Grave Markers for Confederate Vets

Last week The News published an item with reference to the fact that unmarked or poorly marked graves of Confederate soldiers are eligible for Government markers and, to obtain a marker, it was necessary for a person to ply to R. E. Sparkman of Italy, Texas.

Since this item was printed it has been learned that these markers can be secured through the assistance of two local men, C. Graham and John E. Long, without cost to the person making the application. Anyone interested in obtaining marker for the grave of a Confederate veteran should investigate the matter through Mr. Graham or Mr. Long and it will receive immediate attention. The markers can be obtained without cost, the Government furnsihing the marker and shipping it to its destination.

HISTORY

Jefferson's Birthday, April 13 Jefferson's birthday was held in Washington in 1830. This first formal observance was one of the framatic incidents in American high feeling that existed among the leaders of the time on the question of states rights and strong central government. Jefferson was a defender of states rights. He believed that the states had certain rights within themselves that the government was bound to respect and with which the government should not interfere. The issues were presented to the people of the nation in debates between Webster who contended for the strong central government with complete autocratic authority and Calhou who defended the sovereignty of the state. Because of the time and the situation that existed the For Commissioner, question aroused keen interest and was vigorously defended partisans on both sides. The fol-lowers of Webster believed that states rights constitute a threat to the Union of the States. The followers of Calhoun believed that the several states could be lova to the government and still retain their certain sovereign rights. the occasion of the first banque Andrew Jackson, who was president, and who was also a cham pion of the strong federal gov-ernment, attended the banquet. During the course of the banquet he proposed a toast setting forth his position. Calhoun rose with the others, glass in hand. Looking at Calhoun, Jackson said: "Our Federal Union: It must and shall be preserved." Calhoun drank the respected. Every small town and many larger towns have the problem when the fire alarm sounds of hundreds rushing to the scene of the fire jeopardizing the lives of everyone on the streets and great-ly hampering the work of the firemen. Threats and ordinances and appeals by city officials do no good. Ordinances are passed but no arrests are made for their violation, and the nuisance con tinues. The firemen put up with it and do the best they can not-withstanding the handicap, well meaning villagers impose upon them. Down in Madisonville, Texas, the fire chief has solved the problem. When the fire alarm sounds he sends his assistant out with one of the fire trucks. The assistant heads for the opposite part of town in which the fire is located. After the crowd has followed off the assistant the second truck leaves for the fire and the firemen are able to do their work unhampered.

Our national income for 1941 was $94.500,000,000, an all time was $34,500,000,000, an all time high. It is being predicted that in 1942 the national income will exceed $113,000,000,000. In 1929 the previous banner year, the national income was $88,300,000,000. At the depth of the depression in 1932 the figure was $39,-100,000,000

BOMBS!

... after 10 Years of Inaction

ASHINGTON is "concerned" because the country has not awakened to the danger of bombs!

And the people are concerned nay, alarmed-because Washington has not awakened to the danger confronting the country!

For 10 years the average American has been exposed to perpetual e-motion. Each so-called "emergency" has resulted in creation of some new alphabetical bureau or agency until today he has little sympathy for the inconveniences of an over-crowded Washington.

With patience exhausted, the average citizen now is demanding something more than words, something more than cajolery to build up his morale.

He wants examples, actions, in high places.

Why, he is asking, is his money (taxes, bonds and stamps) allowed to be wasted on nonessential activities while boys in the armed forces are dying for lack of guns, ships, tanks and planes?

He ordered fighting equipment to rain bombs on the Axis!

No other country can compare with America's potential war production. No other has the men, the machines-or the electric power.

America's electric companies, under trained and experienced business men, are supplying power for the vast more in the vast m power for the vast wartime industries, in addition to your home and business, where it's needed when it's needed and in quantities greater than the combined total of all the enemy countries.

Last year they paid $510,000,000 in taxes—enough money to equip 2,400,000* soldiers . . . enough money to build 9,273* pursuit planes, 2,429* light bombard. ment planes, or 1,522* flying fortresses!

To Whom Shall We Go?

The question, "Lord, to whom hall we go?" was put to Jesus Christ in response to a wistful inquiry to His disciples, "Will ye also go away?" For many who had enthusiastically followed Him because He had fed them, "walked no more with him" when He spoke of the necessity of union with Him by eating His flesh and drinking His blood. "This is a hard saying, who can hear it!" they exclaimed So today many operations this year which ordinarily would require several years, but with normal weather conditions wartime goals for several commodities probably will be exceeded. One ounce of sodium fluoride per gallon of water is an effective solution to use as a dip for lice. Sodium fluoride can also be used as a dust in controlling lice on hens, it was pointed out by Mr. Nagy.

If a person wants to let the hens do the work in controlling lice, he could build a box four feet square out of 1x12's, fill the box three-fourths full of loose sand, spread some ashes over the sand, spread some ashes over the sand, spread some ashes over the sand.
