Cottonseed Use As Feed Costly and Wasteful

Present relative prices of cottonseed, grain and cottonseed meal would make the use of cottonseed as a feed a most wasteful practice and make more acute the present shortage of protein, A. L. Ward, Educational Director, National Cottonseed Products Association, Dallas, warned today in connection with reports that some farmers are considering holding cottonseed for feeding to livestock.

"Cottonseed is not a protein feed, because of the oil, hull and linter content," Ward said. "Feeding trials at Experiment Stations indicate that cottonseed is more of a carbohydrate feed than a protein feed, and therefore may replace part of the grain in the ration; but farmers would do better to use any of the grains, which cost less than the price they will receive for cottonseed. By selling a ton of cottonseed, a farmer will obtain enough to buy more than a ton of grain, and he will not be reducing the available supply of protein food and products needed in the war effort."

"These facts proved by Experiment Stations are most important to farmers, can save them thousands of dollars, make it possible to produce more milk and meat from the available grain, and increase the supply of cottonseed meal which is produced from cottonseed."

Four basic products come from cottonseed—cottonseed meal (or cake), cottonseed oil, cottonseed hulls and cotton linters—the oil, cotton linters and make explosives, plastics for fighting planes, and other war materials, and the government expects to use at least 75 per cent of all linters for war purposes. Cottonseed oil is one of the major fats produced in the United States. Fats already are rationed and housewives are saving them to overcome the shortage which will become more critical if any large volume of fat-producing material is withheld or wasted.

"I do not believe any farmer who knows these facts will want to take the financial loss to himself, to say nothing of the loss to the war effort, that he takes when he fails to sell his cottonseed and hold it for feeding livestock," Ward said.

Hope for Heat Relief Over Area Expressed by Newspapers

The entire section of Texas which has been suffering under the prevalent heat wave, is anxiously awaiting a change in weather conditions. Unless rains come at an early date, the crops will seriously suffer for the lack of moisture and from the effects of the hot sun.

Gardens which gave such promise have completely dried up during the last days of the intense heat. Reports of many chickens dying of the heat have been made. Lawns are crispy but cotton and feed crops mean the most to the country. The same conditions seem to prevail over the entire section, but rains have fallen at Lubbock and over a number of western counties.

Governor Issues Proclamation for Return of Bottles

A three-months campaign was started in Texas on August 1 to round up all empty bottles in the state and get them back into use again. In this campaign the people are being asked to gather up all soft drink bottles, milk bottles and beer bottles that are around the homes and places of business and return them to distributors.

A three-months advertising campaign is being sponsored by the bottlers and the Governor has issued a proclamation in the interest of the drive.

The Government has restricted the purchase of bottles to 65 per cent of the new bottles purchased during a comparable period of last year and the co-sponsors of this campaign must have their empty deposit bottles returned if they are to maintain their present volume of business.

The Governor's proclamation follows:

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come: Whereas, the conservation of deposit bottles, like the conservation of all other materials these days, is of vital importance to everyone; and

Whereas, millions of these empty deposit bottles are known to be in homes, garages, business places and industrial plants; and Whereas, the return of these idle bottles which can be sterilized for civilian re-use would permit the glass industry to use even more of its facilities for the manufacture of class containers for food and other items required by the Armed Forces at home and abroad.

Now, Therefore, I, Coke Stevenson, Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby request that every person co-operate in this Deposit Bottle Conservation Program which opens August first, and ask that they search their homes, garages, business places and industrial plants and promptly return these containers to the places from which they were obtained. In Witness Whereof I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of State to be affixed hereto at Austin, this 19th day of July, A. D., 1943. (Signed) Coke R. Stevenson, Governor of Texas.

