Red Cross Shipment Recently Made

There has recently been made a shipment of 188 garments to Red Cross headquarters from the Crowell chapter. The garments were made between March and July. This shipment included sweaters, helmets and wristlets.

The next required quota for shipment will be for 120 sleeveless sweaters, 60 pairs of gloves, 48 helmets and 110 muffers for the Army and 40 T-neck sweaters for the Navy. Despite the hot weather, it will be necessary for those who have been knitting to continue the work and for new knitters to start and assist with the work. It is earnestly desired that enough volunteer knitters help put the quota across, as has been the case heretofore.

Thread for knitting any of the named garments can be secured from Mrs. H. Schindler, either at her home or at Dr. Schindler's office down town.

Thalia High School Pupils Must Be Transferred

All high school pupils residing in the Thalia School District must be transferred by parent or guardian to Crowell or to some other appropriate High School prior to the deadline, July 31.

The above statement was issued by Judge Leslie Thomas, County School Superintendent, to eliminate any confusion that might have existed with reference to such transfers, it being believed by some that it would not be necessary to make transfer of such pupils but that same would be automatic.

After teaching there a number of years, he and his family returned to Missouri in September, 1900, following the disastrous Galveston storm, in which a two-year old son and a six-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steele were killed. Their home was completely wrecked and practically everything they had was lost. Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Steele, two daughters dying after reaching maturity.

Mr. Steele was a devoted member of the Methodist Church and was a regular attendant at all services as long as his health would permit. He had a sunny disposition and made daily visits to the business section of town for several years, during which time he endeared himself to hundreds of men of this county.

Survivors include the widow; two sons, Earl and Roy Steele, of Crowell; eleven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

MAKE WAY FOR (MISS) CASEY JONES

Railroading has always been a man's game but since the war some of the toughest jobs have been taken over by women. Among the scores of feminine workers on the Santa Fe, Nell Arkie (lower left) is a locomotive supplier; Georgina Leiker (top) repairs typewriters and Aurora Ortega operates a drill press in one of the railroad's busiest shops.

"Stay At Home," Urge Government Travel Experts

A girl from a small town in Wisconsin was sitting in Union station, Washington, D. C., having a bad case of hysterics. She had come East because a friend had told her there were "plenty of jobs," and she had stood up on the train all night. Tired and disheveled, she arrived in the Nation's capital with no immediate job prospects, no place to stay, no friends in the city, and not enough money to tide her over while she looked for work. She wished she had stayed home and taken an essential civilian job in her own community. Traveler's Aid came to her rescue, saw that she got a few hours sleep, and made arrangements for her return home.

This case is typical of the many that are reported to Traveler's Aid every day in railroad stations throughout the country. Loss of sleep, sore feet, and lame backs are only a few of the many discomforts of traveling these days.

All Cities Crowded

Cities are overcrowded, and Washington is not the only town where it is difficult to find a place to stay. More than 150,000 workers have moved to Baltimore since 1940; in New York and northern New Jersey, 12.6 per cent of the population of the country is now living in 1.7 per cent of the total area of the United States; other war production areas are similarly jammed.

When you start out on a train trip, you had better be prepared to "rough it." The railroads are doing their best, but wartime conditions make traveling most uncertain. Trains are side-tracked to let troop trains go through, and passengers miss their connections.

Manpower on the Home Front

Thousands of men arriving for work in a Bethlehem steel mill and shipyard. Down this yard's busy shipways slide many of the nation's cruisers, destroyers and aircraft carriers. Bethlehem repeatedly has made records for delivering vessels well ahead of schedule.

This is the story of manpower in Bethlehem steel mills and shipyards, of men and women who have come by the thousands from all walks of life to do a job in backing up our fighting forces with a continuous flood of materials. These men and women are vital to the battle of production.

Manpower at Bethlehem Steel has been multiplied three times in three and a half years. Here are the figures:

NUMBER OF BETHLEHEM EMPLOYEES
Poland invaded, September 1939	100,000
Fall of France, summer 1940	120,000
Pearl Harbor, December 1941	190,000
Tunisia, May 1943	290,000

Facts About Bethlehem Workers

Manpower is the heart of Bethlehem's current production of a ship a day. Manpower makes possible the meeting of its large commitments for ordnance and other war-steel products. All other problems such as materials and supplies are secondary — the essential dependence is on manpower.

Thousands of men from non-essential trades are joining Bethlehem war-work armies. More than 13,000 women are employed at Bethlehem plants and shipyards, and the number is constantly increasing.

Veteran employees are zealously teaching the newcomers, so that they can quickly handle their appointed tasks.

New employees earn while they learn, in special training classes and in on-the-job training. Sympathetic study of each person's abilities puts "square pegs in square holes."

