Veteran Publisher of Quanah Died Sunday Afternoon

Last Rites Held at Home in Quanah at 5 o'Clock Monday

Harry Koch, 74, editor and publisher of the Quanah Tribune-Chief for over fifty years and one of the most widely known newspaper publishers of the state, died at his home in Quanah Sunday night.

A native of Holland, Mr. Koch came to the United States when he was 21 years of age and located in Quanah in 1891. He bought the Quanah Chief and three years later purchased the other Quanah newspaper, the Tribune, combining the two into the Tribune-Chief.

Except for a two-year period from 1929-1931 when he sold, then repurchased the paper from the Hawk-Howe Company, Mr. Koch operated the Tribune-Chief as editor and publisher, until his death.

He served as president of the Texas Press Association in 1917 and was active in the state organization and Panhandle Press Association for a long period of years. Despite his advanced age, he continued in active charge of the Tribune-Chief until a few weeks ago when he became critically ill. Mr. Koch was actively associated with civic leadership in Quanah during the entire 51 years of his residence there. He was a charter member and first president of the Rotary Club and was always active in other civic organizations.

Native of The Netherlands
Koch was born in Nijmegen, The Netherlands, and visited his native country several times during his residence in Quanah. His last visit was shortly before the outbreak of war in Europe. He was a charter member and first president of the Rotary Club and was always active in other civic organizations.

Survivors are two sons, Anton of Quanah, and Fred of Wichita, Kan.; one brother, Marcellus, of Java; three sisters who live in The Netherlands, and seven grandchildren.

Pioneer Resident Succumbs at Home Sunday Afternoon

Funeral for J. J. Brown Conducted at Methodist Church

J. J. Brown, 82, a pioneer resident of Foard County, passed away at his home Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. He had been in failing health for several months, and had been seriously ill for the past week.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at five o'clock at the Methodist Church, with the pastor, Rev. H. A. Longino, officiating at the rites. He was assisted by Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald, pastor of the First Baptist Church. A special musical number, "Rock of Ages," was sung by a quartet composed of John Rasor, Sam Mills, A. Y. Beverly and J. P. Davidson. They were accompanied by Mrs. Paul Shirley.

Pall bearers were Howard Williams, Jim Cates, Sheldon Ferguson, Curtis Ribble, T. V. Rascoe, J. W. Burrow, Ed Cates, and Henry Ferguson. The flower bearers were Mrs. S. S. Bell, Mrs. Ed Cates, Mrs. Oscar Gentry, Mrs. R. R. Magee, Miss Marie Cates, and Miss Annie Rettig. Burial was made in the Crowell cemetery under the direction of the Womack Funeral Home.

James Jenkins Brown was born May 16, 1860, in Viola, Tennessee. He came to Texas in 1878, and settled in 1880, Grayson County. In 1889, he was married to Miss Ella Elizabeth Swindle. The couple moved to Cooke County and from there to Foard County in 1899. They have resided in Crowell and Foard County since that time.

Three children were born to them. Three died when they were small, and six survive their father.

Mr. Brown united with the Methodist Church early in life and had remained a faithful member until the time of his death. He has been one of the county's most successful farmers and has assisted in the development of the county.

Survivors include Mrs. Brown; two daughters, Mrs. T. R. Cates of Thalia, and Mrs. Virgil Smith of White Deer; four sons, Joe J. Brown and Hubert Brown of Crowell, J. Rue Brown of Fort Sumner, N. M., and Travis Brown of Baton Rouge, La. All attended the last rites. Three brothers also survive, J. M. and Ashbury Brown of McMinnville, Tenn., and Will Brown of Roston, Texas. There are sixteen grandchildren.

The American Red Cross will close its Disaster Relief Office in Crowell by the end of this week. Already most of the staff have returned to their regular assignments, or have been transferred to other disaster relief operations. G. Wesselius, the director of the Crowell Tornado Relief operation, returned to Crowell on the 19th to close out the office and to make provision for whatever follow-up is necessary, after the closing of the local office. He expects to return to St. Louis on Saturday.

The Red Cross reports that a total of 322 families registered or were registered by others, following the tornado on April 28th. Several of these families voluntarily withdrew their application for assistance upon finding that they had sufficient resources to meet their own needs. A total of 287 families received Red Cross assistance in some measure, from emergency feeding during the first few days after the tornado to the complete replacing of a home and its furnishings. About $45,000.00 was spent in relief to tornado victims. Contributions to the Red Cross disaster relief fund, locally and from all other sources amounted to $17,493.43. The balance of the money spent for relief was furnished by the American National Red Cross, as was also the expense of the staff of trained workers.