By the Governor: (Signed) Sidney Latham, Secretary of State. (SEAL)

Rev. R. Y. Bradford Visits Holy Land

Rev. R. Y. Bradford, a chaplain in the army, writes to his mother, Mrs. Sudie Bradford, of Margaret that he has recently made a trip to Palestine. He spent several days in Tel Arin, about 35 miles from Jerusalem. He says that nearly all of the 100,000 inhabitants are Jews and they are from almost every place in the world. He spent four days in Jerusalem and the places of interest there and in surrounding territories. He saw the place of Christ's imprisonment, crucifixion and burial, Mt. Zion, the Mount of Olives, the Garden of Gethsemane, the old city of Jerusalem and many other interesting features. From Jerusalem, he went to Bethlehem, Jericho and the Dead Sea. He states that he went swimming in the Dead Sea. Many other places were visited in the short trip, Bethany, Emmaus, Nazareth and Cana. Rev. Bradford says he hopes to return to these places some day. He sent his mother some pressed flowers from the Holy Land.

Before entering the U. S. service as a chaplain, Rev. Bradford was pastor of the Baptist Church at Grandview. His wife and their three children are making their home in Floydada, while he is away.

Railroad survey, and is four miles south and eight miles east of Crowell.

Governor Issues Proclamation for Return of Bottles

A three-months campaign was started in Texas on August 1 to round up all empty bottles in the state and get them back into use again. In this campaign the people are being asked to gather up all soft drink bottles, milk bottles and beer bottles that are around the homes and places of business and return them to distributors. A three-months advertising campaign is being sponsored by the bottlers and the Governor has issued a proclamation in the interest of the drive. The Governor has restricted the purchase of bottles to 65 per cent of the new bottles purchased during a comparable period of last year and the co-sponsors of this campaign must have their empty deposit bottles returned if they are to maintain their present volume of business.

The Governor's proclamation follows: To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come: Whereas, the conservation of deposit bottles, like the conservation of all other materials these days, is of vital importance to everyone; and

Whereas, millions of these empty deposit bottles are known to be in homes, garages, business places and industrial plants; and Whereas, the return of these idle bottles which can be sterilized for civilian re-use would permit the glass industry to use even more of its facilities for the manufacture of glass containers for food and other items required by the Armed Forces at home and abroad.

Now, Therefore, I, Coke Stevenson, Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby request that every person co-operate in this Deposit Bottle Conservation Program which opens August first, and ask that they search their homes, garages, business places and industrial plants and promptly return these containers to the places from which they were obtained.

In Witness Whereof I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of State to be affixed hereto at Austin, this 19th day of July, A. D. 1943. (Signed) Coke R. Stevenson, Governor of Texas.

By the Governor: (Signed) Sidney Latham, Secretary of State. (SEAL)

The United States uses over 5,000,000 pounds of camphor a year.

According to a poll recently compiled by Fortune Magazine 59.2 per cent of the American people would vote for some one else for president should the war be over by November, 1944. In the event the war should still be in progress at that time 64.8 per cent would vote to continue Roosevelt in office.

No whiskey is being manufactured at the present time in this country, but distillers estimate the supply on hand sufficient to last from four to five years.

Because of the fact that following the war this country will be called upon to furnish food to three or four hundred million people to keep them from starving, Herbert Hoover predicts that even though the war should end within the next twelve months the present food shortage will last from four to five years.

when predicting great air offensive to devastate Germany and Italy, to lay "the cities and other main centers of Japan in ashes."

Thanks to its long-range program of peacetime research, Phillips Petroleum Company was one of the first to take 100 octane aviation gasoline out of the laboratory and into mass production. The making of this American super-fuel is not merely a refining process; it is actually the synthetic production of chemicals!

That is why we say: Every time you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refines, in addition to producing gasoline, lubricants, and fuel oils, are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

While the Germans had only 87 octane aviation gasoline, the good planes and gallant pilots of the R.A.F. had 100 octane. This gave the Royal Air Force reduced fuel consumption, and greater horsepower for faster climbing... greater altitude... extra maneuverability.

Phillips and the American petroleum industry are today supplying great quantities of 100-plus octane gasoline. This super-fuel increases enormously the fighting effectiveness of U.S. and all United Nations war planes.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

The Choicest Gift: Once I had given to me as a Christmas gift by a friend a book from my friend's library. I knew he had taken it from the shelf of his library to send it to me as a gift. I also knew that he prized the book very much and that in all likelihood he would never replace it in his collection. I have used the book a good many times since I received it, but never pick it up but that the memory of how it came into my possession and the circumstances surrounding the giving of it do not come back. It has become one of my prize possessions because I know that the giver in the giving of it gave something of himself, something that he valued above its purely physical worth. Because of these things it is one of my most treasured gifts. It is in this manner that man should look upon the gift of Christ to mankind. Man should remember that out of a universe filled with priceless gifts

God chose the one gift he could not replace—his only begotten son and gave him to man.