Wages are the highest in the history of shipbuilding and steel, and in the top group of all industries.

Promotion is rapid, as opportunity to advance comes far more swiftly than under normal conditions.

Bethlehem employees are friendly, high-grade people. The great majority have education in the high school grades, and thousands are graduates of colleges, crafts and professions.

More than 50,000 Bethlehem employees are now serving in the armed forces, a fact which gives added seriousness of purpose to those working to produce the supplies.

To work in Bethlehem shipyards and plants is to be in the front line of industry, doing a real job to help win the war.

SOME NEW BETHLEHEM EMPLOYEES FROM VARIOUS OCCUPATIONS

From leatherworker, to shipyard operator.	From driller on jewelry, to burner.	From auto salesman, to materials inspector.	From plumber, to meter repairman.	From office clerk, to ship draftsman.	From delivery man, to garage leader.

FROM ALL OCCUPATIONS

Bethlehem workers come from virtually every walk of life to serve in these war-work armies. Here are 60 instances of former occupations of men and women who are now producing ships and combat materials.

farmer is in position to know the condition of his field and decide whether his cotton needs poisoning.

Before dusting for fleahoppers the terminals of one hundred consecutive plants should be examined and both the wing and wingless forms counted. Fleahoppers are green bugs about the size of a gnat fly, which feed on the tiny squares, principally on top of the cotton plant. If 15 or more fleahoppers are found per hundred plants, dust with twelve to fifteen pounds of dusting sulphur an acre, Gregg says. Check for fleahopper damage as long as the cotton is putting on squares and dust at seven day intervals unless the count drops below fifteen per cent.

When the plants have an average of four to six squares about one-third grown or larger, start checking for boll weevil damage. The easiest method for checking is to walk diagonally across the field and pick an equal number of squares from the bottom, middle and top of the plants until one hundred have been collected. If ten out of the one hundred squares have been damaged by feeding punctures or egg strings, then dusting with five to seven pounds of calcium arsenate will pay. Repeat the application at five day intervals until the damaged squares drop below ten per cent.

Leaflet C-182, "Guide for controlling cotton insects," and information on the supply of calcium arsenate and dusting machinery may be obtained free from the county agricultural agent.

Silage Helps Milk Production

We submit the following because of its importance to those who have dairy cows and it will apply as well to all who have any kind of cows to feed this coming winter or during a dry summer when green feed is scarce.

Maintenance of milk production on Foard County farms will be greatly influenced by the quantity of feed which goes into silos over the county in the next three months. E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the A. & M. College Extension Service, says that the coming ninety days are the principal silage making period in Texas. With the feed situation as it is he recommends that every dairyman should make his greatest effort to store at least three tons of silage for each cow in his herd. In most years it requires three tons to furnish a cow all of the silage she will eat.

In order to obtain the maximum milk production at the lowest cost, Eudaly points out, cows should have all of the roughage (silage, grass and hay) they can eat. Silage and hay will produce more milk than will hay alone when the cows are getting no green pasture. There are two reasons for this. One is that silage is two-thirds water by weight, and cows must have water as well as feed in order to produce milk. It is no secret that the more water cows get in their feed the less they will have to drink. In cold weather it is pretty difficult to persuade a age of hay that becomes wet in the field from a light shower or heavy rain.

These fires may be prevented by practicing the following suggestions:

1. By curing all hay well, a load or a part of a load of uncured hay may cause the loss of all the hay in the barn. Avoid storing moist hay.
2. By distributing each forkful as evenly as possible over the entire storage surface.
3. By not placing straw, fodder, bundles of grain, or grain either at the bottom or on top of stacks of alfalfa or other legume hay.
4. By guarding against the hay getting wet from defective roof, doors, windows or other openings.
5. By exposing the hay to the air as much as possible in the process of storing and after storage.
6. Therefore adequate curing and proper storage of hay will eliminate the hazard of spontaneous ignition, says Eugene Sanders, Fire Prevention Chief and Ass't. State Fire Marshal.

Be Your Own Judge

We are not alarmed, neither do we pose as an alarmist, our only purpose in this insect control work is to know what the situation is in the county and to help the grower to become informed about his own cotton insect situation and use his judgment whether it will pay to use control methods or not.

Certainly no control is necessary unless he has an infestation sufficiently serious to justify extra effort and expense on his part.

The only threat at present is the cotton flea hopper which you will find in practically all fields of older cotton and practically all cotton is now old enough to suffer damage from this insect as it begins operation as soon as small forms begin to develop.

There is an occasional attack of boll weevil and later we may expect boll worms and leaf worms. Since these insects do not appear with any degree of regularity some will need to dust while others will not.

