Efforts Being Made to Open WPA Graveling Project

Mayor C. T. Schlaal and the City Council are making efforts to secure the approval of the Government to open again the WPA project to gravel more streets in Crowell. Before this approval can be obtained it will be necessary for property owners to request graveling on two full city blocks. When the project is opened, it will then be possible to also get more paving, curbing and sidewalks on Crowell streets at a very low cost. It is hoped that people will become extremely interested in this project and apply for the services that can be rendered when operations are underway.
An ad in this issue calls attention to the importance of opening this WPA project and the City Council is anxious that the people of Crowell become interested in the program.
A paragraph in the announcement reads as follows: "All persons wanting graveled streets by their property can help in securing this project by talking to the other property owners on their streets. Those interested in graveling or paving, please talk to your neighbors and any progress made, please report to C. T. Schlaal, mayor, or Henry Black, alderman."

Spring Training Started by 30 Wildcat Gridders

Two regulars, two lettermen and seven reserves from last year's Crowell Wildcat football team and nineteen rookies reported to Coach Grady Graves Monday afternoon for the first of the spring training practices.
The spring training for the Wildcats was started early this season in order that practice will be finished in time to allow the field to be prepared for the rodeo to be held during Foard County's Golden Anniversary Jubilee in Crowell on Monday and Tuesday, April 28-29.
The aspirants settled down to hard work during the first practice Monday afternoon. Immediately following limbering up exercises, Coach Graves started his Wildcats blocking and tackling, two of the hardest assignments handed the gridders.
With the crop of prospects now working for positions on the 1941 squad, the prospects for Crowell High School's football team next fall are fairly bright, however, there is a very noticeable lack of seasoned material with which to build a team.
In order to scatter his most seasoned material, Coach Graves has shifted Bobby Spears from his guard post to that of the blocking back position. Around Spears, the backfield will be built with unseasoned players. Charlie Thompson will be shifted from tackle to end and Alton Roark will go from his guard position to that of a wingman. T. L. Owens, letterman last year, will have an inside track on one of the tackle spots, while Harold Canup, a reserve, Gordon Erwin and Clay Vessell, rookies, appear destined to hold down the other tackle position.
As guards, Coach Graves is working two of his reserve backs of last year. He has shifted Paul Vecera and Dewitt Cauthan to these posts, however, they will

Historical Edition of The Foard County News Will Be Printed One Week Previous to Celebration

A special edition of The Foard County News will come off the press on April 17, ten days before the Golden Anniversary Jubilee on April 28-29. This edition will contain a picture showing a panoramic view of the old court house and the west side of the square in 1909 before any brick buildings were erected. Along with this picture will appear scenes around the square at the present time, as well as other pictures of interest.
This edition will not only give full particulars of the program of the Golden Jubilee, but will also be an historical issue. It is expected to have historical sketches of all churches, lodges, clubs, and other institutions of the county that it is possible to get. Early-day history of the county is especially desired for this edition. Anyone knowing incidents that happened in the early history of the county that would make suitable material for this issue of the paper, is requested to contact a News representative at once.
It is planned to assemble all material and print this paper with the regular force and any help contributed will be greatly appreciated. Advertisers wanting space in this edition are asked to make their wants known to the advertising department. Many of these ads, which commend the good work of the pioneer settlers and extend a cordial invitation to visitors on the occasion of the crowning event in the 50-year history of the county, the Golden Anniversary Jubilee, are already in the hands of the printers.

Antiques-Hobbies Wanted for Golden Jubilee Celebration

People of Foard County who have antiques and hobbies that they would like to have displayed in the show windows of Crowell business houses are asked to contact Irving Fisch, chairman of this committee, at Fisch's department store. Mr. Fisch will arrange for space in the windows and see that the items are properly displayed and taken care of. Business houses of Crowell will be glad to have these antiques on exhibition in their windows. Those who have them are urged to bring them in.

People Asked to Start Planning Jubilee Dinner

The people of the county were asked to start planning for large baskets of food to be brought to Crowell on the opening day of Foard County's Golden Anniversary Jubilee, Monday, April 28, by Claude Callaway, chairman of the dinner committee, in a short talk at the Farmers and Business Men's banquet last week.
Mr. Callaway stated that plans were being laid to feed even more people than were present for the celebration five years ago, and to be able to do this, every family in the county should bring as much prepared food as possible.
He urged that people who could, to lay away hams or any home-killed meat which could be spared, and to plan to bring large roasts, pies, cakes and other foods with which to feed the visitors on the first day.
Mr. Callaway has laid aside a 26-pound ham which will be prepared for the celebration, and he has branded it as a "Golden Jubilee Ham."

Oil Conservation Benefiting Texas Communities

Dallas, March 14.—The Texas oil conservation program is of lasting benefit to Texas communities and to State and local taxing agencies, a study just completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association shows. Conservation has made possible a permanent type of oil development which benefits all Texas and which has greatly increased the ultimate tax revenues to the State and its many local taxing subdivisions, the survey discloses.

Before the adoption of the conservation laws, Texas oil fields were drilled up immediately. Wells were allowed to produce all the oil possible with the result that their output soon fell off. As production declined, the towns which had been built around the fields naturally suffered slumps which cut off the incomes and security of those who had depended upon them. Taxable values collapsed and tax revenues to the State and local taxing agencies dropped to a fraction of the former total.

In ten old Texas oil fields developed before conservation practices became standard, production fell in six years to only 12.1 per cent of the peak output. This $7.9 per cent loss in output was responsible for a decline of $116,122,926 in taxable values in the counties embracing these fields, causing a big loss in tax revenues.

In contrast, seven newer Texas fields operated under conservation laws were still producing 66.8 per cent of their top production six years after their peak had been passed. The decline of 33.2 per cent in output, however, was not accompanied by any drop in taxable values. So permanent was the new type of oil development that tax valuations in these counties not only did not drop, but actually showed an increase of $109,481,681. Since tax valuations are usually on a 50 per cent basis, this represents an increase in actual values of perhaps $218,000,000.

"The Texas public has become accustomed to the many benefits of oil conservation," a statement from the association points out. "Millions of barrels of Texas oil that otherwise would have been lost have been saved for posterity by adoption of sound conservation statutes. In addition, Texas and all its citizens have profited from the new permanent type of oil development. The State government as well as county, city and numerous district taxing agencies have been afforded greatly increased tax revenues which they will enjoy over a period of years. Thus the conservation of oil is of decided financial benefit to the citizen, to the community, and to the State and its many local taxing subdivisions."