The War Production Board assigned a preference rating to the Red Cross so that priority might be given to orders for materials needed as a result of the disaster. Although this necessitated a great deal of extra work and expense to the Red Cross, the organization was glad to accept this additional responsibility in order to lend greater assistance to the people of Crowell.

Mr. Wesselius advises that arrangements will be made for a brief period to extend priorities assistance to other families in Crowell, who plan on building homes, replacing buildings destroyed by the tornado. John Grennan, building adviser of the Red Cross, who has been in Crowell since early May, will stay here for a short period—tentatively until July 15, for the purpose. His office will be located at George Self's Ford Agency.

In order that contractors and merchants may experience no delay in receiving money due them, Mr. Wesselius urges that all bills be presented to the Red Cross office in the Masonic Hall immediately. After the local office closes, it will be necessary to handle all payments out of the Mid-Western Area Office in St. Louis, Mo.

Rotary Convention in Canada Opened Monday, June 22

Toronto, Canada, June 22.—With 7,000 Rotarians and members of their families present from more than a score of countries, the 33rd annual convention of Rotary International was officially opened today in a colorful ceremony, by His Excellency, the Earl of Athlone, Governor General of Canada, and his wife, the Princess Alice.

Despite wartime travel restrictions in Canada and in the United States, and the difficulties of traveling from other countries to North America, delegates at the convention represented the majority of the 210,000 Rotarians who are members of 5,000 Rotary clubs in some 50 countries of the world. Rotarians already in attendance at the convention have come from Argentina, Australia, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, England, Egypt, Guatemala, Hawaii, Lebanon, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Palestine, Peru, Puerto Rico, South Africa, Switzerland, the United States, Uruguay and Venezuela. This "Congress of Nations" is not only an indication of Rotary's internationality, but also of the soundness of its principles which are based on the belief that differences of race or of creed or of nationality need not necessarily serve as barriers to keep men from being friends.

Scheduled for the 4-day Rotary convention program are addresses, discussion assemblies, committee reports, enacting of legislation, election of officers, and entertainment features. Among the convention speakers will be Tom J. Davis of Butte, Mont., U. S. A., President of Rotary International; T. A. Warren of Wolverhampton, England, first vice president of Rotary International; His Excellency, the Earl of Athlone, Governor General of Canada; Paul P. Harris of Chicago, Ill., U. S. A., founder of Rotary; the Hon. Harold E. Stassen, Governor of the State of Minnesota; L. W. Brockington, famed Canadian publicist of Ottawa, Ontario; Almon E. Roth, president of the San Francisco, Calif., U. S. A.

A.; and Walter D. Head of Montclair, N. J., U. S. A., past president of Rotary International. One of the high spots of the convention program will be a broadcast on Thursday (June 25) the convention from somewhere in Australia by Lt. Col. Carlos P. Romulo, a past director of Rotary International who is on the staff of General Douglas MacArthur in Australia. This program will be broadcast in Canada by the Canadian Broadcasting and in the United States by the Mutual Broadcasting Corporation.

This evening (June 22) there will be a concert for the Rotarians by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan. Gracie Fields, famous British star of stage, screen and radio, will participate in this evening's entertainment program. BUSINESS CAN'T OPERATE AT A LOSS

It is one thing to freeze prices at reasonable and equitable levels as a bar against inflation. It is a very different thing to establish arbitrary price standards which cut deeply into the modest earnings of basic industries.

Gasoline is an example of that. Due to the loss and transfer of tankers, it is necessary to ship gas overland at a far higher transportation cost. But the government has not permitted the oil companies to raise their retail gasoline prices to compensate for this. As a result, one major oil company reports that in April alone the additional expense totaled $2,300,000. All oil companies are in much the same position.

Many similar examples can be found in the field of retail merchandising. Because the general price-freezing order made no allowance for the wide "lag" that has existed between wholesale and retail prices, stores are legally bound to sell many items at little or no profit whatsoever—and to sell some items at a loss. They are thus being directly and heavily penalized for their successful voluntary efforts to hold prices down. Economists in touch with the situation say that thousands of stores, in all retail fields, may be forced out of business unless the price order is corrected.