A grower should examine his cotton weekly until it is ready to pick and make an infestation count of insects. In that way a

Be Patient
 While thousands upon thousands of our young men have entered the service of their country, if not in combat units, then in some activity to aid in the war effort, it is time for those of us at home to remember that all businesses are operating with a shortage of help and recognize at a glance that it is impossible for merchants of all lines to give the service they once did and the service that customers had become accustomed to before the stress of war times.

Merchants are also confronted with the task of securing many items of merchandise needed and wanted by customers. In all instances they are doing their very best to obtain these things, but if they can't get them, they just can't. So, be patient.

All stores and places of business are being carried on with what help that is obtainable and in every instance the merchant is putting forth every effort to satisfy his customers by working long hours and doing as much of his own work as possible, so we say again, have more patience.

This is total war and every individual is obligated to carry on to the best of his ability under all circumstances.

There is that about the home town that causes its residents to prefer it above any other town and to think of it as home. No matter where they go on a trip or what sights they see or places or people they visit, they are always glad to get back to the home town with its familiar scenes and friends and associations. There is that about its associations that seem to provide an anchor, a restraining influence that steadies and gives direction to life. Did you ever stop to think what this intangible something about the home town is worth in dollars and cents? It isn't a thing that can be measured in terms of dollars and cents. It has a more real and a more personal value—a value that can only be computed in terms of living, and satisfaction, content and settled peace. Did you ever stop to think that if the home town is to continue to furnish such a haven that it must receive the support of its people. Its people are going to have to insure this sense of security that it gives by spending their money at home. It may even be that they are going to have to pay a little more for things they buy at home, but the little extra is a cheap insurance for the spiritual values that each citizen receives from his home town—spiritual values that are more enduring than any material comforts that his money can buy. We've got to keep alive the home town if we want to keep alive the thing that gives to all our material possessions their greatest value. We must strive to keep it alive by spending our money at home.

Nothing looks quite so glamorous and quite so keenly alive as a high school junior in her first formal.

Labor leaders might as well wake up to the fact that the mass of sentiment the country over is opposed to stoppage of work in war plants during the war. There is a deep rooted feeling that work should be kept going while differences are being ironed out, and, if differences can't be ironed out, they are not very important differences.

HISTORY
 Feast of St. Dominic—Aug. 4: St. Dominic was born at Carlaroga, Spain, in 1170. He was the founder of the Dominicans, or order of Preaching Friars. He is believed to have been a member of the Guzman family. He was a student of theology and in 1195 became a Canon of Osma in Satalle. In company with his Bishop he traveled extensively throughout Europe reaching as far as Denmark. Returning to Montpelier he found officials of his church discussing ways to meet the disposition of people to drift away from the Catholic faith. He at once sought a plan to keep the people loyal, and in 1215 formed the order of preaching friars. The order spread rapidly and in the eighteenth century had grown to such an extent that it maintained a thousand houses in various parts of the world. It was introduced into the United States in 1805 and a score of Dominican houses have been set up. Many churches have been named for the Saint and he is highly esteemed by his own church.

There is a growing feeling among the level headed members of labor organizations that the soldiers who may feel themselves double crossed by strikers while they are away on the firing line, may, when they get back home, seek to eliminate the labor czar domination of Federal Government and give Washington the scouring it deserves.

The recent floods covered some twelve million acres of farm land in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas. The fact that labor and machinery is not available in sufficient amount will make reseeded difficult. Similar floods have occurred nearly every year in these areas but never at a time when food was so critically needed as it is this year.

They are telling this one: "Who," the leader asked the young student, "was the first president?" "Washington," was the reply. "What was his first name?" "George," the boy replied. "Now, Robert, who is president of the United States today?" "Roosevelt," was the reply. "That is right Robert, now what is Roosevelt's first name?" "Eleanor," was the reply.

The food problem is going to continue for some time after the war. More effective than guns and planes and tanks among the civilians of countries involved will be the matter of food. A hungry man is easy to deal with if the argument being used is food. For this reason the farm outlook should continue good for some time after the war.

It is reported that all Republican precinct committeemen are receiving copies of Wendell Willkie's book "One World." These are being paid for and sent by admirers of the author.

Brooks Food Market Having Birthday Sale

A half page ad will be found on page five of this issue announcing the second anniversary sale of Brooks Food Market. J. T. Brooks, owner and operator of the store, bought the Fox Grocery two years ago. The building was destroyed by the tornado, but was replaced by a more modern stucco building. Mr. Brooks is offering bargains in groceries during this sale Friday and Saturday.