Drifters and Dreamers Can't Get It Done: We have all met people who seemed to have no definite purpose in life. No aim, no destination, no conviction. They are fine companions, genial people, but they are merely drifting along with the tide. One day is like another with them, the people, but they are merely drifting in anything or to have convictions about anything sufficiently definite to really live for it, and work for it, and, if necessary, fight for it. That is one of the big problems with the church and the promotion of Christ's program. There are too many who are passively for it. They think the church and Christ's program a good thing, and a desirable thing. They hope some day its goal may be realized. The goal will never be realized through mere good wishes and hopes. What Christ's program and the church needs today is men and women with definite, positive, convictions, convictions that they believe in strongly enough to work for, to make some personal sacrifice for, and, if need be, to fight for. Until men and women are willing to do this neither Christ's program nor the program of the church is going to have its place in the world or in the hearts of men that it can and should have.

THE ADVENTURES OF REDDY KILOWATT

Dear Friends: I didn't know what to do, the day those toughies laid their plans to steal Mr. Brown's car. But the idea came to me..

I went to the tool box and got wires and insulators and a hammer and some screws. It doesn't take much to run a line to the garage..

Then I got one of the outdoor flood lamps and hooked it up. I smiled as I finished the job because..

That night those thugs were foiled! I thought, 'Why doesn't everyone depend on good light to protect their home and property?' It's the cheapest insurance you can buy. Yours for better light—safer living. REDDY KILOWATT.

PROTECTED at Play

WHAT'S THAT NOISE? You awaken with a startled sense of some disturbance outside. Then is when you want the protection afforded by light... light that floods the premises... light that offers safety from prowlers.

Outdoor flood lighting gives the protection you want—and need. Lights on the porch gives protection against surprise and alarm when the door is opened and also protects against possible injury in stumbling on the steps. Light in hallways and closets prevents fumbling and bodily injuries.

Let our lighting advisers help with your lighting problems. Their service is FREE. Good light is CHEAP. So don't take chances with the safety of your family.

Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted in the earth.—Psalms 46:10.

The war is costing England $42,000,000 a day. What an eloquent argument in favor of peace and against war.

There are no statistics on it but if there were they would show that fully ninety per cent of the things the average man worries about, never come to pass.

The worst critics of any church are the members who are doing nothing for it either in a financial way or through a contribution of their service. The men who work for a church don't go about criticizing it. Like the mule they can't kick while they are pulling.

The nearer the administration of law is kept to the people the firmer the ground on which democracy stands. When a county surrenders its rights to the state or a state surrenders its rights to the federal government the people lose a measure of their control and a measure of their democracy.

Hitler has stolen all the food from the smaller European countries that he has invaded and now this country is being asked to feed the people whom Hitler has robbed. It begins to appear that if they are fed at all some other country will have to do it. As far as Hitler is concerned these victims of his ruthlessness can die like flies.

Every town has one man, who, though his name is never found on any committee to solicit funds for some community project, always makes the occasion of the call of a committee of this kind an opportunity to say a lot of mean and nasty things about the group that is running the town. The committee, though it is personally no more to them than it is to the abusive one, have to stand like ladies and gentlemen and take the abuse.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

We often hear the schools criticized because many of the high school graduates do not know as much as the critical adults think they should know.

A certain amount of the criticism is justified in a good many cases, though I feel that any student who has made anything like a reasonable effort to learn, and master his lessons through the grades and the four years of high school, has learned more than often appears on the surface—more, sometimes, than even the student himself realizes he or she has learned.

My chief criticism of graduates from high schools whom I have employed after their graduation is, not that they do not know their geometry, their science, their chemistry or their history, but that they are not better informed as to spelling and punctuation and often the fundamental rules of grammar.

I am not one to be too critical of these things because I realize that these faults and failings are the common faults and failings of a great many people, many who have pursued their schooling much further than the high school and who have later taken a post graduate course in the world of practice and business. For this reason I would not be harshly critical of this common shortcoming in high school graduates.

I do feel, though, that a much better job could be done teaching spelling, punctuation, and the simple rules of grammar than is done in many high schools. I recall vividly—even after a lapse of many years of my own scant and very superficial knowledge of the English grammar and its correct usage, I vividly recall that punctuation remained, even up to the time of my graduation, one of the unsolved mysteries of life, and the division of words was a thing concerning which one guess was as good as another. For this reason I am inclined to be patient and forbearing with the young people who have come to me from the high school and whose letters I have required to be rewritten as many as four or five times.

I believe that if a high school could turn out the majority of its students equipped to the point that they could spell correctly, punctuate correctly, and use correct English in their speech, ninety per cent of the criticism against their courses and instruction would disappear. Not many people understand geometry, trigonometry or chemistry, or are greatly interested in it, but who does not delight to hear English correctly spoken? Who does not delight to have a typist lay upon his desk a letter neatly typed, correctly spaced, with spelling, punctuation and word division correctly done? It is truly a splendid accomplishment and one of which any student can well be proud. Such a person is a credit to any high school.

As an employer of these young people I have endeavored to impress this upon them. I have thrown back many letters for a single error. Because of this practice I have had the pleasure of seeing a number of them go out from my office and acceptably fill better places because of the lessons they have learned from an exacting taskmaster.

Extension specialists and AAA workers estimate there were 5,000 new gardens grown on Texas farms and ranches in 1940.

Subscriptions Not Renewed Should Be Looked After Soon

There still remain on The News' subscription list a few readers who have not renewed for another year, although the largest per cent perhaps in the history of the paper are dated up a year in advance. This is something to be deeply grateful for and means much in the successful operation of a county paper.

It is not too late yet to attend to this matter. Renewals and new subscriptions received since March 11 are as follows:

Edgar L. Smith, Camp Bowie, Brownwood; Mrs. C. D. Gilbert, Houston; Max Middlebrook, Margaret; Mrs. Hub Speck, San Pedro, Calif.; Geo. Backus, Vernon; J. H. Taylor, Rt. 2; E. P. Storm, Clovis, N. Eight Points For Parents To Keep Offspring Out Of Trouble Offered By Jurist

Eight points that, if followed by parents, will keep their young out of the juvenile courts are offered by Ernest L. Reeker, judge of the County Court (Juvenile Division) of Madison, Nebraska, in the current issue of The Rotarian magazine.