Prices must be controlled. But there is nothing sound in a price control policy that does not allow a store or an industry to add legitimate and unavoidable increases in operating cost to the price charged for its products. No business, no matter how big or rich, can operate without a profit. And no business which is stripped of its earning power can pay today's gigantic taxes and contribute its due share to the war effort—Industrial News Review.

Importance of books in influencing public opinion will be discussed by Donald Coney, University of Texas librarian in a radio address from Milwaukee, Wis., next week.

when the thirteenth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion is held here July 2, 3 and 4. Many tall tales will be told of yester-years, when the West was wild and woolly and when a man's best friends were his six-shooter and his pony.

Members of the Association pay small annual dues and receive badges which admit them to each rodeo performance and entitles them to a free chuck wagon meal each noon of the Reunion.

Meetings will be held in the Will Rogers Memorial Bunkhouse on the Reunion grounds. This picturesque building, constructed of natural stone, and decorated with many famous brands, forms a fitting background for this historical group. The Bunkhouse, as well as the Coombes Round-Up hall, also of stone, is the property of the Association.

Officers elected last year include Frank Greenwood, Del Rio, who is past 80 years of age and a pioneer trail blazer, as president; Kidd Jefferies, Brady, first vice president; John Davis, Throckmorton, second vice president;

Beauty and Brains Leads Campaign for Soldier Candidates

This is not just a campaign smile that Mrs. Vern Lemens Waxsachie has on her face as she sits behind the campaign manager's desk of her soldier husband working for votes to elect him lieutenant governor of Texas. Proof is that she was selected "Smile Girl" in a national photographic contest before she married into politics. These radiant features helped her selection as a "Cactus Beauty" during her student days at the University of Texas. And her beauty is more than skin deep. Along with that beauty prize she won the highest scholarship prize. She was also Phi Beta Kappa at the University. These prizes and more she won while earning her way as she was earning her way through the University. For further encouragement to opponents it may be said she is a veteran political campaigner now. Working with her husband she has won three previous legislative campaigns.

Her greatest joys are her two sons, age 6 and 3, but she leaves routine house chores to a nursemaid and keeps her place as political partner to her husband. So it was logical for her to carry on the race for lieutenant governor when the senator was called from reserve duty in April. He is stationed at Camp Hood near Austin and under Army rules governing public officials will be eligible for leave during the legislative session.

Progress Being Made

Great progress is being made in the repairing and rebuilding of the homes in Crowell, although this work is far from being completed.

Most all of the buildings in the business section, with the exception of those totally or almost totally destroyed, have been repaired, and work on the repair of the court house is now underway and the process of rehabilitation in Crowell is being carried on at a rate so rapid that it is almost unbelievable.

An instance of the fine work being done by the Farm Security Administration among low income families is cited by H. R. They moved on a tract of ground with a shell of a house and tumble down outbuildings.

It is said that 30,000 chicken farms fail every year. A good many people seem to think that raising chickens is a simple thing and that all there is to it is carrying feed and water to the chickens and the eggs to the market.

There is considerable complaint and chafing over the rationing program but it remains to be seen whether or not it isn't better than the old system under which the man with the money could buy whatever he wanted creating a scarcity and hoarding the price to a point where the man with a small income was unable to buy.

Let Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

The people of America are having their first experience of rationing in the tire rationing, gas rationing, and sugar rationing. Since it is a new experience it is quite natural that there are many rough spots that have to be ironed out by those in charge of its administration, and some adjustments have to be made by consumers.

Due to the fact that we of this country have always known plenty, and have seldom if ever had the experience of doing with less than an abundance, the adjustments are less easy than they would be to a people to whom scarcity is the rule and abundance the exception.

It is interesting, I think, to note the several types of reaction with which the rationing program is received. One extreme is represented by the individual who at the outset resents any interference, on the part of his government, regardless of the purpose and reason back of it, in his personal affairs or liberties as he chooses to call them.

Contrasted to these two types are the great majority of patriotic Americans, who, though inexperienced by the rationing program, feel that it is designed for the great good to the greatest number, and have made up their minds to follow through and do their full part to make the effort succeed.

One family has adopted the practice of weighing out the week's allotment of sugar each Monday morning and making an effort throughout the week to see how little is used and how much can be left over at the end of the week. It brings a new thought to the meals in a home where self-denial has never before been known.

This, it seems to me, is going to be one of the good things that will come out of the rationing program. We of this country have known abundance so long that we have forgotten what self-denial is. It has almost disappeared from the lives of many.