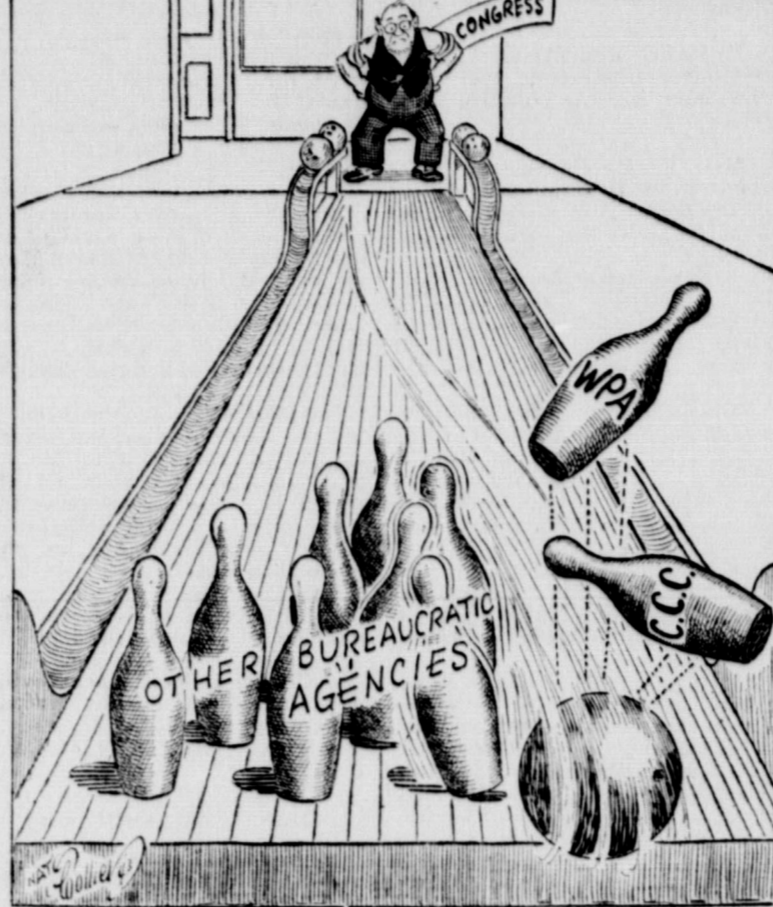

ROTARY CLUB

The program for the Wednesday meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club was in charge of Verne Walden and consisted of a classification talk by Hubert Brown, grain elevator and flour mill operator member of the club. Roy Ayers, a member of the Foard County War Price and Rationing Board, was a visitor. J. P. Davidson, city secretary, attended for the first time as a new member.

WILL HE TRY FOR THE SPARE?

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

A feature of the last World's Fair held near New York City, was a section devoted to "The World of Tomorrow." Here an attempt was made to show the advancements that would come in the future. Most of the concepts expressed had to do with the products of industry and new ideas in manufacture that would add to the pleasure of living.

Most, in fact all, of these plans are nebulous day dreams, born of hope, but without tangible form or definite concept. All of them that apply to the world situation seem so remote from most of us that we, as individuals, cannot see where we can hope to have any voice or part in their making, regardless of how sound and sane our ideas for a postwar world may be.

Already plans have been made to convert war industries into the manufacture of implements of peace as soon as demand for war munitions comes to an end. The great need for worn out civilian equipment and the production of the new things that industrial engineers have planned will furnish labor for many thousands for some time to come.

It is in regard to these that we at home can exert our influence and resource to the shaping and framing of a policy and a plan whereby our own communi-

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

The term subsidy as applied to agricultural products is an incentive payment. In the matter of cheese, for example, when retail prices were frozen, a subsidy was granted cheese processors to make up for the small margin between the price paid dairymen for milk and the price which processors were permitted to ask for their cheese.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York has offered a bill in the Senate to expand the Social Security program to take care of everyone from the cradle to the grave. The estimated cost is five billion dollars a year.

The term "radar" means radio-detecting-and-ranging. It is made possible through the use of the electric tube. Ultra-high frequency waves traveling with the speed of light (110,000 miles per second) can be focused and sent air and sea. When they strike an enemy ship or plane, they bounce back. A means is provided to measure the time required for the wave to reach the distant ship or plane and return. In this way the exact distance of the given target is discovered.

On the night of November 14, off Guadalcanal there lay a Japanese battleship. It was a stormy night. Eight miles away was a ship of our fleet. With the use of radar our ship with its second salvo sank the Jap battleship in the blackness of the night. No one on our ship had seen the Jap battleship and it was not possible for the gunners to see their target. The location of the ship and the pointing of the gun was all figured out with unbelievable accuracy. Because of the great quantity of wool coming into this country on ships returning after taking war supplies to Australia, the rationing of clothing appears unlikely at the present time.