Royal Canadian Air Force Hail Hitler—With Bombs

IN passive pamphlet missions over Germany and in crushing four-ton "block buster" raids Canadians have winged their way to the most remote targets of Axis Europe. In the vanguard of the men who carry war to the Axis deep into Europe were the men who went from Canada direct to Britain to enlist in the Royal Air Force. Following them closely were airmen of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who, gradually after the start of the war began to augment the growing might of the R. A. F. ications. I thought, "God gave us Americans the richest country on the earth. He gave it to us as a common heritage for all Americans to cherish, protect and develop. Are we being true to that heritage?"

In the past, it is true, we have not always cherished, protected and developed it as a common heritage. Individually, selfishly we have exploited it, wasting its resources. Almost all the evil we have known came of that fact—the "robber barons" of finance, the crooked politicians, the fabulously uneven distribution of wealth, even racial problems. We were, like beautiful France, doomed if we did not change our ways. During the past three years I have traveled more than 100,000 miles around this country. I was not a foreigner discovering America; I was an American rediscovering my own country. And what I saw, I found heartening. I saw the average American changing slowly, until the Sunday at Pearl Harbor, when he was no longer in doubt but knew that it was up to him not only to defend and preserve his own country but perhaps the rest of the world as well.

Since then I have watched him draw near to his neighbors, to begin slowly to understand this business of a common heritage not only of material things but of liberty and decency as well. I saw the average American citizen adjusting himself, accepting revolutionary changes, even examining them and understanding them. Pearl Harbor was a tragic day in American history, but out of it some good may come. After long experience among the people of other nations, I have great faith in the American. He has no fundamental national hatreds or fears. It will be that he is becoming not only a great fellow in his own country, but perhaps the first, world citizen to understand that there can be no peace in the future without international co-operation and comprehension.

I have heard him lately even accept his responsibility as a world citizen without argument, as if it were already an accomplished fact, beyond discussion. A common heritage! A world heritage and world responsibilities! These are the things upon which our future must be built if we are to survive and have peace.

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.—Hebrews 11:1.

The country is gradually waking up to the fact that its Democracy is gradually being turned over to the bureaucrats. Bureau heads are appointed by the administration head and are dependent upon it for their tenure in office.

Somewhere this week we read this comment by a young minister which we think worthy of repetition. "Much has been said deploring the war. There is much about it that is to be deplored, but to my way of thinking the fact that a wholly unprepared world, in a military sense, was ready and willing to rise up against the ruthless power of the best prepared and equipped army the world has ever seen, and to give its all to crush wrong and oppression, is but incontrovertible evidence that Christ still lives. He lives in the hearts of people who dare to face the greatest odds that oppression must cease and that liberty and justice and right shall continue to be the heritage of the people of this earth."

HISTORY

Birthday of David Crockett—August 17: David Crockett was born in Hawkins County, Tenn., August 17, 1786. At the age of 13 he ran away from home to escape a whipping and spent three years wandering the country. At the age of eighteen he started to school with the idea of winning the favor of a girl whom he was courting. When she jilted him six months later he quit school and never attended again. He served as a scout in the Creek Indian War of 1813-14 under Andrew Jackson. In 1815 he was made Justice of Giles County. In 1821 he was elected to the state legislature. He followed the occupation of farming but preferred to hunt. He was re-elected to the legislature in 1823. He was later elected to the Twentieth Congress and re-elected to the Twenty-first. He was defeated in his race for the Twenty-second Congress but was elected to the Twenty-third. Discouraged he went to Texas and fought with the Texans in their war for independence. He took part in the famous defense of the Alamo in 1836 and was killed along with the other defenders. Alamo Day is still celebrated by the people of Texas. The historians of Texas recounting the brilliant defense of the Alamo against the greatly superior forces of Santa Anna, refer to the Alamo as the Thermopylae of America. The Alamo has been restored to its original condition by the city of San Antonio and is preserved as a patriotic shrine.