Puffed soybeans, analogous to other "exploded" cereals, may become an acceptable breakfast food. An invention, patented recently, mainly is a method of removing the bitter bean flavor.

HISTORY

Two Events of World War No. 1: Two events of World War No. 1 occurred this week which are of interest at the present time because of world conditions. The first is the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand on June 28, 1914, and the other is the landing of the first American troops in France on June 26, 1917.

Three years later, on April 6, 1917, the United States declared war against Germany, and on June 26 the first contingent of American troops ever to engage in a foreign war landed on the Euro-

GRASSHOPPER SITUATION
College Station, June 22.—Grasshopper control work continued active in the South Plains through the week ending June 18, with such good results that further baiting will be needed, according to Cameron Siddall, entomologist of the A. & M. Extension Service.

Quoting from a report of William J. Spicer, field supervisor of grasshopper control division, Denver, Colo., who is working in the infested region, he says that while baiting still seems to be decreasing to some extent over the whole Lubbock, Hardeman and Glasscock counties increased the amount of bait over that of preceding weeks. This was due to grasshoppers moving in from other counties. About 2,000 tons of bait were mixed and spread in the Texas control area during the week ending June 13.

In the Lubbock area, Siddall says, adult migratory grasshoppers made up about 60 per cent of the population, while in the vicinity of Plainview about 75 per cent had reached adult stage. In Dickens County, the population have become so dense that they number only about a normal population, where they numbered 50 per square foot two weeks ago.

A survey of Hemphill County showed infestation by adults in places high enough to include the county in the control area. Grasshoppers, which moved in from the south, have caused marked damage to wheat and cotton.

Regardless of grasshoppers, reports crops "looking over the south plains area," he says. Wheat harvesting has begun, and practically all of the cotton is planted in the vicinity.

Christian Science Services

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 29.

The Golden Text is: "Lying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrites, and envies, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby" (1 Peter 2:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope" (Romans 15:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science, understood coincides with the Scriptures, and sustains logically and demonstratively every point it presents. It presents the calm

Weekly Sermon

By Max I. Reich, D. D., Director of the Jewish Missions Course, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Enthusiasm for Jesus

The Christian faith, according to its own historic account, claims to have originated in enthusiasm for Jesus. The Gospels and clear verdict of Truth against error, uttered and illustrated by the prophets, by Jesus, by his apostles, as is recorded throughout the Scriptures" (page 358), give us the story. They relate in simple words how faith in Jesus first awoke in the hearts of men. It was spontaneous, enthusiastic leaping forward of heart confidence to a Person. In the presence of Jesus everything was different. Sadness, sickness, sin vanished before His face.

Gradually the disciples were led on to know Him even more intimately, and their intercourse with Him was a succession of surprises. They went from light to light. They were as children of the bride chamber. Faith and enthusiasm for Jesus were synonymous to them.

But this faith received a rude shock. Each one of the four recorders dwells on the collapse of the disciples in the presence of the crucifixion. To them it appeared as a terrible tragedy. It left them a dispirited and disappointed band. But a marvelous thing happened. Their enthusiasm burst forth again in a luster and intensity greater than before.

What had taken place? We have their own word for it—they sealed it with their martyr blood—their Lord had come back to them; He was risen again! They had seen Him; He had spoken to them, giving them many infallible proofs of His victory over death. Thus, if what they had first found in Jesus had kindled their faith, His resurrection rekindled it, and gave them an enthusiasm and a message which enabled them to overcome both the ailments and terrors of the world.

Ten days after the final disappearance of their Lord into the invisible world, the disciples' enthusiasm burst forth in all-devouring flame. It could no longer be contained. They were set on fire by it, and Jerusalem came together to see them burn, thousands of the spectators themselves catching the heaven-born flame. Their very characters underwent a marked transformation. The Christ who had before lived and worked and spoken before them, now lived and worked and spoke within and through them. Christianity did not prove a nine days' wonder. The apostles declared that they had not really lost Jesus. They had not to look back upon the past to realize something of His reality. Not only on the throne of the universe, but He was also with them—within them—whenever they went.

The Christ who could kindle enthusiasm in their hearts could produce that same enthusiastic faith in those who turn to Him today. The secret of a world-overcoming faith lies in the fact that we have more than a tradition of the origin of that faith, more than a history of its rise. We need the record; but that which makes us understand the enthusiasm for Jesus displayed by the people of old, is that the self-same faith has been kindled in our own hearts from the same furnace of divine love. And we, too, confess that He is indeed Jesus Christ the Son of God—our Lord and Saviour.