Alaskan Highway Is a Job for Engineers to Feel Proud
 "That Alcan Highway in Alaska is a road building job any group of engineers could be proud of, Sgt. B. F. Jameson, local United States Army recruiting representative, said this week.
 "The Army Engineers built that road in record time, cutting their way through plenty of tough ground to get it done. They had the tools all right, the best, newest machines the Army could get, and they had the men, all soldiers, right down from the boss to the boys with the shovels.
 "But most of all they had the idea that they were building that road to make Alaska safe from Japan. And they had the idea of build and fight—the watchword of the Army Engineers.
 "Army Engineers are ready to build and fight in all parts of the world where they are needed. They built a highway to Alaska. Today they're on their way to an island in the South Pacific to turn it into an air field for bombers going to Tokyo. There's room in the Corps of Engineers for all sorts of construction men—there is lots of real work to be done, now, fast, building for our victory."
 Men who are between the ages of 18 and 38, inclusive, may volunteer for induction. Men who are between the ages of 38 and 50, inclusive, may volunteer for enlistment.

Stirring Slogan Set for Third War Loan Drive in September

Austin, July 21.—"Back the Attack with War Bonds" That Secretary Morgenthau Jr., of the U. S. Treasury notified Frank Scofield, Texas War Bond Administrator, will be the stirring slogan for the Third War Loan Drive in September. Secretary Morgenthau Jr. telegraphed Mr. Scofield that this trumpet call to Texans to invest more millions in War Bonds for our fighting forces was inspired by the march of United Nations forces against Fortress Europe and Japanese bastions in the Pacific. "Thousands of Texas volunteers, men, women and children, who daily back our attacks on the enemy by constant sales of War Bonds and Stamps readily will rally to the Secretary's war cry for the Third War Loan Drive," Mr. Scofield declared. "The United Nations are on the march," Secretary Morgenthau said. "The first rumblings of the big offensive are being heard in all the axis nations. Thousands of our men are storming Sicily. Tons upon tons of bombs are dropping on Germany. We are attacking Jap-held territory as never before. This is a great day for us." Asserting this means the time has come for us to really tighten our belts on the home front, Secretary Morgenthau continued. "We have come to a most crucial period of the war. The success that we will have on the fighting fronts will depend to a considerable extent upon the degree to which we here at home are willing to work and sacrifice for ultimate victory." He emphasized that victory is going to be costly. Billions of dollars more must be spent to keep the material of war going to our men at the fronts. Your government must call upon you, the American people, for that money. "The real war has now only begun. Everything is at stake."

Renewals of Basic "A" Gasoline Ration Book Must Be Made

Renewals of Basic "A" gasoline ration books are being made this week in the office of the local War Price and Rationing Board. There has been only about one-third of the applications sent in to the board and the longer the applicant waits to make the renewal the more delay there will be in receiving the new books. These application forms can be secured at all service stations in Foard County and should have been in before the 22nd of July. There has been about 550 books made and mailed this week, together with the new tire inspection record, which is about one-half as large as the old inspection record. This tire inspection record must be kept with the vehicle at all times, and must not be misplaced or lost as there will be no replacements of this form. In 1941 and 1942 civilians in the United States ate more, drank more, and smoked more per capita than at any time in the past century.

Marvin Jones' Crop Report

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones said recently that, on the average, farmers are meeting this year's production goals for field crops. Earlier reports indicated that livestock and livestock products also will reach production goals. Mr. Jones said: "We will have enough food in this country—given at least average weather for the rest of the year—to give civilians adequate and healthful diets, in addition to meeting military and other essential wartime requirements. This does not mean, of course, that there is any better chance than appeared earlier for having all the food that civilians would like to buy, or that civilian supplies for some individual items will not be far below the demand."

Soldiers' Life Insurance

Soldiers—at home or abroad—are reminded that less than three weeks remain in which they can get National Service Life Insurance without a physical examination. Until August 10, 1943, every application will be accepted regardless of the individual's medical condition. After August 10 a rigid physical examination will be required.

Program To Avoid Clothes Rationing

A program to make clothes rationing unnecessary, recently announced by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of WPB, contains these six points: (1) increased production, (2) orderly and adequate distribution, (3) more "volume" merchandise, (4) allocation of materials to essential needs, (5) increased imports of burlap, and (6) proper care of clothing by consumers. There is an adequate supply of textiles to meet civilian needs, the WPB has determined.

Farmers Will Get Gasoline

Farmers are entitled to first call in receiving motor fuel when they present valid "E," "R" or bulk coupons or ration checks which are issued pursuant to Ration Order 5-C of the Office of Price Administration. Dealers (whether retail or wholesale) must accord them this privilege. This means, that if necessary, the dealer shall not deliver any motor fuel for any non-agricultural or non-military use until these preferred demands have been "satisfied"—statement by Acting Petroleum Administrator for War Ralph K. Davies.