The act of the Japs in sinking a hospital ship aroused the nation. Such things which have been outlawed in civilized warfare but serve to emphasize the fact that the Japs are still savages and are entitled to no consideration that the rules of civilization provide.

If we were a preacher we would rather preach to ten people who came to church because they enjoyed being there and received help from the service, than to a hundred who came because they felt they had to, and who, when the service is half over, begin to grow restless and look at the clock.

One of the difficulties in Washington seems to be the effort to decide who is the boss of this country, the government or the labor unions. The decision as to which one is to be highest in authority has been too long delayed.

The President took a crack at the newspapers for airing the Wallace-Jones quarrel. Why not? Let's have the facts. If everything is as it should be no one is going to be hurt. If it isn't why not know about it?

LITTLE JACK HORNER

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

The biggest news on the home front this week, in my opinion, is the announcement by Wendell Willkie that he will be a candidate for the Presidency in the coming election campaign in 1944.

This announcement, in my opinion, supercedes in general national interest even the rebuke and the cracking together of the heads of Vice President Wallace and Jesse Jones—and that was real news. Nothing like it has happened in this country in years. The action by the President was swift, sure and uncompromising.

But as to the Willkie announcement. When Mr. Willkie tossed his hat into the ring he did what the leaders of one wing of the Republican party feared he would do, but which they hoped he would not.

In the offering to take up the battle with Colonel McCormick, Mr. Willkie boldly stakes his political future on the matter of world democracy against nationalism. Mr. Willkie believes, that in the world of the future, we of America, if we are to avoid being drawn into constantly recurring wars to preserve our freedom and our liberty, cannot remain aloof from the rest of the world and let it go its way until it approaches the point where war is inescapable.

In the opinion of Mr. Willkie the time has come when America must not be content in being a great power at home, but must also be a great power among the nations of the world. Mr. Willkie is not starry-eyed about the world of tomorrow. He retains his hold on the realism with which most business men view conditions. He believes that the United States will be a greater power in the world and have a larger voice in world affairs by sitting in and being a part of the world than she will by wrapping the mantle of isolationism about her and trying to live unto herself.

Colonel McCormick represents the contrary view. He and his supporters would have no part in world affairs but would devote all energy and resources to the building of this nation and to creating a strong spirit of isolation and nationalism.

Regardless of the outcome of the Illinois primary we are predicting that Wendell Willkie will be a contender for the nomination in the Republican National convention. We base our predictions on the belief that no other Republican can defeat him if he chooses to run. He is the only man that the Republican party has brought forward who can make a showing against President Roosevelt in the event he should be his party's candidate.

Not that other good men have been mentioned. They have, but none of them have the personality, the showmanship, or fire the imagination of the mass of voters to the extent that Wendell Willkie

Threat Behind Free Mail

As far back as anyone can remember the post office department has shown an operating loss at the end of each year. And, on several occasions, this ever-present deficit has been projected by some congressmen as argument in favor of increasing postal rates. Such a move again threatens.

Through heightened efficiency and economy of operation, the department in the last 10 years has trimmed its annual deficit from 112 million dollars to only 14 million. However, there is still a deficit and as long as it exists it is a potential lever with which some legislators may try to raise postal rates.

This deficit is due entirely to the free mail carried for the many government departments and agencies. The volume of this mail has multiplied five-fold in the last ten years. Last year the postal department estimated that if this free mail had been paid for, it would have brought 72 million dollars into its coffers, wiping out the 14 million dollar deficit and leaving a 58 million dollar profit. Thus it is clear that the way to turn the department's loss into gain and eliminate this threat to rates is to revoke the free mail privilege and require the agencies to pay postage on all mail they send out.

Business mail users and private individuals as well would suffer from an increase of rates at this time. A means to avert this postal rate menace and combat any moves in that direction is passage of the Birch Bill, (H. R. 2001) which provides that all government departments and bureaus be required to pay postage on all mail they send out. Active support of this bill would be in the interest of all mail users, the post office department, and sound governmental accounting.