"Wealth, position, and family are no defense against crime," he stresses. "Children come to me because their parents did not measure up to their task." The statistics show that nearly six million parents have failed.

Judge Reeker places "the meaning of true discipline" and "the dignity of labor" as the first two of the fundamentals which 16 years of daily association with the problems have brought home. Third, "an awareness of the value of money," he continues. Fourth, "stress self-reliance." Fifth, "encourage curiosity." Judge Reeker does not attempt to place the last few in any order of importance, but he lists, "Good manners—vitally important," sixth; seventh, "encourage a spirit of play" and eighth, religious instruction. "The child a stranger to church and Sunday School most often comes afool of the law."

But Judge Reeker emphasizes the fact that the parent, not the child, is the responsible party. "Correct first the error in yourself; then put your child back in the parade of good citizens," he pleads.

Former President Hoover Sees Hope Though All Men Face An Impoverished World

"All mankind faces an economically and morally impoverished world," declares former President Herbert Hoover, in the February issue of The Rotarian magazine. "If we are inclined to disbelieve that, we need but to listen to the voice of experience. All nations share the ill effects of war."

"In the war expansion of agriculture, the United States plowed up 60 million acres of pasture, and the demoralization resulting from the surplus of this cultivation vexes the nation down to this day," points out this administrator, who has been battling the problem since the last war. "Recovery could have come long since, but so economically unified is the planet that constant shocks from Europe defeated that effort time and time again."

"I spent nearly a score of years dealing with the invisible forces which make for war, peace, and revolution," Hoover, the man who led Belgium, says. "For years it was my sole occupation to care for the homeless, the foodless, the frightened, and the helpless. And when one speaks to me of war, I think of its human cost—not alone in terms of misery while it is in progress, but also in terms of its backwash that affects the minds and souls of men as well as bodies in the years that follow."

Yet Hoover feels that scientific research into the fundamental laws of Nature contributes to the moral and spiritual life of mankind. "Here is the inculcation of veracity of thought in a world sodden with intellectual dishonesty," he says. "Here is confirmation of a supreme guidance in the universe, far above man himself!"

CHEESE IN FAVOR

College Station, March 17.—Cheese is becoming increasingly popular in the American diet.

The bureau of agricultural economics reports that the total consumption increased 36 per cent in the past decade. In 1930 American buyers took 567,592,000 pounds, but in 1939 the total had jumped to 770,003,000 pounds, or an increase of 100,000 tons. Most of the increase was in consumption of American, or cheddar cheese—from 67.5 per cent of the total in 1930 to 72.5 per cent in 1939. The development of process cheese, the bureau's report indicates, was a factor in stimulating consumption.

OH, YEAH?

Start Shelterbelt Cultivation Now

Wichita Falls, March 18.—(Special)—"Weeds and Shelterbelts can't grow up together," stated W. E. Webb, State Director of the Prairie States Forestry Project at the conclusion of a meeting of his field men at which plans for obtaining more and better cultivation were discussed.

There are over 1,800 miles of active shelterbelts in Northwest Texas, continued Mr. Webb. Some of these shelterbelts were planted in the past few years. In order to give the trees in these belts a fair start this spring, the weeds that are now springing up must be eliminated.

Weeds and trees compete for soil moisture and plant food. If the weeds are permitted to grow they will rob the trees of the much needed moisture and nourishment, stunting some and choking out others. Soil moisture brings the plant food out of the ground up into the leaves where it is made into usable plant food which in turn is distributed to all parts of the tree. If the weeds are thick and are greedily absorbing moisture, the tree may lose out in its battle for a fair chance in life.

Mr. Webb advises that all farmers who have belts on their farms get at these weeds now before they get too high and make the job of cultivation more difficult.

GEOLOGISTS SUCCEED

Austin.—Geologists of the United States—and their "first cousins," the mineralogists and paleontologists—chalked up a successful year in 1940 in their contributions to science, and review of some 135 reports to the Geological Society of America and its affiliate bodies indicates.

The Society, with its mineralogical and paleontological branches, met in three-day annual conference on the University of Texas campus recently. Discoveries reported included: First discovery ever announced of fossilized grasses—estimated to be thirty million years old, and evidently "ancestors" of present-day prairie grasses.

Nephrite in California—first authentic jade to be found within the United States.

A new sub-genus of clam in Iran (Persia) which promises to help geologists distinguish between the Tertiary and Cretaceous formations. Fresh water fossilized microscopic plants and animals in Montana, Wyoming and Idaho which indicate these "dry" states were once large fresh water lakes.

A new genus of Archimedes—small amphibian corkscrew-like organism—in West Texas' Hueco Mountains. Other scientists announced: That the earth can be "weighed" by magnetic measurements—and the findings combined with oil well data to build a foundation of information for the oil industry.

That earthquakes can be measured almost directly at the point of underground slippage, by means of new equipment being used on a large scale for the first time this year.

That complicated laboratory equipment has been devised to artificially change the substance of rocks, obtaining the same results which occur in nature—as in mountains, for example.

That helium can be used to "clock" the age of the Earth, by measuring the amount of this gas in a given formation.

That rocks can be "finger-printed" by means of a newly-designed spectrograph which records all mineralogical elements present and in what quantity.

The Farm Credit Administration has announced that the 12 district banks for co-operatives (including the Texas Bank for Co-Operatives at Houston) and the Central Bank for Co-Operatives will reduce the interest rates on new facility loans from 4 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent, effective March 1.

Men Becoming 21 Years Old Since Oct. 20, '40, Not to Register

Men who have become 21 years of age since October 16, 1940, are not required to register for Selective Service training unless on until another registration day is proclaimed by the President. Nevertheless, they may volunteer. This announcement was made today by General J. Watt Page, State Director of Selective Service, because of the numerous inquiries being received at State Headquarters and by local boards.

General Page pointed out that the President's proclamation specifically designated October 16, 1940, as the date for the "first registration under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940," and that the Act provides for subsequent registrations only at the call of the President. Likewise the Act in limiting the first registration on October 16, 1940, to men between the ages of 21 and 36 years on that date.