Dairy Products Supplies

Civilians will get 3 of every 10 pounds of butter produced in the year which began July 1, the War Food Administration has announced. The Armed forces will get 1 1/2 pounds, and the Russian Army will get 1/2 pound. Civilians will also get 5 1/2 of every 10 pounds of cheese, and 4 1-3 cases of evaporated milk out of every 10.

Dry Beans For Civilians

Civilians will get more dry beans and peas this year than they consumed in 1942, said the WFA in announcing allocations of these foods. More than half of the 22,200,000 hundred pound bags of beans will go to civilians, who will also get 1,624,000 bags of dry peas—more than were eaten in 1942, and 76,000 bags more than the 1935-39 average civilian consumption.

Canned Vegetables and Fruits

Nearly 70 per cent of the canned vegetables, and 53 per cent of the canned fruits and juices available in the next 12 months will go to feed civilians. These quantities, allocated by the WFA for the 12 months beginning July 1, constitute about 4 per cent more canned vegetables but about 40 per cent less canned fruit than were consumed on the average during the 1935-39 period.

Egg Supplies Hold Even

About the same quantity of eggs will be available to civilians in the 12 months beginning July 1, as in the same period last year, the WFA has indicated. Of a total of 5 million dozen eggs, civilians will get about 3 1/2 billion dozen.

Soldiers Send Money By Radio

American soldiers overseas except those in Alaska, Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone, and Puerto Rico may now send money home by radio. In a recent week more than 9,000 soldiers sent nearly $1,000,000, in amounts of $10 or more, with no maximum limit. Money may be transmitted to an individual payee, or to a bank. The process is speedy and sure. If a soldier desires to do so, he may also purchase war bonds by this method.

Forests in South Set Fine Record

Record breaking timber sale business for National Forests in the South during the fiscal year just closed has been announced by Joseph C. Kircher, Regional Forester for the U. S. Forest Service. Nearly $2,000,000 in revenue were returned to the U. S. Treasury from the sale of timber and other forest products.

No Corn For Liqueur

Corn cannot be used for manufacture of distilled spirits and high wines, a recent directive of the War Production Board says. The action was taken to conserve stocks of corn for essential purposes, although the amount of corn saved is likely to be small because distillers already had shifted largely to the use of wheat.

No Cotton Quotas For 1943

The War Food Administration, on recommendations of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, has announced that there will be no marketing quotas for the 1943 cotton crop and that no quotas will be in effect for the 1944 crop. On July 1, farmers were cultivating about 8 million acres less cotton than the acreage permitted in 1943, and about a million and a half fewer acres than they were cultivating on July 1, 1942.

Farm Land Values

Farm land values on March 1, 1943, were higher than they were in 1942, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said, in explaining that the index of average per acre values had risen to 99. (1912 to 1914 equals 100). The index of average per acre values in March, 1942, was 91. A low point of 33 was reached in 1933 in the aftermath of inflation started during the last war. One anti-inflationary force at the present time is the fact that many farmers have been using a considerable part of their cash income to pay off mortgage debts.

Country Shipper Berry Prices

Maximum prices of seven kinds of fresh berries for table and home canning use have been set by the OPA. Maximum prices, per pound, f. o. b. country shipper points, are set as follows: red raspberries 18 cents; black raspberries 16 cents; youngberries, boysenberries, loganberries, and blackberries 15 cents; gooseberries 11 cents. These prices represent a sharp rollback at the country shipper level and comparable prices have been established at wholesale, both of which are expected to reduce prices of berries to consumers.

8 Million Pounds of Waste Fats

American housewives salvaged almost 8 million pounds of waste kitchen fats in May—highest total since the fats and grease salvage program was started. This result surprised government officials who said that a drop might have been expected because meats and fats have been rationed since March. Nevertheless, the 8 million pounds is only about 50 per cent of the needed quota of 16,667,000 pounds per month.

Rollback of Vegetable Prices

Effective July 20, a rollback of about 25 per cent in the price of lettuce and 50 per cent in the price of cabbage was ordered by the OPA. This was the first step in a program to cut back the excessive prices of fresh fruits and vegetables to keep the cost of living down.

More Community-Wide Prices

OPA will continue to establish community-wide prices on foods sold at retail, even though it has recently issued over-all fixed mark-up regulations. The housewife cannot easily tell whether a storekeeper has made his prices by the mark-up method and that is the reason OPA will proceed with community-wide maximums.