BALANCING IT THE HARD WAY

Nation Produces Enough Raw Material for Rubber Needs

"United States produces enough raw material from which to make all the rubber we will ever need" according to a statement made this week by Frank Phillips, chairman of the Phillips Petroleum Company. "To build synthetic rubber plants and get them into production requires months of design and construction and thousands of tons of critical material. While plants are being built it is necessary that rubber be conserved until there is a sufficient supply for all purposes. Rubber can be used over and over again. As rubber articles wear out and become unusable the scrap rubber should be turned in to be used again. Present rubber stocks must be reserved for military requirements. Civilians must conserve rubber by making their present tires last until the huge synthetic rubber industry can get into production."

The shortage of rubber for civilian use is only temporary. Large rubber plants are now being built in the United States and additional plants will be built. Substantial production of synthetic rubber will be accomplished by the end of 1943, and will increase thereafter. When this production exceeds military requirements civilians will again be able to purchase tires for their cars.

"Rubber can be made from petroleum, alcohol, and chemicals all of which this nation has a tremendous supply. We have never before been faced with the need to produce our own rubber, consequently, prior to the war, the industry had not been developed. Synthetic rubber, however, has been manufactured in limited quantities by the oil and chemical industries for some time. The Phillips Petroleum Company long before Pearl Harbor, was manufacturing synthetic rubber from petroleum through the operation of one of its subsidiary companies. The Company is now designing and building for the government huge plants for the manufacture of butadiene and styrene, petroleum products from which synthetic rubber is made. The Phillips research staff, its engineers and construction men are working day and night to get these plants in operation at the earliest possible date. Rubber will then flow from the company's rubber plantation of oil wells.

"There has been considerable controversy over the quality of synthetic rubber in comparison with raw rubber, but I am confident that when the synthetic rubber industry gets into mass production and has an opportunity to apply scientific knowledge to the manufacture of rubber, we will produce rubber from petroleum, farm products and many other materials that will be as good or better than any rubber that came from a tree."

"I have been in the oil business for 40 years," said Mr. Phillips, "and during that time the most astounding developments in the oil industry have been in the field of petroleum science. The gasoline we made before World War I would not successfully operate the car of today. Now we are producing the finest aviation gasoline in the world and hundreds of products are now being made from oil. More rubber plants and scientific research will in time solve our rubber problem. In the meantime everyone should turn in every particle of scrap rubber to aid in the war effort during the period of temporary shortage."

The Nation's greatest rose industry is located around Tyler, Texas.

Santa Fe and your WINTER WHEAT

Once more the miracle of the winter wheat harvest is with us. Nature has been kind, in Santa Fe territory, and another bumper crop is indicated. Prices, too, are good.

That is a happy prospect, but it brings serious problems with it—both for you who raise the grain, and for us who move it.

You face a shortage of harvest labor, and a serious lack of storage space, at terminals and in rural bins, because of the unprecedented carry-over of old wheat. We face the job of moving a vast grain tonnage, in a short time, on top of the greatest railroad traffic load in history.

Buy U. S. War Bonds and Stamps

For example, in April, 1941, Santa Fe freight cars moved 108,131,891 miles. In April, 1942, that mileage had leaped to 142,823,878. A great part of that 32% jump represented war freight, that must move first.

Santa Fe pledges every possible help in moving 1942 wheat to points where it can be accepted and placed for use. Of you we ask prompt loading and unloading, and that no car be used for storage, even temporarily. Let's pull together and whip this war-born transportation problem, as we have so many others in the long years we've worked together.

AT YOUR SERVICE—Talk over your transportation problems with your Santa Fe representative. He'll be glad to help with practical suggestions.