"The law is clear, therefore," he said, "that any man who was not 21 years of age on October 16, 1940, will not be required to register until the President calls for another registration. However, any male citizen or declarant alien between the ages of 18 and 35 years may volunteer for Selective Service training, unless he is a registrant who has received his order to report for induction."

On the other hand, Director Page pointed out, a registrant who has passed the age of 36 years since October 16, 1940, remains liable for Selective Service training.

At the request of the retailers organization President Roosevelt advanced the date of Thanksgiving in 1939 a week earlier than usual. The purpose was to give Christmas buying a week earlier start. After it was over 73 per cent of the large department stores voted for the earlier date in 1940. Following the Christmas season in 1940, 63 per cent of the large retailers voted for the earlier date for Thanksgiving. Of the stores who began their preparation for Christmas immediately after Thanksgiving, 55.5 per cent said that the earlier date resulted in an increase in Christmas buying.

To Resign?

The Republican National committee will meet in Washington, D. C., March 24, when Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. (above) plans to hand in his resignation. Wendell Wilkie has asked Martin not to resign, to avoid a factional struggle.

Football—

Of course, the players for the positions are not determined until next fall, but at the present, it appears that the only post now wide open is the center spot, and the job of finding a player to fill Joe Wells' shoes will be tough. Kenneth Archer, rookie and David Parkhill, reserve, show up pretty well in this position.

A large crop of rookies can supply a number of surprises, and the strength of the club next fall will be determined to a great extent in these newcomers who will be called upon to supply the much-needed reserve strength for the eleven.

Following are the aspirants for the 1941 Wildcat squad: Rookies — Kenneth Archer, J. W. Solis, Fred Pierce, Bobby Jo Hunter, Billy Fred Short, Gordon Erwin, Clay Vessel, Clifford White, Dan Pechacek, Wilburn Nichols, Billy Diggs, and Leland Lewis, all linemen; and Bill Owens, Ray Davis, Pat McDaniel, John Carter, Lowell Campbell, Glendon Hays and Marion Naron, backs.

Reserves—Paul Veera, Dewitt Caughan, Harold Canup and David Parkhill, linemen; and Charles Nelson, Albert Bird and Rudolf Halenack, backs.

Lettermen—T. L. Owens and Alton Roark, linemen. Regulars—Charlie Thompson, lineman, and Bobby Spears, back.

Social Security For Free People Is Primary War Aim Says Britain's Labor Minister

"My war aim is . . . social security," declared Ernest Bevin, Britain's Minister of Labor, in a speech to the London, England, Rotary Club reported in the current issue of The Rotarian magazine. "If this old country is beginning to weave that into its economic life, now, even while the struggle is going on, is not that the answer to Hitler?"

"If Hitler wins, as indeed if the Kaiser had won, we should have had rule from the top, and that would have meant in certain cases, probably, a social structure in which the masses of people would have been looked upon principally as soldiers for fighting," said this worker who has risen from a childhood of toil to become not only Britain's Number One laborite, but also the veritable czar of labor in England. "Ours has been a different struggle."

"Probably the biggest contributing factor of the present disaster," Bevin continued, "was the failure to erect an economic basis on an entirely different footing for the development of humanity at the end of that (previous) struggle. We have to erect a different one this time. Unemployment has been the devil that has driven masses in large areas of the world to turn to dictators—to turn to anyone. Unemployment and poverty led to social disaster."

"We must begin now, even while the heat of war and the din of battle are on," Bevin insisted, "and, apart from the interests of the moment, let the citizens of this country direct their aims and energies to contributing to the common good, for, after all, the youngest of us has not a long road to go, the youngest of us has not a long time to contribute."

Finally, Bevin declared, "I believe there is in the minds of the great people who have contributed so much to political freedom the same kind of ability which can make, probably in our generation, the greatest contribution the world has ever known to the solution of the economic laws which have caused so much disaster and distress."

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

The United States Government has begun the compilation of a roster of men and women possessing various scientific and other skills. Information is secured by means of questionnaires. It is expected to build the list up to 500,000 included in which will be 150 sciences. The card file on each individual will include all the data, skills, education and history of the individual. The purpose of the file is that in the event the government should need fifty chemical engineers with certain training it can secure the names and addresses of fifty qualified men from the file in a few minutes.

Army orders for lumber last fall totaled a billion and a half board feet, enough to load a freight train 600 miles long. It is expected that lumber consumption for all purposes in 1941 will total 32 billion feet, enough to fill a train 12,600 miles long.

Six years ago the first gallon of 100-octane aviation gasoline was produced in this country at a cost of $30 for one gallon. Am I getting the vitamins I need to protect my health? It is a well known fact that vitamins are essential substances and play a vital part in maintaining health and well being.

Needs often lose vitamins they originally contained, by exposure to air, our ordinary respiration and personal eating habits. You may eat a balanced diet that provides the proteins, fats, minerals, etc., but because of losses in preparing the food not get the vitamins you need. But if you supplement your daily meals by taking VITA-VIM Globules you are certain to get the necessary vitamins for all normal needs.

Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted in the earth.—Psalms 46:10.

The war is costing England $42,000,000 a day. What an eloquent argument in favor of peace and against war.

There are no statistics on it but if there were they would show that fully ninety per cent of the things the average man worries about, never come to pass.

The worst critics of any church are the members who are doing nothing for it either in a financial way or through a contribution of their service.

The nearer the administration of law is kept to the people the firmer the ground on which democracy stands.

Hitler has stolen all the food from the smaller European countries that he has invaded and now this country is being asked to feed the people whom Hitler has robbed.

Every town has one man, who, though his name is never found on any committee to solicit funds for some community project, always makes the occasion of the call of a committee of this kind an opportunity to say a lot of mean and nasty things about the group that is running the town.

I believe that if a high school could turn out the majority of its students equipped to the point that they could spell correctly, punctuate correctly, and use correct English in their speech, nine-tenths of the criticism against their courses and instruction would disappear.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

We often hear the schools criticized because many of the high school graduates do not know as much as the critical adults think they should know.

A certain amount of the criticism is justified in a good many cases, though I feel that any student who has made anything like a reasonable effort to learn, and master his lessons through the grades and the four years of high school, has learned more than often appears on the surface—more, sometimes, than even the student himself realizes he or she has learned.