A similar condition existed in the Democratic party in the years that William Jennings Bryan was active. He over-shadowed all others of his party in eloquence, personality, showmanship and popular appeal. Wendell Willkie is not acceptable to all of his party's leadership. In their opinion his program does not differ sufficiently with that of President Roosevelt.

Though the election is in reality just around the corner, it is too early for anyone to make predictions regardless of whom the candidates may be. The outcome of the election in 1944 is going to be determined almost altogether by the status of the war effort at that time.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Wigwag

Frequently the Navy, the Coast Guard and the Signal Corps finds it expedient to relay messages without benefit of telephone, telegraph or radio. That is when the semaphore system is employed.

Like a single flag in the "Wigwag" system, the purchase of a War Savings Stamp or Bond, in itself has an infinitesimal effect upon the entire war effort, but when 130 million determined people set their minds to make our War Bond drives successful, the result is anything but infinitesimal. 30 YEARS AGO IN THE NEWS

Items below were taken in whole or in part from the issue of The News of August 8, 1913:

T. E. Gough and family of Kansas, having come the entire distance in their automobile. Mr. Gough, who is a cousin of John Flesher of this place, has purchased 80 acres of the Shultz place and 100 acres of the Watts place, which is part of the Allee section.

A young man by the name of Dodson, aged 22 years, was found dead in the barn at his father's home near Talmadge Sunday morning at an early hour. As there was no indication of foul play it is believed that his death was due to natural causes.

A good looking team of ball players came up from Thalia one day last week and were defeated by the Crowell aggregation to the tune of 17 to 2, so our reporter reported.

R. L. Nichols lost a valuable cow Monday morning from eating partly cured Johnson grass. The feed made some of his other cows sick but he believes they will pull through.

The News man and his family will leave this week in their Buick car for a trip to the North, and will be gone several weeks. During the editor's absence, The News will be in the care of J. A. Stovall, C. M. Church and Miss Ruby Andrews.

Eleven carloads of cattle were shipped out of Crowell this week; 11 carloads to Kansas City, 2 loads to Fort Worth and 4 car loads to Wellington.

A residence belonging to J. R. Russell, located in the west part of town, burned to the ground at the noon hour Wednesday. The 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wertham, who occupied the residence, was attempting to build a fire in the cook stove with coal oil when the oil exploded, setting the house on fire and severely burning the little girl.

Clarence Thompson, our popular deputy sheriff, spent last Friday walking along the bank of Beaver Lake, and occasionally casting a hook into the lucid water with a faint hope that a poor bass might be attracted by the dead minnow and become his only victim. With tired arms, and with all the energy that he could muster, he started to make his last throw. He cast his dead minnow into the place where he had seen a fine bass leaping out of the water, when lo, it was seized by a 4-pound bass. Mr. Thompson dropped his pole and started in the direction of the monster fisher which had lashed the water into a foam. He made a random dive and in a moment came to the surface with the fish tightly embraced in his arms.

Mrs. Ed Bomar spent a portion of last week with the boys on the ranch.

Miss Myrtle Perkins of Glen Rose is here the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Hill.

J. W. Cook returned last week from Oklahoma where he went early for anyone to make predictions regarding the death of a relative.

P. E. Moorehouse has returned from a stay of several weeks at Fort Worth and other cities in that locality.

W. L. Power and family and W. L. Jolly left early Sunday morning in Mr. Power's automobile for Kansas City.

W. B. McCormick went over to Vernon Tuesday and rode home on a fine two-cylinder motorcycle of the "Indian" make. The machine represents the last work in motorcycle construction, and is

Previous to the war most of the hemp used in this country was imported. Since the supply has been cut off by the war an effort is being made by the government to produce hemp in this country. Already some 20,000 farmers in five states have contracted to plant 240,000 acres of hemp this year. Plants are already under way for the construction of 42 processing mills.

Listen to Morgenthau-Marshall Tell Power of Payroll Savings!

Washington, D. C.—How important is the average worker's war bond purchases out of his pay every payday in the grand strategy of the Allied High Command? Does the extent of his or her War Bond allotment have a part in determining when, where and the strength of our military blows?