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

One of the fastest expanding fields in this country is that of Chemurgy. Chemurgy means literally chemistry working for the farmer or the conversion of farm products into new uses. It not only offers the greatest possibilities of growth and expansion but it has practically limitless possibilities for creating new markets for farm products. Already the products from 40,000,000 acres are being used by Chemurgists. The government is lending extensive aid in chemurgic research. Four research laboratories now employ 750 people. This force will soon be increased to 1,000. Among the things developed by chemurgy is the soy bean, the production of which requires 100,000,000 acres. Its list of products is growing rapidly. Under Chemurgic direction 2,000,000 tung oil trees have been set out in Texas and Louisiana to supply the tung oil formerly imported from China. As a result of chemurgy, milk is now used in the manufacture of a growing list of products. A recent development is a couple of miles to supply flax linen paper to cigarette manufacturers. Previous to the war this was imported from France where 26 mills were engaged in its manufacture. The two mills in this country will require the flax from an additional 100,000 acres of flax. These represent but a few of the many items developed to date that call upon the farm for the raw materials.

It is believed as the search for sources of raw materials continues that through Chemurgy the agricultural industry will be called upon to supply larger and larger amounts of the crops for which there is now little market. The results will be new markets for farm products.

Previous to the war practically all of the menthol used in this country (about 500,000 pounds annually) was imported from Japan. With the attack on Pearl Harbor the price jumped from $3 and $4 a pound to $14 a pound. As a result two chemists set to work to produce a synthetic menthol. They were successful, and have, it is believed, broken the Japanese monopoly on the article for all time.

A unique automatic speed cop is located near Saint Paul, Minn. By means of the photoelectric cell a large sign board lights up and flashes an approaching auto's speed on the board in big letters. If the speed is too great it warns "Slow Down." The car's speed is measured by photoelectric cells and computed by an electric timer.

The coming of the war has brought back to this country an industry which flourished here as far back as Revolutionary days, that of growing hemp for the production of twine, rope and sackling. The industry died out in this country when the importation of the cheap hemp from India, the Philippines, the East Indies, and Mexico made it no longer profitable. Now that the war has made further importation impossible an effort is being made by the government to revive the industry in this country. This spring 3,000 bushels of hemp seed were purchased by the government and sold Kentucky farmers for the purpose of producing more seed. Next year from this seed 350,000 acres will be sown broadcast in the states of Kentucky, Wisconsin and Illinois.

Controlling Black Spot on Roses

College Station.—Black spot on rose bushes is just what the name signifies. Small black spots form and grow larger, and leaves turn yellow and fall off. If a great many leaves are lost, says Sadio Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening of the A. & M. College Extension Service, the branches one by one begin dying at the top and continue dying down into the roots. The lesson in this is that gardeners who wish to preserve the health of their roses should keep leaves on them. Leaves are the medium for supplying food for growth and blooms.

Black spot can be controlled by dusting finely ground sulphur on the leaves once a week until new healthy leaves have formed. The dust should be applied when the wind is not blowing. This pest attacks roses during the cool days of fall and spring. Shade and moisture encourage its spread. Hot dry weather tends to kill it. Some varieties of roses are more susceptible than others. When leaves are destroyed the plant becomes weak and unattractive.

TO MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP

College Station.—A clean dust bag gives a vacuum cleaner its greatest efficiency, according to Bernice Claytor, specialist in home improvement of the A. & M. College Extension Service. This was established by a demonstration with two machines of the same make, one having a clean bag and the other a dirty one.

Used on alternate strips of the same rug, the machine with the clean bag removed 12 times as much dirt as the other. But when the bag was emptied and brushed clean, and the machine run over the surface it had covered previously, the amount of dirt removed was considerably increased. The study demonstrated that machines clean best if the bag is emptied after using, and brushed inside and out once or twice a month. But washing the bag is not advised because this would spoil the finish which helps to make it dust proof.

A speed of slightly more than a foot a second was found to be more effective in removing dirt than moving the cleaner more rapidly over a rug. A cleaner which does a good job on one kind of rug may be expected to do it on other kinds, Mrs. Claytor says, adding that the wear a rug gets from vacuum cleaning is very slight compared to the wear from actual use.

Dr. Roger John Williams, professor of biochemistry at the University of Texas, has recently been awarded the honorary degree of doctor of science by Columbia University.

Texas' highest mountain is the Guadalupe Peak, with an elevation of 8,078 feet.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Aerial Camera for use on Scout and Observation and Reconnaissance planes is essential to both the Army and Navy air forces in planning battle formations and in obtaining information on enemy fortifications and movements. They look something like a cannon, and cost about $3,400 apiece.

The aerial cameraman can plot wide territories in bold relief so that Army or Navy Intelligence can make accurate measurements of enemy territory. We need many of these cameras so necessary to the air arms of the Army and Navy. You can help buy them with your purchases of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day, and help your country go over its War Bond Quota.