My chief criticism of graduates from high schools whom I have employed after their graduation is, not that they do not know their geometry, their science, their chemistry or their history, but that they are not better informed as to spelling and punctuation and often the fundamental rules of grammar.

I am not one to be too critical of these things because I realize that these faults and failings are the common faults and failings of a great many people, many who have pursued their schooling much further than the high school and who have later taken a post graduate course in the world of practice and business.

I do feel, though, that a much better job could be done teaching spelling, punctuation, and the simple rules of grammar than is done in many high schools. I recall vividly—even after a lapse of many years of my own scant and very superficial knowledge of the English grammar and its correct usage. I vividly recall that punctuation remained, even up to the time of my graduation, one of the unsolved mysteries of life, and the division of words was a thing concerning which one guesses was as good as another.

OH, YEAH?

Start Shelterbelt Cultivation Now

Wichita Falls, March 18.—(Special)—"Weeds and Shelterbelts can't grow up together," stated W. E. Webb, State Director of the Prairie States Forestry Project at the conclusion of a meeting of his field men at which plans for obtaining more and better cultivation were discussed.

There are over 1,800 miles of active shelterbelts in Northwest Texas, continued Mr. Webb. Some of these shelterbelts were planted in the past few years. In order to give the trees in these belts a fair start this spring, the weeds that are now springing up must be eliminated.

Weeds and trees compete for soil moisture and plant food. If the weeds are permitted to grow they will rob the trees of the much needed moisture and nourishment, stunting some and choking out others.

Social Security For Free People Is Primary War Aim Says Britain's Labor Minister

"My war aim is . . . social security," declared Ernest Bevin, Britain's Minister of Labor, in a speech to the London, England, Rotary Club reported in the current issue of The Rotarian magazine. "If this old country is beginning to weave that into its economic life, now, even while the struggle is going on, is not that the answer to Hitler?"

"If Hitler wins, as indeed if the Kaiser had won, we should have had rule from the top, and that would have meant in certain cases, probably, a social structure in which the masses of people would have been looked upon principally as soldiers for fighting," said this worker who has risen from a childhood of toil to become not only Britain's Number One laborite, but also the veritable czar of labor in England. "Ours has been a different struggle."

"Probably the biggest contributing factor of the present disaster," Bevin continued, "was the failure to erect an economic basis on an entirely different footing for the development of humanity at the end of that (previous) struggle. We have to erect a different one this time. Unemployment has been the devil that has driven masses in large areas of the world to turn to dictators—to turn to anyone. Unemployment and poverty led to social disaster.

"We must begin now, even while the heat of war and the din of battle are on," Bevin insisted, "and, apart from the interests of the moment, let the citizens of this country direct their aims and energies to contributing to the common good, for, after all, the youngest of us has not a long road to go, the youngest of us has not a long time to contribute."

Finally, Bevin declared, "I believe there is in the minds of the great people who have contributed so much to political freedom the same kind of ability which can make, probably in our generation, the greatest contribution the world has ever known to the solution of the economic laws which have caused so much disaster and distress."

Annual Clean-Up and Fire Prevention Week Mar. 30-Apr. 6

Austin.—The Annual Clean-Up and Fire Prevention Week will be held March 30 through April 6, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. State and city-wide clean-up campaigns are scheduled throughout Texas, the campaigns being designated to facilitate public health protection, lessen fire loss, and promote public safety.

The Texas State Department of Health and the Texas Fire Insurance Commission will jointly sponsor the week.

Clean-Up Week is an important week in Texas, important because every dollar invested in property destroyed by fire is a dollar lost forever. "Careless housekeeping" in the home and in business paves the way for tremendous annual fire losses, and all fire loss is, to a large extent, preventable by exercising recognized laws of fire prevention and control.

Every citizen should have pride in his home town, its streets, playgrounds, parks and buildings. Homes and buildings freshly painted, with well kept lawns and gardens, increases values and intensifies community interest. Cleanliness creates confidence.

Preservation of human life is an important undertaking. Any undertaking which contributes to greater human safety deserves the attention of thinking citizens. Clean-Up Week in Texas is such an undertaking. Its advantages are obvious, it contributes to a cleaner, safer, happier place in which to live, no matter how large or small the community.

Cities and towns of Texas will conduct clean-up programs of far-reaching activity. Scheduled for that week are the cleaning, draining and graveling of alleys and streets, the cleaning of city parks and vacant lots and unsightly areas. Malaria control, fire prevention, garbage and trash disposal and related activities of spring housecleaning will be encouraged.

Clean-Up Week, among its other functions, focuses public attention on the dirt and disease problem. It helps to make Texas a healthier, cleaner place in which to live.

National Boys and Girls Week Will Be Held April 26-May 3

John L. Griffith of Chicago, Illinois, "Big Ten" Athletic Commissioner and chairman of the National Boys and Girls Week Committee for the United States, in a statement to the press today, commented on the unusually large number of organizations and agencies which are making plans for extensive participation in National Boys and Girls Week for 1941. Mr. Griffith stated that from all indications the problems confronting American youth are matters of foremost interest to scores of large national organizations. Some of the organizations whose local units are making plans for participation in the 1941 observance, April 26 to May 3, inclusive, are the American Legion, Boy Scouts, Civilian International, 4-H Clubs, Girl Scouts, Kiwanis International, Knights of Columbus, Lions International, National Catholic Welfare Conference, Optimist International, Rotary International, Salvation Army, W. P. A. recreation departments, the Y. M. C. A., and a large number of churches and schools.

It is apparent that the great majority of adults are keenly aware of the fact that if the youth of today can be given the proper counseling and assistance, they will undoubtedly be good citizens of correspondingly good communities. This is the major thought expressed in the objectives of National Boys and Girls Week. During recent months and years the fact has been driven home that the majority of crimes committed by beyond the "juvenile delinquency" type. Instead of overcrowding our penal institutions with youngsters who are not inherently bad, considerable attention has been centered on the influences which lead young people into lives of crime. In almost innumerable instances, it has been discovered that bad conditions, poverty, untimely use of leisure time, and lack of educational and recreation facilities are foremost among the contributing factors.