Any worker listening in on a recent conversation between General George C. Marshall, President Roosevelt's Chief of Staff, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., learned the answers to these questions.

Said General Marshall: "Mr. Secretary, I want you to answer a question for me and to answer it with complete frankness. Can we military leaders plan to fight this war in an orderly way—in the surest and most effective manner—or must we take extraordinary risks for fear the money will not hold out?"

Replied Secretary Morgenthau: "General, the American public will take care of that. What they have done in the Second War Loan drive—the money they have produced and the spirit they have shown—is proof enough for me that they will not let our fighters suffer from lack of support until we achieve complete victory, no matter how long that may be nor how much it may cost."

Up your War Bond allotment out of your wages today. Figure it out for yourself how much above 10 per cent it should be.

Cost of Living Drops

With other living costs relatively stable, a drop in fresh vegetables and butter prices cut the cost of living for city workers by 0.2 per cent in the month ending June 15—the first month to show a reduction since a year before Pearl Harbor, the U. S. Department of Labor reported recently. Food prices as a whole, making up over 40 per cent of the cost of living index, declined 0.8 per cent. The cost of living index now stands at 124.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average. Food prices are 45 per cent above January, 1941, and more than 16 per cent above May, 1942.

Home Canners Warned

Home canners have been warned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture against the use of "canning powders" and other chemical preservatives. W. G. Campbell, Commissioner of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said that use of some of the "canning powders" constitute a definite health hazard. The term "canning powders" includes boric acid and its compounds and substances like metabisulfite which yield sulphur dioxide when brought in contact with an acid-reacting food product. The safe way for the home canner is to process foods adequately with heat and not to use chemical preservatives. For safety's sake, rely on thorough heat sterilization.

Army Exchanges Sell Exotic Wares

Army Exchanges, which follow American troops wherever they go, are now dealing in such items as kangaroo rugs, grass skirts, and native-made jewelry, in addition to their staple line of cigarettes, candy, soft drinks, and other home commodities, the War Department has been informed. Since many of the soldiers want to send such things home, the Exchange Service buys them from the natives at a reasonable price and resells them to the soldiers. The natives were inclined to "jack up the price" on direct sales. Grass skirts sell for approximately $1.50, while a good kangaroo rug may cost $20.

Farmers should apply to their County War Boards for approval to begin construction.

Binder Twine Supply

An adequate supply of binder twine is available for this year's harvest of grain crops, the WPB Binder Twine Sub-Committee has reported. This ample supply has been made possible through the blending of cotton with henequen to produce a new twine which has proved satisfactory.

Increase Shoe Supply

To increase the supply of children's and infant's shoes, and men's work shoes, WPB recently amended order M-217 (Footwear) to permit a 25 per cent increase in the output of shoes for boys, misses, children, and infants. Production of men's work shoes may be increased by 15 per cent and men's safety shoes by 25 per cent. The order also will permit increased production of shoes at price levels where there is greater consumer demand.

Fewer New Tires

Smaller quotas of new passenger car tires for August and larger quotas of used and recapped tires have been announced by OPA, based on rationing allotments assigned for the month by the Office of Rubber Director. The August quota of Grade I tires is the lowest since last April. OPA officials warned that drivers who are eligible for new tires may have to accept used or recapped tires as long as the quota of new tires is low.

Mass Mailing Finished

Approximately 12,000,000 copies of War Ration Book Three had been mailed by the first of last week, OPA announced that: (1) anyone who does not receive his War Ration Book Three should apply at his local board on August 1 and 10; (2) a plan is now being set up to distribute War Ration Book Three to members of the armed services who are eligible for ration books; (3) persons receiving War Ration Book Three should sign their names and addresses in the spaces reserved for that purpose on the cover.

The provision permitting reductions in the point values of rationed meats, fats and dairy products in imminent danger of spoilage, which was to expire July 31, has been extended indefinitely, OPA has announced.

Gas Coupons Changed For Trips

Motorists can use their "A" ration books for trips into, or out of, the Eastern gasoline shortage area, according to rules recently announced by OPA. Since July 21, Eastern motorists have been using "A-6" coupons, while those outside the East have been using "A-7s." To overcome these difficulties in travel "across the border" a new amendment to the Gasoline Rationing Regulations permit "A" ration holders to exchange any of their valid "A" coupons for other coupons that may be used in the area in which they expect to travel. Exchanges may be made and further information secured at the War Price and Rationing Board.