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

The Miracle of Forgiveness: We read in the Scriptures that one should forgive his enemies. The mention of this in the Scriptures is by no means a casual thing that matters little whether one forgives his enemies or not. It is more than this. Forgiveness of wrong is one of the fundamental principles of the Christian religion. Without forgiveness there is no religion. The heart that cannot forgive a wrong has no religion in it because religion and an unforgiving spirit cannot abide together. I think that too often as we read the many injunctions contained in the Scriptures that we must forgive our enemies as those who might do us a great wrong. Many people never suffer a great wrong at the hands of some one else, but nevertheless they have, by treasuring up the little, petty wrongs and slights that Christ as completely out of their lives as though their hearts were filled with a burning resentment against a great wrong. Christ does not ask us to forgive another's wrong because of what it will do for the offender, but because of the miracle that the act of forgiving performs in our own heart. The virtue of forgiveness does not consist so much in the fact that a wrong has been forgiven as it does in the attitude of the heart that prompts the forgiving.

Canada Develops Training Table For Her Air Men

THE ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE has raised cooking to a new plane and what was once considered an art reserved for mothers and chefs has become a highly developed science.

The revolution in mass-feeding was achieved recently when the Royal Canadian Air Force adapted the modern science of nutrition to the development of a fighting and flying force, and recognized the importance of diet and eating habits to its efficiency. To accomplish this, the Royal Canadian Air Force has made marked changes in military feeding methods. Medical men were invited to recommend a basic ration, then dietitians were put in charge of airforce kitchens across Canada as messing officers.

This was the first time in the annals of modern warfare that women had looked after the cooking arrangements for a fighting force. The job of preparing varied diets within the basic ration was handed over to them, and a test kitchen was created to assist them in evolving the tastiest and most nutritious recipes. Nutrition laboratories were set up to test the meals served at the different stations.

Dietitians were drawn from restaurants, hotels and hospitals to supervise the feeding problems of the Royal Canadian Air Force. They plan the menus and instruct the cooks in the best methods of preparing and conserving food.

A survey of the food habits at representative Air Force stations showed 33 percent of the personnel didn't drink all the grapefruit juice in their ration. Others didn't drink enough milk or eat cheese, yet these were the very foods that were needed as a source of calcium, and many of the vitamins essential for sound teeth and bone structure.

A color movie, called "Training Table" was created by the Royal Canadian Air Force medical branch to educate personnel in proper eating habits. The film explains how proteins repair the body as mechanics repair damaged aircraft, and how pilots who finish a flight in bright weather with tired and watery eyes often suffer from a lack of riboflavin.

The new test kitchen has three jobs to do. It must develop suitable and accurate recipes for cooking large quantities, from the basic ration. It experiments with methods of food preparation. Thirdly, it tests food products from the standpoint of suitability to service conditions, particularly new types of dehydrated foods, special rations and ration containers.

Once these test kitchen methods are determined they are taught to cooks in training and Messing Officers, who will in turn put them into effect in stations across the country.

Canada Develops Training Table For Her Air Men

That's no dessert spoon being wielded by the young lady—and it's no quart size she's cooking in. This young lady has learned how to prepare food in large quantities for Canada's air force, working with equipment like this. Quantity recipes were carefully developed and tested in the kitchens at the R.C.A.F. School of Cookery.

To prepare and serve the best and most nutritious food possible is the aim of R.C.A.F. dietitians, and to assist them in their work, laboratories are established throughout Canada. Here (above left) a member of the R.C.A.F. Women's Division is working in one of the nutrition laboratories.

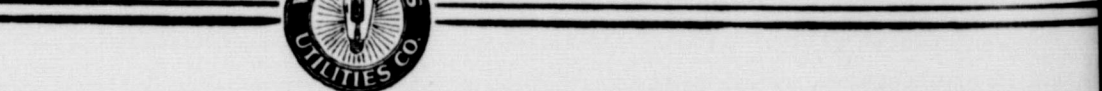

Science has come to the aid of cooks in R.C.A.F. kitchens and through laboratory tests, proper cooking methods are determined. (Above right) A member of the Women's Division is seen working in the laboratory testing raw vegetables to determine the vitamin content. Analyses like these have determined, for instance, that cabbage can lose as much as 90% of its Vitamin C if cooked too long and in too much water.

The aim of the Royal Canadian Air Force is to provide the best food, "that men may fly" through scientific methods and a tentative training they have now reached their objective. Today the Air Force can rightfully claim to be one of the best food services in the world.