National Boys and Girls Week represents a period during which the attention of the entire community is focused upon the various phases of the life of youth. It goes beyond that, however, for it is meant to serve as a week during which special attention is focused upon youth. It is the hope of the National Boys and Girls Week Committee that ultimately every week during the year shall be considered as a sort of Boys and Girls Week. It is certain that only through constant attention and activities can the community hope to be able to be of real assistance to youth.

Man might be termed a free being if it were not for his moral, social, religious, economic, physical, mental and general environmental responsibilities. His advent was not of his choosing nor was he consulted about the name he should be known by. He had no choice as to race, or locality, poverty or wealth, into which he was to come, and his social setting was determined by others for him. After arriving on the scene it was years before he was permitted to make his own choices and, when he did, his every decision was passed upon by others as to its quality. He is constantly being reminded that he partly belongs to this thing and that. He is forced to make his choices for life in the most unsettled years of his existence and before he has become matured with experiences. No standard pattern can be made for him for each locality, age, and general environment is constantly changing in some way, and he himself is different from any one who ever lived, in many particulars. But for these things and a lot of others he could be considered perfectly free.

Some worry about "Income" tax while others worry about "Outgoing" tax. European conditions have brought about insomnia to multitudes while others seem to keep from hearing about the war. These are days when liberty does not mean too much to any one individual. We are caught in the meshes on the wheel of our mechanized age and are forced to live in the midst of it. Well, here we are! Every last one of us will go through some kind of gestures toward making life serve us. We will either go through the mill made for us by others or we will try to cheat in the game by terminating our existence here.

Whether life takes on this attitude of grim despair or has a "Cherio" for every one is dependent on one's outlook on life, or rather on the "One" who is looking out on life from within. Life is too complicated to be undertaken without some friend to guide us through uncertain sectors. "There is a friend who sticks eth closer than a brother."

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 23.
The Golden Text is: "All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field; the grass withereth, the flower fadeth; because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it" (Isaiah 40:6, 7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Nevertheless, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (II Peter 3:13).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "He uttered His voice, the earth melted." This Scripture indicates that all matter will disappear before the supremacy of "Spirit" (page 97).

Our Weekly Sermon

No Abiding City Here
Text.—For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.—Hebrews 13:14.

Residence on earth should not be considered the permanent home for the Christian. This world is not our dwelling place; we are but pilgrims here. This is not only set forth in the Scriptures, but also testified to by the consciences of men. We should therefore seriously consider the purpose of our being in the world, and in every possible way endeavor to utilize all our privileges.

What are some reminders of the fact that we have no abiding place on earth? Practically all we possess has come to us from those who dwelled here for a little time and then passed on. Our lands, our homes are ours because they were left to us by others.

Our friends near and far are continually bidding us, good-by, and sooner or later we, too, must leave this world. The fact that we are unable to prolong our stay ought to be a powerful reminder to us. We are hurried along life's journey with a restless hand. How glad we would be to stay the progress of time that we might more fully enjoy life and more fully render service to our generation, but alas, we are obliged to move on at an increased rate of speed.

Observe, however, that there is great blindness on the part of many concerning their brief stay here. Little thought is given to departure from this life. Pleasures and ambitions so fill the mind that no thought is given to the fact that it will soon be over. Therefore little is done to get ready to depart.

A consideration of this great fact that we have no abiding city should move us to adopt a rule of duty. It should convince us that no time is to be lost, and should move us to exert our best endeavor to use every means for the fulfillment of our mission. It will enable us not to allow the pleasures and possessions of the world to occupy too much of our time. It will move us to use the

CAMPUS CHAT

Young people of high schools are forever growing, growing. Tall, short, fat and thin, it with this growth comes new knowledge, experience and an "I know it all" attitude. Some of the things you learn about this are that there are some things that you just have to do, regardless of whether you want or not, and that being nice to people does more good for you than it does for them. Why not remember that, and do your best to be nice to people. And then, of course, there's the cheerful attitude to take when doing things you don't want to. You'll be happier in the end. Try it, and see you aren't.

That's enough on manners, I guess. Soooooo—flash! Estelle has at last won her war, and along with it she got one tie from our Foard City, but she doesn't go to school here, but she is used to it. Of course, his first wife couldn't be Bob—or could it? And how do I know? Well, a boy doesn't camp on a girl's front door step an entire day without being "that a little thing."

Looks as if Mary Edwards and Y. Olds are still going strong. All they are both well kids and kids of a feather flock together. Hmm where have I heard that name before?

And did you know—Bobby Sanders and Reed Sanders go everywhere together. Show, tennis, cycle riding and well—just everything.

Well, here I am—off for the week until next week.

As we stroll eagerly up the sidewalk, the March wind playing havoc with our hair, and the usual drizzle of icy water in our faces completely murdering what left of our makeup (which tends all us with a furious rage, because there stands Johnny on the steps, and Johnny's—well, anyway, we do want to look our best around Johnny), we hear what we take to be the last bell, because always rings just as we mount a first step regardless of what unearthly hour we staggered out of bed or the dreadful rate in which we gulp toast and scald our grudge with coffee in a futile but heroic attempt to arrive on time.

We give Johnny one of "those" glances, and then dismiss ourselves hurriedly in the general direction of the chemistry room. Chemistry ability to find to be in progress—and that progress!! A workout in the lab. We, well, suppose we skip all that takes place, including attempted suicide with chlorine, explosive manufacturing by J. M., and acid-pouring technique by Reed Sanders—and resume this pondering tale of woe when the bell rings. We reel from the lab, to the fresh air again—hic!—and manage to gently let ourselves down the stairs without a broken bone. We make our way back to the study hall where Peggy gives us that "evil eye" which in sign language means "behave," so we proceed to sleep off the after effects of chlorine, ammonia, and mid-night shows. Hey, how'd that get in there!

Third period: Study hall again. Diligent progress is made. Interrupted only once by an important announcement by Mr. Graves; and, oh yes, the time Gabby Randolph got knocked on the head by that little Shirley girl.

Fourth period: Business arith. which is way over our head, so we sit aimlessly drawing nuts all over the notebook with chalk, to say nothing of the back of the black coat in front of us which suddenly looms up with "Kick Me" across it!

Noon: And just when we get set to carry on some intelligent conversation with Johnny, along comes one o'clock and the bell shrills rudely in our bliss.