Loneliest Job in Royal Canadian Air Force

FROM all appearances he might be a trapper or hunter just out of the backwoods, but he's really Flight Sergeant Harry J. Hickson of London, Ont., communications maintenance man of the Royal Canadian Air Force in bush country on the Pacific coast.

Because of the roughness of the territory over which his job takes him, Hickson has had to put aside his Air Force uniform and boots and substitute for them a pair of canvas pants, buckskin jacket, rubber boots and peaked felt cap.

"No, I'm hardly Air Force in appearance, but the job calls for this get-up," laughed Hickson.

On second glance, it might be noticed that an Air Force badge is fastened to his cap and that the revolver strapped to his side is Air Force issue. The revolver, by the way, is used to scare off inquisitive bear or for signalling purposes.

Hickson, a quiet spoken chap, enjoys the isolated life he is living in this wild, west coast forest area. "It's a new one on me," he said, "but you couldn't find a more interesting country and job."

For 15 years, prior to enlisting in the R.C.A.F. as a telephone cable man, Flight Sergeant Hickson worked for the Bell Telephone Company at London. His job as cable splitter took him to various parts of Ontario but never through such country as his Air Force job takes him.

Through giant Douglas fir forests, over rocky and, in winter, snow-capped mountain ranges, around picturesque lakes and through thickly-wooded valleys he hikes in every kind of weather, tending the communication lines which connect bush stations in the territory. Sometimes he works alone, other times he has a crew of men, depending on the type of job which has to be done.

Flight Sergeant Hickson joined the R.C.A.F. in June of last year at London, where his wife and four children are living at present.

acted wisely, there is grave danger that private flying will be crippled; the aeronautical training schools of the country will go bankrupt and close at the signing of the armistice; the aircraft manufacturers will be practically out of business for seven or eight years subsequent to the war; the airlines of the country will be subject to destructive competition; our nation's largest industry of today will be headed for the rocks of destruction, and our leading pilots, mechanics and other skilled heroes will be destined to "walk the streets jobless."

Plan Submitted to Exempt Additional Income Considered

Austin, July 31.—"A plan for exempting $250 additional income earned by each old age assistance recipient is being submitted to the federal social security board for approval," J. S. Murchison, executive director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said today. The plan follows advice of Attorney General Gerald Mann concerning the provisions of a state law passed by the last legislature. The Attorney General interpreted this bill as applying to those persons on the rolls when the act became effective in May and to any persons added to the rolls after May. He ruled that the act exempted $250 above the amount formerly determined by the department as needed by the recipient. This income must be in addition to the income that was being earned by the recipient when his grant was last determined. The exemption applies only to income from seasonal and occasional employment and only when a recipient reports to the Welfare Department each month on the amount of his earnings and

PREPARE FOR THE FUTURE

Unless far-sighted legislation aimed at post-war expansion of commercial aviation is enacted by the United States, "our present great aerial effort will be scattered to the four winds of heaven and our national security will again be jeopardized," says Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America.

Pointing out that the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 had made it possible for the United States to build the worldwide air transportation system that is proving invaluable in the war emergency, Col. Gorrell recommends the LeBailey Bill.

"Unless it is enacted, and en-

"Those doggoned kids!"

Give 'em a screw-driver and a pair of pliers and they'll make anything run! *

ON the hot desert sands of North Africa the colonel's "kids" found a broken-down tank, abandoned long before they arrived. They were told it couldn't be fixed. That was a dare to boys who loved machinery—they'd fixed everything from washing machines to tractors. They worked on the old tank... and eventually it grunted, lurched, and roared across the field!

That's a true story. We have a hunch some of those boys were West Texas youngsters—it sounds just like 'em! It's typical of boys you know in your home town. Remember how they took that old jalopy? They made it run! And the ancient farm tractor? They kept it going years after you thought it was ready for the junk pile.

run. We've all got in the habit of rolling up our sleeves and pitching in when there's a job to do. Call it free enterprise... or initiative. It's the spirit that has made America great.