The News for Job Hunters

Power for Victory

In the war news, the big headlines go to the air raids, the commando landings and the taking of large territories and great cities. The loudest acclaim naturally goes to those who take the biggest risks and make the most sensational achievements. Yet full credit should also go to those on the home front whose daily service is essential to victory. This vast group includes not only those who build ships, planes, tanks and other war equipment but every person who works faithfully in an industry that is bolstering the war effort. The electric power industry, for instance, is one without which no other war industry could operate. There must be power for the lathes, punches, riveters and other machines that make our war weapons, power to light our factories for night shifts, power to take workers from their homes to their jobs and back. One of our main defense aims is to protect our power plants; one of the main objects of our bombers is to destroy the enemy's generating plants.

General Cable Corporation, which makes wires and cables through which electric power is transmitted, does well to call public attention to what the power industry is doing to hasten the day of victory. This industry has given the United States more electric generating capacity than all the rest of the world and has delivered this power to the places where it was most needed and could most readily be harnessed to the war effort. In this and other essential industries, every worker should know that victory depends on his doing his part and should have recognition for unusual performance.

* The electric industry, under business management, has met the wartime needs of the nation in full, without increase in cost and without rationing.

4-H Legions Helping Produce More Meat to Feed a Fighter in '43

"Produce to the limit, and con- serve to the bone. Every extra pound of meat on the hoof... every extra bushel of feed pro- duced this year will mean another step toward Victory."

The foregoing is the motto of the nation's 4-H "livestock brigade" enrolled in the National 4-H Meat Animal Production ac- tivity. The chief objectives of this vital enterprise are to learn to raise and fatten farm animals in line with wartime conditions, us- ing home grown feeds and bal- anced rations. The activity looms large in the 4-H program to "Feed a Fighter in '43."

As incentives to achieve out- standing records in this activity, merit awards are provided by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago pack- er and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. These awards include med- als to county winners, gold watch- es to state champions, trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago to the top ranking par- ticipant in each of the four ex- tension sections, and a $200 col- lege scholarship to each of three national winners.

The activity is being conducted, along with other wartime projects of production and conservation, under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, State Agricultural Colleges, and County Extension agents. The last named will furnish all details.

Texas' State champion last year was L. D. Ballard of Plainview, Hale County.

Weekly Sermon

By the Rev. Wendell P. Loveless, Director of WMBL, Chicago.

Thoroughly Furnished

Text: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profit- able for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect (complete), thoroughly furnished unto all good works"—II Timothy 3:16, 17.

When we hear the word "fur- nished" we think of a home with its furnishings. As one steps in- to a home he can discern almost at a glance the circumstances and manner of life of those who live there. Likewise, the "furnish- ings" of our spiritual lives indi- cate the condition and quality of our lives. Let us think of our spiritual experiences in terms of the rooms in a house.

As we enter a home the first room into which we come, as a rule, is the living room. Here is where we meet and entertain our loved ones and friends. How is the living room of our spiritual house used? God has called us to lives of separation from evil, and while we are to seek to reach all with the gospel of Christ, He would have us fellowship only with those who know Christ.

Then we pass on into the din- ing room. This is where our tastes become apparent. How is this room of our lives furnished? Do we have a taste for the Word of God, and for prayer, and for fellowship with God's people?

The next room we enter is the sleeping room—the place we get our rest. What about our relaxa- tion? Do we seek those diversions and recreations which are con- structive and honoring to our Lord? Bodily exercise and health- ful activities are profitable to ev- ery Christian, but much diver- sion which the world offers is destructive. We should remember that as Christians our bodies are the temple of the Holy Spirit.

Someone has said, "A man's character is shown by what he chooses to do when he is free to do what he chooses." In Christ we find not only full and com- plete salvation, but we find full and complete satisfaction.

Most houses have attics. That is where things are stored. For purpose of this study we might think of our mind in this connec- tion. What do we store in our minds? Are our minds as well as our hearts so thoroughly fur- nished with the Word of God and the love of Christ that we can at any time, in any place, under any circumstances, point others to the Savior?

Every well furnished home has clothes closets, to keep garments in good condition. Garments in the Bible speak of the outward conduct of the Christian. Our Lord's garments smelled of heav- en (Ps. 45:8)—everything He did reminded people of heaven. Let's have all our our "garments" in such condition that they reveal the fragrance and beauty of our Lord.

To keep leaf lettuce crisp and good, wash it, then roll the leaves loosely in a towel to dry. Keep it covered in a cold place, but don't keep it very long before using.

Japanese American Workers Help in Food Production

Japanese Americans who were evacuated from the Pacific Coast and temporarily quartered in the WRA relocation centers, are helping to produce food for victory. Many have left the centers for seasonal farm work, some living at the FSA transient farm labor camps. Rural War Production training courses are given at the centers to qualify those lacking in experience who have volunteered for farm work. These courses include care and repair of farm machinery, as well as planting and cultivating crops.

These occupations, many of which are totally unrelated to steel production or shipbuilding, include everything from actor to school teacher.