Fifth period: "Next time you're late to English, it'll be five points off of your grade!" "Yes, gulp, I'll remember!" "And by the way, we'll stick that gum behind your ear the next time you chew in class!" "Aw, it was just paper!"

Sixth period: We saunter into bkp. not even energetic enough to stagger by now. Then it comes: figures, red ink, numbers, wrong answers, empty pens, black lines, totals, cuss words, answer books, jokes across the room in too low a voice to hear, wrong answers, cuss words—and there goes my manicure!

Seventh period: More bkp. Three columns, two columns, to heck with the fifth column! Cash journal, general journal, this journal, that journal—grad, and we were considering journalism!

Eighth period: Peaceful study hall at last!! A stolen conference with our neighbor, a meaning look from Johnny across the way, and our thoughts turn to the show tonight.

When—the bell! Dash to our lockers, grab a book—any book—and we're off! Well, almost off! "My flowers surely do need watering!" Hint, hint, and we bring in a sprinkling can of water. Then we're off. Well, nearly, anyway. Six more weeks of this and we will be off—off for Galveston!

Then only a matter of days, and we'll have our sheep-skins! Great balls of fire! What in the name of Sam Hill'll we gripe about then?

DO'S AND DONT'S

Don't say "I'm pleased to meet you" or "Charmed" to a total stranger when you are introduced, as it sounds insincere.

Do say, "How do you do."

Don't criticize the relatives and

Do speak of them as courteously as you would want them to speak of yours.

Don't try to imitate a movie star.

Do be yourself.

Don't be late, untidy and sulky when you go to a meal.

Do be prompt, tidy, and prepared to have a pleasant conversation.

There have been three of the previous state meetings held in San Antonio since the year of 1919, when the first state Future Homemakers' Texas meeting was held. The first meeting to be held in San Antonio was in 1920-21, when only 150 girls were present. In 1927-28, there were 500 present, in 1937-38, there were 2,576, and Crowell girls were present. This year it will be held in San Antonio again and we are looking forward to a possible 3,000 to be present, in San Antonio April 30, to May 3, and Crowell girls will again be present.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS on Cotton Stamp Program

Article Number Three

Businessmen and farmers alike will benefit under the supplementary cotton program.

For the retail merchant from whom the farmer will purchase the cotton goods, it will mean additional business. For the farmer and his family, it will mean more clothes and other cotton materials.

If every cotton farmer in Foard County co-operated in the supplementary cotton program by reducing his cotton acreage enough to earn $25, merchants in the county would benefit from an additional $22,500 in the purchase of cotton goods. A. V. Sheppard, county AAA administrative officer, points out.

In the last of the question and answer series this week, the AAA official discusses how to use cotton order stamps.

How To Use Cotton Order Stamps

26. Q. After the cotton farmer has been given cotton stamps for voluntarily reducing cotton acreage under the Supplementary Cotton Program, what can he do with them?

A. He can use them in any co-operating retail store or mail order house, in exchange for new products made entirely in the United States. Bindings, buttons, and other fasteners and trimmings shall not be considered in determining whether such commodity is made entirely of cotton.

27. Q. How will he know whether a store is co-operating in the program?

A. By asking within the store. However, experience of the Department of Agriculture with a similar program, the Cotton Stamp Plan, shows that nearly every retail store which sells cotton goods does co-operate. Most co-operating stores will display signs announcing their acceptance of cotton order stamps.

28. Q. Can purchases be made by mail?

A. Stores which qualify under Special Surplus Marketing Administration mail order regulations will be authorized to accept cotton stamps on orders sent by mail, in addition to their authority to receive cotton order stamps on over-the-counter transactions.

29. Q. What are some of the cotton products that can be bought with cotton stamps?

A. Cotton piece goods, dresses, shirts, pants, overalls, children's and infants' clothes, underwear, mattresses, blankets, work gloves, plow-lines, stockings, and any other cotton products.

30. Q. May cotton stamps be used to buy second hand clothes or renovated mattresses?

A. No. Cotton stamps may be used to buy only new products which are made entirely of cot-

31. Q. Will persons using cotton stamps get the same cotton products as persons who pay cash?

A. Yes, and at the same price.

32. Q. May retail merchants give change to customers using cotton stamps?

A. No.

33. Q. Since merchants cannot give change and since cotton stamps are printed only in 25-cent denominations, what is done when the price of the cotton goods purchased does not come out exactly to 25 cents, 50 cents, or some other multiple of 25?

A. Suppose the purchase price is 60 cents. (1) The customer could give two cotton stamps representing 50 cents to the merchant and pay the additional 10 cents in cash, or (2) the purchaser could give the merchant three cotton order stamps representing 75 cents and buy some other cotton goods product that costs 15 cents, or (3) the customer could give three cotton order stamps representing 75 cents to the merchant and receive from the merchant a credit slip for 15 cents which could be used later for the purchase of cotton goods at the same store.

34. Q. Will retail stores accept cotton stamps that have been taken out of the stamp book?

A. No. Cotton stamps must be taken out of the stamp books at the time the purchase is made—except when sent with an order for cotton products to a store qualified to accept cotton order stamps by mail.

35. Q. May anyone other than the person to whom the cotton stamps are issued use them?

A. The person to whom the stamps are issued signs his name on the stamp book. Then, only the person to whom the stamps are issued or a member of the family may take the book to the retail store and exchange the stamps for cotton products. If the retail merchant or clerk does not know the person who brings in the book, he is required to have the person identify himself.

36. Q. May cotton stamps be sold or traded?

A. No. They can be used only to buy cotton or cotton products and only by the person or families to whom they are issued. Any person or any retail merchant who misuses the cotton order stamps will be subject to penalties imposed by Federal law.

37. Q. May cotton stamps be used to pay outstanding bills or accounts? Or may the stamps be used in connection with a "lay away plan" or other installment buying?

A. No.

38. Q. May cotton stamp books be left with the retail merchant, or signed over to a merchant or landlord?

A. No. Stamp books must be kept by the person to whom they are issued for his use as he sees fit in connection with the exchange of stamps for cotton goods.

39. Q. Can cotton stamps be used to repay advances made against the crop, or the landlord's share of the crop, or other indebtedness?

