that you had washed your ears deeply with such, then you would have heard words from the One who has all authority. But to eyes or ears no such could have been applied without first reaching the motive. The main spring of conduct in Pilate was defective. Not his hands or eyes or ears-his heart was wrong. A man can be very superficial and hold high office. Yet superficiality is more a symptom than a disease. Superficiality sees the mob, but the disease caters to it. Dismiss the mob and lock the governor up within four walls and the disease is still there. Pilate was not true. Overloaded with expediency, and untrue at heart, with the most momentous event of all history to settle, he wanted something more than he wanted to be true. Now sin is like its author, the devil, who abode not in the truth. Sin get-ting into man ruins the motive. Conniving, deceiving, lying, be-traying are all included in it, with much else. Here we see why it is written that "the heart is de-ceitful above all things," and here is where we see that God cannot look upon iniquity with the least degree of allowance. "The whole head is sick, and the whole heart head is sick, and the whole heart faint; . . . and there is no sound-ness" (Isa. 1:6). We might not have seen Pontius Pilate so singled out but that our Lord Jesus Christ was "delivered up" by him to be cruci-fied, and a notorious robber re-leased. But seeing him thus, oh, turn quickly. "Fix your eyes up-on Jesus." It is He who says, "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."