The folks in our company have that sort of spirit. Years ago they saw a need for electricity that was more plentiful and dependable than ever before. Transmission lines extending into the most remote spots in West Texas, bringing good, cheap electric service to both large and small towns alike, were the answer to that need, they believed.

They pitched in—built the lines and the power plants. They got the job done. Today, although plagued by shortages of help and materials, they're making this electric system work. They've got the know-how to keep it running... without rationing... and without increased cost to you!

HUMBUG TAXATION

From now on the public think straight and without undue on the matter of taxation or the best laid post-war plan will become worthless paper.

When business men plead adequate corporate reserves reconversion of industry to peacetime production, they are not for themselves but for millions who must be employed in industry when the war is over. If taxes prohibit the accumulation of adequate corporate reserves, the business man who suffers most. It will be the industry can provide jobs that tempting ballyhoo which we have us believe that, come what may, we need not worry because the government will take slack in employment.

Senator George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, warning that: "Reserves for war contingencies and for conversion to peacetime activities, must be established, built up out of earnings during the war," speaks a truth which there can be no dispute. And you there are politicians who are trying at every moment to undermine the stability of industry the same they sought to in peacetime. Inequitable taxation—and they are doing it for the same reason they did it in peacetime, because they think it appeals to the voters. These politicians are the worst of the future of this nation.

The people must realize that industry is their strongest ally in peace and in war. It is the work of freedom. It can be destroyed by humbug taxation. Industrial News-Review.

Weekly Sermon

By Max I. Reich, D. D., Director of the Jewish Missions Course, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

The Beauty of Christ Isaiah the prophet, who makes many predictions regarding the Messiah, tells us in his first reference to Him that there is a day coming when "the Branch of the Lord shall be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and comely for them that are escaped of Israel" (Isa. 4:2).

By this double figure of the Branch of the Lord and the fruit of the land (the holy land) the nature of the Messiah—divine and prophet sets forth the twofold human. One day, he says, after Israel's tribulations, the surviving remnant will be attracted to this glorious Man who is more than man, the very Branch, that is, Son, of the Living God.

But this has not yet come to pass. In another part of this prophecy the prophet tells us that "He shall grow up before Him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground; He hath no form nor comeliness, and when we shall see Him, there is no beauty that we should desire Him" (Isa. 53:2). That is how He is still regarded today.

How is it that the Jewish people saw no beauty in Him when He first appeared? They rejected Him because His call to repentance fell upon deaf ears—they felt no need of it; they were self-righteous.

And is not the same true of Gentiles also? Why do so many pass by the invitation of the gospel? Because they do not feel their desperate need of Christ.

Only the sick appreciate the physician. Only the drowning appreciate the one whose strong arm can save them. Only the hungry appreciate the bread set before them. Only the consciously lost turn to the One who came as the Savior of the lost.

After long centuries of disappointment and humiliation the Jewish people will remember Him who once pleaded in vain with them. Then will their eyes be opened to His beauty and glory. They will then be astonished at their long blindness, that they should have passed Him by—who spake as never man spake, and loved as never man loved, and died a death such as no one else ever died. They will feel His attraction, and will be drawn away from sin and selfishness.

For as the steel attracted by the magnet becomes changed into a magnet itself, partaking of the life of the magnet, so does this Christ powerfully transform the lives of those today to whom a glimpse has been given of His wonderful beauty and glory. For before He becomes "the glory of His people"

Your Horoscope

August 2, 3, 4—You are full of curiosity. You do not care much about prying into other people's business, but, like the cat on the fence, you desire to know what is going on without any really deep interest in it. You are very fond of money and will work hard to get it—but spend freely on yourself and family. You have a keen, discriminating mind, and are a sound reasoner.

August 5, 6, 7—You have an impulsive, energetic nature. You have high aims and aspirations, and are strong in your condemnation of wrong. You have marked religious inclinations, and a strong love of justice. You have much regard for your appearance, and are very fond of dress and finery. You want everything nice and are willing to work to earn it.

You cannot dream yourself into a character; you must hammer and forge one for yourself.—Froude.