A. No.

40. Q. Must the entire amount of stamps be used at any one time?

A. No. One stamp or all stamps may be used at any one time, or over a period of time, until the total amount of stamps has been exchanged for cotton goods.

41. Q. How can retail stores be designated to receive cotton stamps from farmers in exchange for cotton goods?

A. Retailers handling cotton goods who wish to share in this new business should file with the nearest Surplus Marketing Administration office a statement of intention to take part in the program and to observe the regulations under which it operates. (Experience under the Food and Cotton Stamp Plans shows that practically all retailers co-operate willingly in surplus removal programs of the Department of Agriculture.)

42. Q. What is meant by this "new business?"

A. The 25 million dollars worth of cotton stamps which farmers can earn under the Supplementary Cotton Program will be placed as an "order" in regular channels of trade. From 75,000 to 100,000 bales of cotton will be required to make the cotton goods fill this order. The larger share of each dollar spent for cotton goods, however, goes to employ labor and to pay other costs in the manufacture, transportation, handling and selling of cotton products. The program, therefore, will benefit not only farmers, but labor and industry as well.

43. Q. How does the retailer receive payment for the face value of the stamps he accepts in exchange for merchandise?

A. Retailers may file proper claims for payment, supported by cards on each of which are pasted $10 worth of cotton order stamps, direct with offices of the Surplus Marketing Administration (names and places of which will be made public). Wholesalers with whom retailers are accustomed to do business, or banks co-operating in the program, may also act as agents for retailers in presenting such claims to the Surplus Marketing Administration. (Experience under the Food and Cotton Stamp Plan shows that payments normally are made within two to five days after claims are presented. Bankers throughout the country, where the food and cotton stamp plans are in operation, have agreed unanimously to act as agents in presenting the stamps for payment. Their full co-operation has meant much to the success of the programs.)

More Information on Supplementary Program

44. Q. How may a producer who wishes to participate in the Supplementary Cotton Program obtain additional information about the program?

A. By seeing or writing his county farm or home demonstration agent or his local AAA committee.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Johnson and ushered into the dining room. They were asked to register in the bride's book, presided over by Miss Betty Stinebough. Mrs. Wisdom, assisted by Mrs. Shook, served punch.

A pink and white color scheme was used throughout the home. An isle was made with pink and white streamers leading to the bride's chair. A wedding march was played, and Mrs. Sandlin was ushered down the isle to her chair, on the arm of her cousin, Miss Betty Stinebough.

Mrs. Charles Merriman played piano selections and Mrs. Glenn Shook conducted a number of clever contests. Gifts were presented to the bride by little Paul Warren Johnson and they were viewed by all the guests, following which Mrs. Sandlin gave words of appreciation for the pretty gifts.

Mrs. Clyde Cobb was program leader at the meeting of the P. T. A. Tuesday afternoon in the Grammar School Study Hall.

Sentiment Against Raiding Highway Funds Grows in U.S.

SENTIMENT against the raiding of highway funds is growing in all parts of the United States. Legislatures of 20 states at their 1941 sessions, a nation-wide survey discloses, will consider proposals for constitutional amendments to protect automotive tax funds from being diverted to non-highway purposes.

Last year the people of four states voted for such amendments, making a total of 11 states that have adopted such constitutional safeguards. These states, as indicated on the accompanying honor roll, include California.

—OUR STATE?—
THESE STATES HAVE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS TO PROTECT ROAD FUNDS!

Michigan, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Missouri, Colorado, Kansas, Idaho, Nevada, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Encouraged by the victories in those 11 states, groups of farmers, motorists, motor truck owners and others interested in highway transportation are pressing for the adoption of protective amendments in another score of states. Gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration fees, they point out, were devised to provide funds to pull the states out of the mud. Roads built with those taxes not only are benefiting motorists, but they also are contributing much to the economic and social progress of the states. The practice of taxing the highway users for roads, and then using the funds for purposes having nothing whatsoever to do with roads, it is widely believed, is unfair and unjust taxation.

Because taxing the people for one thing, and then using the proceeds for something else, is a new practice in public policy, present constitutions of the states do not cover the matter. The framers of the constitutions did not foresee the future. Since a legislature is legally free to act as it sees fit in matters not covered in its constitution, the only way that people of a state can express effectively their will against the practice is to bring their constitution up to date by voting in an amendment. That is exactly what they are doing. Public opinion definitely is repudiating the diversion of automotive tax funds to non-highway funds as an unsound and unjust public policy.

VIVIAN H. D. CLUB

"Ornamental roses are the ones we grow for the roses," said Miss Joellene Vannoy, home demonstration agent, to the Vivian Home Demonstration Club which met with Mrs. H. H. Beggs Thursday, March 13, in an all-day meeting.

"Roses should be set in beds large enough to be cultivated," continued Miss Vannoy. "The holes should be deep enough that the roses can be set at the desired depth and large enough for the roots to be spread without crowding. No water is necessary at the time of setting. Roses should be set in the spring to avoid the cold weather and winds of winter."

A shower was given in connection with the club for Mrs. James Sandlin, formerly Miss Mary Owens of Foard City. Misses Neoma and Rosalie Fish presented the many nice and useful gifts to the bride. Several who were not present sent gifts.

Among those present were twenty members and nine visitors: Mesdames Grover Owens, R. J. Owens of Foard City, C. W. Carroll, Elton Carroll, Hubert Carroll of Gambleville, A. F. Derrington, L. T. Derrington of Crowell, J. B. Easley and Miss Vannoy. Mrs. Allen Fish will be hostess to the next meeting which will be all-day Thursday, March 27. "Setting out a screen planting" will be the demonstration.

No one wants a destructive, death-dealing driver on the highways. The habitually reckless ones would be removed under the provisions of a standard driver's license law if Texas had such a law.

Don't let the beautiful scenery of the country-side ruin your vision forever. Statistics reveal that nearly one-fifth of all rural fatal accidents are head-on collisions.

CITY STREET GRAVELING

The WPA project for street graveling in Crowell will be ready for Government approval in a very short time. The Government will not approve this project unless there is at least two blocks connecting to other paving agreed on before approval. If two blocks are agreed on, then the project will be opened and more graveling or paving can be done anywhere in the City if the new paving or graveling connects to other paved or graveled streets.

All persons wanting graveled streets by their property can help in securing this project by talking to the other property owners on their block.
